[2] No doubt but you are the people, and wisdom shall die with you.[3] But I have understanding as well as you; I am not inferior to you: yes, who knows not such things as these?[4] I am as one mocked of his neighbor, who calls on God, and he answers him: the just upright man is laughed to scorn.[5] He that is ready to slip with his feet is as a lamp despised in the thought of him that is at ease.[6] The tabernacles of robbers prosper, and they that provoke God are secure; into whose hand God brings abundantly.[7] But ask now the beasts, and they shall teach you; and the fowls of the air, and they shall tell you:[8] Or speak to the earth, and it shall teach you: and the fishes of the sea shall declare to you.[9] Who knows not in all these that the hand of the LORD has worked this?[10] In whose hand is the soul of every living thing, and the breath of all mankind.[11] Does not the ear try words? and the mouth taste his meat?[12] With the ancient is wisdom; and in length of days understanding.[13] With him is wisdom and strength, he has counsel and understanding.[14] Behold, he breaks down, and it cannot be built again: he shuts up a man, and there can be no opening.[15] Behold, he withholds the waters, and they dry up: also he sends them out, and they overturn the earth.[16] With him is strength and wisdom: the deceived and the deceiver are his.[17] He leads counsellors away spoiled, and makes the judges fools.[18] He looses the bond of kings, and girds their loins with a girdle.[19] He leads princes away spoiled, and overthrows the mighty.[20] He removes away the speech of the trusty, and takes away the understanding of the aged.[21] He pours contempt on princes, and weakens the strength of the mighty.[22] He discovers deep things out of darkness, and brings out to light the shadow of death.[23] He increases the nations, and destroys them: he enlarges the nations, and straitens them again.[24] He takes away the heart of the chief of the people of the earth, and causes them to wander in a wilderness where there is no way.[25] They grope in the dark without light, and he makes them to stagger like a drunken man.

[1] See, my eye has seen all this, my ear has heard and understood it.

[2] What you know, the same do I know also: I am not inferior to you.[3] Surely I would speak to the Almighty, and I desire to reason with God.[4] But you are forgers of lies, you are all physicians of no value.[5] O that you would altogether hold your peace! and it should be your wisdom.[6] Hear now my reasoning, and listen to the pleadings of my lips.[7] Will you speak wickedly for God? and talk deceitfully for him?[8] Will you accept his person? will you contend for God?[9] Is it good that he should search you out? or as one man mocks another, do you so mock him?[10] He will surely reprove you, if you do secretly accept persons.[11] Shall not his excellency make you afraid? and his dread fall on you?[12] Your remembrances are like to ashes, your bodies to bodies of clay.[13] Hold your peace, let me alone, that I may speak, and let come on me what will.[14] Why do I take my flesh in my teeth, and put my life in my hand?[15] Though he slay me, yet will I trust in him: but I will maintain my own ways before him.[16] He also shall be my salvation: for an hypocrite shall not come before him.[17] Hear diligently my speech, and my declaration with your ears.[18] Behold now, I have ordered my cause; I know that I shall be justified.[19] Who is he that will plead with me? for now, if I hold my tongue, I shall give up the ghost.[20] Only do not two things to me: then will I not hide myself from you.[21] Withdraw your hand far from me: and let not your dread make me afraid.[22] Then call you, and I will answer: or let me speak, and answer you me.[23] How many are my iniquities and sins? make me to know my transgression and my sin.[24] Why hide you your face, and hold me for your enemy?[25] Will you break a leaf driven to and fro? and will you pursue the dry stubble?[26] For you write bitter things against me, and make me to possess the iniquities of my youth.[27] You put my feet also in the stocks, and look narrowly to all my paths; you set a print on the heels of my feet.[28] And he, as a rotten thing, consumes, as a garment that is moth eaten.

[1] Man that is born of a woman is of few days and full of trouble.

[2] He comes forth like a flower, and is cut down: he flees also as a shadow, and continues not.[3] And does you open your eyes on such an one, and bring me into judgment with you?[4] Who can bring a clean thing out of an unclean? not one.[5] Seeing his days are determined, the number of his months are with you, you have appointed his bounds that he cannot pass;[6] Turn from him, that he may rest, till he shall accomplish, as an hireling, his day.[7] For there is hope of a tree, if it be cut down, that it will sprout again, and that the tender branch thereof will not cease.[8] Though the root thereof wax old in the earth, and the stock thereof die in the ground;[9] Yet through the scent of water it will bud, and bring forth boughs like a plant.[10] But man dies, and wastes away: yes, man gives up the ghost, and where is he?[11] As the waters fail from the sea, and the flood decays and dries up:[12] So man lies down, and rises not: till the heavens be no more, they shall not awake, nor be raised out of their sleep.[13] O that you would hide me in the grave, that you would keep me secret, until your wrath be past, that you would appoint me a set time, and remember me![14] If a man die, shall he live again? all the days of my appointed time will I wait, till my change come.[15] You shall call, and I will answer you: you will have a desire to the work of your hands.[16] For now you number my steps: do you not watch over my sin?[17] My transgression is sealed up in a bag, and you sew up my iniquity.[18] And surely the mountains falling comes to nothing, and the rock is removed out of his place.[19] The waters wear the stones: you wash away the things which grow out of the dust of the earth; and you destroy the hope of man.[20] You prevail for ever against him, and he passes: you change his countenance, and send him away.[21] His sons come to honor, and he knows it not; and they are brought low, but he perceives it not of them.[22] But his flesh on him shall have pain, and his soul within him shall mourn.

[1] Then answered Eliphaz the Temanite, and said,

[2] Should a wise man utter vain knowledge, and fill his belly with the east wind?[3] Should he reason with unprofitable talk? or with speeches with which he can do no good?[4] Yes, you cast off fear, and restrain prayer before God.[5] For your mouth utters your iniquity, and you choose the tongue of the crafty.[6] Your own mouth condemns you, and not I: yes, your own lips testify against you.[7] Are you the first man that was born? or were you made before the hills?[8] Have you heard the secret of God? and do you restrain wisdom to yourself?[9] What know you, that we know not? what understand you, which is not in us?[10] With us are both the gray headed and very aged men, much elder than your father.[11] Are the consolations of God small with you? is there any secret thing with you?[12] Why does your heart carry you away? and what do your eyes wink at,[13] That you turn your spirit against God, and let such words go out of your mouth?[14] What is man, that he should be clean? and he which is born of a woman, that he should be righteous?[15] Behold, he puts no trust in his saints; yes, the heavens are not clean in his sight.[16] How much more abominable and filthy is man, which drinks iniquity like water?[17] I will show you, hear me; and that which I have seen I will declare;[18] Which wise men have told from their fathers, and have not hid it:[19] To whom alone the earth was given, and no stranger passed among them.[20] The wicked man travails with pain all his days, and the number of years is hidden to the oppressor.[21] A dreadful sound is in his ears: in prosperity the destroyer shall come on him.[22] He believes not that he shall return out of darkness, and he is waited for of the sword.[23] He wanders abroad for bread, saying, Where is it? he knows that the day of darkness is ready at his hand.[24] Trouble and anguish shall make him afraid; they shall prevail against him, as a king ready to the battle.[25] For he stretches out his hand against God, and strengthens himself against the Almighty.[26] He runs on him, even on his neck, on the thick bosses of his bucklers:[27] Because he covers his face with his fatness, and makes bulges of fat on his flanks.[28] And he dwells in desolate cities, and in houses which no man inhabits, which are ready to become heaps.[29] He shall not be rich, neither shall his substance continue, neither shall he prolong the perfection thereof on the earth.[30] He shall not depart out of darkness; the flame shall dry up his branches, and by the breath of his mouth shall he go away.[31] Let not him that is deceived trust in vanity: for vanity shall be his recompense.[32] It shall be accomplished before his time, and his branch shall not be green.[33] He shall shake off his unripe grape as the vine, and shall cast off his flower as the olive.[34] For the congregation of hypocrites shall be desolate, and fire shall consume the tabernacles of bribery.[35] They conceive mischief, and bring forth vanity, and their belly prepares deceit.

[2] I have heard many such things: miserable comforters are you all.[3] Shall vain words have an end? or what emboldens you that you answer?[4] I also could speak as you do: if your soul were in my soul's stead, I could heap up words against you, and shake my head at you.[5] But I would strengthen you with my mouth, and the moving of my lips should assuage your grief.[6] Though I speak, my grief is not assuaged: and though I forbear, what am I eased?[7] But now he has made me weary: you have made desolate all my company.[8] And you have filled me with wrinkles, which is a witness against me: and my leanness rising up in me bears witness to my face.[9] He tears me in his wrath, who hates me: he gnashes on me with his teeth; my enemy sharpens his eyes on me.[10] They have gaped on me with their mouth; they have smitten me on the cheek reproachfully; they have gathered themselves together against me.[11] God has delivered me to the ungodly, and turned me over into the hands of the wicked.[12] I was at ease, but he has broken me asunder: he has also taken me by my neck, and shaken me to pieces, and set me up for his mark.[13] His archers compass me round about, he splits my reins asunder, and does not spare; he pours out my gall on the ground.[14] He breaks me with breach on breach, he runs on me like a giant.[15] I have sewed sackcloth on my skin, and defiled my horn in the dust.[16] My face is foul with weeping, and on my eyelids is the shadow of death;[17] Not for any injustice in my hands: also my prayer is pure.[18] O earth, cover not you my blood, and let my cry have no place.[19] Also now, behold, my witness is in heaven, and my record is on high.[20] My friends scorn me: but my eye pours out tears to God.[21] O that one might plead for a man with God, as a man pleads for his neighbor![22] When a few years are come, then I shall go the way from where I shall not return.

[1] My breath is corrupt, my days are extinct, the graves are ready for me.

[2] Are there not mockers with me? and does not my eye continue in their provocation?[3] Lay down now, put me in a surety with you; who is he that will strike hands with me?[4] For you have hid their heart from understanding: therefore shall you not exalt them.[5] He that speaks flattery to his friends, even the eyes of his children shall fail.[6] He has made me also a byword of the people; and aforetime I was as a tabret.[7] My eye also is dim by reason of sorrow, and all my members are as a shadow.[8] Upright men shall be astonished at this, and the innocent shall stir up himself against the hypocrite.[9] The righteous also shall hold on his way, and he that has clean hands shall be stronger and stronger.[10] But as for you all, do you return, and come now: for I cannot find one wise man among you.[11] My days are past, my purposes are broken off, even the thoughts of my heart.[12] They change the night into day: the light is short because of darkness.[13] If I wait, the grave is my house: I have made my bed in the darkness.[14] I have said to corruption, You are my father: to the worm, You are my mother, and my sister.[15] And where is now my hope? as for my hope, who shall see it?[16] They shall go down to the bars of the pit, when our rest together is in the dust.

[1] Then answered Bildad the Shuhite, and said,

[2] How long will it be before you make an end of words? mark, and afterwards we will speak.[3] Why are we counted as beasts, and reputed vile in your sight?[4] He tears himself in his anger: shall the earth be forsaken for you? and shall the rock be removed out of his place?[5] Yes, the light of the wicked shall be put out, and the spark of his fire shall not shine.[6] The light shall be dark in his tabernacle, and his candle shall be put out with him.[7] The steps of his strength shall be straitened, and his own counsel shall cast him down.[8] For he is cast into a net by his own feet, and he walks on a snare.[9] The gin shall take him by the heel, and the robber shall prevail against him.[10] The snare is laid for him in the ground, and a trap for him in the way.[11] Terrors shall make him afraid on every side, and shall drive him to his feet.[12] His strength shall be extremely hungry, and destruction shall be ready at his side.[13] It shall devour the strength of his skin: even the firstborn of death shall devour his strength.[14] His confidence shall be rooted out of his tabernacle, and it shall bring him to the king of terrors.[15] It shall dwell in his tabernacle, because it is none of his: brimstone shall be scattered on his habitation.[16] His roots shall be dried up beneath, and above shall his branch be cut off.[17] His remembrance shall perish from the earth, and he shall have no name in the street.[18] He shall be driven from light into darkness, and chased out of the world.[19] He shall neither have son nor nephew among his people, nor any remaining in his dwellings.[20] They that come after him shall be astonished at his day, as they that went before were affrighted.[21] Surely such are the dwellings of the wicked, and this is the place of him that knows not God.

[1] Then Job answered and said,

[2] How long will you vex my soul, and break me in pieces with words?[3] These ten times have you reproached me: you are not ashamed that you make yourselves strange to me.[4] And be it indeed that I have erred, my error remains with myself.[5] If indeed you will magnify yourselves against me, and plead against me my reproach:[6] Know now that God has overthrown me, and has compassed me with his net.[7] Behold, I cry out of wrong, but I am not heard: I cry aloud, but there is no judgment.[8] He has fenced up my way that I cannot pass, and he has set darkness in my paths.[9] He has stripped me of my glory, and taken the crown from my head.[10] He has destroyed me on every side, and I am gone: and my hope has he removed like a tree.[11] He has also kindled his wrath against me, and he counts me to him as one of his enemies.[12] His troops come together, and raise up their way against me, and encamp round about my tabernacle.[13] He has put my brothers far from me, and my acquaintance are truly estranged from me.[14] My kinsfolk have failed, and my familiar friends have forgotten me.[15] They that dwell in my house, and my maids, count me for a stranger: I am an alien in their sight.[16] I called my servant, and he gave me no answer; I entreated him with my mouth.[17] My breath is strange to my wife, though I entreated for the children's sake of my own body.[18] Yes, young children despised me; I arose, and they spoke against me.[19] All my inward friends abhorred me: and they whom I loved are turned against me.[20] My bone sticks to my skin and to my flesh, and I am escaped with the skin of my teeth.[21] Have pity on me, have pity on me, O you my friends; for the hand of God has touched me.[22] Why do you persecute me as God, and are not satisfied with my flesh?[23] Oh that my words were now written! oh that they were printed in a book![24] That they were graven with an iron pen and lead in the rock for ever![25] For I know that my redeemer lives, and that he shall stand at the latter day on the earth:[26] And though after my skin worms destroy this body, yet in my flesh shall I see God:[27] Whom I shall see for myself, and my eyes shall behold, and not another; though my reins be consumed within me.[28] But you should say, Why persecute we him, seeing the root of the matter is found in me?[29] Be you afraid of the sword: for wrath brings the punishments of the sword, that you may know there is a judgment.

[1] Then answered Zophar the Naamathite, and said,

[2] Therefore do my thoughts cause me to answer, and for this I make haste.[3] I have heard the check of my reproach, and the spirit of my understanding causes me to answer.[4] Know you not this of old, since man was placed on earth,[5] That the triumphing of the wicked is short, and the joy of the hypocrite but for a moment?[6] Though his excellency mount up to the heavens, and his head reach to the clouds;[7] Yet he shall perish for ever like his own dung: they which have seen him shall say, Where is he?[8] He shall fly away as a dream, and shall not be found: yes, he shall be chased away as a vision of the night.[9] The eye also which saw him shall see him no more; neither shall his place any more behold him.[10] His children shall seek to please the poor, and his hands shall restore their goods.[11] His bones are full of the sin of his youth, which shall lie down with him in the dust.[12] Though wickedness be sweet in his mouth, though he hide it under his tongue;[13] Though he spare it, and forsake it not; but keep it still within his mouth:[14] Yet his meat in his bowels is turned, it is the gall of asps within him.[15] He has swallowed down riches, and he shall vomit them up again: God shall cast them out of his belly.[16] He shall suck the poison of asps: the viper's tongue shall slay him.[17] He shall not see the rivers, the floods, the brooks of honey and butter.[18] That which he labored for shall he restore, and shall not swallow it down: according to his substance shall the restitution be, and he shall not rejoice therein.[19] Because he has oppressed and has forsaken the poor; because he has violently taken away an house which he built not;[20] Surely he shall not feel quietness in his belly, he shall not save of that which he desired.[21] There shall none of his meat be left; therefore shall no man look for his goods.[22] In the fullness of his sufficiency he shall be in straits: every hand of the wicked shall come on him.[23] When he is about to fill his belly, God shall cast the fury of his wrath on him, and shall rain it on him while he is eating.[24] He shall flee from the iron weapon, and the bow of steel shall strike him through.[25] It is drawn, and comes out of the body; yes, the glittering sword comes out of his gall: terrors are on him.[26] All darkness shall be hid in his secret places: a fire not blown shall consume him; it shall go ill with him that is left in his tabernacle.[27] The heaven shall reveal his iniquity; and the earth shall rise up against him.[28] The increase of his house shall depart, and his goods shall flow away in the day of his wrath.[29] This is the portion of a wicked man from God, and the heritage appointed to him by God.

[1] But Job answered and said,

[2] Hear diligently my speech, and let this be your consolations.[3] Suffer me that I may speak; and after that I have spoken, mock on.[4] As for me, is my complaint to man? and if it were so, why should not my spirit be troubled?[5] Mark me, and be astonished, and lay your hand on your mouth.[6] Even when I remember I am afraid, and trembling takes hold on my flesh.[7] Why do the wicked live, become old, yes, are mighty in power?[8] Their seed is established in their sight with them, and their offspring before their eyes.[9] Their houses are safe from fear, neither is the rod of God on them.[10] Their bull engenders, and fails not; their cow calves, and casts not her calf.[11] They send forth their little ones like a flock, and their children dance.[12] They take the tambourine and harp, and rejoice at the sound of the organ.[13] They spend their days in wealth, and in a moment go down to the grave.[14] Therefore they say to God, Depart from us; for we desire not the knowledge of your ways.[15] What is the Almighty, that we should serve him? and what profit should we have, if we pray to him?[16] See, their good is not in their hand: the counsel of the wicked is far from me.[17] How oft is the candle of the wicked put out! and how oft comes their destruction on them! God distributes sorrows in his anger.[18] They are as stubble before the wind, and as chaff that the storm carries away.[19] God lays up his iniquity for his children: he rewards him, and he shall know it.[20] His eyes shall see his destruction, and he shall drink of the wrath of the Almighty.[21] For what pleasure has he in his house after him, when the number of his months is cut off in the middle?[22] Shall any teach God knowledge? seeing he judges those that are high.[23] One dies in his full strength, being wholly at ease and quiet.[24] His breasts are full of milk, and his bones are moistened with marrow.[25] And another dies in the bitterness of his soul, and never eats with pleasure.[26] They shall lie down alike in the dust, and the worms shall cover them.[27] Behold, I know your thoughts, and the devices which you wrongfully imagine against me.[28] For you say, Where is the house of the prince? and where are the dwelling places of the wicked?[29] Have you not asked them that go by the way? and do you not know their tokens,[30] That the wicked is reserved to the day of destruction? they shall be brought forth to the day of wrath.[31] Who shall declare his way to his face? and who shall repay him what he has done?[32] Yet shall he be brought to the grave, and shall remain in the tomb.[33] The clods of the valley shall be sweet to him, and every man shall draw after him, as there are innumerable before him.[34] How then comfort you me in vain, seeing in your answers there remains falsehood?

[1] Then Eliphaz the Temanite answered and said,

[2] Can a man be profitable to God, as he that is wise may be profitable to himself?[3] Is it any pleasure to the Almighty, that you are righteous? or is it gain to him, that you make your ways perfect?[4] Will he reprove you for fear of you? will he enter with you into judgment?[5] Is not your wickedness great? and your iniquities infinite?[6] For you have taken a pledge from your brother for nothing, and stripped the naked of their clothing.[7] You have not given water to the weary to drink, and you have withheld bread from the hungry.[8] But as for the mighty man, he had the earth; and the honorable man dwelled in it.[9] You have sent widows away empty, and the arms of the fatherless have been broken.[10] Therefore snares are round about you, and sudden fear troubles you;[11] Or darkness, that you can not see; and abundance of waters cover you.[12] Is not God in the height of heaven? and behold the height of the stars, how high they are![13] And you say, How does God know? can he judge through the dark cloud?[14] Thick clouds are a covering to him, that he sees not; and he walks in the circuit of heaven.[15] Have you marked the old way which wicked men have trodden?[16] Which were cut down out of time, whose foundation was overflowed with a flood:[17] Which said to God, Depart from us: and what can the Almighty do for them?[18] Yet he filled their houses with good things: but the counsel of the wicked is far from me.[19] The righteous see it, and are glad: and the innocent laugh them to scorn.[20] Whereas our substance is not cut down, but the remnant of them the fire consumes.[21] Acquaint now yourself with him, and be at peace: thereby good shall come to you.[22] Receive, I pray you, the law from his mouth, and lay up his words in your heart.[23] If you return to the Almighty, you shall be built up, you shall put away iniquity far from your tabernacles.[24] Then shall you lay up gold as dust, and the gold of Ophir as the stones of the brooks.[25] Yes, the Almighty shall be your defense, and you shall have plenty of silver.[26] For then shall you have your delight in the Almighty, and shall lift up your face to God.[27] You shall make your prayer to him, and he shall hear you, and you shall pay your vows.[28] You shall also decree a thing, and it shall be established to you: and the light shall shine on your ways.[29] When men are cast down, then you shall say, There is lifting up; and he shall save the humble person.[30] He shall deliver the island of the innocent: and it is delivered by the pureness of your hands.

[1] Then Job answered and said,

[2] Even to day is my complaint bitter: my stroke is heavier than my groaning.[3] Oh that I knew where I might find him! that I might come even to his seat![4] I would order my cause before him, and fill my mouth with arguments.[5] I would know the words which he would answer me, and understand what he would say to me.[6] Will he plead against me with his great power? No; but he would put strength in me.[7] There the righteous might dispute with him; so should I be delivered for ever from my judge.[8] Behold, I go forward, but he is not there; and backward, but I cannot perceive him:[9] On the left hand, where he does work, but I cannot behold him: he hides himself on the right hand, that I cannot see him:[10] But he knows the way that I take: when he has tried me, I shall come forth as gold.[11] My foot has held his steps, his way have I kept, and not declined.[12] Neither have I gone back from the commandment of his lips; I have esteemed the words of his mouth more than my necessary food.[13] But he is in one mind, and who can turn him? and what his soul desires, even that he does.[14] For he performs the thing that is appointed for me: and many such things are with him.[15] Therefore am I troubled at his presence: when I consider, I am afraid of him.[16] For God makes my heart soft, and the Almighty troubles me:[17] Because I was not cut off before the darkness, neither has he covered the darkness from my face.

[1] Why, seeing times are not hidden from the Almighty, do they that know him not see his days?

[2] Some remove the landmarks; they violently take away flocks, and feed thereof.[3] They drive away the ass of the fatherless, they take the widow's ox for a pledge.[4] They turn the needy out of the way: the poor of the earth hide themselves together.[5] Behold, as wild asses in the desert, go they forth to their work; rising betimes for a prey: the wilderness yields food for them and for their children.[6] They reap every one his corn in the field: and they gather the vintage of the wicked.[7] They cause the naked to lodge without clothing, that they have no covering in the cold.[8] They are wet with the showers of the mountains, and embrace the rock for want of a shelter.[9] They pluck the fatherless from the breast, and take a pledge of the poor.[10] They cause him to go naked without clothing, and they take away the sheaf from the hungry;[11] Which make oil within their walls, and tread their winepresses, and suffer thirst.[12] Men groan from out of the city, and the soul of the wounded cries out: yet God lays not folly to them.[13] They are of those that rebel against the light; they know not the ways thereof, nor abide in the paths thereof.[14] The murderer rising with the light kills the poor and needy, and in the night is as a thief.[15] The eye also of the adulterer waits for the twilight, saying, No eye shall see me: and disguises his face.[16] In the dark they dig through houses, which they had marked for themselves in the daytime: they know not the light.[17] For the morning is to them even as the shadow of death: if one know them, they are in the terrors of the shadow of death.[18] He is swift as the waters; their portion is cursed in the earth: he beholds not the way of the vineyards.[19] Drought and heat consume the snow waters: so does the grave those which have sinned.[20] The womb shall forget him; the worm shall feed sweetly on him; he shall be no more remembered; and wickedness shall be broken as a tree.[21] He evil entreats the barren that bears not: and does not good to the widow.[22] He draws also the mighty with his power: he rises up, and no man is sure of life.[23] Though it be given him to be in safety, where on he rests; yet his eyes are on their ways.[24] They are exalted for a little while, but are gone and brought low; they are taken out of the way as all other, and cut off as the tops of the ears of corn.[25] And if it be not so now, who will make me a liar, and make my speech nothing worth?

[1] Then answered Bildad the Shuhite, and said,

[2] Dominion and fear are with him, he makes peace in his high places.[3] Is there any number of his armies? and on whom does not his light arise?[4] How then can man be justified with God? or how can he be clean that is born of a woman?[5] Behold even to the moon, and it shines not; yes, the stars are not pure in his sight.[6] How much less man, that is a worm? and the son of man, which is a worm?

[1] But Job answered and said,

[2] How have you helped him that is without power? how save you the arm that has no strength?[3] How have you counceled him that has no wisdom? and how have you plentifully declared the thing as it is?[4] To whom have you uttered words? and whose spirit came from you?[5] Dead things are formed from under the waters, and the inhabitants thereof.[6] Hell is naked before him, and destruction has no covering.[7] He stretches out the north over the empty place, and hangs the earth on nothing.[8] He binds up the waters in his thick clouds; and the cloud is not rent under them.[9] He holds back the face of his throne, and spreads his cloud on it.[10] He has compassed the waters with bounds, until the day and night come to an end.[11] The pillars of heaven tremble and are astonished at his reproof.[12] He divides the sea with his power, and by his understanding he smites through the proud.[13] By his spirit he has garnished the heavens; his hand has formed the crooked serpent.[14] See, these are parts of his ways: but how little a portion is heard of him? but the thunder of his power who can understand?

[1] Moreover Job continued his parable, and said,

[2] As God lives, who has taken away my judgment; and the Almighty, who has vexed my soul;[3] All the while my breath is in me, and the spirit of God is in my nostrils;[4] My lips shall not speak wickedness, nor my tongue utter deceit.[5] God forbid that I should justify you: till I die I will not remove my integrity from me.[6] My righteousness I hold fast, and will not let it go: my heart shall not reproach me so long as I live.[7] Let my enemy be as the wicked, and he that rises up against me as the unrighteous.[8] For what is the hope of the hypocrite, though he has gained, when God takes away his soul?[9] Will God hear his cry when trouble comes on him?[10] Will he delight himself in the Almighty? will he always call on God?[11] I will teach you by the hand of God: that which is with the Almighty will I not conceal.[12] Behold, all you yourselves have seen it; why then are you thus altogether vain?[13] This is the portion of a wicked man with God, and the heritage of oppressors, which they shall receive of the Almighty.[14] If his children be multiplied, it is for the sword: and his offspring shall not be satisfied with bread.[15] Those that remain of him shall be buried in death: and his widows shall not weep.[16] Though he heap up silver as the dust, and prepare raiment as the clay;[17] He may prepare it, but the just shall put it on, and the innocent shall divide the silver.[18] He builds his house as a moth, and as a booth that the keeper makes.[19] The rich man shall lie down, but he shall not be gathered: he opens his eyes, and he is not.[20] Terrors take hold on him as waters, a tempest steals him away in the night.[21] The east wind carries him away, and he departs: and as a storm hurls him out of his place.[22] For God shall cast on him, and not spare: he would fain flee out of his hand.[23] Men shall clap their hands at him, and shall hiss him out of his place.

[1] Surely there is a vein for the silver, and a place for gold where they fine it.

[2] Iron is taken out of the earth, and brass is molten out of the stone.[3] He sets an end to darkness, and searches out all perfection: the stones of darkness, and the shadow of death.[4] The flood breaks out from the inhabitant; even the waters forgotten of the foot: they are dried up, they are gone away from men.[5] As for the earth, out of it comes bread: and under it is turned up as it were fire.[6] The stones of it are the place of sapphires: and it has dust of gold.[7] There is a path which no fowl knows, and which the vulture's eye has not seen:[8] The lion's whelps have not trodden it, nor the fierce lion passed by it.[9] He puts forth his hand on the rock; he overturns the mountains by the roots.[10] He cuts out rivers among the rocks; and his eye sees every precious thing.[11] He binds the floods from overflowing; and the thing that is hid brings he forth to light.[12] But where shall wisdom be found? and where is the place of understanding?[13] Man knows not the price thereof; neither is it found in the land of the living.[14] The depth says, It is not in me: and the sea said, It is not with me.[15] It cannot be gotten for gold, neither shall silver be weighed for the price thereof.[16] It cannot be valued with the gold of Ophir, with the precious onyx, or the sapphire.[17] The gold and the crystal cannot equal it: and the exchange of it shall not be for jewels of fine gold.[18] No mention shall be made of coral, or of pearls: for the price of wisdom is above rubies.[19] The topaz of Ethiopia shall not equal it, neither shall it be valued with pure gold.[20] From where then comes wisdom? and where is the place of understanding?[21] Seeing it is hid from the eyes of all living, and kept close from the fowls of the air.[22] Destruction and death say, We have heard the fame thereof with our ears.[23] God understands the way thereof, and he knows the place thereof.[24] For he looks to the ends of the earth, and sees under the whole heaven;[25] To make the weight for the winds; and he weighs the waters by measure.[26] When he made a decree for the rain, and a way for the lightning of the thunder:[27] Then did he see it, and declare it; he prepared it, yes, and searched it out.[28] And to man he said, Behold, the fear of the LORD, that is wisdom; and to depart from evil is understanding.

[1] Moreover Job continued his parable, and said,

[2] Oh that I were as in months past, as in the days when God preserved me;[3] When his candle shined on my head, and when by his light I walked through darkness;[4] As I was in the days of my youth, when the secret of God was on my tabernacle;[5] When the Almighty was yet with me, when my children were about me;[6] When I washed my steps with butter, and the rock poured me out rivers of oil;[7] When I went out to the gate through the city, when I prepared my seat in the street![8] The young men saw me, and hid themselves: and the aged arose, and stood up.[9] The princes refrained talking, and laid their hand on their mouth.[10] The nobles held their peace, and their tongue stuck to the roof of their mouth.[11] When the ear heard me, then it blessed me; and when the eye saw me, it gave witness to me:[12] Because I delivered the poor that cried, and the fatherless, and him that had none to help him.[13] The blessing of him that was ready to perish came on me: and I caused the widow's heart to sing for joy.[14] I put on righteousness, and it clothed me: my judgment was as a robe and a diadem.[15] I was eyes to the blind, and feet was I to the lame.[16] I was a father to the poor: and the cause which I knew not I searched out.[17] And I broke the jaws of the wicked, and plucked the spoil out of his teeth.[18] Then I said, I shall die in my nest, and I shall multiply my days as the sand.[19] My root was spread out by the waters, and the dew lay all night on my branch.[20] My glory was fresh in me, and my bow was renewed in my hand.[21] To me men gave ear, and waited, and kept silence at my counsel.[22] After my words they spoke not again; and my speech dropped on them.[23] And they waited for me as for the rain; and they opened their mouth wide as for the latter rain.[24] If I laughed on them, they believed it not; and the light of my countenance they cast not down.[25] I chose out their way, and sat chief, and dwelled as a king in the army, as one that comforts the mourners.

[1] But now they that are younger than I have me in derision, whose fathers I would have disdained to have set with the dogs of my flock.

[2] Yes, whereto might the strength of their hands profit me, in whom old age was perished?[3] For want and famine they were solitary; fleeing into the wilderness in former time desolate and waste.[4] Who cut up mallows by the bushes, and juniper roots for their meat.[5] They were driven forth from among men, (they cried after them as after a thief;)[6] To dwell in the cliffs of the valleys, in caves of the earth, and in the rocks.[7] Among the bushes they brayed; under the nettles they were gathered together.[8] They were children of fools, yes, children of base men: they were viler than the earth.[9] And now am I their song, yes, I am their byword.[10] They abhor me, they flee far from me, and spare not to spit in my face.[11] Because he has loosed my cord, and afflicted me, they have also let loose the bridle before me.[12] On my right hand rise the youth; they push away my feet, and they raise up against me the ways of their destruction.[13] They mar my path, they set forward my calamity, they have no helper.[14] They came on me as a wide breaking in of waters: in the desolation they rolled themselves on me.[15] Terrors are turned on me: they pursue my soul as the wind: and my welfare passes away as a cloud.[16] And now my soul is poured out on me; the days of affliction have taken hold on me.[17] My bones are pierced in me in the night season: and my sinews take no rest.[18] By the great force of my disease is my garment changed: it binds me about as the collar of my coat.[19] He has cast me into the mire, and I am become like dust and ashes.[20] I cry to you, and you do not hear me: I stand up, and you regard me not.[21] You are become cruel to me: with your strong hand you oppose yourself against me.[22] You lift me up to the wind; you cause me to ride on it, and dissolve my substance.[23] For I know that you will bring me to death, and to the house appointed for all living.[24] However, he will not stretch out his hand to the grave, though they cry in his destruction.[25] Did not I weep for him that was in trouble? was not my soul grieved for the poor?[26] When I looked for good, then evil came to me: and when I waited for light, there came darkness.[27] My bowels boiled, and rested not: the days of affliction prevented me.[28] I went mourning without the sun: I stood up, and I cried in the congregation.[29] I am a brother to dragons, and a companion to owls.[30] My skin is black on me, and my bones are burned with heat.[31] My harp also is turned to mourning, and my organ into the voice of them that weep.

[1] I made a covenant with my eyes; why then should I think on a maid?

[2] For what portion of God is there from above? and what inheritance of the Almighty from on high?[3] Is not destruction to the wicked? and a strange punishment to the workers of iniquity?[4] Does not he see my ways, and count all my steps?[5] If I have walked with vanity, or if my foot has hurried to deceit;[6] Let me be weighed in an even balance that God may know my integrity.[7] If my step has turned out of the way, and my heart walked after my eyes, and if any blot has stuck to my hands;[8] Then let me sow, and let another eat; yes, let my offspring be rooted out.[9] If my heart have been deceived by a woman, or if I have laid wait at my neighbor's door;[10] Then let my wife grind to another, and let others bow down on her.[11] For this is an heinous crime; yes, it is an iniquity to be punished by the judges.[12] For it is a fire that consumes to destruction, and would root out all my increase.[13] If I did despise the cause of my manservant or of my maidservant, when they contended with me;[14] What then shall I do when God rises up? and when he visits, what shall I answer him?[15] Did not he that made me in the womb make him? and did not one fashion us in the womb?[16] If I have withheld the poor from their desire, or have caused the eyes of the widow to fail;[17] Or have eaten my morsel myself alone, and the fatherless has not eaten thereof;[18] (For from my youth he was brought up with me, as with a father, and I have guided her from my mother's womb;)[19] If I have seen any perish for want of clothing, or any poor without covering;[20] If his loins have not blessed me, and if he were not warmed with the fleece of my sheep;[21] If I have lifted up my hand against the fatherless, when I saw my help in the gate:[22] Then let my arm fall from my shoulder blade, and my arm be broken from the bone.[23] For destruction from God was a terror to me, and by reason of his highness I could not endure.[24] If I have made gold my hope, or have said to the fine gold, You are my confidence;[25] If I rejoice because my wealth was great, and because my hand had gotten much;[26] If I beheld the sun when it shined, or the moon walking in brightness;[27] And my heart has been secretly enticed, or my mouth has kissed my hand:[28] This also were an iniquity to be punished by the judge: for I should have denied the God that is above.[29] If I rejoice at the destruction of him that hated me, or lifted up myself when evil found him:[30] Neither have I suffered my mouth to sin by wishing a curse to his soul.[31] If the men of my tabernacle said not, Oh that we had of his flesh! we cannot be satisfied.[32] The stranger did not lodge in the street: but I opened my doors to the travelers.[33] If I covered my transgressions as Adam, by hiding my iniquity in my bosom:[34] Did I fear a great multitude, or did the contempt of families terrify me, that I kept silence, and went not out of the door?[35] Oh that one would hear me! behold, my desire is, that the Almighty would answer me, and that my adversary had written a book.[36] Surely I would take it on my shoulder, and bind it as a crown to me.[37] I would declare to him the number of my steps; as a prince would I go near to him.[38] If my land cry against me, or that the furrows likewise thereof complain;[39] If I have eaten the fruits thereof without money, or have caused the owners thereof to lose their life:[40] Let thistles grow instead of wheat, and cockle instead of barley. The words of Job are ended.

[1] So these three men ceased to answer Job, because he was righteous in his own eyes.

[2] Then was kindled the wrath of Elihu the son of Barachel the Buzite, of the kindred of Ram: against Job was his wrath kindled, because he justified himself rather than God.[3] Also against his three friends was his wrath kindled, because they had found no answer, and yet had condemned Job.[4] Now Elihu had waited till Job had spoken, because they were elder than he.[5] When Elihu saw that there was no answer in the mouth of these three men, then his wrath was kindled.[6] And Elihu the son of Barachel the Buzite answered and said, I am young, and you are very old; why I was afraid, and dared not show you my opinion.[7] I said, Days should speak, and multitude of years should teach wisdom.[8] But there is a spirit in man: and the inspiration of the Almighty gives them understanding.[9] Great men are not always wise: neither do the aged understand judgment.[10] Therefore I said, Listen to me; I also will show my opinion.[11] Behold, I waited for your words; I gave ear to your reasons, whilst you searched out what to say.[12] Yes, I attended to you, and, behold, there was none of you that convinced Job, or that answered his words:[13] Lest you should say, We have found out wisdom: God thrusts him down, not man.[14] Now he has not directed his words against me: neither will I answer him with your speeches.[15] They were amazed, they answered no more: they left off speaking.[16] When I had waited, (for they spoke not, but stood still, and answered no more;)[17] I said, I will answer also my part, I also will show my opinion.[18] For I am full of matter, the spirit within me constrains me.[19] Behold, my belly is as wine which has no vent; it is ready to burst like new bottles.[20] I will speak, that I may be refreshed: I will open my lips and answer.[21] Let me not, I pray you, accept any man's person, neither let me give flattering titles to man.[22] For I know not to give flattering titles; in so doing my maker would soon take me away.

[2] Behold, now I have opened my mouth, my tongue has spoken in my mouth.[3] My words shall be of the uprightness of my heart: and my lips shall utter knowledge clearly.[4] The spirit of God has made me, and the breath of the Almighty has given me life.[5] If you can answer me, set your words in order before me, stand up.[6] Behold, I am according to your wish in God's stead: I also am formed out of the clay.[7] Behold, my terror shall not make you afraid, neither shall my hand be heavy on you.[8] Surely you have spoken in my hearing, and I have heard the voice of your words, saying,[9] I am clean without transgression, I am innocent; neither is there iniquity in me.[10] Behold, he finds occasions against me, he counts me for his enemy,[11] He puts my feet in the stocks, he marks all my paths.[12] Behold, in this you are not just: I will answer you, that God is greater than man.[13] Why do you strive against him? for he gives not account of any of his matters.[14] For God speaks once, yes twice, yet man perceives it not.[15] In a dream, in a vision of the night, when deep sleep falls on men, in slumberings on the bed;[16] Then he opens the ears of men, and seals their instruction,[17] That he may withdraw man from his purpose, and hide pride from man.[18] He keeps back his soul from the pit, and his life from perishing by the sword.[19] He is chastened also with pain on his bed, and the multitude of his bones with strong pain:[20] So that his life abhors bread, and his soul dainty meat.[21] His flesh is consumed away, that it cannot be seen; and his bones that were not seen stick out.[22] Yes, his soul draws near to the grave, and his life to the destroyers.[23] If there be a messenger with him, an interpreter, one among a thousand, to show to man his uprightness:[24] Then he is gracious to him, and says, Deliver him from going down to the pit: I have found a ransom.[25] His flesh shall be fresher than a child's: he shall return to the days of his youth:[26] He shall pray to God, and he will be favorable to him: and he shall see his face with joy: for he will render to man his righteousness.[27] He looks on men, and if any say, I have sinned, and perverted that which was right, and it profited me not;[28] He will deliver his soul from going into the pit, and his life shall see the light.[29] See, all these things works God oftentimes with man,[30] To bring back his soul from the pit, to be enlightened with the light of the living.[31] Mark well, O Job, listen to me: hold your peace, and I will speak.[32] If you have anything to say, answer me: speak, for I desire to justify you.[33] If not, listen to me: hold your peace, and I shall teach you wisdom.

[1] Furthermore Elihu answered and said,

[2] Hear my words, O you wise men; and give ear to me, you that have knowledge.[3] For the ear tries words, as the mouth tastes meat.[4] Let us choose to us judgment: let us know among ourselves what is good.[5] For Job has said, I am righteous: and God has taken away my judgment.[6] Should I lie against my right? my wound is incurable without transgression.[7] What man is like Job, who drinks up scorning like water?[8] Which goes in company with the workers of iniquity, and walks with wicked men.[9] For he has said, It profits a man nothing that he should delight himself with God.[10] Therefore listen to me you men of understanding: far be it from God, that he should do wickedness; and from the Almighty, that he should commit iniquity.[11] For the work of a man shall he render to him, and cause every man to find according to his ways.[12] Yes, surely God will not do wickedly, neither will the Almighty pervert judgment.[13] Who has given him a charge over the earth? or who has disposed the whole world?[14] If he set his heart on man, if he gather to himself his spirit and his breath;[15] All flesh shall perish together, and man shall turn again to dust.[16] If now you have understanding, hear this: listen to the voice of my words.[17] Shall even he that hates right govern? and will you condemn him that is most just?[18] Is it fit to say to a king, You are wicked? and to princes, You are ungodly?[19] How much less to him that accepts not the persons of princes, nor regards the rich more than the poor? for they all are the work of his hands.[20] In a moment shall they die, and the people shall be troubled at midnight, and pass away: and the mighty shall be taken away without hand.[21] For his eyes are on the ways of man, and he sees all his goings.[22] There is no darkness, nor shadow of death, where the workers of iniquity may hide themselves.[23] For he will not lay on man more than right; that he should enter into judgment with God.[24] He shall break in pieces mighty men without number, and set others in their stead.[25] Therefore he knows their works, and he overturns them in the night, so that they are destroyed.[26] He strikes them as wicked men in the open sight of others;[27] Because they turned back from him, and would not consider any of his ways:[28] So that they cause the cry of the poor to come to him, and he hears the cry of the afflicted.[29] When he gives quietness, who then can make trouble? and when he hides his face, who then can behold him? whether it be done against a nation, or against a man only:[30] That the hypocrite reign not, lest the people be ensnared.[31] Surely it is meet to be said to God, I have borne chastisement, I will not offend any more:[32] That which I see not teach you me: if I have done iniquity, I will do no more.[33] Should it be according to your mind? he will recompense it, whether you refuse, or whether you choose; and not I: therefore speak what you know.[34] Let men of understanding tell me, and let a wise man listen to me.[35] Job has spoken without knowledge, and his words were without wisdom.[36] My desire is that Job may be tried to the end because of his answers for wicked men.[37] For he adds rebellion to his sin, he claps his hands among us, and multiplies his words against God.

[1] Elihu spoke moreover, and said,

[2] Think you this to be right, that you said, My righteousness is more than God's?[3] For you said, What advantage will it be to you? and, What profit shall I have, if I be cleansed from my sin?[4] I will answer you, and your companions with you.[5] Look to the heavens, and see; and behold the clouds which are higher than you.[6] If you sin, what do you against him? or if your transgressions be multiplied, what do you to him?[7] If you be righteous, what give you him? or what receives he of your hand?[8] Your wickedness may hurt a man as you are; and your righteousness may profit the son of man.[9] By reason of the multitude of oppressions they make the oppressed to cry: they cry out by reason of the arm of the mighty.[10] But none says, Where is God my maker, who gives songs in the night;[11] Who teaches us more than the beasts of the earth, and makes us wiser than the fowls of heaven?[12] There they cry, but none gives answer, because of the pride of evil men.[13] Surely God will not hear vanity, neither will the Almighty regard it.[14] Although you say you shall not see him, yet judgment is before him; therefore trust you in him.[15] But now, because it is not so, he has visited in his anger; yet he knows it not in great extremity:[16] Therefore does Job open his mouth in vain; he multiplies words without knowledge.

[2] Suffer me a little, and I will show you that I have yet to speak on God's behalf.[3] I will fetch my knowledge from afar, and will ascribe righteousness to my Maker.[4] For truly my words shall not be false: he that is perfect in knowledge is with you.[5] Behold, God is mighty, and despises not any: he is mighty in strength and wisdom.[6] He preserves not the life of the wicked: but gives right to the poor.[7] He withdraws not his eyes from the righteous: but with kings are they on the throne; yes, he does establish them for ever, and they are exalted.[8] And if they be bound in fetters, and be held in cords of affliction;[9] Then he shows them their work, and their transgressions that they have exceeded.[10] He opens also their ear to discipline, and commands that they return from iniquity.[11] If they obey and serve him, they shall spend their days in prosperity, and their years in pleasures.[12] But if they obey not, they shall perish by the sword, and they shall die without knowledge.[13] But the hypocrites in heart heap up wrath: they cry not when he binds them.[14] They die in youth, and their life is among the unclean.[15] He delivers the poor in his affliction, and opens their ears in oppression.[16] Even so would he have removed you out of the strait into a broad place, where there is no narrow place; and that which should be set on your table should be full of fatness.[17] But you have fulfilled the judgment of the wicked: judgment and justice take hold on you.[18] Because there is wrath, beware lest he take you away with his stroke: then a great ransom cannot deliver you.[19] Will he esteem your riches? no, not gold, nor all the forces of strength.[20] Desire not the night, when people are cut off in their place.[21] Take heed, regard not iniquity: for this have you chosen rather than affliction.[22] Behold, God exalts by his power: who teaches like him?[23] Who has enjoined him his way? or who can say, You have worked iniquity?[24] Remember that you magnify his work, which men behold.[25] Every man may see it; man may behold it afar off.[26] Behold, God is great, and we know him not, neither can the number of his years be searched out.[27] For he makes small the drops of water: they pour down rain according to the vapor thereof:[28] Which the clouds do drop and distil on man abundantly.[29] Also can any understand the spreading of the clouds, or the noise of his tabernacle?[30] Behold, he spreads his light on it, and covers the bottom of the sea.[31] For by them judges he the people; he gives meat in abundance.[32] With clouds he covers the light; and commands it not to shine by the cloud that comes between.[33] The noise thereof shows concerning it, the cattle also concerning the vapor.

[1] At this also my heart trembles, and is moved out of his place.

[2] Hear attentively the noise of his voice, and the sound that goes out of his mouth.[3] He directs it under the whole heaven, and his lightning to the ends of the earth.[4] After it a voice roars: he thunders with the voice of his excellency; and he will not stay them when his voice is heard.[5] God thunders marvelously with his voice; great things does he, which we cannot comprehend.[6] For he says to the snow, Be you on the earth; likewise to the small rain, and to the great rain of his strength.[7] He seals up the hand of every man; that all men may know his work.[8] Then the beasts go into dens, and remain in their places.[9] Out of the south comes the whirlwind: and cold out of the north.[10] By the breath of God frost is given: and the breadth of the waters is straitened.[11] Also by watering he wearies the thick cloud: he scatters his bright cloud:[12] And it is turned round about by his counsels: that they may do whatever he commands them on the face of the world in the earth.[13] He causes it to come, whether for correction, or for his land, or for mercy.[14] Listen to this, O Job: stand still, and consider the wondrous works of God.[15] Do you know when God disposed them, and caused the light of his cloud to shine?[16] Do you know the balancing of the clouds, the wondrous works of him which is perfect in knowledge?[17] How your garments are warm, when he quiets the earth by the south wind?[18] Have you with him spread out the sky, which is strong, and as a molten looking glass?[19] Teach us what we shall say to him; for we cannot order our speech by reason of darkness.[20] Shall it be told him that I speak? if a man speak, surely he shall be swallowed up.[21] And now men see not the bright light which is in the clouds: but the wind passes, and cleans them.[22] Fair weather comes out of the north: with God is terrible majesty.[23] Touching the Almighty, we cannot find him out: he is excellent in power, and in judgment, and in plenty of justice: he will not afflict.[24] Men do therefore fear him: he respects not any that are wise of heart.

[2] Who is this that darkens counsel by words without knowledge?[3] Gird up now your loins like a man; for I will demand of you, and answer you me.[4] Where were you when I laid the foundations of the earth? declare, if you have understanding.[5] Who has laid the measures thereof, if you know? or who has stretched the line on it?[6] Whereupon are the foundations thereof fastened? or who laid the corner stone thereof;[7] When the morning stars sang together, and all the sons of God shouted for joy?[8] Or who shut up the sea with doors, when it broke forth, as if it had issued out of the womb?[9] When I made the cloud the garment thereof, and thick darkness a swaddling cloth for it,[10] And broke up for it my decreed place, and set bars and doors,[11] And said, Till now shall you come, but no further: and here shall your proud waves be stayed?[12] Have you commanded the morning since your days; and caused the dayspring to know his place;[13] That it might take hold of the ends of the earth, that the wicked might be shaken out of it?[14] It is turned as clay to the seal; and they stand as a garment.[15] And from the wicked their light is withheld, and the high arm shall be broken.[16] Have you entered into the springs of the sea? or have you walked in the search of the depth?[17] Have the gates of death been opened to you? or have you seen the doors of the shadow of death?[18]

Have you perceived the breadth of the earth? declare if you know it all.[19] Where is the way where light dwells? and as for darkness, where is the place thereof,[20] That you should take it to the bound thereof, and that you should know the paths to the house thereof?[21] Know you it, because you were then born? or because the number of your days is great?[22] Have you entered into the treasures of the snow? or have you seen the treasures of the hail,[23] Which I have reserved against the time of trouble, against the day of battle and war?[24] By what way is the light parted, which scatters the east wind on the earth?[25] Who has divided a watercourse for the overflowing of waters, or a way for the lightning of thunder;[26] To cause it to rain on the earth, where no man is; on the wilderness, wherein there is no man;[27] To satisfy the desolate and waste ground; and to cause the bud of the tender herb to spring forth?[28] Has the rain a father? or who has begotten the drops of dew?[29] Out of whose womb came the ice? and the hoary frost of heaven, who has gendered it?[30] The waters are hid as with a stone, and the face of the deep is frozen.[31] Can you bind the sweet influences of Pleiades, or loose the bands of Orion?[32] Can you bring forth Mazzaroth in his season? or can you guide Arcturus with his sons?[33] Know you the ordinances of heaven? can you set the dominion thereof in the earth?[34] Can you lift up your voice to the clouds, that abundance of waters may cover you?[35] Can you send lightning, that they may go and say to you, Here we are?[36] Who has put wisdom in the inward parts? or who has given understanding to the heart?[37] Who can number the clouds in wisdom? or who can stay the bottles of heaven,[38] When the dust grows into hardness, and the clods stuck fast together?[39] Will you hunt the prey for the lion? or fill the appetite of the young lions,[40] When they couch in their dens, and abide in the covert to lie in wait?[41] Who provides for the raven his food? when his young ones cry to God, they wander for lack of meat.

[1] Know you the time when the wild goats of the rock bring forth? or can you mark when the hinds do calve?

[2] Can you number the months that they fulfill? or know you the time when they bring forth?[3] They bow themselves, they bring forth their young ones, they cast out their sorrows.[4] Their young ones are in good liking, they grow up with corn; they go forth, and return not to them.[5] Who has sent out the wild ass free? or who has loosed the bands of the wild ass?[6] Whose house I have made the wilderness, and the barren land his dwellings.[7] He scorns the multitude of the city, neither regards he the crying of the driver.[8] The range of the mountains is his pasture, and he searches after every green thing.[9] Will the unicorn be willing to serve you, or abide by your crib?[10] Can you bind the unicorn with his band in the furrow? or will he harrow the valleys after you?[11] Will you trust him, because his strength is great? or will you leave your labor to him?[12] Will you believe him, that he will bring home your seed, and gather it into your barn?[13] Gave you the goodly wings to the peacocks? or wings and feathers to the ostrich?[14] Which leaves her eggs in the earth, and warms them in dust,[15] And forgets that the foot may crush them, or that the wild beast may break them.[16] She is hardened against her young ones, as though they were not hers: her labor is in vain without fear;[17] Because God has deprived her of wisdom, neither has he imparted to her understanding.[18] What time she lifts up herself on high, she scorns the horse and his rider.[19] Have you given the horse strength? have you clothed his neck with thunder?[20] Can you make him afraid as a grasshopper? the glory of his nostrils is terrible.[21] He paws in the valley, and rejoices in his strength: he goes on to meet the armed men.[22] He mocks at fear, and is not affrighted; neither turns he back from the sword.[23] The quiver rattles against him, the glittering spear and the shield.[24] He swallows the ground with fierceness and rage: neither believes he that it is the sound of the trumpet.[25] He says among the trumpets, Ha, ha; and he smells the battle afar off, the thunder of the captains, and the shouting.[26] Does the hawk fly by your wisdom, and stretch her wings toward the south?[27] Does the eagle mount up at your command, and make her nest on high?[28] She dwells and stays on the rock, on the crag of the rock, and the strong place.[29] From there she seeks the prey, and her eyes behold afar off.[30] Her young ones also suck up blood: and where the slain are, there is she.

[1] Moreover the LORD answered Job, and said,

[2] Shall he that contends with the Almighty instruct him? he that reproves God, let him answer it. ¶[3] Then Job answered the LORD, and said,[4] Behold, I am vile; what shall I answer you? I will lay my hand on my mouth.[5] Once have I spoken; but I will not answer: yes, twice; but I will proceed no further. ¶[6] Then answered the LORD to Job out of the whirlwind, and said,[7] Gird up your loins now like a man: I will demand of you, and declare you to me.[8] Will you also cancel my judgment? will you condemn me, that you may be righteous?[9] Have you an arm like God? or can you thunder with a voice like him?[10] Deck yourself now with majesty and excellency; and array yourself with glory and beauty.[11] Cast abroad the rage of your wrath: and behold every one that is proud, and abase him.[12] Look on every one that is proud, and bring him low; and tread down the wicked in their place.[13] Hide them in the dust together; and bind their faces in secret.[14] Then will I also confess to you that your own right hand can save you. ¶[15] Behold now behemoth, which I made with you; he eats grass as an ox.[16] See now, his strength is in his loins, and his force is in the navel of his belly.[17] He moves his tail like a cedar: the sinews of his stones are wrapped together.[18] His bones are as strong pieces of brass; his bones are like bars of iron.[19] He is the chief of the ways of God: he that made him can make his sword to approach to him.[20] Surely the mountains bring him forth food, where all the beasts of the field play.[21] He lies under the shady trees, in the covert of the reed, and fens.[22] The shady trees cover him with their shadow; the willows of the brook compass him about.[23] Behold, he drinks up a river, and hastens not: he trusts that he can draw up Jordan into his mouth.[24] He takes it with his eyes: his nose pierces through snares.

[1] Can you draw out leviathan with an hook? or his tongue with a cord which you let down?

[2] Can you put an hook into his nose? or bore his jaw through with a thorn?[3] Will he make many supplications to you? will he speak soft words to you?[4] Will he make a covenant with you? will you take him for a servant for ever?[5] Will you play with him as with a bird? or will you bind him for your maidens?[6] Shall the companions make a banquet of him? shall they part him among the merchants?[7] Can you fill his skin with barbed irons? or his head with fish spears?[8] Lay your hand on him, remember the battle, do no more.[9] Behold, the hope of him is in vain: shall not one be cast down even at the sight of him?[10] None is so fierce that dare stir him up: who then is able to stand before me?[11] Who has prevented me, that I should repay him? whatever is under the whole heaven is mine.[12] I will not conceal his parts, nor his power, nor his comely proportion.[13] Who can discover the face of his garment? or who can come to him with his double bridle?[14] Who can open the doors of his face? his teeth are terrible round about.[15] His scales are his pride, shut up together as with a close seal.[16] One is so near to another, that no air can come between them.[17] They are joined one to another, they stick together, that they cannot be sundered.[18] By his neesings a light does shine, and his eyes are like the eyelids of the morning.[19] Out of his mouth go burning lamps, and sparks of fire leap out.[20] Out of his nostrils goes smoke, as out of a seething pot or caldron.[21] His breath kindles coals, and a flame goes out of his mouth.[22] In his neck remains strength, and sorrow is turned into joy before him.[23] The flakes of his flesh are joined together: they are firm in themselves; they cannot be moved.[24] His heart is as firm as a stone; yes, as hard as a piece of the nether millstone.[25] When he raises up himself, the mighty are afraid: by reason of breakings they purify themselves.[26] The sword of him that lays at him cannot hold: the spear, the dart, nor the habergeon.[27] He esteems iron as straw, and brass as rotten wood.[28] The arrow cannot make him flee: sling stones are turned with him into stubble.[29] Darts are counted as stubble: he laughs at the shaking of a spear.[30] Sharp stones are under him: he spreads sharp pointed things on the mire.[31] He makes the deep to boil like a pot: he makes the sea like a pot of ointment.[32] He makes a path to shine after him; one would think the deep to be hoary.[33] On earth there is not his like, who is made without fear.[34] He beholds all high things: he is a king over all the children of pride.

[1] Then Job answered the LORD, and said,

[2] I know that you can do every thing, and that no thought can be withheld from you.[3] Who is he that hides counsel without knowledge? therefore have I uttered that I understood not; things too wonderful for me, which I knew not.[4] Hear, I beseech you, and I will speak: I will demand of you, and declare you to me.[5] I have heard of you by the hearing of the ear: but now my eye sees you.[6] Why I abhor myself, and repent in dust and ashes. ¶[7] And it was so, that after the LORD had spoken these words to Job, the LORD said to Eliphaz the Temanite, My wrath is kindled against you, and against your two friends: for you have not spoken of me the thing that is right, as my servant Job has.[8] Therefore take to you now seven bullocks and seven rams, and go to my servant Job, and offer up for yourselves a burnt offering; and my servant Job shall pray for you: for him will I accept: lest I deal with you after your folly, in that you have not spoken of me the thing which is right, like my servant Job.[9] So Eliphaz the Temanite and Bildad the Shuhite and Zophar the Naamathite went, and did according as the LORD commanded them: the LORD also accepted Job.[10] And the LORD turned the captivity of Job, when he prayed for his friends: also the LORD gave Job twice as much as he had before.[11] Then came there to him all his brothers, and all his sisters, and all they that had been of his acquaintance before, and did eat bread with him in his house: and they bemoaned him, and comforted him over all the evil that the LORD had brought on him: every man also gave him a piece of money, and every one an earring of gold.[12] So the LORD blessed the latter end of Job more than his beginning: for he had fourteen thousand sheep, and six thousand camels, and a thousand yoke of oxen, and a thousand she asses.[13] He had also seven sons and three daughters.[14] And he called the name of the first, Jemima; and the name of the second, Kezia; and the name of the third, Kerenhappuch.[15] And in all the land were no women found so fair as the daughters of Job: and their father gave them inheritance among their brothers.[16] After this lived Job an hundred and forty years, and saw his sons, and his sons' sons, even four generations.[17] So Job died, being old and full of days.

An Introduction to the Book of Psalms

The psalms are the production of various authors. “Only a portion of the Book of Psalms claims David as its author. Other inspired poets in successive generations added now one now another contribution to the sacred collection, and thus in the wisdom of Providence it more completely reflects every phase of human emotion and circumstances than it otherwise could.” But it is specially to David and his contemporaries that we owe this precious book. In the “titles” of the psalms, the genuineness of which there is no sufficient reason to doubt, 73 are ascribed to David. Peter and John (Acts 4:25) ascribe to him also the second psalm, which is one of the 48 that are anonymous. About two-thirds of the whole collection have been ascribed to David.

Psalms 39, 62, and 77 are addressed to Jeduthun, to be sung after his manner or in his choir. Psalms 50 and 73-83 are addressed to Asaph, as the master of his choir, to be sung in the worship of God. The “sons of Korah,” who formed a leading part of the Kohathite singers (2 Chr. 20:19), were intrusted with the arranging and singing of Ps. 42, 44-49, 84, 85, 87, and 88.

In Luke 24:44 the word “psalms” means the Hagiographa, i.e., the holy writings, one of the sections into which the Jews divided the Old Testament. (See BIBLE.)

None of the psalms can be proved to have been of a later date than the time of Ezra and Nehemiah, hence the whole collection extends over a period of about 1,000 years. There are in the New Testament 116 direct quotations from the Psalter.

The Psalter is divided, after the analogy of the Pentateuch, into five books, each closing with a doxology or benediction:

(1.) The first book comprises the first 41 psalms, all of which are ascribed to David except 1, 2, 10, and 33, which, though anonymous, may also be ascribed to him.

(2.) Book second consists of the next 31 psalms (42-72), 18 of which are ascribed to David and 1 to Solomon (the 72nd). The rest are anonymous.

(3.) The third book contains 17 psalms (73-89), of which the 86th is ascribed to David, the 88th to Heman the Ezrahite, and the 89th to Ethan the Ezrahite.

(4.) The fourth book also contains 17 psalms (90-106), of which the 90th is ascribed to Moses, and the 101st and 103rd to David.

(5.) The fifth book contains the remaining psalms, 44 in number. Of these, 15 are ascribed to David, and the 127th to Solomon.

Ps. 136 is generally called “the great hallel.” But the Talmud includes also Ps. 120-135. Ps. 113-118, inclusive, constitute the “hallel” recited at the three great feasts, at the new moon, and on the eight days of the feast of dedication.

“It is presumed that these several collections were made at times of high religious life: the first, probably, near the close of David’s life; the second in the days of Solomon; the third by the singers of Jehoshaphat (2 Chr. 20:19); the fourth by the men of Hezekiah (29, 30, 31); and the fifth in the days of Ezra.”

The Mosaic ritual makes no provision for the service of song in the worship of God. David first taught the Church to sing the praises of the Lord. He first introduced into the ritual of the tabernacle music and song.

PSALMS

Divers names are given to the psalms. (1.) Some bear the Hebrew designation shir (Gr. ode, a song). Thirteen have this title. It means the flow of speech, as it were, in a straight line or in a regular strain. This title includes secular as well as sacred song.

(2.) Fifty-eight psalms bear the designation (Heb.) mitsmor (Gr. psalmos, a psalm), a lyric ode, or a song set to music; a sacred song accompanied with a musical instrument.

(3.) Ps. 145, and many others, have the designation (Heb.) tehillah (Gr. hymnos, a hymn), meaning a song of praise; a song the prominent thought of which is the praise of God.

(4.) Six psalms (16, 56-60) have the title (Heb.) michtam (q.v.).

(5.) Ps. 7 and Hab. 3 bear the title (Heb.) shiggaion (q.v.).

[1] Blessed is the man that walks not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor stands in the way of sinners, nor sits in the seat of the scornful.

[2] But his delight is in the law of the LORD; and in his law does he meditate day and night.[3] And he shall be like a tree planted by the rivers of water, that brings forth his fruit in his season; his leaf also shall not wither; and whatever he does shall prosper.[4] The ungodly are not so: but are like the chaff which the wind drives away.[5] Therefore the ungodly shall not stand in the judgment, nor sinners in the congregation of the righteous.[6] For the LORD knows the way of the righteous: but the way of the ungodly shall perish.

[1] Why do the heathen rage, and the people imagine a vain thing?

[2] The kings of the earth set themselves, and the rulers take counsel together, against the LORD, and against his anointed, saying,[3] Let us break their bands asunder, and cast away their cords from us.[4] He that sits in the heavens shall laugh: the LORD shall have them in derision.[5] Then shall he speak to them in his wrath, and vex them in his sore displeasure.[6] Yet have I set my king on my holy hill of Zion.[7] I will declare the decree: the LORD has said to me, You are my Son; this day have I begotten you.[8] Ask of me, and I shall give you the heathen for your inheritance, and the uttermost parts of the earth for your possession.[9] You shall break them with a rod of iron; you shall dash them in pieces like a potter's vessel.[10] Be wise now therefore, O you kings: be instructed, you judges of the earth.[11] Serve the LORD with fear, and rejoice with trembling.[12] Kiss the Son, lest he be angry, and you perish from the way, when his wrath is kindled but a little. Blessed are all they that put their trust in him.

[1] Lord, how are they increased that trouble me! many are they that rise up against me.

[2] Many there be which say of my soul, There is no help for him in God. Selah.[3] But you, O LORD, are a shield for me; my glory, and the lifter up of my head.[4] I cried to the LORD with my voice, and he heard me out of his holy hill. Selah.[5] I laid me down and slept; I awaked; for the LORD sustained me.[6] I will not be afraid of ten thousands of people, that have set themselves against me round about.[7] Arise, O LORD; save me, O my God: for you have smitten all my enemies on the cheek bone; you have broken the teeth of the ungodly.[8] Salvation belongs to the LORD: your blessing is on your people. Selah.

[1] Hear me when I call, O God of my righteousness: you have enlarged me when I was in distress; have mercy on me, and hear my prayer.

[2] O you sons of men, how long will you turn my glory into shame? how long will you love vanity, and seek after leasing? Selah.[3] But know that the LORD has set apart him that is godly for himself: the LORD will hear when I call to him.[4] Stand in awe, and sin not: commune with your own heart on your bed, and be still. Selah.[5] Offer the sacrifices of righteousness, and put your trust in the LORD.[6] There be many that say, Who will show us any good? LORD, lift you up the light of your countenance on us.[7] You have put gladness in my heart, more than in the time that their corn and their wine increased.[8] I will both lay me down in peace, and sleep: for you, LORD, only make me dwell in safety.

[1] Give ear to my words, O LORD, consider my meditation.

[2] Listen to the voice of my cry, my King, and my God: for to you will I pray.[3] My voice shall you hear in the morning, O LORD; in the morning will I direct my prayer to you, and will look up.[4] For you are not a God that has pleasure in wickedness: neither shall evil dwell with you.[5] The foolish shall not stand in your sight: you hate all workers of iniquity.[6] You shall destroy them that speak leasing: the LORD will abhor the bloody and deceitful man.[7] But as for me, I will come into your house in the multitude of your mercy: and in your fear will I worship toward your holy temple.[8] Lead me, O LORD, in your righteousness because of my enemies; make your way straight before my face.[9] For there is no faithfulness in their mouth; their inward part is very wickedness; their throat is an open sepulcher; they flatter with their tongue.[10] Destroy you them, O God; let them fall by their own counsels; cast them out in the multitude of their transgressions; for they have rebelled against you.[11] But let all those that put their trust in you rejoice: let them ever shout for joy, because you defend them: let them also that love your name be joyful in you.[12] For you, LORD, will bless the righteous; with favor will you compass him as with a shield.

[1] O LORD, rebuke me not in your anger, neither chasten me in your hot displeasure.

[2] Have mercy on me, O LORD; for I am weak: O LORD, heal me; for my bones are vexed.[3] My soul is also sore vexed: but you, O LORD, how long?[4] Return, O LORD, deliver my soul: oh save me for your mercies' sake.[5] For in death there is no remembrance of you: in the grave who shall give you thanks?[6] I am weary with my groaning; all the night make I my bed to swim; I water my couch with my tears.[7] My eye is consumed because of grief; it waxes old because of all my enemies.[8] Depart from me, all you workers of iniquity; for the LORD has heard the voice of my weeping.[9] The LORD has heard my supplication; the LORD will receive my prayer.[10] Let all my enemies be ashamed and sore vexed: let them return and be ashamed suddenly.

[1] O LORD my God, in you do I put my trust: save me from all them that persecute me, and deliver me:

[2] Lest he tear my soul like a lion, rending it in pieces, while there is none to deliver.[3] O LORD my God, If I have done this; if there be iniquity in my hands;[4] If I have rewarded evil to him that was at peace with me; (yes, I have delivered him that without cause is my enemy:)[5] Let the enemy persecute my soul, and take it; yes, let him tread down my life on the earth, and lay my honor in the dust. Selah.[6] Arise, O LORD, in your anger, lift up yourself because of the rage of my enemies: and awake for me to the judgment that you have commanded.[7] So shall the congregation of the people compass you about: for their sakes therefore return you on high.[8] The LORD shall judge the people: judge me, O LORD, according to my righteousness, and according to my integrity that is in me.[9] Oh let the wickedness of the wicked come to an end; but establish the just: for the righteous God tries the hearts and reins.[10] My defense is of God, which saves the upright in heart.[11] God judges the righteous, and God is angry with the wicked every day.[12] If he turn not, he will whet his sword; he has bent his bow, and made it ready.[13] He has also prepared for him the instruments of death; he ordains his arrows against the persecutors.[14] Behold, he travails with iniquity, and has conceived mischief, and brought forth falsehood.[15] He made a pit, and dig it, and is fallen into the ditch which he made.[16] His mischief shall return on his own head, and his violent dealing shall come down on his own pate.[17] I will praise the LORD according to his righteousness: and will sing praise to the name of the LORD most high.

[1] O LORD, our Lord, how excellent is your name in all the earth! who have set your glory above the heavens.

[2] Out of the mouth of babes and sucklings have you ordained strength because of your enemies, that you might still the enemy and the avenger.[3] When I consider your heavens, the work of your fingers, the moon and the stars, which you have ordained;[4] What is man, that you are mindful of him? and the son of man, that you visit him?[5] For you have made him a little lower than the angels, and have crowned him with glory and honor.[6] You made him to have dominion over the works of your hands; you have put all things under his feet:[7] All sheep and oxen, yes, and the beasts of the field;[8] The fowl of the air, and the fish of the sea, and whatever passes through the paths of the seas.[9] O LORD our Lord, how excellent is your name in all the earth!

[1] I will praise you, O LORD, with my whole heart; I will show forth all your marvelous works.

[2] I will be glad and rejoice in you: I will sing praise to your name, O you most High.[3] When my enemies are turned back, they shall fall and perish at your presence.[4] For you have maintained my right and my cause; you sat in the throne judging right.[5] You have rebuked the heathen, you have destroyed the wicked, you have put out their name for ever and ever.[6] O you enemy, destructions are come to a perpetual end: and you have destroyed cities; their memorial is perished with them.[7] But the LORD shall endure for ever: he has prepared his throne for judgment.[8] And he shall judge the world in righteousness, he shall minister judgment to the people in uprightness.[9] The LORD also will be a refuge for the oppressed, a refuge in times of trouble.[10] And they that know your name will put their trust in you: for you, LORD, have not forsaken them that seek you.[11] Sing praises to the LORD, which dwells in Zion: declare among the people his doings.[12] When he makes inquisition for blood, he remembers them: he forgets not the cry of the humble.[13] Have mercy on me, O LORD; consider my trouble which I suffer of them that hate me, you that lift me up from the gates of death:[14] That I may show forth all your praise in the gates of the daughter of Zion: I will rejoice in your salvation.[15] The heathen are sunk down in the pit that they made: in the net which they hid is their own foot taken.[16] The LORD is known by the judgment which he executes: the wicked is snared in the work of his own hands. Higgaion. Selah.[17] The wicked shall be turned into hell, and all the nations that forget God.[18] For the needy shall not always be forgotten: the expectation of the poor shall not perish for ever.[19] Arise, O LORD; let not man prevail: let the heathen be judged in your sight.[20] Put them in fear, O LORD: that the nations may know themselves to be but men. Selah.

[1] Why stand you afar off, O LORD? why hide you yourself in times of trouble?

[2] The wicked in his pride does persecute the poor: let them be taken in the devices that they have imagined.[3] For the wicked boasts of his heart's desire, and blesses the covetous, whom the LORD abhors.[4] The wicked, through the pride of his countenance, will not seek after God: God is not in all his thoughts.[5] His ways are always grievous; your judgments are far above out of his sight: as for all his enemies, he puffs at them.[6] He has said in his heart, I shall not be moved: for I shall never be in adversity.[7] His mouth is full of cursing and deceit and fraud: under his tongue is mischief and vanity.[8] He sits in the lurking places of the villages: in the secret places does he murder the innocent: his eyes are privately set against the poor.[9] He lies in wait secretly as a lion in his den: he lies in wait to catch the poor: he does catch the poor, when he draws him into his net.[10] He crouches, and humbles himself, that the poor may fall by his strong ones.[11] He has said in his heart, God has forgotten: he hides his face; he will never see it.[12] Arise, O LORD; O God, lift up your hand: forget not the humble.[13] Why does the wicked scorn God? he has said in his heart, You will not require it.[14] You have seen it; for you behold mischief and spite, to requite it with your hand: the poor commits himself to you; you are the helper of the fatherless.[15] Break you the arm of the wicked and the evil man: seek out his wickedness till you find none.[16] The LORD is King for ever and ever: the heathen are perished out of his land.[17] LORD, you have heard the desire of the humble: you will prepare their heart, you will cause your ear to hear:[18] To judge the fatherless and the oppressed, that the man of the earth may no more oppress.

[1] In the LORD put I my trust: how say you to my soul, Flee as a bird to your mountain?

[2] For, see, the wicked bend their bow, they make ready their arrow on the string, that they may privately shoot at the upright in heart.[3] If the foundations be destroyed, what can the righteous do?[4] The LORD is in his holy temple, the LORD's throne is in heaven: his eyes behold, his eyelids try, the children of men.[5] The LORD tries the righteous: but the wicked and him that loves violence his soul hates.[6] On the wicked he shall rain snares, fire and brimstone, and an horrible tempest: this shall be the portion of their cup.[7] For the righteous LORD loves righteousness; his countenance does behold the upright.

[1] Help, LORD; for the godly man ceases; for the faithful fail from among the children of men.

[2] They speak vanity every one with his neighbor: with flattering lips and with a double heart do they speak.[3] The LORD shall cut off all flattering lips, and the tongue that speaks proud things:[4] Who have said, With our tongue will we prevail; our lips are our own: who is lord over us?[5] For the oppression of the poor, for the sighing of the needy, now will I arise, says the LORD; I will set him in safety from him that puffs at him.[6] The words of the LORD are pure words: as silver tried in a furnace of earth, purified seven times.[7] You shall keep them, O LORD, you shall preserve them from this generation for ever.[8] The wicked walk on every side, when the vilest men are exalted.

[1] How long will you forget me, O LORD? for ever? how long will you hide your face from me?

[2] How long shall I take counsel in my soul, having sorrow in my heart daily? how long shall my enemy be exalted over me?[3] Consider and hear me, O LORD my God: lighten my eyes, lest I sleep the sleep of death;[4] Lest my enemy say, I have prevailed against him; and those that trouble me rejoice when I am moved.[5] But I have trusted in your mercy; my heart shall rejoice in your salvation.[6] I will sing to the LORD, because he has dealt bountifully with me.

[1] The fool has said in his heart, There is no God. They are corrupt, they have done abominable works, there is none that does good.

[2] The LORD looked down from heaven on the children of men, to see if there were any that did understand, and seek God.[3] They are all gone aside, they are all together become filthy: there is none that does good, no, not one.[4] Have all the workers of iniquity no knowledge? who eat up my people as they eat bread, and call not on the LORD.[5] There were they in great fear: for God is in the generation of the righteous.[6] You have shamed the counsel of the poor, because the LORD is his refuge.[7] Oh that the salvation of Israel were come out of Zion! when the LORD brings back the captivity of his people, Jacob shall rejoice, and Israel shall be glad.

[1] Lord, who shall abide in your tabernacle? who shall dwell in your holy hill?

[2] He that walks uprightly, and works righteousness, and speaks the truth in his heart.[3] He that backbites not with his tongue, nor does evil to his neighbor, nor takes up a reproach against his neighbor.[4] In whose eyes a vile person is scorned; but he honors them that fear the LORD. He that swears to his own hurt, and changes not.[5] He that puts not out his money to usury, nor takes reward against the innocent. He that does these things shall never be moved.

[1] Preserve me, O God: for in you do I put my trust.

[2] O my soul, you have said to the LORD, You are my Lord: my goodness extends not to you;[3] But to the saints that are in the earth, and to the excellent, in whom is all my delight.[4] Their sorrows shall be multiplied that hasten after another god: their drink offerings of blood will I not offer, nor take up their names into my lips.[5] The LORD is the portion of my inheritance and of my cup: you maintain my lot.[6] The lines are fallen to me in pleasant places; yes, I have a goodly heritage.[7] I will bless the LORD, who has given me counsel: my reins also instruct me in the night seasons.[8] I have set the LORD always before me: because he is at my right hand, I shall not be moved.[9] Therefore my heart is glad, and my glory rejoices: my flesh also shall rest in hope.[10] For you will not leave my soul in hell; neither will you suffer your Holy One to see corruption.[11] You will show me the path of life: in your presence is fullness of joy; at your right hand there are pleasures for ever more.

[1] Hear the right, O LORD, attend to my cry, give ear to my prayer, that goes not out of feigned lips.

[2] Let my sentence come forth from your presence; let your eyes behold the things that are equal.[3] You have proved my heart; you have visited me in the night; you have tried me, and shall find nothing; I am purposed that my mouth shall not transgress.[4] Concerning the works of men, by the word of your lips I have kept me from the paths of the destroyer.[5] Hold up my goings in your paths, that my footsteps slip not.[6] I have called on you, for you will hear me, O God: incline your ear to me, and hear my speech.[7] Show your marvelous loving kindness, O you that save by your right hand them which put their trust in you from those that rise up against them.[8] Keep me as the apple of the eye, hide me under the shadow of your wings,[9] From the wicked that oppress me, from my deadly enemies, who compass me about.[10] They are enclosed in their own fat: with their mouth they speak proudly.[11] They have now compassed us in our steps: they have set their eyes bowing down to the earth;[12] Like as a lion that is greedy of his prey, and as it were a young lion lurking in secret places.[13] Arise, O LORD, disappoint him, cast him down: deliver my soul from the wicked, which is your sword:[14] From men which are your hand, O LORD, from men of the world, which have their portion in this life, and whose belly you fill with your hid treasure: they are full of children, and leave the rest of their substance to their babes.[15] As for me, I will behold your face in righteousness: I shall be satisfied, when I awake, with your likeness.

[1] I will love you, O LORD, my strength.

[2] The LORD is my rock, and my fortress, and my deliverer; my God, my strength, in whom I will trust; my buckler, and the horn of my salvation, and my high tower.[3] I will call on the LORD, who is worthy to be praised: so shall I be saved from my enemies.[4] The sorrows of death compassed me, and the floods of ungodly men made me afraid.[5] The sorrows of hell compassed me about: the snares of death prevented me.[6] In my distress I called on the LORD, and cried to my God: he heard my voice out of his temple, and my cry came before him, even into his ears.[7] Then the earth shook and trembled; the foundations also of the hills moved and were shaken, because he was wroth.[8] There went up a smoke out of his nostrils, and fire out of his mouth devoured: coals were kindled by it.[9] He bowed the heavens also, and came down: and darkness was under his feet.[10] And he rode on a cherub, and did fly: yes, he did fly on the wings of the wind.[11] He made darkness his secret place; his pavilion round about him were dark waters and thick clouds of the skies.[12] At the brightness that was before him his thick clouds passed, hail stones and coals of fire.[13] The LORD also thundered in the heavens, and the Highest gave his voice; hail stones and coals of fire.[14] Yes, he sent out his arrows, and scattered them; and he shot out lightning, and discomfited them.[15] Then the channels of waters were seen, and the foundations of the world were discovered at your rebuke, O LORD, at the blast of the breath of your nostrils.[16] He sent from above, he took me, he drew me out of many waters.[17] He delivered me from my strong enemy, and from them which hated me: for they were too strong for me.[18] They prevented me in the day of my calamity: but the LORD was my stay.[19] He brought me forth also into a large place; he delivered me, because he delighted in me.[20] The LORD rewarded me according to my righteousness; according to the cleanness of my hands has he recompensed me.[21] For I have kept the ways of the LORD, and have not wickedly departed from my God.[22] For all his judgments were before me, and I did not put away his statutes from me.[23] I was also upright before him, and I kept myself from my iniquity.[24] Therefore has the LORD recompensed me according to my righteousness, according to the cleanness of my hands in his eyesight.[25] With the merciful you will show yourself merciful; with an upright man you will show yourself upright;[26] With the pure you will show yourself pure; and with the fraudulent you will show yourself devious.[27] For you will save the afflicted people; but will bring down high looks.[28] For you will light my candle: the LORD my God will enlighten my darkness.[29] For by you I have run through a troop; and by my God have I leaped over a wall.[30] As for God, his way is perfect: the word of the LORD is tried: he is a buckler to all those that trust in him.[31] For who is God save the LORD? or who is a rock save our God?[32] It is God that girds me with strength, and makes my way perfect.[33] He makes my feet like hinds' feet, and sets me on my high places.[34] He teaches my hands to war, so that a bow of steel is broken by my arms.[35] You have also given me the shield of your salvation: and your right hand has held me up, and your gentleness has made me great.[36] You have enlarged my steps under me, that my feet did not slip.[37] I have pursued my enemies, and overtaken them: neither did I turn again till they were consumed.[38] I have wounded them that they were not able to rise: they are fallen under my feet.[39] For you have girded me with strength to the battle: you have subdued under me those that rose up against me.[40] You have also given me the necks of my enemies; that I might destroy them that hate me.[41] They cried, but there was none to save them: even to the LORD, but he answered them not.[42] Then did I beat them small as the dust before the wind: I did cast them out as the dirt in the streets.[43] You have delivered me from the strivings of the people; and you have made me the head of the heathen: a people whom I have not known shall serve me.[44] As soon as they hear of me, they shall obey me: the strangers shall submit themselves to me.[45] The strangers shall fade away, and be afraid out of their close places.[46] The LORD lives; and blessed be my rock; and let the God of my salvation be exalted.[47] It is God that avenges me, and subdues the people under me.[48] He delivers me from my enemies: yes, you lift me up above those that rise up against me: you have delivered me from the violent man.[49] Therefore will I give thanks to you, O LORD, among the heathen, and sing praises to your name.[50] Great deliverance gives he to his king; and shows mercy to his anointed, to David, and to his seed for ever more.

[1] The heavens declare the glory of God; and the firmament shows his handiwork.

[2] Day to day utters speech, and night to night shows knowledge.[3] There is no speech nor language, where their voice is not heard.[4] Their line is gone out through all the earth, and their words to the end of the world. In them has he set a tabernacle for the sun,[5] Which is as a bridegroom coming out of his chamber, and rejoices as a strong man to run a race.[6] His going forth is from the end of the heaven, and his circuit to the ends of it: and there is nothing hid from the heat thereof.[7] The law of the LORD is perfect, converting the soul: the testimony of the LORD is sure, making wise the simple.[8] The statutes of the LORD are right, rejoicing the heart: the commandment of the LORD is pure, enlightening the eyes.[9] The fear of the LORD is clean, enduring for ever: the judgments of the LORD are true and righteous altogether.[10] More to be desired are they than gold, yes, than much fine gold: sweeter also than honey and the honeycomb.[11] Moreover by them is your servant warned: and in keeping of them there is great reward.[12] Who can understand his errors? cleanse you me from secret faults.[13] Keep back your servant also from presumptuous sins; let them not have dominion over me: then shall I be upright, and I shall be innocent from the great transgression.[14] Let the words of my mouth, and the meditation of my heart, be acceptable in your sight, O LORD, my strength, and my redeemer.

[1] The LORD hear you in the day of trouble; the name of the God of Jacob defend you;

[2] Send you help from the sanctuary, and strengthen you out of Zion;[3] Remember all your offerings, and accept your burnt sacrifice; Selah.[4] Grant you according to your own heart, and fulfill all your counsel.[5] We will rejoice in your salvation, and in the name of our God we will set up our banners: the LORD fulfill all your petitions.[6] Now know I that the LORD saves his anointed; he will hear him from his holy heaven with the saving strength of his right hand.[7] Some trust in chariots, and some in horses: but we will remember the name of the LORD our God.[8] They are brought down and fallen: but we are risen, and stand upright.[9] Save, LORD: let the king hear us when we call.

[1] The king shall joy in your strength, O LORD; and in your salvation how greatly shall he rejoice!

[2] You have given him his heart's desire, and have not withheld the request of his lips. Selah.[3] For you prevent him with the blessings of goodness: you set a crown of pure gold on his head.[4] He asked life of you, and you gave it him, even length of days for ever and ever.[5] His glory is great in your salvation: honor and majesty have you laid on him.[6] For you have made him most blessed for ever: you have made him exceeding glad with your countenance.[7] For the king trusts in the LORD, and through the mercy of the most High he shall not be moved.[8] Your hand shall find out all your enemies: your right hand shall find out those that hate you.[9] You shall make them as a fiery oven in the time of your anger: the LORD shall swallow them up in his wrath, and the fire shall devour them.[10] Their fruit shall you destroy from the earth, and their seed from among the children of men.[11] For they intended evil against you: they imagined a mischievous device, which they are not able to perform.[12] Therefore shall you make them turn their back, when you shall make ready your arrows on your strings against the face of them.[13] Be you exalted, LORD, in your own strength: so will we sing and praise your power.

[1] My God, my God, why have you forsaken me? why are you so far from helping me, and from the words of my roaring?

[2] O my God, I cry in the day time, but you hear not; and in the night season, and am not silent.[3] But you are holy, O you that inhabit the praises of Israel.[4] Our fathers trusted in you: they trusted, and you did deliver them.[5] They cried to you, and were delivered: they trusted in you, and were not confounded.[6] But I am a worm, and no man; a reproach of men, and despised of the people.[7] All they that see me laugh me to scorn: they shoot out the lip, they shake the head, saying,[8] He trusted on the LORD that he would deliver him: let him deliver him, seeing he delighted in him.[9] But you are he that took me out of the womb: you did make me hope when I was on my mother's breasts.[10] I was cast on you from the womb: you are my God from my mother's belly.[11] Be not far from me; for trouble is near; for there is none to help.[12] Many bulls have compassed me: strong bulls of Bashan have beset me round.[13] They gaped on me with their mouths, as a ravening and a roaring lion.[14] I am poured out like water, and all my bones are out of joint: my heart is like wax; it is melted in the middle of my bowels.[15] My strength is dried up like a potsherd; and my tongue sticks to my jaws; and you have brought me into the dust of death.[16] For dogs have compassed me: the assembly of the wicked have enclosed me: they pierced my hands and my feet.[17] I may tell all my bones: they look and stare on me.[18] They part my garments among them, and cast lots on my clothing.[19] But be not you far from me, O LORD: O my strength, haste you to help me.[20] Deliver my soul from the sword; my darling from the power of the dog.[21] Save me from the lion's mouth: for you have heard me from the horns of the unicorns.[22] I will declare your name to my brothers: in the middle of the congregation will I praise you.[23] You that fear the LORD, praise him; all you the seed of Jacob, glorify him; and fear him, all you the seed of Israel.[24] For he has not despised nor abhorred the affliction of the afflicted; neither has he hid his face from him; but when he cried to him, he heard.[25] My praise shall be of you in the great congregation: I will pay my vows before them that fear him.[26] The meek shall eat and be satisfied: they shall praise the LORD that seek him: your heart shall live for ever.[27] All the ends of the world shall remember and turn to the LORD:

and all the kindreds of the nations shall worship before you.[28] For the kingdom is the LORD's: and he is the governor among the nations.[29] All they that be fat on earth shall eat and worship: all they that go down to the dust shall bow before him: and none can keep alive his own soul.[30] A seed shall serve him; it shall be accounted to the Lord for a generation.[31] They shall come, and shall declare his righteousness to a people that shall be born, that he has done this.

[1] The LORD is my shepherd; I shall not want.

[2] He makes me to lie down in green pastures: he leads me beside the still waters.[3] He restores my soul: he leads me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake.[4] Yes, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for you are with me; your rod and your staff they comfort me.[5] You prepare a table before me in the presence of my enemies: you anoint my head with oil; my cup runs over.[6] Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the LORD for ever.

[1] The earth is the LORD's, and the fullness thereof; the world, and they that dwell therein.

[2] For he has founded it on the seas, and established it on the floods.[3] Who shall ascend into the hill of the LORD? or who shall stand in his holy place?[4] He that has clean hands, and a pure heart; who has not lifted up his soul to vanity, nor sworn deceitfully.[5] He shall receive the blessing from the LORD, and righteousness from the God of his salvation.[6] This is the generation of them that seek him, that seek your face, O Jacob. Selah.[7] Lift up your heads, O you gates; and be you lift up, you everlasting doors; and the King of glory shall come in.[8] Who is this King of glory? The LORD strong and mighty, the LORD mighty in battle.[9] Lift up your heads, O you gates; even lift them up, you everlasting doors; and the King of glory shall come in.[10] Who is this King of glory? The LORD of hosts, he is the King of glory. Selah.

[1] To you, O LORD, do I lift up my soul.

[2] O my God, I trust in you: let me not be ashamed, let not my enemies triumph over me.[3] Yes, let none that wait on you be ashamed: let them be ashamed which transgress without cause.[4] Show me your ways, O LORD; teach me your paths.[5] Lead me in your truth, and teach me: for you are the God of my salvation; on you do I wait all the day.[6] Remember, O LORD, your tender mercies and your loving kindnesses; for they have been ever of old.[7] Remember not the sins of my youth, nor my transgressions: according to your mercy remember you me for your goodness' sake, O LORD.[8] Good and upright is the LORD: therefore will he teach sinners in the way.[9] The meek will he guide in judgment: and the meek will he teach his way.[10] All the paths of the LORD are mercy and truth to such as keep his covenant and his testimonies.[11] For your name's sake, O LORD, pardon my iniquity; for it is great.[12] What man is he that fears the LORD? him shall he teach in the way that he shall choose.[13] His soul shall dwell at ease; and his seed shall inherit the earth.[14] The secret of the LORD is with them that fear him; and he will show them his covenant.[15] My eyes are ever toward the LORD; for he shall pluck my feet out of the net.[16] Turn you to me, and have mercy on me; for I am desolate and afflicted.[17] The troubles of my heart are enlarged: O bring you me out of my distresses.[18] Look on my affliction and my pain; and forgive all my sins.[19] Consider my enemies; for they are many; and they hate me with cruel hatred.[20] O keep my soul, and deliver me: let me not be ashamed; for I put my trust in you.[21] Let integrity and uprightness preserve me; for I wait on you.[22] Redeem Israel, O God, out of all his troubles.

[1] Judge me, O LORD; for I have walked in my integrity: I have trusted also in the LORD; therefore I shall not slide.

[2] Examine me, O LORD, and prove me; try my reins and my heart.[3] For your loving kindness is before my eyes: and I have walked in your truth.[4] I have not sat with vain persons, neither will I go in with dissemblers.[5] I have hated the congregation of evil doers; and will not sit with the wicked.[6] I will wash my hands in innocence: so will I compass your altar, O LORD:[7] That I may publish with the voice of thanksgiving, and tell of all your wondrous works.[8] LORD, I have loved the habitation of your house, and the place where your honor dwells.[9] Gather not my soul with sinners, nor my life with bloody men:[10] In whose hands is mischief, and their right hand is full of bribes.[11] But as for me, I will walk in my integrity: redeem me, and be merciful to me.[12] My foot stands in an even place: in the congregations will I bless the LORD.

[1] The LORD is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear? the LORD is the strength of my life; of whom shall I be afraid?

[2] When the wicked, even my enemies and my foes, came on me to eat up my flesh, they stumbled and fell.[3] Though an host should encamp against me, my heart shall not fear: though war should rise against me, in this will I be confident.[4] One thing have I desired of the LORD, that will I seek after; that I may dwell in the house of the LORD all the days of my life, to behold the beauty of the LORD, and to inquire in his temple.[5] For in the time of trouble he shall hide me in his pavilion: in the secret of his tabernacle shall he hide me; he shall set me up on a rock.[6] And now shall my head be lifted up above my enemies round about me: therefore will I offer in his tabernacle sacrifices of joy; I will sing, yes, I will sing praises to the LORD.[7] Hear, O LORD, when I cry with my voice: have mercy also on me, and answer me.[8] When you said, Seek you my face; my heart said to you, Your face, LORD, will I seek.[9] Hide not your face far from me; put not your servant away in anger: you have been my help; leave me not, neither forsake me, O God of my salvation.[10] When my father and my mother forsake me, then the LORD will take me up.[11] Teach me your way, O LORD, and lead me in a plain path, because of my enemies.[12] Deliver me not over to the will of my enemies: for false witnesses are risen up against me, and such as breathe out cruelty.[13] I had fainted, unless I had believed to see the goodness of the LORD in the land of the living.[14] Wait on the LORD: be of good courage, and he shall strengthen your heart: wait, I say, on the LORD.

[1] To you will I cry, O LORD my rock; be not silent to me: lest, if you be silent to me, I become like them that go down into the pit.

[2] Hear the voice of my supplications, when I cry to you, when I lift up my hands toward your holy oracle.[3] Draw me not away with the wicked, and with the workers of iniquity, which speak peace to their neighbors, but mischief is in their hearts.[4] Give them according to their deeds, and according to the wickedness of their endeavors: give them after the work of their hands; render to them their desert.[5] Because they regard not the works of the LORD, nor the operation of his hands, he shall destroy them, and not build them up.[6] Blessed be the LORD, because he has heard the voice of my supplications.[7] The LORD is my strength and my shield; my heart trusted in him, and I am helped: therefore my heart greatly rejoices; and with my song will I praise him.[8] The LORD is their strength, and he is the saving strength of his anointed.[9] Save your people, and bless your inheritance: feed them also, and lift them up for ever.

[1] Give to the LORD, O you mighty, give to the LORD glory and strength.

[2] Give to the LORD the glory due to his name; worship the LORD in the beauty of holiness.[3] The voice of the LORD is on the waters: the God of glory thunders: the LORD is on many waters.[4] The voice of the LORD is powerful; the voice of the LORD is full of majesty.[5] The voice of the LORD breaks the cedars; yes, the LORD breaks the cedars of Lebanon.[6] He makes them also to skip like a calf; Lebanon and Sirion like a young unicorn.[7] The voice of the LORD divides the flames of fire.[8] The voice of the LORD shakes the wilderness; the LORD shakes the wilderness of Kadesh.[9] The voice of the LORD makes the hinds to calve, and discovers the forests: and in his temple does every one speak of his glory.[10] The LORD sits on the flood; yes, the LORD sits King for ever.[11] The LORD will give strength to his people; the LORD will bless his people with peace.

[1] I will extol you, O LORD; for you have lifted me up, and have not made my foes to rejoice over me.

[2] O LORD my God, I cried to you, and you have healed me.[3] O LORD, you have brought up my soul from the grave: you have kept me alive, that I should not go down to the pit.[4] Sing to the LORD, O you saints of his, and give thanks at the remembrance of his holiness.[5] For his anger endures but a moment; in his favor is life: weeping may endure for a night, but joy comes in the morning.[6] And in my prosperity I said, I shall never be moved.[7] LORD, by your favor you have made my mountain to stand strong: you did hide your face, and I was troubled.[8] I cried to you, O LORD; and to the LORD I made supplication.[9] What profit is there in my blood, when I go down to the pit? Shall the dust praise you? shall it declare your truth?[10] Hear, O LORD, and have mercy on me: LORD, be you my helper.[11] You have turned for me my mourning into dancing: you have put off my sackcloth, and girded me with gladness;[12] To the end that my glory may sing praise to you, and not be silent. O LORD my God, I will give thanks to you for ever.

[1] In you, O LORD, do I put my trust; let me never be ashamed: deliver me in your righteousness.

[2] Bow down your ear to me; deliver me speedily: be you my strong rock, for an house of defense to save me.[3] For you are my rock and my fortress; therefore for your name's sake lead me, and guide me.[4] Pull me out of the net that they have laid privately for me: for you are my strength.[5] Into your hand I commit my spirit: you have redeemed me, O LORD God of truth.[6] I have hated them that regard lying vanities: but I trust in the LORD.[7] I will be glad and rejoice in your mercy: for you have considered my trouble; you have known my soul in adversities;[8] And have not shut me up into the hand of the enemy: you have set my feet in a large room.[9] Have mercy on me, O LORD, for I am in trouble: my eye is consumed with grief, yes, my soul and my belly.[10] For my life is spent with grief, and my years with sighing: my strength fails because of my iniquity, and my bones are consumed.[11] I was a reproach among all my enemies, but especially among my neighbors, and a fear to my acquaintance: they that did see me without fled from me.[12] I am forgotten as a dead man out of mind: I am like a broken vessel.[13] For I have heard the slander of many: fear was on every side: while they took counsel together against me, they devised to take away my life.[14] But I trusted in you, O LORD: I said, You are my God.[15] My times are in your hand: deliver me from the hand of my enemies, and from them that persecute me.[16] Make your face to shine on your servant: save me for your mercies' sake.[17] Let me not be ashamed, O LORD; for I have called on you: let the wicked be ashamed, and let them be silent in the grave.[18] Let the lying lips be put to silence; which speak grievous things proudly and contemptuously against the righteous.[19] Oh how great is your goodness, which you have laid up for them that fear you; which you have worked for them that trust in you before the sons of men![20] You shall hide them in the secret of your presence from the pride of man: you shall keep them secretly in a pavilion from the strife of tongues.[21] Blessed be the LORD: for he has showed me his marvelous kindness in a strong city.[22] For I said in my haste, I am cut off from before your eyes: nevertheless you heard the voice of my supplications when I cried to you.[23] O love the LORD, all you his saints: for the LORD preserves the faithful, and plentifully rewards the proud doer.[24] Be of good courage, and he shall strengthen your heart, all you that hope in the LORD.

[1] Blessed is he whose transgression is forgiven, whose sin is covered.

[2] Blessed is the man to whom the LORD imputes not iniquity, and in whose spirit there is no guile.[3] When I kept silence, my bones waxed old through my roaring all the day long.[4] For day and night your hand was heavy on me: my moisture is turned into the drought of summer. Selah.[5] I acknowledge my sin to you, and my iniquity have I not hid. I said, I will confess my transgressions to the LORD; and you forgave the iniquity of my sin. Selah.[6] For this shall every one that is godly pray to you in a time when you may be found: surely in the floods of great waters they shall not come near to him.[7] You are my hiding place; you shall preserve me from trouble; you shall compass me about with songs of deliverance. Selah.[8] I will instruct you and teach you in the way which you shall go: I will guide you with my eye.[9] Be you not as the horse, or as the mule, which have no understanding: whose mouth must be held in with bit and bridle, lest they come near to you.[10] Many sorrows shall be to the wicked: but he that trusts in the LORD, mercy shall compass him about.[11] Be glad in the LORD, and rejoice, you righteous: and shout for joy, all you that are upright in heart.

[1] Rejoice in the LORD, O you righteous: for praise is comely for the upright.

[2] Praise the LORD with harp: sing to him with the psaltery and an instrument of ten strings.[3] Sing to him a new song; play skillfully with a loud noise.[4] For the word of the LORD is right; and all his works are done in truth.[5] He loves righteousness and judgment: the earth is full of the goodness of the LORD.[6] By the word of the LORD were the heavens made; and all the host of them by the breath of his mouth.[7] He gathers the waters of the sea together as an heap: he lays up the depth in storehouses.[8] Let all the earth fear the LORD: let all the inhabitants of the world stand in awe of him.[9] For he spoke, and it was done; he commanded, and it stood fast.[10] The LORD brings the counsel of the heathen to nothing: he makes the devices of the people of none effect.[11] The counsel of the LORD stands for ever, the thoughts of his heart to all generations.[12] Blessed is the nation whose God is the LORD; and the people whom he has chosen for his own inheritance.[13] The LORD looks from heaven; he beholds all the sons of men.[14] From the place of his habitation he looks on all the inhabitants of the earth.[15] He fashions their hearts alike; he considers all their works.[16] There is no king saved by the multitude of an host: a mighty man is not delivered by much strength.[17] An horse is a vain thing for safety: neither shall he deliver any by his great strength.[18] Behold, the eye of the LORD is on them that fear him, on them that hope in his mercy;[19] To deliver their soul from death, and to keep them alive in famine.[20] Our soul waits for the LORD: he is our help and our shield.[21] For our heart shall rejoice in him, because we have trusted in his holy name.[22] Let your mercy, O LORD, be on us, according as we hope in you.

[1] I will bless the LORD at all times: his praise shall continually be in my mouth.

[2] My soul shall make her boast in the LORD: the humble shall hear thereof, and be glad.[3] O magnify the LORD with me, and let us exalt his name together.[4] I sought the LORD, and he heard me, and delivered me from all my fears.[5] They looked to him, and were lightened: and their faces were not ashamed.[6] This poor man cried, and the LORD heard him, and saved him out of all his troubles.[7] The angel of the LORD encamps round about them that fear him, and delivers them.[8] O taste and see that the LORD is good: blessed is the man that trusts in him.[9] O fear the LORD, you his saints: for there is no want to them that fear him.[10] The young lions do lack, and suffer hunger: but they that seek the LORD shall not want any good thing.[11] Come, you children, listen to me: I will teach you the fear of the LORD.[12] What man is he that desires life, and loves many days, that he may see good?[13] Keep your tongue from evil, and your lips from speaking guile.[14] Depart from evil, and do good; seek peace, and pursue it.[15] The eyes of the LORD are on the righteous, and his ears are open to their cry.[16] The face of the LORD is against them that do evil, to cut off the remembrance of them from the earth.[17] The righteous cry, and the LORD hears, and delivers them out of all their troubles.[18] The LORD is near to them that are of a broken heart; and saves such as be of a contrite spirit.[19] Many are the afflictions of the righteous: but the LORD delivers him out of them all.[20] He keeps all his bones:

not one of them is broken.[21] Evil shall slay the wicked: and they that hate the righteous shall be desolate.[22] The LORD redeems the soul of his servants: and none of them that trust in him shall be desolate.

[1] Plead my cause, O LORD, with them that strive with me: fight against them that fight against me.

[2] Take hold of shield and buckler, and stand up for my help.[3] Draw out also the spear, and stop the way against them that persecute me: say to my soul, I am your salvation.[4] Let them be confounded and put to shame that seek after my soul: let them be turned back and brought to confusion that devise my hurt.[5] Let them be as chaff before the wind: and let the angel of the LORD chase them.[6] Let their way be dark and slippery: and let the angel of the LORD persecute them.[7] For without cause have they hid for me their net in a pit, which without cause they have dig for my soul.[8] Let destruction come on him at unawares; and let his net that he has hid catch himself: into that very destruction let him fall.[9] And my soul shall be joyful in the LORD: it shall rejoice in his salvation.[10] All my bones shall say, LORD, who is like to you, which deliver the poor from him that is too strong for him, yes, the poor and the needy from him that spoils him?[11] False witnesses did rise up; they laid to my charge things that I knew not.[12] They rewarded me evil for good to the spoiling of my soul.[13] But as for me, when they were sick, my clothing was sackcloth: I humbled my soul with fasting; and my prayer returned into my own bosom.[14] I behaved myself as though he had been my friend or brother: I bowed down heavily, as one that mourns for his mother.[15] But in my adversity they rejoiced, and gathered themselves together: yes, the attackers gathered themselves together against me, and I knew it not; they did tear me, and ceased not:[16] With hypocritical mockers in feasts, they gnashed on me with their teeth.[17] Lord, how long will you look on? rescue my soul from their destructions, my darling from the lions.[18] I will give you thanks in the great congregation: I will praise you among much people.[19] Let not them that are my enemies wrongfully rejoice over me: neither let them wink with the eye that hate me without a cause.[20] For they speak not peace: but they devise deceitful matters against them that are quiet in the land.[21] Yes, they opened their mouth wide against me, and said, Aha, aha, our eye has seen it.[22] This you have seen, O LORD: keep not silence: O Lord, be not far from me.[23] Stir up yourself, and awake to my judgment, even to my cause, my God and my Lord.[24] Judge me, O LORD my God, according to your righteousness; and let them not rejoice over me.[25] Let them not say in their hearts, Ah, so would we have it: let them not say, We have swallowed him up.[26] Let them be ashamed and brought to confusion together that rejoice at my hurt: let them be clothed with shame and dishonor that magnify themselves against me.[27] Let them shout for joy, and be glad, that favor my righteous cause: yes, let them say continually, Let the LORD be magnified, which has pleasure in the prosperity of his servant.[28] And my tongue shall speak of your righteousness and of your praise all the day long.

[1] The transgression of the wicked says within my heart, that there is no fear of God before his eyes.

[2] For he flatters himself in his own eyes, until his iniquity be found to be hateful.[3] The words of his mouth are iniquity and deceit: he has left off to be wise, and to do good.[4] He devises mischief on his bed; he sets himself in a way that is not good; he abhors not evil.[5] Your mercy, O LORD, is in the heavens; and your faithfulness reaches to the clouds.[6] Your righteousness is like the great mountains; your judgments are a great deep: O LORD, you preserve man and beast.[7] How excellent is your loving kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust under the shadow of your wings.[8] They shall be abundantly satisfied with the fatness of your house; and you shall make them drink of the river of your pleasures.[9] For with you is the fountain of life: in your light shall we see light.[10] O continue your loving kindness to them that know you; and your righteousness to the upright in heart.[11] Let not the foot of pride come against me, and let not the hand of the wicked remove me.[12] There are the workers of iniquity fallen: they are cast down, and shall not be able to rise.

[1] Fret not yourself because of evildoers, neither be you envious against the workers of iniquity.

[2] For they shall soon be cut down like the grass, and wither as the green herb.[3] Trust in the LORD, and do good; so shall you dwell in the land, and truly you shall be fed.[4] Delight yourself also in the LORD: and he shall give you the desires of your heart.[5] Commit your way to the LORD; trust also in him; and he shall bring it to pass.[6] And he shall bring forth your righteousness as the light, and your judgment as the noonday.[7] Rest in the LORD, and wait patiently for him: fret not yourself because of him who prospers in his way, because of the man who brings wicked devices to pass.[8] Cease from anger, and forsake wrath: fret not yourself in any wise to do evil.[9] For evildoers shall be cut off: but those that wait on the LORD, they shall inherit the earth.[10] For yet a little while, and the wicked shall not be: yes, you shall diligently consider his place, and it shall not be.[11] But the meek shall inherit the earth; and shall delight themselves in the abundance of peace.[12] The wicked plots against the just, and gnashes on him with his teeth.[13] The LORD shall laugh at him: for he sees that his day is coming.[14] The wicked have drawn out the sword, and have bent their bow, to cast down the poor and needy, and to slay such as be of upright conversation.[15] Their sword shall enter into their own heart, and their bows shall be broken.[16] A little that a righteous man has is better than the riches of many wicked.[17] For the arms of the wicked shall be broken: but the LORD upholds the righteous.[18] The LORD knows the days of the upright: and their inheritance shall be for ever.[19] They shall not be ashamed in the evil time: and in the days of famine they shall be satisfied.[20] But the wicked shall perish, and the enemies of the LORD shall be as the fat of lambs: they shall consume; into smoke shall they consume away.[21] The wicked borrows, and pays not again: but the righteous shows mercy, and gives.[22] For such as be blessed of him shall inherit the earth; and they that be cursed of him shall be cut off.[23] The steps of a good man are ordered by the LORD: and he delights in his way.[24] Though he fall, he shall not be utterly cast down: for the LORD upholds him with his hand.[25] I have been young, and now am old; yet have I not seen the righteous forsaken, nor his seed begging bread.[26] He is ever merciful, and lends; and his seed is blessed.[27] Depart from evil, and do good; and dwell for ever more.[28] For the LORD loves judgment, and forsakes not his saints; they are preserved for ever: but the seed of the wicked shall be cut off.[29] The righteous shall inherit the land, and dwell therein for ever.[30] The mouth of the righteous speaks wisdom, and his tongue talks of judgment.[31] The law of his God is in his heart; none of his steps shall slide.[32] The wicked watches the righteous, and seeks to slay him.[33] The LORD will not leave him in his hand, nor condemn him when he is judged.[34] Wait on the LORD, and keep his way, and he shall exalt you to inherit the land: when the wicked are cut off, you shall see it.[35] I have seen the wicked in great power, and spreading himself like a green bay tree.[36] Yet he passed away, and, see, he was not: yes, I sought him, but he could not be found.[37] Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright: for the end of that man is peace.[38] But the transgressors shall be destroyed together: the end of the wicked shall be cut off.[39] But the salvation of the righteous is of the LORD: he is their strength in the time of trouble.[40] And the LORD shall help them, and deliver them: he shall deliver them from the wicked, and save them, because they trust in him.

[1] O lord, rebuke me not in your wrath: neither chasten me in your hot displeasure.

[2] For your arrows stick fast in me, and your hand presses me sore.[3] There is no soundness in my flesh because of your anger; neither is there any rest in my bones because of my sin.[4] For my iniquities are gone over my head: as an heavy burden they are too heavy for me.[5] My wounds stink and are corrupt because of my foolishness.[6] I am troubled; I am bowed down greatly; I go mourning all the day long.[7] For my loins are filled with a loathsome disease: and there is no soundness in my flesh.[8] I am feeble and sore broken: I have roared by reason of the disquietness of my heart.[9] Lord, all my desire is before you; and my groaning is not hid from you.[10] My heart pants, my strength fails me: as for the light of my eyes, it also is gone from me.[11] My lovers and my friends stand aloof from my sore; and my kinsmen stand afar off.[12] They also that seek after my life lay snares for me: and they that seek my hurt speak mischievous things, and imagine deceits all the day long.[13] But I, as a deaf man, heard not; and I was as a dumb man that opens not his mouth.[14] Thus I was as a man that hears not, and in whose mouth are no reproofs.[15] For in you, O LORD, do I hope: you will hear, O Lord my God.[16] For I said, Hear me, lest otherwise they should rejoice over me: when my foot slips, they magnify themselves against me.[17] For I am ready to halt, and my sorrow is continually before me.[18] For I will declare my iniquity; I will be sorry for my sin.[19] But my enemies are lively, and they are strong: and they that hate me wrongfully are multiplied.[20] They also that render evil for good are my adversaries; because I follow the thing that good is.[21] Forsake me not, O LORD: O my God, be not far from me.[22] Make haste to help me, O Lord my salvation.

[1] I said, I will take heed to my ways, that I sin not with my tongue: I will keep my mouth with a bridle, while the wicked is before me.

[2] I was dumb with silence, I held my peace, even from good; and my sorrow was stirred.[3] My heart was hot within me, while I was musing the fire burned: then spoke I with my tongue,[4] LORD, make me to know my end, and the measure of my days, what it is: that I may know how frail I am.[5] Behold, you have made my days as an handbreadth; and my age is as nothing before you: truly every man at his best state is altogether vanity. Selah.[6] Surely every man walks in a vain show: surely they are disquieted in vain: he heaps up riches, and knows not who shall gather them.[7] And now, Lord, what wait I for? my hope is in you.[8] Deliver me from all my transgressions: make me not the reproach of the foolish.[9] I was dumb, I opened not my mouth; because you did it.[10] Remove your stroke away from me: I am consumed by the blow of your hand.[11] When you with rebukes do correct man for iniquity, you make his beauty to consume away like a moth: surely every man is vanity. Selah.[12] Hear my prayer, O LORD, and give ear to my cry; hold not your peace at my tears: for I am a stranger with you, and a sojourner, as all my fathers were.[13] O spare me, that I may recover strength, before I go hence, and be no more.

[1] I waited patiently for the LORD; and he inclined to me, and heard my cry.

[2] He brought me up also out of an horrible pit, out of the miry clay, and set my feet on a rock, and established my goings.[3] And he has put a new song in my mouth, even praise to our God: many shall see it, and fear, and shall trust in the LORD.[4] Blessed is that man that makes the LORD his trust, and respects not the proud, nor such as turn aside to lies.[5] Many, O LORD my God, are your wonderful works which you have done, and your thoughts which are to us-ward: they cannot be reckoned up in order to you: if I would declare and speak of them, they are more than can be numbered.[6] Sacrifice and offering you did not desire; my ears have you opened: burnt offering and sin offering have you not required.[7] Then said I, See, I come: in the volume of the book it is written of me,[8] I delight to do your will, O my God: yes, your law is within my heart.[9] I have preached righteousness in the great congregation: see, I have not refrained my lips, O LORD, you know.[10] I have not hid your righteousness within my heart; I have declared your faithfulness and your salvation: I have not concealed your loving kindness and your truth from the great congregation.[11] Withhold not you your tender mercies from me, O LORD: let your loving kindness and your truth continually preserve me.[12] For innumerable evils have compassed me about: my iniquities have taken hold on me, so that I am not able to look up; they are more than the hairs of my head: therefore my heart fails me.[13] Be pleased, O LORD, to deliver me: O LORD, make haste to help me.[14] Let them be ashamed and confounded together that seek after my soul to destroy it; let them be driven backward and put to shame that wish me evil.[15] Let them be desolate for a reward of their shame that say to me, Aha, aha.[16] Let all those that seek you rejoice and be glad in you: let such as love your salvation say continually, The LORD be magnified.[17] But I am poor and needy; yet the Lord thinks on me: you are my help and my deliverer; make no tarrying, O my God.

[1] Blessed is he that considers the poor: the LORD will deliver him in time of trouble.

[2] The LORD will preserve him, and keep him alive; and he shall be blessed on the earth: and you will not deliver him to the will of his enemies.[3] The LORD will strengthen him on the bed of languishing: you will make all his bed in his sickness.[4] I said, LORD, be merciful to me: heal my soul; for I have sinned against you.[5] My enemies speak evil of me, When shall he die, and his name perish?[6] And if he come to see me, he speaks vanity: his heart gathers iniquity to itself; when he goes abroad, he tells it.[7] All that hate me whisper together against me: against me do they devise my hurt.[8] An evil disease, say they, sticks fast to him: and now that he lies he shall rise up no more.[9] Yes, my own familiar friend, in whom I trusted, which did eat of my bread, has lifted up his heel against me.[10] But you, O LORD, be merciful to me, and raise me up, that I may requite them.[11] By this I know that you favor me, because my enemy does not triumph over me.[12] And as for me, you uphold me in my integrity, and set me before your face for ever.[13] Blessed be the LORD God of Israel from everlasting, and to everlasting. Amen, and Amen.

[1] As the hart pants after the water brooks, so pants my soul after you, O God.

[2] My soul thirsts for God, for the living God: when shall I come and appear before God?[3] My tears have been my meat day and night, while they continually say to me, Where is your God?[4] When I remember these things, I pour out my soul in me: for I had gone with the multitude, I went with them to the house of God, with the voice of joy and praise, with a multitude that kept holy day.[5] Why are you cast down, O my soul? and why are you disquieted in me? hope you in God: for I shall yet praise him for the help of his countenance.[6] O my God, my soul is cast down within me: therefore will I remember you from the land of Jordan, and of the Hermonites, from the hill Mizar.[7] Deep calls to deep at the noise of your waterspouts: all your waves and your billows are gone over me.[8] Yet the LORD will command his loving kindness in the day time, and in the night his song shall be with me, and my prayer to the God of my life.[9] I will say to God my rock, Why have you forgotten me? why go I mourning because of the oppression of the enemy?[10] As with a sword in my bones, my enemies reproach me; while they say daily to me, Where is your God?[11] Why are you cast down, O my soul? and why are you disquieted within me? hope you in God: for I shall yet praise him, who is the health of my countenance, and my God.

[1] Judge me, O God, and plead my cause against an ungodly nation: O deliver me from the deceitful and unjust man.

[2] For you are the God of my strength: why do you cast me off? why go I mourning because of the oppression of the enemy?[3] O send out your light and your truth: let them lead me; let them bring me to your holy hill, and to your tabernacles.[4] Then will I go to the altar of God, to God my exceeding joy: yes, on the harp will I praise you, O God my God.[5] Why are you cast down, O my soul? and why are you disquieted within me? hope in God: for I shall yet praise him, who is the health of my countenance, and my God.

[1] We have heard with our ears, O God, our fathers have told us, what work you did in their days, in the times of old.

[2] How you did drive out the heathen with your hand, and planted them; how you did afflict the people, and cast them out.[3] For they got not the land in possession by their own sword, neither did their own arm save them:

but your right hand, and your arm, and the light of your countenance, because you had a favor to them.[4] You are my King, O God: command deliverances for Jacob.[5] Through you will we push down our enemies: through your name will we tread them under that rise up against us.[6] For I will not trust in my bow, neither shall my sword save me.[7] But you have saved us from our enemies, and have put them to shame that hated us.[8] In God we boast all the day long, and praise your name for ever. Selah.[9] But you have cast off, and put us to shame; and go not forth with our armies.[10] You make us to turn back from the enemy: and they which hate us spoil for themselves.[11] You have given us like sheep appointed for meat; and have scattered us among the heathen.[12] You sell your people for nothing, and do not increase your wealth by their price.[13] You make us a reproach to our neighbors, a scorn and a derision to them that are round about us.[14] You make us a byword among the heathen, a shaking of the head among the people.[15] My confusion is continually before me, and the shame of my face has covered me,[16] For the voice of him that reproaches and blasphemes; by reason of the enemy and avenger.[17] All this is come on us; yet have we not forgotten you, neither have we dealt falsely in your covenant.[18] Our heart is not turned back, neither have our steps declined from your way;[19] Though you have sore broken us in the place of dragons, and covered us with the shadow of death.[20] If we have forgotten the name of our God, or stretched out our hands to a strange god;[21] Shall not God search this out? for he knows the secrets of the heart.[22] Yes, for your sake are we killed all the day long; we are counted as sheep for the slaughter.[23] Awake, why sleep you, O Lord? arise, cast us not off for ever.[24] Why hide you your face, and forget our affliction and our oppression?[25] For our soul is bowed down to the dust: our belly sticks to the earth.[26] Arise for our help, and redeem us for your mercies' sake.

[1] My heart is gushing a good matter: I speak of the things which I have made touching the king: my tongue is the pen of a ready writer.

[2] You are fairer than the children of men: grace is poured into your lips: therefore God has blessed you for ever.[3] Gird your sword on your thigh, O most mighty, with your glory and your majesty.[4] And in your majesty ride prosperously because of truth and meekness and righteousness; and your right hand shall teach you terrible things.[5] Your arrows are sharp in the heart of the king's enemies; whereby the people fall under you.[6] Your throne, O God, is for ever and ever: the scepter of your kingdom is a right scepter.[7] You love righteousness, and hate wickedness: therefore God, your God, has anointed you with the oil of gladness above your fellows.[8] All your garments smell of myrrh, and aloes, and cassia, out of the ivory palaces, whereby they have made you glad.[9] Kings' daughters were among your honorable women: on your right hand did stand the queen in gold of Ophir.[10] Listen, O daughter, and consider, and incline your ear; forget also your own people, and your father's house;[11] So shall the king greatly desire your beauty: for he is your Lord; and worship you him.[12] And the daughter of Tyre shall be there with a gift; even the rich among the people shall entreat your favor.[13] The king's daughter is all glorious within: her clothing is of worked gold.[14] She shall be brought to the king in raiment of needlework: the virgins her companions that follow her shall be brought to you.[15] With gladness and rejoicing shall they be brought: they shall enter into the king's palace.[16] Instead of your fathers shall be your children, whom you may make princes in all the earth.[17] I will make your name to be remembered in all generations: therefore shall the people praise you for ever and ever.

[1] God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble.

[2] Therefore will not we fear, though the earth be removed, and though the mountains be carried into the middle of the sea;[3] Though the waters thereof roar and be troubled, though the mountains shake with the swelling thereof. Selah.[4] There is a river, the streams whereof shall make glad the city of God, the holy place of the tabernacles of the most High.[5] God is in the middle of her; she shall not be moved: God shall help her, and that right early.[6] The heathen raged, the kingdoms were moved: he uttered his voice, the earth melted.[7] The LORD of hosts is with us; the God of Jacob is our refuge. Selah.[8] Come, behold the works of the LORD, what desolations he has made in the earth.[9] He makes wars to cease to the end of the earth; he breaks the bow, and cuts the spear in sunder; he burns the chariot in the fire.[10] Be still, and know that I am God: I will be exalted among the heathen, I will be exalted in the earth.[11] The LORD of hosts is with us; the God of Jacob is our refuge. Selah.

[1] O clap your hands, all you people; shout to God with the voice of triumph.

[2] For the LORD most high is terrible; he is a great King over all the earth.[3] He shall subdue the people under us, and the nations under our feet.[4] He shall choose our inheritance for us, the excellency of Jacob whom he loved. Selah.[5] God is gone up with a shout, the LORD with the sound of a trumpet.[6] Sing praises to God, sing praises: sing praises to our King, sing praises.[7] For God is the King of all the earth: sing you praises with understanding.[8] God reigns over the heathen: God sits on the throne of his holiness.[9] The princes of the people are gathered together, even the people of the God of Abraham: for the shields of the earth belong to God: he is greatly exalted.

[1] Great is the LORD, and greatly to be praised in the city of our God, in the mountain of his holiness.

[2] Beautiful for situation, the joy of the whole earth, is mount Zion, on the sides of the north, the city of the great King.[3] God is known in her palaces for a refuge.[4] For, see, the kings were assembled, they passed by together.[5] They saw it, and so they marveled; they were troubled, and hurried away.[6] Fear took hold on them there, and pain, as of a woman in travail.[7] You break the ships of Tarshish with an east wind.[8] As we have heard, so have we seen in the city of the LORD of hosts, in the city of our God: God will establish it for ever. Selah.[9] We have thought of your loving kindness, O God, in the middle of your temple.[10] According to your name, O God, so is your praise to the ends of the earth: your right hand is full of righteousness.[11] Let mount Zion rejoice, let the daughters of Judah be glad, because of your judgments.[12] Walk about Zion, and go round about her: tell the towers thereof.[13] Mark you well her bulwarks, consider her palaces; that you may tell it to the generation following.[14] For this God is our God for ever and ever: he will be our guide even to death.

[1] Hear this, all you people; give ear, all you inhabitants of the world:

[2] Both low and high, rich and poor, together.[3] My mouth shall speak of wisdom; and the meditation of my heart shall be of understanding.[4] I will incline my ear to a parable: I will open my dark saying on the harp.[5] Why should I fear in the days of evil, when the iniquity of my heels shall compass me about?[6] They that trust in their wealth, and boast themselves in the multitude of their riches;[7] None of them can by any means redeem his brother, nor give to God a ransom for him:[8] (For the redemption of their soul is precious, and it ceases for ever:)[9] That he should still live for ever, and not see corruption.[10] For he sees that wise men die, likewise the fool and the brutish person perish, and leave their wealth to others.[11] Their inward thought is, that their houses shall continue for ever, and their dwelling places to all generations; they call their lands after their own names.[12] Nevertheless man being in honor stays not: he is like the beasts that perish.[13] This their way is their folly: yet their posterity approve their sayings. Selah.[14] Like sheep they are laid in the grave; death shall feed on them; and the upright shall have dominion over them in the morning; and their beauty shall consume in the grave from their dwelling.[15] But God will redeem my soul from the power of the grave: for he shall receive me. Selah.[16] Be not you afraid when one is made rich, when the glory of his house is increased;[17] For when he dies he shall carry nothing away: his glory shall not descend after him.[18] Though while he lived he blessed his soul: and men will praise you, when you do well to yourself.[19] He shall go to the generation of his fathers; they shall never see light.[20] Man that is in honor, and understands not, is like the beasts that perish.

[1] The mighty God, even the LORD, has spoken, and called the earth from the rising of the sun to the going down thereof.

[2] Out of Zion, the perfection of beauty, God has shined.[3] Our God shall come, and shall not keep silence: a fire shall devour before him, and it shall be very tempestuous round about him.[4] He shall call to the heavens from above, and to the earth, that he may judge his people.[5] Gather my saints together to me; those that have made a covenant with me by sacrifice.[6] And the heavens shall declare his righteousness: for God is judge himself. Selah.[7] Hear, O my people, and I will speak; O Israel, and I will testify against you: I am God, even your God.[8] I will not reprove you for your sacrifices or your burnt offerings, to have been continually before me.[9] I will take no bullock out of your house, nor he goats out of your folds.[10] For every beast of the forest is mine, and the cattle on a thousand hills.[11] I know all the fowls of the mountains: and the wild beasts of the field are mine.[12] If I were hungry, I would not tell you: for the world is mine, and the fullness thereof.[13] Will I eat the flesh of bulls, or drink the blood of goats?[14] Offer to God thanksgiving; and pay your vows to the most High:[15] And call on me in the day of trouble: I will deliver you, and you shall glorify me.[16] But to the wicked God says, What have you to do to declare my statutes, or that you should take my covenant in your mouth?[17] Seeing you hate instruction, and casts my words behind you.[18] When you saw a thief, then you consented with him, and have been partaker with adulterers.[19] You give your mouth to evil, and your tongue frames deceit.[20] You sit and speak against your brother; you slander your own mother's son.[21] These things have you done, and I kept silence; you thought that I was altogether such an one as yourself: but I will reprove you, and set them in order before your eyes.[22] Now consider this, you that forget God, lest I tear you in pieces, and there be none to deliver.[23] Whoever offers praise glorifies me: and to him that orders his conversation aright will I show the salvation of God.

[1] Have mercy on me, O God, according to your loving kindness: according to the multitude of your tender mercies blot out my transgressions.

[2] Wash me thoroughly from my iniquity, and cleanse me from my sin.[3] For I acknowledge my transgressions: and my sin is ever before me.[4] Against you, you only, have I sinned, and done this evil in your sight: that you might be justified when you speak, and be clear when you judge.[5] Behold, I was shaped in iniquity; and in sin did my mother conceive me.[6] Behold, you desire truth in the inward parts: and in the hidden part you shall make me to know wisdom.[7] Purge me with hyssop, and I shall be clean: wash me, and I shall be whiter than snow.[8] Make me to hear joy and gladness; that the bones which you have broken may rejoice.[9] Hide your face from my sins, and blot out all my iniquities.[10] Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me.[11] Cast me not away from your presence; and take not your holy spirit from me.[12] Restore to me the joy of your salvation; and uphold me with your free spirit.[13] Then will I teach transgressors your ways; and sinners shall be converted to you.[14] Deliver me from bloodguiltiness, O God, you God of my salvation: and my tongue shall sing aloud of your righteousness.[15] O Lord, open you my lips; and my mouth shall show forth your praise.[16] For you desire not sacrifice; else would I give it: you delight not in burnt offering.[17] The sacrifices of God are a broken spirit: a broken and a contrite heart, O God, you will not despise.[18] Do good in your good pleasure to Zion: build you the walls of Jerusalem.[19] Then shall you be pleased with the sacrifices of righteousness, with burnt offering and whole burnt offering: then shall they offer bullocks on your altar.

[1] Why boast you yourself in mischief, O mighty man? the goodness of God endures continually.

[2] The tongue devises mischiefs; like a sharp razor, working deceitfully.[3] You love evil more than good; and lying rather than to speak righteousness. Selah.[4] You love all devouring words, O you deceitful tongue.[5] God shall likewise destroy you for ever, he shall take you away, and pluck you out of your dwelling place, and root you out of the land of the living. Selah.[6] The righteous also shall see, and fear, and shall laugh at him:[7] See, this is the man that made not God his strength; but trusted in the abundance of his riches, and strengthened himself in his wickedness.[8] But I am like a green olive tree in the house of God: I trust in the mercy of God for ever and ever.[9] I will praise you for ever, because you have done it: and I will wait on your name; for it is good before your saints.

[1] The fool has said in his heart, There is no God. Corrupt are they, and have done abominable iniquity: there is none that does good.

[2] God looked down from heaven on the children of men, to see if there were any that did understand, that did seek God.[3] Every one of them is gone back: they are altogether become filthy; there is none that does good, no, not one.[4] Have the workers of iniquity no knowledge? who eat up my people as they eat bread: they have not called on God.[5] There were they in great fear, where no fear was: for God has scattered the bones of him that encamps against you: you have put them to shame, because God has despised them.[6] Oh that the salvation of Israel were come out of Zion! When God brings back the captivity of his people, Jacob shall rejoice, and Israel shall be glad.

[1] Save me, O God, by your name, and judge me by your strength.

[2] Hear my prayer, O God; give ear to the words of my mouth.[3] For strangers are risen up against me, and oppressors seek after my soul: they have not set God before them. Selah.[4] Behold, God is my helper: the Lord is with them that uphold my soul.[5] He shall reward evil to my enemies: cut them off in your truth.[6] I will freely sacrifice to you: I will praise your name, O LORD; for it is good.[7] For he has delivered me out of all trouble: and my eye has seen his desire on my enemies.

[1] Give ear to my prayer, O God; and hide not yourself from my supplication.

[2] Attend to me, and hear me: I mourn in my complaint, and make a noise;[3] Because of the voice of the enemy, because of the oppression of the wicked: for they cast iniquity on me, and in wrath they hate me.[4] My heart is sore pained within me: and the terrors of death are fallen on me.[5] Fearfulness and trembling are come on me, and horror has overwhelmed me.[6] And I said, Oh that I had wings like a dove! for then would I fly away, and be at rest.[7] See, then would I wander far off, and remain in the wilderness. Selah.[8] I would hasten my escape from the windy storm and tempest.[9] Destroy, O Lord, and divide their tongues: for I have seen violence and strife in the city.[10] Day and night they go about it on the walls thereof: mischief also and sorrow are in the middle of it.[11] Wickedness is in the middle thereof: deceit and guile depart not from her streets.[12] For it was not an enemy that reproached me; then I could have borne it: neither was it he that hated me that did magnify himself against me; then I would have hid myself from him:[13] But it was you, a man my equal, my guide, and my acquaintance.[14] We took sweet counsel together, and walked to the house of God in company.[15] Let death seize on them, and let them go down quick into hell: for wickedness is in their dwellings, and among them.[16] As for me, I will call on God; and the LORD shall save me.[17] Evening, and morning, and at noon, will I pray, and cry aloud: and he shall hear my voice.[18] He has delivered my soul in peace from the battle that was against me: for there were many with me.[19] God shall hear, and afflict them, even he that stays of old. Selah. Because they have no changes, therefore they fear not God.[20] He has put forth his hands against such as be at peace with him: he has broken his covenant.[21] The words of his mouth were smoother than butter, but war was in his heart: his words were softer than oil, yet were they drawn swords.[22] Cast your burden on the LORD, and he shall sustain you: he shall never suffer the righteous to be moved.[23] But you, O God, shall bring them down into the pit of destruction: bloody and deceitful men shall not live out half their days; but I will trust in you.

[1] Be merciful to me, O God: for man would swallow me up; he fighting daily oppresses me.

[2] My enemies would daily swallow me up: for they be many that fight against me, O you most High.[3] What time I am afraid, I will trust in you.[4] In God I will praise his word, in God I have put my trust; I will not fear what flesh can do to me.[5] Every day they wrest my words: all their thoughts are against me for evil.[6] They gather themselves together, they hide themselves, they mark my steps, when they wait for my soul.[7] Shall they escape by iniquity? in your anger cast down the people, O God.[8] You tell my wanderings: put you my tears into your bottle: are they not in your book?[9] When I cry to you, then shall my enemies turn back: this I know; for God is for me.[10] In God will I praise his word: in the LORD will I praise his word.[11] In God have I put my trust: I will not be afraid what man can do to me.[12] Your vows are on me, O God: I will render praises to you.[13] For you have delivered my soul from death: will not you deliver my feet from falling, that I may walk before God in the light of the living?

[1] Be merciful to me, O God, be merciful to me: for my soul trusts in you: yes, in the shadow of your wings will I make my refuge, until these calamities be over.

[2] I will cry to God most high; to God that performs all things for me.[3] He shall send from heaven, and save me from the reproach of him that would swallow me up. Selah. God shall send forth his mercy and his truth.[4] My soul is among lions: and I lie even among them that are set on fire, even the sons of men, whose teeth are spears and arrows, and their tongue a sharp sword.[5] Be you exalted, O God, above the heavens; let your glory be above all the earth.[6] They have prepared a net for my steps; my soul is bowed down: they have dig a pit before me, into the middle whereof they are fallen themselves. Selah.[7] My heart is fixed, O God, my heart is fixed: I will sing and give praise.[8] Awake up, my glory; awake, psaltery and harp: I myself will awake early.[9] I will praise you, O Lord, among the people: I will sing to you among the nations.[10] For your mercy is great to the heavens, and your truth to the clouds.[11] Be you exalted, O God, above the heavens: let your glory be above all the earth.

[1] Do you indeed speak righteousness, O congregation? do you judge uprightly, O you sons of men?

[2] Yes, in heart you work wickedness; you weigh the violence of your hands in the earth.[3] The wicked are estranged from the womb: they go astray as soon as they be born, speaking lies.[4] Their poison is like the poison of a serpent: they are like the deaf adder that stops her ear;[5] Which will not listen to the voice of charmers, charming never so wisely.[6] Break their teeth, O God, in their mouth: break out the great teeth of the young lions, O LORD.[7] Let them melt away as waters which run continually: when he bends his bow to shoot his arrows, let them be as cut in pieces.[8] As a snail which melts, let every one of them pass away: like the untimely birth of a woman, that they may not see the sun.[9] Before your pots can feel the thorns, he shall take them away as with a whirlwind, both living, and in his wrath.[10] The righteous shall rejoice when he sees the vengeance: he shall wash his feet in the blood of the wicked.[11] So that a man shall say, Truly there is a reward for the righteous: truly he is a God that judges in the earth.

[1] Deliver me from my enemies, O my God: defend me from them that rise up against me.

[2] Deliver me from the workers of iniquity, and save me from bloody men.[3] For, see, they lie in wait for my soul: the mighty are gathered against me; not for my transgression, nor for my sin, O LORD.[4] They run and prepare themselves without my fault: awake to help me, and behold.[5] You therefore, O LORD God of hosts, the God of Israel, awake to visit all the heathen: be not merciful to any wicked transgressors. Selah.[6] They return at evening: they make a noise like a dog, and go round about the city.[7] Behold, they belch out with their mouth: swords are in their lips: for who, say they, does hear?[8] But you, O LORD, shall laugh at them; you shall have all the heathen in derision.[9] Because of his strength will I wait on you: for God is my defense.[10] The God of my mercy shall prevent me: God shall let me see my desire on my enemies.[11] Slay them not, lest my people forget: scatter them by your power; and bring them down, O Lord our shield.[12] For the sin of their mouth and the words of their lips let them even be taken in their pride: and for cursing and lying which they speak.[13] Consume them in wrath, consume them, that they may not be: and let them know that God rules in Jacob to the ends of the earth. Selah.[14] And at evening let them return; and let them make a noise like a dog, and go round about the city.[15] Let them wander up and down for meat, and grudge if they be not satisfied.[16] But I will sing of your power; yes, I will sing aloud of your mercy in the morning: for you have been my defense and refuge in the day of my trouble.[17] To you, O my strength, will I sing: for God is my defense, and the God of my mercy.

[1] O God, you have cast us off, you have scattered us, you have been displeased; O turn yourself to us again.

[2] You have made the earth to tremble; you have broken it: heal the breaches thereof; for it shakes.[3] You have showed your people hard things: you have made us to drink the wine of astonishment.[4] You have given a banner to them that fear you, that it may be displayed because of the truth. Selah.[5] That your beloved may be delivered; save with your right hand, and hear me.[6] God has spoken in his holiness; I will rejoice, I will divide Shechem, and mete out the valley of Succoth.[7] Gilead is mine, and Manasseh is mine; Ephraim also is the strength of my head; Judah is my lawgiver;[8] Moab is my wash pot; over Edom will I cast out my shoe: Philistia, triumph you because of me.[9] Who will bring me into the strong city? who will lead me into Edom?[10] Will not you, O God, which had cast us off? and you, O God, which did not go out with our armies?[11] Give us help from trouble: for vain is the help of man.[12] Through God we shall do valiantly: for he it is that shall tread down our enemies.

[1] Hear my cry, O God; attend to my prayer.

[2] From the end of the earth will I cry to you, when my heart is overwhelmed: lead me to the rock that is higher than I.[3] For you have been a shelter for me, and a strong tower from the enemy.[4] I will abide in your tabernacle for ever: I will trust in the covert of your wings. Selah.[5] For you, O God, have heard my vows: you have given me the heritage of those that fear your name.[6] You will prolong the king's life: and his years as many generations.[7] He shall abide before God for ever: O prepare mercy and truth, which may preserve him.[8] So will I sing praise to your name for ever, that I may daily perform my vows.

[1] Truly my soul waits on God: from him comes my salvation.

[2] He only is my rock and my salvation; he is my defense; I shall not be greatly moved.[3] How long will you imagine mischief against a man? you shall be slain all of you: as a bowing wall shall you be, and as a tottering fence.[4] They only consult to cast him down from his excellency: they delight in lies: they bless with their mouth, but they curse inwardly. Selah.[5] My soul, wait you only on God; for my expectation is from him.[6] He only is my rock and my salvation: he is my defense; I shall not be moved.[7] In God is my salvation and my glory: the rock of my strength, and my refuge, is in God.[8] Trust in him at all times; you people, pour out your heart before him: God is a refuge for us. Selah.[9] Surely men of low degree are vanity, and men of high degree are a lie: to be laid in the balance, they are altogether lighter than vanity.[10] Trust not in oppression, and become not vain in robbery: if riches increase, set not your heart on them.[11] God has spoken once; twice have I heard this; that power belongs to God.[12] Also to you, O Lord, belongs mercy: for you render to every man according to his work.

[1] O God, you are my God; early will I seek you: my soul thirsts for you, my flesh longs for you in a dry and thirsty land, where no water is;

[2] To see your power and your glory, so as I have seen you in the sanctuary.[3] Because your loving kindness is better than life, my lips shall praise you.[4] Thus will I bless you while I live: I will lift up my hands in your name.[5] My soul shall be satisfied as with marrow and fatness; and my mouth shall praise you with joyful lips:[6] When I remember you on my bed, and meditate on you in the night watches.[7] Because you have been my help, therefore in the shadow of your wings will I rejoice.[8] My soul follows hard after you: your right hand upholds me.[9] But those that seek my soul, to destroy it, shall go into the lower parts of the earth.[10] They shall fall by the sword: they shall be a portion for foxes.[11] But the king shall rejoice in God; every one that swears by him shall glory: but the mouth of them that speak lies shall be stopped.

[1] Hear my voice, O God, in my prayer: preserve my life from fear of the enemy.

[2] Hide me from the secret counsel of the wicked; from the insurrection of the workers of iniquity:[3] Who whet their tongue like a sword, and bend their bows to shoot their arrows, even bitter words:[4] That they may shoot in secret at the perfect: suddenly do they shoot at him, and fear not.[5] They encourage themselves in an evil matter: they commune of laying snares privately; they say, Who shall see them?[6] They search out iniquities; they accomplish a diligent search: both the inward thought of every one of them, and the heart, is deep.[7] But God shall shoot at them with an arrow; suddenly shall they be wounded.[8] So they shall make their own tongue to fall on themselves: all that see them shall flee away.[9] And all men shall fear, and shall declare the work of God; for they shall wisely consider of his doing.[10] The righteous shall be glad in the LORD, and shall trust in him; and all the upright in heart shall glory.

[1] Praise waits for you, O God, in Sion: and to you shall the vow be performed.

[2] O you that hear prayer, to you shall all flesh come.[3] Iniquities prevail against me: as for our transgressions, you shall purge them away.[4] Blessed is the man whom you choose, and cause to approach to you, that he may dwell in your courts: we shall be satisfied with the goodness of your house, even of your holy temple.[5] By terrible things in righteousness will you answer us, O God of our salvation; who are the confidence of all the ends of the earth, and of them that are afar off on the sea:[6] Which by his strength sets fast the mountains; being girded with power:[7] Which stills the noise of the seas, the noise of their waves, and the tumult of the people.[8] They also that dwell in the uttermost parts are afraid at your tokens: you make the outgoings of the morning and evening to rejoice.[9] You visit the earth, and water it: you greatly enrich it with the river of God, which is full of water: you prepare them corn, when you have so provided for it.[10] You water the ridges thereof abundantly: you settle the furrows thereof: you make it soft with showers: you bless the springing thereof.[11] You crown the year with your goodness; and your paths drop fatness.[12] They drop on the pastures of the wilderness: and the little hills rejoice on every side.[13] The pastures are clothed with flocks; the valleys also are covered over with corn; they shout for joy, they also sing.

[1] Make a joyful noise to God, all you lands:

[2] Sing forth the honor of his name: make his praise glorious.[3] Say to God, How terrible are you in your works! through the greatness of your power shall your enemies submit themselves to you.[4] All the earth shall worship you, and shall sing to you; they shall sing to your name. Selah.[5] Come and see the works of God: he is terrible in his doing toward the children of men.[6] He turned the sea into dry land: they went through the flood on foot: there did we rejoice in him.[7] He rules by his power for ever; his eyes behold the nations: let not the rebellious exalt themselves. Selah.[8] O bless our God, you people, and make the voice of his praise to be heard:[9] Which holds our soul in life, and suffers not our feet to be moved.[10] For you, O God, have proved us: you have tried us, as silver is tried.[11] You brought us into the net; you laid affliction on our loins.[12] You have caused men to ride over our heads; we went through fire and through water: but you brought us out into a wealthy place.[13] I will go into your house with burnt offerings: I will pay you my vows,[14] Which my lips have uttered, and my mouth has spoken, when I was in trouble.[15] I will offer to you burnt sacrifices of fatted calves, with the incense of rams; I will offer bullocks with goats. Selah.[16] Come and hear, all you that fear God, and I will declare what he has done for my soul.[17] I cried to him with my mouth, and he was extolled with my tongue.[18] If I regard iniquity in my heart, the Lord will not hear me:[19] But truly God has heard me; he has attended to the voice of my prayer.[20] Blessed be God, which has not turned away my prayer, nor his mercy from me.

[1] God be merciful to us, and bless us; and cause his face to shine on us; Selah.

[2] That your way may be known on earth, your saving health among all nations.[3] Let the people praise you, O God; let all the people praise you.[4] O let the nations be glad and sing for joy: for you shall judge the people righteously, and govern the nations on earth. Selah.[5] Let the people praise you, O God; let all the people praise you.[6] Then shall the earth yield her increase; and God, even our own God, shall bless us.[7] God shall bless us; and all the ends of the earth shall fear him.

[1] Let God arise, let his enemies be scattered: let them also that hate him flee before him.

[2] As smoke is driven away, so drive them away: as wax melts before the fire, so let the wicked perish at the presence of God.[3] But let the righteous be glad; let them rejoice before God: yes, let them exceedingly rejoice.[4] Sing to God, sing praises to his name: extol him that rides on the heavens by his name JAH, and rejoice before him.[5] A father of the fatherless, and a judge of the widows, is God in his holy habitation.[6] God sets the solitary in families: he brings out those which are bound with chains: but the rebellious dwell in a dry land.[7] O God, when you went forth before your people, when you did march through the wilderness; Selah:[8] The earth shook, the heavens also dropped at the presence of God: even Sinai itself was moved at the presence of God, the God of Israel.[9] You, O God, did send a plentiful rain, whereby you did confirm your inheritance, when it was weary.[10] Your congregation has dwelled therein: you, O God, have prepared of your goodness for the poor.[11] The Lord gave the word: great was the company of those that published it.[12] Kings of armies did flee apace: and she that tarried at home divided the spoil.[13] Though you have lien among the pots, yet shall you be as the wings of a dove covered with silver, and her feathers with yellow gold.[14] When the Almighty scattered kings in it, it was white as snow in Salmon.[15] The hill of God is as the hill of Bashan; an high hill as the hill of Bashan.[16] Why leap you, you high hills? this is the hill which God desires to dwell in; yes, the LORD will dwell in it for ever.[17] The chariots of God are twenty thousand, even thousands of angels: the Lord is among them, as in Sinai, in the holy place.[18] You have ascended on high, you have led captivity captive: you have received gifts for men; yes, for the rebellious also, that the LORD God might dwell among them.[19] Blessed be the Lord, who daily loads us with benefits, even the God of our salvation. Selah.[20] He that is our God is the God of salvation; and to GOD the Lord belong the issues from death.[21] But God shall wound the head of his enemies, and the hairy scalp of such an one as goes on still in his trespasses.[22] The Lord said, I will bring again from Bashan, I will bring my people again from the depths of the sea:[23] That your foot may be dipped in the blood of your enemies, and the tongue of your dogs in the same.[24] They have seen your goings, O God; even the goings of my God, my King, in the sanctuary.[25] The singers went before, the players on instruments followed after; among them were the damsels playing with tambourines.[26] Bless you God in the congregations, even the Lord, from the fountain of Israel.[27] There is little Benjamin with their ruler, the princes of Judah and their council, the princes of Zebulun, and the princes of Naphtali.[28] Your God has commanded your strength: strengthen, O God, that which you have worked for us.[29] Because of your temple at Jerusalem shall kings bring presents to you.[30] Rebuke the company of spearmen, the multitude of the bulls, with the calves of the people, till every one submit himself with pieces of silver: scatter you the people that delight in war.[31] Princes shall come out of Egypt; Ethiopia shall soon stretch out her hands to God.[32] Sing to God, you kingdoms of the earth; O sing praises to the Lord; Selah:[33] To him that rides on the heavens of heavens, which were of old; see, he does send out his voice, and that a mighty voice.[34] Ascribe you strength to God: his excellency is over Israel, and his strength is in the clouds.[35] O God, you are terrible out of your holy places: the God of Israel is he that gives strength and power to his people. Blessed be God.

[1] Save me, O God; for the waters are come in to my soul.
[2] I sink in deep mire, where there is no standing: I am come into deep waters, where the floods overflow me.[3] I am weary of my crying: my throat is dried: my eyes fail while I wait for my God.[4] They that hate me without a cause are more than the hairs of my head: they that would destroy me, being my enemies wrongfully, are mighty: then I restored that which I took not away.[5] O God, you know my foolishness; and my sins are not hid from you.[6] Let not them that wait on you, O Lord GOD of hosts, be ashamed for my sake: let not those that seek you be confounded for my sake, O God of Israel.[7] Because for your sake I have borne reproach; shame has covered my face.[8] I am become a stranger to my brothers, and an alien to my mother's children.[9] For the zeal of your house has eaten me up; and the reproaches of them that reproached you are fallen on me.[10] When I wept, and chastened my soul with fasting, that was to my reproach.[11] I made sackcloth also my garment; and I became a proverb to them.[12] They that sit in the gate speak against me; and I was the song of the drunkards.[13] But as for me, my prayer is to you, O LORD, in an acceptable time: O God, in the multitude of your mercy hear me, in the truth of your salvation.[14] Deliver me out of the mire, and let me not sink: let me be delivered from them that hate me, and out of the deep waters.[15] Let not the flood overflow me, neither let the deep swallow me up, and let not the pit shut her mouth on me.[16] Hear me, O LORD; for your loving kindness is good: turn to me according to the multitude of your tender mercies.[17] And hide not your face from your servant; for I am in trouble: hear me speedily.[18] Draw near to my soul, and redeem it: deliver me because of my enemies.[19] You have known my reproach, and my shame, and my dishonor: my adversaries are all before you.[20] Reproach has broken my heart; and I am full of heaviness: and I looked for some to take pity, but there was none; and for comforters, but I found none.[21] They gave me also gall for my meat; and in my thirst they gave me vinegar to drink.[22] Let their table become a snare before them: and that which should have been for their welfare, let it become a trap.[23] Let their eyes be darkened, that they see not; and make their loins continually to shake.[24] Pour out your indignation on them, and let your wrathful anger take hold of them.[25] Let their habitation be desolate; and let none dwell in their tents.[26] For they persecute him whom you have smitten; and they talk to the grief of those whom you have wounded.[27] Add iniquity to their iniquity: and let them not come into your righteousness.[28] Let them be blotted out of the book of the living, and not be written with the righteous.[29] But I am poor and sorrowful: let your salvation, O God, set me up on high.[30] I will praise the name of God with a song, and will magnify him with thanksgiving.[31] This also shall please the LORD better than an ox or bullock that has horns and hoofs.[32] The humble shall see this, and be glad: and your heart shall live that seek God.[33] For the LORD hears the poor, and despises not his prisoners.[34] Let the heaven and earth praise him, the seas, and every thing that moves therein.[35] For God will save Zion, and will build the cities of Judah: that they may dwell there, and have it in possession.[36] The seed also of his servants shall inherit it: and they that love his name shall dwell therein.

[1] Make haste, O God, to deliver me; make haste to help me, O LORD.

[2] Let them be ashamed and confounded that seek after my soul: let them be turned backward, and put to confusion, that desire my hurt.[3] Let them be turned back for a reward of their shame that say, Aha, aha.[4] Let all those that seek you rejoice and be glad in you: and let such as love your salvation say continually, Let God be magnified.[5] But I am poor and needy: make haste to me, O God: you are my help and my deliverer; O LORD, make no tarrying.

[1] In you, O LORD, do I put my trust: let me never be put to confusion.

[2] Deliver me in your righteousness, and cause me to escape: incline your ear to me, and save me.[3] Be you my strong habitation, where I may continually resort: you have given commandment to save me; for you are my rock and my fortress.[4] Deliver me, O my God, out of the hand of the wicked, out of the hand of the unrighteous and cruel man.[5] For you are my hope, O Lord GOD: you are my trust from my youth.[6] By you have I been held up from the womb: you are he that took me out of my mother's bowels: my praise shall be continually of you.[7] I am as a wonder to many; but you are my strong refuge.[8] Let my mouth be filled with your praise and with your honor all the day.[9] Cast me not off in the time of old age; forsake me not when my strength fails.[10] For my enemies speak against me; and they that lay wait for my soul take counsel together,[11] Saying, God has forsaken him: persecute and take him; for there is none to deliver him.[12] O God, be not far from me: O my God, make haste for my help.[13] Let them be confounded and consumed that are adversaries to my soul; let them be covered with reproach and dishonor that seek my hurt.[14] But I will hope continually, and will yet praise you more and more.[15] My mouth shall show forth your righteousness and your salvation all the day; for I know not the numbers thereof.[16] I will go in the strength of the Lord GOD: I will make mention of your righteousness, even of your only.[17] O God, you have taught me from my youth: and till now have I declared your wondrous works.[18] Now also when I am old and gray headed, O God, forsake me not; until I have showed your strength to this generation, and your power to every one that is to come.[19] Your righteousness also, O God, is very high, who have done great things: O God, who is like to you![20] You, which have showed me great and sore troubles, shall quicken me again, and shall bring me up again from the depths of the earth.[21] You shall increase my greatness, and comfort me on every side.[22] I will also praise you with the psaltery, even your truth, O my God: to you will I sing with the harp, O you Holy One of Israel.[23] My lips shall greatly rejoice when I sing to you; and my soul, which you have redeemed.[24] My tongue also shall talk of your righteousness all the day long: for they are confounded, for they are brought to shame, that seek my hurt.

[1] Give the king your judgments, O God, and your righteousness to the king's son.

[2] He shall judge your people with righteousness, and your poor with judgment.[3] The mountains shall bring peace to the people, and the little hills, by righteousness.[4] He shall judge the poor of the people, he shall save the children of the needy, and shall break in pieces the oppressor.[5] They shall fear you as long as the sun and moon endure, throughout all generations.[6] He shall come down like rain on the mown grass: as showers that water the earth.[7] In his days shall the righteous flourish; and abundance of peace so long as the moon endures.[8] He shall have dominion also from sea to sea, and from the river to the ends of the earth.[9] They that dwell in the wilderness shall bow before him; and his enemies shall lick the dust.[10] The kings of Tarshish and of the isles shall bring presents: the kings of Sheba and Seba shall offer gifts.[11] Yes, all kings shall fall down before him: all nations shall serve him.[12] For he shall deliver the needy when he cries; the poor also, and him that has no helper.[13] He shall spare the poor and needy, and shall save the souls of the needy.[14] He shall redeem their soul from deceit and violence: and precious shall their blood be in his sight.[15] And he shall live, and to him shall be given of the gold of Sheba: prayer also shall be made for him continually; and daily shall he be praised.[16] There shall be an handful of corn in the earth on the top of the mountains; the fruit thereof shall shake like Lebanon: and they of the city shall flourish like grass of the earth.[17] His name shall endure for ever: his name shall be continued as long as the sun: and men shall be blessed in him: all nations shall call him blessed.[18] Blessed be the LORD God, the God of Israel, who only does wondrous things.[19] And blessed be his glorious name for ever: and let the whole earth be filled with his glory; Amen, and Amen.[20] The prayers of David the son of Jesse are ended.

[1] Truly God is good to Israel, even to such as are of a clean heart.

[2] But as for me, my feet were almost gone; my steps had well near slipped.[3] For I was envious at the foolish, when I saw the prosperity of the wicked.[4] For there are no bands in their death: but their strength is firm.[5] They are not in trouble as other men; neither are they plagued like other men.[6] Therefore pride compasses them about as a chain; violence covers them as a garment.[7] Their eyes stand out with fatness: they have more than heart could wish.[8] They are corrupt, and speak wickedly concerning oppression: they speak loftily.[9] They set their mouth against the heavens, and their tongue walks through the earth.[10] Therefore his people return here: and waters of a full cup are wrung out to them.[11] And they say, How does God know? and is there knowledge in the most High?[12] Behold, these are the ungodly, who prosper in the world; they increase in riches.[13] Truly I have cleansed my heart in vain, and washed my hands in innocence.[14] For all the day long have I been plagued, and chastened every morning.[15] If I say, I will speak thus; behold, I should offend against the generation of your children.[16] When I thought to know this, it was too painful for me;[17] Until I went into the sanctuary of God; then understood I their end.[18] Surely you did set them in slippery places: you cast them down into destruction.[19] How are they brought into desolation, as in a moment! they are utterly consumed with terrors.[20] As a dream when one wakes; so, O Lord, when you wake, you shall despise their image.[21] Thus my heart was grieved, and I was pricked in my reins.[22] So foolish was I, and ignorant: I was as a beast before you.[23] Nevertheless I am continually with you: you have held me by my right hand.[24] You shall guide me with your counsel, and afterward receive me to glory.[25] Whom have I in heaven but you? and there is none on earth that I desire beside you.[26] My flesh and my heart fails: but God is the strength of my heart, and my portion for ever.[27] For, see, they that are far from you shall perish: you have destroyed all them that go a whoring from you.[28] But it is good for me to draw near to God: I have put my trust in the Lord GOD, that I may declare all your works.

[1] O God, why have you cast us off for ever? why does your anger smoke against the sheep of your pasture?

[2] Remember your congregation, which you have purchased of old; the rod of your inheritance, which you have redeemed; this mount Zion, wherein you have dwelled.[3] Lift up your feet to the perpetual desolations; even all that the enemy has done wickedly in the sanctuary.[4] Your enemies roar in the middle of your congregations; they set up their ensigns for signs.[5] A man was famous according as he had lifted up axes on the thick trees.[6] But now they break down the carved work thereof at once with axes and hammers.[7] They have cast fire into your sanctuary, they have defiled by casting down the dwelling place of your name to the ground.[8] They said in their hearts, Let us destroy them together: they have burned up all the synagogues of God in the land.[9] We see not our signs: there is no more any prophet: neither is there among us any that knows how long.[10] O God, how long shall the adversary reproach? shall the enemy blaspheme your name for ever?[11] Why withdraw you your hand, even your right hand? pluck it out of your bosom.[12] For God is my King of old, working salvation in the middle of the earth.[13] You did divide the sea by your strength: you brake the heads of the dragons in the waters.[14] You brake the heads of leviathan in pieces, and gave him to be meat to the people inhabiting the wilderness.[15] You did split the fountain and the flood: you dried up mighty rivers.[16] The day is yours, the night also is yours: you have prepared the light and the sun.[17] You have set all the borders of the earth: you have made summer and winter.[18] Remember this, that the enemy has reproached, O LORD, and that the foolish people have blasphemed your name.[19] O deliver not the soul of your turtledove to the multitude of the wicked: forget not the congregation of your poor for ever.[20] Have respect to the covenant: for the dark places of the earth are full of the habitations of cruelty.[21] O let not the oppressed return ashamed: let the poor and needy praise your name.[22] Arise, O God, plead your own cause: remember how the foolish man reproaches you daily.[23] Forget not the voice of your enemies: the tumult of those that rise up against you increases continually.

[1] To you, O God, do we give thanks, to you do we give thanks: for that your name is near your wondrous works declare.

[2] When I shall receive the congregation I will judge uprightly.[3] The earth and all the inhabitants thereof are dissolved: I bear up the pillars of it. Selah.[4] I said to the fools, Deal not foolishly: and to the wicked, Lift not up the horn:[5] Lift not up your horn on high: speak not with a stiff neck.[6] For promotion comes neither from the east, nor from the west, nor from the south.[7] But God is the judge: he puts down one, and sets up another.[8] For in the hand of the LORD there is a cup, and the wine is red; it is full of mixture; and he pours out of the same: but the dregs thereof, all the wicked of the earth shall wring them out, and drink them.[9] But I will declare for ever; I will sing praises to the God of Jacob.[10] All the horns of the wicked also will I cut off; but the horns of the righteous shall be exalted.

[1] In Judah is God known: his name is great in Israel.

[2] In Salem also is his tabernacle, and his dwelling place in Zion.[3] There broke he the arrows of the bow, the shield, and the sword, and the battle. Selah.[4] You are more glorious and excellent than the mountains of prey.[5] The stouthearted are spoiled, they have slept their sleep: and none of the men of might have found their hands.[6] At your rebuke, O God of Jacob, both the chariot and horse are cast into a dead sleep.[7] You, even you, are to be feared: and who may stand in your sight when once you are angry?[8] You did cause judgment to be heard from heaven; the earth feared, and was still,[9] When God arose to judgment, to save all the meek of the earth. Selah.[10] Surely the wrath of man shall praise you: the remainder of wrath shall you restrain.[11] Vow, and pay to the LORD your God: let all that be round about him bring presents to him that ought to be feared.[12] He shall cut off the spirit of princes: he is terrible to the kings of the earth.

[1] I cried to God with my voice, even to God with my voice; and he gave ear to me.

[2] In the day of my trouble I sought the Lord: my sore ran in the night, and ceased not: my soul refused to be comforted.[3] I remembered God, and was troubled: I complained, and my spirit was overwhelmed. Selah.[4] You hold my eyes waking: I am so troubled that I cannot speak.[5] I have considered the days of old, the years of ancient times.[6] I call to remembrance my song in the night: I commune with my own heart: and my spirit made diligent search.[7] Will the Lord cast off for ever? and will he be favorable no more?[8] Is his mercy clean gone for ever? does his promise fail for ever more?[9] Has God forgotten to be gracious? has he in anger shut up his tender mercies? Selah.[10] And I said, This is my infirmity: but I will remember the years of the right hand of the most High.[11] I will remember the works of the LORD: surely I will remember your wonders of old.[12] I will meditate also of all your work, and talk of your doings.[13] Your way, O God, is in the sanctuary: who is so great a God as our God?[14] You are the God that do wonders: you have declared your strength among the people.[15] You have with your arm redeemed your people, the sons of Jacob and Joseph. Selah.[16] The waters saw you, O God, the waters saw you; they were afraid: the depths also were troubled.[17] The clouds poured out water: the skies sent out a sound: your arrows also went abroad.[18] The voice of your thunder was in the heaven: the lightning lightened the world: the earth trembled and shook.[19] Your way is in the sea, and your path in the great waters, and your footsteps are not known.[20] You led your people like a flock by the hand of Moses and Aaron.

[1] Give ear, O my people, to my law: incline your ears to the words of my mouth.

[2] I will open my mouth in a parable: I will utter dark sayings of old:[3] Which we have heard and known, and our fathers have told us.[4] We will not hide them from their children, showing to the generation to come the praises of the LORD, and his strength, and his wonderful works that he has done.[5] For he established a testimony in Jacob, and appointed a law in Israel, which he commanded our fathers, that they should make them known to their children:[6] That the generation to come might know them, even the children which should be born; who should arise and declare them to their children:[7] That they might set their hope in God, and not forget the works of God, but keep his commandments:[8] And might not be as their fathers, a stubborn and rebellious generation; a generation that set not their heart aright, and whose spirit was not steadfast with God.[9] The children of Ephraim, being armed, and carrying bows, turned back in the day of battle.[10] They kept not the covenant of God, and refused to walk in his law;[11] And forgot his works, and his wonders that he had showed them.[12] Marvelous things did he in the sight of their fathers, in the land of Egypt, in the field of Zoan.[13] He divided the sea, and caused them to pass through; and he made the waters to stand as an heap.[14] In the daytime also he led them with a cloud, and all the night with a light of fire.[15] He split the rocks in the wilderness, and gave them drink as out of the great depths.[16] He brought streams also out of the rock, and caused waters to run down like rivers.[17] And they sinned yet more against him by provoking the most High in the wilderness.[18] And they tempted God in their heart by asking meat for their lust.[19] Yes, they spoke against God; they said, Can God furnish a table in the wilderness?[20] Behold, he smote the rock, that the waters gushed out, and the streams overflowed; can he give bread also? can he provide flesh for his people?[21] Therefore the LORD heard this, and was wroth: so a fire was kindled against Jacob, and anger also came up against Israel;[22] Because they believed not in God, and trusted not in his salvation:[23] Though he had commanded the clouds from above, and opened the doors of heaven,[24] And had rained down manna on them to eat, and had given them of the corn of heaven.[25] Man did eat angels' food: he sent them meat to the full.[26] He caused an east wind to blow in the heaven: and by his power he brought in the south wind.[27] He rained flesh also on them as dust, and feathered fowls like as the sand of the sea:[28] And he let it fall in the middle of their camp, round about their habitations.[29] So they did eat, and were well filled: for he gave them their own desire;[30] They were not estranged from their lust. But while their meat was yet in their mouths,[31] The wrath of God came on them, and slew the fattest of them, and smote down the chosen men of Israel.[32] For all this they sinned still, and believed not for his wondrous works.[33] Therefore their days did he consume in vanity, and their years in trouble.[34] When he slew them, then they sought him: and they returned and inquired early after God.[35] And they remembered that God was their rock, and the high God their redeemer.[36] Nevertheless they did flatter him with their mouth, and they lied to him with their tongues.[37] For their heart was not right with him, neither were they steadfast in his covenant.[38] But he, being full of compassion, forgave their iniquity, and destroyed them not: yes, many a time turned he his anger away, and did not stir up all his wrath.[39] For he remembered that they were but flesh; a wind that passes away, and comes not again.[40] How oft did they provoke him in the wilderness, and grieve him in the desert![41] Yes, they turned back and tempted God, and limited the Holy One of Israel.[42] They remembered not his hand, nor the day when he delivered them from the enemy.[43] How he had worked his signs in Egypt, and his wonders in the field of Zoan.[44] And had turned their rivers into blood; and their floods, that they could not drink.[45] He sent divers sorts of flies among them, which devoured them; and frogs, which destroyed them.[46] He gave also their increase to the caterpillar, and their labor to the locust.[47] He destroyed their vines with hail, and their sycomore trees with frost.[48] He gave up their cattle also to the hail, and their flocks to hot thunderbolts.[49] He cast on them the fierceness of his anger, wrath, and indignation, and trouble, by sending evil angels among them.[50] He made a way to his anger; he spared not their soul from death, but gave their life over to the pestilence;[51] And smote all the firstborn in Egypt; the chief of their strength in the tabernacles of Ham:[52] But made his own people to go forth like sheep, and guided them in the wilderness like a flock.[53] And he led them on safely, so that they feared not: but the sea overwhelmed their enemies.[54] And he brought them to the border of his sanctuary, even to this mountain, which his right hand had purchased.[55] He cast out the heathen also before them, and divided them an inheritance by line, and made the tribes of Israel to dwell in their tents.[56] Yet they tempted and provoked the most high God, and kept not his testimonies:[57] But turned back, and dealt unfaithfully like their fathers: they were turned aside like a deceitful bow.[58] For they provoked him to anger with their high places, and moved him to jealousy with their graven images.[59] When God heard this, he was wroth, and greatly abhorred Israel:[60] So that he forsook the tabernacle of Shiloh, the tent which he placed among men;[61] And delivered his strength into captivity, and his glory into the enemy's hand.[62] He gave his people over also to the sword; and was wroth with his inheritance.[63] The fire consumed their young men; and their maidens were not given to marriage.[64] Their priests fell by the sword; and their widows made no lamentation.[65] Then the LORD awaked as one out of sleep, and like a mighty man that shouts by reason of wine.[66] And he smote his enemies in the hinder parts: he put them to a perpetual reproach.[67] Moreover he refused the tabernacle of Joseph, and chose not the tribe of Ephraim:[68] But chose the tribe of Judah, the mount Zion which he loved.[69] And he built his sanctuary like high palaces, like the earth which he has established for ever.[70] He chose David also his servant, and took him from the sheepfolds:[71] From following the ewes great with young he brought him to feed Jacob his people, and Israel his inheritance.[72] So he fed them according to the integrity of his heart; and guided them by the skillfulness of his hands.

[1] O God, the heathen are come into your inheritance; your holy temple have they defiled; they have laid Jerusalem on heaps.

[2] The dead bodies of your servants have they given to be meat to the fowls of the heaven, the flesh of your saints to the beasts of the earth.[3] Their blood have they shed like water round about Jerusalem; and there was none to bury them.[4] We are become a reproach to our neighbors, a scorn and derision to them that are round about us.[5] How long, LORD? will you be angry for ever? shall your jealousy burn like fire?[6] Pour out your wrath on the heathen that have not known you, and on the kingdoms that have not called on your name.[7] For they have devoured Jacob, and laid waste his dwelling place.[8] O remember not against us former iniquities: let your tender mercies speedily prevent us: for we are brought very low.[9] Help us, O God of our salvation, for the glory of your name: and deliver us, and purge away our sins, for your name's sake.[10] Why should the heathen say, Where is their God? let him be known among the heathen in our sight by the revenging of the blood of your servants which is shed.[11] Let the sighing of the prisoner come before you; according to the greatness of your power preserve you those that are appointed to die;[12] And render to our neighbors sevenfold into their bosom their reproach, with which they have reproached you, O Lord.[13] So we your people and sheep of your pasture will give you thanks for ever: we will show forth your praise to all generations.

[1] Give ear, O Shepherd of Israel, you that lead Joseph like a flock; you that dwell between the cherubim, shine forth.

[2] Before Ephraim and Benjamin and Manasseh stir up your strength, and come and save us.[3] Turn us again, O God, and cause your face to shine; and we shall be saved.[4] O LORD God of hosts, how long will you be angry against the prayer of your people?[5] You feed them with the bread of tears; and give them tears to drink in great measure.[6] You make us a strife to our neighbors: and our enemies laugh among themselves.[7] Turn us again, O God of hosts, and cause your face to shine; and we shall be saved.[8] You have brought a vine out of Egypt: you have cast out the heathen, and planted it.[9] You prepared room before it, and did cause it to take deep root, and it filled the land.[10] The hills were covered with the shadow of it, and the boughs thereof were like the goodly cedars.[11] She sent out her boughs to the sea, and her branches to the river.[12] Why have you then broken down her hedges, so that all they which pass by the way do pluck her?[13] The boar out of the wood does waste it, and the wild beast of the field does devour it.[14] Return, we beseech you, O God of hosts: look down from heaven, and behold, and visit this vine;[15] And the vineyard which your right hand has planted, and the branch that you made strong for yourself.[16] It is burned with fire, it is cut down: they perish at the rebuke of your countenance.[17] Let your hand be on the man of your right hand, on the son of man whom you made strong for yourself.[18] So will not we go back from you: quicken us, and we will call on your name.[19] Turn us again, O LORD God of hosts, cause your face to shine; and we shall be saved.

[1] Sing aloud to God our strength: make a joyful noise to the God of Jacob.

[2] Take a psalm, and bring here the tambourine, the pleasant harp with the psaltery.[3] Blow up the trumpet in the new moon, in the time appointed, on our solemn feast day.[4] For this was a statute for Israel, and a law of the God of Jacob.[5] This he ordained in Joseph for a testimony, when he went out through the land of Egypt: where I heard a language that I understood not.[6] I removed his shoulder from the burden: his hands were delivered from the pots.[7] You called in trouble, and I delivered you; I answered you in the secret place of thunder: I proved you at the waters of Meribah. Selah.[8] Hear, O my people, and I will testify to you: O Israel, if you will listen to me;[9] There shall no strange god be in you; neither shall you worship any strange god.[10] I am the LORD your God, which brought you out of the land of Egypt: open your mouth wide, and I will fill it.[11] But my people would not listen to my voice; and Israel would none of me.[12] So I gave them up to their own hearts' lust: and they walked in their own counsels.[13] Oh that my people had listened to me, and Israel had walked in my ways![14] I should soon have subdued their enemies, and turned my hand against their adversaries.[15] The haters of the LORD should have submitted themselves to him: but their time should have endured for ever.[16] He should have fed them also with the finest of the wheat: and with honey out of the rock should I have satisfied you.

[1] God stands in the congregation of the mighty; he judges among the gods.

[2] How long will you judge unjustly, and accept the persons of the wicked? Selah.[3] Defend the poor and fatherless: do justice to the afflicted and needy.[4] Deliver the poor and needy: rid them out of the hand of the wicked.[5] They know not, neither will they understand; they walk on in darkness: all the foundations of the earth are out of course.[6] I have said, You are gods; and all of you are children of the most High.[7] But you shall die like men, and fall like one of the princes.[8] Arise, O God, judge the earth: for you shall inherit all nations.

[1] Keep not you silence, O God: hold not your peace, and be not still, O God.

2 For, see, your enemies make a tumult: and they that hate you have lifted up the head.3 They have taken crafty counsel against your people, and consulted against your hidden ones.4 They have said, Come, and let us cut them off from being a nation; that the name of Israel may be no more in remembrance.5 For they have consulted together with one consent: they are confederate against you:6 The tabernacles of Edom, and the Ishmaelites; of Moab, and the Hagarenes;7 Gebal, and Ammon, and Amalek; the Philistines with the inhabitants of Tyre;8 Assur also is joined with them: they have helped the children of Lot. Selah.9 Do to them as to the Midianites; as to Sisera, as to Jabin, at the brook of Kison:10 Which perished at Endor: they became as dung for the earth.11 Make their nobles like Oreb, and like Zeeb: yes, all their princes as Zebah, and as Zalmunna:12 Who said, Let us take to ourselves the houses of God in possession.13 O my God, make them like a wheel; as the stubble before the wind.14 As the fire burns a wood, and as the flame sets the mountains on fire;15 So persecute them with your tempest, and make them afraid with your storm.16 Fill their faces with shame; that they may seek your name, O LORD.17 Let them be confounded and troubled for ever; yes, let them be put to shame, and perish:18 That men may know that you, whose name alone is JEHOVAH, are the most high over all the earth.

1 How amiable are your tabernacles, O LORD of hosts!

2 My soul longs, yes, even faints for the courts of the LORD: my heart and my flesh cries out for the living God.3 Yes, the sparrow has found an house, and the swallow a nest for herself, where she may lay her young, even your altars, O LORD of hosts, my King, and my God.4 Blessed are they that dwell in your house: they will be still praising you. Selah.5 Blessed is the man whose strength is in you; in whose heart are the ways of them.6 Who passing through the valley of Baca make it a well; the rain also fills the pools.7 They go from strength to strength, every one of them in Zion appears before God.8 O LORD God of hosts, hear my prayer: give ear, O God of Jacob. Selah.9 Behold, O God our shield, and look on the face of your anointed.10 For a day in your courts is better than a thousand. I had rather be a doorkeeper in the house of my God, than to dwell in the tents of wickedness.11 For the LORD God is a sun and shield: the LORD will give grace and glory: no good thing will he withhold from them that walk uprightly.12 O LORD of hosts, blessed is the man that trusts in you.

1 Lord, you have been favorable to your land: you have brought back the captivity of Jacob.

2 You have forgiven the iniquity of your people, you have covered all their sin. Selah.3 You have taken away all your wrath: you have turned yourself from the fierceness of your anger.4 Turn us, O God of our salvation, and cause your anger toward us to cease.5 Will you be angry with us for ever? will you draw out your anger to all generations?6 Will you not revive us again: that your people may rejoice in you?7 Show us your mercy, O LORD, and grant us your salvation.8 I will hear what God the LORD will speak: for he will speak peace to his people, and to his saints: but let them not turn again to folly.9 Surely his salvation is near them that fear him; that glory may dwell in our land.10 Mercy and truth are met together; righteousness and peace have kissed each other.11 Truth shall spring out of the earth; and righteousness shall look down from heaven.12 Yes, the LORD shall give that which is good; and our land shall yield her increase.13 Righteousness shall go before him; and shall set us in the way of his steps.

1 Bow down your ear, O LORD, hear me: for I am poor and needy.

2 Preserve my soul; for I am holy: O you my God, save your servant that trusts in you.3 Be merciful to me, O Lord: for I cry to you daily.4 Rejoice the soul of your servant: for to you, O Lord, do I lift up my soul.5 For you, Lord, are good, and ready to forgive; and plenteous in mercy to all them that call on you.6 Give ear, O LORD, to my prayer; and attend to the voice of my supplications.7 In the day of my trouble I will call on you: for you will answer me.[8] Among the gods there is none like to you, O Lord; neither are there any works like to your works.[9] All nations whom you have made shall come and worship before you, O Lord; and shall glorify your name.[10] For you are great, and do wondrous things: you are God alone.[11] Teach me your way, O LORD; I will walk in your truth: unite my heart to fear your name.[12] I will praise you, O Lord my God, with all my heart: and I will glorify your name for ever more.[13] For great is your mercy toward me: and you have delivered my soul from the lowest hell.[14] O God, the proud are risen against me, and the assemblies of violent men have sought after my soul; and have not set you before them.[15] But you, O Lord, are a God full of compassion, and gracious, long suffering, and plenteous in mercy and truth.[16] O turn to me, and have mercy on me; give your strength to your servant, and save the son of your handmaid.[17] Show me a token for good; that they which hate me may see it, and be ashamed: because you, LORD, have helped me, and comforted me.

[1] His foundation is in the holy mountains.

[2] The LORD loves the gates of Zion more than all the dwellings of Jacob.[3] Glorious things are spoken of you, O city of God. Selah.[4] I will make mention of Rahab and Babylon to them that know me: behold Philistia, and Tyre, with Ethiopia; this man was born there.[5] And of Zion it shall be said, This and that man was born in her: and the highest himself shall establish her.[6] The LORD shall count, when he writes up the people, that this man was born there. Selah.[7] As well the singers as the players on instruments shall be there: all my springs are in you.

[1] O lord God of my salvation, I have cried day and night before you:

[2] Let my prayer come before you: incline your ear to my cry;[3] For my soul is full of troubles: and my life draws near to the grave.[4] I am counted with them that go down into the pit: I am as a man that has no strength:[5] Free among the dead, like the slain that lie in the grave, whom you remember no more: and they are cut off from your hand.[6] You have laid me in the lowest pit, in darkness, in the deeps.[7] Your wrath lies hard on me, and you have afflicted me with all your waves. Selah.[8] You have put away my acquaintance far from me; you have made me an abomination to them: I am shut up, and I cannot come forth.[9] My eye mourns by reason of affliction: LORD, I have called daily on you, I have stretched out my hands to you.[10] Will you show wonders to the dead? shall the dead arise and praise you? Selah.[11] Shall your loving kindness be declared in the grave? or your faithfulness in destruction?[12] Shall your wonders be known in the dark? and your righteousness in the land of forgetfulness?[13] But to you have I cried, O LORD; and in the morning shall my prayer prevent you.[14] LORD, why cast you off my soul? why hide you your face from me?[15] I am afflicted and ready to die from my youth up: while I suffer your terrors I am distracted.[16] Your fierce wrath goes over me; your terrors have cut me off.[17] They came round about me daily like water; they compassed me about together.[18] Lover and friend have you put far from me, and my acquaintance into darkness.

[1] I will sing of the mercies of the LORD for ever: with my mouth will I make known your faithfulness to all generations.

[2] For I have said, Mercy shall be built up for ever: your faithfulness shall you establish in the very heavens.[3] I have made a covenant with my chosen, I have sworn to David my servant,[4] Your seed will I establish for ever, and build up your throne to all generations. Selah.[5] And the heavens shall praise your wonders, O LORD: your faithfulness also in the congregation of the saints.[6] For who in the heaven can be compared to the LORD? who among the sons of the mighty can be likened to the LORD?[7] God is greatly to be feared in the assembly of the saints, and to be had in reverence of all them that are about him.[8] O LORD God of hosts, who is a strong LORD like to you? or to your faithfulness round about you?[9] You rule the raging of the sea: when the waves thereof arise, you still them.[10] You have broken Rahab in pieces, as one that is slain; you have scattered your enemies with your strong arm.[11] The heavens are yours, the earth also is yours: as for the world and the fullness thereof, you have founded them.[12] The north and the south you have created them: Tabor and Hermon shall rejoice in your name.[13] You have a mighty arm: strong is your hand, and high is your right hand.[14] Justice and judgment are the habitation of your throne: mercy and truth shall go before your face.[15] Blessed is the people that know the joyful sound: they shall walk, O LORD, in the light of your countenance.[16] In your name shall they rejoice all the day: and in your righteousness shall they be exalted.[17] For you are the glory of their strength: and in your favor our horn shall be exalted.[18] For the LORD is our defense; and the Holy One of Israel is our king.[19] Then you spoke in vision to your holy one, and said, I have laid help on one that is mighty; I have exalted one chosen out of the people.[20] I have found David my servant; with my holy oil have I anointed him:[21] With whom my hand shall be established: my arm also shall strengthen him.[22] The enemy shall not exact on him; nor the son of wickedness afflict him.[23] And I will beat down his foes before his face, and plague them that hate him.[24] But my faithfulness and my mercy shall be with him: and in my name shall his horn be exalted.[25] I will set his hand also in the sea, and his right hand in the rivers.[26] He shall cry to me, You are my father, my God, and the rock of my salvation.[27] Also I will make him my firstborn, higher than the kings of the earth.[28] My mercy will I keep for him for ever more, and my covenant shall stand fast with him.[29] His seed also will I make to endure for ever, and his throne as the days of heaven.[30] If his children forsake my law, and walk not in my judgments;[31] If they break my statutes, and keep not my commandments;[32] Then will I visit their transgression with the rod, and their iniquity with stripes.[33] Nevertheless my loving kindness will I not utterly take from him, nor suffer my faithfulness to fail.[34] My covenant will I not break, nor alter the thing that is gone out of my lips.[35] Once have I sworn by my holiness that I will not lie to David.[36] His seed shall endure for ever, and his throne as the sun before me.[37] It shall be established for ever as the moon, and as a faithful witness in heaven. Selah.[38] But you have cast off and abhorred, you have been wroth with your anointed.[39] You have made void the covenant of your servant: you have profaned his crown by casting it to the ground.[40] You have broken down all his hedges; you have brought his strong holds to ruin.[41] All that pass by the way spoil him: he is a reproach to his neighbors.[42] You have set up the right hand of his adversaries; you have made all his enemies to rejoice.[43] You have also turned the edge of his sword, and have not made him to stand in the battle.[44] You have made his glory to cease, and cast his throne down to the ground.[45] The days of his youth have you shortened: you have covered him with shame. Selah.[46] How long, LORD? will you hide yourself for ever? shall your wrath burn like fire?[47] Remember how short my time is: why have you made all men in vain?[48] What man is he that lives, and shall not see death? shall he deliver his soul from the hand of the grave? Selah.[49] Lord, where are your former loving kindnesses, which you swore to David in your truth?[50] Remember, Lord, the reproach of your servants; how I do bear in my bosom the reproach of all the mighty people;[51] With which your enemies have reproached, O LORD; with which they have reproached the footsteps of your anointed.[52] Blessed be the LORD for ever more. Amen, and Amen.

[2] Before the mountains were brought forth, or ever you had formed the earth and the world, even from everlasting to everlasting, you are God.[3] You turn man to destruction; and say, Return, you children of men.[4] For a thousand years in your sight are but as yesterday when it is past, and as a watch in the night.[5] You carry them away as with a flood; they are as a sleep: in the morning they are like grass which grows up.[6] In the morning it flourishes, and grows up; in the evening it is cut down, and wither.[7] For we are consumed by your anger, and by your wrath are we troubled.[8] You have set our iniquities before you, our secret sins in the light of your countenance.[9] For all our days are passed away in your wrath: we spend our years as a tale that is told.[10] The days of our years are three score years and ten; and if by reason of strength they be fourscore years, yet is their strength labor and sorrow; for it is soon cut off, and we fly away.[11] Who knows the power of your anger? even according to your fear, so is your wrath.[12] So teach us to number our days, that we may apply our hearts to wisdom.[13] Return, O LORD, how long? and let it repent you concerning your servants.[14] O satisfy us early with your mercy; that we may rejoice and be glad all our days.[15] Make us glad according to the days wherein you have afflicted us, and the years wherein we have seen evil.[16] Let your work appear to your servants, and your glory to their children.[17] And let the beauty of the LORD our God be on us: and establish you the work of our hands on us; yes, the work of our hands establish you it.

[1] He that dwells in the secret place of the most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty.

[2] I will say of the LORD, He is my refuge and my fortress: my God; in him will I trust.[3] Surely he shall deliver you from the snare of the fowler, and from the noisome pestilence.[4] He shall cover you with his feathers, and under his wings shall you trust: his truth shall be your shield and buckler.[5] You shall not be afraid for the terror by night; nor for the arrow that flies by day;[6] Nor for the pestilence that walks in darkness; nor for the destruction that wastes at noonday.[7] A thousand shall fall at your side, and ten thousand at your right hand; but it shall not come near you.[8] Only with your eyes shall you behold and see the reward of the wicked.[9] Because you have made the LORD, which is my refuge, even the most High, your habitation;[10] There shall no evil befall you, neither shall any plague come near your dwelling.[11] For he shall give his angels charge over you, to keep you in all your ways.[12] They shall bear you up in their hands, lest you dash your foot against a stone.[13] You shall tread on the lion and adder: the young lion and the dragon shall you trample under feet.[14] Because he has set his love on me, therefore will I deliver him: I will set him on high, because he has known my name.[15] He shall call on me, and I will answer him: I will be with him in trouble; I will deliver him, and honor him.[16] With long life will I satisfy him, and show him my salvation.

[1] It is a good thing to give thanks unto the LORD, and to sing praises unto thy Name, O most High:

[2] To show forth your loving kindness in the morning, and your faithfulness every night,[3] On an instrument of ten strings, and on the psaltery; on the harp with a solemn sound.[4] For you, LORD, have made me glad through your work: I will triumph in the works of your hands.[5] O LORD, how great are your works! and your thoughts are very deep.[6] A brutish man knows not; neither does a fool understand this.[7] When the wicked spring as the grass, and when all the workers of iniquity do flourish; it is that they shall be destroyed for ever:

¶ [8] But you, LORD, are most high for ever more.[9] For, see, your enemies, O LORD, for, see, your enemies shall perish; all the workers of iniquity shall be scattered.[10] But my horn shall you exalt like the horn of an unicorn: I shall be anointed with fresh oil.[11] My eye also shall see my desire on my enemies, and my ears shall hear my desire of the wicked that rise up against me.[12] The righteous shall flourish like the palm tree: he shall grow like a cedar in Lebanon.[13] Those that be planted in the house of the LORD shall flourish in the courts of our God.[14] They shall still bring forth fruit in old age; they shall be fat and flourishing;[15] To show that the LORD is upright: he is my rock, and there is no unrighteousness in him.

[1] The LORD reigns, he is clothed with majesty; the LORD is clothed with strength, with which he has girded himself: the world also is established, that it cannot be moved.

[2] Your throne is established of old: you are from everlasting.[3] The floods have lifted up, O LORD, the floods have lifted up their voice; the floods lift up their waves.[4] The LORD on high is mightier than the noise of many waters, yes, than the mighty waves of the sea.[5] Your testimonies are very sure: holiness becomes your house, O LORD, for ever.

1 O Lord God, to whom vengeance belongs; O God, to whom vengeance belongs, show yourself.

2 Lift up yourself, you judge of the earth: render a reward to the proud.3 LORD, how long shall the wicked, how long shall the wicked triumph?4 How long shall they utter and speak hard things? and all the workers of iniquity boast themselves?5 They break in pieces your people, O LORD, and afflict your heritage.6 They slay the widow and the stranger, and murder the fatherless.7 Yet they say, The LORD shall not see, neither shall the God of Jacob regard it.8 Understand, you brutish among the people: and you fools, when will you be wise?9 He that planted the ear, shall he not hear? he that formed the eye, shall he not see?10 He that chastises the heathen, shall not he correct? he that teaches man knowledge, shall not he know?11 The LORD knows the thoughts of man, that they are vanity.12 Blessed is the man whom you chasten, O LORD, and teach him out of your law;13 That you may give him rest from the days of adversity, until the pit be dig for the wicked.14 For the LORD will not cast off his people, neither will he forsake his inheritance.15 But judgment shall return to righteousness: and all the upright in heart shall follow it.16 Who will rise up for me against the evildoers? or who will stand up for me against the workers of iniquity?17 Unless the LORD had been my help, my soul had almost dwelled in silence.18 When I said, My foot slips; your mercy, O LORD, held me up.19 In the multitude of my thoughts within me your comforts delight my soul.20 Shall the throne of iniquity have fellowship with you, which frames mischief by a law?21 They gather themselves together against the soul of the righteous, and condemn the innocent blood.22 But the LORD is my defense; and my God is the rock of my refuge.23 And he shall bring on them their own iniquity, and shall cut them off in their own wickedness; yes, the LORD our God shall cut them off.

1 O come, let us sing to the LORD: let us make a joyful noise to the rock of our salvation.

2 Let us come before his presence with thanksgiving, and make a joyful noise to him with psalms.3 For the LORD is a great God, and a great King above all gods.4 In his hand are the deep places of the earth: the strength of the hills is his also.5 The sea is his, and he made it: and his hands formed the dry land.6 O come, let us worship and bow down: let us kneel before the LORD our maker.7 For he is our God; and we are the people of his pasture, and the sheep of his hand. To day if you will hear his voice,8 Harden not your heart, as in the provocation, and as in the day of temptation in the wilderness:9 When your fathers tempted me, proved me, and saw my work.10 Forty years long was I grieved with this generation, and said, It is a people that do err in their heart, and they have not known my ways:11 To whom I swore in my wrath that they should not enter into my rest.

1 O sing to the LORD a new song: sing to the LORD, all the earth.

2 Sing to the LORD, bless his name; show forth his salvation from day to day.3 Declare his glory among the heathen, his wonders among all people.4 For the LORD is great, and greatly to be praised: he is to be feared above all gods.5 For all the gods of the nations are idols: but the LORD made the heavens.6 Honor and majesty are before him: strength and beauty are in his sanctuary.7 Give to the LORD, O you kindreds of the people, give to the LORD glory and strength.8 Give to the LORD the glory due to his name: bring an offering, and come into his courts.9 O worship the LORD in the beauty of holiness: fear before him, all the earth.10 Say among the heathen that the LORD reigns: the world also shall be established that it shall not be moved: he shall judge the people righteously.11 Let the heavens rejoice, and let the earth be glad; let the sea roar, and the fullness thereof.12 Let the field be joyful, and all that is therein:

then shall all the trees of the wood rejoice[13] Before the LORD: for he comes, for he comes to judge the earth: he shall judge the world with righteousness, and the people with his truth.

[1] The LORD reigns; let the earth rejoice; let the multitude of isles be glad thereof.

[2] Clouds and darkness are round about him: righteousness and judgment are the habitation of his throne.[3] A fire goes before him, and burns up his enemies round about.[4] His lightning enlightened the world: the earth saw, and trembled.[5] The hills melted like wax at the presence of the LORD, at the presence of the Lord of the whole earth.[6] The heavens declare his righteousness, and all the people see his glory.[7] Confounded be all they that serve graven images, that boast themselves of idols: worship him, all you gods.[8] Zion heard, and was glad; and the daughters of Judah rejoiced because of your judgments, O LORD.[9] For you, LORD, are high above all the earth: you are exalted far above all gods.[10] You that love the LORD, hate evil: he preserves the souls of his saints; he delivers them out of the hand of the wicked.[11] Light is sown for the righteous, and gladness for the upright in heart.[12] Rejoice in the LORD, you righteous; and give thanks at the remembrance of his holiness.

[1] O sing to the LORD a new song; for he has done marvelous things: his right hand, and his holy arm, has gotten him the victory.

[2] The LORD has made known his salvation: his righteousness has he openly showed in the sight of the heathen.[3] He has remembered his mercy and his truth toward the house of Israel: all the ends of the earth have seen the salvation of our God.[4] Make a joyful noise to the LORD, all the earth: make a loud noise, and rejoice, and sing praise.[5] Sing to the LORD with the harp; with the harp, and the voice of a psalm.[6] With trumpets and sound of cornet make a joyful noise before the LORD, the King.[7] Let the sea roar, and the fullness thereof; the world, and they that dwell therein.[8] Let the floods clap their hands: let the hills be joyful together[9] Before the LORD; for he comes to judge the earth: with righteousness shall he judge the world, and the people with equity.

[1] The LORD reigns; let the people tremble: he sits between the cherubim; let the earth be moved.

[2] The LORD is great in Zion; and he is high above all the people.[3] Let them praise your great and terrible name; for it is holy.[4] The king's strength also loves judgment; you do establish equity, you execute judgment and righteousness in Jacob.[5] Exalt you the LORD our God, and worship at his footstool; for he is holy.[6] Moses and Aaron among his priests, and Samuel among them that call on his name; they called on the LORD, and he answered them.[7] He spoke to them in the cloudy pillar: they kept his testimonies, and the ordinance that he gave them.[8] You answered them, O LORD our God: you were a God that forgave them, though you took vengeance of their inventions.[9] Exalt the LORD our God, and worship at his holy hill; for the LORD our God is holy.

[1] Make a joyful noise to the LORD, all you lands.

[2] Serve the LORD with gladness: come before his presence with singing.[3] Know you that the LORD he is God: it is he that has made us, and not we ourselves; we are his people, and the sheep of his pasture.[4] Enter into his gates with thanksgiving, and into his courts with praise: be thankful to him, and bless his name.[5] For the LORD is good; his mercy is everlasting; and his truth endures to all generations.

[1] I will sing of mercy and judgment: to you, O LORD, will I sing.

[2] I will behave myself wisely in a perfect way. O when will you come to me? I will walk within my house with a perfect heart.[3] I will set no wicked thing before my eyes: I hate the work of them that turn aside; it shall not stick to me.[4] A fraudulent heart shall depart from me: I will not know a wicked person.[5] Whoever privately slanders his neighbor, him will I cut off: him that has an high look and a proud heart will not I suffer.[6] My eyes shall be on the faithful of the land, that they may dwell with me: he that walks in a perfect way, he shall serve me.[7] He that works deceit shall not dwell within my house: he that tells lies shall not tarry in my sight.[8] I will early destroy all the wicked of the land; that I may cut off all wicked doers from the city of the LORD.

[1] Hear my prayer, O LORD, and let my cry come to you.

[2] Hide not your face from me in the day when I am in trouble; incline your ear to me: in the day when I call answer me speedily.[3] For my days are consumed like smoke, and my bones are burned as an hearth.[4] My heart is smitten, and withered like grass; so that I forget to eat my bread.[5] By reason of the voice of my groaning my bones stick to my skin.[6] I am like a pelican of the wilderness: I am like an owl of the desert.[7] I watch, and am as a sparrow alone on the house top.[8] My enemies reproach me all the day; and they that are mad against me are sworn against me.[9] For I have eaten ashes like bread, and mingled my drink with weeping.[10] Because of your indignation and your wrath: for you have lifted me up, and cast me down.[11] My days are like a shadow that declines; and I am withered like grass.[12] But you, O LORD, shall endure for ever; and your remembrance to all generations.[13] You shall arise, and have mercy on Zion: for the time to favor her, yes, the set time, is come.[14] For your servants take pleasure in her stones, and favor the dust thereof.[15] So the heathen shall fear the name of the LORD, and all the kings of the earth your glory.[16] When the LORD shall build up Zion, he shall appear in his glory.[17] He will regard the prayer of the destitute, and not despise their prayer.[18] This shall be written for the generation to come: and the people which shall be created shall praise the LORD.[19] For he has looked down from the height of his sanctuary; from heaven did the LORD behold the earth;[20] To hear the groaning of the prisoner; to loose those that are appointed to death;[21] To declare the name of the LORD in Zion, and his praise in Jerusalem;[22] When the people are gathered together, and the kingdoms, to serve the LORD.[23] He weakened my strength in the way; he shortened my days.[24] I said, O my God, take me not away in the middle of my days: your years are throughout all generations.[25] Of old have you laid the foundation of the earth: and the heavens are the work of your hands.[26] They shall perish, but you shall endure: yes, all of them shall wax old like a garment; as a clothing shall you change them, and they shall be changed:[27] But you are the same, and your years shall have no end.[28] The children of your servants shall continue, and their seed shall be established before you.

[1] Bless the LORD, O my soul: and all that is within me, bless his holy name.

[2] Bless the LORD, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits:[3] Who forgives all your iniquities; who heals all your diseases;[4] Who redeems your life from destruction; who crowns you with loving kindness and tender mercies;[5] Who satisfies your mouth with good things; so that your youth is renewed like the eagle's.[6] The LORD executes righteousness and judgment for all that are oppressed.[7] He made known his ways to Moses, his acts to the children of Israel.[8] The LORD is merciful and gracious, slow to anger, and plenteous in mercy.[9] He will not always chide: neither will he keep his anger for ever.[10] He has not dealt with us after our sins; nor rewarded us according to our iniquities.[11] For as the heaven is high above the earth, so great is his mercy toward them that fear him.[12] As far as the east is from the west, so far has he removed our transgressions from us.[13] Like as a father pities his children, so the LORD pities them that fear him.[14] For he knows our frame; he remembers that we are dust.[15] As for man, his days are as grass: as a flower of the field, so he flourishes.[16] For the wind passes over it, and it is gone; and the place thereof shall know it no more.[17] But the mercy of the LORD is from everlasting to everlasting on them that fear him, and his righteousness to children's children;[18] To such as keep his covenant, and to those that remember his commandments to do them.[19] The LORD has prepared his throne in the heavens; and his kingdom rules over all.[20] Bless the LORD, you his angels, that excel in strength, that do his commandments, hearkening to the voice of his word.[21] Bless you the LORD, all you his hosts; you ministers of his, that do his pleasure.[22] Bless the LORD, all his works in all places of his dominion: bless the LORD, O my soul.

[1] Bless the LORD, O my soul. O LORD my God, you are very great; you are clothed with honor and majesty.

[2] Who cover yourself with light as with a garment: who stretch out the heavens like a curtain:[3] Who lays the beams of his chambers in the waters: who makes the clouds his chariot: who walks on the wings of the wind:[4] Who makes his angels spirits; his ministers a flaming fire:[5] Who laid the foundations of the earth, that it should not be removed for ever.[6] You covered it with the deep as with a garment: the waters stood above the mountains.[7] At your rebuke they fled; at the voice of your thunder they hurried away.[8] They go up by the mountains; they go down by the valleys to the place which you have founded for them.[9] You have set a bound that they may not pass over; that they turn not again to cover the earth.[10] He sends the springs into the valleys, which run among the hills.[11] They give drink to every beast of the field: the wild asses quench their thirst.[12] By them shall the fowls of the heaven have their habitation, which sing among the branches.[13] He waters the hills from his chambers: the earth is satisfied with the fruit of your works.[14] He causes the grass to grow for the cattle, and herb for the service of man: that he may bring forth food out of the earth;[15] And wine that makes glad the heart of man, and oil to make his face to shine, and bread which strengthens man's heart.[16] The trees of the LORD are full of sap; the cedars of Lebanon, which he has planted;[17] Where the birds make their nests: as for the stork, the fir trees are her house.[18] The high hills are a refuge for the wild goats; and the rocks for the conies.[19] He appointed the moon for seasons: the sun knows his going down.[20] You make darkness, and it is night: wherein all the beasts of the forest do creep forth.[21] The young lions roar after their prey, and seek their meat from God.[22] The sun rises, they gather themselves together, and lay them down in their dens.[23] Man goes forth to his work and to his labor until the evening.[24] O LORD, how manifold are your works! in wisdom have you made them all: the earth is full of your riches.[25] So is this great and wide sea, wherein are things creeping innumerable, both small and great beasts.[26] There go the ships: there is that leviathan, whom you have made to play therein.[27] These wait all on you; that you may give them their meat in due season.[28] That you give them they gather: you open your hand, they are filled with good.[29] You hide your face, they are troubled: you take away their breath, they die, and return to their dust.[30] You send forth your spirit, they are created: and you renew the face of the earth.[31] The glory of the LORD shall endure for ever: the LORD shall rejoice in his works.[32] He looks on the earth, and it trembles: he touches the hills, and they smoke.[33] I will sing to the LORD as long as I live: I will sing praise to my God while I have my being.[34] My meditation of him shall be sweet: I will be glad in the LORD.[35] Let the sinners be consumed out of the earth, and let the wicked be no more. Bless you the LORD, O my soul. Praise you the LORD.

[1] O give thanks to the LORD; call on his name: make known his deeds among the people.

[2] Sing to him, sing psalms to him: talk you of all his wondrous works.[3] Glory you in his holy name: let the heart of them rejoice that seek the LORD.[4] Seek the LORD, and his strength: seek his face ever more.[5] Remember his marvelous works that he has done; his wonders, and the judgments of his mouth;[6] O you seed of Abraham his servant, you children of Jacob his chosen.[7] He is the LORD our God: his judgments are in all the earth.[8] He has remembered his covenant for ever, the word which he commanded to a thousand generations.[9] Which covenant he made with Abraham, and his oath to Isaac;[10] And confirmed the same to Jacob for a law, and to Israel for an everlasting covenant:[11] Saying, To you will I give the land of Canaan, the lot of your inheritance:[12] When they were but a few men in number; yes, very few, and strangers in it.[13] When they went from one nation to another, from one kingdom to another people;[14] He suffered no man to do them wrong: yes, he reproved kings for their sakes;[15] Saying, Touch not my anointed, and do my prophets no harm.[16] Moreover he called for a famine on the land: he broke the whole staff of bread.[17] He sent a man before them, even Joseph, who was sold for a servant:[18] Whose feet they hurt with fetters: he was laid in iron:[19] Until the time that his word came: the word of the LORD tried him.[20] The king sent and loosed him; even the ruler of the people, and let him go free.[21] He made him lord of his house, and ruler of all his substance:[22] To bind his princes at his pleasure; and teach his senators wisdom.[23] Israel also came into Egypt; and Jacob sojourned in the land of Ham.[24] And he increased his people greatly; and made them stronger than their enemies.[25] He turned their heart to hate his people, to deal subtly with his servants.[26] He sent Moses his servant; and Aaron whom he had chosen.[27] They showed his signs among them, and wonders in the land of Ham.[28] He sent darkness, and made it dark; and they rebelled not against his word.[29] He turned their waters into blood, and slew their fish.[30] Their land brought forth frogs in abundance, in the chambers of their kings.[31] He spoke, and there came divers sorts of flies, and lice in all their coasts.[32] He gave them hail for rain, and flaming fire in their land.[33] He smote their vines also and their fig trees; and broke the trees of their coasts.[34] He spoke, and the locusts came, and caterpillars, and that without number,[35] And did eat up all the herbs in their land, and devoured the fruit of their ground.[36] He smote also all the firstborn in their land, the chief of all their strength.[37] He brought them forth also with silver and gold: and there was not one feeble person among their tribes.[38] Egypt was glad when they departed: for the fear of them fell on them.[39] He spread a cloud for a covering; and fire to give light in the night.[40] The people asked, and he brought quails, and satisfied them with the bread of heaven.[41] He opened the rock, and the waters gushed out; they ran in the dry places like a river.[42] For he remembered his holy promise, and Abraham his servant.[43] And he brought forth his people with joy, and his chosen with gladness:[44] And gave them the lands of the heathen: and they inherited the labor of the people;[45] That they might observe his statutes, and keep his laws. Praise you the LORD.

[1] Praise you the LORD. O give thanks to the LORD; for he is good: for his mercy endures for ever.

[2] Who can utter the mighty acts of the LORD? who can show forth all his praise?[3] Blessed are they that keep judgment, and he that does righteousness at all times.[4] Remember me, O LORD, with the favor that you bore to your people: O visit me with your salvation;[5] That I may see the good of your chosen, that I may rejoice in the gladness of your nation, that I may glory with your inheritance.[6] We have sinned with our fathers, we have committed iniquity, we have done wickedly.[7] Our fathers understood not your wonders in Egypt; they remembered not the multitude of your mercies; but provoked him at the sea, even at the Red sea.[8] Nevertheless he saved them for his name's sake, that he might make his mighty power to be known.[9] He rebuked the Red sea also, and it was dried up: so he led them through the depths, as through the wilderness.[10] And he saved them from the hand of him that hated them, and redeemed them from the hand of the enemy.[11] And the waters covered their enemies: there was not one of them left.[12] Then believed they his words; they sang his praise.[13] They soon forgot his works; they waited not for his counsel:[14] But lusted exceedingly in the wilderness, and tempted God in the desert.[15] And he gave them their request; but sent leanness into their soul.[16] They envied Moses also in the camp, and Aaron the saint of the LORD.[17] The earth opened and swallowed up Dathan and covered the company of Abiram.[18] And a fire was kindled in their company; the flame burned up the wicked.[19] They made a calf in Horeb, and worshipped the molten image.[20] Thus they changed their glory into the similitude of an ox that eats grass.[21] They forgot God their savior, which had done great things in Egypt;[22]

Wondrous works in the land of Ham, and terrible things by the Red sea.[23] Therefore he said that he would destroy them, had not Moses his chosen stood before him in the breach, to turn away his wrath, lest he should destroy them.[24] Yes, they despised the pleasant land, they believed not his word:[25] But murmured in their tents, and listened not to the voice of the LORD.[26] Therefore he lifted up his hand against them, to overthrow them in the wilderness:[27] To overthrow their seed also among the nations, and to scatter them in the lands.[28] They joined themselves also to Baalpeor, and ate the sacrifices of the dead.[29] Thus they provoked him to anger with their inventions: and the plague broke in on them.[30] Then stood up Phinehas, and executed judgment: and so the plague was stayed.[31] And that was counted to him for righteousness to all generations for ever more.[32] They angered him also at the waters of strife, so that it went ill with Moses for their sakes:[33] Because they provoked his spirit, so that he spoke unadvisedly with his lips.[34] They did not destroy the nations, concerning whom the LORD commanded them:[35] But were mingled among the heathen, and learned their works.[36] And they served their idols: which were a snare to them.[37] Yes, they sacrificed their sons and their daughters to devils,[38] And shed innocent blood, even the blood of their sons and of their daughters, whom they sacrificed to the idols of Canaan: and the land was polluted with blood.[39] Thus were they defiled with their own works, and went a whoring with their own inventions.[40] Therefore was the wrath of the LORD kindled against his people, so that he abhorred his own inheritance.[41] And he gave them into the hand of the heathen; and they that hated them ruled over them.[42] Their enemies also oppressed them, and they were brought into subjection under their hand.[43] Many times did he deliver them; but they provoked him with their counsel, and were brought low for their iniquity.[44] Nevertheless he regarded their affliction, when he heard their cry:[45] And he remembered for them his covenant, and repented according to the multitude of his mercies.[46] He made them also to be pitied of all those that carried them captives.[47] Save us, O LORD our God, and gather us from among the heathen, to give thanks to your holy name, and to triumph in your praise.[48] Blessed be the LORD God of Israel from everlasting to everlasting: and let all the people say, Amen. Praise you the LORD.

[1] O give thanks to the LORD, for he is good: for his mercy endures for ever.

[2] Let the redeemed of the LORD say so, whom he has redeemed from the hand of the enemy;[3] And gathered them out of the lands, from the east, and from the west, from the north, and from the south.[4] They wandered in the wilderness in a solitary way; they found no city to dwell in.[5] Hungry and thirsty, their soul fainted in them.[6] Then they cried to the LORD in their trouble, and he delivered them out of their distresses.[7] And he led them forth by the right way, that they might go to a city of habitation.[8] Oh that men would praise the LORD for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men![9] For he satisfies the longing soul, and fills the hungry soul with goodness.[10] Such as sit in darkness and in the shadow of death, being bound in affliction and iron;[11] Because they rebelled against the words of God, and scorned the counsel of the most High:[12] Therefore he brought down their heart with labor; they fell down, and there was none to help.[13] Then they cried to the LORD in their trouble, and he saved them out of their distresses.[14] He brought them out of darkness and the shadow of death, and broke their bands in sunder.[15] Oh that men would praise the LORD for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men![16] For he has broken the gates of brass, and cut the bars of iron in sunder.[17] Fools because of their transgression, and because of their iniquities, are afflicted.[18] Their soul abhors all manner of meat; and they draw near to the gates of death.[19] Then they cry to the LORD in their trouble, and he saves them out of their distresses.[20] He sent his word, and healed them, and delivered them from their destructions.[21] Oh that men would praise the LORD for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men![22] And let them sacrifice the sacrifices of thanksgiving, and declare his works with rejoicing.[23] They that go down to the sea in ships, that do business in great waters;[24] These see the works of the LORD, and his wonders in the deep.[25] For he commands, and raises the stormy wind, which lifts up the waves thereof.[26] They mount up to the heaven, they go down again to the depths: their soul is melted because of trouble.[27] They reel to and fro, and stagger like a drunken man, and are at their wit's end.[28] Then they cry to the LORD in their trouble, and he brings them out of their distresses.[29] He makes the storm a calm, so that the waves thereof are still.[30] Then are they glad because they be quiet; so he brings them to their desired haven.[31] Oh that men would praise the LORD for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men![32] Let them exalt him also in the congregation of the people, and praise him in the assembly of the elders.[33] He turns rivers into a wilderness, and the springs into dry ground;[34] A fruitful land into barrenness, for the wickedness of them that dwell therein.[35] He turns the wilderness into a standing water, and dry ground into springs.[36] And there he makes the hungry to dwell, that they may prepare a city for habitation;[37] And sow the fields, and plant vineyards, which may yield fruits of increase.[38] He blesses them also, so that they are multiplied greatly; and suffers not their cattle to decrease.[39] Again, they are diminished and brought low through oppression, affliction, and sorrow.[40] He pours contempt on princes, and causes them to wander in the wilderness, where there is no way.[41] Yet sets he the poor on high from affliction, and makes him families like a flock.[42] The righteous shall see it, and rejoice: and all iniquity shall stop her mouth.[43] Whoever is wise, and will observe these things, even they shall understand the loving kindness of the LORD.

[1] O god, my heart is fixed; I will sing and give praise, even with my glory.

[2] Awake, psaltery and harp: I myself will awake early.[3] I will praise you, O LORD, among the people: and I will sing praises to you among the nations.[4] For your mercy is great above the heavens: and your truth reaches to the clouds.[5] Be you exalted, O God, above the heavens: and your glory above all the earth;[6] That your beloved may be delivered: save with your right hand, and answer me.[7] God has spoken in his holiness; I will rejoice, I will divide Shechem, and mete out the valley of Succoth.[8] Gilead is mine; Manasseh is mine; Ephraim also is the strength of my head; Judah is my lawgiver;[9] Moab is my wash pot; over Edom will I cast out my shoe; over Philistia will I triumph.[10] Who will bring me into the strong city? who will lead me into Edom?[11] Will not you, O God, who have cast us off? and will not you, O God, go forth with our hosts?[12] Give us help from trouble: for vain is the help of man.[13] Through God we shall do valiantly: for he it is that shall tread down our enemies.

[1] Hold not your peace, O God of my praise;

[2] For the mouth of the wicked and the mouth of the deceitful are opened against me: they have spoken against me with a lying tongue.[3] They compassed me about also with words of hatred; and fought against me without a cause.[4] For my love they are my adversaries: but I give myself to prayer.[5] And they have rewarded me evil for good, and hatred for my love.[6] Set you a wicked man over him: and let Satan stand at his right hand.[7] When he shall be judged, let him be condemned: and let his prayer become sin.[8] Let his days be few; and let another take his office.[9] Let his children be fatherless, and his wife a widow.[10] Let his children be continually vagabonds, and beg: let them seek their bread also out of their desolate places.[11] Let the extortionist catch all that he has; and let the strangers spoil his labor.[12] Let there be none to extend mercy to him: neither let there be any to favor his fatherless children.[13] Let his posterity be cut off; and in the generation following let their name be blotted out.[14] Let the iniquity of his fathers be remembered with the LORD; and let not the sin of his mother be blotted out.[15] Let them be before the LORD continually, that he may cut off the memory of them from the earth.[16] Because that he remembered not to show mercy, but persecuted the poor and needy man, that he might even slay the broken in heart.[17] As he loved cursing, so let it come to him: as he delighted not in blessing, so let it be far from him.[18] As he clothed himself with cursing like as with his garment, so let it come into his bowels like water, and like oil into his bones.[19] Let it be to him as the garment which covers him, and for a girdle with which he is girded continually.[20] Let this be the reward of my adversaries from the LORD, and of them that speak evil against my soul.[21] But do you for me, O GOD the Lord, for your name's sake: because your mercy is good, deliver you me.[22] For I am poor and needy, and my heart is wounded within me.[23] I am gone like the shadow when it declines: I am tossed up and down as the locust.[24] My knees are weak through fasting; and my flesh fails of fatness.[25] I became also a reproach to them: when they looked on me they shook their heads.[26] Help me, O LORD my God: O save me according to your mercy:[27] That they may know that this is your hand; that you, LORD, have done it.[28] Let them curse, but bless you: when they arise, let them be ashamed; but let your servant rejoice.[29] Let my adversaries be clothed with shame, and let them cover themselves with their own confusion, as with a mantle.[30] I will greatly praise the LORD with my mouth; yes, I will praise him among the multitude.[31] For he shall stand at the right hand of the poor, to save him from those that condemn his soul.

[1] The LORD said to my Lord, Sit you at my right hand, until I make your enemies your footstool.

[2] The LORD shall send the rod of your strength out of Zion: rule you in the middle of your enemies.[3] Your people shall be willing in the day of your power, in the beauties of holiness from the womb of the morning: you have the dew of your youth.[4] The LORD has sworn, and will not repent, You are a priest for ever after the order of Melchizedek.[5] The Lord at your right hand shall strike through kings in the day of his wrath.[6] He shall judge among the heathen, he shall fill the places with the dead bodies; he shall wound the heads over many countries.[7] He shall drink of the brook in the way: therefore shall he lift up the head.

[1] Praise you the LORD. I will praise the LORD with my whole heart, in the assembly of the upright, and in the congregation.

[2] The works of the LORD are great, sought out of all them that have pleasure therein.[3] His work is honorable and glorious: and his righteousness endures for ever.[4] He has made his wonderful works to be remembered: the LORD is gracious and full of compassion.[5] He has given meat to them that fear him: he will ever be mindful of his covenant.[6] He has showed his people the power of his works, that he may give them the heritage of the heathen.[7] The works of his hands are verity and judgment; all his commandments are sure.[8] They stand fast for ever and ever, and are done in truth and uprightness.[9] He sent redemption to his people: he has commanded his covenant for ever: holy and reverend is his name.[10] The fear of the LORD is the beginning of wisdom: a good understanding have all they that do his commandments: his praise endures for ever.

[1] Praise you the LORD. Blessed is the man that fears the LORD, that delights greatly in his commandments.

[2] His seed shall be mighty on earth: the generation of the upright shall be blessed.[3] Wealth and riches shall be in his house: and his righteousness endures for ever.[4] To the upright there rises light in the darkness: he is gracious, and full of compassion, and righteous.[5] A good man shows favor, and lends: he will guide his affairs with discretion.[6] Surely he shall not be moved for ever: the righteous shall be in everlasting remembrance.[7] He shall not be afraid of evil tidings: his heart is fixed, trusting in the LORD.[8] His heart is established, he shall not be afraid, until he see his desire on his enemies.[9] He has dispersed, he has given to the poor; his righteousness endures for ever; his horn shall be exalted with honor.[10] The wicked shall see it, and be grieved; he shall gnash with his teeth, and melt away: the desire of the wicked shall perish.

[1] Praise you the LORD. Praise, O you servants of the LORD, praise the name of the LORD.

[2] Blessed be the name of the LORD from this time forth and for ever more.[3] From the rising of the sun to the going down of the same the LORD's name is to be praised.[4] The LORD is high above all nations, and his glory above the heavens.[5] Who is like to the LORD our God, who dwells on high,[6] Who humbles himself to behold the things that are in heaven, and in the earth![7] He raises up the poor out of the dust, and lifts the needy out of the dunghill;[8] That he may set him with princes, even with the princes of his people.[9] He makes the barren woman to keep house, and to be a joyful mother of children. Praise you the LORD.

[1] When Israel went out of Egypt, the house of Jacob from a people of strange language;

[2] Judah was his sanctuary, and Israel his dominion.[3] The sea saw it, and fled: Jordan was driven back.[4] The mountains skipped like rams, and the little hills like lambs.[5] What ailed you, O you sea, that you fled? you Jordan, that you were driven back?[6] You mountains, that you skipped like rams; and you little hills, like lambs?[7] Tremble, you earth, at the presence of the Lord, at the presence of the God of Jacob;[8] Which turned the rock into a standing water, the flint into a fountain of waters.

[1] Not to us, O LORD, not to us, but to your name give glory, for your mercy, and for your truth's sake.

[2] Why should the heathen say, Where is now their God?[3] But our God is in the heavens: he has done whatever he has pleased.[4] Their idols are silver and gold, the work of men's hands.[5] They have mouths, but they speak not: eyes have they, but they see not:[6] They have ears, but they hear not: noses have they, but they smell not:[7] They have hands, but they handle not: feet have they, but they walk not: neither speak they through their throat.[8] They that make them are like to them; so is every one that trusts in them.[9] O Israel, trust you in the LORD: he is their help and their shield.[10] O house of Aaron, trust in the LORD: he is their help and their shield.[11] You that fear the LORD, trust in the LORD: he is their help and their shield.[12] The LORD has been mindful of us: he will bless us; he will bless the house of Israel; he will bless the house of Aaron.[13] He will bless them that fear the LORD, both small and great.[14] The LORD shall increase you more and more, you and your children.[15] You are blessed of the LORD which made heaven and earth.[16] The heaven, even the heavens, are the LORD's: but the earth has he given to the children of men.[17] The dead praise not the LORD, neither any that go down into silence.[18] But we will bless the LORD from this time forth and for ever more. Praise the LORD.

[1] I love the LORD, because he has heard my voice and my supplications.

[2] Because he has inclined his ear to me, therefore will I call on him as long as I live.[3] The sorrows of death compassed me, and the pains of hell got hold on me: I found trouble and sorrow.[4] Then called I on the name of the LORD; O LORD, I beseech you, deliver my soul.[5] Gracious is the LORD, and righteous; yes, our God is merciful.[6] The LORD preserves the simple: I was brought low, and he helped me.[7] Return to your rest, O my soul; for the LORD has dealt bountifully with you.[8] For you have delivered my soul from death, my eyes from tears, and my feet from falling.[9] I will walk before the LORD in the land of the living.[10] I believed, therefore have I spoken: I was greatly afflicted:[11] I said in my haste, All men are liars.[12] What shall I render to the LORD for all his benefits toward me?[13] I will take the cup of salvation, and call on the name of the LORD.[14] I will pay my vows to the LORD now in the presence of all his people.[15] Precious in the sight of the LORD is the death of his saints.[16] O LORD, truly I am your servant; I am your servant, and the son of your handmaid: you have loosed my bonds.[17] I will offer to you the sacrifice of thanksgiving, and will call on the name of the LORD.[18] I will pay my vows to the LORD now in the presence of all his people.[19] In the courts of the LORD's house, in the middle of you, O Jerusalem. Praise you the LORD.

[1] O praise the LORD, all you nations: praise him, all you people.

[2] For his merciful kindness is great toward us: and the truth of the LORD endures for ever. Praise you the LORD.

[1] O give thanks to the LORD; for he is good: because his mercy endures for ever.

[2] Let Israel now say, that his mercy endures for ever.[3] Let the house of Aaron now say, that his mercy endures for ever.[4] Let them now that fear the LORD say, that his mercy endures for ever.[5] I called on the LORD in distress: the LORD answered me, and set me in a large place.[6] The LORD is on my side; I will not fear: what can man do to me?[7] The LORD takes my part with them that help me: therefore shall I see my desire on them that hate me.[8] It is better to trust in the LORD than to put confidence in man.[9] It is better to trust in the LORD than to put confidence in princes.[10] All nations compassed me about: but in the name of the LORD will I destroy them.[11] They compassed me about; yes, they compassed me about: but in the name of the LORD I will destroy them.[12] They compassed me about like bees: they are quenched as the fire of thorns: for in the name of the LORD I will destroy them.[13] You have thrust sore at me that I might fall: but the LORD helped me.[14] The LORD is my strength and song, and is become my salvation.[15] The voice of rejoicing and salvation is in the tabernacles of the righteous: the right hand of the LORD does valiantly.[16] The right hand of the LORD is exalted: the right hand of the LORD does valiantly.[17] I shall not die, but live, and declare the works of the LORD.[18] The LORD has chastened me sore: but he has not given me over to death.[19] Open to me the gates of righteousness: I will go into them, and I will praise the LORD:[20] This gate of the LORD, into which the righteous shall enter.[21] I will praise you: for you have heard me, and are become my salvation.[22] The stone which the builders refused is become the head stone of the corner.[23] This is the LORD's doing; it is marvelous in our eyes.[24] This is the day which the LORD has made; we will rejoice and be glad in it.[25] Save now, I beseech you, O LORD: O LORD, I beseech you, send now prosperity.[26] Blessed be he that comes in the name of the LORD: we have blessed you out of the house of the LORD.[27] God is the LORD, which has showed us light: bind the sacrifice with cords, even to the horns of the altar.[28] You are my God, and I will praise you: you are my God, I will exalt you.[29] O give thanks to the LORD; for he is good: for his mercy endures for ever.

[1] Blessed are the undefiled in the way, who walk in the law of the LORD.

[2] Blessed are they that keep his testimonies, and that seek him with the whole heart.[3] They also do no iniquity: they walk in his ways.[4] You have commanded us to keep your precepts diligently.[5] O that my ways were directed to keep your statutes![6] Then shall I not be ashamed, when I have respect to all your commandments.[7] I will praise you with uprightness of heart, when I shall have learned your righteous judgments.[8] I will keep your statutes: O forsake me not utterly.[9] Wherewithal shall a young man cleanse his way? by taking heed thereto according to your word.[10] With my whole heart have I sought you: O let me not wander from your commandments.[11] Your word have I hid in my heart, that I might not sin against you.[12] Blessed are you, O LORD: teach me your statutes.[13] With my lips have I declared all the judgments of your mouth.[14] I have rejoiced in the way of your testimonies, as much as in all riches.[15] I will meditate in your precepts, and have respect to your ways.[16] I will delight myself in your statutes: I will not forget your word.[17] Deal bountifully with your servant, that I may live, and keep your word.[18] Open you my eyes, that I may behold wondrous things out of your law.[19] I am a stranger in the earth: hide not your commandments from me.[20] My soul breaks for the longing that it has to your judgments at all times.[21] You have rebuked the proud that are cursed, which do err from your commandments.[22] Remove from me reproach and contempt; for I have kept your testimonies.[23]

Princes also did sit and speak against me: but your servant did meditate in your statutes.[24] Your testimonies also are my delight and my counsellors.[25] My soul sticks to the dust: quicken you me according to your word.[26] I have declared my ways, and you heard me: teach me your statutes.[27] Make me to understand the way of your precepts: so shall I talk of your wondrous works.[28] My soul melts for heaviness: strengthen you me according to your word.[29] Remove from me the way of lying: and grant me your law graciously.[30] I have chosen the way of truth: your judgments have I laid before me.[31] I have stuck to your testimonies: O LORD, put me not to shame.[32] I will run the way of your commandments, when you shall enlarge my heart.[33] Teach me, O LORD, the way of your statutes; and I shall keep it to the end.[34] Give me understanding, and I shall keep your law; yes, I shall observe it with my whole heart.[35] Make me to go in the path of your commandments; for therein do I delight.[36] Incline my heart to your testimonies, and not to covetousness.[37] Turn away my eyes from beholding vanity; and quicken you me in your way.[38] Establish your word to your servant, who is devoted to your fear.[39] Turn away my reproach which I fear: for your judgments are good.[40] Behold, I have longed after your precepts: quicken me in your righteousness.[41] Let your mercies come also to me, O LORD, even your salvation, according to your word.[42] So shall I have with which to answer him that reproaches me: for I trust in your word.[43] And take not the word of truth utterly out of my mouth; for I have hoped in your judgments.[44] So shall I keep your law continually for ever and ever.[45] And I will walk at liberty: for I seek your precepts.[46] I will speak of your testimonies also before kings, and will not be ashamed.[47] And I will delight myself in your commandments, which I have loved.[48] My hands also will I lift up to your commandments, which I have loved; and I will meditate in your statutes.[49] Remember the word to your servant, on which you have caused me to hope.[50] This is my comfort in my affliction: for your word has quickened me.[51] The proud have had me greatly in derision: yet have I not declined from your law.[52] I remembered your judgments of old, O LORD; and have comforted myself.[53] Horror has taken hold on me because of the wicked that forsake your law.[54] Your statutes have been my songs in the house of my pilgrimage.[55] I have remembered your name, O LORD, in the night, and have kept your law.[56] This I had, because I kept your precepts.[57] You are my portion, O LORD: I have said that I would keep your words.[58] I entreated your favor with my whole heart: be merciful to me according to your word.[59] I thought on my ways, and turned my feet to your testimonies.[60] I made haste, and delayed not to keep your commandments.[61] The bands of the wicked have robbed me: but I have not forgotten your law.[62] At midnight I will rise to give thanks to you because of your righteous judgments.[63] I am a companion of all them that fear you, and of them that keep your precepts.[64] The earth, O LORD, is full of your mercy: teach me your statutes.[65] You have dealt well with your servant, O LORD, according to your word.[66] Teach me good judgment and knowledge: for I have believed your commandments.[67] Before I was afflicted I went astray: but now have I kept your word.[68] You are good, and do good; teach me your statutes.[69] The proud have forged a lie against me: but I will keep your precepts with my whole heart.[70] Their heart is as fat as grease; but I delight in your law.[71] It is good for me that I have been afflicted; that I might learn your statutes.[72] The law of your mouth is better to me than thousands of gold and silver.[73] Your hands have made me and fashioned me: give me understanding, that I may learn your commandments.[74] They that fear you will be glad when they see me; because I have hoped in your word.[75] I know, O LORD, that your judgments are right, and that you in faithfulness have afflicted me.[76] Let, I pray you, your merciful kindness be for my comfort, according to your word to your servant.[77] Let your tender mercies come to me, that I may live: for your law is my delight.[78] Let the proud be ashamed; for they dealt perversely with me without a cause: but I will meditate in your precepts.[79] Let those that fear you turn to me, and those that have known your testimonies.[80] Let my heart be sound in your statutes; that I be not ashamed.[81] My soul faints for your salvation: but I hope in your word.[82] My eyes fail for your word, saying, When will you comfort me?[83] For I am become like a bottle in the smoke; yet do I not forget your statutes.[84] How many are the days of your servant? when will you execute judgment on them that persecute me?[85] The proud have dig pits for me, which are not after your law.[86] All your commandments are faithful: they persecute me wrongfully; help you me.[87] They had almost consumed me on earth; but I forsook not your precepts.[88] Quicken me after your loving kindness; so shall I keep the testimony of your mouth.[89] For ever, O LORD, your word is settled in heaven.[90] Your faithfulness is to all generations: you have established the earth, and it stays.[91] They continue this day according to your ordinances: for all are your servants.[92] Unless your law had been my delights, I should then have perished in my affliction.[93] I will never forget your precepts: for with them you have quickened me.[94] I am yours, save me: for I have sought your precepts.[95] The wicked have waited for me to destroy me: but I will consider your testimonies.[96] I have seen an end of all perfection: but your commandment is exceeding broad.[97] O how I love your law! it is my meditation all the day.[98] You through your commandments have made me wiser than my enemies: for they are ever with me.[99] I have more understanding than all my teachers: for your testimonies are my meditation.[100] I understand more than the ancients, because I keep your precepts.[101] I have refrained my feet from every evil way, that I might keep your word.[102] I have not departed from your judgments: for you have taught me.[103] How sweet are your words to my taste! yes, sweeter than honey to my mouth![104] Through your precepts I get understanding: therefore I hate every false way.[105] Your word is a lamp to my feet, and a light to my path.[106] I have sworn, and I will perform it, that I will keep your righteous judgments.[107] I am afflicted very much: quicken me, O LORD, according to your word.[108] Accept, I beseech you, the freewill offerings of my mouth, O LORD, and teach me your judgments.[109] My soul is continually in my hand: yet do I not forget your law.[110] The wicked have laid a snare for me: yet I erred not from your precepts.[111] Your testimonies have I taken as an heritage for ever: for they are the rejoicing of my heart.[112] I have inclined my heart to perform your statutes always, even to the end.[113] I hate vain thoughts: but your law do I love.[114] You are my hiding place and my shield: I hope in your word.[115] Depart from me, you evildoers: for I will keep the commandments of my God.[116] Uphold me according to your word, that I may live: and let me not be ashamed of my hope.[117] Hold you me up, and I shall be safe: and I will have respect to your statutes continually.[118] You have trodden down all them that err from your statutes: for their deceit is falsehood.[119] You put away all the wicked of the earth like dross: therefore I love your testimonies.[120] My flesh trembles for fear of you; and I am afraid of your judgments.[121] I have done judgment and justice: leave me not to my oppressors.[122] Be surety for your servant for good: let not the proud oppress me.[123] My eyes fail for your salvation, and for the word of your righteousness.[124] Deal with your servant according to your mercy, and teach me your statutes.[125] I am your servant; give me understanding, that I may know your testimonies.[126] It is time for you, LORD, to work: for they have made void your law.[127] Therefore I love your commandments above gold; yes, above fine gold.[128] Therefore I esteem all your precepts concerning all things to be right; and I hate every false way.[129] Your testimonies are wonderful: therefore does my soul keep them.[130] The entrance of your words gives light; it gives understanding to the simple.[131] I opened my mouth, and panted: for I longed for your commandments.[132] Look you on me, and be merciful to me, as you use to do to those that love your name.[133] Order my steps in your word: and let not any iniquity have dominion over me.[134] Deliver me from the oppression of man: so will I keep your precepts.[135] Make your face to shine on your servant; and teach me your statutes.[136] Rivers of waters run down my eyes, because they keep not your law.[137] Righteous are you, O LORD, and upright are your judgments.[138] Your testimonies that you have commanded are righteous and very faithful.[139] My zeal has consumed me, because my enemies have forgotten your words.[140] Your word is very pure: therefore your servant loves it.[141] I am small and despised: yet do not I forget your precepts.[142] Your righteousness is an everlasting righteousness, and your law is the truth.[143]

Trouble and anguish have taken hold on me: yet your commandments are my delights.[144] The righteousness of your testimonies is everlasting: give me understanding, and I shall live.[145] I cried with my whole heart; hear me, O LORD: I will keep your statutes.[146] I cried to you; save me, and I shall keep your testimonies.[147] I prevented the dawning of the morning, and cried: I hoped in your word.[148] My eyes prevent the night watches, that I might meditate in your word.[149] Hear my voice according to your loving kindness: O LORD, quicken me according to your judgment.[150] They draw near that follow after mischief: they are far from your law.[151] You are near, O LORD; and all your commandments are truth.[152] Concerning your testimonies, I have known of old that you have founded them for ever.[153] Consider my affliction, and deliver me: for I do not forget your law.[154] Plead my cause, and deliver me: quicken me according to your word.[155] Salvation is far from the wicked: for they seek not your statutes.[156] Great are your tender mercies, O LORD: quicken me according to your judgments.[157] Many are my persecutors and my enemies; yet do I not decline from your testimonies.[158] I beheld the transgressors, and was grieved; because they kept not your word.[159] Consider how I love your precepts: quicken me, O LORD, according to your loving kindness.[160] Your word is true from the beginning: and every one of your righteous judgments endures for ever.[161] Princes have persecuted me without a cause: but my heart stands in awe of your word.[162] I rejoice at your word, as one that finds great spoil.[163] I hate and abhor lying: but your law do I love.[164] Seven times a day do I praise you because of your righteous judgments.[165] Great peace have they which love your law: and nothing shall offend them.[166] LORD, I have hoped for your salvation, and done your commandments.[167] My soul has kept your testimonies; and I love them exceedingly.[168] I have kept your precepts and your testimonies: for all my ways are before you.[169] Let my cry come near before you, O LORD: give me understanding according to your word.[170] Let my supplication come before you: deliver me according to your word.[171] My lips shall utter praise, when you have taught me your statutes.[172] My tongue shall speak of your word: for all your commandments are righteousness.[173] Let your hand help me; for I have chosen your precepts.[174] I have longed for your salvation, O LORD; and your law is my delight.[175] Let my soul live, and it shall praise you; and let your judgments help me.[176] I have gone astray like a lost sheep; seek your servant; for I do not forget your commandments.

[1] In my distress I cried to the LORD, and he heard me.

[2] Deliver my soul, O LORD, from lying lips, and from a deceitful tongue.[3] What shall be given to you? or what shall be done to you, you false tongue?[4] Sharp arrows of the mighty, with coals of juniper.[5] Woe is me, that I sojourn in Mesech, that I dwell in the tents of Kedar![6] My soul has long dwelled with him that hates peace.[7] I am for peace: but when I speak, they are for war.

[1] I will lift up my eyes to the hills, from where comes my help.

[2] My help comes from the LORD, which made heaven and earth.[3] He will not suffer your foot to be moved: he that keeps you will not slumber.[4] Behold, he that keeps Israel shall neither slumber nor sleep.[5] The LORD is your keeper: the LORD is your shade on your right hand.[6] The sun shall not smite you by day, nor the moon by night.[7] The LORD shall preserve you from all evil: he shall preserve your soul.[8] The LORD shall preserve your going out and your coming in from this time forth, and even for ever more.

[1] I was glad when they said to me, Let us go into the house of the LORD.

[2] Our feet shall stand within your gates, O Jerusalem.[3] Jerusalem is built as a city that is compact together:[4] Where the tribes go up, the tribes of the LORD, to the testimony of Israel, to give thanks to the name of the LORD.[5] For there are set thrones of judgment, the thrones of the house of David.[6] Pray for the peace of Jerusalem: they shall prosper that love you.[7] Peace be within your walls, and prosperity within your palaces.[8] For my brothers and companions' sakes, I will now say, Peace be within you.[9] Because of the house of the LORD our God I will seek your good.

[1] To you lift I up my eyes, O you that dwell in the heavens.

[2] Behold, as the eyes of servants look to the hand of their masters, and as the eyes of a maiden to the hand of her mistress; so our eyes wait on the LORD our God, until that he have mercy on us.[3] Have mercy on us, O LORD, have mercy on us: for we are exceedingly filled with contempt.[4] Our soul is exceedingly filled with the scorning of those that are at ease, and with the contempt of the proud.

[1] If it had not been the LORD who was on our side, now may Israel say;

[2] If it had not been the LORD who was on our side, when men rose up against us:[3] Then they had swallowed us up quick, when their wrath was kindled against us:[4] Then the waters had overwhelmed us, the stream had gone over our soul:[5] Then the proud waters had gone over our soul.[6] Blessed be the LORD, who has not given us as a prey to their teeth.[7] Our soul is escaped as a bird out of the snare of the fowlers: the snare is broken, and we are escaped.[8] Our help is in the name of the LORD, who made heaven and earth.

[1] They that trust in the LORD shall be as mount Zion, which cannot be removed, but stays for ever.

[2] As the mountains are round about Jerusalem, so the LORD is round about his people from now on even for ever.[3] For the rod of the wicked shall not rest on the lot of the righteous; lest the righteous put forth their hands to iniquity.[4] Do good, O LORD, to those that be good, and to them that are upright in their hearts.[5] As for such as turn aside to their crooked ways, the LORD shall lead them forth with the workers of iniquity: but peace shall be on Israel.

[1] When the LORD turned again the captivity of Zion, we were like them that dream.

[2] Then was our mouth filled with laughter, and our tongue with singing: then said they among the heathen, The LORD has done great things for them.[3] The LORD has done great things for us; whereof we are glad.[4] Turn again our captivity, O LORD, as the streams in the south.[5] They that sow in tears shall reap in joy.[6] He that goes forth and weeps, bearing precious seed, shall doubtless come again with rejoicing, bringing his sheaves with him.

[1] Except the LORD build the house, they labor in vain that build it: except the LORD keep the city, the watchman wakes but in vain.

[2] It is vain for you to rise up early, to sit up late, to eat the bread of sorrows: for so he gives his beloved sleep.[3] See, children are an heritage of the LORD: and the fruit of the womb is his reward.[4] As arrows are in the hand of a mighty man; so are children of the youth.[5] Happy is the man that has his quiver full of them: they shall not be ashamed, but they shall speak with the enemies in the gate.

[1] Blessed is every one that fears the LORD; that walks in his ways.

[2] For you shall eat the labor of your hands: happy shall you be, and it shall be well with you.[3] Your wife shall be as a fruitful vine by the sides of your house: your children like olive plants round about your table.[4] Behold, that thus shall the man be blessed that fears the LORD.[5] The LORD shall bless you out of Zion: and you shall see the good of Jerusalem all the days of your life.[6] Yes, you shall see your children's children, and peace on Israel.

[1] Many a time have they afflicted me from my youth, may Israel now say:

[2] Many a time have they afflicted me from my youth: yet they have not prevailed against me.[3] The plowers plowed on my back: they made long their furrows.[4] The LORD is righteous: he has cut asunder the cords of the wicked.[5] Let them all be confounded and turned back that hate Zion.[6] Let them be as the grass on the housetops, which wither before it grows up:[7] With which the mower fills not his hand; nor he that binds sheaves his bosom.[8] Neither do they which go by say, The blessing of the LORD be on you: we bless you in the name of the LORD.

[1] Out of the depths have I cried to you, O LORD.

[2] Lord, hear my voice: let your ears be attentive to the voice of my supplications.[3] If you, LORD, should mark iniquities, O Lord, who shall stand?[4] But there is forgiveness with you, that you may be feared.[5] I wait for the LORD, my soul does wait, and in his word do I hope.[6] My soul waits for the Lord more than they that watch for the morning: I say, more than they that watch for the morning.[7] Let Israel hope in the LORD: for with the LORD there is mercy, and with him is plenteous redemption.[8] And he shall redeem Israel from all his iniquities.

[1] Lord, my heart is not haughty, nor my eyes lofty: neither do I exercise myself in great matters, or in things too high for me.

[2] Surely I have behaved and quieted myself, as a child that is weaned of his mother: my soul is even as a weaned child.[3] Let Israel hope in the LORD from now on and for ever.

[1] Lord, remember David, and all his afflictions:

[2] How he swore to the LORD, and vowed to the mighty God of Jacob;[3] Surely I will not come into the tabernacle of my house, nor go up into my bed;[4] I will not give sleep to my eyes, or slumber to my eyelids,[5] Until I find out a place for the LORD, an habitation for the mighty God of Jacob.[6] See, we heard of it at Ephratah: we found it in the fields of the wood.[7] We will go into his tabernacles: we will worship at his footstool.[8] Arise, O LORD, into your rest; you, and the ark of your strength.[9] Let your priests be clothed with righteousness; and let your saints shout for joy.[10] For your servant David's sake turn not away the face of your anointed.[11] The LORD has sworn in truth to David; he will not turn from it; Of the fruit of your body will I set on your throne.[12] If your children will keep my covenant and my testimony that I shall teach them, their children shall also sit on your throne for ever more.[13] For the LORD has chosen Zion; he has desired it for his habitation.[14] This is my rest for ever: here will I dwell; for I have desired it.[15] I will abundantly bless her provision: I will satisfy her poor with bread.[16] I will also clothe her priests with salvation: and her saints shall shout aloud for joy.[17] There will I make the horn of David to bud: I have ordained a lamp for my anointed.[18] His enemies will I clothe with shame: but on himself shall his crown flourish.

[1] Behold, how good and how pleasant it is for brothers to dwell together in unity!

[2] It is like the precious ointment on the head, that ran down on the beard, even Aaron's beard: that went down to the skirts of his garments;[3] As the dew of Hermon, and as the dew that descended on the mountains of Zion: for there the LORD commanded the blessing, even life for ever more.

[1] Behold, bless you the LORD, all you servants of the LORD, which by night stand in the house of the LORD.

[2] Lift up your hands in the sanctuary, and bless the LORD.[3] The LORD that made heaven and earth bless you out of Zion.

[1] Praise you the LORD. Praise you the name of the LORD; praise him, O you servants of the LORD.

[2] You that stand in the house of the LORD, in the courts of the house of our God.[3] Praise the LORD; for the LORD is good: sing praises to his name; for it is pleasant.[4] For the LORD has chosen Jacob to himself, and Israel for his peculiar treasure.[5] For I know that the LORD is great, and that our Lord is above all gods.[6] Whatever the LORD pleased, that did he in heaven, and in earth, in the seas, and all deep places.[7] He causes the vapors to ascend from the ends of the earth; he makes lightning for the rain; he brings the wind out of his treasuries.[8] Who smote the firstborn of Egypt, both of man and beast.[9] Who sent tokens and wonders into the middle of you, O Egypt, on Pharaoh, and on all his servants.[10] Who smote great nations, and slew mighty kings;[11] Sihon king of the Amorites, and Og king of Bashan, and all the kingdoms of Canaan:[12] And gave their land for an heritage, an heritage to Israel his people.[13] Your name, O LORD, endures for ever; and your memorial, O LORD, throughout all generations.[14] For the LORD will judge his people, and he will repent himself concerning his servants.[15] The idols of the heathen are silver and gold, the work of men's hands.[16] They have mouths, but they speak not; eyes have they, but they see not;[17] They have ears, but they hear not; neither is there any breath in their mouths.[18] They that make them are like to them: so is every one that trusts in them.[19] Bless the LORD, O house of Israel: bless the LORD, O house of Aaron:[20] Bless the LORD, O house of Levi: you that fear the LORD, bless the LORD.[21] Blessed be the LORD out of Zion, which dwells at Jerusalem. Praise you the LORD.

[1] O give thanks to the LORD; for he is good: for his mercy endures for ever.

[2] O give thanks to the God of gods: for his mercy endures for ever.[3] O give thanks to the Lord of lords: for his mercy endures for ever.[4] To him who alone does great wonders: for his mercy endures for ever.[5] To him that by wisdom made the heavens: for his mercy endures for ever.[6] To him that stretched out the earth above the waters: for his mercy endures for ever.[7] To him that made great lights: for his mercy endures for ever:[8] The sun to rule by day: for his mercy endures for ever:[9] The moon and stars to rule by night: for his mercy endures for ever.[10] To him that smote Egypt in their firstborn: for his mercy endures for ever:[11] And brought out Israel from among them: for his mercy endures for ever:[12] With a strong hand, and with a stretched out arm: for his mercy endures for ever.[13] To him which divided the Red sea into parts: for his mercy endures for ever:[14] And made Israel to pass through the middle of it: for his mercy endures for ever:[15] But overthrew Pharaoh and his host in the Red sea: for his mercy endures for ever.[16] To him which led his people through the wilderness: for his mercy endures for ever.[17] To him which smote great kings: for his mercy endures for ever:[18] And slew famous kings: for his mercy endures for ever:[19] Sihon king of the Amorites: for his mercy endures for ever:[20] And Og the king of Bashan: for his mercy endures for ever:[21] And gave their land for an heritage: for his mercy endures for ever:[22] Even an heritage to Israel his servant: for his mercy endures for ever.[23] Who remembered us in our low estate: for his mercy endures for ever:[24] And has redeemed us from our enemies: for his mercy endures for ever.[25] Who gives food to all flesh: for his mercy endures for ever.[26] O give thanks to the God of heaven: for his mercy endures for ever.

[1] By the rivers of Babylon, there we sat down, yes, we wept, when we remembered Zion.

[2] We hanged our harps on the willows in the middle thereof.[3] For there they that carried us away captive required of us a song; and they that wasted us required of us mirth, saying, Sing us one of the songs of Zion.[4] How shall we sing the LORD's song in a strange land?[5] If I forget you, O Jerusalem, let my right hand forget her cunning.[6] If I do not remember you, let my tongue stick to the roof of my mouth; if I prefer not Jerusalem above my chief joy.[7] Remember, O LORD, the children of Edom in the day of Jerusalem; who said, Raze it, raze it, even to the foundation thereof.[8] O daughter of Babylon, who are to be destroyed; happy shall he be, that rewards you as you have served us.[9] Happy shall he be, that takes and dashes your little ones against the stones.

[1] I will praise you with my whole heart: before the gods will I sing praise to you.

[2] I will worship toward your holy temple, and praise your name for your loving kindness and for your truth: for you have magnified your word above all your name.[3] In the day when I cried you answered me, and strengthened me with strength in my soul.[4] All the kings of the earth shall praise you, O LORD, when they hear the words of your mouth.[5] Yes, they shall sing in the ways of the LORD: for great is the glory of the LORD.[6] Though the LORD be high, yet has he respect to the lowly: but the proud he knows afar off.[7] Though I walk in the middle of trouble, you will revive me: you shall stretch forth your hand against the wrath of my enemies, and your right hand shall save me.[8] The LORD will perfect that which concerns me: your mercy, O LORD, endures for ever: forsake not the works of your own hands.

[1] O lord, you have searched me, and known me.

[2] You know my sitting down and my rising up, you understand my thought afar off.[3] You compass my path and my lying down, and are acquainted with all my ways.[4] For there is not a word in my tongue, but, see, O LORD, you know it altogether.[5] You have beset me behind and before, and laid your hand on me.[6] Such knowledge is too wonderful for me; it is high, I cannot attain to it.[7] Where shall I go from your spirit? or where shall I flee from your presence?[8] If I ascend up into heaven, you are there: if I make my bed in hell, behold, you are there.[9] If I take the wings of the morning, and dwell in the uttermost parts of the sea;[10] Even there shall your hand lead me, and your right hand shall hold me.[11] If I say, Surely the darkness shall cover me; even the night shall be light about me.[12] Yes, the darkness hides not from you; but the night shines as the day: the darkness and the light are both alike to you.[13] For you have possessed my reins: you have covered me in my mother's womb.[14] I will praise you; for I am fearfully and wonderfully made: marvelous are your works; and that my soul knows right well.[15] My substance was not hid from you, when I was made in secret, and curiously worked in the lowest parts of the earth.[16] Your eyes did see my substance, yet being imperfect; and in your book all my members were written, which in continuance were fashioned, when as yet there was none of them.[17] How precious also are your thoughts to me, O God! how great is the sum of them![18] If I should count them, they are more in number than the sand: when I awake, I am still with you.[19] Surely you will slay the wicked, O God: depart from me therefore, you bloody men.[20] For they speak against you wickedly, and your enemies take your name in vain.[21] Do not I hate them, O LORD, that hate you? and am not I grieved with those that rise up against you?[22] I hate them with perfect hatred: I count them my enemies.[23] Search me, O God, and know my heart: try me, and know my thoughts:[24] And see if there be any wicked way in me, and lead me in the way everlasting.

[1] Deliver me, O LORD, from the evil man: preserve me from the violent man;

[2] Which imagine mischiefs in their heart; continually are they gathered together for war.[3] They have sharpened their tongues like a serpent; adders' poison is under their lips. Selah.[4] Keep me, O LORD, from the hands of the wicked; preserve me from the violent man; who have purposed to overthrow my goings.[5] The proud have hid a snare for me, and cords; they have spread a net by the wayside; they have set gins for me. Selah.[6] I said to the LORD, You are my God: hear the voice of my supplications, O LORD.[7] O GOD the Lord, the strength of my salvation, you have covered my head in the day of battle.[8] Grant not, O LORD, the desires of the wicked: further not his wicked device; lest they exalt themselves. Selah.[9] As for the head of those that compass me about, let the mischief of their own lips cover them.[10] Let burning coals fall on them: let them be cast into the fire; into deep pits, that they rise not up again.[11] Let not an evil speaker be established in the earth: evil shall hunt the violent man to overthrow him.[12] I know that the LORD will maintain the cause of the afflicted, and the right of the poor.[13] Surely the righteous shall give thanks to your name: the upright shall dwell in your presence.

[1] Lord, I cry to you: make haste to me; give ear to my voice, when I cry to you.

[2] Let my prayer be set forth before you as incense; and the lifting up of my hands as the evening sacrifice.[3] Set a watch, O LORD, before my mouth; keep the door of my lips.[4] Incline not my heart to any evil thing, to practice wicked works with men that work iniquity: and let me not eat of their dainties.[5] Let the righteous smite me; it shall be a kindness: and let him reprove me; it shall be an excellent oil, which shall not break my head: for yet my prayer also shall be in their calamities.[6] When their judges are overthrown in stony places, they shall hear my words; for they are sweet.[7] Our bones are scattered at the grave's mouth, as when one cuts and splits wood on the earth.[8] But my eyes are to you, O GOD the Lord: in you is my trust; leave not my soul destitute.[9] Keep me from the snares which they have laid for me, and the gins of the workers of iniquity.[10] Let the wicked fall into their own nets, whilst that I with escape.

[1] I cried to the LORD with my voice; with my voice to the LORD did I make my supplication.

[2] I poured out my complaint before him; I showed before him my trouble.[3] When my spirit was overwhelmed within me, then you knew my path. In the way wherein I walked have they privately laid a snare for me.[4] I looked on my right hand, and beheld, but there was no man that would know me: refuge failed me; no man cared for my soul.[5] I cried to you, O LORD: I said, You are my refuge and my portion in the land of the living.[6] Attend to my cry; for I am brought very low: deliver me from my persecutors; for they are stronger than I.[7] Bring my soul out of prison, that I may praise your name: the righteous shall compass me about; for you shall deal bountifully with me.

[1] Hear my prayer, O LORD, give ear to my supplications: in your faithfulness answer me, and in your righteousness.

[2] And enter not into judgment with your servant: for in your sight shall no man living be justified.[3] For the enemy has persecuted my soul; he has smitten my life down to the ground; he has made me to dwell in darkness, as those that have been long dead.[4] Therefore is my spirit overwhelmed within me; my heart within me is desolate.[5] I remember the days of old; I meditate on all your works; I muse on the work of your hands.[6] I stretch forth my hands to you: my soul thirsts after you, as a thirsty land. Selah.[7] Hear me speedily, O LORD: my spirit fails: hide not your face from me, lest I be like to them that go down into the pit.[8] Cause me to hear your loving kindness in the morning; for in you do I trust: cause me to know the way wherein I should walk; for I lift up my soul to you.[9] Deliver me, O LORD, from my enemies: I flee to you to hide me.[10] Teach me to do your will; for you are my God: your spirit is good; lead me into the land of uprightness.[11] Quicken me, O LORD, for your name's sake: for your righteousness' sake bring my soul out of trouble.[12] And of your mercy cut off my enemies, and destroy all them that afflict my soul: for I am your servant.

[1] Blessed be the LORD my strength, which teaches my hands to war, and my fingers to fight:

[2] My goodness, and my fortress; my high tower, and my deliverer; my shield, and he in whom I trust; who subdues my people under me.[3] LORD, what is man, that you take knowledge of him! or the son of man, that you make account of him![4] Man is like to vanity: his days are as a shadow that passes away.[5] Bow your heavens, O LORD, and come down: touch the mountains, and they shall smoke.[6] Cast forth lightning, and scatter them: shoot out your arrows, and destroy them.[7] Send your hand from above; rid me, and deliver me out of great waters, from the hand of strange children;[8] Whose mouth speaks vanity, and their right hand is a right hand of falsehood.[9] I will sing a new song to you, O God: on a psaltery and an instrument of ten strings will I sing praises to you.[10] It is he that gives salvation to kings: who delivers David his servant from the hurtful sword.[11] Rid me, and deliver me from the hand of strange children, whose mouth speaks vanity, and their right hand is a right hand of falsehood:[12] That our sons may be as plants grown up in their youth; that our daughters may be as corner stones, polished after the similitude of a palace:[13] That our garners may be full, affording all manner of store: that our sheep may bring forth thousands and ten thousands in our streets:[14] That our oxen may be strong to labor; that there be no breaking in, nor going out; that there be no complaining in our streets.[15] Happy is that people, that is in such a case: yes, happy is that people, whose God is the LORD.

[1] I will extol you, my God, O king; and I will bless your name for ever and ever.

[2] Every day will I bless you; and I will praise your name for ever and ever.[3] Great is the LORD, and greatly to be praised; and his greatness is unsearchable.[4] One generation shall praise your works to another, and shall declare your mighty acts.[5] I will speak of the glorious honor of your majesty, and of your wondrous works.[6] And men shall speak of the might of your terrible acts: and I will declare your greatness.[7] They shall abundantly utter the memory of your great goodness, and shall sing of your righteousness.[8] The LORD is gracious, and full of compassion; slow to anger, and of great mercy.[9] The LORD is good to all: and his tender mercies are over all his works.[10] All your works shall praise you, O LORD; and your saints shall bless you.[11] They shall speak of the glory of your kingdom, and talk of your power;[12] To make known to the sons of men his mighty acts, and the glorious majesty of his kingdom.[13] Your kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and your dominion endures throughout all generations.[14] The LORD upholds all that fall, and raises up all those that be bowed down.[15] The eyes of all wait on you; and you give them their meat in due season.[16] You open your hand, and satisfy the desire of every living thing.[17] The LORD is righteous in all his ways, and holy in all his works.[18] The LORD is near to all them that call on him, to all that call on him in truth.[19] He will fulfill the desire of them that fear him: he also will hear their cry, and will save them.[20] The LORD preserves all them that love him: but all the wicked will he destroy.[21] My mouth shall speak the praise of the LORD: and let all flesh bless his holy name for ever and ever.

[1] Praise you the LORD. Praise the LORD, O my soul.

[2] While I live will I praise the LORD: I will sing praises to my God while I have any being.[3] Put not your trust in princes, nor in the son of man, in whom there is no help.[4] His breath goes forth, he returns to his earth; in that very day his thoughts perish.[5] Happy is he that has the God of Jacob for his help, whose hope is in the LORD his God:[6] Which made heaven, and earth, the sea, and all that therein is: which keeps truth for ever:[7] Which executes judgment for the oppressed: which gives food to the hungry. The LORD looses the prisoners:[8] The LORD opens the eyes of the blind: the LORD raises them that are bowed down: the LORD loves the righteous:[9] The LORD preserves the strangers; he relieves the fatherless and widow: but the way of the wicked he turns upside down.[10] The LORD shall reign for ever, even your God, O Zion, to all generations. Praise you the LORD.

[1] Praise you the LORD: for it is good to sing praises to our God; for it is pleasant; and praise is comely.

[2] The LORD does build up Jerusalem: he gathers together the outcasts of Israel.[3] He heals the broken in heart, and binds up their wounds.[4] He tells the number of the stars; he calls them all by their names.[5] Great is our Lord, and of great power: his understanding is infinite.[6] The LORD lifts up the meek: he casts the wicked down to the ground.[7] Sing to the LORD with thanksgiving; sing praise on the harp to our God:[8] Who covers the heaven with clouds, who prepares rain for the earth, who makes grass to grow on the mountains.[9] He gives to the beast his food, and to the young ravens which cry.[10] He delights not in the strength of the horse: he takes not pleasure in the legs of a man.[11] The LORD takes pleasure in them that fear him, in those that hope in his mercy.[12] Praise the LORD, O Jerusalem; praise your God, O Zion.[13] For he has strengthened the bars of your gates; he has blessed your children within you.[14] He makes peace in your borders, and fills you with the finest of the wheat.[15] He sends forth his commandment on earth: his word runs very swiftly.[16] He gives snow like wool: he scatters the hoarfrost like ashes.[17] He casts forth his ice like morsels: who can stand before his cold?[18] He sends out his word, and melts them: he causes his wind to blow, and the waters flow.[19] He shows his word to Jacob, his statutes and his judgments to Israel.[20] He has not dealt so with any nation: and as for his judgments, they have not known them. Praise you the LORD.

[1] Praise you the LORD. Praise you the LORD from the heavens: praise him in the heights.

[2] Praise you him, all his angels: praise you him, all his hosts.[3] Praise you him, sun and moon: praise him, all you stars of light.[4] Praise him, you heavens of heavens, and you waters that be above the heavens.[5] Let them praise the name of the LORD: for he commanded, and they were created.[6] He has also established them for ever and ever: he has made a decree which shall not pass.[7] Praise the LORD from the earth, you dragons, and all deeps:[8] Fire, and hail; snow, and vapors; stormy wind fulfilling his word:[9] Mountains, and all hills; fruitful trees, and all cedars:[10] Beasts, and all cattle; creeping things, and flying fowl:[11] Kings of the earth, and all people; princes, and all judges of the earth:[12] Both young men, and maidens; old men, and children:[13] Let them praise the name of the LORD: for his name alone is excellent; his glory is above the earth and heaven.[14] He also exalts the horn of his people, the praise of all his saints; even of the children of Israel, a people near to him. Praise you the LORD.

[1] Praise you the LORD. Sing to the LORD a new song, and his praise in the congregation of saints.

[2] Let Israel rejoice in him that made him: let the children of Zion be joyful in their King.[3] Let them praise his name in the dance: let them sing praises to him with the tambourine and harp.[4] For the LORD takes pleasure in his people: he will beautify the meek with salvation.[5] Let the saints be joyful in glory: let them sing aloud on their beds.[6] Let the high praises of God be in their mouth, and a two-edged sword in their hand;[7] To execute vengeance on the heathen, and punishments on the people;[8] To bind their kings with chains, and their nobles with fetters of iron;[9] To execute on them the judgment written: this honor have all his saints. Praise you the LORD.

[1] Praise you the LORD. Praise God in his sanctuary: praise him in the firmament of his power.

[2] Praise him for his mighty acts: praise him according to his excellent greatness.[3] Praise him with the sound of the trumpet: praise him with the psaltery and harp.[4] Praise him with the tambourine and dance: praise him with stringed instruments and organs.[5] Praise him on the loud cymbals: praise him on the high sounding cymbals.[6] Let every thing that has breath praise the LORD. Praise you the LORD.

Proverbs

An Introduction to the Book of Proverbs

A collection of moral and philosophical maxims of a wide range of subjects presented in a poetic form. This book sets forth the "philosophy of practical life. It is the sign to us that the Bible does not despise common sense and discretion. It impresses upon us in the most forcible manner the value of intelligence and prudence and of a good education. The whole strength of the Hebrew language and of the sacred authority of the book is thrown upon these homely truths. It deals, too, in that refined, discriminating, careful view of the finer shades of human character so often overlooked by theologians, but so necessary to any true estimate of human life" (Stanley's Jewish Church).

As to the origin of this book, "it is probable that Solomon gathered and recast many proverbs which sprang from human experience in preceeding ages and were floating past him on the tide of time, and that he also elaborated many new ones from the material of his own experience. Towards the close of the book, indeed, are preserved some of Solomon's own sayings that seem to have fallen from his lips in later life and been gathered by other hands' (Arnot's Laws from Heaven, etc.)

This book is usually divided into three parts: (1.) Consisting of ch. 1-9, which contain an exhibition of wisdom as the highest good.

(2.) Consisting of ch. 10-24.

(3.) Containing proverbs of Solomon "which the men of Hezekiah, the king of Judah, collected" (ch. 25-29).

These are followed by two supplements, (1) "The words of Agur" (ch. 30); and (2) "The words of king Lemuel" (ch. 31).

Solomon is said to have written three thousand proverbs, and those contained in this book may be a selection from these (1 Kings 4:32). In the New Testament there are thirty-five direct quotations from this book or allusions to it.

[1] The proverbs of Solomon the son of David, king of Israel;

[2] To know wisdom and instruction; to perceive the words of understanding;[3] To receive the instruction of wisdom, justice, and judgment, and equity;[4] To give subtlety to the simple, to the young man knowledge and discretion.[5] A wise man will hear, and will increase learning; and a man of understanding shall attain to wise counsels:[6] To understand a proverb, and the interpretation; the words of the wise, and their dark sayings. ¶[7] The fear of the LORD is the beginning of knowledge: but fools despise wisdom and instruction.[8] My son, hear the instruction of your father, and forsake not the law of your mother:[9] For they shall be an ornament of grace to your head, and chains about your neck. ¶[10] My son, if sinners entice you, consent you not.[11] If they say, Come with us, let us lay wait for blood, let us lurk privately for the innocent without cause:[12] Let us swallow them up alive as the grave; and whole, as those that go down into the pit:[13] We shall find all precious substance, we shall fill our houses with spoil:[14] Cast in your lot among us; let us all have one purse:[15] My son, walk not you in the way with them; refrain your foot from their path:[16] For their feet run to evil, and make haste to shed blood.[17] Surely in vain the net is spread in the sight of any bird.[18] And they lay wait for their own blood; they lurk privately for their own lives.[19] So are the ways of every one that is greedy of gain; which takes away the life of the owners thereof. ¶[20] Wisdom cries without; she utters her voice in the streets:[21] She cries in the chief place of concourse, in the openings of the gates: in the city she utters her words, saying,[22] How long, you simple ones, will you love simplicity? and the scorners delight in their scorning, and fools hate knowledge?[23] Turn you at my reproof: behold, I will pour out my spirit to you, I will make known my words to you. ¶[24] Because I have called, and you refused; I have stretched out my hand, and no man regarded;[25] But you have set at nothing all my counsel, and would none of my reproof:[26] I also will laugh at your calamity; I will mock when your fear comes;[27] When your fear comes as desolation, and your destruction comes as a whirlwind; when distress and anguish comes on you.[28] Then shall they call on me, but I will not answer; they shall seek me early, but they shall not find me:[29] For that they hated knowledge, and did not choose the fear of the LORD:[30] They would none of my counsel: they despised all my reproof.[31] Therefore shall they eat of the fruit of their own way, and be filled with their own devices.[32] For the turning away of the simple shall slay them, and the prosperity of fools shall destroy them.[33] But whoever listens to me shall dwell safely, and shall be quiet from fear of evil.

[1] My son, if you will receive my words, and hide my commandments with you;

[2] So that you incline your ear to wisdom, and apply your heart to understanding;[3] Yes, if you cry after knowledge, and lift up your voice for understanding;[4] If you seek her as silver, and search for her as for hid treasures;[5] Then shall you understand the fear of the LORD, and find the knowledge of God.[6] For the LORD gives wisdom: out of his mouth comes knowledge and understanding.[7] He lays up sound wisdom for the righteous: he is a buckler to them that walk uprightly.[8] He keeps the paths of judgment, and preserves the way of his saints.[9] Then shall you understand righteousness, and judgment, and equity; yes, every good path. ¶[10] When wisdom enters into your heart, and knowledge is pleasant to your soul;[11] Discretion shall preserve you, understanding shall keep you:[12] To deliver you from the way of the evil man, from the man that speaks fraudulent things;[13] Who leave the paths of uprightness, to walk in the ways of darkness;[14] Who rejoice to do evil, and delight in the frowardness of the wicked;[15] Whose ways are crooked, and they fraudulent in their paths:[16] To deliver you from the strange woman, even from the stranger which flatters with her words;[17] Which forsakes the guide of her youth, and forgets the covenant of her God.[18] For her house inclines to death, and her paths to the dead.[19] None that go to her return again, neither take they hold of the paths of life.[20] That you may walk in the way of good men, and keep the paths of the righteous.[21] For the upright shall dwell in the land, and the perfect shall remain in it.[22] But the wicked shall be cut off from the earth, and the transgressors shall be rooted out of it.

[1] My son, forget not my law; but let your heart keep my commandments:

[2] For length of days, and long life, and peace, shall they add to you.[3] Let not mercy and truth forsake you: bind them about your neck; write them on the table of your heart:[4] So shall you find favor and good understanding in the sight of God and man. ¶[5] Trust in the LORD with all your heart; and lean not to your own understanding.[6] In all your ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct your paths. ¶[7] Be not wise in your own eyes: fear the LORD, and depart from evil.[8] It shall be health to your navel, and marrow to your bones.[9] Honor the LORD with your substance, and with the first fruits of all your increase:[10] So shall your barns be filled with plenty, and your presses shall burst out with new wine. ¶[11] My son, despise not the chastening of the LORD; neither be weary of his correction:[12] For whom the LORD loves he corrects; even as a father the son in whom he delights. ¶[13] Happy is the man that finds wisdom, and the man that gets understanding.[14] For the merchandise of it is better than the merchandise of silver, and the gain thereof than fine gold.[15] She is more precious than rubies: and all the things you can desire are not to be compared to her.[16] Length of days is in her right hand; and in her left hand riches and honor.[17] Her ways are ways of pleasantness, and all her paths are peace.[18] She is a tree of life to them that lay hold on her: and happy is every one that retains her.[19] The LORD by wisdom has founded the earth; by understanding has he established the heavens.[20] By his knowledge the depths are broken up, and the clouds drop down the dew. ¶[21] My son, let not them depart from your eyes: keep sound wisdom and discretion:[22] So shall they be life to your soul, and grace to your neck.[23] Then shall you walk in your way safely, and your foot shall not stumble.[24] When you lie down, you shall not be afraid: yes, you shall lie down, and your sleep shall be sweet.[25] Be not afraid of sudden fear, neither of the desolation of the wicked, when it comes.[26] For the LORD shall be your confidence, and shall keep your foot from being taken. ¶[27] Withhold not good from them to whom it is due, when it is in the power of your hand to do it.[28] Say not to your neighbor, Go, and come again, and to morrow I will give; when you have it by you.[29] Devise not evil against your neighbor, seeing he dwells securely by you. ¶[30] Strive not with a man without cause, if he have done you no harm. ¶[31] Envy you not the oppressor, and choose none of his ways.[32] For the fraudulent is abomination to the LORD: but his secret is with the righteous. ¶[33] The curse of the LORD is in the house of the wicked: but he blesses the habitation of the just.[34] Surely he scorns the scorners: but he gives grace to the lowly.[35] The wise shall inherit glory: but shame shall be the promotion of fools.

[1] Hear, you children, the instruction of a father, and attend to know understanding.

[2] For I give you good doctrine, forsake you not my law.[3] For I was my father's son, tender and only beloved in the sight of my mother.[4] He taught me also, and said to me, Let your heart retain my words: keep my commandments, and live.[5] Get wisdom, get understanding: forget it not; neither decline from the words of my mouth.[6] Forsake her not, and she shall preserve you: love her, and she shall keep you.[7] Wisdom is the principal thing; therefore get wisdom: and with all your getting get understanding.[8] Exalt her, and she shall promote you: she shall bring you to honor, when you do embrace her.[9] She shall give to your head an ornament of grace: a crown of glory shall she deliver to you.[10] Hear, O my son, and receive my sayings; and the years of your life shall be many.[11] I have taught you in the way of wisdom; I have led you in right paths. ¶[12] When you go, your steps shall not be straitened; and when you run, you shall not stumble.[13] Take fast hold of instruction; let her not go: keep her; for she is your life. ¶[14] Enter not into the path of the wicked, and go not in the way of evil men.[15] Avoid it, pass not by it, turn from it, and pass away.[16] For they sleep not, except they have done mischief; and their sleep is taken away, unless they cause some to fall.[17] For they eat the bread of wickedness, and drink the wine of violence.[18] But the path of the just is as the shining light, that shines more and more to the perfect day.[19] The way of the wicked is as darkness: they know not at what they stumble. ¶[20] My son, attend to my words; incline your ear to my sayings.[21] Let them not depart from your eyes; keep them in the middle of your heart.[22] For they are life to those that find them, and health to all their flesh.[23] Keep your heart with all diligence; for out of it are the issues of life.[24] Put away from you a fraudulent mouth, and perverse lips put far from you.[25] Let your eyes look right on, and let your eyelids look straight before you.[26] Ponder the path of your feet, and let all your ways be established.[27] Turn not to the right hand nor to the left: remove your foot from evil.

[1] My son, attend to my wisdom, and bow your ear to my understanding:

[2] That you may regard discretion, and that your lips may keep knowledge. ¶[3] For the lips of a strange woman drop as an honeycomb, and her mouth is smoother than oil:[4] But her end is bitter as wormwood, sharp as a two-edged sword.[5] Her feet go down to death; her steps take hold on hell.[6] Lest you should ponder the path of life, her ways are moveable, that you can not know them.[7] Hear me now therefore, O you children, and depart not from the words of my mouth.[8] Remove your way far from her, and come not near the door of her house:[9] Lest you give your honor to others, and your years to the cruel:[10] Lest strangers be filled with your wealth; and your labors be in the house of a stranger;[11] And you mourn at the last, when your flesh and your body are consumed,[12] And say, How have I hated instruction, and my heart despised reproof;[13] And have not obeyed the voice of my teachers, nor inclined my ear to them that instructed me![14] I was almost in all evil in the middle of the congregation and assembly. ¶[15] Drink waters out of your own cistern, and running waters out of your own well.[16] Let your fountains be dispersed abroad, and rivers of waters in the streets.[17] Let them be only your own, and not strangers' with you.[18] Let your fountain be blessed: and rejoice with the wife of your youth.[19] Let her be as the loving hind and pleasant roe; let her breasts satisfy you at all times; and be you ravished always with her love.[20] And why will you, my son, be ravished with a strange woman, and embrace the bosom of a stranger?[21] For the ways of man are before the eyes of the LORD, and he ponders all his goings. ¶[22] His own iniquities shall take the wicked himself, and he shall be held with the cords of his sins.[23] He shall die without instruction; and in the greatness of his folly he shall go astray.

[1] My son, if you be surety for your friend, if you have stricken your hand with a stranger,

[2] You are snared with the words of your mouth, you are taken with the words of your mouth.[3] Do this now, my son, and deliver yourself, when you are come into the hand of your friend; go, humble yourself, and make sure your friend.[4] Give not sleep to your eyes, nor slumber to your eyelids.[5] Deliver yourself as a roe from the hand of the hunter, and as a bird from the hand of the fowler. ¶[6] Go to the ant, you sluggard; consider her ways, and be wise:[7] Which having no guide, overseer, or ruler,[8] Provides her meat in the summer, and gathers her food in the harvest.[9] How long will you sleep, O sluggard? when will you arise out of your sleep?[10] Yet a little sleep, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to sleep:[11] So shall your poverty come as one that travels, and your want as an armed man. ¶[12] A naughty person, a wicked man, walks with a fraudulent mouth.[13] He winks with his eyes, he speaks with his feet, he teaches with his fingers;[14] Frowardness is in his heart, he devises mischief continually; he sows discord.[15] Therefore shall his calamity come suddenly; suddenly shall he be broken without remedy. ¶[16] These six things does the LORD hate: yes, seven are an abomination to him:[17] A proud look, a lying tongue, and hands that shed innocent blood,[18] An heart that devises wicked imaginations, feet that be swift in running to mischief,[19] A false witness that speaks lies, and he that sows discord among brothers. ¶[20] My son, keep your father's commandment, and forsake not the law of your mother:[21] Bind them continually on your heart, and tie them about your neck.[22] When you go, it shall lead you; when you sleep, it shall keep you; and when you wake, it shall talk with you.[23] For the commandment is a lamp; and the law is light; and reproofs of instruction are the way of life:[24] To keep you from the evil woman, from the flattery of the tongue of a strange woman.[25] Lust not after her beauty in your heart; neither let her take you with her eyelids.[26] For by means of a whorish woman a man is brought to a piece of bread: and the adulteress will hunt for the precious life.[27] Can a man take fire in his bosom, and his clothes not be burned?[28] Can one go on hot coals, and his feet not be burned?[29] So he that goes in to his neighbor's wife; whoever touches her shall not be innocent.[30] Men do not despise a thief, if he steal to satisfy his soul when he is hungry;[31] But if he be found, he shall restore sevenfold; he shall give all the substance of his house.[32] But whoever commits adultery with a woman lacks understanding: he that does it destroys his own soul.[33] A wound and dishonor shall he get; and his reproach shall not be wiped away.[34] For jealousy is the rage of a man: therefore he will not spare in the day of vengeance.[35] He will not regard any ransom; neither will he rest content, though you give many gifts.

[1] My son, keep my words, and lay up my commandments with you.

[2] Keep my commandments, and live; and my law as the apple of your eye.[3] Bind them on your fingers, write them on the table of your heart.[4] Say to wisdom, You are my sister; and call understanding your kinswoman:[5] That they may keep you from the strange woman, from the stranger which flatters with her words. ¶[6] For at the window of my house I looked through my casement,[7] And beheld among the simple ones, I discerned among the youths, a young man void of understanding,[8] Passing through the street near her corner; and he went the way to her house,[9] In the twilight, in the evening, in the black and dark night:[10] And, behold, there met him a woman with the attire of an harlot, and subtle of heart.[11] (She is loud and stubborn; her feet abide not in her house:[12] Now is she without, now in the streets, and lies in wait at every corner.)[13] So she caught him, and kissed him, and with an impudent face said to him,[14] I have peace offerings with me; this day have I paid my vows.[15] Therefore came I forth to meet you, diligently to seek your face, and I have found you.[16] I have decked my bed with coverings of tapestry, with carved works, with fine linen of Egypt.[17] I have perfumed my bed with myrrh, aloes, and cinnamon.[18] Come, let us take our fill of love until the morning: let us solace ourselves with loves.[19] For the manager is not at home, he is gone a long journey:[20] He has taken a bag of money with him, and will come home at the day appointed.[21] With her much fair speech she caused him to yield, with the flattering of her lips she forced him.[22] He goes after her straightway, as an ox goes to the slaughter, or as a fool to the correction of the stocks;[23] Till a dart strike through his liver; as a bird hastens to the snare, and knows not that it is for his life. ¶[24] Listen to me now therefore, O you children, and attend to the words of my mouth.[25] Let not your heart decline to her ways, go not astray in her paths.[26] For she has cast down many wounded: yes, many strong men have been slain by her.[27] Her house is the way to hell, going down to the chambers of death.

[1] Does not wisdom cry? and understanding put forth her voice?

[2] She stands in the top of high places, by the way in the places of the paths.[3] She cries at the gates, at the entry of the city, at the coming in at the doors.[4] To you, O men, I call; and my voice is to the sons of man.[5] O you simple, understand wisdom: and, you fools, be you of an understanding heart.[6] Hear; for I will speak of excellent things; and the opening of my lips shall be right things.[7] For my mouth shall speak truth; and wickedness is an abomination to my lips.[8] All the words of my mouth are in righteousness; there is nothing fraudulent or perverse in them.[9] They are all plain to him that understands, and right to them that find knowledge.[10] Receive my instruction, and not silver; and knowledge rather than choice gold.[11] For wisdom is better than rubies; and all the things that may be desired are not to be compared to it.[12] I wisdom dwell with prudence, and find out knowledge of witty inventions.[13] The fear of the LORD is to hate evil: pride, and arrogance, and the evil way, and the fraudulent mouth, do I hate.[14] Counsel is mine, and sound wisdom: I am understanding; I have strength.[15] By me kings reign, and princes decree justice.[16] By me princes rule, and nobles, even all the judges of the earth.[17] I love them that love me; and those that seek me early shall find me.[18] Riches and honor are with me; yes, durable riches and righteousness.[19] My fruit is better than gold, yes, than fine gold; and my revenue than choice silver.[20] I lead in the way of righteousness, in the middle of the paths of judgment:[21] That I may cause those that love me to inherit substance; and I will fill their treasures.[22] The LORD possessed me in the beginning of his way, before his works of old.[23] I was set up from everlasting, from the beginning, or ever the earth was.[24] When there were no depths, I was brought forth; when there were no fountains abounding with water.[25] Before the mountains were settled, before the hills was I brought forth:[26] While as yet he had not made the earth, nor the fields, nor the highest part of the dust of the world.[27] When he prepared the heavens, I was there: when he set a compass on the face of the depth:[28] When he established the clouds above: when he strengthened the fountains of the deep:[29] When he gave to the sea his decree, that the waters should not pass his commandment: when he appointed the foundations of the earth:[30] Then I was by him, as one brought up with him: and I was daily his delight, rejoicing always before him;[31] Rejoicing in the habitable part of his earth; and my delights were with the sons of men.[32] Now therefore listen to me, O you children: for blessed are they that keep my ways.[33] Hear instruction, and be wise, and refuse it not.[34] Blessed is the man that hears me, watching daily at my gates, waiting at the posts of my doors.[35] For whoever finds me finds life, and shall obtain favor of the LORD.[36] But he that sins against me wrongs his own soul: all they that hate me love death.

[1] Wisdom has built her house, she has hewn out her seven pillars:

[2] She has killed her beasts; she has mingled her wine; she has also furnished her table.[3] She has sent forth her maidens: she cries on the highest places of the city,[4] Whoever is simple, let him turn in here: as for him that wants understanding, she says to him,[5] Come, eat of my bread, and drink of the wine which I have mingled.[6] Forsake the foolish, and live; and go in the way of understanding.[7] He that reproves a scorner gets to himself shame: and he that rebukes a wicked man gets himself a blot.[8] Reprove not a scorner, lest he hate you: rebuke a wise man, and he will love you.[9] Give instruction to a wise man, and he will be yet wiser: teach a just man, and he will increase in learning.[10] The fear of the LORD is the beginning of wisdom: and the knowledge of the holy is understanding.[11] For by me your days shall be multiplied, and the years of your life shall be increased.[12] If you be wise, you shall be wise for yourself: but if you scorn, you alone shall bear it. ¶[13] A foolish woman is clamorous: she is simple, and knows nothing.[14] For she sits at the door of her house, on a seat in the high places of the city,[15] To call passengers who go right on their ways:[16] Whoever is simple, let him turn in here: and as for him that wants understanding, she says to him,[17] Stolen waters are sweet, and bread eaten in secret is pleasant.[18] But he knows not that the dead are there; and that her guests are in the depths of hell.

[1] The proverbs of Solomon. A wise son makes a glad father: but a foolish son is the heaviness of his mother.

[2] Treasures of wickedness profit nothing: but righteousness delivers from death.[3] The LORD will not suffer the soul of the righteous to famish: but he casts away the substance of the wicked.[4] He becomes poor that deals with a slack hand: but the hand of the diligent makes rich.[5] He that gathers in summer is a wise son: but he that sleeps in harvest is a son that causes shame.[6] Blessings are on the head of the just: but violence covers the mouth of the wicked.[7] The memory of the just is blessed: but the name of the wicked shall rot.[8] The wise in heart will receive commandments: but a prating fool shall fall.[9] He that walks uprightly walks surely: but he that perverts his ways shall be known.[10] He that winks with the eye causes sorrow: but a prating fool shall fall.[11] The mouth of a righteous man is a well of life: but violence covers the mouth of the wicked.[12] Hatred stirs up strifes: but love covers all sins.[13] In the lips of him that has understanding wisdom is found: but a rod is for the back of him that is void of understanding.[14] Wise men lay up knowledge: but the mouth of the foolish is near destruction.[15] The rich man's wealth is his strong city: the destruction of the poor is their poverty.[16] The labor of the righteous tends to life: the fruit of the wicked to sin.[17] He is in the way of life that keeps instruction: but he that refuses reproof errs.[18] He that hides hatred with lying lips, and he that utters a slander, is a fool.[19] In the multitude of words there wants not sin: but he that refrains his lips is wise.[20] The tongue of the just is as choice silver: the heart of the wicked is little worth.[21] The lips of the righteous feed many: but fools die for want of wisdom.[22] The blessing of the LORD, it makes rich, and he adds no sorrow with it.[23] It is as sport to a fool to do mischief: but a man of understanding has wisdom.[24] The fear of the wicked, it shall come on him: but the desire of the righteous shall be granted.[25] As the whirlwind passes, so is the wicked no more: but the righteous is an everlasting foundation.[26] As vinegar to the teeth, and as smoke to the eyes, so is the sluggard to them that send him.[27] The fear of the LORD prolongs days: but the years of the wicked shall be shortened.[28] The hope of the righteous shall be gladness: but the expectation of the wicked shall perish.[29] The way of the LORD is strength to the upright: but destruction shall be to the workers of iniquity.[30] The righteous shall never be removed: but the wicked shall not inhabit the earth.[31] The mouth of the just brings forth wisdom: but the fraudulent tongue shall be cut out.[32] The lips of the righteous know what is acceptable: but the mouth of the wicked speaks frowardness.

[1] A false balance is abomination to the LORD: but a just weight is his delight.

[2] When pride comes, then comes shame: but with the lowly is wisdom.[3] The integrity of the upright shall guide them: but the perverseness of transgressors shall destroy them.[4] Riches profit not in the day of wrath: but righteousness delivers from death.[5] The righteousness of the perfect shall direct his way: but the wicked shall fall by his own wickedness.[6] The righteousness of the upright shall deliver them: but transgressors shall be taken in their own naughtiness.[7] When a wicked man dies, his expectation shall perish: and the hope of unjust men perishes.[8] The righteous is delivered out of trouble, and the wicked comes in his stead.[9] An hypocrite with his mouth destroys his neighbor: but through knowledge shall the just be delivered.[10] When it goes well with the righteous, the city rejoices: and when the wicked perish, there is shouting.[11] By the blessing of the upright the city is exalted: but it is overthrown by the mouth of the wicked.[12] He that is void of wisdom despises his neighbor: but a man of understanding holds his peace.[13] A talebearer reveals secrets: but he that is of a faithful spirit conceals the matter.[14] Where no counsel is, the people fall: but in the multitude of counsellors there is safety.[15] He that is surety for a stranger shall smart for it: and he that hates indebtedness is sure.[16] A gracious woman retains honor: and strong men retain riches.[17] The merciful man does good to his own soul: but he that is cruel troubles his own flesh.[18] The wicked works a deceitful work: but to him that sows righteousness shall be a sure reward.[19] As righteousness tends to life: so he that pursues evil pursues it to his own death.[20] They that are of a fraudulent heart are abomination to the LORD: but such as are upright in their way are his delight.[21] Though hand join in hand, the wicked shall not be unpunished: but the seed of the righteous shall be delivered.[22] As a jewel of gold in a swine's snout, so is a fair woman which is without discretion.[23] The desire of the righteous is only good: but the expectation of the wicked is wrath.[24] There is that scatters, and yet increases; and there is that withholds more than is meet, but it tends to poverty.[25] The liberal soul shall be made fat: and he that waters shall be watered also himself.[26] He that withholds corn, the people shall curse him: but blessing shall be on the head of him that sells it.[27] He that diligently seeks good procures favor: but he that seeks mischief, it shall come to him.[28] He that trusts in his riches shall fall; but the righteous shall flourish as a branch.[29] He that troubles his own house shall inherit the wind: and the fool shall be servant to the wise of heart.[30] The fruit of the righteous is a tree of life; and he that wins souls is wise.[31] Behold, the righteous shall be recompensed in the earth: much more the wicked and the sinner.

[1] Whoever loves instruction loves knowledge: but he that hates reproof is brutish.

[2] A good man obtains favor of the LORD: but a man of wicked devices will he condemn.[3] A man shall not be established by wickedness: but the root of the righteous shall not be moved.[4] A virtuous woman is a crown to her husband: but she that makes ashamed is as rottenness in his bones.[5] The thoughts of the righteous are right: but the counsels of the wicked are deceit.[6] The words of the wicked are to lie in wait for blood: but the mouth of the upright shall deliver them.[7] The wicked are overthrown, and are not: but the house of the righteous shall stand.[8] A man shall be commended according to his wisdom: but he that is of a perverse heart shall be despised.[9] He that is despised, and has a servant, is better than he that honors himself, and lacks bread.[10] A righteous man regards the life of his beast: but the tender mercies of the wicked are cruel.[11] He that tills his land shall be satisfied with bread: but he that follows vain persons is void of understanding.[12] The wicked desires the net of evil men: but the root of the righteous yields fruit.[13] The wicked is snared by the transgression of his lips: but the just shall come out of trouble.[14] A man shall be satisfied with good by the fruit of his mouth: and the recompense of a man's hands shall be rendered to him.[15] The way of a fool is right in his own eyes: but he that listens to counsel is wise.[16] A fool's wrath is presently known: but a prudent man covers shame.[17] He that speaks truth shows forth righteousness: but a false witness deceit.[18] There is that speaks like the piercings of a sword: but the tongue of the wise is health.[19] The lip of truth shall be established for ever: but a lying tongue is but for a moment.[20] Deceit is in the heart of them that imagine evil: but to the counsellors of peace is joy.[21] There shall no evil happen to the just: but the wicked shall be filled with mischief.[22] Lying lips are abomination to the LORD: but they that deal truly are his delight.[23] A prudent man conceals knowledge: but the heart of fools proclaims foolishness.[24] The hand of the diligent shall bear rule: but the slothful shall be under tribute.[25] Heaviness in the heart of man makes it stoop: but a good word makes it glad.[26] The righteous is more excellent than his neighbor: but the way of the wicked seduces them.[27] The slothful man roasts not that which he took in hunting: but the substance of a diligent man is precious.[28] In the way of righteousness is life: and in the pathway thereof there is no death.

[1] A wise son hears his father's instruction: but a scorner hears not rebuke.

[2] A man shall eat good by the fruit of his mouth: but the soul of the transgressors shall eat violence.[3] He that keeps his mouth keeps his life: but he that opens wide his lips shall have destruction.[4] The soul of the sluggard desires, and has nothing: but the soul of the diligent shall be made fat.[5] A righteous man hates lying: but a wicked man is loathsome, and comes to shame.[6] Righteousness keeps him that is upright in the way: but wickedness overthrows the sinner.[7] There is that makes himself rich, yet has nothing: there is that makes himself poor, yet has great riches.[8] The ransom of a man's life are his riches: but the poor hears not rebuke.[9] The light of the righteous rejoices: but the lamp of the wicked shall be put out.[10] Only by pride comes contention: but with the well advised is wisdom.[11] Wealth gotten by vanity shall be diminished: but he that gathers by labor shall increase.[12] Hope deferred makes the heart sick: but when the desire comes, it is a tree of life.[13] Whoever despises the word shall be destroyed:

but he that fears the commandment shall be rewarded.[14] The law of the wise is a fountain of life, to depart from the snares of death.[15] Good understanding gives favor: but the way of transgressors is hard.[16] Every prudent man deals with knowledge: but a fool lays open his folly.[17] A wicked messenger falls into mischief: but a faithful ambassador is health.[18] Poverty and shame shall be to him that refuses instruction: but he that regards reproof shall be honored.[19] The desire accomplished is sweet to the soul: but it is abomination to fools to depart from evil.[20] He that walks with wise men shall be wise: but a companion of fools shall be destroyed.[21] Evil pursues sinners: but to the righteous good shall be repaid.[22] A good man leaves an inheritance to his children's children: and the wealth of the sinner is laid up for the just.[23] Much food is in the tillage of the poor: but there is that is destroyed for want of judgment.[24] He that spares his rod hates his son: but he that loves him chastens him betimes.[25] The righteous eats to the satisfying of his soul: but the belly of the wicked shall want.

[1] Every wise woman builds her house: but the foolish plucks it down with her hands.

[2] He that walks in his uprightness fears the LORD: but he that is perverse in his ways despises him.[3] In the mouth of the foolish is a rod of pride: but the lips of the wise shall preserve them.[4] Where no oxen are, the crib is clean: but much increase is by the strength of the ox.[5] A faithful witness will not lie: but a false witness will utter lies.[6] A scorner seeks wisdom, and finds it not: but knowledge is easy to him that understands.[7] Go from the presence of a foolish man, when you perceive not in him the lips of knowledge.[8] The wisdom of the prudent is to understand his way: but the folly of fools is deceit.[9] Fools make a mock at sin: but among the righteous there is favor.[10] The heart knows his own bitterness; and a stranger does not intermeddle with his joy.[11] The house of the wicked shall be overthrown: but the tabernacle of the upright shall flourish.[12] There is a way which seems right to a man, but the end thereof are the ways of death.[13] Even in laughter the heart is sorrowful; and the end of that mirth is heaviness.[14] The backslider in heart shall be filled with his own ways: and a good man shall be satisfied from himself.[15] The simple believes every word: but the prudent man looks well to his going.[16] A wise man fears, and departs from evil: but the fool rages, and is confident.[17] He that is soon angry deals foolishly: and a man of wicked devices is hated.[18] The simple inherit folly: but the prudent are crowned with knowledge.[19] The evil bow before the good; and the wicked at the gates of the righteous.[20] The poor is hated even of his own neighbor: but the rich has many friends.[21] He that despises his neighbor sins: but he that has mercy on the poor, happy is he.[22] Do they not err that devise evil? but mercy and truth shall be to them that devise good.[23] In all labor there is profit: but the talk of the lips tends only to penury.[24] The crown of the wise is their riches: but the foolishness of fools is folly.[25] A true witness delivers souls: but a deceitful witness speaks lies.[26] In the fear of the LORD is strong confidence: and his children shall have a place of refuge.[27] The fear of the LORD is a fountain of life, to depart from the snares of death.[28] In the multitude of people is the king's honor: but in the want of people is the destruction of the prince.[29] He that is slow to wrath is of great understanding: but he that is hasty of spirit exalts folly.[30] A sound heart is the life of the flesh: but envy the rottenness of the bones.[31] He that oppresses the poor reproaches his Maker: but he that honors him has mercy on the poor.[32] The wicked is driven away in his wickedness: but the righteous has hope in his death.[33] Wisdom rests in the heart of him that has understanding: but that which is in the middle of fools is made known.[34] Righteousness exalts a nation: but sin is a reproach to any people.[35] The king's favor is toward a wise servant: but his wrath is against him that causes shame.

[1] A soft answer turns away wrath: but grievous words stir up anger.

[2] The tongue of the wise uses knowledge aright: but the mouth of fools pours out foolishness.[3] The eyes of the LORD are in every place, beholding the evil and the good.[4] A wholesome tongue is a tree of life: but perverseness therein is a breach in the spirit.[5] A fool despises his father's instruction: but he that regards reproof is prudent.[6] In the house of the righteous is much treasure: but in the revenues of the wicked is trouble.[7] The lips of the wise disperse knowledge: but the heart of the foolish does not so.[8] The sacrifice of the wicked is an abomination to the LORD: but the prayer of the upright is his delight.[9] The way of the wicked is an abomination to the LORD: but he loves him that follows after righteousness.[10] Correction is grievous to him that forsakes the way: and he that hates reproof shall die.[11] Hell and destruction are before the LORD: how much more then the hearts of the children of men?[12] A scorner loves not one that reproves him: neither will he go to the wise.[13] A merry heart makes a cheerful countenance: but by sorrow of the heart the spirit is broken.[14] The heart of him that has understanding seeks knowledge: but the mouth of fools feeds on foolishness.[15] All the days of the afflicted are evil: but he that is of a merry heart has a continual feast.[16] Better is little with the fear of the LORD than great treasure and trouble therewith.[17] Better is a dinner of herbs where love is, than a stalled ox and hatred therewith.[18] A wrathful man stirs up strife: but he that is slow to anger appeases strife.[19] The way of the slothful man is as an hedge of thorns: but the way of the righteous is made plain.[20] A wise son makes a glad father: but a foolish man despises his mother.[21] Folly is joy to him that is destitute of wisdom: but a man of understanding walks uprightly.[22] Without counsel purposes are disappointed: but in the multitude of counsellors they are established.[23] A man has joy by the answer of his mouth: and a word spoken in due season, how good is it![24] The way of life is above to the wise, that he may depart from hell beneath.[25] The LORD will destroy the house of the proud: but he will establish the border of the widow.[26] The thoughts of the wicked are an abomination to the LORD: but the words of the pure are pleasant words.[27] He that is greedy of gain troubles his own house; but he that hates gifts shall live.[28] The heart of the righteous studies to answer: but the mouth of the wicked pours out evil things.[29] The LORD is far from the wicked: but he hears the prayer of the righteous.[30] The light of the eyes rejoices the heart: and a good report makes the bones fat.[31] The ear that hears the reproof of life stays among the wise.[32] He that refuses instruction despises his own soul: but he that hears reproof gets understanding.[33] The fear of the LORD is the instruction of wisdom; and before honor is humility.

[1] The preparations of the heart in man, and the answer of the tongue, is from the LORD.

[2] All the ways of a man are clean in his own eyes; but the LORD weighs the spirits.[3] Commit your works to the LORD, and your thoughts shall be established.[4] The LORD has made all things for himself: yes, even the wicked for the day of evil.[5] Every one that is proud in heart is an abomination to the LORD: though hand join in hand, he shall not be unpunished.[6] By mercy and truth iniquity is purged: and by the fear of the LORD men depart from evil.[7] When a man's ways please the LORD, he makes even his enemies to be at peace with him.[8] Better is a little with righteousness than great revenues without right.[9] A man's heart devises his way: but the LORD directs his steps.[10] A divine sentence is in the lips of the king: his mouth transgresses not in judgment.[11] A just weight and balance are the LORD's: all the weights of the bag are his work.[12] It is an abomination to kings to commit wickedness: for the throne is established by righteousness.[13] Righteous lips are the delight of kings; and they love him that speaks right.[14] The wrath of a king is as messengers of death: but a wise man will pacify it.[15] In the light of the king's countenance is life; and his favor is as a cloud of the latter rain.[16] How much better is it to get wisdom than gold! and to get understanding rather to be chosen than silver![17] The highway of the upright is to depart from evil: he that keeps his way preserves his soul.[18] Pride goes before destruction, and an haughty spirit before a fall.[19] Better it is to be of an humble spirit with the lowly, than to divide the spoil with the proud.[20] He that handles a matter wisely shall find good: and whoever trusts in the LORD, happy is he.[21] The wise in heart shall be called prudent: and the sweetness of the lips increases learning.[22] Understanding is a wellspring of life to him that has it: but the instruction of fools is folly.[23] The heart of the wise teaches his mouth, and adds learning to his lips.[24] Pleasant words are as an honeycomb, sweet to the soul, and health to the bones.[25] There is a way that seems right to a man, but the end thereof are the ways of death.[26] He that labors labors for himself; for his mouth craves it of him.[27] An ungodly man digs up evil: and in his lips there is as a burning fire.[28] A fraudulent man sows strife: and a whisperer separates chief friends.[29] A violent man entices his neighbor, and leads him into the way that is not good.[30] He shuts his eyes to devise fraudulent things: moving his lips he brings evil to pass.[31] The hoary head is a crown of glory, if it be found in the way of righteousness.[32] He that is slow to anger is better than the mighty; and he that rules his spirit than he that takes a city.[33] The lot is cast into the lap; but the whole disposing thereof is of the LORD.

[1] Better is a dry morsel, and quietness therewith, than an house full of sacrifices with strife.

[2] A wise servant shall have rule over a son that causes shame, and shall have part of the inheritance among the brothers.[3] The fining pot is for silver, and the furnace for gold: but the LORD tries the hearts.[4] A wicked doer gives heed to false lips; and a liar gives ear to a naughty tongue.[5] Whoever mocks the poor reproaches his Maker: and he that is glad at calamities shall not be unpunished.[6] Children's children are the crown of old men; and the glory of children are their fathers.[7] Excellent speech becomes not a fool: much less do lying lips a prince.[8] A gift is as a precious stone in the eyes of him that has it: wherever it turns, it prospers.[9] He that covers a transgression seeks love; but he that repeats a matter separates very friends.[10] A reproof enters more into a wise man than an hundred stripes into a fool.[11] An evil man seeks only rebellion: therefore a cruel messenger shall be sent against him.[12] Let a bear robbed of her whelps meet a man, rather than a fool in his folly.[13] Whoever rewards evil for good, evil shall not depart from his house.[14] The beginning of strife is as when one lets out water: therefore leave off contention, before it be meddled with.[15] He that justifies the wicked, and he that condemns the just, even they both are abomination to the LORD.[16] Why is there a price in the hand of a fool to get wisdom, seeing he has no heart to it?[17] A friend loves at all times, and a brother is born for adversity.[18] A man void of understanding strikes hands, and becomes surety in the presence of his friend.[19] He loves transgression that loves strife: and he that exalts his gate seeks destruction.[20] He that has a fraudulent heart finds no good: and he that has a perverse tongue falls into mischief.[21] He that begets a fool does it to his sorrow: and the father of a fool has no joy.[22] A merry heart does good like a medicine: but a broken spirit dries the bones.[23] A wicked man takes a gift out of the bosom to pervert the ways of judgment.[24] Wisdom is before him that has understanding; but the eyes of a fool are in the ends of the earth.[25] A foolish son is a grief to his father, and bitterness to her that bore him.[26] Also to punish the just is not good, nor to strike princes for equity.[27] He that has knowledge spares his words: and a man of understanding is of an excellent spirit.[28] Even a fool, when he holds his peace, is counted wise: and he that shuts his lips is esteemed a man of understanding.

[1] Through desire a man, having separated himself, seeks and intermeddles with all wisdom.

[2] A fool has no delight in understanding, but that his heart may discover itself.[3] When the wicked comes, then comes also contempt, and with ignominy reproach.[4] The words of a man's mouth are as deep waters, and the wellspring of wisdom as a flowing brook.[5] It is not good to accept the person of the wicked, to overthrow the righteous in judgment.[6] A fool's lips enter into contention, and his mouth calls for strokes.[7] A fool's mouth is his destruction, and his lips are the snare of his soul.[8] The words of a talebearer are as wounds, and they go down into the innermost parts of the belly.[9] He also that is slothful in his work is brother to him that is a great waster.[10] The name of the LORD is a strong tower: the righteous runs into it, and is safe.[11] The rich man's wealth is his strong city, and as an high wall in his own conceit.[12] Before destruction the heart of man is haughty, and before honor is humility.[13] He that answers a matter before he hears it, it is folly and shame to him.[14] The spirit of a man will sustain his infirmity; but a wounded spirit who can bear?[15] The heart of the prudent gets knowledge; and the ear of the wise seeks knowledge.[16] A man's gift makes room for him, and brings him before great men.[17] He that is first in his own cause seems just; but his neighbor comes and searches him.[18] The lot causes contentions to cease, and parts between the mighty.[19] A brother offended is harder to be won than a strong city: and their contentions are like the bars of a castle.[20] A man's belly shall be satisfied with the fruit of his mouth; and with the increase of his lips shall he be filled.[21] Death and life are in the power of the tongue: and they that love it shall eat the fruit thereof.[22] Whoever finds a wife finds a good thing, and obtains favor of the LORD.[23] The poor uses entreaties; but the rich answers roughly.[24] A man that has friends must show himself friendly: and there is a friend that sticks closer than a brother.

[1] Better is the poor that walks in his integrity, than he that is perverse in his lips, and is a fool.

[2] Also, that the soul be without knowledge, it is not good; and he that hastens with his feet sins.[3] The foolishness of man perverts his way: and his heart frets against the LORD.[4] Wealth makes many friends; but the poor is separated from his neighbor.[5] A false witness shall not be unpunished, and he that speaks lies shall not escape.[6] Many will entreat the favor of the prince: and every man is a friend to him that gives gifts.[7] All the brothers of the poor do hate him: how much more do his friends go far from him? he pursues them with words, yet they are wanting to him.[8] He that gets wisdom loves his own soul: he that keeps understanding shall find good.[9] A false witness shall not be unpunished, and he that speaks lies shall perish.[10] Delight is not seemly for a fool; much less for a servant to have rule over princes.[11] The discretion of a man defers his anger; and it is his glory to pass over a transgression.[12] The king's wrath is as the roaring of a lion; but his favor is as dew on the grass.[13] A foolish son is the calamity of his father: and the contentions of a wife are a continual dropping.[14] House and riches are the inheritance of fathers: and a prudent wife is from the LORD.[15] Slothfulness casts into a deep sleep; and an idle soul shall suffer hunger.[16] He that keeps the commandment keeps his own soul; but he that despises his ways shall die.[17] He that has pity on the poor lends to the LORD; and that which he has given will he pay him again.[18] Chasten your son while there is hope, and let not your soul spare for his crying.[19] A man of great wrath shall suffer punishment: for if you deliver him, yet you must do it again.[20] Hear counsel, and receive instruction, that you may be wise in your latter end.[21] There are many devices in a man's heart; nevertheless the counsel of the LORD, that shall stand.[22] The desire of a man is his kindness: and a poor man is better than a liar.[23] The fear of the LORD tends to life: and he that has it shall abide satisfied; he shall not be visited with evil.[24] A slothful man hides his hand in his bosom, and will not so much as bring it to his mouth again.[25] Smite a scorner, and the simple will beware: and reprove one that has understanding, and he will understand knowledge.[26] He that wastes his father, and chases away his mother, is a son that causes shame, and brings reproach.[27] Cease, my son, to hear the instruction that causes to err from the words of knowledge.[28] An ungodly witness scorns judgment: and the mouth of the wicked devours iniquity.[29] Judgments are prepared for scorners, and stripes for the back of fools.

[2] The fear of a king is as the roaring of a lion: whoever provokes him to anger sins against his own soul.[3] It is an honor for a man to cease from strife: but every fool will be meddling.[4] The sluggard will not plow by reason of the cold; therefore shall he beg in harvest, and have nothing.[5] Counsel in the heart of man is like deep water; but a man of understanding will draw it out.[6] Most men will proclaim every one his own goodness: but a faithful man who can find?[7] The just man walks in his integrity: his children are blessed after him.[8] A king that sits in the throne of judgment scatters away all evil with his eyes.[9] Who can say, I have made my heart clean, I am pure from my sin?[10] Divers weights, and divers measures, both of them are alike abomination to the LORD.[11] Even a child is known by his doings, whether his work be pure, and whether it be right.[12] The hearing ear, and the seeing eye, the LORD has made even both of them.[13] Love not sleep, lest you come to poverty; open your eyes, and you shall be satisfied with bread.[14] It is naught, it is naught, says the buyer: but when he is gone his way, then he boasts.[15] There is gold, and a multitude of rubies: but the lips of knowledge are a precious jewel.[16] Take his garment that is surety for a stranger: and take a pledge of him for a strange woman.[17] Bread of deceit is sweet to a man; but afterwards his mouth shall be filled with gravel.[18] Every purpose is established by counsel: and with good advice make war.[19] He that goes about as a talebearer reveals secrets: therefore meddle not with him that flatters with his lips.[20] Whoever curses his father or his mother, his lamp shall be put out in obscure darkness.[21] An inheritance may be gotten hastily at the beginning; but the end thereof shall not be blessed.[22] Say not you, I will recompense evil; but wait on the LORD, and he shall save you.[23] Divers weights are an abomination to the LORD; and a false balance is not good.[24] Man's goings are of the LORD; how can a man then understand his own way?[25] It is a snare to the man who devours that which is holy, and after vows to make enquiry.[26] A wise king scatters the wicked, and brings the wheel over them.[27] The spirit of man is the candle of the LORD, searching all the inward parts of the belly.[28] Mercy and truth preserve the king: and his throne is upheld by mercy.[29] The glory of young men is their strength: and the beauty of old men is the grey head.[30] The blueness of a wound cleans away evil: so do stripes the inward parts of the belly.

[1] The king's heart is in the hand of the LORD, as the rivers of water: he turns it wherever he will.[2] Every way of a man is right in his own eyes: but the LORD ponders the hearts.[3] To do justice and judgment is more acceptable to the LORD than sacrifice.[4] An high look, and a proud heart, and the plowing of the wicked, is sin.[5] The thoughts of the diligent tend only to plenty; but of every one that is hasty only to want.[6] The getting of treasures by a lying tongue is a vanity tossed to and fro of them that seek death.[7] The robbery of the wicked shall destroy them; because they refuse to do judgment.[8] The way of man is fraudulent and strange: but as for the pure, his work is right.[9] It is better to dwell in a corner of the housetop, than with a brawling woman in a wide house.[10] The soul of the wicked desires evil: his neighbor finds no favor in his eyes.[11] When the scorner is punished, the simple is made wise: and when the wise is instructed, he receives knowledge.[12] The righteous man wisely considers the house of the wicked: but God overthrows the wicked for their wickedness.[13] Whoever stops his ears at the cry of the poor, he also shall cry himself, but shall not be heard.[14] A gift in secret pacifies anger: and a reward in the bosom strong wrath.[15] It is joy to the just to do judgment: but destruction shall be to the workers of iniquity.[16] The man that wanders out of the way of understanding shall remain in the congregation of the dead.[17] He that loves pleasure shall be a poor man: he that loves wine and oil shall not be rich.[18] The wicked shall be a ransom for the righteous, and the transgressor for the upright.[19] It is better to dwell in the wilderness, than with a contentious and an angry woman.[20] There is treasure to be desired and oil in the dwelling of the wise; but a foolish man spends it up.[21] He that follows after righteousness and mercy finds life, righteousness, and honor.[22] A wise man scales the city of the mighty, and casts down the strength of the confidence thereof.[23] Whoever keeps his mouth and his tongue keeps his soul from troubles.[24] Proud and haughty scorner is his name, who deals in proud wrath.[25] The desire of the slothful kills him; for his hands refuse to labor.[26] He covets greedily all the day long: but the righteous gives and spares not.[27] The sacrifice of the wicked is abomination: how much more, when he brings it with a wicked mind?[28] A false witness shall perish: but the man that hears speaks constantly.[29] A wicked man hardens his face: but as for the upright, he directs his way.[30] There is no wisdom nor understanding nor counsel against the LORD.[31] The horse is prepared against the day of battle: but safety is of the LORD.

[1] A GOOD name is rather to be chosen than great riches, and loving favor rather than silver and gold.

[2] The rich and poor meet together: the LORD is the maker of them all.[3] A prudent man foresees the evil, and hides himself: but the simple pass on, and are punished.[4] By humility and the fear of the LORD are riches, and honor, and life.[5] Thorns and snares are in the way of the fraudulent: he that does keep his soul shall be far from them.[6] Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it.[7] The rich rules over the poor, and the borrower is servant to the lender.[8] He that sows iniquity shall reap vanity: and the rod of his anger shall fail.[9] He that has a bountiful eye shall be blessed; for he gives of his bread to the poor.[10] Cast out the scorner, and contention shall go out; yes, strife and reproach shall cease.[11] He that loves pureness of heart, for the grace of his lips the king shall be his friend.[12] The eyes of the LORD preserve knowledge, and he overthrows the words of the transgressor.[13] The slothful man says, There is a lion without, I shall be slain in the streets.[14] The mouth of strange women is a deep pit: he that is abhorred of the LORD shall fall therein.[15] Foolishness is bound in the heart of a child; but the rod of correction shall drive it far from him.[16] He that oppresses the poor to increase his riches, and he that gives to the rich, shall surely come to want.[17] Bow down your ear, and hear the words of the wise, and apply your heart to my knowledge.[18] For it is a pleasant thing if you keep them within you; they shall with be fitted in your lips.[19] That your trust may be in the LORD, I have made known to you this day, even to you.[20] Have not I written to you excellent things in counsels and knowledge,[21] That I might make you know the certainty of the words of truth; that you might answer the words of truth to them that send to you?[22] Rob not the poor, because he is poor: neither oppress the afflicted in the gate:[23] For the LORD will plead their cause, and spoil the soul of those that spoiled them.[24] Make no friendship with an angry man; and with a furious man you shall not go:[25] Lest you learn his ways, and get a snare to your soul.[26] Be not you one of them that strike hands, or of them that are sureties for debts.[27] If you have nothing to pay, why should he take away your bed from under you?[28] Remove not the ancient landmark, which your fathers have set.[29] See you a man diligent in his business? he shall stand before kings; he shall not stand before mean men.

[1] When you sit to eat with a ruler, consider diligently what is before you:

[2] And put a knife to your throat, if you be a man given to appetite.[3] Be not desirous of his dainties: for they are deceitful meat.[4] Labor not to be rich: cease from your own wisdom.[5] Will you set your eyes on that which is not? for riches certainly make themselves wings; they fly away as an eagle toward heaven.[6] Eat you not the bread of him that has an evil eye, neither desire you his dainty meats:[7] For as he thinks in his heart, so is he: Eat and drink, says he to you; but his heart is not with you.[8] The morsel which you have eaten shall you vomit up, and lose your sweet words.[9] Speak not in the ears of a fool: for he will despise the wisdom of your words.[10] Remove not the old landmark; and enter not into the fields of the fatherless:[11] For their redeemer is mighty; he shall plead their cause with you.[12] Apply your heart to instruction, and your ears to the words of knowledge.[13] Withhold not correction from the child: for if you beat him with the rod, he shall not die.[14] You shall beat him with the rod, and shall deliver his soul from hell.[15] My son, if your heart be wise, my heart shall rejoice, even mine.[16] Yes, my reins shall rejoice, when your lips speak right things.[17] Let not your heart envy sinners: but be you in the fear of the LORD all the day long.[18] For surely there is an end; and your expectation shall not be cut off.[19] Hear you, my son, and be wise, and guide your heart in the way.[20] Be not among winebibbers; among riotous eaters of flesh:[21] For the drunkard and the glutton shall come to poverty: and drowsiness shall clothe a man with rags.[22] Listen to your father that begat you, and despise not your mother when she is old.[23] Buy the truth, and sell it not; also wisdom, and instruction, and understanding.[24] The father of the righteous shall greatly rejoice: and he that begets a wise child shall have joy of him.[25] Your father and your mother shall be glad, and she that bore you shall rejoice.[26] My son, give me your heart, and let your eyes observe my ways.[27] For a whore is a deep ditch; and a strange woman is a narrow pit.[28] She also lies in wait as for a prey, and increases the transgressors among men.[29] Who has woe? who has sorrow? who has contentions? who has babbling? who has wounds without cause? who has redness of eyes?[30] They that tarry long at the wine; they that go to seek mixed wine.[31] Look not you on the wine when it is red, when it gives his color in the cup, when it moves itself aright.[32] At the last it bites like a serpent, and stings like an adder.[33] Your eyes shall behold strange women, and your heart shall utter perverse things.[34] Yes, you shall be as he that lies down in the middle of the sea, or as he that lies on the top of a mast.[35] They have stricken me, shall you say, and I was not sick; they have beaten me, and I felt it not: when shall I awake? I will seek it yet again.

[1] Be not you envious against evil men, neither desire to be with them.

[2] For their heart studies destruction, and their lips talk of mischief.[3] Through wisdom is an house built; and by understanding it is established:[4] And by knowledge shall the chambers be filled with all precious and pleasant riches.[5] A wise man is strong; yes, a man of knowledge increases strength.[6] For by wise counsel you shall make your war: and in multitude of counsellors there is safety.[7] Wisdom is too high for a fool: he opens not his mouth in the gate.[8] He that devises to do evil shall be called a mischievous person.[9] The thought of foolishness is sin: and the scorner is an abomination to men.[10] If you faint in the day of adversity, your strength is small.[11] If you forbear to deliver them that are drawn to death, and those that are ready to be slain;[12] If you say, Behold, we knew it not; does not he that ponders the heart consider it? and he that keeps your soul, does not he know it? and shall not he render to every man according to his works?[13] My son, eat you honey, because it is good; and the honeycomb, which is sweet to your taste:[14] So shall the knowledge of wisdom be to your soul: when you have found it, then there shall be a reward, and your expectation shall not be cut off.[15] Lay not wait, O wicked man, against the dwelling of the righteous; spoil not his resting place:[16] For a just man falls seven times, and rises up again: but the wicked shall fall into mischief.[17] Rejoice not when your enemy falls, and let not your heart be glad when he stumbles:[18] Lest the LORD see it, and it displease him, and he turn away his wrath from him.[19] Fret not yourself because of evil men, neither be you envious at the wicked:[20] For there shall be no reward to the evil man; the candle of the wicked shall be put out.[21] My son, fear you the LORD and the king: and meddle not with them that are given to change:[22] For their calamity shall rise suddenly; and who knows the ruin of them both?[23] These things also belong to the wise. It is not good to have respect of persons in judgment.[24] He that says to the wicked, You are righteous; him shall the people curse, nations shall abhor him:[25] But to them that rebuke him shall be delight, and a good blessing shall come on them.[26] Every man shall kiss his lips that gives a right answer.[27] Prepare your work without, and make it fit for yourself in the field; and afterwards build your house.[28] Be not a witness against your neighbor without cause; and deceive not with your lips.[29] Say not, I will do so to him as he has done to me: I will render to the man according to his work.[30] I went by the field of the slothful, and by the vineyard of the man void of understanding;[31] And, see, it was all grown over with thorns, and nettles had covered the face thereof, and the stone wall thereof was broken down.[32] Then I saw, and considered it well: I looked on it, and received instruction.[33] Yet a little sleep, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to sleep:[34] So shall your poverty come as one that travels; and your want as an armed man.

[1] These are also proverbs of Solomon, which the men of Hezekiah king of Judah copied out.

[2] It is the glory of God to conceal a thing: but the honor of kings is to search out a matter.[3] The heaven for height, and the earth for depth, and the heart of kings is unsearchable.[4] Take away the dross from the silver, and there shall come forth a vessel for the finer.[5] Take away the wicked from before the king, and his throne shall be established in righteousness.[6] Put not forth yourself in the presence of the king, and stand not in the place of great men:[7] For better it is that it be said to you, Come up here; than that you should be put lower in the presence of the prince whom your eyes have seen.[8] Go not forth hastily to strive, lest you know not what to do in the end thereof, when your neighbor has put you to shame.[9] Debate your cause with your neighbor himself; and discover not a secret to another:[10] Lest he that hears it put you to shame, and your infamy turn not away.[11] A word fitly spoken is like apples of gold in pictures of silver.[12] As an earring of gold, and an ornament of fine gold, so is a wise reprover on an obedient ear.[13] As the cold of snow in the time of harvest, so is a faithful messenger to them that send him: for he refreshes the soul of his masters.[14] Whoever boasts himself of a false gift is like clouds and wind without rain.[15] By long forbearing is a prince persuaded, and a soft tongue breaks the bone.[16] Have you found honey? eat so much as is sufficient for you, lest you be filled therewith, and vomit it.[17] Withdraw your foot from your neighbor's house; lest he be weary of you, and so hate you.[18] A man that bears false witness against his neighbor is a maul, and a sword, and a sharp arrow.[19] Confidence in an unfaithful man in time of trouble is like a broken tooth, and a foot out of joint.[20] As he that takes away a garment in cold weather, and as vinegar on nitre, so is he that singes songs to an heavy heart.[21] If your enemy be hungry, give him bread to eat; and if he be thirsty, give him water to drink:[22] For you shall heap coals of fire on his head, and the LORD shall reward you.[23] The north wind drives away rain: so does an angry countenance a backbiting tongue.[24] It is better to dwell in the corner of the housetop, than with a brawling woman and in a wide house.[25] As cold waters to a thirsty soul, so is good news from a far country.[26] A righteous man falling down before the wicked is as a troubled fountain, and a corrupt spring.[27] It is not good to eat much honey: so for men to search their own glory is not glory.[28] He that has no rule over his own spirit is like a city that is broken down, and without walls.

[1] As snow in summer, and as rain in harvest, so honor is not seemly for a fool.

[2] As the bird by wandering, as the swallow by flying, so the curse causeless shall not come.[3] A whip for the horse, a bridle for the ass, and a rod for the fool's back.[4] Answer not a fool according to his folly, lest you also be like to him.[5] Answer a fool according to his folly, lest he be wise in his own conceit.[6] He that sends a message by the hand of a fool cuts off the feet, and drinks damage.[7] The legs of the lame are not equal: so is a parable in the mouth of fools.[8] As he that binds a stone in a sling, so is he that gives honor to a fool.[9] As a thorn goes up into the hand of a drunkard, so is a parable in the mouths of fools.[10] The great God that formed all things both rewards the fool, and rewards transgressors.[11] As a dog returns to his vomit, so a fool returns to his folly.[12] See you a man wise in his own conceit? there is more hope of a fool than of him.[13] The slothful man says, There is a lion in the way; a lion is in the streets.[14] As the door turns on his hinges, so does the slothful on his bed.[15] The slothful hides his hand in his bosom; it grieves him to bring it again to his mouth.[16] The sluggard is wiser in his own conceit than seven men that can render a reason.[17] He that passes by, and meddles with strife belonging not to him, is like one that takes a dog by the ears.[18] As a mad man who casts firebrands, arrows, and death,[19] So is the man that deceives his neighbor, and says, Am not I in sport?[20] Where no wood is, there the fire goes out: so where there is no talebearer, the strife ceases.[21] As coals are to burning coals, and wood to fire; so is a contentious man to kindle strife.[22] The words of a talebearer are as wounds, and they go down into the innermost parts of the belly.[23] Burning lips and a wicked heart are like a potsherd covered with silver dross.[24] He that hates dissembles with his lips, and lays up deceit within him;[25] When he speaks fair, believe him not: for there are seven abominations in his heart.[26] Whose hatred is covered by deceit, his wickedness shall be showed before the whole congregation.[27] Whoever digs a pit shall fall therein: and he that rolls a stone, it will return on him.[28] A lying tongue hates those that are afflicted by it; and a flattering mouth works ruin.

[1] Boast not yourself of to morrow; for you know not what a day may bring forth.

[2] Let another man praise you, and not your own mouth; a stranger, and not your own lips.[3] A stone is heavy, and the sand weighty; but a fool's wrath is heavier than them both.[4] Wrath is cruel, and anger is outrageous; but who is able to stand before envy?[5] Open rebuke is better than secret love.[6] Faithful are the wounds of a friend; but the kisses of an enemy are deceitful.[7] The full soul loathes an honeycomb; but to the hungry soul every bitter thing is sweet.[8] As a bird that wanders from her nest, so is a man that wanders from his place.[9] Ointment and perfume rejoice the heart: so does the sweetness of a man's friend by hearty counsel.[10] Your own friend, and your father's friend, forsake not; neither go into your brother's house in the day of your calamity: for better is a neighbor that is near than a brother far off.[11] My son, be wise, and make my heart glad, that I may answer him that reproaches me.[12] A prudent man foresees the evil, and hides himself; but the simple pass on, and are punished.[13] Take his garment that is surety for a stranger, and take a pledge of him for a strange woman.[14] He that blesses his friend with a loud voice, rising early in the morning, it shall be counted a curse to him.[15] A continual dropping in a very rainy day and a contentious woman are alike.[16] Whoever hides her hides the wind, and the ointment of his right hand, which denudes itself.[17] Iron sharpens iron; so a man sharpens the countenance of his friend.[18] Whoever keeps the fig tree shall eat the fruit thereof: so he that waits on his master shall be honored.[19] As in water face answers to face, so the heart of man to man.[20] Hell and destruction are never full; so the eyes of man are never satisfied.[21] As the fining pot for silver, and the furnace for gold; so is a man to his praise.[22] Though you should bray a fool in a mortar among wheat with a pestle, yet will not his foolishness depart from him.[23] Be you diligent to know the state of your flocks, and look well to your herds.[24] For riches are not for ever: and does the crown endure to every generation?[25] The hay appears, and the tender grass shows itself, and herbs of the mountains are gathered.[26] The lambs are for your clothing, and the goats are the price of the field.[27] And you shall have goats' milk enough for your food, for the food of your household, and for the maintenance for your maidens.

[1] The wicked flee when no man pursues: but the righteous are bold as a lion.

[2] For the transgression of a land many are the princes thereof: but by a man of understanding and knowledge the state thereof shall be prolonged.[3] A poor man that oppresses the poor is like a sweeping rain which leaves no food.[4] They that forsake the law praise the wicked: but such as keep the law contend with them.[5] Evil men understand not judgment: but they that seek the LORD understand all things.[6] Better is the poor that walks in his uprightness, than he that is perverse in his ways, though he be rich.[7] Whoever keeps the law is a wise son: but he that is a companion of riotous men shames his father.[8] He that by usury and unjust gain increases his substance, he shall gather it for him that will pity the poor.[9] He that turns away his ear from hearing the law, even his prayer shall be abomination.[10] Whoever causes the righteous to go astray in an evil way, he shall fall himself into his own pit: but the upright shall have good things in possession.[11] The rich man is wise in his own conceit; but the poor that has understanding searches him out.[12] When righteous men do rejoice, there is great glory: but when the wicked rise, a man is hidden.[13] He that covers his sins shall not prosper: but whoever confesses and forsakes them shall have mercy.[14] Happy is the man that fears always: but he that hardens his heart shall fall into mischief.[15] As a roaring lion, and a ranging bear; so is a wicked ruler over the poor people.[16] The prince that wants understanding is also a great oppressor: but he that hates covetousness shall prolong his days.[17] A man that does violence to the blood of any person shall flee to the pit; let no man stay him.[18] Whoever walks uprightly shall be saved: but he that is perverse in his ways shall fall at once.[19] He that tills his land shall have plenty of bread: but he that follows after vain persons shall have poverty enough.[20] A faithful man shall abound with blessings: but he that makes haste to be rich shall not be innocent.[21] To have respect of persons is not good: for for a piece of bread that man will transgress.[22] He that hastens to be rich has an evil eye, and considers not that poverty shall come on him.[23] He that rebukes a man afterwards shall find more favor than he that flatters with the tongue.[24] Whoever robs his father or his mother, and says, It is no transgression; the same is the companion of a destroyer.[25] He that is of a proud heart stirs up strife: but he that puts his trust in the LORD shall be made fat.[26] He that trusts in his own heart is a fool: but whoever walks wisely, he shall be delivered.[27] He that gives to the poor shall not lack: but he that hides his eyes shall have many a curse.[28] When the wicked rise, men hide themselves: but when they perish, the righteous increase.

[1] He, that being often reproved hardens his neck, shall suddenly be destroyed, and that without remedy.

[2] When the righteous are in authority, the people rejoice: but when the wicked bears rule, the people mourn.[3] Whoever loves wisdom rejoices his father: but he that keeps company with harlots spends his substance.[4] The king by judgment establishes the land: but he that receives gifts overthrows it.[5] A man that flatters his neighbor spreads a net for his feet.[6] In the transgression of an evil man there is a snare: but the righteous does sing and rejoice.[7] The righteous considers the cause of the poor: but the wicked regards not to know it.[8] Scornful men bring a city into a snare: but wise men turn away wrath.[9] If a wise man contends with a foolish man, whether he rage or laugh, there is no rest.[10] The bloodthirsty hate the upright: but the just seek his soul.[11] A fool utters all his mind: but a wise man keeps it in till afterwards.[12] If a ruler listen to lies, all his servants are wicked.[13] The poor and the deceitful man meet together: the LORD lightens both their eyes.[14] The king that faithfully judges the poor, his throne shall be established for ever.[15] The rod and reproof give wisdom: but a child left to himself brings his mother to shame.[16] When the wicked are multiplied, transgression increases: but the righteous shall see their fall.[17] Correct your son, and he shall give you rest; yes, he shall give delight to your soul.[18] Where there is no vision, the people perish: but he that keeps the law, happy is he.[19] A servant will not be corrected by words: for though he understand he will not answer.[20] See you a man that is hasty in his words? there is more hope of a fool than of him.[21] He that delicately brings up his servant from a child shall have him become his son at the length.[22] An angry man stirs up strife, and a furious man abounds in transgression.[23] A man's pride shall bring him low: but honor shall uphold the humble in spirit.[24] Whoever is partner with a thief hates his own soul: he hears cursing, and denudes it not.[25] The fear of man brings a snare: but whoever puts his trust in the LORD shall be safe.[26] Many seek the ruler's favor; but every man's judgment comes from the LORD.[27] An unjust man is an abomination to the just: and he that is upright in the way is abomination to the wicked.

[1] The words of Agur the son of Jakeh, even the prophecy: the man spoke to Ithiel, even to Ithiel and Ucal,

[2] Surely I am more brutish than any man, and have not the understanding of a man.[3] I neither learned wisdom, nor have the knowledge of the holy.[4] Who has ascended up into heaven, or descended? who has gathered the wind in his fists? who has bound the waters in a garment? who has established all the ends of the earth? what is his name, and what is his son's name, if you can tell?[5] Every word of God is pure: he is a shield to them that put their trust in him.[6] Add you not to his words, lest he reprove you, and you be found a liar.[7] Two things have I required of you; deny me them not before I die:[8] Remove far from me vanity and lies: give me neither poverty nor riches; feed me with food convenient for me:[9] Lest I be full, and deny you, and say, Who is the LORD? or lest I be poor, and steal, and take the name of my God in vain.[10] Accuse not a servant to his master, lest he curse you, and you be found guilty.[11] There is a generation that curses their father, and does not bless their mother.[12] There is a generation that are pure in their own eyes, and yet is not washed from their filthiness.[13] There is a generation, O how lofty are their eyes! and their eyelids are lifted up.[14] There is a generation, whose teeth are as swords, and their jaw teeth as knives, to devour the poor from off the earth, and the needy from among men.[15] The horse leach has two daughters, crying, Give, give. There are three things that are never satisfied, yes, four things say not, It is enough:[16] The grave; and the barren womb; the earth that is not filled with water; and the fire that says not, It is enough.[17] The eye that mocks at his father, and despises to obey his mother, the ravens of the valley shall pick it out, and the young eagles shall eat it.[18] There be three things which are too wonderful for me, yes, four which I know not:[19] The way of an eagle in the air; the way of a serpent on a rock; the way of a ship in the middle of the sea; and the way of a man with a maid.[20] Such is the way of an adulterous woman; she eats, and wipes her mouth, and says, I have done no wickedness.[21] For three things the earth is disquieted, and for four which it cannot bear:[22] For a servant when he reigns; and a fool when he is filled with meat;[23] For an odious woman when she is married; and an handmaid that is heir to her mistress.[24] There be four things which are little on the earth, but they are exceeding wise:[25] The ants are a people not strong, yet they prepare their meat in the summer;[26] The conies are but a feeble folk, yet make they their houses in the rocks;[27] The locusts have no king, yet go they forth all of them by bands;[28] The spider takes hold with her hands, and is in kings' palaces.[29] There be three things which go well, yes, four are comely in going:[30] A lion which is strongest among beasts, and turns not away for any;[31] A greyhound; an he goat also; and a king, against whom there is no rising up.[32] If you have done foolishly in lifting up yourself, or if you have thought evil, lay your hand on your mouth.[33] Surely the churning of milk brings forth butter, and the wringing of the nose brings forth blood: so the forcing of wrath brings forth strife.

[1] The words of king Lemuel, the prophecy that his mother taught him.

[2] What, my son? and what, the son of my womb? and what, the son of my vows?[3] Give not your strength to women, nor your ways to that which destroys kings.[4] It is not for kings, O Lemuel, it is not for kings to drink wine; nor for princes strong drink:[5] Lest they drink, and forget the law, and pervert the judgment of any of the afflicted.[6] Give strong drink to him that is ready to perish, and wine to those that be of heavy hearts.[7] Let him drink, and forget his poverty, and remember his misery no more.[8] Open your mouth for the dumb in the cause of all such as are appointed to destruction.[9] Open your mouth, judge righteously, and plead the cause of the poor and needy. ¶[10] Who can find a virtuous woman? for her price is far above rubies.[11] The heart of her husband does safely trust in her, so that he shall have no need of spoil.[12] She will do him good and not evil all the days of her life.[13] She seeks wool, and flax, and works willingly with her hands.[14] She is like the merchants' ships; she brings her food from afar.[15] She rises also while it is yet night, and gives meat to her household, and a portion to her maidens.[16] She considers a field, and buys it: with the fruit of her hands she plants a vineyard.[17] She girds her loins with strength, and strengthens her arms.[18] She perceives that her merchandise is good: her candle goes not out by night.[19] She lays her hands to the spindle, and her hands hold the distaff.[20] She stretches out her hand to the poor; yes, she reaches forth her hands to the needy.[21] She is not afraid of the snow for her household: for all her household are clothed with scarlet.[22] She makes herself coverings of tapestry; her clothing is silk and purple.[23] Her husband is known in the gates, when he sits among the elders of the land.[24] She makes fine linen, and sells it; and delivers girdles to the merchant.[25] Strength and honor are her clothing; and she shall rejoice in time to come.[26] She opens her mouth with wisdom; and in her tongue is the law of kindness.[27] She looks well to the ways of her household, and eats not the bread of idleness.[28] Her children arise up, and call her blessed; her husband also, and he praises her.[29] Many daughters have done virtuously, but you excel them all.[30] Favor is deceitful, and beauty is vain: but a woman that fears the LORD, she shall be praised.[31] Give her of the fruit of her hands; and let her own works praise her in the gates.

Ecclesiastes

An Introduction to the Book of Ecclesiastes

The Greek rendering of the Hebrew Koheleth, which means “Preacher.” The old and traditional view of the authorship of this book attributes it to Solomon. This view can be satisfactorily maintained, though others date it from the Captivity. The writer represents himself implicitly as Solomon (1:12). It has been appropriately styled The Confession of King Solomon. “The writer is a man who has sinned in giving way to selfishness and sensuality, who has paid the penalty of that sin in satiety and weariness of life, but who has through all this been under the discipline of a divine education, and has learned from it the lesson which God meant to teach him.” “The writer concludes by pointing out that the secret of a true life is that a man should consecrate the vigour of his youth to God.” The key-note of the book is sounded in ch. 1:2, i.e., all man’s efforts to find happiness apart from God are without result.

[1] The words of the Preacher, the son of David, king in Jerusalem.

[2] Vanity of vanities, says the Preacher, vanity of vanities; all is vanity.[3] What profit has a man of all his labor which he takes under the sun?[4] One generation passes away, and another generation comes: but the earth stays for ever.[5] The sun also rises, and the sun goes down, and hastens to his place where he arose.[6] The wind goes toward the south, and turns about to the north; it whirls about continually, and the wind returns again according to his circuits.[7] All the rivers run into the sea; yet the sea is not full; to the place from where the rivers come, thither they return again.[8] All things are full of labor; man cannot utter it: the eye is not satisfied with seeing, nor the ear filled with hearing.[9] The thing that has been, it is that which shall be; and that which is done is that which shall be done: and there is no new thing under the sun.[10] Is there any thing whereof it may be said, See, this is new? it has been already of old time, which was before us.[11] There is no remembrance of former things; neither shall there be any remembrance of things that are to come with those that shall come after. ¶[12] I the Preacher was king over Israel in Jerusalem.[13] And I gave my heart to seek and search out by wisdom concerning all things that are done under heaven: this sore travail has God given to the sons of man to be exercised therewith.[14] I have seen all the works that are done under the sun; and, behold, all is vanity and vexation of spirit.[15] That which is crooked cannot be made straight: and that which is wanting cannot be numbered.[16] I communed with my own heart, saying, See, I am come to great estate, and have gotten more wisdom than all they that have been before me in Jerusalem: yes, my heart had great experience of wisdom and knowledge.[17] And I gave my heart to know wisdom, and to know madness and folly: I perceived that this also is vexation of spirit.[18] For in much wisdom is much grief: and he that increases knowledge increases sorrow.

[1] I said in my heart, Go to now, I will prove you with mirth, therefore enjoy pleasure: and, behold, this also is vanity.

[2] I said of laughter, It is mad: and of mirth, What does it?[3] I sought in my heart to give myself to wine, yet acquainting my heart with wisdom; and to lay hold on folly, till I might see what was that good for the sons of men, which they should do under the heaven all the days of their life.[4] I made me great works; I built me houses; I planted me vineyards:[5] I made me gardens and orchards, and I planted trees in them of all kind of fruits:[6] I made me pools of water, to water therewith the wood that brings forth trees:[7] I got me servants and maidens, and had servants born in my house; also I had great possessions of great and small cattle above all that were in Jerusalem before me:[8] I gathered me also silver and gold, and the peculiar treasure of kings and of the provinces: I got me men singers and women singers, and the delights of the sons of men, as musical instruments, and that of all sorts.[9] So I was great, and increased more than all that were before me in Jerusalem: also my wisdom remained with me.[10] And whatever my eyes desired I kept not from them, I withheld not my heart from any joy; for my heart rejoiced in all my labor: and this was my portion of all my labor.[11] Then I looked on all the works that my hands had worked, and on the labor that I had labored to do: and, behold, all was vanity and vexation of spirit, and there was no profit under the sun. ¶[12] And I turned myself to behold wisdom, and madness, and folly: for what can the man do that comes after the king? even that which has been already done.[13] Then I saw that wisdom excels folly, as far as light excels darkness.[14] The wise man's eyes are in his head; but the fool walks in darkness: and I myself perceived also that one event happens to them all.[15] Then said I in my heart, As it happens to the fool, so it happens even to me; and why was I then more wise? Then I said in my heart, that this also is vanity.[16] For there is no remembrance of the wise more than of the fool for ever; seeing that which now is in the days to come shall all be forgotten. And how dies the wise man? as the fool.[17] Therefore I hated life; because the work that is worked under the sun is grievous to me: for all is vanity and vexation of spirit. ¶[18] Yes, I hated all my labor which I had taken under the sun: because I should leave it to the man that shall be after me.[19] And who knows whether he shall be a wise man or a fool? yet shall he have rule over all my labor wherein I have labored, and wherein I have showed myself wise under the sun. This is also vanity.[20] Therefore I went about to cause my heart to despair of all the labor which I took under the sun.[21] For there is a man whose labor is in wisdom, and in knowledge, and in equity; yet to a man that has not labored therein shall he leave it for his portion. This also is vanity and a great evil.[22] For what has man of all his labor, and of the vexation of his heart, wherein he has labored under the sun?[23] For all his days are sorrows, and his travail grief; yes, his heart takes not rest in the night. This is also vanity. ¶[24] There is nothing better for a man, than that he should eat and drink, and that he should make his soul enjoy good in his labor. This also I saw, that it was from the hand of God.[25] For who can eat, or who else can hasten hereunto, more than I?[26] For God gives to a man that is good in his sight wisdom, and knowledge, and joy: but to the sinner he gives travail, to gather and to heap up, that he may give to him that is good before God. This also is vanity and vexation of spirit.

[1] To every thing there is a season, and a time to every purpose under the heaven:

[2] A time to be born, and a time to die; a time to plant, and a time to pluck up that which is planted;[3] A time to kill, and a time to heal; a time to break down, and a time to build up;[4] A time to weep, and a time to laugh; a time to mourn, and a time to dance;[5] A time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones together; a time to embrace, and a time to refrain from embracing;[6] A time to get, and a time to lose; a time to keep, and a time to cast away;[7] A time to rend, and a time to sew; a time to keep silence, and a time to speak;[8] A time to love, and a time to hate; a time of war, and a time of peace.[9] What profit has he that works in that wherein he labors?[10] I have seen the travail, which God has given to the sons of men to be exercised in it.[11] He has made every thing beautiful in his time: also he has set the world in their heart, so that no man can find out the work that God makes from the beginning to the end.[12] I know that there is no good in them, but for a man to rejoice, and to do good in his life.[13] And also that every man should eat and drink, and enjoy the good of all his labor, it is the gift of God.[14] I know that, whatever God does, it shall be for ever: nothing can be put to it, nor any thing taken from it: and God does it, that men should fear before him.[15] That which has been is now; and that which is to be has already been; and God requires that which is past. ¶[16] And moreover I saw under the sun the place of judgment, that wickedness was there; and the place of righteousness, that iniquity was there.[17] I said in my heart, God shall judge the righteous and the wicked: for there is a time there for every purpose and for every work.[18] I said in my heart concerning the estate of the sons of men, that God might manifest them, and that they might see that they themselves are beasts.[19] For that which befalls the sons of men befalls beasts; even one thing befalls them: as the one dies, so dies the other; yes, they have all one breath; so that a man has no preeminence above a beast: for all is vanity.[20] All go to one place; all are of the dust, and all turn to dust again.[21] Who knows the spirit of man that goes upward, and the spirit of the beast that goes downward to the earth?[22] Why I perceive that there is nothing better, than that a man should rejoice in his own works; for that is his portion: for who shall bring him to see what shall be after him?

[1] So I returned, and considered all the oppressions that are done under the sun: and behold the tears of such as were oppressed, and they had no comforter; and on the side of their oppressors there was power; but they had no comforter.

[2] Why I praised the dead which are already dead more than the living which are yet alive.[3] Yes, better is he than both they, which has not yet been, who has not seen the evil work that is done under the sun. ¶[4] Again, I considered all travail, and every right work, that for this a man is envied of his neighbor. This is also vanity and vexation of spirit.[5] The fool folds his hands together, and eats his own flesh.[6] Better is an handful with quietness, than both the hands full with travail and vexation of spirit. ¶[7] Then I returned, and I saw vanity under the sun.[8] There is one alone, and there is not a second; yes, he has neither child nor brother: yet is there no end of all his labor; neither is his eye satisfied with riches; neither says he, For whom do I labor, and bereave my soul of good? This is also vanity, yes, it is a sore travail. ¶[9] Two are better than one; because they have a good reward for their labor.[10] For if they fall, the one will lift up his fellow: but woe to him that is alone when he falls; for he has not another to help him up.[11] Again, if two lie together, then they have heat: but how can one be warm alone?[12] And if one prevail against him, two shall withstand him; and a threefold cord is not quickly broken. ¶[13] Better is a poor and a wise child than an old and foolish king, who will no more be admonished.[14] For out of prison he comes to reign; whereas also he that is born in his kingdom becomes poor.[15] I considered all the living which walk under the sun, with the second child that shall stand up in his stead.[16] There is no end of all the people, even of all that have been before them: they also that come after shall not rejoice in him. Surely this also is vanity and vexation of spirit.

[1] Keep your foot when you go to the house of God, and be more ready to hear, than to give the sacrifice of fools: for they consider not that they do evil.

[2] Be not rash with your mouth, and let not your heart be hasty to utter any thing before God: for God is in heaven, and you on earth: therefore let your words be few.[3] For a dream comes through the multitude of business; and a fool's voice is known by multitude of words.[4] When you vow a vow to God, defer not to pay it; for he has no pleasure in fools: pay that which you have vowed.[5] Better is it that you should not vow, than that you should vow and not pay.[6] Suffer not your mouth to cause your flesh to sin; neither say you before the angel, that it was an error: why should God be angry at your voice, and destroy the work of your hands?[7] For in the multitude of dreams and many words there are also divers vanities: but fear you God. ¶[8] If you see the oppression of the poor, and violent perverting of judgment and justice in a province, marvel not at the matter: for he that is higher than the highest regards; and there be higher than they. ¶[9] Moreover the profit of the earth is for all: the king himself is served by the field.[10] He that loves silver shall not be satisfied with silver; nor he that loves abundance with increase: this is also vanity.[11] When goods increase, they are increased that eat them: and what good is there to the owners thereof, saving the beholding of them with their eyes?[12] The sleep of a laboring man is sweet, whether he eat little or much: but the abundance of the rich will not suffer him to sleep.[13] There is a sore evil which I have seen under the sun, namely, riches kept for the owners thereof to their hurt.[14] But those riches perish by evil travail: and he begets a son, and there is nothing in his hand.[15] As he came forth of his mother's womb, naked shall he return to go as he came, and shall take nothing of his labor, which he may carry away in his hand.[16] And this also is a sore evil, that in all points as he came, so shall he go: and what profit has he that has labored for the wind?[17] All his days also he eats in darkness, and he has much sorrow and wrath with his sickness. ¶[18] Behold that which I have seen: it is good and comely for one to eat and to drink, and to enjoy the good of all his labor that he takes under the sun all the days of his life, which God gives him: for it is his portion.[19] Every man also to whom God has given riches and wealth, and has given him power to eat thereof, and to take his portion, and to rejoice in his labor; this is the gift of God.[20] For he shall not much remember the days of his life; because God answers him in the joy of his heart.

[1] There is an evil which I have seen under the sun, and it is common among men:

[2] A man to whom God has given riches, wealth, and honor, so that he wants nothing for his soul of all that he desires, yet God gives him not power to eat thereof, but a stranger eats it: this is vanity, and it is an evil disease. ¶[3] If a man beget an hundred children, and live many years, so that the days of his years be many, and his soul be not filled with good, and also that he have no burial; I say, that an untimely birth is better than he.[4] For he comes in with vanity, and departs in darkness, and his name shall be covered with darkness.[5] Moreover he has not seen the sun, nor known any thing: this has more rest than the other. ¶[6] Yes, though he live a thousand years twice told, yet has he seen no good: do not all go to one place?[7] All the labor of man is for his mouth, and yet the appetite is not filled.[8] For what has the wise more than the fool? what has the poor, that knows to walk before the living? ¶[9] Better is the sight of the eyes than the wandering of the desire: this is also vanity and vexation of spirit.[10] That which has been is named already, and it is known that it is man: neither may he contend with him that is mightier than he. ¶[11] Seeing there be many things that increase vanity, what is man the better?[12] For who knows what is good for man in this life, all the days of his vain life which he spends as a shadow? for who can tell a man what shall be after him under the sun?

[1] A good name is better than precious ointment; and the day of death than the day of one's birth. ¶

[2] It is better to go to the house of mourning, than to go to the house of feasting: for that is the end of all men; and the living will lay it to his heart.[3] Sorrow is better than laughter: for by the sadness of the countenance the heart is made better.[4] The heart of the wise is in the house of mourning; but the heart of fools is in the house of mirth.[5] It is better to hear the rebuke of the wise, than for a man to hear the song of fools.[6] For as the crackling of thorns under a pot, so is the laughter of the fool: this also is vanity. ¶[7] Surely oppression makes a wise man mad; and a gift destroys the heart.[8] Better is the end of a thing than the beginning thereof: and the patient in spirit is better than the proud in spirit.[9] Be not hasty in your spirit to be angry: for anger rests in the bosom of fools.[10] Say not you, What is the cause that the former days were better than these? for you do not inquire wisely concerning this. ¶[11] Wisdom is good with an inheritance: and by it there is profit to them that see the sun.[12] For wisdom is a defense, and money is a defense: but the excellency of knowledge is, that wisdom gives life to them that have it.[13] Consider the work of God: for who can make that straight, which he has made crooked?[14] In the day of prosperity be joyful, but in the day of adversity consider: God also has set the one over against the other, to the end that man should find nothing after him.[15] All things have I seen in the days of my vanity: there is a just man that perishes in his righteousness, and there is a wicked man that prolongs his life in his wickedness.[16] Be not righteous over much; neither make yourself over wise: why should you destroy yourself?[17] Be not over much wicked, neither be you foolish: why should you die before your time?[18] It is good that you should take hold of this; yes, also from this withdraw not your hand: for he that fears God shall come forth of them all.[19] Wisdom strengthens the wise more than ten mighty men which are in the city.[20] For there is not a just man on earth, that does good, and sins not.[21] Also take no heed to all words that are spoken; lest you hear your servant curse you:[22] For oftentimes also your own heart knows that you yourself likewise have cursed others. ¶[23] All this have I proved by wisdom: I said, I will be wise; but it was far from me.[24] That which is far off, and exceeding deep, who can find it out?[25] I applied my heart to know, and to search, and to seek out wisdom, and the reason of things, and to know the wickedness of folly, even of foolishness and madness:[26] And I find more bitter than death the woman, whose heart is snares and nets, and her hands as bands: whoever pleases God shall escape from her; but the sinner shall be taken by her.[27] Behold, this have I found, says the preacher, counting one by one, to find out the account:[28] Which yet my soul seeks, but I find not: one man among a thousand have I found; but a woman among all those have I not found.[29] See, this only have I found, that God has made man upright; but they have sought out many inventions.

[1] Who is as the wise man? and who knows the interpretation of a thing? a man's wisdom makes his face to shine, and the boldness of his face shall be changed.

[2] I counsel you to keep the king's commandment, and that in regard of the oath of God.[3] Be not hasty to go out of his sight: stand not in an evil thing; for he does whatever pleases him.[4] Where the word of a king is, there is power: and who may say to him, What do you?[5] Whoever keeps the commandment shall feel no evil thing: and a wise man's heart discerns both time and judgment. ¶[6] Because to every purpose there is time and judgment, therefore the misery of man is great on him.[7] For he knows not that which shall be: for who can tell him when it shall be?[8] There is no man that has power over the spirit to retain the spirit; neither has he power in the day of death: and there is no discharge in that war; neither shall wickedness deliver those that are given to it.[9] All this have I seen, and applied my heart to every work that is done under the sun: there is a time wherein one man rules over another to his own hurt.[10] And so I saw the wicked buried, who had come and gone from the place of the holy, and they were forgotten in the city where they had so done: this is also vanity.[11] Because sentence against an evil work is not executed speedily, therefore the heart of the sons of men is fully set in them to do evil. ¶[12] Though a sinner do evil an hundred times, and his days be prolonged, yet surely I know that it shall be well with them that fear God, which fear before him:[13] But it shall not be well with the wicked, neither shall he prolong his days, which are as a shadow; because he fears not before God.[14] There is a vanity which is done on the earth; that there be just men, to whom it happens according to the work of the wicked; again, there be wicked men, to whom it happens according to the work of the righteous: I said that this also is vanity.[15] Then I commended mirth, because a man has no better thing under the sun, than to eat, and to drink, and to be merry: for that shall abide with him of his labor the days of his life, which God gives him under the sun. ¶[16] When I applied my heart to know wisdom, and to see the business that is done on the earth: (for also there is that neither day nor night sees sleep with his eyes:)[17] Then I beheld all the work of God, that a man cannot find out the work that is done under the sun: because though a man labor to seek it out, yet he shall not find it; yes farther; though a wise man think to know it, yet shall he not be able to find it.

[1] For all this I considered in my heart even to declare all this, that the righteous, and the wise, and their works, are in the hand of God: no man knows either love or hatred by all that is before them.

[2] All things come alike to all: there is one event to the righteous, and to the wicked; to the good and to the clean, and to the unclean; to him that sacrifices, and to him that sacrifices not: as is the good, so is the sinner; and he that swears, as he that fears an oath.[3] This is an evil among all things that are done under the sun, that there is one event to all: yes, also the heart of the sons of men is full of evil, and madness is in their heart while they live, and after that they go to the dead. ¶[4] For to him that is joined to all the living there is hope: for a living dog is better than a dead lion.[5] For the living know that they shall die: but the dead know not any thing, neither have they any more a reward; for the memory of them is forgotten.[6] Also their love, and their hatred, and their envy, is now perished; neither have they any more a portion for ever in any thing that is done under the sun. ¶[7] Go your way, eat your bread with joy, and drink your wine with a merry heart; for God now accepts your works.[8] Let your garments be always white; and let your head lack no ointment.[9] Live joyfully with the wife whom you love all the days of the life of your vanity, which he has given you under the sun, all the days of your vanity: for that is your portion in this life, and in your labor which you take under the sun.[10] Whatever your hand finds to do, do it with your might; for there is no work, nor device, nor knowledge, nor wisdom, in the grave, where you go. ¶[11] I returned, and saw under the sun, that the race is not to the swift, nor the battle to the strong, neither yet bread to the wise, nor yet riches to men of understanding, nor yet favor to men of skill; but time and chance happens to them all.[12] For man also knows not his time: as the fishes that are taken in an evil net, and as the birds that are caught in the snare; so are the sons of men snared in an evil time, when it falls suddenly on them. ¶[13] This wisdom have I seen also under the sun, and it seemed great to me:[14] There was a little city, and few men within it; and there came a great king against it, and besieged it, and built great bulwarks against it:[15] Now there was found in it a poor wise man, and he by his wisdom delivered the city; yet no man remembered that same poor man.[16] Then said I, Wisdom is better than strength: nevertheless the poor man's wisdom is despised, and his words are not heard.[17] The words of wise men are heard in quiet more than the cry of him that rules among fools.[18] Wisdom is better than weapons of war: but one sinner destroys much good.

[1] Dead flies cause the ointment of the apothecary to send forth a stinking smell: so does a little folly him that is in reputation for wisdom and honor.

[2] A wise man's heart is at his right hand; but a fool's heart at his left.[3] Yes also, when he that is a fool walks by the way, his wisdom fails him, and he says to every one that he is a fool.[4] If the spirit of the ruler rise up against you, leave not your place; for yielding pacifies great offenses.[5] There is an evil which I have seen under the sun, as an error which proceeds from the ruler:[6] Folly is set in great dignity, and the rich sit in low place.[7] I have seen servants on horses, and princes walking as servants on the earth.[8] He that digs a pit shall fall into it; and whoever breaks an hedge, a serpent shall bite him.[9] Whoever removes stones shall be hurt therewith; and he that splits wood shall be endangered thereby.[10] If the iron be blunt, and he do not whet the edge, then must he put to more strength: but wisdom is profitable to direct.[11] Surely the serpent will bite without enchantment; and a babbler is no better.[12] The words of a wise man's mouth are gracious; but the lips of a fool will swallow up himself.[13] The beginning of the words of his mouth is foolishness: and the end of his talk is mischievous madness.[14] A fool also is full of words: a man cannot tell what shall be; and what shall be after him, who can tell him?[15] The labor of the foolish wearies every one of them, because he knows not how to go to the city. ¶[16] Woe to you, O land, when your king is a child, and your princes eat in the morning![17] Blessed are you, O land, when your king is the son of nobles, and your princes eat in due season, for strength, and not for drunkenness! ¶[18] By much slothfulness the building decays; and through idleness of the hands the house drops through. ¶[19] A feast is made for laughter, and wine makes merry: but money answers all things. ¶[20] Curse not the king, no not in your thought; and curse not the rich in your bedchamber: for a bird of the air shall carry the voice, and that which has wings shall tell the matter.

[1] Cast your bread on the waters: for you shall find it after many days.

[2] Give a portion to seven, and also to eight; for you know not what evil shall be on the earth.[3] If the clouds be full of rain, they empty themselves on the earth: and if the tree fall toward the south, or toward the north, in the place where the tree falls, there it shall be.[4] He that observes the wind shall not sow; and he that regards the clouds shall not reap.[5] As you know not what is the way of the spirit, nor how the bones do grow in the womb of her that is with child: even so you know not the works of God who makes all.[6] In the morning sow your seed, and in the evening withhold not your hand: for you know not whether shall prosper, either this or that, or whether they both shall be alike good. ¶[7] Truly the light is sweet, and a pleasant thing it is for the eyes to behold the sun:[8] But if a man live many years, and rejoice in them all; yet let him remember the days of darkness; for they shall be many. All that comes is vanity. ¶[9] Rejoice, O young man, in your youth; and let your heart cheer you in the days of your youth, and walk in the ways of your heart, and in the sight of your eyes: but know you, that for all these things God will bring you into judgment.[10] Therefore remove sorrow from your heart, and put away evil from your flesh: for childhood and youth are vanity.

[1] Remember now your Creator in the days of your youth, while the evil days come not, nor the years draw near,
when you shall say, I have no pleasure in them;

[2] While the sun, or the light, or the moon, or the stars, be not darkened, nor the clouds return after the rain:[3] In the day when the keepers of the house shall tremble, and the strong men shall bow themselves, and the grinders cease because they are few, and those that look out of the windows be darkened,[4] And the doors shall be shut in the streets, when the sound of the grinding is low, and he shall rise up at the voice of the bird, and all the daughters of music shall be brought low;[5] Also when they shall be afraid of that which is high, and fears shall be in the way, and the almond tree shall flourish, and the grasshopper shall be a burden, and desire shall fail:
because man goes to his long home, and the mourners go about the streets:[6] Or ever the silver cord be loosed, or the golden bowl be broken, or the pitcher be broken at the fountain, or the wheel broken at the cistern.[7] Then shall the dust return to the earth as it was: and the spirit shall return to God who gave it. ¶[8] Vanity of vanities, says the preacher; all is vanity.[9] And moreover, because the preacher was wise, he still taught the people knowledge; yes, he gave good heed, and sought out, and set in order many proverbs.[10] The preacher sought to find out acceptable words: and that which was written was upright, even words of truth.[11] The words of the wise are as goads, and as nails fastened by the masters of assemblies, which are given from one shepherd.[12]
And further, by these, my son, be admonished: of making many books there is no end; and much study is a weariness of the flesh. ¶[13] Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter: Fear God, and keep his commandments: for this is the whole duty of man.[14] For God shall bring every work into judgment, with every secret thing, whether it be good, or whether it be evil.

Song of Solomon

An Introduction to the Book of Song of Solomon

Called also, after the Vulgate, the “Canticles.” It is the “song of songs” (1:1), as being the finest and most precious of its kind; the noblest song, “das Hohelied,” as Luther calls it. The Solomonic authorship of this book has been called in question, but evidences, both internal and external, fairly establish the traditional view that it is the product of Solomon’s pen. It is an allegorical poem setting forth the mutual love of Christ and the Church, under the emblem of the bridegroom and the bride. (Compare Matt. 9:15; John 3:29; Eph. 5:23, 27, 29; Rev. 19:7-9; 21:2, 9; 22:17. Compare also Ps. 45; Isa. 54:4-6; 62:4, 5; Jer. 2:2; 3:1, 20; Ezek. 16; Hos. 2:16, 19, 20.)

[1] The song of songs, which is Solomon's.

[2] Let him kiss me with the kisses of his mouth: for your love is better than wine.[3] Because of the smell of your good ointments your name is as ointment poured forth, therefore do the virgins love you.[4] Draw me, we will run after you: the king has brought me into his chambers: we will be glad and rejoice in you, we will remember your love more than wine: the upright love you.[5] I am black, but comely, O you daughters of Jerusalem, as the tents of Kedar, as the curtains of Solomon.[6] Look not on me, because I am black, because the sun has looked on me: my mother's children were angry with me; they made me the keeper of the vineyards; but my own vineyard have I not kept.[7] Tell me, O you whom my soul loves, where you feed, where you make your flock to rest at noon: for why should I be as one that turns aside by the flocks of your companions? ¶[8] If you know not, O you fairest among women, go your way forth by the footsteps of the flock, and feed your kids beside the shepherds' tents.[9] I have compared you, O my love, to a company of horses in Pharaoh's chariots.[10] Your cheeks are comely with rows of jewels, your neck with chains of gold.[11] We will make you borders of gold with studs of silver. ¶[12] While the king sits at his table, my spikenard sends forth the smell thereof.[13] A bundle of myrrh is my well-beloved to me; he shall lie all night between my breasts.[14] My beloved is to me as a cluster of camphire in the vineyards of Engedi.[15] Behold, you are fair, my love; behold, you are fair; you have doves' eyes.[16] Behold, you are fair, my beloved, yes, pleasant: also our bed is green.[17] The beams of our house are cedar, and our rafters of fir.

[1] I am the rose of Sharon, and the lily of the valleys.

[2] As the lily among thorns, so is my love among the daughters.[3] As the apple tree among the trees of the wood, so is my beloved among the sons. I sat down under his shadow with great delight, and his fruit was sweet to my taste.[4] He brought me to the banqueting house, and his banner over me was love.[5] Stay me with flagons, comfort me with apples: for I am sick of love.[6] His left hand is under my head, and his right hand does embrace me.[7] I charge you, O you daughters of Jerusalem, by the roes, and by the hinds of the field, that you stir not up, nor awake my love, till he please. ¶[8] The voice of my beloved! behold, he comes leaping on the mountains, skipping on the hills.[9] My beloved is like a roe or a young hart: behold, he stands behind our wall, he looks forth at the windows, showing himself through the lattice.[10] My beloved spoke, and said to me, Rise up, my love, my fair one, and come away.[11] For, see, the winter is past, the rain is over and gone;[12] The flowers appear on the earth; the time of the singing of birds is come, and the voice of the turtle is heard in our land;[13] The fig tree puts forth her green figs, and the vines with the tender grape give a good smell. Arise, my love, my fair one, and come away. ¶[14] O my dove, that are in the clefts of the rock, in the secret places of the stairs, let me see your countenance, let me hear your voice; for sweet is your voice, and your countenance is comely.[15] Take us the foxes, the little foxes, that spoil the vines: for our vines have tender grapes. ¶[16] My beloved is mine, and I am his: he feeds among the lilies.[17] Until the day break, and the shadows flee away, turn, my beloved, and be you like a roe or a young hart on the mountains of Bether.

[1] By night on my bed I sought him whom my soul loves: I sought him, but I found him not.

[2] I will rise now, and go about the city in the streets, and in the broad ways I will seek him whom my soul loves: I sought him, but I found him not.[3] The watchmen that go about the city found me: to whom I said, Saw you him whom my soul loves?[4] It was but a little that I passed from them, but I found him whom my soul loves: I held him, and would not let him go, until I had brought him into my mother's house, and into the chamber of her that conceived me.[5] I charge you, O you daughters of Jerusalem, by the roes, and by the hinds of the field, that you stir not up, nor awake my love, till he please. ¶[6] Who is this that comes out of the wilderness like pillars of smoke, perfumed with myrrh and frankincense, with all powders of the merchant?[7] Behold his bed, which is Solomon's; three score valiant men are about it, of the valiant of Israel.[8] They all hold swords, being expert in war: every man has his sword on his thigh because of fear in the night.[9] King Solomon made himself a chariot of the wood of Lebanon.[10] He made the pillars thereof of silver, the bottom thereof of gold, the covering of it of purple, the middle thereof being paved with love, for the daughters of Jerusalem.[11] Go forth, O you daughters of Zion, and behold king Solomon with the crown with which his mother crowned him in the day of his espousals, and in the day of the gladness of his heart.

[1] Behold, you are fair, my love; behold, you are fair; you have doves' eyes within your locks: your hair is as a flock of goats, that appear from mount Gilead.

[2] Your teeth are like a flock of sheep that are even shorn, which came up from the washing; whereof every one bear twins, and none is barren among them.[3] Your lips are like a thread of scarlet, and your speech is comely: your temples are like a piece of a pomegranate within your locks.[4] Your neck is like the tower of David built for an armory, where on there hang a thousand bucklers, all shields of mighty men.[5] Your two breasts are like two young roes that are twins, which feed among the lilies.[6] Until the day break, and the shadows flee away, I will get me to the mountain of myrrh, and to the hill of frankincense.[7] You are all fair, my love; there is no spot in you. ¶[8] Come with me from Lebanon, my spouse, with me from Lebanon: look from the top of Amana, from the top of Shenir and Hermon, from the lions' dens, from the mountains of the leopards.[9] You have ravished my heart, my sister, my spouse; you have ravished my heart with one of your eyes, with one chain of your neck.[10] How fair is your love, my sister, my spouse! how much better is your love than wine! and the smell of your ointments than all spices![11] Your lips, O my spouse, drop as the honeycomb: honey and milk are under your tongue; and the smell of your garments is like the smell of Lebanon.[12] A garden enclosed is my sister, my spouse; a spring shut up, a fountain sealed.[13] Your plants are an orchard of pomegranates, with pleasant fruits; camphire, with spikenard,[14] Spikenard and saffron; calamus and cinnamon, with all trees of frankincense; myrrh and aloes, with all the chief spices:[15] A fountain of gardens, a well of living waters, and streams from Lebanon. ¶[16] Awake, O north wind; and come, you south; blow on my garden, that the spices thereof may flow out. Let my beloved come into his garden, and eat his pleasant fruits.

[1] I am come into my garden, my sister, my spouse: I have gathered my myrrh with my spice; I have eaten my honeycomb with my honey; I have drunk my wine with my milk: eat, O friends; drink, yes, drink abundantly, O beloved. ¶

[2] I sleep, but my heart wakes: it is the voice of my beloved that knocks, saying, Open to me, my sister, my love, my dove, my undefiled: for my head is filled with dew, and my locks with the drops of the night.[3] I have put off my coat; how shall I put it on? I have washed my feet; how shall I defile them?[4] My beloved put in his hand by the hole of the door, and my bowels were moved for him.[5] I rose up to open to my beloved; and my hands dropped with myrrh, and my fingers with sweet smelling myrrh, on the handles of the lock.[6] I opened to my beloved; but my beloved had withdrawn himself, and was gone: my soul failed when he spoke: I sought him, but I could not find him; I called him, but he gave me no answer.[7] The watchmen that went about the city found me, they smote me, they wounded me; the keepers of the walls took away my veil from me.[8] I charge you, O daughters of Jerusalem, if you find my beloved, that you tell him, that I am sick of love. ¶[9] What is your beloved more than another beloved, O you fairest among women? what is your beloved more than another beloved, that you do so charge us?[10] My beloved is white and ruddy, the most chief among ten thousand.[11] His head is as the most fine gold, his locks are bushy, and black as a raven.[12] His eyes are as the eyes of doves by the rivers of waters, washed with milk, and fitly set.[13] His cheeks are as a bed of spices, as sweet flowers: his lips like lilies, dropping sweet smelling myrrh.[14] His hands are as gold rings set with the beryl: his belly is as bright ivory overlaid with sapphires.[15] His legs are as pillars of marble, set on sockets of fine gold: his countenance is as Lebanon, excellent as the cedars.[16] His mouth is most sweet: yes, he is altogether lovely. This is my beloved, and this is my friend, O daughters of Jerusalem.

[1] Where is your beloved gone, O you fairest among women? where is your beloved turned aside? that we may seek him with you.

[2] My beloved is gone down into his garden, to the beds of spices, to feed in the gardens, and to gather lilies.[3] I am my beloved's, and my beloved is mine: he feeds among the lilies. ¶[4] You are beautiful, O my love, as Tirzah, comely as Jerusalem, terrible as an army with banners.[5] Turn away your eyes from me, for they have overcome me: your hair is as a flock of goats that appear from Gilead.[6] Your teeth are as a flock of sheep which go up from the washing, whereof every one bears twins, and there is not one barren among them.[7] As a piece of a pomegranate are your temples within your locks.[8] There are three score queens, and fourscore concubines, and virgins without number.[9] My dove, my undefiled is but one; she is the only one of her mother, she is the choice one of her that bore her. The daughters saw her, and blessed her; yes, the queens and the concubines, and they praised her. ¶[10] Who is she that looks forth as the morning, fair as the moon, clear as the sun, and terrible as an army with banners?[11] I went down into the garden of nuts to see the fruits of the valley, and to see whether the vine flourished and the pomegranates budded.[12] Or ever I was aware, my soul made me like the chariots of Amminadib.[13] Return, return, O Shulamite; return, return, that we may look on you. What will you see in the Shulamite? As it were the company of two armies.

[1] How beautiful are your feet with shoes, O prince's daughter! the joints of your thighs are like jewels, the work of the hands of a cunning workman.

[2] Your navel is like a round goblet, which wants not liquor: your belly is like an heap of wheat set about with lilies.[3] Your two breasts are like two young roes that are twins.[4] Your neck is as a tower of ivory; your eyes like the fish pools in Heshbon, by the gate of Bathrabbim: your nose is as the tower of Lebanon which looks toward Damascus.[5] Your head on you is like Carmel, and the hair of your head like purple; the king is held in the galleries.[6] How fair and how pleasant are you, O love, for delights![7] This your stature is like to a palm tree, and your breasts to clusters of grapes.[8] I said, I will go up to the palm tree, I will take hold of the boughs thereof: now also your breasts shall be as clusters of the vine, and the smell of your nose like apples;[9] And the roof of your mouth like the best wine for my beloved, that goes down sweetly, causing the lips of those that are asleep to speak. ¶[10] I am my beloved's, and his desire is toward me.[11] Come, my beloved, let us go forth into the field; let us lodge in the villages.[12] Let us get up early to the vineyards; let us see if the vine flourish, whether the tender grape appear, and the pomegranates bud forth: there will I give you my loves.[13] The mandrakes give a smell, and at our gates are all manner of pleasant fruits, new and old, which I have laid up for you, O my beloved.

[1] O that you were as my brother, that sucked the breasts of my mother! when I should find you without, I would kiss you; yes, I should not be despised.

[2] I would lead you, and bring you into my mother's house, who would instruct me: I would cause you to drink of spiced wine of the juice of my pomegranate.[3] His left hand should be under my head, and his right hand should embrace me.[4] I charge you, O daughters of Jerusalem, that you stir not up, nor awake my love, until he please.[5] Who is this that comes up from the wilderness, leaning on her beloved? I raised you up under the apple tree: there your mother brought you forth: there she brought you forth that bore you. ¶[6] Set me as a seal on your heart, as a seal on your arm: for love is strong as death; jealousy is cruel as the grave: the coals thereof are coals of fire, which has a most vehement flame.[7] Many waters cannot quench love, neither can the floods drown it: if a man would give all the substance of his house for love, it would utterly be scorned. ¶[8] We have a little sister, and she has no breasts: what shall we do for our sister in the day when she shall be spoken for?[9] If she be a wall, we will build on her a palace of silver: and if she be a door, we will enclose her with boards of cedar.[10] I am a wall, and my breasts like towers: then was I in his eyes as one that found favor.[11] Solomon had a vineyard at Baalhamon; he let out the vineyard to keepers; every one for the fruit thereof was to bring a thousand pieces of silver.[12] My vineyard, which is mine, is before me: you, O Solomon, must have a thousand, and those that keep the fruit thereof two hundred.[13] You that dwell in the gardens, the companions listen to your voice: cause me to hear it. ¶[14] Make haste, my beloved, and be you like to a roe or to a young hart on the mountains of spices.

Isaiah

An Introduction to the Book of Isaiah

Consists of prophecies delivered (Isa. 1) in the reign of Uzziah (1-5), (2) of Jotham (6), (3) Ahaz (7-14:28), (4) the first half of Hezekiah's reign (14:28-35), (5) the second half of Hezekiah's reign (36-66). Thus, counting from the fourth year before Uzziah's death (B.C. 762) to the last year of Hezekiah (B.C. 698), Isaiah's ministry extended over a period of sixty-four years. He may, however, have survived Hezekiah, and may have perished in the way indicated above.

The book, as a whole, has been divided into three main parts: (1.) The first thirty-five chapters, almost wholly prophetic, Israel's enemy Assyria, present the Messiah as a mighty Ruler and King. (2.) Four chapters are historical (36-39), relating to the times of Hezekiah. (3.) Prophetical (40-66), Israel's enemy Babylon, describing the Messiah as a suffering victim, meek and lowly.

The genuineness of the section Isa. 40-66 has been keenly opposed by able critics. They assert that it must be the production of a deutero-Isaiah, who lived toward the close of the Babylonian captivity. This theory was originated by Koppe, a German writer at the close of the last century. There are other portions of the book also (e.g., ch. 13; 24-27; and certain verses in ch. 14 and 21) which they attribute to some other prophet than Isaiah. Thus they say that some five or seven, or even more, unknown prophets had a hand in the production of this book. The considerations which have led to such a result are various: (1.) They cannot, as some say, conceive it possible that Isaiah, living in B.C. 700, could foretell the appearance and the exploits of a prince called Cyrus, who would set the Jews free from captivity one hundred and seventy years after. (2.) It is alleged that the prophet takes the time of the Captivity as his standpoint, and speaks of it as then present; and (3) that there is such a difference between the style and language of the closing section (40-66) and those of the preceding chapters as to necessitate a different authorship, and lead to the conclusion that there were at least two Isaiahs. But even granting the fact of a great diversity of style and language, this will not necessitate the conclusion attempted to be drawn from it. The diversity of subjects treated of and the peculiarities of the prophet's position at the time the prophecies were uttered will sufficiently account for this.

The arguments in favour of the unity of the book are quite conclusive. When the LXX. version was made (about B.C. 250) the entire contents of the book were ascribed to Isaiah, the son of Amoz. It is not called in question, moreover, that in the time of our Lord the book existed in the form in which we now have it. Many prophecies in the disputed portions are quoted in the New Testament as the words of Isaiah (Matt. 3:3; Luke 3:4-6; 4:16-41; John 12:38; Acts 8:28; Rom. 10:16-21). Universal and persistent tradition has ascribed the whole book to one author.

Besides this, the internal evidence, the similarity in the language and style, in the thoughts and images and rhetorical ornaments, all points to the same conclusion; and its local colouring and allusions show that it is obviously of Palestinian origin. The theory therefore of a double authorship of the book, much less of a manifold authorship, cannot be maintained. The book, with all the diversity of its contents, is one, and is, we believe, the production of the great prophet whose name it bears.

[1] The vision of Isaiah the son of Amoz, which he saw concerning Judah and Jerusalem in the days of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, kings of Judah.

[2] Hear, O heavens, and give ear, O earth: for the LORD has spoken, I have nourished and brought up children, and they have rebelled against me.[3] The ox knows his owner, and the ass his master's crib: but Israel does not know, my people does not consider.[4] Ah sinful nation, a people laden with iniquity, a seed of evildoers, children that are corrupters: they have forsaken the LORD, they have provoked the Holy One of Israel to anger, they are gone away backward. ¶[5] Why should you be stricken any more? you will revolt more and more: the whole head is sick, and the whole heart faint.[6] From the sole of the foot even to the head there is no soundness in it; but wounds, and bruises, and putrefying sores: they have not been closed, neither bound up, neither mollified with ointment.[7] Your country is desolate, your cities are burned with fire: your land, strangers devour it in your presence, and it is desolate, as overthrown by strangers.[8] And the daughter of Zion is left as a cottage in a vineyard, as a lodge in a garden of cucumbers, as a besieged city.[9] Except the LORD of hosts had left to us a very small remnant, we should have been as Sodom, and we should have been like to Gomorrah. ¶[10] Hear the word of the LORD, you rulers of Sodom; give ear to the law of our God, you people of Gomorrah.[11] To what purpose is the multitude of your sacrifices to me? says the LORD: I am full of the burnt offerings of rams, and the fat of fed beasts; and I delight not in the blood of bullocks, or of lambs, or of he goats.[12] When you come to appear before me, who has required this at your hand, to tread my courts?[13] Bring no more vain oblations; incense is an abomination to me; the new moons and sabbaths, the calling of assemblies, I cannot away with; it is iniquity, even the solemn meeting.[14] Your new moons and your appointed feasts my soul hates: they are a trouble to me; I am weary to bear them.[15] And when you spread forth your hands, I will hide my eyes from you: yes, when you make many prayers, I will not hear: your hands are full of blood. ¶[16] Wash you, make you clean; put away the evil of your doings from before my eyes; cease to do evil;[17] Learn to do well; seek judgment, relieve the oppressed, judge the fatherless, plead for the widow.[18] Come now, and let us reason together, says the LORD: though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool.[19] If you be willing and obedient, you shall eat the good of the land:[20] But if you refuse and rebel, you shall be devoured with the sword: for the mouth of the LORD has spoken it. ¶[21] How is the faithful city become an harlot! it was full of judgment; righteousness lodged in it; but now murderers.[22] Your silver is become dross, your wine mixed with water:[23] Your princes are rebellious, and companions of thieves: every one loves gifts, and follows after rewards: they judge not the fatherless, neither does the cause of the widow come to them.[24] Therefore says the LORD, the LORD of hosts, the mighty One of Israel, Ah, I will ease me of my adversaries, and avenge me of my enemies: ¶[25] And I will turn my hand on you, and purely purge away your dross, and take away all your tin:[26] And I will restore your judges as at the first, and your counsellors as at the beginning: afterward you shall be called, The city of righteousness, the faithful city.[27] Zion shall be redeemed with judgment, and her converts with righteousness. ¶[28] And the destruction of the transgressors and of the sinners shall be together, and they that forsake the LORD shall be consumed.[29] For they shall be ashamed of the oaks which you have desired, and you shall be confounded for the gardens that you have chosen.[30] For you shall be as an oak whose leaf fades, and as a garden that has no water.[31] And the strong shall be as wick, and the maker of it as a spark, and they shall both burn together, and none shall quench them.

[1] The word that Isaiah the son of Amoz saw concerning Judah and Jerusalem.

[2] And it shall come to pass in the last days, that the mountain of the LORD's house shall be established in the top of the mountains, and shall be exalted above the hills; and all nations shall flow to it.[3] And many people shall go and say, Come you, and let us go up to the mountain of the LORD, to the house of the God of Jacob; and he will teach us of his ways, and we will walk in his paths: for out of Zion shall go forth the law, and the word of the LORD from Jerusalem.[4] And he shall judge among the nations, and shall rebuke many people: and they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning hooks: nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more.[5] O house of Jacob, come you, and let us walk in the light of the LORD. ¶[6] Therefore you have forsaken your people the house of Jacob, because they be replenished from the east, and are soothsayers like the Philistines, and they please themselves in the children of strangers.[7] Their land also is full of silver and gold, neither is there any end of their treasures; their land is also full of horses, neither is there any end of their chariots:[8] Their land also is full of idols; they worship the work of their own hands, that which their own fingers have made:[9] And the mean man bows down, and the great man humbles himself: therefore forgive them not. ¶[10] Enter into the rock, and hide you in the dust, for fear of the LORD, and for the glory of his majesty.[11] The lofty looks of man shall be humbled, and the haughtiness of men shall be bowed down, and the LORD alone shall be exalted in that day.[12] For the day of the LORD of hosts shall be on every one that is proud and lofty, and on every one that is lifted up; and he shall be brought low:[13] And on all the cedars of Lebanon, that are high and lifted up, and on all the oaks of Bashan,[14] And on all the high mountains, and on all the hills that are lifted up,[15] And on every high tower, and on every fenced wall,[16] And on all the ships of Tarshish, and on all pleasant pictures.[17] And the loftiness of man shall be bowed down, and the haughtiness of men shall be made low: and the LORD alone shall be exalted in that day.[18] And the idols he shall utterly abolish.[19] And they shall go into the holes of the rocks, and into the caves of the earth, for fear of the LORD, and for the glory of his majesty, when he rises to shake terribly the earth.[20] In that day a man shall cast his idols of silver, and his idols of gold, which they made each one for himself to worship, to the moles and to the bats;[21] To go into the clefts of the rocks, and into the tops of the ragged rocks, for fear of the LORD, and for the glory of his majesty, when he rises to shake terribly the earth.[22] Cease you from man, whose breath is in his nostrils: for wherein is he to be accounted of ?

[1] For, behold, the Lord, the LORD of hosts, does take away from Jerusalem and from Judah the stay and the staff, the whole stay of bread, and the whole stay of water.

[2] The mighty man, and the man of war, the judge, and the prophet, and the prudent, and the ancient,[3] The captain of fifty, and the honorable man, and the counselor, and the cunning artificer, and the eloquent orator.[4] And I will give children to be their princes, and babes shall rule over them.[5] And the people shall be oppressed, every one by another, and every one by his neighbor: the child shall behave himself proudly against the ancient, and the base against the honorable.[6] When a man shall take hold of his brother of the house of his father, saying, You have clothing, be you our ruler, and let this ruin be under your hand:[7] In that day shall he swear, saying, I will not be an healer; for in my house is neither bread nor clothing: make me not a ruler of the people.[8] For Jerusalem is ruined, and Judah is fallen: because their tongue and their doings are against the LORD, to provoke the eyes of his glory. ¶[9] The show of their countenance does witness against them; and they declare their sin as Sodom, they hide it not. Woe to their soul! for they have rewarded evil to themselves.[10] Say you to the righteous, that it shall be well with him: for they shall eat the fruit of their doings.[11] Woe to the wicked! it shall be ill with him: for the reward of his hands shall be given him. ¶[12] As for my people, children are their oppressors, and women rule over them. O my people, they which lead you cause you to err, and destroy the way of your paths.[13] The LORD stands up to plead, and stands to judge the people.[14] The LORD will enter into judgment with the ancients of his people, and the princes thereof: for you have eaten up the vineyard;

the spoil of the poor is in your houses.[15] What mean you that you beat my people to pieces, and grind the faces of the poor? says the Lord GOD of hosts. ¶[16] Moreover the LORD says, Because the daughters of Zion are haughty, and walk with stretched forth necks and wanton eyes, walking and mincing as they go, and making a tinkling with their feet:[17] Therefore the LORD will smite with a scab the crown of the head of the daughters of Zion, and the LORD will discover their secret parts.[18] In that day the Lord will take away the bravery of their tinkling ornaments about their feet, and their cauls, and their round tires like the moon,[19] The chains, and the bracelets, and the mufflers,[20] The bonnets, and the ornaments of the legs, and the headbands, and the tablets, and the earrings,[21] The rings, and nose jewels,[22] The changeable suits of apparel, and the mantles, and the wimples, and the crisping pins,[23] The glasses, and the fine linen, and the hoods, and the veils.[24] And it shall come to pass, that instead of sweet smell there shall be stink; and instead of a girdle a rent; and instead of well set hair baldness; and instead of a stomacher a girding of sackcloth; and burning instead of beauty.[25] Your men shall fall by the sword, and your mighty in the war.[26] And her gates shall lament and mourn; and she being desolate shall sit on the ground.

[1] And in that day seven women shall take hold of one man, saying, We will eat our own bread, and wear our own apparel: only let us be called by your name, to take away our reproach.

[2] In that day shall the branch of the LORD be beautiful and glorious, and the fruit of the earth shall be excellent and comely for them that are escaped of Israel.[3] And it shall come to pass, that he that is left in Zion, and he that remains in Jerusalem, shall be called holy, even every one that is written among the living in Jerusalem:[4] When the Lord shall have washed away the filth of the daughters of Zion, and shall have purged the blood of Jerusalem from the middle thereof by the spirit of judgment, and by the spirit of burning.[5] And the LORD will create on every dwelling place of mount Zion, and on her assemblies, a cloud and smoke by day, and the shining of a flaming fire by night: for on all the glory shall be a defense.[6] And there shall be a tabernacle for a shadow in the day time from the heat, and for a place of refuge, and for a covert from storm and from rain.

[1] Now will I sing to my well beloved a song of my beloved touching his vineyard. My well beloved has a vineyard in a very fruitful hill:

[2] And he fenced it, and gathered out the stones thereof, and planted it with the choicest vine, and built a tower in the middle of it, and also made a wine press therein: and he looked that it should bring forth grapes, and it brought forth wild grapes.[3] And now, O inhabitants of Jerusalem, and men of Judah, judge, I pray you, between me and my vineyard.[4] What could have been done more to my vineyard, that I have not done in it? why, when I looked that it should bring forth grapes, brought it forth wild grapes?[5] And now go to; I will tell you what I will do to my vineyard: I will take away the hedge thereof, and it shall be eaten up; and break down the wall thereof, and it shall be trodden down:[6] And I will lay it waste: it shall not be pruned, nor dig; but there shall come up briers and thorns: I will also command the clouds that they rain no rain on it.[7] For the vineyard of the LORD of hosts is the house of Israel, and the men of Judah his pleasant plant: and he looked for judgment, but behold oppression; for righteousness, but behold a cry. ¶[8] Woe to them that join house to house, that lay field to field, till there be no place, that they may be placed alone in the middle of the earth![9] In my ears said the LORD of hosts, Of a truth many houses shall be desolate, even great and fair, without inhabitant.[10] Yes, ten acres of vineyard shall yield one bath, and the seed of an homer shall yield an ephah. ¶[11] Woe to them that rise up early in the morning, that they may follow strong drink; that continue until night, till wine inflame them![12] And the harp, and the viol, the tabret, and pipe, and wine, are in their feasts: but they regard not the work of the LORD, neither consider the operation of his hands. ¶[13] Therefore my people are gone into captivity, because they have no knowledge: and their honorable men are famished, and their multitude dried up with thirst.[14] Therefore hell has enlarged herself, and opened her mouth without measure: and their glory, and their multitude, and their pomp, and he that rejoices, shall descend into it.[15] And the mean man shall be brought down, and the mighty man shall be humbled, and the eyes of the lofty shall be humbled:[16] But the LORD of hosts shall be exalted in judgment, and God that is holy shall be sanctified in righteousness.[17] Then shall the lambs feed after their manner, and the waste places of the fat ones shall strangers eat.[18] Woe to them that draw iniquity with cords of vanity, and sin as it were with a cart rope:[19] That say, Let him make speed, and hasten his work, that we may see it: and let the counsel of the Holy One of Israel draw near and come, that we may know it! ¶[20] Woe to them that call evil good, and good evil; that put darkness for light, and light for darkness; that put bitter for sweet, and sweet for bitter![21] Woe to them that are wise in their own eyes, and prudent in their own sight![22] Woe to them that are mighty to drink wine, and men of strength to mingle strong drink:[23] Which justify the wicked for reward, and take away the righteousness of the righteous from him![24] Therefore as the fire devours the stubble, and the flame consumes the chaff, so their root shall be as rottenness, and their blossom shall go up as dust: because they have cast away the law of the LORD of hosts, and despised the word of the Holy One of Israel.[25] Therefore is the anger of the LORD kindled against his people, and he has stretched forth his hand against them, and has smitten them: and the hills did tremble, and their carcasses were torn in the middle of the streets. For all this his anger is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still. ¶[26] And he will lift up an ensign to the nations from far, and will hiss to them from the end of the earth: and, behold, they shall come with speed swiftly:[27] None shall be weary nor stumble among them; none shall slumber nor sleep; neither shall the girdle of their loins be loosed, nor the lace of their shoes be broken:[28] Whose arrows are sharp, and all their bows bent, their horses' hoofs shall be counted like flint, and their wheels like a whirlwind:[29] Their roaring shall be like a lion, they shall roar like young lions: yes, they shall roar, and lay hold of the prey, and shall carry it away safe, and none shall deliver it.[30] And in that day they shall roar against them like the roaring of the sea: and if one look to the land, behold darkness and sorrow, and the light is darkened in the heavens thereof.

[1] In the year that king Uzziah died I saw also the LORD sitting on a throne, high and lifted up, and his train filled the temple.

[2] Above it stood the seraphim: each one had six wings; with two he covered his face, and with two he covered his feet, and with two he did fly.[3] And one cried to another, and said, Holy, holy, holy, is the LORD of hosts: the whole earth is full of his glory.[4] And the posts of the door moved at the voice of him that cried, and the house was filled with smoke. ¶[5] Then said I, Woe is me! for I am undone; because I am a man of unclean lips, and I dwell in the middle of a people of unclean lips: for my eyes have seen the King, the LORD of hosts.[6] Then flew one of the seraphim to me, having a live coal in his hand, which he had taken with the tongs from off the altar:[7] And he laid it on my mouth, and said, See, this has touched your lips; and your iniquity is taken away, and your sin purged.[8] Also I heard the voice of the Lord, saying, Whom shall I send, and who will go for us? Then said I, Here am I; send me. ¶[9] And he said, Go, and tell this people, Hear you indeed, but understand not; and see you indeed, but perceive not.[10] Make the heart of this people fat, and make their ears heavy, and shut their eyes; lest they see with their eyes, and hear with their ears, and understand with their heart, and convert, and be healed.[11] Then said I, Lord, how long? And he answered, Until the cities be wasted without inhabitant, and the houses without man, and the land be utterly desolate,[12] And the LORD have removed men far away, and there be a great forsaking in the middle of the land. ¶[13] But yet in it shall be a tenth, and it shall return, and shall be eaten: as a teil tree, and as an oak, whose substance is in them, when they cast their leaves: so the holy seed shall be the substance thereof.

[1] And it came to pass in the days of Ahaz the son of Jotham, the son of Uzziah, king of Judah, that Rezin the king of Syria, and Pekah the son of Remaliah, king of Israel, went up toward Jerusalem to war against it, but could not prevail against it.

[2] And it was told the house of David, saying, Syria is confederate with Ephraim. And his heart was moved, and the heart of his people, as the trees of the wood are moved with the wind.[3] Then said the LORD to Isaiah, Go forth now to meet Ahaz, you, and Shearjashub your son, at the end of the conduit of the upper pool in the highway of the fuller's field;[4] And say to him, Take heed, and be quiet; fear not, neither be fainthearted for the two tails of these smoking firebrands, for the fierce anger of Rezin with Syria, and of the son of Remaliah.[5] Because Syria, Ephraim, and the son of Remaliah, have taken evil counsel against you, saying,[6] Let us go up against Judah, and vex it, and let us make a breach therein for us, and set a king in the middle of it, even the son of Tabeal:[7] Thus says the Lord GOD, It shall not stand, neither shall it come to pass.[8] For the head of Syria is Damascus, and the head of Damascus is Rezin; and within three score and five years shall Ephraim be broken, that it be not a people.[9] And the head of Ephraim is Samaria, and the head of Samaria is Remaliah's son. If you will not believe, surely you shall not be established. ¶[10] Moreover the LORD spoke again to Ahaz, saying,[11] Ask you a sign of the LORD your God; ask it either in the depth, or in the height above.[12] But Ahaz said, I will not ask, neither will I tempt the LORD.[13] And he said, Hear you now, O house of David; Is it a small thing for you to weary men, but will you weary my God also?[14] Therefore the Lord himself shall give you a sign; Behold, a virgin shall conceive, and bear a son, and shall call his name Immanuel.[15] Butter and honey shall he eat, that he may know to refuse the evil, and choose the good.[16] For before the child shall know to refuse the evil, and choose the good, the land that you abhor shall be forsaken of both her kings. ¶[17] The LORD shall bring on you, and on your people, and on your father's house, days that have not come, from the day that Ephraim departed from Judah; even the king of Assyria.[18] And it shall come to pass in that day, that the LORD shall hiss for the fly that is in the uttermost part of the rivers of Egypt, and for the bee that is in the land of Assyria.[19] And they shall come, and shall rest all of them in the desolate valleys, and in the holes of the rocks, and on all thorns, and on all bushes.[20] In the same day shall the Lord shave with a razor that is hired, namely, by them beyond the river, by the king of Assyria, the head, and the hair of the feet: and it shall also consume the beard.[21] And it shall come to pass in that day, that a man shall nourish a young cow, and two sheep;[22] And it shall come to pass, for the abundance of milk that they shall give he shall eat butter: for butter and honey shall every one eat that is left in the land.[23] And it shall come to pass in that day, that every place shall be, where there were a thousand vines at a thousand sliver coins, it shall even be for briers and thorns.[24] With arrows and with bows shall men come thither; because all the land shall become briers and thorns.[25] And on all hills that shall be dig with the mattock, there shall not come thither the fear of briers and thorns: but it shall be for the sending forth of oxen, and for the treading of lesser cattle.

[1] Moreover the LORD said to me, Take you a great roll, and write in it with a man's pen concerning Mahershalalhashbaz.

[2] And I took to me faithful witnesses to record, Uriah the priest, and Zechariah the son of Jeberechiah.[3] And I went to the prophetess; and she conceived, and bore a son. Then said the LORD to me, Call his name Mahershalalhashbaz.[4] For before the child shall have knowledge to cry, My father, and my mother, the riches of Damascus and the spoil of Samaria shall be taken away before the king of Assyria. ¶[5] The LORD spoke also to me again, saying,[6] For as much as this people refuses the waters of Shiloah that go softly, and rejoice in Rezin and Remaliah's son;[7] Now therefore, behold, the Lord brings up on them the waters of the river, strong and many, even the king of Assyria, and all his glory: and he shall come up over all his channels, and go over all his banks:[8] And he shall pass through Judah; he shall overflow and go over, he shall reach even to the neck; and the stretching out of his wings shall fill the breadth of your land, O Immanuel. ¶[9] Associate yourselves, O you people, and you shall be broken in pieces; and give ear, all you of far countries: gird yourselves, and you shall be broken in pieces; gird yourselves, and you shall be broken in pieces.[10] Take counsel together, and it shall come to nothing; speak the word, and it shall not stand: for God is with us. ¶[11] For the LORD spoke thus to me with a strong hand, and instructed me that I should not walk in the way of this people, saying,[12] Say you not, A confederacy, to all them to whom this people shall say, A confederacy; neither fear you their fear, nor be afraid.[13] Sanctify the LORD of hosts himself; and let him be your fear, and let him be your dread.[14] And he shall be for a sanctuary; but for a stone of stumbling and for a rock of offense to both the houses of Israel, for a gin and for a snare to the inhabitants of Jerusalem.[15] And many among them shall stumble, and fall, and be broken, and be snared, and be taken.[16] Bind up the testimony, seal the law among my disciples.[17] And I will wait on the LORD, that hides his face from the house of Jacob, and I will look for him.[18] Behold, I and the children whom the LORD has given me are for signs and for wonders in Israel from the LORD of hosts, which dwells in mount Zion. ¶[19] And when they shall say to you, Seek to them that have familiar spirits, and to wizards that peep, and that mutter: should not a people seek to their God? for the living to the dead?[20] To the law and to the testimony: if they speak not according to this word, it is because there is no light in them.[21] And they shall pass through it, hardly bestead and hungry: and it shall come to pass, that when they shall be hungry, they shall fret themselves, and curse their king and their God, and look upward.[22] And they shall look to the earth; and behold trouble and darkness, dimness of anguish; and they shall be driven to darkness.

[1] Nevertheless the dimness shall not be such as was in her vexation, when at the first he lightly afflicted the land of Zebulun and the land of Naphtali, and afterward did more grievously afflict her by the way of the sea, beyond Jordan, in Galilee of the nations.

[2] The people that walked in darkness have seen a great light: they that dwell in the land of the shadow of death, on them has the light shined.[3] You have multiplied the nation, and not increased the joy: they joy before you according to the joy in harvest, and as men rejoice when they divide the spoil.[4] For you have broken the yoke of his burden, and the staff of his shoulder, the rod of his oppressor, as in the day of Midian.[5] For every battle of the warrior is with confused noise, and garments rolled in blood; but this shall be with burning and fuel of fire.[6] For to us a child is born, to us a son is given: and the government shall be on his shoulder: and his name shall be called Wonderful, Counselor, The mighty God, The everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace.[7] Of the increase of his government and peace there shall be no end, on the throne of David, and on his kingdom, to order it, and to establish it with judgment and with justice from now on even for ever. The zeal of the LORD of hosts will perform this. ¶[8] The Lord sent a word into Jacob, and it has lighted on Israel.[9] And all the people shall know, even Ephraim and the inhabitant of Samaria, that say in the pride and stoutness of heart,[10] The bricks are fallen down, but we will build with hewn stones: the sycomores are cut down, but we will change them into cedars.[11] Therefore the LORD shall set up the adversaries of Rezin against him, and join his enemies together;[12] The Syrians before, and the Philistines behind; and they shall devour Israel with open mouth. For all this his anger is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still. ¶[13] For the people turns not to him that smites them, neither do they seek the LORD of hosts.[14] Therefore the LORD will cut off from Israel head and tail, branch and rush, in one day.[15] The ancient and honorable, he is the head; and the prophet that teaches lies, he is the tail.[16] For the leaders of this people cause them to err; and they that are led of them are destroyed.[17] Therefore the LORD shall have no joy in their young men, neither shall have mercy on their fatherless and widows: for every one is an hypocrite and an evildoer, and every mouth speaks folly. For all this his anger is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still. ¶[18] For wickedness burns as the fire: it shall devour the briers and thorns, and shall kindle in the thickets of the forest, and they shall mount up like the lifting up of smoke.[19] Through the wrath of the LORD of hosts is the land darkened, and the people shall be as the fuel of the fire: no man shall spare his brother.[20] And he shall snatch on the right hand, and be hungry; and he shall eat on the left hand, and they shall not be satisfied: they shall eat every man the flesh of his own arm:[21] Manasseh, Ephraim; and Ephraim, Manasseh: and they together shall be against Judah. For all this his anger is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

[1] Woe to them that decree unrighteous decrees, and that write grievousness which they have prescribed;

[2] To turn aside the needy from judgment, and to take away the right from the poor of my people, that widows may be their prey, and that they may rob the fatherless![3] And what will you do in the day of visitation, and in the desolation which shall come from far? to whom will you flee for help? and where will you leave your glory?[4] Without me they shall bow down under the prisoners, and they shall fall under the slain. For all this his anger is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still. ¶[5] O Assyrian, the rod of my anger, and the staff in their hand is my indignation.[6] I will send him against an hypocritical nation, and against the people of my wrath will I give him a charge, to take the spoil, and to take the prey, and to tread them down like the mire of the streets.[7] However, he means not so, neither does his heart think so; but it is in his heart to destroy and cut off nations not a few.[8] For he says, Are not my princes altogether kings?[9] Is not Calno as Carchemish? is not Hamath as Arpad? is not Samaria as Damascus?[10] As my hand has found the kingdoms of the idols, and whose graven images did excel them of Jerusalem and of Samaria;[11] Shall I not, as I have done to Samaria and her idols, so do to Jerusalem and her idols?[12] Why it shall come to pass, that when the Lord has performed his whole work on mount Zion and on Jerusalem, I will punish the fruit of the stout heart of the king of Assyria, and the glory of his high looks.[13] For he says, By the strength of my hand I have done it, and by my wisdom; for I am prudent: and I have removed the bounds of the people, and have robbed their treasures, and I have put down the inhabitants like a valiant man:[14] And my hand has found as a nest the riches of the people: and as one gathers eggs that are left, have I gathered all the earth; and there was none that moved the wing, or opened the mouth, or peeped.[15] Shall the ax boast itself against him that hews therewith? or shall the saw magnify itself against him that shakes it? as if the rod should shake itself against them that lift it up, or as if the staff should lift up itself, as if it were no wood.[16] Therefore shall the Lord, the Lord of hosts, send among his fat ones leanness; and under his glory he shall kindle a burning like the burning of a fire.[17] And the light of Israel shall be for a fire, and his Holy One for a flame: and it shall burn and devour his thorns and his briers in one day;[18] And shall consume the glory of his forest, and of his fruitful field, both soul and body: and they shall be as when a standard-bearer faints.[19] And the rest of the trees of his forest shall be few, that a child may write them. ¶[20] And it shall come to pass in that day, that the remnant of Israel, and such as are escaped of the house of Jacob, shall no more again stay on him that smote them; but shall stay on the LORD, the Holy One of Israel, in truth.[21] The remnant shall return, even the remnant of Jacob, to the mighty God.[22] For though your people Israel be as the sand of the sea, yet a remnant of them shall return: the consumption decreed shall overflow with righteousness.[23] For the Lord GOD of hosts shall make a consumption, even determined, in the middle of all the land. ¶[24] Therefore thus says the Lord GOD of hosts, O my people that dwell in Zion, be not afraid of the Assyrian: he shall smite you with a rod, and shall lift up his staff against you, after the manner of Egypt.[25] For yet a very little while, and the indignation shall cease, and my anger in their destruction.[26] And the LORD of hosts shall stir up a whip for him according to the slaughter of Midian at the rock of Oreb: and as his rod was on the sea, so shall he lift it up after the manner of Egypt.[27] And it shall come to pass in that day, that his burden shall be taken away from off your shoulder, and his yoke from off your neck, and the yoke shall be destroyed because of the anointing.[28] He is come to Aiath, he is passed to Migron; at Michmash he has laid up his carriages:[29] They are gone over the passage: they have taken up their lodging at Geba; Ramah is afraid; Gibeah of Saul is fled.[30] Lift up your voice, O daughter of Gallim: cause it to be heard to Laish, O poor Anathoth.[31] Madmenah is removed; the inhabitants of Gebim gather themselves to flee.[32] As yet shall he remain at Nob that day: he shall shake his hand against the mount of the daughter of Zion, the hill of Jerusalem.[33] Behold, the Lord, the LORD of hosts, shall lop the bough with terror: and the high ones of stature shall be hewn down, and the haughty shall be humbled.[34] And he shall cut down the thickets of the forest with iron, and Lebanon shall fall by a mighty one.

[1] And there shall come forth a rod out of the stem of Jesse, and a Branch shall grow out of his roots:

[2] And the spirit of the LORD shall rest on him, the spirit of wisdom and understanding, the spirit of counsel and might, the spirit of knowledge and of the fear of the LORD;[3] And shall make him of quick understanding in the fear of the LORD: and he shall not judge after the sight of his eyes, neither reprove after the hearing of his ears:[4] But with righteousness shall he judge the poor, and reprove with equity for the meek of the earth: and he shall smite the earth: with the rod of his mouth, and with the breath of his lips shall he slay the wicked.[5] And righteousness shall be the girdle of his loins, and faithfulness the girdle of his reins.[6] The wolf also shall dwell with the lamb, and the leopard shall lie down with the kid; and the calf and the young lion and the fatted calf together; and a little child shall lead them.[7] And the cow and the bear shall feed; their young ones shall lie down together: and the lion shall eat straw like the ox.[8] And the sucking child shall play on the hole of the asp, and the weaned child shall put his hand on the cockatrice' den.[9] They shall not hurt nor destroy in all my holy mountain: for the earth shall be full of the knowledge of the LORD, as the waters cover the sea. ¶[10] And in that day there shall be a root of Jesse, which shall stand for an ensign of the people; to it shall the Gentiles seek: and his rest shall be glorious.[11] And it shall come to pass in that day, that the Lord shall set his hand again the second time to recover the remnant of his people, which shall be left, from Assyria, and from Egypt, and from Pathros, and from Cush, and from Elam, and from Shinar, and from Hamath, and from the islands of the sea.[12] And he shall set up an ensign for the nations, and shall assemble the outcasts of Israel, and gather together the dispersed of Judah from the four corners of the earth.[13] The envy also of Ephraim shall depart, and the adversaries of Judah shall be cut off: Ephraim shall not envy Judah, and Judah shall not vex Ephraim.[14] But they shall fly on the shoulders of the Philistines toward the west; they shall spoil them of the east together: they shall lay their hand on Edom and Moab; and the children of Ammon shall obey them.[15] And the LORD shall utterly destroy the tongue of the Egyptian sea; and with his mighty wind shall he shake his hand over the river, and shall smite it in the seven streams, and make men go over with dry sandals.[16] And there shall be an highway for the remnant of his people, which shall be left, from Assyria; like as it was to Israel in the day that he came up out of the land of Egypt.

[1] And in that day you shall say, O LORD, I will praise you: though you were angry with me, your anger is turned away, and you comforted me.

[2] Behold, God is my salvation; I will trust, and not be afraid: for the LORD JEHOVAH is my strength and my song; he also is become my salvation.[3] Therefore with joy shall you draw water out of the wells of salvation.[4] And in that day shall you say, Praise the LORD, call on his name, declare his doings among the people, make mention that his name is exalted.[5] Sing to the LORD; for he has done excellent things: this is known in all the earth.[6] Cry out and shout, you inhabitant of Zion: for great is the Holy One of Israel in the middle of you.

[1] The burden of Babylon, which Isaiah the son of Amoz did see.

[2] Lift you up a banner on the high mountain, exalt the voice to them, shake the hand, that they may go into the gates of the nobles.[3] I have commanded my sanctified ones, I have also called my mighty ones for my anger, even them that rejoice in my highness.[4] The noise of a multitude in the mountains, like as of a great people; a tumultuous noise of the kingdoms of nations gathered together: the LORD of hosts musters the host of the battle.[5] They come from a far country, from the end of heaven, even the LORD, and the weapons of his indignation, to destroy the whole land. ¶[6] Howl you; for the day of the LORD is at hand; it shall come as a destruction from the Almighty.[7] Therefore shall all hands be faint, and every man's heart shall melt:[8] And they shall be afraid: pangs and sorrows shall take hold of them; they shall be in pain as a woman that travails: they shall be amazed one at another; their faces shall be as flames.[9] Behold, the day of the LORD comes, cruel both with wrath and fierce anger, to lay the land desolate: and he shall destroy the sinners thereof out of it.[10] For the stars of heaven and the constellations thereof shall not give their light: the sun shall be darkened in his going forth, and the moon shall not cause her light to shine.[11] And I will punish the world for their evil, and the wicked for their iniquity; and I will cause the arrogance of the proud to cease, and will lay low the haughtiness of the terrible.[12] I will make a man more precious than fine gold; even a man than the golden wedge of Ophir.[13] Therefore I will shake the heavens, and the earth shall remove out of her place, in the wrath of the LORD of hosts, and in the day of his fierce anger.[14] And it shall be as the chased roe, and as a sheep that no man takes up: they shall every man turn to his own people, and flee every one into his own land.[15] Every one that is found shall be thrust through; and every one that is joined to them shall fall by the sword.[16] Their children also shall be dashed to pieces before their eyes; their houses shall be spoiled, and their wives ravished.[17] Behold, I will stir up the Medes against them, which shall not regard silver; and as for gold, they shall not delight in it.[18] Their bows also shall dash the young men to pieces; and they shall have no pity on the fruit of the womb; their eyes shall not spare children. ¶[19] And Babylon, the glory of kingdoms, the beauty of the Chaldees' excellency, shall be as when God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah.[20] It shall never be inhabited, neither shall it be dwelled in from generation to generation: neither shall the Arabian pitch tent there; neither shall the shepherds make their fold there.[21] But wild beasts of the desert shall lie there; and their houses shall be full of doleful creatures; and owls shall dwell there, and satyrs shall dance there.[22] And the wild beasts of the islands shall cry in their desolate houses, and dragons in their pleasant palaces: and her time is near to come, and her days shall not be prolonged.

[1] For the LORD will have mercy on Jacob, and will yet choose Israel, and set them in their own land: and the strangers shall be joined with them, and they shall join to the house of Jacob.

[2] And the people shall take them, and bring them to their place: and the house of Israel shall possess them in the land of the LORD for servants and handmaids: and they shall take them captives, whose captives they were; and they shall rule over their oppressors.[3] And it shall come to pass in the day that the LORD shall give you rest from your sorrow, and from your fear, and from the hard bondage wherein you were made to serve, ¶[4] That you shall take up this proverb against the king of Babylon, and say, How has the oppressor ceased! the golden city ceased![5] The LORD has broken the staff of the wicked, and the scepter of the rulers.[6] He who smote the people in wrath with a continual stroke, he that ruled the nations in anger, is persecuted, and none hinders.[7] The whole earth is at rest, and is quiet: they break forth into singing.[8] Yes, the fir trees rejoice at you, and the cedars of Lebanon, saying, Since you are laid down, no feller is come up against us.[9] Hell from beneath is moved for you to meet you at your coming: it stirs up the dead for you, even all the chief ones of the earth; it has raised up from their thrones all the kings of the nations.[10] All they shall speak and say to you, Are you also become weak as we? are you become like to us?[11] Your pomp is brought down to the grave, and the noise of your viols: the worm is spread under you, and the worms cover you.[12] How are you fallen from heaven, O Lucifer, son of the morning! how are you cut down to the ground, which did weaken the nations![13] For you have said in your heart, I will ascend into heaven, I will exalt my throne above the stars of God: I will sit also on the mount of the congregation, in the sides of the north:[14] I will ascend above the heights of the clouds; I will be like the most High.[15] Yet you shall be brought down to hell, to the sides of the pit.[16] They that see you shall narrowly look on you, and consider you, saying, Is this the man that made the earth to tremble, that did shake kingdoms;[17] That made the world as a wilderness, and destroyed the cities thereof; that opened not the house of his prisoners?[18] All the kings of the nations, even all of them, lie in glory, every one in his own house.[19] But you are cast out of your grave like an abominable branch, and as the raiment of those that are slain, thrust through with a sword, that go down to the stones of the pit; as a carcass trodden under feet.[20] You shall not be joined with them in burial, because you have destroyed your land, and slain your people: the seed of evildoers shall never be renowned.[21] Prepare slaughter for his children for the iniquity of their fathers; that they do not rise, nor possess the land, nor fill the face of the world with cities.[22] For I will rise up against them, says the LORD of hosts, and cut off from Babylon the name, and remnant, and son, and nephew, says the LORD.[23] I will also make it a possession for the bittern, and pools of water: and I will sweep it with the besom of destruction, says the LORD of hosts. ¶[24] The LORD of hosts has sworn, saying, Surely as I have thought, so shall it come to pass; and as I have purposed, so shall it stand:[25] That I will break the Assyrian in my land, and on my mountains tread him under foot: then shall his yoke depart from off them, and his burden depart from off their shoulders.[26] This is the purpose that is purposed on the whole earth: and this is the hand that is stretched out on all the nations.[27] For the LORD of hosts has purposed, and who shall cancel it? and his hand is stretched out, and who shall turn it back?[28] In the year that king Ahaz died was this burden. ¶[29] Rejoice not you, whole Palestina, because the rod of him that smote you is broken: for out of the serpent's root shall come forth a cockatrice, and his fruit shall be a fiery flying serpent.[30] And the firstborn of the poor shall feed, and the needy shall lie down in safety: and I will kill your root with famine, and he shall slay your remnant.[31] Howl, O gate; cry, O city; you, whole Palestina, are dissolved: for there shall come from the north a smoke, and none shall be alone in his appointed times.[32] What shall one then answer the messengers of the nation? That the LORD has founded Zion, and the poor of his people shall trust in it.

[1] The burden of Moab. Because in the night Ar of Moab is laid waste, and brought to silence; because in the night Kir of Moab is laid waste, and brought to silence;

[2] He is gone up to Bajith, and to Dibon, the high places, to weep: Moab shall howl over Nebo, and over Medeba: on all their heads shall be baldness, and every beard cut off.[3] In their streets they shall gird themselves with sackcloth: on the tops of their houses, and in their streets, every one shall howl, weeping abundantly.[4] And Heshbon shall cry, and Elealeh: their voice shall be heard even to Jahaz: therefore the armed soldiers of Moab shall cry out; his life shall be grievous to him.[5] My heart shall cry out for Moab; his fugitives shall flee to Zoar, an heifer of three years old: for by the mounting up of Luhith with weeping shall they go it up; for in the way of Horonaim they shall raise up a cry of destruction.[6] For the waters of Nimrim shall be desolate: for the hay is withered away, the grass fails, there is no green thing.[7] Therefore the abundance they have gotten, and that which they have laid up, shall they carry away to the brook of the willows.[8] For the cry is gone round about the borders of Moab; the howling thereof to Eglaim, and the howling thereof to Beerelim.[9] For the waters of Dimon shall be full of blood: for I will bring more on Dimon, lions on him that escapes of Moab, and on the remnant of the land.

[1] Send you the lamb to the ruler of the land from Sela to the wilderness, to the mount of the daughter of Zion.

[2] For it shall be, that, as a wandering bird cast out of the nest, so the daughters of Moab shall be at the fords of Arnon.[3] Take counsel, execute judgment; make your shadow as the night in the middle of the noonday; hide the outcasts; denude not him that wanders.[4] Let my outcasts dwell with you, Moab; be you a covert to them from the face of the spoiler: for the extortionist is at an end, the spoiler ceases, the oppressors are consumed out of the land.[5] And in mercy shall the throne be established: and he shall sit on it in truth in the tabernacle of David, judging, and seeking judgment, and hastening righteousness. ¶[6] We have heard of the pride of Moab; he is very proud: even of his haughtiness, and his pride, and his wrath: but his lies shall not be so.[7] Therefore shall Moab howl for Moab, every one shall howl: for the foundations of Kirhareseth shall you mourn; surely they are stricken.[8] For the fields of Heshbon languish, and the vine of Sibmah: the lords of the heathen have broken down the principal plants thereof, they are come even to Jazer, they wandered through the wilderness: her branches are stretched out, they are gone over the sea. ¶[9] Therefore I will mourn with the weeping of Jazer the vine of Sibmah: I will water you with my tears, O Heshbon, and Elealeh: for the shouting for your summer fruits and for your harvest is fallen.[10] And gladness is taken away, and joy out of the plentiful field; and in the vineyards there shall be no singing, neither shall there be shouting: the treaders shall tread out no wine in their presses; I have made their vintage shouting to cease.[11] Why my bowels shall sound like an harp for Moab, and my inward parts for Kirharesh. ¶[12] And it shall come to pass, when it is seen that Moab is weary on the high place, that he shall come to his sanctuary to pray; but he shall not prevail.[13] This is the word that the LORD has spoken concerning Moab since that time.[14] But now the LORD has spoken, saying, Within three years, as the years of an hireling, and the glory of Moab shall be scorned, with all that great multitude; and the remnant shall be very small and feeble.

[1] The burden of Damascus. Behold, Damascus is taken away from being a city, and it shall be a ruinous heap.

[2] The cities of Aroer are forsaken: they shall be for flocks, which shall lie down, and none shall make them afraid.[3] The fortress also shall cease from Ephraim, and the kingdom from Damascus, and the remnant of Syria: they shall be as the glory of the children of Israel, says the LORD of hosts.[4] And in that day it shall come to pass, that the glory of Jacob shall be made thin, and the fatness of his flesh shall wax lean.[5] And it shall be as when the harvestman gathers the corn, and reaps the ears with his arm; and it shall be as he that gathers ears in the valley of Rephaim.[6] Yet gleaning grapes shall be left in it, as the shaking of an olive tree, two or three berries in the top of the uppermost bough, four or five in the outmost fruitful branches thereof, says the LORD God of Israel.[7] At that day shall a man look to his Maker, and his eyes shall have respect to the Holy One of Israel.[8] And he shall not look to the altars, the work of his hands, neither shall respect that which his fingers have made, either the groves, or the images. ¶[9] In that day shall his strong cities be as a forsaken bough, and an uppermost branch, which they left because of the children of Israel: and there shall be desolation.[10] Because you have forgotten the God of your salvation, and have not been mindful of the rock of your strength, therefore shall you plant pleasant plants, and shall set it with strange slips:[11] In the day shall you make your plant to grow, and in the morning shall you make your seed to flourish: but the harvest shall be a heap in the day of grief and of desperate sorrow. ¶[12] Woe to the multitude of many people, which make a noise like the noise of the seas; and to the rushing of nations, that make a rushing like the rushing of mighty waters![13] The nations shall rush like the rushing of many waters: but God shall rebuke them, and they shall flee far off, and shall be chased as the chaff of the mountains before the wind, and like a rolling thing before the whirlwind.[14] And behold at evening trouble; and before the morning he is not. This is the portion of them that spoil us, and the lot of them that rob us.

[1] Woe to the land shadowing with wings, which is beyond the rivers of Ethiopia:

[2] That sends ambassadors by the sea, even in vessels of bulrushes on the waters, saying, Go, you swift messengers, to a nation scattered and peeled, to a people terrible from their beginning till now; a nation meted out and trodden down, whose land the rivers have spoiled![3] All you inhabitants of the world, and dwellers on the earth, see you, when he lifts up an ensign on the mountains; and when he blows a trumpet, hear you.[4] For so the LORD said to me, I will take my rest, and I will consider in my dwelling place like a clear heat on herbs, and like a cloud of dew in the heat of harvest.[5] For before the harvest, when the bud is perfect, and the sour grape is ripening in the flower, he shall both cut off the sprigs with pruning hooks, and take away and cut down the branches.[6] They shall be left together to the fowls of the mountains, and to the beasts of the earth: and the fowls shall summer on them, and all the beasts of the earth shall winter on them. ¶[7] In that time shall the present be brought to the LORD of hosts of a people scattered and peeled, and from a people terrible from their beginning till now; a nation meted out and trodden under foot, whose land the rivers have spoiled, to the place of the name of the LORD of hosts, the mount Zion.

[1] The burden of Egypt. Behold, the LORD rides on a swift cloud, and shall come into Egypt: and the idols of Egypt shall be moved at his presence, and the heart of Egypt shall melt in the middle of it.

[2] And I will set the Egyptians against the Egyptians: and they shall fight every one against his brother, and every one against his neighbor; city against city, and kingdom against kingdom.[3] And the spirit of Egypt shall fail in the middle thereof; and I will destroy the counsel thereof: and they shall seek to the idols, and to the charmers, and to them that have familiar spirits, and to the wizards.[4] And the Egyptians will I give over into the hand of a cruel lord; and a fierce king shall rule over them, says the Lord, the LORD of hosts.[5] And the waters shall fail from the sea, and the river shall be wasted and dried up.[6] And they shall turn the rivers far away; and the brooks of defense shall be emptied and dried up: the reeds and flags shall wither.[7] The paper reeds by the brooks, by the mouth of the brooks, and every thing sown by the brooks, shall wither, be driven away, and be no more.[8] The fishers also shall mourn, and all they that cast angle into the brooks shall lament, and they that spread nets on the waters shall languish.[9] Moreover they that work in fine flax, and they that weave networks, shall be confounded.[10] And they shall be broken in the purposes thereof, all that make sluices and ponds for fish. ¶[11] Surely the princes of Zoan are fools, the counsel of the wise counsellors of Pharaoh is become brutish: how say you to Pharaoh, I am the son of the wise, the son of ancient kings?[12] Where are they? where are your wise men? and let them tell you now, and let them know what the LORD of hosts has purposed on Egypt.[13] The princes of Zoan are become fools, the princes of Noph are deceived; they have also seduced Egypt, even they that are the stay of the tribes thereof.[14] The LORD has mingled a perverse spirit in the middle thereof: and they have caused Egypt to err in every work thereof, as a drunken man staggers in his vomit.[15] Neither shall there be any work for Egypt, which the head or tail, branch or rush, may do.[16] In that day shall Egypt be like to women: and it shall be afraid and fear because of the shaking of the hand of the LORD of hosts, which he shakes over it.[17] And the land of Judah shall be a terror to Egypt, every one that makes mention thereof shall be afraid in himself, because of the counsel of the LORD of hosts, which he has determined against it. ¶[18] In that day shall five cities in the land of Egypt speak the language of Canaan, and swear to the LORD of hosts; one shall be called, The city of destruction.[19] In that day shall there be an altar to the LORD in the middle of the land of Egypt, and a pillar at the border thereof to the LORD.[20] And it shall be for a sign and for a witness to the LORD of hosts in the land of Egypt: for they shall cry to the LORD because of the oppressors, and he shall send them a savior, and a great one, and he shall deliver them.[21] And the LORD shall be known to Egypt, and the Egyptians shall know the LORD in that day, and shall do sacrifice and oblation; yes, they shall vow a vow to the LORD, and perform it.[22] And the LORD shall smite Egypt: he shall smite and heal it: and they shall return even to the LORD, and he shall be entreated of them, and shall heal them. ¶[23] In that day shall there be a highway out of Egypt to Assyria, and the Assyrian shall come into Egypt, and the Egyptian into Assyria, and the Egyptians shall serve with the Assyrians.[24] In that day shall Israel be the third with Egypt and with Assyria, even a blessing in the middle of the land:[25] Whom the LORD of hosts shall bless, saying, Blessed be Egypt my people, and Assyria the work of my hands, and Israel my inheritance.

[1] In the year that Tartan came to Ashdod, (when Sargon the king of Assyria sent him,) and fought against Ashdod, and took it;

[2] At the same time spoke the LORD by Isaiah the son of Amoz, saying, Go and loose the sackcloth from off your loins, and put off your shoe from your foot. And he did so, walking naked and barefoot.[3] And the LORD said, Like as my servant Isaiah has walked naked and barefoot three years for a sign and wonder on Egypt and on Ethiopia;[4] So shall the king of Assyria lead away the Egyptians prisoners, and the Ethiopians captives, young and old, naked and barefoot, even with their buttocks uncovered, to the shame of Egypt.[5] And they shall be afraid and ashamed of Ethiopia their expectation, and of Egypt their glory.[6] And the inhabitant of this isle shall say in that day, Behold, such is our expectation, where we flee for help to be delivered from the king of Assyria: and how shall we escape?

[1] The burden of the desert of the sea. As whirlwinds in the south pass through; so it comes from the desert, from a terrible land.

[2] A grievous vision is declared to me; the treacherous dealer deals treacherously, and the spoiler spoils. Go up, O Elam: besiege, O Media; all the sighing thereof have I made to cease.[3] Therefore are my loins filled with pain: pangs have taken hold on me, as the pangs of a woman that travails: I was bowed down at the hearing of it; I was dismayed at the seeing of it.[4] My heart panted, fearfulness affrighted me: the night of my pleasure has he turned into fear to me.[5] Prepare the table, watch in the watchtower, eat, drink: arise, you princes, and anoint the shield.[6] For thus has the LORD said to me, Go, set a watchman, let him declare what he sees.[7] And he saw a chariot with a couple of horsemen, a chariot of asses, and a chariot of camels; and he listened diligently with much heed:[8] And he cried, A lion: My lord, I stand continually on the watchtower in the daytime, and I am set in my ward whole nights:[9] And, behold, here comes a chariot of men, with a couple of horsemen. And he answered and said, Babylon is fallen, is fallen; and all the graven images of her gods he has broken to the ground.[10] O my threshing, and the corn of my floor: that which I have heard of the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, have I declared to you. ¶[11] The burden of Dumah. He calls to me out of Seir, Watchman, what of the night? Watchman, what of the night?[12] The watchman said, The morning comes, and also the night: if you will inquire, inquire you: return, come. ¶[13] The burden on Arabia. In the forest in Arabia shall you lodge, O you traveling companies of Dedanim.[14] The inhabitants of the land of Tema brought water to him that was thirsty, they prevented with their bread him that fled.[15] For they fled from the swords, from the drawn sword, and from the bent bow, and from the grievousness of war.[16] For thus has the LORD said to me, Within a year, according to the years of an hireling, and all the glory of Kedar shall fail:[17] And the residue of the number of archers, the mighty men of the children of Kedar, shall be diminished: for the LORD God of Israel has spoken it.

[1] The burden of the valley of vision. What ails you now, that you are wholly gone up to the housetops?

[2] You that are full of stirs, a tumultuous city, joyous city: your slain men are not slain with the sword, nor dead in battle.[3] All your rulers are fled together, they are bound by the archers: all that are found in you are bound together, which have fled from far.[4] Therefore said I, Look away from me; I will weep bitterly, labor not to comfort me, because of the spoiling of the daughter of my people.[5] For it is a day of trouble, and of treading down, and of perplexity by the Lord GOD of hosts in the valley of vision, breaking down the walls, and of crying to the mountains.[6] And Elam bore the quiver with chariots of men and horsemen, and Kir uncovered the shield.[7] And it shall come to pass, that your choicest valleys shall be full of chariots, and the horsemen shall set themselves in array at the gate. ¶[8] And he discovered the covering of Judah, and you did look in that day to the armor of the house of the forest.[9] You have seen also the breaches of the city of David, that they are many: and you gathered together the waters of the lower pool.[10] And you have numbered the houses of Jerusalem, and the houses have you broken down to fortify the wall.[11] You made also a ditch between the two walls for the water of the old pool: but you have not looked to the maker thereof, neither had respect to him that fashioned it long ago.[12] And in that day did the Lord GOD of hosts call to weeping, and to mourning, and to baldness, and to girding with sackcloth:[13] And behold joy and gladness, slaying oxen, and killing sheep, eating flesh, and drinking wine: let us eat and drink; for to morrow we shall die.[14] And it was revealed in my ears by the LORD of hosts, Surely this iniquity shall not be purged from you till you die, says the Lord GOD of hosts. ¶[15] Thus says the Lord GOD of hosts, Go, get you to this treasurer, even to Shebna, which is over the house, and say,[16] What have you here? and whom have you here, that you have hewed you out a sepulcher here, as he that hews him out a sepulcher on high, and that engraves an habitation for himself in a rock?[17] Behold, the LORD will carry you away with a mighty captivity, and will surely cover you.[18] He will surely violently turn and toss you like a ball into a large country: there shall you die, and there the chariots of your glory shall be the shame of your lord's house.[19] And I will drive you from your station, and from your state shall he pull you down. ¶[20] And it shall come to pass in that day, that I will call my servant Eliakim the son of Hilkiah:[21] And I will clothe him with your robe, and strengthen him with your girdle, and I will commit your government into his hand: and he shall be a father to the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and to the house of Judah.[22] And the key of the house of David will I lay on his shoulder; so he shall open, and none shall shut; and he shall shut, and none shall open.[23] And I will fasten him as a nail in a sure place; and he shall be for a glorious throne to his father's house.[24] And they shall hang on him all the glory of his father's house, the offspring and the issue, all vessels of small quantity, from the vessels of cups, even to all the vessels of flagons.[25] In that day, says the LORD of hosts, shall the nail that is fastened in the sure place be removed, and be cut down, and fall; and the burden that was on it shall be cut off: for the LORD has spoken it.

[1] The burden of Tyre. Howl, you ships of Tarshish; for it is laid waste, so that there is no house, no entering in: from the land of Chittim it is revealed to them.

[2] Be still, you inhabitants of the isle; you whom the merchants of Zidon, that pass over the sea, have replenished.[3] And by great waters the seed of Sihor, the harvest of the river, is her revenue; and she is a mart of nations.[4] Be you ashamed, O Zidon: for the sea has spoken, even the strength of the sea, saying, I travail not, nor bring forth children, neither do I nourish up young men, nor bring up virgins.[5] As at the report concerning Egypt, so shall they be sorely pained at the report of Tyre.[6] Pass you over to Tarshish; howl, you inhabitants of the isle.[7] Is this your joyous city, whose antiquity is of ancient days? her own feet shall carry her afar off to sojourn.[8] Who has taken this counsel against Tyre, the crowning city, whose merchants are princes, whose traffickers are the honorable of the earth?[9] The LORD of hosts has purposed it, to stain the pride of all glory, and to bring into contempt all the honorable of the earth.[10] Pass through your land as a river, O daughter of Tarshish: there is no more strength.[11] He stretched out his hand over the sea, he shook the kingdoms: the LORD has given a commandment against the merchant city, to destroy the strong holds thereof.[12] And he said, You shall no more rejoice, O you oppressed virgin, daughter of Zidon: arise, pass over to Chittim; there also shall you have no rest.[13] Behold the land of the Chaldeans; this people was not, till the Assyrian founded it for them that dwell in the wilderness: they set up the towers thereof, they raised up the palaces thereof; and he brought it to ruin.[14] Howl, you ships of Tarshish: for your strength is laid waste.[15] And it shall come to pass in that day, that Tyre shall be forgotten seventy years, according to the days of one king: after the end of seventy years shall Tyre sing as an harlot.[16] Take an harp, go about the city, you harlot that have been forgotten; make sweet melody, sing many songs, that you may be remembered. ¶[17] And it shall come to pass after the end of seventy years, that the LORD will visit Tyre, and she shall turn to her hire, and shall commit fornication with all the kingdoms of the world on the face of the earth.[18] And her merchandise and her hire shall be holiness to the LORD: it shall not be treasured nor laid up; for her merchandise shall be for them that dwell before the LORD, to eat sufficiently, and for durable clothing.

[1] Behold, the LORD makes the earth empty, and makes it waste, and turns it upside down, and scatters abroad the inhabitants thereof.

[2] And it shall be, as with the people, so with the priest; as with the servant, so with his master; as with the maid, so with her mistress; as with the buyer, so with the seller; as with the lender, so with the borrower; as with the taker of usury, so with the giver of usury to him.[3] The land shall be utterly emptied, and utterly spoiled: for the LORD has spoken this word.[4] The earth mourns and fades away, the world languishes and fades away, the haughty people of the earth do languish.[5] The earth also is defiled under the inhabitants thereof; because they have transgressed the laws, changed the ordinance, broken the everlasting covenant.[6] Therefore has the curse devoured the earth, and they that dwell therein are desolate: therefore the inhabitants of the earth are burned, and few men left.[7] The new wine mourns, the vine languishes, all the merry hearted do sigh.[8] The mirth of tabrets ceases, the noise of them that rejoice ends, the joy of the harp ceases.[9] They shall not drink wine with a song; strong drink shall be bitter to them that drink it.[10] The city of confusion is broken down: every house is shut up, that no man may come in.[11] There is a crying for wine in the streets; all joy is darkened, the mirth of the land is gone.[12] In the city is left desolation, and the gate is smitten with destruction. ¶[13] When thus it shall be in the middle of the land among the people, there shall be as the shaking of an olive tree, and as the gleaning grapes when the vintage is done.[14] They shall lift up their voice, they shall sing for the majesty of the LORD, they shall cry aloud from the sea.[15] Why glorify you the LORD in the fires, even the name of the LORD God of Israel in the isles of the sea. ¶[16] From the uttermost part of the earth have we heard songs, even glory to the righteous. But I said, My leanness, my leanness, woe to me! the treacherous dealers have dealt treacherously; yes, the treacherous dealers have dealt very treacherously.[17] Fear, and the pit, and the snare, are on you, O inhabitant of the earth.[18] And it shall come to pass, that he who flees from the noise of the fear shall fall into the pit; and he that comes up out of the middle of the pit shall be taken in the snare: for the windows from on high are open, and the foundations of the earth do shake.[19] The earth is utterly broken down, the earth is clean dissolved, the earth is moved exceedingly.[20] The earth shall reel to and fro like a drunkard, and shall be removed like a cottage; and the transgression thereof shall be heavy on it; and it shall fall, and not rise again.[21] And it shall come to pass in that day, that the LORD shall punish the host of the high ones that are on high, and the kings of the earth on the earth.[22] And they shall be gathered together, as prisoners are gathered in the pit, and shall be shut up in the prison, and after many days shall they be visited.[23] Then the moon shall be confounded, and the sun ashamed, when the LORD of hosts shall reign in mount Zion, and in Jerusalem, and before his ancients gloriously.

[1] O Lord, you are my God; I will exalt you, I will praise your name; for you have done wonderful things; your counsels of old are faithfulness and truth.

[2] For you have made of a city an heap; of a defended city a ruin: a palace of strangers to be no city; it shall never be built.[3] Therefore shall the strong people glorify you, the city of the terrible nations shall fear you.[4] For you have been a strength to the poor, a strength to the needy in his distress, a refuge from the storm, a shadow from the heat, when the blast of the terrible ones is as a storm against the wall.[5] You shall bring down the noise of strangers, as the heat in a dry place; even the heat with the shadow of a cloud: the branch of the terrible ones shall be brought low. ¶[6] And in this mountain shall the LORD of hosts make to all people a feast of fat things, a feast of wines on the lees, of fat things full of marrow, of wines on the lees well refined.[7] And he will destroy in this mountain the face of the covering cast over all people, and the veil that is spread over all nations.[8] He will swallow up death in victory; and the Lord GOD will wipe away tears from off all faces; and the rebuke of his people shall he take away from off all the earth: for the LORD has spoken it. ¶[9] And it shall be said in that day, See, this is our God; we have waited for him, and he will save us: this is the LORD; we have waited for him, we will be glad and rejoice in his salvation.[10] For in this mountain shall the hand of the LORD rest, and Moab shall be trodden down under him, even as straw is trodden down for the dunghill.[11] And he shall spread forth his hands in the middle of them, as he that swims spreads forth his hands to swim: and he shall bring down their pride together with the spoils of their hands.[12] And the fortress of the high fort of your walls shall he bring down, lay low, and bring to the ground, even to the dust.

[1] In that day shall this song be sung in the land of Judah; We have a strong city; salvation will God appoint for walls and bulwarks.

[2] Open you the gates, that the righteous nation which keeps the truth may enter in.[3] You will keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on you: because he trusts in you.[4] Trust you in the LORD for ever: for in the LORD JEHOVAH is everlasting strength: ¶[5] For he brings down them that dwell on high; the lofty city, he lays it low; he lays it low, even to the ground; he brings it even to the dust.[6] The foot shall tread it down, even the feet of the poor, and the steps of the needy.[7] The way of the just is uprightness: you, most upright, do weigh the path of the just.[8] Yes, in the way of your judgments, O LORD, have we waited for you; the desire of our soul is to your name, and to the remembrance of you.[9] With my soul have I desired you in the night; yes, with my spirit within me will I seek you early: for when your judgments are in the earth, the inhabitants of the world will learn righteousness.[10] Let favor be showed to the wicked, yet will he not learn righteousness: in the land of uprightness will he deal unjustly, and will not behold the majesty of the LORD.[11] LORD, when your hand is lifted up, they will not see: but they shall see, and be ashamed for their envy at the people; yes, the fire of your enemies shall devour them. ¶[12] LORD, you will ordain peace for us: for you also have worked all our works in us.[13] O LORD our God, other lords beside you have had dominion over us: but by you only will we make mention of your name.[14] They are dead, they shall not live; they are deceased, they shall not rise: therefore have you visited and destroyed them, and made all their memory to perish.[15] You have increased the nation, O LORD, you have increased the nation: you are glorified: you had removed it far to all the ends of the earth.[16] LORD, in trouble have they visited you, they poured out a prayer when your chastening was on them.[17] Like as a woman with child, that draws near the time of her delivery, is in pain, and cries out in her pangs; so have we been in your sight, O LORD.[18] We have been with child, we have been in pain, we have as it were brought forth wind; we have not worked any deliverance in the earth; neither have the inhabitants of the world fallen.[19] Your dead men shall live, together with my dead body shall they arise. Awake and sing, you that dwell in dust: for your dew is as the dew of herbs, and the earth shall cast out the dead. ¶[20]

Come, my people, enter you into your chambers, and shut your doors about you: hide yourself as it were for a little moment, until the indignation be over.[21] For, behold, the LORD comes out of his place to punish the inhabitants of the earth for their iniquity: the earth also shall disclose her blood, and shall no more cover her slain.

[1] In that day the LORD with his sore and great and strong sword shall punish leviathan the piercing serpent, even leviathan that crooked serpent; and he shall slay the dragon that is in the sea.

[2] In that day sing you to her, A vineyard of red wine.[3] I the LORD do keep it; I will water it every moment: lest any hurt it, I will keep it night and day.[4] Fury is not in me: who would set the briers and thorns against me in battle? I would go through them, I would burn them together.[5] Or let him take hold of my strength, that he may make peace with me; and he shall make peace with me.[6] He shall cause them that come of Jacob to take root: Israel shall blossom and bud, and fill the face of the world with fruit. ¶[7] Has he smitten him, as he smote those that smote him? or is he slain according to the slaughter of them that are slain by him?[8] In measure, when it shoots forth, you will debate with it: he stays his rough wind in the day of the east wind.[9] By this therefore shall the iniquity of Jacob be purged; and this is all the fruit to take away his sin; when he makes all the stones of the altar as chalkstones that are beaten in sunder, the groves and images shall not stand up.[10] Yet the defended city shall be desolate, and the habitation forsaken, and left like a wilderness: there shall the calf feed, and there shall he lie down, and consume the branches thereof.[11] When the boughs thereof are withered, they shall be broken off: the women come, and set them on fire: for it is a people of no understanding: therefore he that made them will not have mercy on them, and he that formed them will show them no favor. ¶[12] And it shall come to pass in that day, that the LORD shall beat off from the channel of the river to the stream of Egypt, and you shall be gathered one by one, O you children of Israel.[13] And it shall come to pass in that day, that the great trumpet shall be blown, and they shall come which were ready to perish in the land of Assyria, and the outcasts in the land of Egypt, and shall worship the LORD in the holy mount at Jerusalem.

[1] Woe to the crown of pride, to the drunkards of Ephraim, whose glorious beauty is a fading flower, which are on the head of the fat valleys of them that are overcome with wine!

[2] Behold, the Lord has a mighty and strong one, which as a tempest of hail and a destroying storm, as a flood of mighty waters overflowing, shall cast down to the earth with the hand.[3] The crown of pride, the drunkards of Ephraim, shall be trodden under feet:[4] And the glorious beauty, which is on the head of the fat valley, shall be a fading flower, and as the hasty fruit before the summer; which when he that looks on it sees, while it is yet in his hand he eats it up. ¶[5] In that day shall the LORD of hosts be for a crown of glory, and for a diadem of beauty, to the residue of his people,[6] And for a spirit of judgment to him that sits in judgment, and for strength to them that turn the battle to the gate. ¶[7] But they also have erred through wine, and through strong drink are out of the way; the priest and the prophet have erred through strong drink, they are swallowed up of wine, they are out of the way through strong drink; they err in vision, they stumble in judgment.[8] For all tables are full of vomit and filthiness, so that there is no place clean. ¶[9] Whom shall he teach knowledge? and whom shall he make to understand doctrine? them that are weaned from the milk, and drawn from the breasts.[10] For precept must be on precept, precept on precept; line on line, line on line; here a little, and there a little:[11] For with stammering lips and another tongue will he speak to this people.[12] To whom he said, This is the rest with which you may cause the weary to rest; and this is the refreshing: yet they would not hear.[13] But the word of the LORD was to them precept on precept, precept on precept; line on line, line on line; here a little, and there a little; that they might go, and fall backward, and be broken, and snared, and taken. ¶[14] Why hear the word of the LORD, you scornful men, that rule this people which is in Jerusalem.[15] Because you have said, We have made a covenant with death, and with hell are we at agreement; when the overflowing whip shall pass through, it shall not come to us: for we have made lies our refuge, and under falsehood have we hid ourselves: ¶[16] Therefore thus says the Lord GOD, Behold, I lay in Zion for a foundation a stone, a tried stone, a precious corner stone, a sure foundation: he that believes shall not make haste.[17] Judgment also will I lay to the line, and righteousness to the plummet: and the hail shall sweep away the refuge of lies, and the waters shall overflow the hiding place. ¶[18] And your covenant with death shall be disannulled, and your agreement with hell shall not stand; when the overflowing whip shall pass through, then you shall be trodden down by it.[19] From the time that it goes forth it shall take you: for morning by morning shall it pass over, by day and by night: and it shall be a vexation only to understand the report.[20] For the bed is shorter than that a man can stretch himself on it: and the covering narrower than that he can wrap himself in it.[21] For the LORD shall rise up as in mount Perazim, he shall be wroth as in the valley of Gibeon, that he may do his work, his strange work; and bring to pass his act, his strange act.[22] Now therefore be you not mockers, lest your bands be made strong: for I have heard from the Lord GOD of hosts a consumption, even determined on the whole earth. ¶[23] Give you ear, and hear my voice; listen, and hear my speech.[24] Does the plowman plow all day to sow? does he open and break the clods of his ground?[25] When he has made plain the face thereof, does he not cast abroad the fitches, and scatter the cummin, and cast in the principal wheat and the appointed barley and the rye in their place?[26] For his God does instruct him to discretion, and does teach him.[27] For the fitches are not threshed with a threshing instrument, neither is a cart wheel turned about on the cummin; but the fitches are beaten out with a staff, and the cummin with a rod.[28] Bread corn is bruised; because he will not ever be threshing it, nor break it with the wheel of his cart, nor bruise it with his horsemen.[29] This also comes forth from the LORD of hosts, which is wonderful in counsel, and excellent in working.

[1] Woe to Ariel, to Ariel, the city where David dwelled! add you year to year; let them kill sacrifices.

[2] Yet I will distress Ariel, and there shall be heaviness and sorrow: and it shall be to me as Ariel.[3] And I will camp against you round about, and will lay siege against you with a mount, and I will raise forts against you.[4] And you shall be brought down, and shall speak out of the ground, and your speech shall be low out of the dust, and your voice shall be, as of one that has a familiar spirit, out of the ground, and your speech shall whisper out of the dust.[5] Moreover the multitude of your strangers shall be like small dust, and the multitude of the terrible ones shall be as chaff that passes away: yes, it shall be at an instant suddenly.[6] You shall be visited of the LORD of hosts with thunder, and with earthquake, and great noise, with storm and tempest, and the flame of devouring fire. ¶[7] And the multitude of all the nations that fight against Ariel, even all that fight against her and her fortification, and that distress her, shall be as a dream of a night vision.[8] It shall even be as when an hungry man dreams, and, behold, he eats; but he wakes, and his soul is empty: or as when a thirsty man dreams, and, behold, he drinks; but he wakes, and, behold, he is faint, and his soul has appetite: so shall the multitude of all the nations be, that fight against mount Zion. ¶[9] Stay yourselves, and wonder; cry you out, and cry: they are drunken, but not with wine; they stagger, but not with strong drink.[10] For the LORD has poured out on you the spirit of deep sleep, and has closed your eyes: the prophets and your rulers, the seers has he covered.[11] And the vision of all is become to you as the words of a book that is sealed, which men deliver to one that is learned, saying, Read this, I pray you: and he says, I cannot; for it is sealed:[12] And the book is delivered to him that is not learned, saying, Read this, I pray you: and he says, I am not learned. ¶[13] Why the Lord said, For as much as this people draw near me with their mouth, and with their lips do honor me, but have removed their heart far from me, and their fear toward me is taught by the precept of men:[14] Therefore, behold, I will proceed to do a marvelous work among this people, even a marvelous work and a wonder: for the wisdom of their wise men shall perish, and the understanding of their prudent men shall be hid.[15] Woe to them that seek deep to hide their counsel from the LORD, and their works are in the dark, and they say, Who sees us? and who knows us?[16] Surely your turning of things upside down shall be esteemed as the potter's clay: for shall the work say of him that made it, He made me not? or shall the thing framed say of him that framed it, He had no understanding?[17] Is it not yet a very little while, and Lebanon shall be turned into a fruitful field, and the fruitful field shall be esteemed as a forest? ¶[18] And in that day shall the deaf hear the words of the book, and the eyes of the blind shall see out of obscurity, and out of darkness.[19] The meek also shall increase their joy in the LORD, and the poor among men shall rejoice in the Holy One of Israel.[20] For the terrible one is brought to nothing, and the scorner is consumed, and all that watch for iniquity are cut off:[21] That make a man an offender for a word, and lay a snare for him that reproves in the gate, and turn aside the just for a thing of nothing.[22] Therefore thus says the LORD, who redeemed Abraham, concerning the house of Jacob, Jacob shall not now be ashamed, neither shall his face now wax pale.[23] But when he sees his children, the work of my hands, in the middle of him, they shall sanctify my name, and sanctify the Holy One of Jacob, and shall fear the God of Israel.[24] They also that erred in spirit shall come to understanding, and they that murmured shall learn doctrine.

[1] Woe to the rebellious children, says the LORD, that take counsel, but not of me; and that cover with a covering, but not of my spirit, that they may add sin to sin:

[2] That walk to go down into Egypt, and have not asked at my mouth; to strengthen themselves in the strength of Pharaoh, and to trust in the shadow of Egypt![3] Therefore shall the strength of Pharaoh be your shame, and the trust in the shadow of Egypt your confusion.[4] For his princes were at Zoan, and his ambassadors came to Hanes.[5] They were all ashamed of a people that could not profit them, nor be an help nor profit, but a shame, and also a reproach.[6] The burden of the beasts of the south: into the land of trouble and anguish, from where come the young and old lion, the viper and fiery flying serpent, they will carry their riches on the shoulders of young asses, and their treasures on the bunches of camels, to a people that shall not profit them.[7] For the Egyptians shall help in vain, and to no purpose: therefore have I cried concerning this, Their strength is to sit still. ¶[8] Now go, write it before them in a table, and note it in a book, that it may be for the time to come for ever and ever:[9] That this is a rebellious people, lying children, children that will not hear the law of the LORD:[10] Which say to the seers, See not; and to the prophets, Prophesy not to us right things, speak to us smooth things, prophesy deceits:[11] Get you out of the way, turn aside out of the path, cause the Holy One of Israel to cease from before us.[12] Why thus says the Holy One of Israel, Because you despise this word, and trust in oppression and perverseness, and stay thereon:[13] Therefore this iniquity shall be to you as a breach ready to fall, swelling out in a high wall, whose breaking comes suddenly at an instant.[14] And he shall break it as the breaking of the potters' vessel that is broken in pieces; he shall not spare: so that there shall not be found in the bursting of it a shard to take fire from the hearth, or to take water with out of the pit.[15] For thus says the Lord GOD, the Holy One of Israel; In returning and rest shall you be saved; in quietness and in confidence shall be your strength: and you would not.[16] But you said, No; for we will flee on horses; therefore shall you flee: and, We will ride on the swift; therefore shall they that pursue you be swift.[17] One thousand shall flee at the rebuke of one; at the rebuke of five shall you flee: till you be left as a beacon on the top of a mountain, and as an ensign on an hill. ¶[18] And therefore will the LORD wait, that he may be gracious to you, and therefore will he be exalted, that he may have mercy on you: for the LORD is a God of judgment: blessed are all they that wait for him.[19] For the people shall dwell in Zion at Jerusalem: you shall weep no more: he will be very gracious to you at the voice of your cry; when he shall hear it, he will answer you.[20] And though the Lord give you the bread of adversity, and the water of affliction, yet shall not your teachers be removed into a corner any more, but your eyes shall see your teachers:[21] And your ears shall hear a word behind you, saying, This is the way, walk you in it, when you turn to the right hand, and when you turn to the left.[22] You shall defile also the covering of your graven images of silver, and the ornament of your molten images of gold: you shall cast them away as a menstruous cloth; you shall say to it, Get you hence.[23] Then shall he give the rain of your seed, that you shall sow the ground with; and bread of the increase of the earth, and it shall be fat and plenteous: in that day shall your cattle feed in large pastures.[24] The oxen likewise and the young asses that ear the ground shall eat clean provender, which has been winnowed with the shovel and with the fan.[25] And there shall be on every high mountain, and on every high hill, rivers and streams of waters in the day of the great slaughter, when the towers fall.[26] Moreover the light of the moon shall be as the light of the sun, and the light of the sun shall be sevenfold, as the light of seven days, in the day that the LORD binds up the breach of his people, and heals the stroke of their wound. ¶[27] Behold, the name of the LORD comes from far, burning with his anger, and the burden thereof is heavy: his lips are full of indignation, and his tongue as a devouring fire:[28] And his breath, as an overflowing stream, shall reach to the middle of the neck, to sift the nations with the sieve of vanity: and there shall be a bridle in the jaws of the people, causing them to err.[29] You shall have a song, as in the night when a holy solemnity is kept; and gladness of heart, as when one goes with a pipe to come into the mountain of the LORD, to the mighty One of Israel.[30] And the LORD shall cause his glorious voice to be heard, and shall show the lighting down of his arm, with the indignation of his anger, and with the flame of a devouring fire, with scattering, and tempest, and hailstones.[31] For through the voice of the LORD shall the Assyrian be beaten down, which smote with a rod.[32] And in every place where the grounded staff shall pass, which the LORD shall lay on him, it shall be with tabrets and harps: and in battles of shaking will he fight with it.[33] For Tophet is ordained of old; yes, for the king it is prepared; he has made it deep and large: the pile thereof is fire and much wood; the breath of the LORD, like a stream of brimstone, does kindle it.

[1] Woe to them that go down to Egypt for help; and stay on horses, and trust in chariots, because they are many; and in horsemen, because they are very strong; but they look not to the Holy One of Israel, neither seek the LORD!

[2] Yet he also is wise, and will bring evil, and will not call back his words: but will arise against the house of the evildoers, and against the help of them that work iniquity.[3] Now the Egyptians are men, and not God; and their horses flesh, and not spirit. When the LORD shall stretch out his hand, both he that helps shall fall, and he that is helped shall fall down, and they all shall fail together.[4] For thus has the LORD spoken to me, Like as the lion and the young lion roaring on his prey, when a multitude of shepherds is called forth against him, he will not be afraid of their voice, nor abase himself for the noise of them: so shall the LORD of hosts come down to fight for mount Zion, and for the hill thereof.[5] As birds flying, so will the LORD of hosts defend Jerusalem; defending also he will deliver it; and passing over he will preserve it. ¶[6] Turn you to him from whom the children of Israel have deeply revolted.[7] For in that day every man shall cast away his idols of silver, and his idols of gold, which your own hands have made to you for a sin. ¶[8] Then shall the Assyrian fall with the sword, not of a mighty man; and the sword, not of a mean man, shall devour him: but he shall flee from the sword, and his young men shall be discomfited.[9] And he shall pass over to his strong hold for fear, and his princes shall be afraid of the ensign, says the LORD, whose fire is in Zion, and his furnace in Jerusalem.

[1] Behold, a king shall reign in righteousness, and princes shall rule in judgment.

[2] And a man shall be as an hiding place from the wind, and a covert from the tempest; as rivers of water in a dry place, as the shadow of a great rock in a weary land.[3] And the eyes of them that see shall not be dim, and the ears of them that hear shall listen.[4] The heart also of the rash shall understand knowledge, and the tongue of the stammerers shall be ready to speak plainly.[5] The vile person shall be no more called liberal, nor the churl said to be bountiful.[6] For the vile person will speak villainy, and his heart will work iniquity, to practice hypocrisy, and to utter error against the LORD, to make empty the soul of the hungry, and he will cause the drink of the thirsty to fail.[7] The instruments also of the churl are evil: he devises wicked devices to destroy the poor with lying words, even when the needy speaks right.[8] But the liberal devises liberal things; and by liberal things shall he stand. ¶[9] Rise up, you women that are at ease; hear my voice, you careless daughters; give ear to my speech.[10] Many days and years shall you be troubled, you careless women: for the vintage shall fail, the gathering shall not come.[11] Tremble, you women that are at ease; be troubled, you careless ones: strip you, and make you bore, and gird sackcloth on your loins.[12] They shall lament for the teats, for the pleasant fields, for the fruitful vine.[13] On the land of my people shall come up thorns and briers; yes, on all the houses of joy in the joyous city:[14] Because the palaces shall be forsaken; the multitude of the city shall be left; the forts and towers shall be for dens for ever, a joy of wild asses, a pasture of flocks;[15] Until the spirit be poured on us from on high, and the wilderness be a fruitful field, and the fruitful field be counted for a forest.[16] Then judgment shall dwell in the wilderness, and righteousness remain in the fruitful field.[17] And the work of righteousness shall be peace; and the effect of righteousness quietness and assurance for ever.[18] And my people shall dwell in a peaceable habitation, and in sure dwellings, and in quiet resting places;[19] When it shall hail, coming down on the forest; and the city shall be low in a low place.[20] Blessed are you that sow beside all waters, that send forth thither the feet of the ox and the ass.

[1] Woe to you that spoil, and you were not spoiled; and deal treacherously, and they dealt not treacherously with you! when you shall cease to spoil, you shall be spoiled; and when you shall make an end to deal treacherously, they shall deal treacherously with you.

[2] O LORD, be gracious to us; we have waited for you: be you their arm every morning, our salvation also in the time of trouble.[3] At the noise of the tumult the people fled; at the lifting up of yourself the nations were scattered.[4] And your spoil shall be gathered like the gathering of the caterpillar: as the running to and fro of locusts shall he run on them.[5] The LORD is exalted; for he dwells on high: he has filled Zion with judgment and righteousness.[6] And wisdom and knowledge shall be the stability of your times, and strength of salvation: the fear of the LORD is his treasure.[7] Behold, their valiant ones shall cry without: the ambassadors of peace shall weep bitterly.[8] The highways lie waste, the wayfaring man ceases: he has broken the covenant, he has despised the cities, he regards no man.[9] The earth mourns and languishes: Lebanon is ashamed and hewn down: Sharon is like a wilderness; and Bashan and Carmel shake off their fruits.[10] Now will I rise, says the LORD; now will I be exalted; now will I lift up myself.[11] You shall conceive chaff, you shall bring forth stubble: your breath, as fire, shall devour you.[12] And the people shall be as the burnings of lime: as thorns cut up shall they be burned in the fire. ¶[13] Hear, you that are far off, what I have done; and, you that are near, acknowledge my might.[14] The sinners in Zion are afraid; fearfulness has surprised the hypocrites. Who among us shall dwell with the devouring fire? who among us shall dwell with everlasting burnings?[15] He that walks righteously, and speaks uprightly; he that despises the gain of oppressions, that shakes his hands from holding of bribes, that stops his ears from hearing of blood, and shuts his eyes from seeing evil;[16] He shall dwell on high: his place of defense shall be the munitions of rocks: bread shall be given him; his waters shall be sure.[17] Your eyes shall see the king in his beauty: they shall behold the land that is very far off.[18] Your heart shall meditate terror. Where is the scribe? where is the receiver? where is he that counted the towers?[19] You shall not see a fierce people, a people of a deeper speech than you can perceive; of a stammering tongue, that you can not understand.[20] Look on Zion, the city of our solemnities: your eyes shall see Jerusalem a quiet habitation, a tabernacle that shall not be taken down; not one of the stakes thereof shall ever be removed, neither shall any of the cords thereof be broken.[21] But there the glorious LORD will be to us a place of broad rivers and streams; wherein shall go no galley with oars, neither shall gallant ship pass thereby.[22] For the LORD is our judge, the LORD is our lawgiver, the LORD is our king; he will save us.[23] Your tacklings are loosed; they could not well strengthen their mast, they could not spread the sail: then is the prey of a great spoil divided; the lame take the prey.[24] And the inhabitant shall not say, I am sick: the people that dwell therein shall be forgiven their iniquity.

[1] Come near, you nations, to hear; and listen, you people: let the earth hear, and all that is therein; the world, and all things that come forth of it.

[2] For the indignation of the LORD is on all nations, and his fury on all their armies: he has utterly destroyed them, he has delivered them to the slaughter.[3] Their slain also shall be cast out, and their stink shall come up out of their carcasses, and the mountains shall be melted with their blood.[4] And all the host of heaven shall be dissolved, and the heavens shall be rolled together as a scroll: and all their host shall fall down, as the leaf falls off from the vine, and as a falling fig from the fig tree.[5] For my sword shall be bathed in heaven: behold, it shall come down on Idumea, and on the people of my curse, to judgment.[6] The sword of the LORD is filled with blood, it is made fat with fatness, and with the blood of lambs and goats, with the fat of the kidneys of rams: for the LORD has a sacrifice in Bozrah, and a great slaughter in the land of Idumea.[7] And the unicorns shall come down with them, and the bullocks with the bulls; and their land shall be soaked with blood, and their dust made fat with fatness.[8] For it is the day of the LORD's vengeance, and the year of recompenses for the controversy of Zion.[9] And the streams thereof shall be turned into pitch, and the dust thereof into brimstone, and the land thereof shall become burning pitch.[10] It shall not be quenched night nor day; the smoke thereof shall go up for ever: from generation to generation it shall lie waste; none shall pass through it for ever and ever. ¶[11] But the cormorant and the bittern shall possess it; the owl also and the raven shall dwell in it: and he shall stretch out on it the line of confusion, and the stones of emptiness.[12] They shall call the nobles thereof to the kingdom, but none shall be there, and all her princes shall be nothing.[13] And thorns shall come up in her palaces, nettles and brambles in the fortresses thereof: and it shall be an habitation of dragons, and a court for owls.[14] The wild beasts of the desert shall also meet with the wild beasts of the island, and the satyr shall cry to his fellow; the screech owl also shall rest there, and find for herself a place of rest.[15] There shall the great owl make her nest, and lay, and hatch, and gather under her shadow: there shall the vultures also be gathered, every one with her mate. ¶[16] Seek you out of the book of the LORD, and read: no one of these shall fail, none shall want her mate: for my mouth it has commanded, and his spirit it has gathered them.[17] And he has cast the lot for them, and his hand has divided it to them by line: they shall possess it for ever, from generation to generation shall they dwell therein.

[1] The wilderness and the solitary place shall be glad for them; and the desert shall rejoice, and blossom as the rose.

[2] It shall blossom abundantly, and rejoice even with joy and singing: the glory of Lebanon shall be given to it, the excellency of Carmel and Sharon, they shall see the glory of the LORD, and the excellency of our God. ¶[3] Strengthen you the weak hands, and confirm the feeble knees.[4] Say to them that are of a fearful heart, Be strong, fear not: behold, your God will come with vengeance, even God with a recompense; he will come and save you.[5] Then the eyes of the blind shall be opened, and the ears of the deaf shall be unstopped.[6] Then shall the lame man leap as an hart, and the tongue of the dumb sing: for in the wilderness shall waters break out, and streams in the desert.[7] And the parched ground shall become a pool, and the thirsty land springs of water: in the habitation of dragons, where each lay, shall be grass with reeds and rushes.[8] And an highway shall be there, and a way, and it shall be called The way of holiness; the unclean shall not pass over it; but it shall be for those: the wayfaring men, though fools, shall not err therein.[9] No lion shall be there, nor any ravenous beast shall go up thereon, it shall not be found there; but the redeemed shall walk there:[10] And the ransomed of the LORD shall return, and come to Zion with songs and everlasting joy on their heads: they shall obtain joy and gladness, and sorrow and sighing shall flee away.

[1] Now it came to pass in the fourteenth year of king Hezekiah, that Sennacherib king of Assyria came up against all the defended cities of Judah, and took them.

[2] And the king of Assyria sent Rabshakeh from Lachish to Jerusalem to king Hezekiah with a great army. And he stood by the conduit of the upper pool in the highway of the fuller's field.[3] Then came forth to him Eliakim, Hilkiah's son, which was over the house, and Shebna the scribe, and Joah, Asaph's son, the recorder. ¶[4] And Rabshakeh said to them, Say you now to Hezekiah, Thus says the great king, the king of Assyria, What confidence is this wherein you trust?[5] I say, say you, (but they are but vain words) I have counsel and strength for war: now on whom do you trust, that you rebel against me?[6] See, you trust in the staff of this broken reed, on Egypt; where on if a man lean, it will go into his hand, and pierce it: so is Pharaoh king of Egypt to all that trust in him.[7] But if you say to me, We trust in the LORD our God: is it not he, whose high places and whose altars Hezekiah has taken away, and said to Judah and to Jerusalem, You shall worship before this altar?[8] Now therefore give pledges, I pray you, to my master the king of Assyria, and I will give you two thousand horses, if you be able on your part to set riders on them.[9] How then will you turn away the face of one captain of the least of my master's servants, and put your trust on Egypt for chariots and for horsemen?[10] And am I now come up without the LORD against this land to destroy it? the LORD said to me, Go up against this land, and destroy it. ¶[11] Then said Eliakim and Shebna and Joah to Rabshakeh, Speak, I pray you, to your servants in the Syrian language; for we understand it: and speak not to us in the Jews' language, in the ears of the people that are on the wall. ¶[12] But Rabshakeh said, Has my master sent me to your master and to you to speak these words? has he not sent me to the men that sit on the wall, that they may eat their own dung, and drink their own urine with you?[13] Then Rabshakeh stood, and cried with a loud voice in the Jews' language, and said, Hear you the words of the great king, the king of Assyria.[14] Thus says the king, Let not Hezekiah deceive you: for he shall not be able to deliver you.[15] Neither let Hezekiah make you trust in the LORD, saying, The LORD will surely deliver us: this city shall not be delivered into the hand of the king of Assyria.[16] Listen not to Hezekiah: for thus says the king of Assyria, Make an agreement with me by a present, and come out to me: and eat you every one of his vine, and every one of his fig tree, and drink you every one the waters of his own cistern;[17] Until I come and take you away to a land like your own land, a land of corn and wine, a land of bread and vineyards.[18] Beware lest Hezekiah persuade you, saying, the LORD will deliver us. Has any of the gods of the nations delivered his land out of the hand of the king of Assyria?[19] Where are the gods of Hamath and Arphad? where are the gods of Sepharvaim? and have they delivered Samaria out of my hand?[20] Who are they among all the gods of these lands, that have delivered their land out of my hand, that the LORD should deliver Jerusalem out of my hand?[21] But they held their peace, and answered him not a word: for the king's commandment was, saying, Answer him not. ¶[22] Then came Eliakim, the son of Hilkiah, that was over the household, and Shebna the scribe, and Joah, the son of Asaph, the recorder, to Hezekiah with their clothes rent, and told him the words of Rabshakeh.

[1] And it came to pass, when king Hezekiah heard it, that he rent his clothes, and covered himself with sackcloth, and went into the house of the LORD.

[2] And he sent Eliakim, who was over the household, and Shebna the scribe, and the elders of the priests covered with sackcloth, to Isaiah the prophet the son of Amoz.[3] And they said to him, Thus says Hezekiah, This day is a day of trouble, and of rebuke, and of blasphemy: for the children are come to the birth, and there is not strength to bring forth.[4] It may be the LORD your God will hear the words of Rabshakeh, whom the king of Assyria his master has sent to reproach the living God, and will reprove the words which the LORD your God has heard: why lift up your prayer for the remnant that is left.[5] So the servants of king Hezekiah came to Isaiah. ¶[6] And Isaiah said to them, Thus shall you say to your master, Thus says the LORD, Be not afraid of the words that you have heard, with which the servants of the king of Assyria have blasphemed me.[7] Behold, I will send a blast on him, and he shall hear a rumor, and return to his own land; and I will cause him to fall by the sword in his own land. ¶[8] So Rabshakeh returned, and found the king of Assyria warring against Libnah: for he had heard that he was departed from Lachish.[9] And he heard say concerning Tirhakah king of Ethiopia, He is come forth to make war with you. And when he heard it, he sent messengers to Hezekiah, saying,[10] Thus shall you speak to Hezekiah king of Judah, saying, Let not your God, in whom you trust, deceive you, saying, Jerusalem shall not be given into the hand of the king of Assyria.[11] Behold, you have heard what the kings of Assyria have done to all lands by destroying them utterly; and shall you be delivered?[12] Have the gods of the nations delivered them which my fathers have destroyed, as Gozan, and Haran, and Rezeph, and the children of Eden which were in Telassar?[13] Where is the king of Hamath, and the king of Arphad, and the king of the city of Sepharvaim, Hena, and Ivah? ¶[14] And Hezekiah received the letter from the hand of the messengers, and read it: and Hezekiah went up to the house of the LORD, and spread it before the LORD.[15] And Hezekiah prayed to the LORD, saying,[16] O LORD of hosts, God of Israel, that dwell between the cherubim, you are the God, even you alone, of all the kingdoms of the earth: you have made heaven and earth.[17] Incline your ear, O LORD, and hear; open your eyes, O LORD, and see: and hear all the words of Sennacherib, which has sent to reproach the living God.[18] Of a truth, LORD, the kings of Assyria have laid waste all the nations, and their countries,[19] And have cast their gods into the fire: for they were no gods, but the work of men's hands, wood and stone: therefore they have destroyed them.[20] Now therefore, O LORD our God, save us from his hand, that all the kingdoms of the earth may know that you are the LORD, even you only. ¶[21] Then Isaiah the son of Amoz sent to Hezekiah, saying, Thus says the LORD God of Israel, Whereas you have prayed to me against Sennacherib king of Assyria:[22] This is the word which the LORD has spoken concerning him; The virgin, the daughter of Zion, has despised you, and laughed you to scorn; the daughter of Jerusalem has shaken her head at you.[23] Whom have you reproached and blasphemed? and against whom have you exalted your voice, and lifted up your eyes on high? even against the Holy One of Israel.[24] By your servants have you reproached the Lord, and have said, By the multitude of my chariots am I come up to the height of the mountains, to the sides of Lebanon; and I will cut down the tall cedars thereof, and the choice fir trees thereof: and I will enter into the height of his border, and the forest of his Carmel.[25] I have dig, and drunk water; and with the sole of my feet have I dried up all the rivers of the besieged places.[26] Have you not heard long ago, how I have done it; and of ancient times, that I have formed it? now have I brought it to pass, that you should be to lay waste defended cities into ruinous heaps.[27] Therefore their inhabitants were of small power, they were dismayed and confounded: they were as the grass of the field, and as the green herb, as the grass on the housetops, and as corn blasted before it be grown up.[28] But I know your stayed, and your going out, and your coming in, and your rage against me.[29] Because your rage against me, and your tumult, is come up into my ears, therefore will I put my hook in your nose, and my bridle in your lips, and I will turn you back by the way by which you came.[30] And this shall be a sign to you, You shall eat this year such as grows of itself; and the second year that which springs of the same: and in the third year sow you, and reap, and plant vineyards, and eat the fruit thereof.[31] And the remnant that is escaped of the house of Judah shall again take root downward, and bear fruit upward:[32] For out of Jerusalem shall go forth a remnant, and they that escape out of mount Zion: the zeal of the LORD of hosts shall do this.[33] Therefore thus says the LORD concerning the king of Assyria, He shall not come into this city, nor shoot an arrow there, nor come before it with shields, nor cast a bank against it.[34] By the way that he came, by the same shall he return, and shall not come into this city, says the LORD.[35] For I will defend this city to save it for my own sake, and for my servant David's sake.[36] Then the angel of the LORD went forth, and smote in the camp of the Assyrians a hundred and fourscore and five thousand: and when they arose early in the morning, behold, they were all dead corpses. ¶[37] So Sennacherib king of Assyria departed, and went and returned, and dwelled at Nineveh.[38] And it came to pass, as he was worshipping in the house of Nisroch his god, that Adrammelech and Sharezer his sons smote him with the sword; and they escaped into the land of Armenia: and Esarhaddon his son reigned in his stead.

[1] In those days was Hezekiah sick to death. And Isaiah the prophet the son of Amoz came to him, and said to him, Thus says the LORD, Set your house in order: for you shall die, and not live.

[2] Then Hezekiah turned his face toward the wall, and prayed to the LORD,[3] And said, Remember now, O LORD, I beseech you, how I have walked before you in truth and with a perfect heart, and have done that which is good in your sight. And Hezekiah wept sore. ¶[4] Then came the word of the LORD to Isaiah, saying,[5] Go, and say to Hezekiah, Thus says the LORD, the God of David your father, I have heard your prayer, I have seen your tears: behold, I will add to your days fifteen years.[6] And I will deliver you and this city out of the hand of the king of Assyria: and I will defend this city.[7] And this shall be a sign to you from the LORD, that the LORD will do this thing that he has spoken;[8] Behold, I will bring again the shadow of the degrees, which is gone down in the sun dial of Ahaz, ten degrees backward. So the sun returned ten degrees, by which degrees it was gone down. ¶[9] The writing of Hezekiah king of Judah, when he had been sick, and was recovered of his sickness:[10] I said in the cutting off of my days, I shall go to the gates of the grave: I am deprived of the residue of my years.[11] I said, I shall not see the LORD, even the LORD, in the land of the living: I shall behold man no more with the inhabitants of the world.[12] My age is departed, and is removed from me as a shepherd's tent: I have cut off like a weaver my life: he will cut me off with pining sickness: from day even to night will you make an end of me.[13] I reckoned till morning, that, as a lion, so will he break all my bones: from day even to night will you make an end of me.[14] Like a crane or a swallow, so did I chatter: I did mourn as a dove: my eyes fail with looking upward: O LORD, I am oppressed; undertake for me.[15] What shall I say? he has both spoken to me, and himself has done it: I shall go softly all my years in the bitterness of my soul.[16] O LORD, by these things men live, and in all these things is the life of my spirit: so will you recover me, and make me to live.[17] Behold, for peace I had great bitterness: but you have in love to my soul delivered it from the pit of corruption: for you have cast all my sins behind your back.[18] For the grave cannot praise you, death can not celebrate you: they that go down into the pit cannot hope for your truth.[19] The living, the living, he shall praise you, as I do this day: the father to the children shall make known your truth.[20] The LORD was ready to save me: therefore we will sing my songs to the stringed instruments all the days of our life in the house of the LORD.[21] For Isaiah had said, Let them take a lump of figs, and lay it for a plaster on the boil, and he shall recover.[22] Hezekiah also had said, What is the sign that I shall go up to the house of the LORD?

[1] At that time Merodachbaladan, the son of Baladan, king of Babylon, sent letters and a present to Hezekiah: for he had heard that he had been sick, and was recovered.

[2] And Hezekiah was glad of them, and showed them the house of his precious things, the silver, and the gold, and the spices, and the precious ointment, and all the house of his armor, and all that was found in his treasures: there was nothing in his house, nor in all his dominion, that Hezekiah showed them not. ¶[3] Then came Isaiah the prophet to king Hezekiah, and said to him, What said these men? and from where came they to you? And Hezekiah said, They are come from a far country to me, even from Babylon.[4] Then said he, What have they seen in your house? And Hezekiah answered, All that is in my house have they seen: there is nothing among my treasures that I have not showed them.[5] Then said Isaiah to Hezekiah, Hear the word of the LORD of hosts:[6] Behold, the days come, that all that is in your house, and that which your fathers have laid up in store until this day, shall be carried to Babylon: nothing shall be left, says the LORD.[7] And of your sons that shall issue from you, which you shall beget, shall they take away; and they shall be eunuchs in the palace of the king of Babylon.[8] Then said Hezekiah to Isaiah, Good is the word of the LORD which you have spoken. He said moreover, For there shall be peace and truth in my days.

[1] Comfort you, comfort you my people, says your God.

[2] Speak you comfortably to Jerusalem, and cry to her, that her warfare is accomplished, that her iniquity is pardoned: for she has received of the LORD's hand double for all her sins. ¶[3] The voice of him that cries in the wilderness, Prepare you the way of the LORD, make straight in the desert a highway for our God.[4] Every valley shall be exalted, and every mountain and hill shall be made low: and the crooked shall be made straight, and the rough places plain:[5] And the glory of the LORD shall be revealed, and all flesh shall see it together: for the mouth of the LORD has spoken it.[6] The voice said, Cry. And he said, What shall I cry? All flesh is grass, and all the goodliness thereof is as the flower of the field:[7] The grass wither, the flower fades: because the spirit of the LORD blows on it: surely the people is grass.[8] The grass wither, the flower fades: but the word of our God shall stand for ever. ¶[9] O Zion, that bring good tidings, get you up into the high mountain; O Jerusalem, that bring good tidings, lift up your voice with strength; lift it up, be not afraid; say to the cities of Judah, Behold your God![10] Behold, the Lord GOD will come with strong hand, and his arm shall rule for him: behold, his reward is with him, and his work before him.[11] He shall feed his flock like a shepherd: he shall gather the lambs with his arm, and carry them in his bosom, and shall gently lead those that are with young. ¶[12] Who has measured the waters in the hollow of his hand, and meted out heaven with the span, and comprehended the dust of the earth in a measure, and weighed the mountains in scales, and the hills in a balance?[13] Who has directed the Spirit of the LORD, or being his counselor has taught him?[14] With whom took he counsel, and who instructed him, and taught him in the path of judgment, and taught him knowledge, and showed to him the way of understanding?[15] Behold, the nations are as a drop of a bucket, and are counted as the small dust of the balance: behold, he takes up the isles as a very little thing.[16] And Lebanon is not sufficient to burn, nor the beasts thereof sufficient for a burnt offering.[17] All nations before him are as nothing; and they are counted to him less than nothing, and vanity. ¶[18] To whom then will you liken God? or what likeness will you compare to him?[19] The workman melts a graven image, and the goldsmith spreads it over with gold, and casts silver chains.[20] He that is so impoverished that he has no oblation chooses a tree that will not rot; he seeks to him a cunning workman to prepare a graven image, that shall not be moved.[21] Have you not known? have you not heard? has it not been told you from the beginning? have you not understood from the foundations of the earth?[22] It is he that sits on the circle of the earth, and the inhabitants thereof are as grasshoppers; that stretches out the heavens as a curtain, and spreads them out as a tent to dwell in:[23] That brings the princes to nothing; he makes the judges of the earth as vanity.[24] Yes, they shall not be planted; yes, they shall not be sown: yes, their stock shall not take root in the earth: and he shall also blow on them, and they shall wither, and the whirlwind shall take them away as stubble.[25] To whom then will you liken me, or shall I be equal? says the Holy One.[26] Lift up your eyes on high, and behold who has created these things, that brings out their host by number: he calls them all by names by the greatness of his might, for that he is strong in power; not one fails.[27] Why say you, O Jacob, and speak, O Israel, My way is hid from the LORD, and my judgment is passed over from my God? ¶[28] Have you not known? have you not heard, that the everlasting God, the LORD, the Creator of the ends of the earth, faints not, neither is weary? there is no searching of his understanding.[29] He gives power to the faint; and to them that have no might he increases strength.[30] Even the youths shall faint and be weary, and the young men shall utterly fall:[31] But they that wait on the LORD shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint.

[1] Keep silence before me, O islands; and let the people renew their strength: let them come near; then let them speak: let us come near together to judgment.

[2] Who raised up the righteous man from the east, called him to his foot, gave the nations before him, and made him rule over kings? he gave them as the dust to his sword, and as driven stubble to his bow.[3] He pursued them, and passed safely; even by the way that he had not gone with his feet.[4] Who has worked and done it, calling the generations from the beginning? I the LORD, the first, and with the last; I am he.[5] The isles saw it, and feared; the ends of the earth were afraid, drew near, and came.[6] They helped every one his neighbor; and every one said to his brother, Be of good courage.[7] So the carpenter encouraged the goldsmith, and he that smoothes with the hammer him that smote the anvil, saying, It is ready for the soldering: and he fastened it with nails, that it should not be moved.[8] But you, Israel, are my servant, Jacob whom I have chosen, the seed of Abraham my friend.[9] You whom I have taken from the ends of the earth, and called you from the chief men thereof, and said to you, You are my servant; I have chosen you, and not cast you away. ¶[10] Fear you not; for I am with you: be not dismayed; for I am your God: I will strengthen you; yes, I will help you; yes, I will uphold you with the right hand of my righteousness.[11] Behold, all they that were incensed against you shall be ashamed and confounded: they shall be as nothing; and they that strive with you shall perish.[12] You shall seek them, and shall not find them, even them that contended with you: they that war against you shall be as nothing, and as a thing of nothing.[13] For I the LORD your God will hold your right hand, saying to you, Fear not; I will help you.[14] Fear not, you worm Jacob, and you men of Israel; I will help you, says the LORD, and your redeemer, the Holy One of Israel.[15] Behold, I will make you a new sharp threshing instrument having teeth: you shall thresh the mountains, and beat them small, and shall make the hills as chaff.[16] You shall fan them, and the wind shall carry them away, and the whirlwind shall scatter them: and you shall rejoice in the LORD, and shall glory in the Holy One of Israel.[17] When the poor and needy seek water, and there is none, and their tongue fails for thirst, I the LORD will hear them, I the God of Israel will not forsake them.[18] I will open rivers in high places, and fountains in the middle of the valleys: I will make the wilderness a pool of water, and the dry land springs of water.[19] I will plant in the wilderness the cedar, the shittah tree, and the myrtle, and the oil tree; I will set in the desert the fir tree, and the pine, and the box tree together:[20] That they may see, and know, and consider, and understand together, that the hand of the LORD has done this, and the Holy One of Israel has created it.[21] Produce your cause, says the LORD; bring forth your strong reasons, says the King of Jacob.[22] Let them bring them forth, and show us what shall happen: let them show the former things, what they be, that we may consider them, and know the latter end of them; or declare us things for to come.[23] Show the things that are to come hereafter, that we may know that you are gods: yes, do good, or do evil, that we may be dismayed, and behold it together.[24] Behold, you are of nothing, and your work of nothing: an abomination is he that chooses you.[25] I have raised up one from the north, and he shall come: from the rising of the sun shall he call on my name: and he shall come on princes as on mortar, and as the potter treads clay.[26] Who has declared from the beginning, that we may know? and beforetime, that we may say, He is righteous? yes, there is none that shows, yes, there is none that declares, yes, there is none that hears your words.[27] The first shall say to Zion, Behold, behold them: and I will give to Jerusalem one that brings good tidings.[28] For I beheld, and there was no man; even among them, and there was no counselor, that, when I asked of them, could answer a word.[29] Behold, they are all vanity; their works are nothing: their molten images are wind and confusion.

[1] Behold my servant, whom I uphold; my elect, in whom my soul delights; I have put my spirit on him: he shall bring forth judgment to the Gentiles.

[2] He shall not cry, nor lift up, nor cause his voice to be heard in the street.[3] A bruised reed shall he not break, and the smoking flax shall he not quench: he shall bring forth judgment to truth.[4] He shall not fail nor be discouraged, till he have set judgment in the earth: and the isles shall wait for his law. ¶[5] Thus says God the LORD, he that created the heavens, and stretched them out; he that spread forth the earth, and that which comes out of it; he that gives breath to the people on it, and spirit to them that walk therein:[6] I the LORD have called you in righteousness, and will hold your hand, and will keep you, and give you for a covenant of the people, for a light of the Gentiles;[7] To open the blind eyes, to bring out the prisoners from the prison, and them that sit in darkness out of the prison house.[8] I am the LORD: that is my name: and my glory will I not give to another, neither my praise to graven images.[9] Behold, the former things are come to pass, and new things do I declare: before they spring forth I tell you of them.[10] Sing to the LORD a new song, and his praise from the end of the earth, you that go down to the sea, and all that is therein; the isles, and the inhabitants thereof.[11] Let the wilderness and the cities thereof lift up their voice, the villages that Kedar does inhabit: let the inhabitants of the rock sing, let them shout from the top of the mountains.[12] Let them give glory to the LORD, and declare his praise in the islands.[13] The LORD shall go forth as a mighty man, he shall stir up jealousy like a man of war: he shall cry, yes, roar; he shall prevail against his enemies.[14] I have long time held my peace; I have been still, and refrained myself: now will I cry like a travailing woman; I will destroy and devour at once.[15] I will make waste mountains and hills, and dry up all their herbs; and I will make the rivers islands, and I will dry up the pools.[16] And I will bring the blind by a way that they knew not; I will lead them in paths that they have not known: I will make darkness light before them, and crooked things straight. These things will I do to them, and not forsake them. ¶[17] They shall be turned back, they shall be greatly ashamed, that trust in graven images, that say to the molten images, You are our gods.[18] Hear, you deaf; and look, you blind, that you may see.[19] Who is blind, but my servant? or deaf, as my messenger that I sent? who is blind as he that is perfect, and blind as the LORD's servant?[20] Seeing many things, but you observe not; opening the ears, but he hears not.[21] The LORD is well pleased for his righteousness' sake; he will magnify the law, and make it honorable.[22] But this is a people robbed and spoiled; they are all of them snared in holes, and they are hid in prison houses: they are for a prey, and none delivers; for a spoil, and none says, Restore.[23] Who among you will give ear to this? who will listen and hear for the time to come?[24] Who gave Jacob for a spoil, and Israel to the robbers? did not the LORD, he against whom we have sinned? for they would not walk in his ways, neither were they obedient to his law.[25] Therefore he has poured on him the fury of his anger, and the strength of battle: and it has set him on fire round about, yet he knew not; and it burned him, yet he laid it not to heart.

[1] But now thus says the LORD that created you, O Jacob, and he that formed you, O Israel, Fear not: for I have redeemed you, I have called you by your name; you are mine.

[2] When you pass through the waters, I will be with you; and through the rivers, they shall not overflow you: when you walk through the fire, you shall not be burned; neither shall the flame kindle on you.[3] For I am the LORD your God, the Holy One of Israel, your Savior: I gave Egypt for your ransom, Ethiopia and Seba for you.[4] Since you were precious in my sight, you have been honorable, and I have loved you: therefore will I give men for you, and people for your life.[5] Fear not: for I am with you: I will bring your seed from the east, and gather you from the west;[6] I will say to the north, Give up; and to the south, Keep not back: bring my sons from far, and my daughters from the ends of the earth;[7] Even every one that is called by my name: for I have created him for my glory, I have formed him; yes, I have made him. ¶[8] Bring forth the blind people that have eyes, and the deaf that have ears.[9] Let all the nations be gathered together, and let the people be assembled: who among them can declare this, and show us former things? let them bring forth their witnesses, that they may be justified: or let them hear, and say, It is truth.[10] You are my witnesses, says the LORD, and my servant whom I have chosen: that you may know and believe me, and understand that I am he: before me there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me.[11] I, even I, am the LORD; and beside me there is no savior.[12] I have declared, and have saved, and I have showed, when there was no strange god among you: therefore you are my witnesses, says the LORD, that I am God.[13] Yes, before the day was I am he; and there is none that can deliver out of my hand: I will work, and who shall let it? ¶[14] Thus says the LORD, your redeemer, the Holy One of Israel; For your sake I have sent to Babylon, and have brought down all their nobles, and the Chaldeans, whose cry is in the ships.[15] I am the LORD, your Holy One, the creator of Israel, your King.[16] Thus says the LORD, which makes a way in the sea, and a path in the mighty waters;[17] Which brings forth the chariot and horse, the army and the power; they shall lie down together, they shall not rise: they are extinct, they are quenched as wick. ¶[18] Remember you not the former things, neither consider the things of old.[19] Behold, I will do a new thing; now it shall spring forth; shall you not know it? I will even make a way in the wilderness, and rivers in the desert.[20] The beast of the field shall honor me, the dragons and the owls: because I give waters in the wilderness, and rivers in the desert, to give drink to my people, my chosen.[21] This people have I formed for myself; they shall show forth my praise. ¶[22] But you have not called on me, O Jacob; but you have been weary of me, O Israel.[23] You have not brought me the small cattle of your burnt offerings; neither have you honored me with your sacrifices. I have not caused you to serve with an offering, nor wearied you with incense.[24] You have bought me no sweet cane with money, neither have you filled me with the fat of your sacrifices: but you have made me to serve with your sins, you have wearied me with your iniquities.[25] I, even I, am he that blots out your transgressions for my own sake, and will not remember your sins.[26] Put me in remembrance: let us plead together: declare you, that you may be justified.[27] Your first father has sinned, and your teachers have transgressed against me.[28] Therefore I have profaned the princes of the sanctuary, and have given Jacob to the curse, and Israel to reproaches.

[1] Yet now hear, O Jacob my servant; and Israel, whom I have chosen:

[2] Thus says the LORD that made you, and formed you from the womb, which will help you; Fear not, O Jacob, my servant; and you, Jesurun, whom I have chosen.[3] For I will pour water on him that is thirsty, and floods on the dry ground: I will pour my spirit on your seed, and my blessing on your offspring:[4] And they shall spring up as among the grass, as willows by the water courses.[5] One shall say, I am the LORD's; and another shall call himself by the name of Jacob; and another shall subscribe with his hand to the LORD, and surname himself by the name of Israel.[6] Thus says the LORD the King of Israel, and his redeemer the LORD of hosts; I am the first, and I am the last; and beside me there is no God.[7] And who, as I, shall call, and shall declare it, and set it in order for me, since I appointed the ancient people? and the things that are coming, and shall come, let them show to them.[8] Fear you not, neither be afraid: have not I told you from that time, and have declared it? you are even my witnesses. Is there a God beside me? yes, there is no God; I know not any. ¶[9] They that make a graven image are all of them vanity; and their delectable things shall not profit; and they are their own witnesses; they see not, nor know; that they may be ashamed.[10] Who has formed a god, or molten a graven image that is profitable for nothing?[11] Behold, all his fellows shall be ashamed: and the workmen, they are of men: let them all be gathered together, let them stand up; yet they shall fear, and they shall be ashamed together.[12] The smith with the tongs both works in the coals, and fashions it with hammers, and works it with the strength of his arms: yes, he is hungry, and his strength fails: he drinks no water, and is faint.[13] The carpenter stretches out his rule; he marks it out with a line; he fits it with planes, and he marks it out with the compass, and makes it after the figure of a man, according to the beauty of a man; that it may remain in the house.[14] He hews him down cedars, and takes the cypress and the oak, which he strengthens for himself among the trees of the forest: he plants an ash, and the rain does nourish it.[15] Then shall it be for a man to burn: for he will take thereof, and warm himself; yes, he kindles it, and bakes bread; yes, he makes a god, and worships it; he makes it a graven image, and falls down thereto.[16] He burns part thereof in the fire; with part thereof he eats flesh; he roasts roast, and is satisfied: yes, he warms himself, and says, Aha, I am warm, I have seen the fire:[17] And the residue thereof he makes a god, even his graven image: he falls down to it, and worships it, and prays to it, and says, Deliver me; for you are my god.[18] They have not known nor understood: for he has shut their eyes, that they cannot see; and their hearts, that they cannot understand.[19] And none considers in his heart, neither is there knowledge nor understanding to say, I have burned part of it in the fire; yes, also I have baked bread on the coals thereof; I have roasted flesh, and eaten it: and shall I make the residue thereof an abomination? shall I fall down to the stock of a tree?[20] He feeds on ashes: a deceived heart has turned him aside, that he cannot deliver his soul, nor say, Is there not a lie in my right hand? ¶[21] Remember these, O Jacob and Israel; for you are my servant: I have formed you; you are my servant: O Israel, you shall not be forgotten of me.[22] I have blotted out, as a thick cloud, your transgressions, and, as a cloud, your sins: return to me; for I have redeemed you.[23] Sing, O you heavens; for the LORD has done it: shout, you lower parts of the earth: break forth into singing, you mountains, O forest, and every tree therein: for the LORD has redeemed Jacob, and glorified himself in Israel.[24] Thus says the LORD, your redeemer, and he that formed you from the womb, I am the LORD that makes all things; that stretches forth the heavens alone; that spreads abroad the earth by myself;[25] That frustrates the tokens of the liars, and makes diviners mad; that turns wise men backward, and makes their knowledge foolish;[26] That confirms the word of his servant, and performs the counsel of his messengers; that says to Jerusalem, You shall be inhabited; and to the cities of Judah, You shall be built, and I will raise up the decayed places thereof:[27] That says to the deep, Be dry, and I will dry up your rivers:[28] That says of Cyrus, He is my shepherd, and shall perform all my pleasure: even saying to Jerusalem, You shall be built; and to the temple, Your foundation shall be laid.

[1] Thus says the LORD to his anointed, to Cyrus, whose right hand I have held, to subdue nations before him; and I will loose the loins of kings, to open before him the two leaved gates; and the gates shall not be shut;

[2] I will go before you, and make the crooked places straight: I will break in pieces the gates of brass, and cut in sunder the bars of iron:[3] And I will give you the treasures of darkness, and hidden riches of secret places, that you may know that I, the LORD, which call you by your name, am the God of Israel.[4] For Jacob my servant's sake, and Israel my elect, I have even called you by your name: I have surnamed you, though you have not known me. ¶[5] I am the LORD, and there is none else, there is no God beside me: I girded you, though you have not known me:[6] That they may know from the rising of the sun, and from the west, that there is none beside me. I am the LORD, and there is none else.[7] I form the light, and create darkness: I make peace, and create evil: I the LORD do all these things.[8] Drop down, you heavens, from above, and let the skies pour down righteousness: let the earth open, and let them bring forth salvation, and let righteousness spring up together; I the LORD have created it.[9] Woe to him that strives with his Maker! Let the potsherd strive with the potsherds of the earth. Shall the clay say to him that fashions it, What make you? or your work, He has no hands?[10] Woe to him that says to his father, What beget you? or to the woman, What have you brought forth?[11] Thus says the LORD, the Holy One of Israel, and his Maker, Ask me of things to come concerning my sons, and concerning the work of my hands command you me.[12] I have made the earth, and created man on it: I, even my hands, have stretched out the heavens, and all their host have I commanded.[13] I have raised him up in righteousness, and I will direct all his ways: he shall build my city, and he shall let go my captives, not for price nor reward, says the LORD of hosts.[14] Thus says the LORD, The labor of Egypt, and merchandise of Ethiopia and of the Sabeans, men of stature, shall come over to you, and they shall be yours: they shall come after you; in chains they shall come over, and they shall fall down to you, they shall make supplication to you, saying, Surely God is in you; and there is none else, there is no God.[15] Truly you are a God that hide yourself, O God of Israel, the Savior.[16] They shall be ashamed, and also confounded, all of them: they shall go to confusion together that are makers of idols.[17] But Israel shall be saved in the LORD with an everlasting salvation: you shall not be ashamed nor confounded world without end.[18] For thus says the LORD that created the heavens; God himself that formed the earth and made it; he has established it, he created it not in vain, he formed it to be inhabited: I am the LORD; and there is none else.[19] I have not spoken in secret, in a dark place of the earth: I said not to the seed of Jacob, Seek you me in vain: I the LORD speak righteousness, I declare things that are right. ¶[20] Assemble yourselves and come; draw near together, you that are escaped of the nations: they have no knowledge that set up the wood of their graven image, and pray to a god that cannot save.[21] Tell you, and bring them near; yes, let them take counsel together: who has declared this from ancient time? who has told it from that time? have not I the LORD? and there is no God else beside me; a just God and a Savior; there is none beside me.[22] Look to me, and be you saved, all the ends of the earth: for I am God, and there is none else.[23] I have sworn by myself, the word is gone out of my mouth in righteousness, and shall not return, That to me every knee shall bow, every tongue shall swear.[24] Surely, shall one say, in the LORD have I righteousness and strength: even to him shall men come; and all that are incensed against him shall be ashamed.[25] In the LORD shall all the seed of Israel be justified, and shall glory.

[1] Bel bows down, Nebo stoops, their idols were on the beasts, and on the cattle: your carriages were heavy laden; they are a burden to the weary beast.

[2] They stoop, they bow down together; they could not deliver the burden, but themselves are gone into captivity. ¶[3] Listen to me, O house of Jacob, and all the remnant of the house of Israel, which are borne by me from the belly, which are carried from the womb:[4] And even to your old age I am he; and even to hoar hairs will I carry you: I have made, and I will bear; even I will carry, and will deliver you. ¶[5] To whom will you liken me, and make me equal, and compare me, that we may be like?[6] They lavish gold out of the bag, and weigh silver in the balance, and hire a goldsmith; and he makes it a god: they fall down, yes, they worship.[7] They bear him on the shoulder, they carry him, and set him in his place, and he stands; from his place shall he not remove: yes, one shall cry to him, yet can he not answer, nor save him out of his trouble.[8] Remember this, and show yourselves men: bring it again to mind, O you transgressors.[9] Remember the former things of old: for I am God, and there is none else; I am God, and there is none like me,[10]

Declaring the end from the beginning, and from ancient times the things that are not yet done, saying, My counsel shall stand, and I will do all my pleasure:[11] Calling a ravenous bird from the east, the man that executes my counsel from a far country: yes, I have spoken it, I will also bring it to pass; I have purposed it, I will also do it. ¶[12] Listen to me, you stouthearted, that are far from righteousness:[13] I bring near my righteousness; it shall not be far off, and my salvation shall not tarry: and I will place salvation in Zion for Israel my glory.

[1] Come down, and sit in the dust, O virgin daughter of Babylon, sit on the ground: there is no throne, O daughter of the Chaldeans: for you shall no more be called tender and delicate.

[2] Take the millstones, and grind meal: uncover your locks, make bore the leg, uncover the thigh, pass over the rivers.[3] Your nakedness shall be uncovered, yes, your shame shall be seen: I will take vengeance, and I will not meet you as a man.[4] As for our redeemer, the LORD of hosts is his name, the Holy One of Israel.[5] Sit you silent, and get you into darkness, O daughter of the Chaldeans: for you shall no more be called, The lady of kingdoms. ¶[6] I was wroth with my people, I have polluted my inheritance, and given them into your hand: you did show them no mercy; on the ancient have you very heavily laid your yoke. ¶[7] And you said, I shall be a lady for ever: so that you did not lay these things to your heart, neither did remember the latter end of it.[8] Therefore hear now this, you that are given to pleasures, that dwell carelessly, that say in your heart, I am, and none else beside me; I shall not sit as a widow, neither shall I know the loss of children:[9] But these two things shall come to you in a moment in one day, the loss of children, and widowhood: they shall come on you in their perfection for the multitude of your sorceries, and for the great abundance of your enchantments. ¶[10] For you have trusted in your wickedness: you have said, None sees me. Your wisdom and your knowledge, it has perverted you; and you have said in your heart, I am, and none else beside me. ¶[11] Therefore shall evil come on you; you shall not know from where it rises: and mischief shall fall on you; you shall not be able to put it off: and desolation shall come on you suddenly, which you shall not know.[12] Stand now with your enchantments, and with the multitude of your sorceries, wherein you have labored from your youth; if so be you shall be able to profit, if so be you may prevail.[13] You are wearied in the multitude of your counsels. Let now the astrologers, the stargazers, the monthly prognosticators, stand up, and save you from these things that shall come on you.[14] Behold, they shall be as stubble; the fire shall burn them; they shall not deliver themselves from the power of the flame: there shall not be a coal to warm at, nor fire to sit before it.[15] Thus shall they be to you with whom you have labored, even your merchants, from your youth: they shall wander every one to his quarter; none shall save you.

[1] Hear you this, O house of Jacob, which are called by the name of Israel, and are come forth out of the waters of Judah, which swear by the name of the LORD, and make mention of the God of Israel, but not in truth, nor in righteousness.

[2] For they call themselves of the holy city, and stay themselves on the God of Israel; The LORD of hosts is his name.[3] I have declared the former things from the beginning; and they went forth out of my mouth, and I showed them; I did them suddenly, and they came to pass.[4] Because I knew that you are obstinate, and your neck is an iron sinew, and your brow brass;[5] I have even from the beginning declared it to you; before it came to pass I showed it you: lest you should say, My idol has done them, and my graven image, and my molten image, has commanded them.[6] You have heard, see all this; and will not you declare it? I have showed you new things from this time, even hidden things, and you did not know them.[7] They are created now, and not from the beginning; even before the day when you heard them not; lest you should say, Behold, I knew them.[8] Yes, you heard not; yes, you knew not; yes, from that time that your ear was not opened: for I knew that you would deal very treacherously, and were called a transgressor from the womb. ¶[9] For my name's sake will I defer my anger, and for my praise will I refrain for you, that I cut you not off.[10] Behold, I have refined you, but not with silver; I have chosen you in the furnace of affliction.[11] For my own sake, even for my own sake, will I do it: for how should my name be polluted? and I will not give my glory to another. ¶[12] Listen to me, O Jacob and Israel, my called; I am he; I am the first, I also am the last.[13] My hand also has laid the foundation of the earth, and my right hand has spanned the heavens: when I call to them, they stand up together.[14] All you, assemble yourselves, and hear; which among them has declared these things? The LORD has loved him: he will do his pleasure on Babylon, and his arm shall be on the Chaldeans.[15] I, even I, have spoken; yes, I have called him: I have brought him, and he shall make his way prosperous. ¶[16] Come you near to me, hear you this; I have not spoken in secret from the beginning; from the time that it was, there am I: and now the Lord GOD, and his Spirit, has sent me.[17] Thus says the LORD, your Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel; I am the LORD your God which teaches you to profit, which leads you by the way that you should go.[18] O that you had listened to my commandments! then had your peace been as a river, and your righteousness as the waves of the sea:[19] Your seed also had been as the sand, and the offspring of your bowels like the gravel thereof; his name should not have been cut off nor destroyed from before me. ¶[20] Go you forth of Babylon, flee you from the Chaldeans, with a voice of singing declare you, tell this, utter it even to the end of the earth; say you, The LORD has redeemed his servant Jacob.[21] And they thirsted not when he led them through the deserts: he caused the waters to flow out of the rock for them: he split the rock also, and the waters gushed out.[22] There is no peace, says the LORD, to the wicked.

[1] Listen, O isles, to me; and listen, you people, from far; The LORD has called me from the womb; from the bowels of my mother has he made mention of my name.

[2] And he has made my mouth like a sharp sword; in the shadow of his hand has he hid me, and made me a polished shaft; in his quiver has he hid me;[3] And said to me, You are my servant, O Israel, in whom I will be glorified.[4] Then I said, I have labored in vain, I have spent my strength for nothing, and in vain: yet surely my judgment is with the LORD, and my work with my God. ¶[5] And now, says the LORD that formed me from the womb to be his servant, to bring Jacob again to him, Though Israel be not gathered, yet shall I be glorious in the eyes of the LORD, and my God shall be my strength.[6] And he said, It is a light thing that you should be my servant to raise up the tribes of Jacob, and to restore the preserved of Israel: I will also give you for a light to the Gentiles, that you may be my salvation to the end of the earth.[7] Thus says the LORD, the Redeemer of Israel, and his Holy One, to him whom man despises, to him whom the nation abhors, to a servant of rulers, Kings shall see and arise, princes also shall worship, because of the LORD that is faithful, and the Holy One of Israel, and he shall choose you.[8] Thus says the LORD, In an acceptable time have I heard you, and in a day of salvation have I helped you: and I will preserve you, and give you for a covenant of the people, to establish the earth, to cause to inherit the desolate heritages;[9] That you may say to the prisoners, Go forth; to them that are in darkness, Show yourselves. They shall feed in the ways, and their pastures shall be in all high places.[10] They shall not hunger nor thirst; neither shall the heat nor sun smite them: for he that has mercy on them shall lead them, even by the springs of water shall he guide them.[11] And I will make all my mountains a way, and my highways shall be exalted.[12] Behold, these shall come from far: and, see, these from the north and from the west; and these from the land of Sinim. ¶[13] Sing, O heavens; and be joyful, O earth; and break forth into singing, O mountains: for the LORD has comforted his people, and will have mercy on his afflicted.[14] But Zion said, The LORD has forsaken me, and my Lord has forgotten me.[15] Can a woman forget her sucking child, that she should not have compassion on the son of her womb? yes, they may forget, yet will I not forget you.[16] Behold, I have graven you on the palms of my hands; your walls are continually before me.[17] Your children shall make haste; your destroyers and they that made you waste shall go forth of you. ¶[18] Lift up your eyes round about, and behold: all these gather themselves together, and come to you. As I live, says the LORD, you shall surely clothe you with them all, as with an ornament, and bind them on you, as a bride does.[19] For your waste and your desolate places, and the land of your destruction, shall even now be too narrow by reason of the inhabitants, and they that swallowed you up shall be far away.[20] The children which you shall have, after you have lost the other, shall say again in your ears, The place is too strait for me: give place to me that I may dwell.[21] Then shall you say in your heart, Who has begotten me these, seeing I have lost my children, and am desolate, a captive, and removing to and fro? and who has brought up these? Behold, I was left alone; these, where had they been?[22] Thus says the Lord GOD, Behold, I will lift up my hand to the Gentiles, and set up my standard to the people: and they shall bring your sons in their arms, and your daughters shall be carried on their shoulders.[23] And kings shall be your nursing fathers, and their queens your nursing mothers: they shall bow down to you with their face toward the earth, and lick up the dust of your feet; and you shall know that I am the LORD: for they shall not be ashamed that wait for me. ¶[24] Shall the prey be taken from the mighty, or the lawful captive delivered?[25] But thus says the LORD, Even the captives of the mighty shall be taken away, and the prey of the terrible shall be delivered: for I will contend with him that contends with you, and I will save your children.[26] And I will feed them that oppress you with their own flesh; and they shall be drunken with their own blood, as with sweet wine: and all flesh shall know that I the LORD am your Savior and your Redeemer, the mighty One of Jacob.

[1] Thus says the LORD, Where is the bill of your mother's divorce, whom I have put away? or which of my creditors is it to whom I have sold you? Behold, for your iniquities have you sold yourselves, and for your transgressions is your mother put away.

[2] Why, when I came, was there no man? when I called, was there none to answer? Is my hand shortened at all, that it cannot redeem? or have I no power to deliver? behold, at my rebuke I dry up the sea, I make the rivers a wilderness: their fish stinks, because there is no water, and dies for thirst.[3] I clothe the heavens with blackness, and I make sackcloth their covering.[4] The Lord GOD has given me the tongue of the learned, that I should know how to speak a word in season to him that is weary: he wakens morning by morning, he wakens my ear to hear as the learned. ¶[5] The Lord GOD has opened my ear, and I was not rebellious, neither turned away back.[6] I gave my back to the smiters, and my cheeks to them that plucked off the hair: I hid not my face from shame and spitting. ¶[7] For the Lord GOD will help me; therefore shall I not be confounded: therefore have I set my face like a flint, and I know that I shall not be ashamed.[8] He is near that justifies me; who will contend with me? let us stand together: who is my adversary? let him come near to me.[9] Behold, the Lord GOD will help me; who is he that shall condemn me? see, they all shall wax old as a garment; the moth shall eat them up. ¶[10] Who is among you that fears the LORD, that obeys the voice of his servant, that walks in darkness, and has no light? let him trust in the name of the LORD, and stay on his God.[11] Behold, all you that kindle a fire, that compass yourselves about with sparks: walk in the light of your fire, and in the sparks that you have kindled. This shall you have of my hand; you shall lie down in sorrow.

[1] Listen to me, you that follow after righteousness, you that seek the LORD: look to the rock from where you are hewn, and to the hole of the pit from where you are dig.

[2] Look to Abraham your father, and to Sarah that bore you: for I called him alone, and blessed him, and increased him.[3] For the LORD shall comfort Zion: he will comfort all her waste places; and he will make her wilderness like Eden, and her desert like the garden of the LORD; joy and gladness shall be found therein, thanksgiving, and the voice of melody. ¶[4] Listen to me, my people; and give ear to me, O my nation: for a law shall proceed from me, and I will make my judgment to rest for a light of the people.[5] My righteousness is near; my salvation is gone forth, and my arms shall judge the people; the isles shall wait on me, and on my arm shall they trust.[6] Lift up your eyes to the heavens, and look on the earth beneath: for the heavens shall vanish away like smoke, and the earth shall wax old like a garment, and they that dwell therein shall die in like manner: but my salvation shall be for ever, and my righteousness shall not be abolished. ¶[7] Listen to me, you that know righteousness, the people in whose heart is my law; fear you not the reproach of men, neither be you afraid of their revilings.[8] For the moth shall eat them up like a garment, and the worm shall eat them like wool: but my righteousness shall be for ever, and my salvation from generation to generation. ¶[9] Awake, awake, put on strength, O arm of the LORD; awake, as in the ancient days, in the generations of old. Are you not it that has cut Rahab, and wounded the dragon?[10] Are you not it which has dried the sea, the waters of the great deep; that has made the depths of the sea a way for the ransomed to pass over?[11] Therefore the redeemed of the LORD shall return, and come with singing to Zion; and everlasting joy shall be on their head: they shall obtain gladness and joy; and sorrow and mourning shall flee away.[12] I, even I, am he that comforts you: who are you, that you should be afraid of a man that shall die, and of the son of man which shall be made as grass;[13] And forget the LORD your maker, that has stretched forth the heavens, and laid the foundations of the earth; and have feared continually every day because of the fury of the oppressor, as if he were ready to destroy? and where is the fury of the oppressor?[14] The captive exile hastens that he may be loosed, and that he should not die in the pit, nor that his bread should fail.[15] But I am the LORD your God, that divided the sea, whose waves roared: The LORD of hosts is his name.[16] And I have put my words in your mouth, and I have covered you in the shadow of my hand, that I may plant the heavens, and lay the foundations of the earth, and say to Zion, You are my people. ¶[17] Awake, awake, stand up, O Jerusalem, which have drunk at the hand of the LORD the cup of his fury; you have drunken the dregs of the cup of trembling, and wrung them out.[18] There is none to guide her among all the sons whom she has brought forth; neither is there any that takes her by the hand of all the sons that she has brought up.[19] These two things are come to you; who shall be sorry for you? desolation, and destruction, and the famine, and the sword: by whom shall I comfort you?[20] Your sons have fainted, they lie at the head of all the streets, as a wild bull in a net: they are full of the fury of the LORD, the rebuke of your God. ¶[21] Therefore hear now this, you afflicted, and drunken, but not with wine:[22] Thus says your Lord the LORD, and your God that pleads the cause of his people, Behold, I have taken out of your hand the cup of trembling, even the dregs of the cup of my fury; you shall no more drink it again:[23] But I will put it into the hand of them that afflict you; which have said to your soul, Bow down, that we may go over: and you have laid your body as the ground, and as the street, to them that went over.

[1] Awake, awake; put on your strength, O Zion; put on your beautiful garments, O Jerusalem, the holy city: for from now on there shall no more come into you the uncircumcised and the unclean.

[2] Shake yourself from the dust; arise, and sit down, O Jerusalem: loose yourself from the bands of your neck, O captive daughter of Zion.[3] For thus says the LORD, You have sold yourselves for nothing; and you shall be redeemed without money.[4] For thus says the Lord GOD, My people went down aforetime into Egypt to sojourn there; and the Assyrian oppressed them without cause.[5] Now therefore, what have I here, says the LORD, that my people is taken away for nothing? they that rule over them make them to howl, said the LORD; and my name continually every day is blasphemed.[6] Therefore my people shall know my name: therefore they shall know in that day that I am he that does speak: behold, it is I. ¶[7] How beautiful on the mountains are the feet of him that brings good tidings, that publishes peace; that brings good tidings of good, that publishes salvation; that said to Zion, Your God reigns![8] Your watchmen shall lift up the voice; with the voice together shall they sing: for they shall see eye to eye, when the LORD shall bring again Zion. ¶[9] Break forth into joy, sing together, you waste places of Jerusalem: for the LORD has comforted his people, he has redeemed Jerusalem.[10] The LORD has made bore his holy arm in the eyes of all the nations; and all the ends of the earth shall see the salvation of our God. ¶[11] Depart you, depart you, go you out from there, touch no unclean thing; go you out of the middle of her; be you clean, that bear the vessels of the LORD.[12] For you shall not go out with haste, nor go by flight: for the LORD will go before you; and the God of Israel will be your rear guard. ¶[13] Behold, my servant shall deal prudently, he shall be exalted and extolled, and be very high.[14] As many were astonished at you; his visage was so marred more than any man, and his form more than the sons of men:[15] So shall he sprinkle many nations; the kings shall shut their mouths at him: for that which had not been told them shall they see; and that which they had not heard shall they consider.

[1] Who has believed our report? and to whom is the arm of the LORD revealed?

[2] For he shall grow up before him as a tender plant, and as a root out of a dry ground: he has no form nor comeliness; and when we shall see him, there is no beauty that we should desire him.[3] He is despised and rejected of men; a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief: and we hid as it were our faces from him; he was despised, and we esteemed him not. ¶[4] Surely he has borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows: yet we did esteem him stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted.[5] But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was on him; and with his stripes we are healed.[6] All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way; and the LORD has laid on him the iniquity of us all.[7] He was oppressed, and he was afflicted, yet he opened not his mouth: he is brought as a lamb to the slaughter, and as a sheep before her shearers is dumb, so he opens not his mouth.[8] He was taken from prison and from judgment: and who shall declare his generation? for he was cut off out of the land of the living: for the transgression of my people was he stricken.[9] And he made his grave with the wicked, and with the rich in his death; because he had done no violence, neither was any deceit in his mouth. ¶[10] Yet it pleased the LORD to bruise him; he has put him to grief: when you shall make his soul an offering for sin, he shall see his seed, he shall prolong his days, and the pleasure of the LORD shall prosper in his hand.[11] He shall see of the travail of his soul, and shall be satisfied: by his knowledge shall my righteous servant justify many; for he shall bear their iniquities.[12] Therefore will I divide him a portion with the great, and he shall divide the spoil with the strong; because he has poured out his soul to death: and he was numbered with the transgressors; and he bore the sin of many, and made intercession for the transgressors.

[1] Sing, O barren, you that did not bear; break forth into singing, and cry aloud, you that did not travail with child: for more are the children of the desolate than the children of the married wife, says the LORD.

[2] Enlarge the place of your tent, and let them stretch forth the curtains of your habitations: spare not, lengthen your cords, and strengthen your stakes;[3] For you shall break forth on the right hand and on the left; and your seed shall inherit the Gentiles, and make the desolate cities to be inhabited.[4] Fear not; for you shall not be ashamed: neither be you confounded; for you shall not be put to shame: for you shall forget the shame of your youth, and shall not remember the reproach of your widowhood any more.[5] For your Maker is your husband; the LORD of hosts is his name; and your Redeemer the Holy One of Israel; The God of the whole earth shall he be called.[6] For the LORD has called you as a woman forsaken and grieved in spirit, and a wife of youth, when you were refused, says your God.[7] For a small moment have I forsaken you; but with great mercies will I gather you.[8] In a little wrath I hid my face from you for a moment; but with everlasting kindness will I have mercy on you, says the LORD your Redeemer.[9] For this is as the waters of Noah to me: for as I have sworn that the waters of Noah should no more go over the earth; so have I sworn that I would not be wroth with you, nor rebuke you.[10] For the mountains shall depart, and the hills be removed; but my kindness shall not depart from you, neither shall the covenant of my peace be removed, says the LORD that has mercy on you. ¶[11] O you afflicted, tossed with tempest, and not comforted, behold, I will lay your stones with fair colors, and lay your foundations with sapphires.[12] And I will make your windows of agates, and your gates of carbuncles, and all your borders of pleasant stones.[13] And all your children shall be taught of the LORD; and great shall be the peace of your children.[14] In righteousness shall you be established: you shall be far from oppression; for you shall not fear: and from terror; for it shall not come near you.[15] Behold, they shall surely gather together, but not by me: whoever shall gather together against you shall fall for your sake.[16] Behold, I have created the smith that blows the coals in the fire, and that brings forth an instrument for his work; and I have created the waster to destroy. ¶[17] No weapon that is formed against you shall prosper; and every tongue that shall rise against you in judgment you shall condemn. This is the heritage of the servants of the LORD, and their righteousness is of me, says the LORD.

[1] Ho, every one that thirsts, come you to the waters, and he that has no money; come you, buy, and eat; yes, come, buy wine and milk without money and without price.

[2] Why do you spend money for that which is not bread? and your labor for that which satisfies not? listen diligently to me, and eat you that which is good, and let your soul delight itself in fatness.[3] Incline your ear, and come to me: hear, and your soul shall live; and I will make an everlasting covenant with you, even the sure mercies of David.[4] Behold, I have given him for a witness to the people, a leader and commander to the people.[5] Behold, you shall call a nation that you know not, and nations that knew not you shall run to you because of the LORD your God, and for the Holy One of Israel; for he has glorified you. ¶[6] Seek you the LORD while he may be found, call you on him while he is near:[7] Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts: and let him return to the LORD, and he will have mercy on him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon. ¶[8] For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways, says the LORD.[9] For as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways higher than your ways, and my thoughts than your thoughts.[10] For as the rain comes down, and the snow from heaven, and returns not thither, but waters the earth, and makes it bring forth and bud, that it may give seed to the sower, and bread to the eater:[11] So shall my word be that goes forth out of my mouth: it shall not return to me void, but it shall accomplish that which I please, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it.[12] For you shall go out with joy, and be led forth with peace: the mountains and the hills shall break forth before you into singing, and all the trees of the field shall clap their hands.[13] Instead of the thorn shall come up the fir tree, and instead of the brier shall come up the myrtle tree: and it shall be to the LORD for a name, for an everlasting sign that shall not be cut off.

[1] Thus says the LORD, Keep you judgment, and do justice: for my salvation is near to come, and my righteousness to be revealed.

[2] Blessed is the man that does this, and the son of man that lays hold on it; that keeps the sabbath from polluting it, and keeps his hand from doing any evil. ¶[3] Neither let the son of the stranger, that has joined himself to the LORD, speak, saying, The LORD has utterly separated me from his people: neither let the eunuch say, Behold, I am a dry tree.[4] For thus says the LORD to the eunuchs that keep my sabbaths, and choose the things that please me, and take hold of my covenant;[5] Even to them will I give in my house and within my walls a place and a name better than of sons and of daughters: I will give them an everlasting name, that shall not be cut off.[6] Also the sons of the stranger, that join themselves to the LORD, to serve him, and to love the name of the LORD, to be his servants, every one that keeps the sabbath from polluting it, and takes hold of my covenant;[7] Even them will I bring to my holy mountain, and make them joyful in my house of prayer: their burnt offerings and their sacrifices shall be accepted on my altar; for my house shall be called an house of prayer for all people.[8] The Lord GOD, which gathers the outcasts of Israel says, Yet will I gather others to him, beside those that are gathered to him. ¶[9] All you beasts of the field, come to devour, yes, all you beasts in the forest.[10] His watchmen are blind: they are all ignorant, they are all dumb dogs, they cannot bark; sleeping, lying down, loving to slumber.[11] Yes, they are greedy dogs which can never have enough, and they are shepherds that cannot understand: they all look to their own way, every one for his gain, from his quarter.[12] Come you, say they, I will fetch wine, and we will fill ourselves with strong drink; and to morrow shall be as this day, and much more abundant.

[1] The righteous perishes, and no man lays it to heart: and merciful men are taken away, none considering that the righteous is taken away from the evil to come.

[2] He shall enter into peace: they shall rest in their beds, each one walking in his uprightness. ¶[3] But draw near here, you sons of the sorceress, the seed of the adulterer and the whore.[4] Against whom do you sport yourselves? against whom make you a wide mouth, and draw out the tongue? are you not children of transgression, a seed of falsehood,[5] Enflaming yourselves with idols under every green tree, slaying the children in the valleys under the clefts of the rocks?[6] Among the smooth stones of the stream is your portion; they, they are your lot: even to them have you poured a drink offering, you have offered a meat offering. Should I receive comfort in these?[7] On a lofty and high mountain have you set your bed: even thither went you up to offer sacrifice.[8] Behind the doors also and the posts have you set up your remembrance: for you have discovered yourself to another than me, and are gone up; you have enlarged your bed, and made you a covenant with them; you loved their bed where you saw it.[9] And you went to the king with ointment, and did increase your perfumes, and did send your messengers far off, and did debase yourself even to hell.[10] You are wearied in the greatness of your way; yet said you not, There is no hope: you have found the life of your hand; therefore you were not grieved.[11] And of whom have you been afraid or feared, that you have lied, and have not remembered me, nor laid it to your heart? have not I held my peace even of old, and you fear me not?[12] I will declare your righteousness, and your works; for they shall not profit you. ¶[13] When you cry, let your companies deliver you; but the wind shall carry them all away; vanity shall take them: but he that puts his trust in me shall possess the land, and shall inherit my holy mountain;[14] And shall say, Cast you up, cast you up, prepare the way, take up the stumbling block out of the way of my people.[15] For thus says the high and lofty One that inhabits eternity, whose name is Holy; I dwell in the high and holy place, with him also that is of a contrite and humble spirit, to revive the spirit of the humble, and to revive the heart of the contrite ones.[16] For I will not contend for ever, neither will I be always wroth: for the spirit should fail before me, and the souls which I have made.[17] For the iniquity of his covetousness was I wroth, and smote him: I hid me, and was wroth, and he went on frowardly in the way of his heart.[18] I have seen his ways, and will heal him: I will lead him also, and restore comforts to him and to his mourners.[19] I create the fruit of the lips; Peace, peace to him that is far off, and to him that is near, says the LORD; and I will heal him.[20] But the wicked are like the troubled sea, when it cannot rest, whose waters cast up mire and dirt.[21] There is no peace, says my God, to the wicked.

[1] Cry aloud, spare not, lift up your voice like a trumpet, and show my people their transgression, and the house of Jacob their sins.

[2] Yet they seek me daily, and delight to know my ways, as a nation that did righteousness, and forsook not the ordinance of their God: they ask of me the ordinances of justice; they take delight in approaching to God. ¶[3] Why have we fasted, say they, and you see not? why have we afflicted our soul, and you take no knowledge? Behold, in the day of your fast you find pleasure, and exact all your labors.[4] Behold, you fast for strife and debate, and to smite with the fist of wickedness: you shall not fast as you do this day, to make your voice to be heard on high.[5] Is it such a fast that I have chosen? a day for a man to afflict his soul? is it to bow down his head as a bulrush, and to spread sackcloth and ashes under him? will you call this a fast, and an acceptable day to the LORD?[6] Is not this the fast that I have chosen? to loose the bands of wickedness, to undo the heavy burdens, and to let the oppressed go free, and that you break every yoke?[7] Is it not to deal your bread to the hungry, and that you bring the poor that are cast out to your house? when you see the naked, that you cover him; and that you hide not yourself from your own flesh? ¶[8] Then shall your light break forth as the morning, and your health shall spring forth speedily: and your righteousness shall go before you; the glory of the LORD shall be your rear guard.[9] Then shall you call, and the LORD shall answer; you shall cry, and he shall say, Here I am. If you take away from the middle of you the yoke, the putting forth of the finger, and speaking vanity;[10] And if you draw out your soul to the hungry, and satisfy the afflicted soul; then shall your light rise in obscurity, and your darkness be as the noon day:[11] And the LORD shall guide you continually, and satisfy your soul in drought, and make fat your bones: and you shall be like a watered garden, and like a spring of water, whose waters fail not.[12] And they that shall be of you shall build the old waste places: you shall raise up the foundations of many generations; and you shall be called, The repairer of the breach, The restorer of paths to dwell in. ¶[13] If you turn away your foot from the sabbath, from doing your pleasure on my holy day; and call the sabbath a delight, the holy of the LORD, honorable; and shall honor him, not doing your own ways, nor finding your own pleasure, nor speaking your own words:[14] Then shall you delight yourself in the LORD; and I will cause you to ride on the high places of the earth, and feed you with the heritage of Jacob your father: for the mouth of the LORD has spoken it.

[1] Behold, the LORD's hand is not shortened, that it cannot save; neither his ear heavy, that it cannot hear:

[2] But your iniquities have separated between you and your God, and your sins have hid his face from you, that he will not hear.[3] For your hands are defiled with blood, and your fingers with iniquity; your lips have spoken lies, your tongue has muttered perverseness.[4] None calls for justice, nor any pleads for truth: they trust in vanity, and speak lies; they conceive mischief, and bring forth iniquity.[5] They hatch cockatrice' eggs, and weave the spider's web: he that eats of their eggs dies, and that which is crushed breaks out into a viper.[6] Their webs shall not become garments, neither shall they cover themselves with their works: their works are works of iniquity, and the act of violence is in their hands.[7] Their feet run to evil, and they make haste to shed innocent blood: their thoughts are thoughts of iniquity; wasting and destruction are in their paths.[8] The way of peace they know not; and there is no judgment in their goings: they have made them crooked paths: whoever goes therein shall not know peace. ¶[9] Therefore is judgment far from us, neither does justice overtake us: we wait for light, but behold obscurity; for brightness, but we walk in darkness.[10] We grope for the wall like the blind, and we grope as if we had no eyes: we stumble at noon day as in the night; we are in desolate places as dead men.[11] We roar all like bears, and mourn sore like doves: we look for judgment, but there is none; for salvation, but it is far off from us.[12] For our transgressions are multiplied before you, and our sins testify against us: for our transgressions are with us; and as for our iniquities, we know them;[13] In transgressing and lying against the LORD, and departing away from our God, speaking oppression and revolt, conceiving and uttering from the heart words of falsehood.[14] And judgment is turned away backward, and justice stands afar off: for truth is fallen in the street, and equity cannot enter.[15] Yes, truth fails; and he that departs from evil makes himself a prey: and the LORD saw it, and it displeased him that there was no judgment. ¶[16] And he saw that there was no man, and wondered that there was no intercessor: therefore his arm brought salvation to him; and his righteousness, it sustained him.[17] For he put on righteousness as a breastplate, and an helmet of salvation on his head; and he put on the garments of vengeance for clothing, and was clad with zeal as a cloak.[18] According to their deeds, accordingly he will repay, fury to his adversaries, recompense to his enemies; to the islands he will repay recompense.[19] So shall they fear the name of the LORD from the west, and his glory from the rising of the sun. When the enemy shall come in like a flood, the Spirit of the LORD shall lift up a standard against him. ¶[20] And the Redeemer shall come to Zion, and to them that turn from transgression in Jacob, says the LORD.[21] As for me, this is my covenant with them, says the LORD; My spirit that is on you, and my words which I have put in your mouth, shall not depart out of your mouth, nor out of the mouth of your seed, nor out of the mouth of your seed's seed, says the LORD, from now on and for ever.

[1] Arise, shine; for your light is come, and the glory of the LORD is risen on you.

[2] For, behold, the darkness shall cover the earth, and gross darkness the people: but the LORD shall arise on you, and his glory shall be seen on you.[3] And the Gentiles shall come to your light, and kings to the brightness of your rising.[4] Lift up your eyes round about, and see: all they gather themselves together, they come to you: your sons shall come from far, and your daughters shall be nursed at your side.[5] Then you shall see, and flow together, and your heart shall fear, and be enlarged; because the abundance of the sea shall be converted to you, the forces of the Gentiles shall come to you.[6] The multitude of camels shall cover you, the dromedaries of Midian and Ephah; all they from Sheba shall come: they shall bring gold and incense; and they shall show forth the praises of the LORD.[7] All the flocks of Kedar shall be gathered together to you, the rams of Nebaioth shall minister to you: they shall come up with acceptance on my altar, and I will glorify the house of my glory.[8] Who are these that fly as a cloud, and as the doves to their windows?[9] Surely the isles shall wait for me, and the ships of Tarshish first, to bring your sons from far, their silver and their gold with them, to the name of the LORD your God, and to the Holy One of Israel, because he has glorified you.[10] And the sons of strangers shall build up your walls, and their kings shall minister to you: for in my wrath I smote you, but in my favor have I had mercy on you.[11] Therefore your gates shall be open continually; they shall not be shut day nor night; that men may bring to you the forces of the Gentiles, and that their kings may be brought.[12] For the nation and kingdom that will not serve you shall perish; yes, those nations shall be utterly wasted.[13] The glory of Lebanon shall come to you, the fir tree, the pine tree, and the box together, to beautify the place of my sanctuary; and I will make the place of my feet glorious.[14] The sons also of them that afflicted you shall come bending to you; and all they that despised you shall bow themselves down at the soles of your feet; and they shall call you; The city of the LORD, The Zion of the Holy One of Israel.[15] Whereas you have been forsaken and hated, so that no man went through you, I will make you an eternal excellency, a joy of many generations.[16] You shall also suck the milk of the Gentiles, and shall suck the breast of kings: and you shall know that I the LORD am your Savior and your Redeemer, the mighty One of Jacob.[17] For brass I will bring gold, and for iron I will bring silver, and for wood brass, and for stones iron: I will also make your officers peace, and your exactors righteousness.[18] Violence shall no more be heard in your land, wasting nor destruction within your borders; but you shall call your walls Salvation, and your gates Praise.[19] The sun shall be no more your light by day; neither for brightness shall the moon give light to you: but the LORD shall be to you an everlasting light, and your God your glory.[20] Your sun shall no more go down; neither shall your moon withdraw itself: for the LORD shall be your everlasting light, and the days of your mourning shall be ended.[21] Your people also shall be all righteous: they shall inherit the land for ever, the branch of my planting, the work of my hands, that I may be glorified.[22] A little one shall become a thousand, and a small one a strong nation: I the LORD will hasten it in his time.

[1] The Spirit of the Lord GOD is on me; because the LORD has anointed me to preach good tidings to the meek; he has sent me to bind up the brokenhearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prison to them that are bound;

[2] To proclaim the acceptable year of the LORD, and the day of vengeance of our God; to comfort all that mourn;[3] To appoint to them that mourn in Zion, to give to them beauty for ashes, the oil of joy for mourning, the garment of praise for the spirit of heaviness; that they might be called trees of righteousness, the planting of the LORD, that he might be glorified. ¶[4] And they shall build the old wastes, they shall raise up the former desolations, and they shall repair the waste cities, the desolations of many generations.[5] And strangers shall stand and feed your flocks, and the sons of the alien shall be your plowmen and your vinedressers.[6] But you shall be named the Priests of the LORD: men shall call you the Ministers of our God: you shall eat the riches of the Gentiles, and in their glory shall you boast yourselves. ¶[7] For your shame you shall have double; and for confusion they shall rejoice in their portion: therefore in their land they shall possess the double: everlasting joy shall be to them.[8] For I the LORD love judgment, I hate robbery for burnt offering; and I will direct their work in truth, and I will make an everlasting covenant with them.[9] And their seed shall be known among the Gentiles, and their offspring among the people: all that see them shall acknowledge them, that they are the seed which the LORD has blessed.[10] I will greatly rejoice in the LORD, my soul shall be joyful in my God; for he has clothed me with the garments of salvation, he has covered me with the robe of righteousness, as a bridegroom decks himself with ornaments, and as a bride adorns herself with her jewels.[11] For as the earth brings forth her bud, and as the garden causes the things that are sown in it to spring forth; so the Lord GOD will cause righteousness and praise to spring forth before all the nations.

[1] For Zion's sake will I not hold my peace, and for Jerusalem's sake I will not rest, until the righteousness thereof go forth as brightness, and the salvation thereof as a lamp that burns.

[2] And the Gentiles shall see your righteousness, and all kings your glory: and you shall be called by a new name, which the mouth of the LORD shall name.[3] You shall also be a crown of glory in the hand of the LORD, and a royal diadem in the hand of your God.[4] You shall no more be termed Forsaken; neither shall your land any more be termed Desolate: but you shall be called Hephzibah, and your land Beulah: for the LORD delights in you, and your land shall be married. ¶[5] For as a young man marries a virgin, so shall your sons marry you: and as the bridegroom rejoices over the bride, so shall your God rejoice over you.[6] I have set watchmen on your walls, O Jerusalem, which shall never hold their peace day nor night: you that make mention of the LORD, keep not silence,[7] And give him no rest, till he establish, and till he make Jerusalem a praise in the earth.[8] The LORD has sworn by his right hand, and by the arm of his strength, Surely I will no more give your corn to be meat for your enemies; and the sons of the stranger shall not drink your wine, for the which you have labored:[9] But they that have gathered it shall eat it, and praise the LORD; and they that have brought it together shall drink it in the courts of my holiness. ¶[10] Go through, go through the gates; prepare you the way of the people; cast up, cast up the highway; gather out the stones; lift up a standard for the people.[11] Behold, the LORD has proclaimed to the end of the world, Say you to the daughter of Zion, Behold, your salvation comes; behold, his reward is with him, and his work before him.[12] And they shall call them, The holy people, The redeemed of the LORD: and you shall be called, Sought out, A city not forsaken.

[1] Who is this that comes from Edom, with dyed garments from Bozrah? this that is glorious in his apparel, traveling in the greatness of his strength? I that speak in righteousness, mighty to save.

[2] Why are you red in your apparel, and your garments like him that treads in the winefat?[3] I have trodden the wine press alone; and of the people there was none with me: for I will tread them in my anger, and trample them in my fury; and their blood shall be sprinkled on my garments, and I will stain all my raiment.[4] For the day of vengeance is in my heart, and the year of my redeemed is come.[5] And I looked, and there was none to help; and

I wondered that there was none to uphold: therefore my own arm brought salvation to me; and my fury, it upheld me.[6] And I will tread down the people in my anger, and make them drunk in my fury, and I will bring down their strength to the earth. ¶[7] I will mention the loving kindnesses of the LORD, and the praises of the LORD, according to all that the LORD has bestowed on us, and the great goodness toward the house of Israel, which he has bestowed on them according to his mercies, and according to the multitude of his loving kindnesses.[8] For he said, Surely they are my people, children that will not lie: so he was their Savior.[9] In all their affliction he was afflicted, and the angel of his presence saved them: in his love and in his pity he redeemed them; and he bore them, and carried them all the days of old. ¶[10] But they rebelled, and vexed his holy Spirit: therefore he was turned to be their enemy, and he fought against them.[11] Then he remembered the days of old, Moses, and his people, saying, Where is he that brought them up out of the sea with the shepherd of his flock? where is he that put his holy Spirit within him?[12] That led them by the right hand of Moses with his glorious arm, dividing the water before them, to make himself an everlasting name?[13] That led them through the deep, as an horse in the wilderness, that they should not stumble?[14] As a beast goes down into the valley, the Spirit of the LORD caused him to rest: so did you lead your people, to make yourself a glorious name. ¶[15] Look down from heaven, and behold from the habitation of your holiness and of your glory: where is your zeal and your strength, the sounding of your bowels and of your mercies toward me? are they restrained?[16] Doubtless you are our father, though Abraham be ignorant of us, and Israel acknowledge us not: you, O LORD, are our father, our redeemer; your name is from everlasting. ¶[17] O LORD, why have you made us to err from your ways, and hardened our heart from your fear? Return for your servants' sake, the tribes of your inheritance.[18] The people of your holiness have possessed it but a little while: our adversaries have trodden down your sanctuary.[19] We are yours: you never bore rule over them; they were not called by your name.

[1] Oh that you would rend the heavens, that you would come down, that the mountains might flow down at your presence,

[2] As when the melting fire burns, the fire causes the waters to boil, to make your name known to your adversaries, that the nations may tremble at your presence![3] When you did terrible things which we looked not for, you came down, the mountains flowed down at your presence.[4] For since the beginning of the world men have not heard, nor perceived by the ear, neither has the eye seen, O God, beside you, what he has prepared for him that waits for him.[5] You meet him that rejoices and works righteousness, those that remember you in your ways: behold, you are wroth; for we have sinned: in those is continuance, and we shall be saved.[6] But we are all as an unclean thing, and all our righteousnesses are as filthy rags; and we all do fade as a leaf; and our iniquities, like the wind, have taken us away.[7] And there is none that calls on your name, that stirs up himself to take hold of you: for you have hid your face from us, and have consumed us, because of our iniquities.[8] But now, O LORD, you are our father; we are the clay, and you our potter; and we all are the work of your hand. ¶[9] Be not wroth very sore, O LORD, neither remember iniquity for ever: behold, see, we beseech you, we are all your people.[10] Your holy cities are a wilderness, Zion is a wilderness, Jerusalem a desolation.[11] Our holy and our beautiful house, where our fathers praised you, is burned up with fire: and all our pleasant things are laid waste.[12] Will you refrain yourself for these things, O LORD? will you hold your peace, and afflict us very sore?

[1] I am sought of them that asked not for me; I am found of them that sought me not: I said, Behold me, behold me, to a nation that was not called by my name.

[2] I have spread out my hands all the day to a rebellious people, which walks in a way that was not good, after their own thoughts;[3] A people that provokes me to anger continually to my face; that sacrifices in gardens, and burns incense on altars of brick;[4] Which remain among the graves, and lodge in the monuments, which eat swine's flesh, and broth of abominable things is in their vessels;[5] Which say, Stand by yourself, come not near to me; for I am holier than you. These are a smoke in my nose, a fire that burns all the day.[6] Behold, it is written before me: I will not keep silence, but will recompense, even recompense into their bosom,[7] Your iniquities, and the iniquities of your fathers together, says the LORD, which have burned incense on the mountains, and blasphemed me on the hills: therefore will I measure their former work into their bosom. ¶[8] Thus says the LORD, As the new wine is found in the cluster, and one said, Destroy it not; for a blessing is in it: so will I do for my servants' sakes, that I may not destroy them all.[9] And I will bring forth a seed out of Jacob, and out of Judah an inheritor of my mountains: and my elect shall inherit it, and my servants shall dwell there.[10] And Sharon shall be a fold of flocks, and the valley of Achor a place for the herds to lie down in, for my people that have sought me. ¶[11] But you are they that forsake the LORD, that forget my holy mountain, that prepare a table for that troop, and that furnish the drink offering to that number.[12] Therefore will I number you to the sword, and you shall all bow down to the slaughter: because when I called, you did not answer; when I spoke, you did not hear; but did evil before my eyes, and did choose that wherein I delighted not.[13] Therefore thus says the Lord GOD, Behold, my servants shall eat, but you shall be hungry: behold, my servants shall drink, but you shall be thirsty: behold, my servants shall rejoice, but you shall be ashamed:[14] Behold, my servants shall sing for joy of heart, but you shall cry for sorrow of heart, and shall howl for vexation of spirit.[15] And you shall leave your name for a curse to my chosen: for the Lord GOD shall slay you, and call his servants by another name:[16] That he who blesses himself in the earth shall bless himself in the God of truth; and he that swears in the earth shall swear by the God of truth; because the former troubles are forgotten, and because they are hid from my eyes. ¶[17] For, behold, I create new heavens and a new earth: and the former shall not be remembered, nor come into mind.[18] But be you glad and rejoice for ever in that which I create: for, behold, I create Jerusalem a rejoicing, and her people a joy.[19] And I will rejoice in Jerusalem, and joy in my people: and the voice of weeping shall be no more heard in her, nor the voice of crying.[20] There shall be no more there an infant of days, nor an old man that has not filled his days: for the child shall die an hundred years old; but the sinner being an hundred years old shall be accursed.[21] And they shall build houses, and inhabit them; and they shall plant vineyards, and eat the fruit of them.[22] They shall not build, and another inhabit; they shall not plant, and another eat: for as the days of a tree are the days of my people, and my elect shall long enjoy the work of their hands.[23] They shall not labor in vain, nor bring forth for trouble; for they are the seed of the blessed of the LORD, and their offspring with them.[24] And it shall come to pass, that before they call, I will answer; and while they are yet speaking, I will hear.[25] The wolf and the lamb shall feed together, and the lion shall eat straw like the bullock: and dust shall be the serpent's meat. They shall not hurt nor destroy in all my holy mountain, says the LORD.

[1] Thus says the LORD, The heaven is my throne, and the earth is my footstool: where is the house that you build to me? and where is the place of my rest?

[2] For all those things has my hand made, and all those things have been, says the LORD: but to this man will I look, even to him that is poor and of a contrite spirit, and trembles at my word.[3] He that kills an ox is as if he slew a man; he that sacrifices a lamb, as if he cut off a dog's neck; he that offers an oblation, as if he offered swine's blood; he that burns incense, as if he blessed an idol. Yes, they have chosen their own ways, and their soul delights in their abominations.[4] I also will choose their delusions, and will bring their fears on them; because when I called, none did answer; when I spoke, they did not hear: but they did evil before my eyes, and chose that in which I delighted not. ¶[5] Hear the word of the LORD, you that tremble at his word; Your brothers that hated you, that cast you out for my name's sake, said, Let the LORD be glorified: but he shall appear to your joy, and they shall be ashamed.[6] A voice of noise from the city, a voice from the temple, a voice of the LORD that renders recompense to his enemies.[7] Before she travailed, she brought forth; before her pain came, she was delivered of a man child.[8] Who has heard such a thing? who has seen such things? Shall the earth be made to bring forth in one day? or shall a nation be born at once? for as soon as Zion travailed, she brought forth her children.[9] Shall I bring to the birth, and not cause to bring forth? says the LORD: shall I cause to bring forth, and shut the womb? said your God.[10] Rejoice you with Jerusalem, and be glad with her, all you that love her: rejoice for joy with her, all you that mourn for her:[11] That you may suck, and be satisfied with the breasts of her consolations; that you may milk out, and be delighted with the abundance of her glory.[12] For thus says the LORD, Behold, I will extend peace to her like a river, and the glory of the Gentiles like a flowing stream: then shall you suck, you shall be borne on her sides, and be dandled on her knees.[13] As one whom his mother comforts, so will I comfort you; and you shall be comforted in Jerusalem.[14] And when you see this, your heart shall rejoice, and your bones shall flourish like an herb: and the hand of the LORD shall be known toward his servants, and his indignation toward his enemies.[15] For, behold, the LORD will come with fire, and with his chariots like a whirlwind, to render his anger with fury, and his rebuke with flames of fire.[16] For by fire and by his sword will the LORD plead with all flesh: and the slain of the LORD shall be many.[17] They that sanctify themselves, and purify themselves in the gardens behind one tree in the middle, eating swine's flesh, and the abomination, and the mouse, shall be consumed together, says the LORD.[18] For I know their works and their thoughts: it shall come, that I will gather all nations and tongues; and they shall come, and see my glory.[19] And I will set a sign among them, and I will send those that escape of them to the nations, to Tarshish, Pul, and Lud, that draw the bow, to Tubal, and Javan, to the isles afar off, that have not heard my fame, neither have seen my glory; and they shall declare my glory among the Gentiles.[20] And they shall bring all your brothers for an offering to the LORD out of all nations on horses, and in chariots, and in litters, and on mules, and on swift beasts, to my holy mountain Jerusalem, said the LORD, as the children of Israel bring an offering in a clean vessel into the house of the LORD.[21] And I will also take of them for priests and for Levites, says the LORD.[22] For as the new heavens and the new earth, which I will make, shall remain before me, says the LORD, so shall your seed and your name remain.[23] And it shall come to pass, that from one new moon to another, and from one sabbath to another, shall all flesh come to worship before me, says the LORD.[24] And they shall go forth, and look on the carcasses of the men that have transgressed against me: for their worm shall not die, neither shall their fire be quenched; and they shall be an abhorring to all flesh.

Jeremiah

An Introduction to the Book of Jeremiah

Consists of twenty-three separate and independent sections, arranged in five books. I. The introduction, ch. 1. II. Reproofs of the sins of the Jews, consisting of seven sections, (1.) ch. 2; (2.) ch. 3-6; (3.) ch. 7-10; (4.) ch. 11-13; (5.) ch. 14-17:18; (6.) ch. 17:19-ch. 20; (7.) ch. 21-24. III. A general review of all nations, in two sections, (1.) ch. 46-49; (2.) ch. 25; with an historical appendix of three sections, (1.) ch. 26; (2.) ch. 27; (3.) ch. 28, 29. IV. Two sections picturing the hopes of better times, (1.) ch. 30, 31; (2.) ch. 32, 33; to which is added an historical appendix in three sections, (1.) ch. 34:1-7; (2.) ch. 34:8-22; (3.) ch. 35. V. The conclusion, in two sections, (1.) ch. 36; (2.) ch. 45.

In Egypt, after an interval, Jeremiah is supposed to have added three sections, viz., ch. 37-39; 40-43; and 44.

The principal Messianic prophecies are found in 23:1-8; 31:31-40; and 33:14-26.

Jeremiah's prophecies are noted for the frequent repetitions found in them of the same words and phrases and imagery. They cover the period of about 30 years. They are not recorded in the order of time. When and under what circumstances this book assumed its present form we know not.

The LXX. Version of this book is, in its arrangement and in other particulars, singularly at variance with the original. The LXX. omits 10:6-8; 27:19-22; 29:16-20; 33:14-26; 39:4-13; 52:2, 3, 15, 28-30, etc. About 2,700 words in all of the original are omitted. These omissions, etc., are capricious and arbitrary, and render the version unreliable.

[1] The words of Jeremiah the son of Hilkiah, of the priests that were in Anathoth in the land of Benjamin:

[2] To whom the word of the LORD came in the days of Josiah the son of Amon king of Judah, in the thirteenth year of his reign.[3] It came also in the days of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah king of Judah, to the end of the eleventh year of Zedekiah the son of Josiah king of Judah, to the carrying away of Jerusalem captive in the fifth month.[4] Then the word of the LORD came to me, saying,[5] Before I formed you in the belly I knew you; and before you came forth out of the womb I sanctified you, and I ordained you a prophet to the nations.[6] Then said I, Ah, Lord GOD! behold, I cannot speak: for I am a child. ¶[7] But the LORD said to me, Say not, I am a child: for you shall go to all that I shall send you, and whatever I command you you shall speak.[8] Be not afraid of their faces: for I am with you to deliver you, says the LORD.[9] Then the LORD put forth his hand, and touched my mouth. And the LORD said to me, Behold, I have put my words in your mouth.[10] See, I have this day set you over the nations and over the kingdoms, to root out, and to pull down, and to destroy, and to throw down, to build, and to plant. ¶[11] Moreover the word of the LORD came to me, saying, Jeremiah, what see you? And I said, I see a rod of an almond tree.[12] Then said the LORD to me, You have well seen: for I will hasten my word to perform it.[13] And the word of the LORD came to me the second time, saying, What see you? And I said, I see a seething pot; and the face thereof is toward the north.[14] Then the LORD said to me, Out of the north an evil shall break forth on all the inhabitants of the land.[15] For, see, I will call all the families of the kingdoms of the north, says the LORD; and they shall come, and they shall set every one his throne at the entering of the gates of Jerusalem, and against all the walls thereof round about, and against all the cities of Judah.[16] And I will utter my judgments against them touching all their wickedness, who have forsaken me, and have burned incense to other gods, and worshipped the works of their own hands. ¶[17] You therefore gird up your loins, and arise, and speak to them all that I command you: be not dismayed at their faces, lest I confound you before them.[18] For, behold, I have made you this day a defended city, and an iron pillar, and brazen walls against the whole land, against the kings of Judah, against the princes thereof, against the priests thereof, and against the people of the land.[19] And they shall fight against you; but they shall not prevail against you; for I am with you, says the LORD, to deliver you.

[1] Moreover the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

[2] Go and cry in the ears of Jerusalem, saying, Thus says the LORD; I remember you, the kindness of your youth, the love of your espousals, when you went after me in the wilderness, in a land that was not sown.[3] Israel was holiness to the LORD, and the first fruits of his increase: all that devour him shall offend; evil shall come on them, says the LORD.[4] Hear you the word of the LORD, O house of Jacob, and all the families of the house of Israel: ¶[5] Thus says the LORD, What iniquity have your fathers found in me, that they are gone far from me, and have walked after vanity, and are become vain?[6] Neither said they, Where is the LORD that brought us up out of the land of Egypt, that led us through the wilderness, through a land of deserts and of pits, through a land of drought, and of the shadow of death, through a land that no man passed through, and where no man dwelled?[7] And I brought you into a plentiful country, to eat the fruit thereof and the goodness thereof; but when you entered, you defiled my land, and made my heritage an abomination.[8] The priests said not, Where is the LORD? and they that handle the law knew me not: the pastors also transgressed against me, and the prophets prophesied by Baal, and walked after things that do not profit. ¶[9] Why I will yet plead with you, says the LORD, and with your children's children will I plead.[10] For pass over the isles of Chittim, and see; and send to Kedar, and consider diligently, and see if there be such a thing.[11] Has a nation changed their gods, which are yet no gods? but my people have changed their glory for that which does not profit.[12] Be astonished, O you heavens, at this, and be horribly afraid, be you very desolate, says the LORD.[13] For my people have committed two evils; they have forsaken me the fountain of living waters, and hewed them out cisterns, broken cisterns, that can hold no water. ¶[14] Is Israel a servant? is he a home born slave? why is he spoiled?[15] The young lions roared on him, and yelled, and they made his land waste: his cities are burned without inhabitant.[16] Also the children of Noph and Tahapanes have broken the crown of your head.[17] Have you not procured this to yourself, in that you have forsaken the LORD your God, when he led you by the way?[18] And now what have you to do in the way of Egypt, to drink the waters of Sihor? or what have you to do in the way of Assyria, to drink the waters of the river?[19] Your own wickedness shall correct you, and your backslidings shall reprove you: know therefore and see that it is an evil thing and bitter, that you have forsaken the LORD your God, and that my fear is not in you, says the Lord GOD of hosts. ¶[20] For of old time I have broken your yoke, and burst your bands; and you said, I will not transgress; when on every high hill and under every green tree you wander, playing the harlot.[21] Yet I had planted you a noble vine, wholly a right seed: how then are you turned into the degenerate plant of a strange vine to me?[22] For though you wash you with nitre, and take you much soap, yet your iniquity is marked before me, says the Lord GOD.[23] How can you say, I am not polluted, I have not gone after Baalim? see your way in the valley, know what you have done: you are a swift dromedary traversing her ways;[24] A wild ass used to the wilderness, that snuffs up the wind at her pleasure; in her occasion who can turn her away? all they that seek her will not weary themselves; in her month they shall find her.[25] Withhold your foot from being unshod, and your throat from thirst: but you said, There is no hope: no; for I have loved strangers, and after them will I go.[26] As the thief is ashamed when he is found, so is the house of Israel ashamed; they, their kings, their princes, and their priests, and their prophets.[27] Saying to a stock, You are my father; and to a stone, You have brought me forth: for they have turned their back to me, and not their face: but in the time of their trouble they will say, Arise, and save us.[28] But where are your gods that you have made you? let them arise, if they can save you in the time of your trouble: for according to the number of your cities are your gods, O Judah.[29] Why will you plead with me? you all have transgressed against me, says the LORD.[30] In vain have I smitten your children; they received no correction: your own sword has devoured your prophets, like a destroying lion. ¶[31] O generation, see you the word of the LORD. Have I been a wilderness to Israel? a land of darkness? why say my people, We are lords; we will come no more to you?[32] Can a maid forget her ornaments, or a bride her attire? yet my people have forgotten me days without number.[33] Why trim you your way to seek love? therefore have you also taught the wicked ones your ways.[34] Also in your skirts is found the blood of the souls of the poor innocents: I have not found it by secret search, but on all these.[35] Yet you say, Because I am innocent, surely his anger shall turn from me. Behold, I will plead with you, because you say, I have not sinned.[36] Why gad you about so much to change your way? you also shall be ashamed of Egypt, as you were ashamed of Assyria.[37] Yes, you shall go forth from him, and your hands on your head: for the LORD has rejected your confidences, and you shall not prosper in them.

[1] They say, If a man put away his wife, and she go from him, and become another man's, shall he return to her again? shall not that land be greatly polluted? but you have played the harlot with many lovers; yet return again to me, says the LORD.

[2] Lift up your eyes to the high places, and see where you have not been lien with. In the ways have you sat for them, as the Arabian in the wilderness; and you have polluted the land with your prostitutions and with your wickedness.[3] Therefore the showers have been withheld, and there has been no latter rain; and you had a whore's forehead, you refused to be ashamed.[4] Will you not from this time cry to me, My father, you are the guide of my youth?[5] Will he reserve his anger for ever? will he keep it to the end? Behold, you have spoken and done evil things as you could. ¶[6] The LORD said also to me in the days of Josiah the king, Have you seen that which backsliding Israel has done? she is gone up on every high mountain and under every green tree, and there has played the harlot.[7] And I said after she had done all these things, Turn you to me. But she returned not. And her treacherous sister Judah saw it.[8] And I saw, when for all the causes whereby backsliding Israel committed adultery I had put her away, and given her a bill of divorce; yet her treacherous sister Judah feared not, but went and played the harlot also.[9] And it came to pass through the lightness of her prostitution, that she defiled the land, and committed adultery with stones and with stocks.[10] And yet for all this her treacherous sister Judah has not turned to me with her whole heart, but feignedly, says the LORD.[11] And the LORD said to me, The backsliding Israel has justified herself more than treacherous Judah. ¶[12] Go and proclaim these words toward the north, and say, Return, you backsliding Israel, says the LORD; and I will not cause my anger to fall on you: for I am merciful, said the LORD, and I will not keep anger for ever.[13] Only acknowledge your iniquity, that you have transgressed against the LORD your God, and have scattered your ways to the strangers under every green tree, and you have not obeyed my voice, says the LORD.[14] Turn, O backsliding children, says the LORD; for I am married to you: and I will take you one of a city, and two of a family, and I will bring you to Zion:[15] And I will give you pastors according to my heart, which shall feed you with knowledge and understanding.[16] And it shall come to pass, when you be multiplied and increased in the land, in those days, says the LORD, they shall say no more, The ark of the covenant of the LORD: neither shall it come to mind: neither shall they remember it; neither shall they visit it; neither shall that be done any more.[17] At that time they shall call Jerusalem the throne of the LORD; and all the nations shall be gathered to it, to the name of the LORD, to Jerusalem: neither shall they walk any more after the imagination of their evil heart.[18] In those days the house of Judah shall walk with the house of Israel, and they shall come together out of the land of the north to the land that I have given for an inheritance to your fathers.[19] But I said, How shall I put you among the children, and give you a pleasant land, a goodly heritage of the hosts of nations? and I said, You shall call me, My father; and shall not turn away from me. ¶[20] Surely as a wife treacherously departs from her husband, so have you dealt treacherously with me, O house of Israel, says the LORD.[21] A voice was heard on the high places, weeping and supplications of the children of Israel: for they have perverted their way, and they have forgotten the LORD their God.[22] Return, you backsliding children, and I will heal your backslidings. Behold, we come to you; for you are the LORD our God.[23] Truly in vain is salvation hoped for from the hills, and from the multitude of mountains: truly in the LORD our God is the salvation of Israel.[24] For shame has devoured the labor of our fathers from our youth; their flocks and their herds, their sons and their daughters.[25] We lie down in our shame, and our confusion covers us: for we have sinned against the LORD our God, we and our fathers, from our youth even to this day, and have not obeyed the voice of the LORD our God.

[1] If you will return, O Israel, says the LORD, return to me: and if you will put away your abominations out of my sight, then shall you not remove.

[2] And you shall swear, The LORD lives, in truth, in judgment, and in righteousness; and the nations shall bless themselves in him, and in him shall they glory. ¶[3] For thus says the LORD to the men of Judah and Jerusalem, Break up your fallow ground, and sow not among thorns.[4] Circumcise yourselves to the LORD, and take away the foreskins of your heart, you men of Judah and inhabitants of Jerusalem: lest my fury come forth like fire, and burn that none can quench it, because of the evil of your doings.[5] Declare you in Judah, and publish in Jerusalem; and say, Blow you the trumpet in the land: cry, gather together, and say, Assemble yourselves, and let us go into the defended cities.[6] Set up the standard toward Zion: retire, stay not: for I will bring evil from the north, and a great destruction.[7] The lion is come up from his thicket, and the destroyer of the Gentiles is on his way; he is gone forth from his place to make your land desolate; and your cities shall be laid waste, without an inhabitant.[8] For this gird you with sackcloth, lament and howl: for the fierce anger of the LORD is not turned back from us.[9] And it shall come to pass at that day, says the LORD, that the heart of the king shall perish, and the heart of the princes; and the priests shall be astonished, and the prophets shall wonder.[10] Then said I, Ah, Lord GOD! surely you have greatly deceived this people and Jerusalem, saying, You shall have peace; whereas the sword reaches to the soul.[11] At that time shall it be said to this people and to Jerusalem, A dry wind of the high places in the wilderness toward the daughter of my people, not to fan, nor to cleanse,[12] Even a full wind from those places shall come to me: now also will I give sentence against them.[13] Behold, he shall come up as clouds, and his chariots shall be as a whirlwind: his horses are swifter than eagles. Woe to us! for we are spoiled.[14] O Jerusalem, wash your heart from wickedness, that you may be saved. How long shall your vain thoughts lodge within you?[15] For a voice declares from Dan, and publishes affliction from mount Ephraim.[16] Make you mention to the nations; behold, publish against Jerusalem, that watchers come from a far country, and give out their voice against the cities of Judah.[17] As keepers of a field, are they against her round about; because she has been rebellious against me, says the LORD.[18] Your way and your doings have procured these things to you; this is your wickedness, because it is bitter, because it reaches to your heart. ¶[19] My bowels, my bowels! I am pained at my very heart; my heart makes a noise in me; I cannot hold my peace, because you have heard, O my soul, the sound of the trumpet, the alarm of war.[20] Destruction on destruction is cried; for the whole land is spoiled: suddenly are my tents spoiled, and my curtains in a moment.[21] How long shall I see the standard, and hear the sound of the trumpet?[22] For my people is foolish, they have not known me; they are silly children, and they have none understanding: they are wise to do evil, but to do good they have no knowledge.[23] I beheld the earth, and, see, it was without form, and void; and the heavens, and they had no light.[24] I beheld the mountains, and, see, they trembled, and all the hills moved lightly.[25] I beheld, and, see, there was no man, and all the birds of the heavens were fled.[26] I beheld, and, see, the fruitful place was a wilderness, and all the cities thereof were broken down at the presence of the LORD, and by his fierce anger.[27] For thus has the LORD said, The whole land shall be desolate; yet will I not make a full end.[28] For this shall the earth mourn, and the heavens above be black; because I have spoken it, I have purposed it, and will not repent, neither will I turn back from it.[29] The whole city shall flee for the noise of the horsemen and bowmen; they shall go into thickets, and climb up on the rocks: every city shall be forsaken, and not a man dwell therein.[30] And when you are spoiled, what will you do? Though you clothe yourself with crimson, though you deck you with ornaments of gold, though you rend your face with painting, in vain shall you make yourself fair; your lovers will despise you, they will seek your life.[31] For I have heard a voice as of a woman in travail, and the anguish as of her that brings forth her first child, the voice of the daughter of Zion, that mourns herself, that spreads her hands, saying, Woe is me now! for my soul is wearied because of murderers.

[1] Run you to and fro through the streets of Jerusalem, and see now, and know, and seek in the broad places thereof, if you can find a man, if there be any that executes judgment, that seeks the truth; and I will pardon it.

[2] And though they say, The LORD lives; surely they swear falsely.[3] O LORD, are not your eyes on the truth? you have stricken them, but they have not grieved; you have consumed them, but they have refused to receive correction: they have made their faces harder than a rock; they have refused to return.[4] Therefore I said, Surely these are poor; they are foolish: for they know not the way of the LORD, nor the judgment of their God.[5] I will get me to the great men, and will speak to them; for they have known the way of the LORD, and the judgment of their God: but these have altogether broken the yoke, and burst the bonds.[6] Why a lion out of the forest shall slay them, and a wolf of the evenings shall spoil them, a leopard shall watch over their cities: every one that goes out there shall be torn in pieces: because their transgressions are many, and their backslidings are increased. ¶[7] How shall I pardon you for this? your children have forsaken me, and sworn by them that are no gods: when I had fed them to the full, they then committed adultery, and assembled themselves by troops in the harlots' houses.[8] They were as fed horses in the morning: every one neighed after his neighbor's wife.[9] Shall I not visit for these things? says the LORD: and shall not my soul be avenged on such a nation as this? ¶[10] Go you up on her walls, and destroy; but make not a full end: take away her battlements; for they are not the LORD's.[11] For the house of Israel and the house of Judah have dealt very treacherously against me, says the LORD.[12] They have belied the LORD, and said, It is not he; neither shall evil come on us; neither shall we see sword nor famine:[13] And the prophets shall become wind, and the word is not in them: thus shall it be done to them.[14] Why thus says the LORD God of hosts, Because you speak this word, behold, I will make my words in your mouth fire, and this people wood, and it shall devour them.[15] See, I will bring a nation on you from far, O house of Israel, says the LORD: it is a mighty nation, it is an ancient nation, a nation whose language you know not, neither understand what they say.[16] Their quiver is as an open sepulcher, they are all mighty men.[17] And they shall eat up your harvest, and your bread, which your sons and your daughters should eat: they shall eat up your flocks and your herds: they shall eat up your vines and your fig trees: they shall impoverish your fenced cities, wherein you trusted, with the sword.[18] Nevertheless in those days, says the LORD, I will not make a full end with you. ¶[19] And it shall come to pass, when you shall say, Why does the LORD our God all these things to us? then shall you answer them, Like as you have forsaken me, and served strange gods in your land, so shall you serve strangers in a land that is not yours.[20] Declare this in the house of Jacob, and publish it in Judah, saying,[21] Hear now this, O foolish people, and without understanding; which have eyes, and see not; which have ears, and hear not:[22] Fear you not me? says the LORD: will you not tremble at my presence, which have placed the sand for the bound of the sea by a perpetual decree, that it cannot pass it: and though the waves thereof toss themselves, yet can they not prevail; though they roar, yet can they not pass over it?[23] But this people has a revolting and a rebellious heart; they are revolted and gone.[24] Neither say they in their heart, Let us now fear the LORD our God, that gives rain, both the former and the latter, in his season: he reserves to us the appointed weeks of the harvest. ¶[25] Your iniquities have turned away these things, and your sins have withheld good things from you.[26] For among my people are found wicked men: they lay wait, as he that sets snares; they set a trap, they catch men.[27] As a cage is full of birds, so are their houses full of deceit: therefore they are become great, and waxen rich.[28] They are waxen fat, they shine: yes, they overpass the deeds of the wicked: they judge not the cause, the cause of the fatherless, yet they prosper; and the right of the needy do they not judge.[29] Shall I not visit for these things? says the LORD: shall not my soul be avenged on such a nation as this? ¶[30] A wonderful and horrible thing is committed in the land;[31] The prophets prophesy falsely, and the priests bear rule by their means; and my people love to have it so: and what will you do in the end thereof?

[1] O you children of Benjamin, gather yourselves to flee out of the middle of Jerusalem, and blow the trumpet in Tekoa, and set up a sign of fire in Bethhaccerem: for evil appears out of the north, and great destruction.

[2] I have likened the daughter of Zion to a comely and delicate woman.[3] The shepherds with their flocks shall come to her; they shall pitch their tents against her round about; they shall feed every one in his place.[4] Prepare you war against her; arise, and let us go up at noon. Woe to us! for the day goes away, for the shadows of the evening are stretched out.[5] Arise, and let us go by night, and let us destroy her palaces. ¶[6] For thus has the LORD of hosts said, Hew you down trees, and cast a mount against Jerusalem: this is the city to be visited; she is wholly oppression in the middle of her.[7] As a fountain casts out her waters, so she casts out her wickedness: violence and spoil is heard in her; before me continually is grief and wounds.[8] Be you instructed, O Jerusalem, lest my soul depart from you; lest I make you desolate, a land not inhabited. ¶[9] Thus says the LORD of hosts, They shall thoroughly glean the remnant of Israel as a vine: turn back your hand as a grape gatherer into the baskets.[10] To whom shall I speak, and give warning, that they may hear? behold, their ear is uncircumcised, and they cannot listen: behold, the word of the LORD is to them a reproach; they have no delight in it.[11] Therefore I am full of the fury of the LORD; I am weary with holding in: I will pour it out on the children abroad, and on the assembly of young men together: for even the husband with the wife shall be taken, the aged with him that is full of days.[12] And their houses shall be turned to others, with their fields and wives together: for I will stretch out my hand on the inhabitants of the land, says the LORD.[13] For from the least of them even to the greatest of them every one is given to covetousness; and from the prophet even to the priest every one deals falsely.[14] They have healed also the hurt of the daughter of my people slightly, saying, Peace, peace; when there is no peace.[15] Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? no, they were not at all ashamed, neither could they blush: therefore they shall fall among them that fall: at the time that I visit them they shall be cast down, says the LORD.[16] Thus says the LORD, Stand you in the ways, and see, and ask for the old paths, where is the good way, and walk therein, and you shall find rest for your souls. But they said, We will not walk therein.[17] Also I set watchmen over you, saying, Listen to the sound of the trumpet. But they said, We will not listen. ¶[18] Therefore hear, you nations, and know, O congregation, what is among them.[19] Hear, O earth: behold, I will bring evil on this people, even the fruit of their thoughts, because they have not listened to my words, nor to my law, but rejected it.[20] To what purpose comes there to me incense from Sheba, and the sweet cane from a far country? your burnt offerings are not acceptable, nor your sacrifices sweet to me.[21] Therefore thus says the LORD, Behold, I will lay stumbling blocks before this people, and the fathers and the sons together shall fall on them; the neighbor and his friend shall perish.[22] Thus says the LORD, Behold, a people comes from the north country, and a great nation shall be raised from the sides of the earth.[23] They shall lay hold on bow and spear; they are cruel, and have no mercy; their voice roars like the sea; and they ride on horses, set in array as men for war against you, O daughter of Zion.[24] We have heard the fame thereof: our hands wax feeble: anguish has taken hold of us, and pain, as of a woman in travail.[25] Go not forth into the field, nor walk by the way; for the sword of the enemy and fear is on every side. ¶[26] O daughter of my people, gird you with sackcloth, and wallow yourself in ashes: make you mourning, as for an only son, most bitter lamentation: for the spoiler shall suddenly come on us.[27] I have set you for a tower and a fortress among my people, that you may know and try their way.[28] They are all grievous rebels, walking with slanders: they are brass and iron; they are all corrupters.[29] The bellows are burned, the lead is consumed of the fire; the founder melts in vain: for the wicked are not plucked away.[30] Reprobate silver shall men call them, because the LORD has rejected them.

[1] The word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD, saying,

[2] Stand in the gate of the LORD's house, and proclaim there this word, and say, Hear the word of the LORD, all you of Judah, that enter in at these gates to worship the LORD.[3] Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, Amend your ways and your doings, and I will cause you to dwell in this place.[4] Trust you not in lying words, saying, The temple of the LORD, The temple of the LORD, The temple of the LORD, are these.[5] For if you thoroughly amend your ways and your doings; if you thoroughly execute judgment between a man and his neighbor;[6] If you oppress not the stranger, the fatherless, and the widow, and shed not innocent blood in this place, neither walk after other gods to your hurt:[7] Then will I cause you to dwell in this place, in the land that I gave to your fathers, for ever and ever. ¶[8] Behold, you trust in lying words, that cannot profit.[9] Will you steal, murder, and commit adultery, and swear falsely, and burn incense to Baal, and walk after other gods whom you know not;[10] And come and stand before me in this house, which is called by my name, and say, We are delivered to do all these abominations?[11] Is this house, which is called by my name, become a den of robbers in your eyes? Behold, even I have seen it, says the LORD.[12] But go you now to my place which was in Shiloh, where I set my name at the first, and see what I did to it for the wickedness of my people Israel.[13] And now, because you have done all these works, says the LORD, and I spoke to you, rising up early and speaking, but you heard not; and I called you, but you answered not;[14] Therefore will I do to this house, which is called by my name, wherein you trust, and to the place which I gave to you and to your fathers, as I have done to Shiloh.[15] And I will cast you out of my sight, as I have cast out all your brothers, even the whole seed of Ephraim.[16] Therefore pray not you for this people, neither lift up cry nor prayer for them, neither make intercession to me: for I will not hear you. ¶[17] See you not what they do in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem?[18] The children gather wood, and the fathers kindle the fire, and the women knead their dough, to make cakes to the queen of heaven, and to pour out drink offerings to other gods, that they may provoke me to anger.[19] Do they provoke me to anger? says the LORD: do they not provoke themselves to the confusion of their own faces?[20] Therefore thus says the Lord GOD; Behold, my anger and my fury shall be poured out on this place, on man, and on beast, and on the trees of the field, and on the fruit of the ground; and it shall burn, and shall not be quenched. ¶[21] Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel; Put your burnt offerings to your sacrifices, and eat flesh.[22] For I spoke not to your fathers, nor commanded them in the day that I brought them out of the land of Egypt, concerning burnt offerings or sacrifices:[23] But this thing commanded I them, saying, Obey my voice, and I will be your God, and you shall be my people: and walk you in all the ways that I have commanded you, that it may be well to you.[24] But they listened not, nor inclined their ear, but walked in the counsels and in the imagination of their evil heart, and went backward, and not forward.[25] Since the day that your fathers came forth out of the land of Egypt to this day I have even sent to you all my servants the prophets, daily rising up early and sending them:[26] Yet they listened not to me, nor inclined their ear, but hardened their neck: they did worse than their fathers.[27] Therefore you shall speak all these words to them; but they will not listen to you: you shall also call to them; but they will not answer you.[28] But you shall say to them, This is a nation that obeys not the voice of the LORD their God, nor receives correction: truth is perished, and is cut off from their mouth. ¶[29] Cut off your hair, O Jerusalem, and cast it away, and take up a lamentation on high places; for the LORD has rejected and forsaken the generation of his wrath.[30] For the children of Judah have done evil in my sight, says the LORD: they have set their abominations in the house which is called by my name, to pollute it.[31] And they have built the high places of Tophet, which is in the valley of the son of Hinnom, to burn their sons and their daughters in the fire; which I commanded them not, neither came it into my heart. ¶[32] Therefore, behold, the days come, says the LORD, that it shall no more be called Tophet, nor the valley of the son of Hinnom, but the valley of slaughter: for they shall bury in Tophet, till there be no place.[33] And the carcasses of this people shall be meat for the fowls of the heaven, and for the beasts of the earth; and none shall fray them away.[34] Then will I cause to cease from the cities of Judah, and from the streets of Jerusalem, the voice of mirth, and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom, and the voice of the bride: for the land shall be desolate.

[1] At that time, says the LORD, they shall bring out the bones of the kings of Judah, and the bones of his princes, and the bones of the priests, and the bones of the prophets, and the bones of the inhabitants of Jerusalem, out of their graves:

[2] And they shall spread them before the sun, and the moon, and all the host of heaven, whom they have loved, and whom they have served, and after whom they have walked, and whom they have sought, and whom they have worshipped: they shall not be gathered, nor be buried; they shall be for dung on the face of the earth.[3] And death shall be chosen rather than life by all the residue of them that remain of this evil family, which remain in all the places where I have driven them, says the LORD of hosts. ¶[4] Moreover you shall say to them, Thus says the LORD; Shall they fall, and not arise? shall he turn away, and not return?[5] Why then is this people of Jerusalem slid back by a perpetual backsliding? they hold fast deceit, they refuse to return.[6] I listened and heard, but they spoke not aright: no man repented him of his wickedness, saying, What have I done? every one turned to his course, as the horse rushes into the battle.[7] Yes, the stork in the heaven knows her appointed times; and the turtle and the crane and the swallow observe the time of their coming; but my people know not the judgment of the LORD.[8] How do you say, We are wise, and the law of the LORD is with us? See, certainly in vain made he it; the pen of the scribes is in vain.[9] The wise men are ashamed, they are dismayed and taken: see, they have rejected the word of the LORD; and what wisdom is in them?[10] Therefore will I give their wives to others, and their fields to them that shall inherit them: for every one from the least even to the greatest is given to covetousness, from the prophet even to the priest every one deals falsely.[11] For they have healed the hurt of the daughter of my people slightly, saying, Peace, peace; when there is no peace.[12] Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? no, they were not at all ashamed, neither could they blush: therefore shall they fall among them that fall: in the time of their visitation they shall be cast down, says the LORD. ¶[13] I will surely consume them, says the LORD: there shall be no grapes on the vine, nor figs on the fig tree, and the leaf shall fade; and the things that I have given them shall pass away from them.[14] Why do we sit still? assemble yourselves, and let us enter into the defended cities, and let us be silent there: for the LORD our God has put us to silence, and given us water of gall to drink, because we have sinned against the LORD.[15] We looked for peace, but no good came; and for a time of health, and behold trouble![16] The snorting of his horses was heard from Dan: the whole land trembled at the sound of the neighing of his strong ones; for they are come, and have devoured the land, and all that is in it; the city, and those that dwell therein.[17] For, behold, I will send serpents, cockatrices, among you, which will not be charmed, and they shall bite you, says the LORD. ¶[18] When I would comfort myself against sorrow, my heart is faint in me.[19] Behold the voice of the cry of the daughter of my people because of them that dwell in a far country: Is not the LORD in Zion? is not her king in her? Why have they provoked me to anger with their graven images, and with strange vanities?[20] The harvest is past, the summer is ended, and we are not saved.[21] For the hurt of the daughter of my people am I hurt; I am black; astonishment has taken hold on me.[22] Is there no balm in Gilead; is there no physician there? why then is not the health of the daughter of my people recovered?

[1] Oh that my head were waters, and my eyes a fountain of tears, that I might weep day and night for the slain of the daughter of my people!

[2] Oh that I had in the wilderness a lodging place of wayfaring men; that I might leave my people, and go from them! for they be all adulterers, an assembly of treacherous men.[3] And they bend their tongues like their bow for lies: but they are not valiant for the truth on the earth; for they proceed from evil to evil, and they know not me, says the LORD.[4] Take you heed every one of his neighbor, and trust you not in any brother: for every brother will utterly supplant, and every neighbor will walk with slanders.[5] And they will deceive every one his neighbor, and will not speak the truth: they have taught their tongue to speak lies, and weary themselves to commit iniquity.[6] Your habitation is in the middle of deceit; through deceit they refuse to know me, says the LORD.[7] Therefore thus says the LORD of hosts, Behold, I will melt them, and try them; for how shall I do for the daughter of my people?[8] Their tongue is as an arrow shot out; it speaks deceit: one speaks peaceably to his neighbor with his mouth, but in heart he lays his wait. ¶[9] Shall I not visit them for these things? says the LORD: shall not my soul be avenged on such a nation as this?[10] For the mountains will I take up a weeping and wailing, and for the habitations of the wilderness a lamentation, because they are burned up, so that none can pass through them; neither can men hear the voice of the cattle; both the fowl of the heavens and the beast are fled; they are gone.[11] And I will make Jerusalem heaps, and a den of dragons; and I will make the cities of Judah desolate, without an inhabitant. ¶[12] Who is the wise man, that may understand this? and who is he to whom the mouth of the LORD has spoken, that he may declare it, for what the land perishes and is burned up like a wilderness, that none passes through?[13] And the LORD says, Because they have forsaken my law which I set before them, and have not obeyed my voice, neither walked therein;[14] But have walked after the imagination of their own heart, and after Baalim, which their fathers taught them:[15] Therefore thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel; Behold, I will feed them, even this people, with wormwood, and give them water of gall to drink.[16] I will scatter them also among the heathen, whom neither they nor their fathers have known: and I will send a sword after them, till I have consumed them. ¶[17] Thus says the LORD of hosts, Consider you, and call for the mourning women, that they may come; and send for cunning women, that they may come:[18] And let them make haste, and take up a wailing for us, that our eyes may run down with tears, and our eyelids gush out with waters.[19] For a voice of wailing is heard out of Zion, How are we spoiled! we are greatly confounded, because we have forsaken the land, because our dwellings have cast us out.[20] Yet hear the word of the LORD, O you women, and let your ear receive the word of his mouth, and teach your daughters wailing, and every one her neighbor lamentation.[21] For death is come up into our windows, and is entered into our palaces, to cut off the children from without, and the young men from the streets.[22] Speak, Thus says the LORD, Even the carcasses of men shall fall as dung on the open field, and as the handful after the harvestman, and none shall gather them. ¶[23] Thus says the LORD, Let not the wise man glory in his wisdom, neither let the mighty man glory in his might, let not the rich man glory in his riches:[24] But let him that glories glory in this, that he understands and knows me, that I am the LORD which exercise loving kindness, judgment, and righteousness, in the earth: for in these things I delight, says the LORD. ¶[25] Behold, the days come, says the LORD, that I will punish all them which are circumcised with the uncircumcised;[26] Egypt, and Judah, and Edom, and the children of Ammon, and Moab, and all that are in the utmost corners, that dwell in the wilderness: for all these nations are uncircumcised, and all the house of Israel are uncircumcised in the heart.

[1] Hear you the word which the LORD speaks to you, O house of Israel:

[2] Thus says the LORD, Learn not the way of the heathen, and be not dismayed at the signs of heaven; for the heathen are dismayed at them.[3] For the customs of the people are vain: for one cuts a tree out of the forest, the work of the hands of the workman, with the ax.[4] They deck it with silver and with gold; they fasten it with nails and with hammers, that it move not.[5] They are upright as the palm tree, but speak not: they must needs be borne, because they cannot go. Be not afraid of them; for they cannot do evil, neither also is it in them to do good.[6] For as much as there is none like to you, O LORD; you are great, and your name is great in might.[7] Who would not fear you, O King of nations? for to you does it appertain: for as much as among all the wise men of the nations, and in all their kingdoms, there is none like to you.[8] But they are altogether brutish and foolish: the stock is a doctrine of vanities.[9] Silver spread into plates is brought from Tarshish, and gold from Uphaz, the work of the workman, and of the hands of the founder: blue and purple is their clothing: they are all the work of cunning men.[10] But the LORD is the true God, he is the living God, and an everlasting king: at his wrath the earth shall tremble, and the nations shall not be able to abide his indignation.[11] Thus shall you say to them, The gods that have not made the heavens and the earth, even they shall perish from the earth, and from under these heavens.[12] He has made the earth by his power, he has established the world by his wisdom, and has stretched out the heavens by his discretion.[13] When he utters his voice, there is a multitude of waters in the heavens, and he causes the vapors to ascend from the ends of the earth; he makes lightning with rain, and brings forth the wind out of his treasures.[14] Every man is brutish in his knowledge: every founder is confounded by the graven image: for his molten image is falsehood, and there is no breath in them.[15] They are vanity, and the work of errors: in the time of their visitation they shall perish.[16] The portion of Jacob is not like them: for he is the former of all things; and Israel is the rod of his inheritance: The LORD of hosts is his name. ¶[17] Gather up your wares out of the land, O inhabitant of the fortress.[18] For thus says the LORD, Behold, I will sling out the inhabitants of the land at this once, and will distress them, that they may find it so. ¶[19] Woe is me for my hurt! my wound is grievous; but I said, Truly this is a grief, and I must bear it.[20] My tabernacle is spoiled, and all my cords are broken: my children are gone forth of me, and they are not: there is none to stretch forth my tent any more, and to set up my curtains.[21] For the pastors are become brutish, and have not sought the LORD: therefore they shall not prosper, and all their flocks shall be scattered.[22] Behold, the noise of the bruit is come, and a great commotion out of the north country, to make the cities of Judah desolate, and a den of dragons. ¶[23] O LORD, I know that the way of man is not in himself: it is not in man that walks to direct his steps.[24] O LORD, correct me, but with judgment; not in your anger, lest you bring me to nothing.[25] Pour out your fury on the heathen that know you not, and on the families that call not on your name: for they have eaten up Jacob, and devoured him, and consumed him, and have made his habitation desolate.

[1] The word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD saying,

[2] Hear you the words of this covenant, and speak to the men of Judah, and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem;[3] And say you to them, Thus says the LORD God of Israel; Cursed be the man that obeys not the words of this covenant,[4] Which I commanded your fathers in the day that I brought them forth out of the land of Egypt, from the iron furnace, saying, Obey my voice, and do them, according to all which I command you: so shall you be my people, and I will be your God:[5] That I may perform the oath which I have sworn to your fathers, to give them a land flowing with milk and honey, as it is this day. Then answered I, and said, So be it, O LORD.[6] Then the LORD said to me, Proclaim all these words in the cities of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem, saying, Hear you the words of this covenant, and do them.[7] For I earnestly protested to your fathers in the day that I brought them up out of the land of Egypt, even to this day, rising early and protesting, saying, Obey my voice.[8] Yet they obeyed not, nor inclined their ear, but walked every one in the imagination of their evil heart: therefore I will bring on them all the words of this covenant, which I commanded them to do: but they did them not.[9] And the LORD said to me, A conspiracy is found among the men of Judah, and among the inhabitants of Jerusalem.[10] They are turned back to the iniquities of their forefathers, which refused to hear my words; and they went after other gods to serve them: the house of Israel and the house of Judah have broken my covenant which I made with their fathers. ¶[11] Therefore thus says the LORD, Behold, I will bring evil on them, which they shall not be able to escape; and though they shall cry to me, I will not listen to them.[12] Then shall the cities of Judah and inhabitants of Jerusalem go, and cry to the gods to whom they offer incense: but they shall not save them at all in the time of their trouble.[13] For according to the number of your cities were your gods, O Judah; and according to the number of the streets of Jerusalem have you set up altars to that shameful thing, even altars to burn incense to Baal.[14] Therefore pray not you for this people, neither lift up a cry or prayer for them: for I will not hear them in the time that they cry to me for their trouble.[15] What has my beloved to do in my house, seeing she has worked lewdness with many, and the holy flesh is passed from you? when you do evil, then you rejoice.[16] The LORD called your name, A green olive tree, fair, and of goodly fruit: with the noise of a great tumult he has kindled fire on it, and the branches of it are broken.[17] For the LORD of hosts, that planted you, has pronounced evil against you, for the evil of the house of Israel and of the house of Judah, which they have done against themselves to provoke me to anger in offering incense to Baal. ¶[18] And the LORD has given me knowledge of it, and I know it: then you showed me their doings.[19] But I was like a lamb or an ox that is brought to the slaughter; and I knew not that they had devised devices against me, saying, Let us destroy the tree with the fruit thereof, and let us cut him off from the land of the living, that his name may be no more remembered.[20] But, O LORD of hosts, that judge righteously, that try the reins and the heart, let me see your vengeance on them: for to you have I revealed my cause.[21] Therefore thus says the LORD of the men of Anathoth, that seek your life, saying, Prophesy not in the name of the LORD, that you die not by our hand:[22] Therefore thus says the LORD of hosts, Behold, I will punish them: the young men shall die by the sword; their sons and their daughters shall die by famine:[23] And there shall be no remnant of them: for I will bring evil on the men of Anathoth, even the year of their visitation.

[1] Righteous are you, O LORD, when I plead with you: yet let me talk with you of your judgments: Why does the way of the wicked prosper? why are all they happy that deal very treacherously?

[2] You have planted them, yes, they have taken root: they grow, yes, they bring forth fruit: you are near in their mouth, and far from their reins.[3] But you, O LORD, know me: you have seen me, and tried my heart toward you: pull them out like sheep for the slaughter, and prepare them for the day of slaughter.[4] How long shall the land mourn, and the herbs of every field wither, for the wickedness of them that dwell therein? the beasts are consumed, and the birds; because they said, He shall not see our last end. ¶[5] If you have run with the footmen, and they have wearied you, then how can you contend with horses? and if in the land of peace, wherein you trusted, they wearied you, then how will you do in the swelling of Jordan?[6] For even your brothers, and the house of your father, even they have dealt treacherously with you; yes, they have called a multitude after you: believe them not, though they speak fair words to you. ¶[7] I have forsaken my house, I have left my heritage; I have given the dearly beloved of my soul into the hand of her enemies.[8] My heritage is to me as a lion in the forest; it cries out against me: therefore have I hated it.[9] My heritage is to me as a speckled bird, the birds round about are against her; come you, assemble all the beasts of the field, come to devour.[10] Many pastors have destroyed my vineyard, they have trodden my portion under foot, they have made my pleasant portion a desolate wilderness.[11] They have made it desolate, and being desolate it mourns to me; the whole land is made desolate, because no man lays it to heart.[12] The spoilers are come on all high places through the wilderness: for the sword of the LORD shall devour from the one end of the land even to the other end of the land: no flesh shall have peace.[13] They have sown wheat, but shall reap thorns: they have put themselves to pain, but shall not profit: and they shall be ashamed of your revenues because of the fierce anger of the LORD. ¶[14] Thus says the LORD against all my evil neighbors, that touch the inheritance which I have caused my people Israel to inherit; Behold, I will pluck them out of their land, and pluck out the house of Judah from among them.[15] And it shall come to pass, after that I have plucked them out I will return, and have compassion on them, and will bring them again, every man to his heritage, and every man to his land.[16] And it shall come to pass, if they will diligently learn the ways of my people, to swear by my name, The LORD lives; as they taught my people to swear by Baal; then shall they be built in the middle of my people.[17] But if they will not obey, I will utterly pluck up and destroy that nation, says the LORD.

[1] Thus says the LORD to me, Go and get you a linen girdle, and put it on your loins, and put it not in water.

[2] So I got a girdle according to the word of the LORD, and put it on my loins.[3] And the word of the LORD came to me the second time, saying,[4] Take the girdle that you have got, which is on your loins, and arise, go to Euphrates, and hide it there in a hole of the rock.[5] So I went, and hid it by Euphrates, as the LORD commanded me.[6] And it came to pass after many days, that the LORD said to me, Arise, go to Euphrates, and take the girdle from there, which I commanded you to hide there.[7] Then I went to Euphrates, and dig, and took the girdle from the place where I had hid it: and, behold, the girdle was marred, it was profitable for nothing.[8] Then the word of the LORD came to me, saying,[9] Thus says the LORD, After this manner will I mar the pride of Judah, and the great pride of Jerusalem.[10] This evil people, which refuse to hear my words, which walk in the imagination of their heart, and walk after other gods, to serve them, and to worship them, shall even be as this girdle, which is good for nothing.[11] For as the girdle sticks to the loins of a man, so have I caused to stick to me the whole house of Israel and the whole house of Judah, says the LORD; that they might be to me for a people, and for a name, and for a praise, and for a glory: but they would not hear. ¶[12] Therefore you shall speak to them this word; Thus says the LORD God of Israel, Every bottle shall be filled with wine: and they shall say to you, Do we not certainly know that every bottle shall be filled with wine?[13] Then shall you say to them, Thus says the LORD, Behold, I will fill all the inhabitants of this land, even the kings that sit on David's throne, and the priests, and the prophets, and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, with drunkenness.[14] And I will dash them one against another, even the fathers and the sons together, says the LORD: I will not pity, nor spare, nor have mercy, but destroy them. ¶[15] Hear you, and give ear; be not proud: for the LORD has spoken.[16] Give glory to the LORD your God, before he cause darkness, and before your feet stumble on the dark mountains, and, while you look for light, he turn it into the shadow of death, and make it gross darkness.[17] But if you will not hear it, my soul shall weep in secret places for your pride; and my eye shall weep sore, and run down with tears, because the LORD's flock is carried away captive.[18] Say to the king and to the queen, Humble yourselves, sit down: for your principalities shall come down, even the crown of your glory.[19] The cities of the south shall be shut up, and none shall open them: Judah shall be carried away captive all of it, it shall be wholly carried away captive.[20] Lift up your eyes, and behold them that come from the north: where is the flock that was given you, your beautiful flock?[21] What will you say when he shall punish you? for you have taught them to be captains, and as chief over you: shall not sorrows take you, as a woman in travail? ¶[22] And if you say in your heart, Why come these things on me? For the greatness of your iniquity are your skirts discovered, and your heels made bore.[23] Can the Ethiopian change his skin, or the leopard his spots? then may you also do good, that are accustomed to do evil.[24] Therefore will I scatter them as the stubble that passes away by the wind of the wilderness.[25] This is your lot, the portion of your measures from me, says the LORD; because you have forgotten me, and trusted in falsehood.[26] Therefore will I discover your skirts on your face, that your shame may appear.[27] I have seen your adulteries, and your neighings, the lewdness of your prostitution, and your abominations on the hills in the fields. Woe to you, O Jerusalem! will you not be made clean? when shall it once be?

[1] The word of the LORD that came to Jeremiah concerning the dearth.

[2] Judah mourns, and the gates thereof languish; they are black to the ground; and the cry of Jerusalem is gone up.[3] And their nobles have sent their little ones to the waters: they came to the pits, and found no water; they returned with their vessels empty; they were ashamed and confounded, and covered their heads.[4] Because the ground is beat down, for there was no rain in the earth, the plowmen were ashamed, they covered their heads.[5] Yes, the hind also calved in the field, and forsook it, because there was no grass.[6] And the wild asses did stand in the high places, they snuffed up the wind like dragons; their eyes did fail, because there was no grass. ¶[7] O LORD, though our iniquities testify against us, do you it for your name's sake: for our backslidings are many; we have sinned against you.[8] O the hope of Israel, the savior thereof in time of trouble, why should you be as a stranger in the land, and as a wayfaring man that turns aside to tarry for a night?[9] Why should you be as a man astonished, as a mighty man that cannot save? yet you, O LORD, are in the middle of us, and we are called by your name; leave us not. ¶[10]

Thus says the LORD to this people, Thus have they loved to wander, they have not refrained their feet, therefore the LORD does not accept them; he will now remember their iniquity, and visit their sins.[11] Then said the LORD to me, Pray not for this people for their good.[12] When they fast, I will not hear their cry; and when they offer burnt offering and an oblation, I will not accept them: but I will consume them by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence. ¶[13] Then said I, Ah, Lord GOD! behold, the prophets say to them, You shall not see the sword, neither shall you have famine; but I will give you assured peace in this place.[14] Then the LORD said to me, The prophets prophesy lies in my name: I sent them not, neither have I commanded them, neither spoke to them: they prophesy to you a false vision and divination, and a thing of nothing, and the deceit of their heart.[15] Therefore thus says the LORD concerning the prophets that prophesy in my name, and I sent them not, yet they say, Sword and famine shall not be in this land; By sword and famine shall those prophets be consumed.[16] And the people to whom they prophesy shall be cast out in the streets of Jerusalem because of the famine and the sword; and they shall have none to bury them, them, their wives, nor their sons, nor their daughters: for I will pour their wickedness on them. ¶[17] Therefore you shall say this word to them; Let my eyes run down with tears night and day, and let them not cease: for the virgin daughter of my people is broken with a great breach, with a very grievous blow.[18] If I go forth into the field, then behold the slain with the sword! and if I enter into the city, then behold them that are sick with famine! yes, both the prophet and the priest go about into a land that they know not.[19] Have you utterly rejected Judah? has your soul loathed Zion? why have you smitten us, and there is no healing for us? we looked for peace, and there is no good; and for the time of healing, and behold trouble![20] We acknowledge, O LORD, our wickedness, and the iniquity of our fathers: for we have sinned against you.[21] Do not abhor us, for your name's sake, do not disgrace the throne of your glory: remember, break not your covenant with us.[22] Are there any among the vanities of the Gentiles that can cause rain? or can the heavens give showers? are not you he, O LORD our God? therefore we will wait on you: for you have made all these things.

[1] Then said the LORD to me, Though Moses and Samuel stood before me, yet my mind could not be toward this people: cast them out of my sight, and let them go forth.

[2] And it shall come to pass, if they say to you, Where shall we go forth? then you shall tell them, Thus says the LORD; Such as are for death, to death; and such as are for the sword, to the sword; and such as are for the famine, to the famine; and such as are for the captivity, to the captivity.[3] And I will appoint over them four kinds, says the LORD: the sword to slay, and the dogs to tear, and the fowls of the heaven, and the beasts of the earth, to devour and destroy.[4] And I will cause them to be removed into all kingdoms of the earth, because of Manasseh the son of Hezekiah king of Judah, for that which he did in Jerusalem.[5] For who shall have pity on you, O Jerusalem? or who shall bemoan you? or who shall go aside to ask how you do?[6] You have forsaken me, says the LORD, you are gone backward: therefore will I stretch out my hand against you, and destroy you; I am weary with repenting.[7] And I will fan them with a fan in the gates of the land; I will bereave them of children, I will destroy my people since they return not from their ways.[8] Their widows are increased to me above the sand of the seas: I have brought on them against the mother of the young men a spoiler at noonday: I have caused him to fall on it suddenly, and terrors on the city.[9] She that has borne seven languishes: she has given up the ghost; her sun is gone down while it was yet day: she has been ashamed and confounded: and the residue of them will I deliver to the sword before their enemies, says the LORD. ¶[10] Woe is me, my mother, that you have borne me a man of strife and a man of contention to the whole earth! I have neither lent on usury, nor men have lent to me on usury; yet every one of them does curse me.[11] The LORD said, Truly it shall be well with your remnant; truly I will cause the enemy to entreat you well in the time of evil and in the time of affliction.[12] Shall iron break the northern iron and the steel?[13] Your substance and your treasures will I give to the spoil without price, and that for all your sins, even in all your borders.[14] And I will make you to pass with your enemies into a land which you know not: for a fire is kindled in my anger, which shall burn on you. ¶[15] O LORD, you know: remember me, and visit me, and revenge me of my persecutors; take me not away in your long-suffering: know that for your sake I have suffered rebuke.[16] Your words were found, and I did eat them; and your word was to me the joy and rejoicing of my heart: for I am called by your name, O LORD God of hosts.[17] I sat not in the assembly of the mockers, nor rejoiced; I sat alone because of your hand: for you have filled me with indignation.[18] Why is my pain perpetual, and my wound incurable, which refuses to be healed? will you be altogether to me as a liar, and as waters that fail? ¶[19] Therefore thus says the LORD, If you return, then will I bring you again, and you shall stand before me: and if you take forth the precious from the vile, you shall be as my mouth: let them return to you; but return not you to them.[20] And I will make you to this people a fenced brazen wall: and they shall fight against you, but they shall not prevail against you: for I am with you to save you and to deliver you, says the LORD.[21] And I will deliver you out of the hand of the wicked, and I will redeem you out of the hand of the terrible.

[1] The word of the LORD came also to me, saying,

[2] You shall not take you a wife, neither shall you have sons or daughters in this place.[3] For thus says the LORD concerning the sons and concerning the daughters that are born in this place, and concerning their mothers that bore them, and concerning their fathers that begat them in this land;[4] They shall die of grievous deaths; they shall not be lamented; neither shall they be buried; but they shall be as dung on the face of the earth: and they shall be consumed by the sword, and by famine; and their carcasses shall be meat for the fowls of heaven, and for the beasts of the earth.[5] For thus says the LORD, Enter not into the house of mourning, neither go to lament nor bemoan them: for I have taken away my peace from this people, said the LORD, even loving kindness and mercies.[6] Both the great and the small shall die in this land: they shall not be buried, neither shall men lament for them, nor cut themselves, nor make themselves bald for them:[7] Neither shall men tear themselves for them in mourning, to comfort them for the dead; neither shall men give them the cup of consolation to drink for their father or for their mother.[8] You shall not also go into the house of feasting, to sit with them to eat and to drink.[9] For thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel; Behold, I will cause to cease out of this place in your eyes, and in your days, the voice of mirth, and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom, and the voice of the bride. ¶[10] And it shall come to pass, when you shall show this people all these words, and they shall say to you, Why has the LORD pronounced all this great evil against us? or what is our iniquity? or what is our sin that we have committed against the LORD our God?[11] Then shall you say to them, Because your fathers have forsaken me, says the LORD, and have walked after other gods, and have served them, and have worshipped them, and have forsaken me, and have not kept my law;[12] And you have done worse than your fathers; for, behold, you walk every one after the imagination of his evil heart, that they may not listen to me:[13] Therefore will I cast you out of this land into a land that you know not, neither you nor your fathers; and there shall you serve other gods day and night; where I will not show you favor. ¶[14] Therefore, behold, the days come, says the LORD, that it shall no more be said, The LORD lives, that brought up the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt;[15] But, The LORD lives, that brought up the children of Israel from the land of the north, and from all the lands where he had driven them: and I will bring them again into their land that I gave to their fathers. ¶[16] Behold, I will send for many fishers, says the LORD, and they shall fish them; and after will I send for many hunters, and they shall hunt them from every mountain, and from every hill, and out of the holes of the rocks.[17] For my eyes are on all their ways: they are not hid from my face, neither is their iniquity hid from my eyes.[18] And first I will recompense their iniquity and their sin double; because they have defiled my land, they have filled my inheritance with the carcasses of their detestable and abominable things.[19] O LORD, my strength, and my fortress, and my refuge in the day of affliction, the Gentiles shall come to you from the ends of the earth, and shall say, Surely our fathers have inherited lies, vanity, and things wherein there is no profit.[20] Shall a man make gods to himself, and they are no gods?[21] Therefore, behold, I will this once cause them to know, I will cause them to know my hand and my might; and they shall know that my name is The LORD.

[1] The sin of Judah is written with a pen of iron, and with the point of a diamond: it is graven on the table of their heart, and on the horns of your altars;

[2] Whilst their children remember their altars and their groves by the green trees on the high hills.[3] O my mountain in the field, I will give your substance and all your treasures to the spoil, and your high places for sin, throughout all your borders.[4] And you, even yourself, shall discontinue from your heritage that I gave you; and I will cause you to serve your enemies in the land which you know not: for you have kindled a fire in my anger, which shall burn for ever. ¶[5] Thus says the LORD; Cursed be the man that trusts in man, and makes flesh his arm, and whose heart departs from the LORD.[6] For he shall be like the heath in the desert, and shall not see when good comes; but shall inhabit the parched places in the wilderness, in a salt land and not inhabited.[7] Blessed is the man that trusts in the LORD, and whose hope the LORD is.[8] For he shall be as a tree planted by the waters, and that spreads out her roots by the river, and shall not see when heat comes, but her leaf shall be green; and shall not be careful in the year of drought, neither shall cease from yielding fruit. ¶[9] The heart is deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked: who can know it?[10] I the LORD search the heart, I try the reins, even to give every man according to his ways, and according to the fruit of his doings.[11] As the partridge sits on eggs, and hatches them not; so he that gets riches, and not by right, shall leave them in the middle of his days, and at his end shall be a fool. ¶[12] A glorious high throne from the beginning is the place of our sanctuary.[13] O LORD, the hope of Israel, all that forsake you shall be ashamed, and they that depart from me shall be written in the earth, because they have forsaken the LORD, the fountain of living waters.[14] Heal me, O LORD, and I shall be healed; save me, and I shall be saved: for you are my praise. ¶[15] Behold, they say to me, Where is the word of the LORD? let it come now.[16] As for me, I have not hastened from being a pastor to follow you: neither have I desired the woeful day; you know: that which came out of my lips was right before you.[17] Be not a terror to me: you are my hope in the day of evil.[18] Let them be confounded that persecute me, but let not me be confounded: let them be dismayed, but let not me be dismayed: bring on them the day of evil, and destroy them with double destruction. ¶[19] Thus said the LORD to me; Go and stand in the gate of the children of the people, whereby the kings of Judah come in, and by the which they go out, and in all the gates of Jerusalem;[20] And say to them, Hear you the word of the LORD, you kings of Judah, and all Judah, and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, that enter in by these gates:[21] Thus says the LORD; Take heed to yourselves, and bear no burden on the sabbath day, nor bring it in by the gates of Jerusalem;[22] Neither carry forth a burden out of your houses on the sabbath day, neither do you any work, but hallow you the sabbath day, as I commanded your fathers.[23] But they obeyed not, neither inclined their ear, but made their neck stiff, that they might not hear, nor receive instruction.[24] And it shall come to pass, if you diligently listen to me, says the LORD, to bring in no burden through the gates of this city on the sabbath day, but hallow the sabbath day, to do no work therein;[25] Then shall there enter into the gates of this city kings and princes sitting on the throne of David, riding in chariots and on horses, they, and their princes, the men of Judah, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem: and this city shall remain for ever.[26] And they shall come from the cities of Judah, and from the places about Jerusalem, and from the land of Benjamin, and from the plain, and from the mountains, and from the south, bringing burnt offerings, and sacrifices, and meat offerings, and incense, and bringing sacrifices of praise, to the house of the LORD.[27] But if you will not listen to me to hallow the sabbath day, and not to bear a burden, even entering in at the gates of Jerusalem on the sabbath day; then will I kindle a fire in the gates thereof, and it shall devour the palaces of Jerusalem, and it shall not be quenched.

[1] The word which came to Jeremiah from the LORD, saying,

[2] Arise, and go down to the potter's house, and there I will cause you to hear my words.[3] Then I went down to the potter's house, and, behold, he worked a work on the wheels.[4] And the vessel that he made of clay was marred in the hand of the potter: so he made it again another vessel, as seemed good to the potter to make it.[5] Then the word of the LORD came to me, saying,[6] O house of Israel, cannot I do with you as this potter? says the LORD. Behold, as the clay is in the potter's hand, so are you in my hand, O house of Israel.[7] At what instant I shall speak concerning a nation, and concerning a kingdom, to pluck up, and to pull down, and to destroy it;[8] If that nation, against whom I have pronounced, turn from their evil, I will repent of the evil that I thought to do to them.[9] And at what instant I shall speak concerning a nation, and concerning a kingdom, to build and to plant it;[10] If it do evil in my sight, that it obey not my voice, then I will repent of the good, with which I said I would benefit them. ¶[11] Now therefore go to, speak to the men of Judah, and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem, saying, Thus says the LORD; Behold, I frame evil against you, and devise a device against you: return you now every one from his evil way, and make your ways and your doings good.[12] And they said, There is no hope: but we will walk after our own devices, and we will every one do the imagination of his evil heart.[13] Therefore thus says the LORD; Ask you now among the heathen, who has heard such things: the virgin of Israel has done a very horrible thing.[14] Will a man leave the snow of Lebanon which comes from the rock of the field? or shall the cold flowing waters that come from another place be forsaken?[15] Because my people has forgotten me, they have burned incense to vanity, and they have caused them to stumble in their ways from the ancient paths, to walk in paths, in a way not cast up;[16] To make their land desolate, and a perpetual hissing; every one that passes thereby shall be astonished, and wag his head.[17] I will scatter them as with an east wind before the enemy; I will show them the back, and not the face, in the day of their calamity. ¶[18] Then said they, Come and let us devise devices against Jeremiah; for the law shall not perish from the priest, nor counsel from the wise, nor the word from the prophet. Come, and let us smite him with the tongue, and let us not give heed to any of his words.[19] Give heed to me, O LORD, and listen to the voice of them that contend with me.[20] Shall evil be recompensed for good? for they have dig a pit for my soul. Remember that I stood before you to speak good for them, and to turn away your wrath from them.[21] Therefore deliver up their children to the famine, and pour out their blood by the force of the sword; and let their wives be bereaved of their children, and be widows; and let their men be put to death; let their young men be slain by the sword in battle.[22] Let a cry be heard from their houses, when you shall bring a troop suddenly on them: for they have dig a pit to take me, and hid snares for my feet.[23] Yet, LORD, you know all their counsel against me to slay me: forgive not their iniquity, neither blot out their sin from your sight, but let them be overthrown before you; deal thus with them in the time of your anger.

[1] Thus says the LORD, Go and get a potter's earthen bottle, and take of the ancients of the people, and of the ancients of the priests;

[2] And go forth to the valley of the son of Hinnom, which is by the entry of the east gate, and proclaim there the words that I shall tell you,[3] And say, Hear you the word of the LORD, O kings of Judah, and inhabitants of Jerusalem; Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel; Behold, I will bring evil on this place, the which whoever hears, his ears shall tingle.[4] Because they have forsaken me, and have estranged this place, and have burned incense in it to other gods, whom neither they nor their fathers have known, nor the kings of Judah, and have filled this place with the blood of innocents;[5] They have built also the high places of Baal, to burn their sons with fire for burnt offerings to Baal, which I commanded not, nor spoke it, neither came it into my mind:[6] Therefore, behold, the days come, says the LORD, that this place shall no more be called Tophet, nor The valley of the son of Hinnom, but The valley of slaughter.[7] And I will make void the counsel of Judah and Jerusalem in this place; and I will cause them to fall by the sword before their enemies, and by the hands of them that seek their lives: and their carcasses will I give to be meat for the fowls of the heaven, and for the beasts of the earth.[8] And I will make this city desolate, and an hissing; every one that passes thereby shall be astonished and hiss because of all the plagues thereof.[9] And I will cause them to eat the flesh of their sons and the flesh of their daughters, and they shall eat every one the flesh of his friend in the siege and narrow place, with which their enemies, and they that seek their lives, shall straiten them.[10] Then shall you break the bottle in the sight of the men that go with you,[11] And shall say to them, Thus says the LORD of hosts; Even so will I break this people and this city, as one breaks a potter's vessel, that cannot be made whole again: and they shall bury them in Tophet, till there be no place to bury.[12] Thus will I do to this place, says the LORD, and to the inhabitants thereof, and even make this city as Tophet:[13] And the houses of Jerusalem, and the houses of the kings of Judah, shall be defiled as the place of Tophet, because of all the houses on whose roofs they have burned incense to all the host of heaven, and have poured out drink offerings to other gods.[14] Then came Jeremiah from Tophet, where the LORD had sent him to prophesy; and he stood in the court of the LORD's house; and said to all the people,[15] Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel; Behold, I will bring on this city and on all her towns all the evil that I have pronounced against it, because they have hardened their necks, that they might not hear my words.

[1] Now Pashur the son of Immer the priest, who was also chief governor in the house of the LORD, heard that Jeremiah prophesied these things.

[2] Then Pashur smote Jeremiah the prophet, and put him in the stocks that were in the high gate of Benjamin, which was by the house of the LORD.[3] And it came to pass on the morrow, that Pashur brought forth Jeremiah out of the stocks. Then said Jeremiah to him, The LORD has not called your name Pashur, but Magormissabib.[4] For thus says the LORD, Behold, I will make you a terror to yourself, and to all your friends: and they shall fall by the sword of their enemies, and your eyes shall behold it: and I will give all Judah into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he shall carry them captive into Babylon, and shall slay them with the sword.[5] Moreover I will deliver all the strength of this city, and all the labors thereof, and all the precious things thereof, and all the treasures of the kings of Judah will I give into the hand of their enemies, which shall spoil them, and take them, and carry them to Babylon.[6] And you, Pashur, and all that dwell in your house shall go into captivity: and you shall come to Babylon, and there you shall die, and shall be buried there, you, and all your friends, to whom you have prophesied lies. ¶[7] O LORD, you have deceived me, and I was deceived; you are stronger than I, and have prevailed: I am in derision daily, every one mocks me.[8] For since I spoke, I cried out, I cried violence and spoil; because the word of the LORD was made a reproach to me, and a derision, daily.[9] Then I said, I will not make mention of him, nor speak any more in his name. But his word was in my heart as a burning fire shut up in my bones, and I was weary with forbearing, and I could not stay. ¶[10] For I heard the defaming of many, fear on every side. Report, say they, and we will report it. All my familiars watched for my halting, saying, Peradventure he will be enticed, and we shall prevail against him, and we shall take our revenge on him.[11] But the LORD is with me as a mighty terrible one: therefore my persecutors shall stumble, and they shall not prevail: they shall be greatly ashamed; for they shall not prosper: their everlasting confusion shall never be forgotten.[12] But, O LORD of hosts, that try the righteous, and see the reins and the heart, let me see your vengeance on them: for to you have I opened my cause.[13] Sing to the LORD, praise you the LORD: for he has delivered the soul of the poor from the hand of evildoers. ¶[14] Cursed be the day wherein I was born: let not the day wherein my mother bore me be blessed.[15] Cursed be the man who brought tidings to my father, saying, A man child is born to you; making him very glad.[16] And let that man be as the cities which the LORD overthrew, and repented not: and let him hear the cry in the morning, and the shouting at noontide;[17] Because he slew me not from the womb; or that my mother might have been my grave, and her womb to be always great with me.[18] Why came I forth out of the womb to see labor and sorrow, that my days should be consumed with shame?

[1] The word which came to Jeremiah from the LORD, when king Zedekiah sent to him Pashur the son of Melchiah, and Zephaniah the son of Maaseiah the priest, saying,

[2] Inquire, I pray you, of the LORD for us; for Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon makes war against us; if so be that the LORD will deal with us according to all his wondrous works, that he may go up from us. ¶[3] Then said Jeremiah to them, Thus shall you say to Zedekiah:[4] Thus says the LORD God of Israel; Behold, I will turn back the weapons of war that are in your hands, with which you fight against the king of Babylon, and against the Chaldeans, which besiege you without the walls, and I will assemble them into the middle of this city.[5] And I myself will fight against you with an outstretched hand and with a strong arm, even in anger, and in fury, and in great wrath.[6] And I will smite the inhabitants of this city, both man and beast: they shall die of a great pestilence.[7] And afterward, says the LORD, I will deliver Zedekiah king of Judah, and his servants, and the people, and such as are left in this city from the pestilence, from the sword, and from the famine, into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, and into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of those that seek their life: and he shall smite them with the edge of the sword; he shall not spare them, neither have pity, nor have mercy. ¶[8] And to this people you shall say, Thus says the LORD; Behold, I set before you the way of life, and the way of death.[9] He that stays in this city shall die by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence: but he that goes out, and falls to the Chaldeans that besiege you, he shall live, and his life shall be to him for a prey.[10] For I have set my face against this city for evil, and not for good, says the LORD: it shall be given into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he shall burn it with fire. ¶[11] And touching the house of the king of Judah, say, Hear you the word of the LORD;[12] O house of David, thus says the LORD; Execute judgment in the morning, and deliver him that is spoiled out of the hand of the oppressor, lest my fury go out like fire, and burn that none can quench it, because of the evil of your doings.[13] Behold, I am against you, O inhabitant of the valley, and rock of the plain, says the LORD; which say, Who shall come down against us? or who shall enter into our habitations?[14] But I will punish you according to the fruit of your doings, says the LORD: and I will kindle a fire in the forest thereof, and it shall devour all things round about it.

[1] Thus says the LORD; Go down to the house of the king of Judah, and speak there this word,

[2] And say, Hear the word of the LORD, O king of Judah, that sit on the throne of David, you, and your servants, and your people that enter in by these gates:[3] Thus says the LORD; Execute you judgment and righteousness, and deliver the spoiled out of the hand of the oppressor: and do no wrong, do no violence to the stranger, the fatherless, nor the widow, neither shed innocent blood in this place.[4] For if you do this thing indeed, then shall there enter in by the gates of this house kings sitting on the throne of David, riding in chariots and on horses, he, and his servants, and his people.[5] But if you will not hear these words, I swear by myself, says the LORD, that this house shall become a desolation.[6] For thus says the LORD to the king's house of Judah; You are Gilead to me, and the head of Lebanon: yet surely I will make you a wilderness, and cities which are not inhabited.[7] And I will prepare destroyers against you, every one with his weapons: and they shall cut down your choice cedars, and cast them into the fire.[8] And many nations shall pass by this city, and they shall say every man to his neighbor, Why has the LORD done thus to this great city?[9] Then they shall answer, Because they have forsaken the covenant of the LORD their God, and worshipped other gods, and served them. ¶[10] Weep you not for the dead, neither bemoan him: but weep sore for him that goes away: for he shall return no more, nor see his native country.[11] For thus says the LORD touching Shallum the son of Josiah king of Judah, which reigned instead of Josiah his father, which went forth out of this place; He shall not return thither any more:[12] But he shall die in the place where they have led him captive, and shall see this land no more. ¶[13] Woe to him that builds his house by unrighteousness, and his chambers by wrong; that uses his neighbor's service without wages, and gives him not for his work;[14] That says, I will build me a wide house and large chambers, and cuts him out windows; and it is paneled with cedar, and painted with vermilion.[15] Shall you reign, because you close yourself in cedar? did not your father eat and drink, and do judgment and justice, and then it was well with him?[16] He judged the cause of the poor and needy; then it was well with him: was not this to know me? says the LORD.[17] But your eyes and your heart are not but for your covetousness, and for to shed innocent blood, and for oppression, and for violence, to do it.[18] Therefore thus says the LORD concerning Jehoiakim the son of Josiah king of Judah; They shall not lament for him, saying, Ah my brother! or, Ah sister! they shall not lament for him, saying, Ah lord! or, Ah his glory![19] He shall be buried with the burial of an ass, drawn and cast forth beyond the gates of Jerusalem. ¶[20] Go up to Lebanon, and cry; and lift up your voice in Bashan, and cry from the passages: for all your lovers are destroyed.[21] I spoke to you in your prosperity; but you said, I will not hear. This has been your manner from your youth, that you obeyed not my voice.[22] The wind shall eat up all your pastors, and your lovers shall go into captivity: surely then shall you be ashamed and confounded for all your wickedness.[23] O inhabitant of Lebanon, that make your nest in the cedars, how gracious shall you be when pangs come on you, the pain as of a woman in travail![24] As I live, says the LORD, though Coniah the son of Jehoiakim king of Judah were the signet on my right hand, yet would I pluck you there;[25] And I will give you into the hand of them that seek your life, and into the hand of them whose face you fear, even into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, and into the hand of the Chaldeans.[26] And I will cast you out, and your mother that bore you, into another country, where you were not born; and there shall you die.[27] But to the land where they desire to return, thither shall they not return.[28] Is this man Coniah a despised broken idol? is he a vessel wherein is no pleasure? why are they cast out, he and his seed, and are cast into a land which they know not?[29] O earth, earth, earth, hear the word of the LORD.[30] Thus says the LORD, Write you this man childless, a man that shall not prosper in his days: for no man of his seed shall prosper, sitting on the throne of David, and ruling any more in Judah.

[1] Woe be to the pastors that destroy and scatter the sheep of my pasture! says the LORD.

[2] Therefore thus said the LORD God of Israel against the pastors that feed my people; You have scattered my flock, and driven them away, and have not visited them: behold, I will visit on you the evil of your doings, says the LORD.[3] And I will gather the remnant of my flock out of all countries where I have driven them, and will bring them again to their folds; and they shall be fruitful and increase.[4] And I will set up shepherds over them which shall feed them: and they shall fear no more, nor be dismayed, neither shall they be lacking, says the LORD. ¶[5] Behold, the days come, says the LORD, that I will raise to David a righteous Branch, and a King shall reign and prosper, and shall execute judgment and justice in the earth.[6] In his days Judah shall be saved, and Israel shall dwell safely: and this is his name whereby he shall be called, THE LORD OUR RIGHTEOUSNESS.[7] Therefore, behold, the days come, says the LORD, that they shall no more say, The LORD lives, which brought up the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt;[8] But, The LORD lives, which brought up and which led the seed of the house of Israel out of the north country, and from all countries where I had driven them; and they shall dwell in their own land. ¶[9] My heart within me is broken because of the prophets; all my bones shake; I am like a drunken man, and like a man whom wine has overcome, because of the LORD, and because of the words of his holiness.[10] For the land is full of adulterers; for because of swearing the land mourns; the pleasant places of the wilderness are dried up, and their course is evil, and their force is not right.[11] For both prophet and priest are profane; yes, in my house have I found their wickedness, says the LORD.[12] Why their way shall be to them as slippery ways in the darkness: they shall be driven on, and fall therein: for I will bring evil on them, even the year of their visitation, says the LORD.[13] And I have seen folly in the prophets of Samaria; they prophesied in Baal, and caused my people Israel to err.[14] I have seen also in the prophets of Jerusalem an horrible thing: they commit adultery, and walk in lies: they strengthen also the hands of evildoers, that none does return from his wickedness; they are all of them to me as Sodom, and the inhabitants thereof as Gomorrah.[15] Therefore thus says the LORD of hosts concerning the prophets; Behold, I will feed them with wormwood, and make them drink the water of gall: for from the prophets of Jerusalem is profaneness gone forth into all the land.[16] Thus says the LORD of hosts, Listen not to the words of the prophets that prophesy to you: they make you vain: they speak a vision of their own heart, and not out of the mouth of the LORD.[17] They say still to them that despise me, The LORD has said, You shall have peace; and they say to every one that walks after the imagination of his own heart, No evil shall come on you.[18] For who has stood in the counsel of the LORD, and has perceived and heard his word? who has marked his word, and heard it?[19] Behold, a whirlwind of the LORD is gone forth in fury, even a grievous whirlwind: it shall fall grievously on the head of the wicked.[20] The anger of the LORD shall not return, until he have executed, and till he have performed the thoughts of his heart: in the latter days you shall consider it perfectly.[21] I have not sent these prophets, yet they ran: I have not spoken to them, yet they prophesied.[22] But if they had stood in my counsel, and had caused my people to hear my words, then they should have turned them from their evil way, and from the evil of their doings.[23] Am I a God at hand, says the LORD, and not a God afar off?[24] Can any hide himself in secret places that I shall not see him? says the LORD. Do not I fill heaven and earth? said the LORD.[25] I have heard what the prophets said, that prophesy lies in my name, saying, I have dreamed, I have dreamed.[26] How long shall this be in the heart of the prophets that prophesy lies? yes, they are prophets of the deceit of their own heart;[27] Which think to cause my people to forget my name by their dreams which they tell every man to his neighbor, as their fathers have forgotten my name for Baal.[28] The prophet that has a dream, let him tell a dream; and he that has my word, let him speak my word faithfully. What is the chaff to the wheat? says the LORD.[29] Is not my word like as a fire? says the LORD; and like a hammer that breaks the rock in pieces?[30] Therefore, behold, I am against the prophets, says the LORD, that steal my words every one from his neighbor.[31] Behold, I am against the prophets, says the LORD, that use their tongues, and says, He said.[32] Behold, I am against them that prophesy false dreams, says the LORD, and do tell them, and cause my people to err by their lies, and by their lightness; yet I sent them not, nor commanded them: therefore they shall not profit this people at all, says the LORD. ¶[33] And when this people, or the prophet, or a priest, shall ask you, saying, What is the burden of the LORD? you shall then say to them, What burden? I will even forsake you, says the LORD.[34] And as for the prophet, and the priest, and the people, that shall say, The burden of the LORD, I will even punish that man and his house.[35] Thus shall you say every one to his neighbor, and every one to his brother, What has the LORD answered? and, What has the LORD spoken?[36] And the burden of the LORD shall you mention no more: for every man's word shall be his burden; for you have perverted the words of the living God, of the LORD of hosts our God.[37] Thus shall you say to the prophet, What has the LORD answered you? and, What has the LORD spoken?[38] But since you say, The burden of the LORD; therefore thus says the LORD; Because you say this word, The burden of the LORD, and I have sent to you, saying, You shall not say, The burden of the LORD;[39] Therefore, behold, I, even I, will utterly forget you, and I will forsake you, and the city that I gave you and your fathers, and cast you out of my presence:[40] And I will bring an everlasting reproach on you, and a perpetual shame, which shall not be forgotten.

[1] The LORD showed me, and, behold, two baskets of figs were set before the temple of the LORD, after that Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon had carried away captive Jeconiah the son of Jehoiakim king of Judah, and the princes of Judah, with the carpenters and smiths, from Jerusalem, and had brought them to Babylon.

[2] One basket had very good figs, even like the figs that are first ripe: and the other basket had very naughty figs, which could not be eaten, they were so bad.[3] Then said the LORD to me, What see you, Jeremiah? And I said, Figs; the good figs, very good; and the evil, very evil, that cannot be eaten, they are so evil. ¶[4] Again the word of the LORD came to me, saying,[5] Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel; Like these good figs, so will I acknowledge them that are carried away captive of Judah, whom I have sent out of this place into the land of the Chaldeans for their good.[6] For I will set my eyes on them for good, and I will bring them again to this land: and I will build them, and not pull them down; and I will plant them, and not pluck them up.[7] And I will give them an heart to know me, that I am the LORD: and they shall be my people, and I will be their God: for they shall return to me with their whole heart. ¶[8] And as the evil figs, which cannot be eaten, they are so evil; surely thus says the LORD, So will I give Zedekiah the king of Judah, and his princes, and the residue of Jerusalem, that remain in this land, and them that dwell in the land of Egypt:[9] And I will deliver them to be removed into all the kingdoms of the earth for their hurt, to be a reproach and a proverb, a taunt and a curse, in all places where I shall drive them.[10] And I will send the sword, the famine, and the pestilence, among them, till they be consumed from off the land that I gave to them and to their fathers.

[1] The word that came to Jeremiah concerning all the people of Judah in the fourth year of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah king of Judah, that was the first year of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon;

[2] The which Jeremiah the prophet spoke to all the people of Judah, and to all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, saying,[3] From the thirteenth year of Josiah the son of Amon king of Judah, even to this day, that is the three and twentieth year, the word of the LORD has come to me, and I have spoken to you, rising early and speaking; but you have not listened.[4] And the LORD has sent to you all his servants the prophets, rising early and sending them; but you have not listened, nor inclined your ear to hear.[5] They said, Turn you again now every one from his evil way, and from the evil of your doings, and dwell in the land that the LORD has given to you and to your fathers for ever and ever:[6] And go not after other gods to serve them, and to worship them, and provoke me not to anger with the works of your hands; and I will do you no hurt.[7] Yet you have not listened to me, says the LORD; that you might provoke me to anger with the works of your hands to your own hurt. ¶[8] Therefore thus says the LORD of hosts; Because you have not heard my words,[9] Behold, I will send and take all the families of the north, says the LORD, and Nebuchadrezzar the king of Babylon, my servant, and will bring them against this land, and against the inhabitants thereof, and against all these nations round about, and will utterly destroy them, and make them an astonishment, and an hissing, and perpetual desolations.[10] Moreover I will take from them the voice of mirth, and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom, and the voice of the bride, the sound of the millstones, and the light of the candle.[11] And this whole land shall be a desolation, and an astonishment; and these nations shall serve the king of Babylon seventy years. ¶[12] And it shall come to pass, when seventy years are accomplished, that I will punish the king of Babylon, and that nation, says the LORD, for their iniquity, and the land of the Chaldeans, and will make it perpetual desolations.[13] And I will bring on that land all my words which I have pronounced against it, even all that is written in this book, which Jeremiah has prophesied against all the nations.[14] For many nations and great kings shall serve themselves of them also: and I will recompense them according to their deeds, and according to the works of their own hands. ¶[15] For thus says the LORD God of Israel to me; Take the wine cup of this fury at my hand, and cause all the nations, to whom I send you, to drink it.[16] And they shall drink, and be moved, and be mad, because of the sword that I will send among them.[17] Then took I the cup at the LORD's hand, and made all the nations to drink, to whom the LORD had sent me:[18] To wit, Jerusalem, and the cities of Judah, and the kings thereof, and the princes thereof, to make them a desolation, an astonishment, an hissing, and a curse; as it is this day;[19] Pharaoh king of Egypt, and his servants, and his princes, and all his people;[20] And all the mingled people, and all the kings of the land of Uz, and all the kings of the land of the Philistines, and Ashkelon, and Azzah, and Ekron, and the remnant of Ashdod,[21] Edom, and Moab, and the children of Ammon,[22] And all the kings of Tyrus, and all the kings of Zidon, and the kings of the isles which are beyond the sea,[23] Dedan, and Tema, and Buz, and all that are in the utmost corners,[24] And all the kings of Arabia, and all the kings of the mingled people that dwell in the desert,[25] And all the kings of Zimri, and all the kings of Elam, and all the kings of the Medes,[26] And all the kings of the north, far and near, one with another, and all the kingdoms of the world, which are on the face of the earth: and the king of Sheshach shall drink after them.[27] Therefore you shall say to them, Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel; Drink you, and be drunken, and spew, and fall, and rise no more, because of the sword which I will send among you.[28] And it shall be, if they refuse to take the cup at your hand to drink, then shall you say to them, Thus says the LORD of hosts; You shall certainly drink.[29] For, see, I begin to bring evil on the city which is called by my name, and should you be utterly unpunished? You shall not be unpunished: for I will call for a sword on all the inhabitants of the earth, says the LORD of hosts.[30] Therefore prophesy you against them all these words, and say to them, The LORD shall roar from on high, and utter his voice from his holy habitation; he shall mightily roar on his habitation; he shall give a shout, as they that tread the grapes, against all the inhabitants of the earth.[31] A noise shall come even to the ends of the earth; for the LORD has a controversy with the nations, he will plead with all flesh; he will give them that are wicked to the sword, says the LORD.[32] Thus says the LORD of hosts, Behold, evil shall go forth from nation to nation, and a great whirlwind shall be raised up from the coasts of the earth.[33] And the slain of the LORD shall be at that day from one end of the earth even to the other end of the earth: they shall not be lamented, neither gathered, nor buried; they shall be dung on the ground. ¶[34] Howl, you shepherds, and cry; and wallow yourselves in the ashes, you principal of the flock: for the days of your slaughter and of your dispersions are accomplished; and you shall fall like a pleasant vessel.[35] And the shepherds shall have no way to flee, nor the principal of the flock to escape.[36] A voice of the cry of the shepherds, and an howling of the principal of the flock, shall be heard: for the LORD has spoiled their pasture.[37] And the peaceable habitations are cut down because of the fierce anger of the LORD.[38] He has forsaken his covert, as the lion: for their land is desolate because of the fierceness of the oppressor, and because of his fierce anger.

[2] Thus says the LORD; Stand in the court of the LORD's house, and speak to all the cities of Judah, which come to worship in the LORD's house, all the words that I command you to speak to them; diminish not a word:[3] If so be they will listen, and turn every man from his evil way, that I may repent me of the evil, which I purpose to do to them because of the evil of their doings.[4] And you shall say to them, Thus says the LORD; If you will not listen to me, to walk in my law, which I have set before you,[5] To listen to the words of my servants the prophets, whom I sent to you, both rising up early, and sending them, but you have not listened;[6] Then will I make this house like Shiloh, and will make this city a curse to all the nations of the earth.[7] So the priests and the prophets and all the people heard Jeremiah speaking these words in the house of the LORD. ¶[8] Now it came to pass, when Jeremiah had made an end of speaking all that the LORD had commanded him to speak to all the people, that the priests and the prophets and all the people took him, saying, You shall surely die.[9] Why have you prophesied in the name of the LORD, saying, This house shall be like Shiloh, and this city shall be desolate without an inhabitant? And all the people were gathered against Jeremiah in the house of the LORD. ¶[10] When the princes of Judah heard these things, then they came up from the king's house to the house of the LORD, and sat down in the entry of the new gate of the LORD's house.[11] Then spoke the priests and the prophets to the princes and to all the people, saying, This man is worthy to die; for he has prophesied against this city, as you have heard with your ears. ¶[12] Then spoke Jeremiah to all the princes and to all the people, saying, The LORD sent me to prophesy against this house and against this city all the words that you have heard.[13] Therefore now amend your ways and your doings, and obey the voice of the LORD your God; and the LORD will repent him of the evil that he has pronounced against you.[14] As for me, behold, I am in your hand: do with me as seems good and meet to you.[15] But know you for certain, that if you put me to death, you shall surely bring innocent blood on yourselves, and on this city, and on the inhabitants thereof: for of a truth the LORD has sent me to you to speak all these words in your ears. ¶[16] Then said the princes and all the people to the priests and to the prophets; This man is not worthy to die: for he has spoken to us in the name of the LORD our God.[17] Then rose up certain of the elders of the land, and spoke to all the assembly of the people, saying,[18] Micah the Morasthite prophesied in the days of Hezekiah king of Judah, and spoke to all the people of Judah, saying, Thus says the LORD of hosts; Zion shall be plowed like a field, and Jerusalem shall become heaps, and the mountain of the house as the high places of a forest.[19] Did Hezekiah king of Judah and all Judah put him at all to death? did he not fear the LORD, and sought the LORD, and the LORD repented him of the evil which he had pronounced against them? Thus might we procure great evil against our souls.[20] And there was also a man that prophesied in the name of the LORD, Urijah the son of Shemaiah of Kirjathjearim, who prophesied against this city and against this land according to all the words of Jeremiah.[21] And when Jehoiakim the king, with all his mighty men, and all the princes, heard his words, the king sought to put him to death: but when Urijah heard it, he was afraid, and fled, and went into Egypt;[22] And Jehoiakim the king sent men into Egypt, namely, Elnathan the son of Achbor, and certain men with him into Egypt.[23] And they fetched forth Urijah out of Egypt, and brought him to Jehoiakim the king; who slew him with the sword, and cast his dead body into the graves of the common people.[24] Nevertheless the hand of Ahikam the son of Shaphan was with Jeremiah, that they should not give him into the hand of the people to put him to death.

[1] In the beginning of the reign of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah king of Judah came this word to Jeremiah from the LORD, saying,

[2] Thus says the LORD to me; Make you bonds and yokes, and put them on your neck,[3] And send them to the king of Edom, and to the king of Moab, and to the king of the Ammonites, and to the king of Tyrus, and to the king of Zidon, by the hand of the messengers which come to Jerusalem to Zedekiah king of Judah;[4] And command them to say to their masters, Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel; Thus shall you say to your masters;[5] I have made the earth, the man and the beast that are on the ground, by my great power and by my outstretched arm, and have given it to whom it seemed meet to me.[6] And now have I given all these lands into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon, my servant; and the beasts of the field have I given him also to serve him.[7] And all nations shall serve him, and his son, and his son's son, until the very time of his land come: and then many nations and great kings shall serve themselves of him.[8] And it shall come to pass, that the nation and kingdom which will not serve the same Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon, and that will not put their neck under the yoke of the king of Babylon, that nation will I punish, says the LORD, with the sword, and with the famine, and with the pestilence, until I have consumed them by his hand.[9] Therefore listen not you to your prophets, nor to your diviners, nor to your dreamers, nor to your enchanters, nor to your sorcerers, which speak to you, saying, You shall not serve the king of Babylon:[10] For they prophesy a lie to you, to remove you far from your land; and that I should drive you out, and you should perish.[11] But the nations that bring their neck under the yoke of the king of Babylon, and serve him, those will I let remain still in their own land, says the LORD; and they shall till it, and dwell therein. ¶[12] I spoke also to Zedekiah king of Judah according to all these words, saying, Bring your necks under the yoke of the king of Babylon, and serve him and his people, and live.[13] Why will you die, you and your people, by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, as the LORD has spoken against the nation that will not serve the king of Babylon?[14] Therefore listen not to the words of the prophets that speak to you, saying, You shall not serve the king of Babylon: for they prophesy a lie to you.[15] For I have not sent them, says the LORD, yet they prophesy a lie in my name; that I might drive you out, and that you might perish, you, and the prophets that prophesy to you.[16] Also I spoke to the priests and to all this people, saying, Thus says the LORD; Listen not to the words of your prophets that prophesy to you, saying, Behold, the vessels of the LORD's house shall now shortly be brought again from Babylon: for they prophesy a lie to you.[17] Listen not to them; serve the king of Babylon, and live: why should this city be laid waste?[18] But if they be prophets, and if the word of the LORD be with them, let them now make intercession to the LORD of hosts, that the vessels which are left in the house of the LORD, and in the house of the king of Judah, and at Jerusalem, go not to Babylon. ¶[19] For thus says the LORD of hosts concerning the pillars, and concerning the sea, and concerning the bases, and concerning the residue of the vessels that remain in this city.[20] Which Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon took not, when he carried away captive Jeconiah the son of Jehoiakim king of Judah from Jerusalem to Babylon, and all the nobles of Judah and Jerusalem;[21] Yes, thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, concerning the vessels that remain in the house of the LORD, and in the house of the king of Judah and of Jerusalem;[22] They shall be carried to Babylon, and there shall they be until the day that I visit them, says the LORD; then will I bring them up, and restore them to this place.

[1] And it came to pass the same year, in the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah king of Judah, in the fourth year, and in the fifth month, that Hananiah the son of Azur the prophet, which was of Gibeon, spoke to me in the house of the LORD, in the presence of the priests and of all the people, saying,

[2] Thus speaks the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, saying, I have broken the yoke of the king of Babylon.[3] Within two full years will I bring again into this place all the vessels of the LORD's house, that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon took away from this place, and carried them to Babylon:[4] And I will bring again to this place Jeconiah the son of Jehoiakim king of Judah, with all the captives of Judah, that went into Babylon, says the LORD: for I will break the yoke of the king of Babylon. ¶[5] Then the prophet Jeremiah said to the prophet Hananiah in the presence of the priests, and in the presence of all the people that stood in the house of the LORD,[6] Even the prophet Jeremiah said, Amen: the LORD do so: the LORD perform your words which you have prophesied, to bring again the vessels of the LORD's house, and all that is carried away captive, from Babylon into this place.[7] Nevertheless hear you now this word that I speak in your ears, and in the ears of all the people;[8] The prophets that have been before me and before you of old prophesied both against many countries, and against great kingdoms, of war, and of evil, and of pestilence.[9] The prophet which prophesies of peace, when the word of the prophet shall come to pass, then shall the prophet be known, that the LORD has truly sent him. ¶[10] Then Hananiah the prophet took the yoke from off the prophet Jeremiah's neck, and broke it.[11] And Hananiah spoke in the presence of all the people, saying, Thus says the LORD; Even so will I break the yoke of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon from the neck of all nations within the space of two full years. And the prophet Jeremiah went his way. ¶[12] Then the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah the prophet, after that Hananiah the prophet had broken the yoke from off the neck of the prophet Jeremiah, saying,[13] Go and tell Hananiah, saying, Thus says the LORD; You have broken the yokes of wood; but you shall make for them yokes of iron.[14] For thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel; I have put a yoke of iron on the neck of all these nations, that they may serve Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon; and they shall serve him: and I have given him the beasts of the field also. ¶[15] Then said the prophet Jeremiah to Hananiah the prophet, Hear now, Hananiah; The LORD has not sent you; but you make this people to trust in a lie.[16] Therefore thus says the LORD; Behold, I will cast you from off the face of the earth: this year you shall die, because you have taught rebellion against the LORD.[17] So Hananiah the prophet died the same year in the seventh month.

[1] Now these are the words of the letter that Jeremiah the prophet sent from Jerusalem to the residue of the elders which were carried away captives, and to the priests, and to the prophets, and to all the people whom Nebuchadnezzar had carried away captive from Jerusalem to Babylon;

[2] (After that Jeconiah the king, and the queen, and the eunuchs, the princes of Judah and Jerusalem, and the carpenters, and the smiths, were departed from Jerusalem;)[3] By the hand of Elasah the son of Shaphan, and Gemariah the son of Hilkiah, (whom Zedekiah king of Judah sent to Babylon to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon) saying,[4] Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, to all that are carried away captives, whom I have caused to be carried away from Jerusalem to Babylon;[5] Build you houses, and dwell in them; and plant gardens, and eat the fruit of them;[6] Take you wives, and beget sons and daughters; and take wives for your sons, and give your daughters to husbands, that they may bear sons and daughters; that you may be increased there, and not diminished.[7] And seek the peace of the city where I have caused you to be carried away captives, and pray to the LORD for it: for in the peace thereof shall you have peace. ¶[8] For thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel; Let not your prophets and your diviners, that be in the middle of you, deceive you, neither listen to your dreams which you cause to be dreamed.[9] For they prophesy falsely to you in my name: I have not sent them, says the LORD. ¶[10] For thus says the LORD, That after seventy years be accomplished at Babylon I will visit you, and perform my good word toward you, in causing you to return to this place.[11] For I know the thoughts that I think toward you, says the LORD, thoughts of peace, and not of evil, to give you an expected end.[12] Then shall you call on me, and you shall go and pray to me, and I will listen to you.[13] And you shall seek me, and find me, when you shall search for me with all your heart.[14] And I will be found of you, said the LORD: and I will turn away your captivity, and I will gather you from all the nations, and from all the places where I have driven you, says the LORD; and I will bring you again into the place from where I caused you to be carried away captive. ¶[15] Because you have said, The LORD has raised us up prophets in Babylon;[16] Know that thus says the LORD of the king that sits on the throne of David, and of all the people that dwells in this city, and of your brothers that are not gone forth with you into captivity;[17] Thus says the LORD of hosts; Behold, I will send on them the sword, the famine, and the pestilence, and will make them like vile figs, that cannot be eaten, they are so evil.[18] And I will persecute them with the sword, with the famine, and with the pestilence, and will deliver them to be removed to all the kingdoms of the earth, to be a curse, and an astonishment, and an hissing, and a reproach, among all the nations where I have driven them:[19] Because they have not listened to my words, says the LORD, which I sent to them by my servants the prophets, rising up early and sending them; but you would not hear, said the LORD. ¶[20] Hear you therefore the word of the LORD, all you of the captivity, whom I have sent from Jerusalem to Babylon:[21] Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, of Ahab the son of Kolaiah, and of Zedekiah the son of Maaseiah, which prophesy a lie to you in my name; Behold, I will deliver them into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon; and he shall slay them before your eyes;[22] And of them shall be taken up a curse by all the captivity of Judah which are in Babylon, saying, The LORD make you like Zedekiah and like Ahab, whom the king of Babylon roasted in the fire;[23] Because they have committed villainy in Israel, and have committed adultery with their neighbors' wives, and have spoken lying words in my name, which I have not commanded them; even I know, and am a witness, says the LORD. ¶[24] Thus shall you also speak to Shemaiah the Nehelamite, saying,[25] Thus speaks the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, saying, Because you have sent letters in your name to all the people that are at Jerusalem, and to Zephaniah the son of Maaseiah the priest, and to all the priests, saying,[26] The LORD has made you priest in the stead of Jehoiada the priest, that you should be officers in the house of the LORD, for every man that is mad, and makes himself a prophet, that you should put him in prison, and in the stocks.[27] Now therefore why have you not reproved Jeremiah of Anathoth, which makes himself a prophet to you?[28] For therefore he sent to us in Babylon, saying, This captivity is long: build you houses, and dwell in them; and plant gardens, and eat the fruit of them.[29] And Zephaniah the priest read this letter in the ears of Jeremiah the prophet. ¶[30] Then came the word of the LORD to Jeremiah, saying,[31] Send to all them of the captivity, saying, Thus says the LORD concerning Shemaiah the Nehelamite; Because that Shemaiah has prophesied to you, and I sent him not, and he caused you to trust in a lie:[32] Therefore thus says the LORD; Behold, I will punish Shemaiah the Nehelamite, and his seed: he shall not have a man to dwell among this people; neither shall he behold the good that I will do for my people, said the LORD; because he has taught rebellion against the LORD.

[1] The word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD, saying,

[2] Thus speaks the LORD God of Israel, saying, Write you all the words that I have spoken to you in a book.[3] For, see, the days come, says the LORD, that I will bring again the captivity of my people Israel and Judah, said the LORD: and I will cause them to return to the land that I gave to their fathers, and they shall possess it. ¶[4] And these are the words that the LORD spoke concerning Israel and concerning Judah.[5] For thus says the LORD; We have heard a voice of trembling, of fear, and not of peace.[6] Ask you now, and see whether a man does travail with child? why do I see every man with his hands on his loins, as a woman in travail, and all faces are turned into paleness?[7] Alas! for that day is great, so that none is like it: it is even the time of Jacob's trouble, but he shall be saved out of it.[8] For it shall come to pass in that day, says the LORD of hosts, that I will break his yoke from off your neck, and will burst your bonds, and strangers shall no more serve themselves of him:[9] But they shall serve the LORD their God, and David their king, whom I will raise up to them. ¶[10] Therefore fear you not, O my servant Jacob, says the LORD; neither be dismayed, O Israel: for, see, I will save you from afar, and your seed from the land of their captivity; and Jacob shall return, and shall be in rest, and be quiet, and none shall make him afraid.[11] For I am with you, says the LORD, to save you: though I make a full end of all nations where I have scattered you, yet I will not make a full end of you: but I will correct you in measure, and will not leave you altogether unpunished.[12] For thus says the LORD, Your bruise is incurable, and your wound is grievous.[13] There is none to plead your cause, that you may be bound up: you have no healing medicines.[14] All your lovers have forgotten you; they seek you not; for I have wounded you with the wound of an enemy, with the chastisement of a cruel one, for the multitude of your iniquity; because your sins were increased.[15] Why cry you for your affliction? your sorrow is incurable for the multitude of your iniquity: because your sins were increased, I have done these things to you.[16] Therefore all they that devour you shall be devoured; and all your adversaries, every one of them, shall go into captivity; and they that spoil you shall be a spoil, and all that prey on you will I give for a prey.[17] For I will restore health to you, and I will heal you of your wounds, says the LORD; because they called you an Outcast, saying, This is Zion, whom no man seeks after. ¶[18] Thus says the LORD;

Behold, I will bring again the captivity of Jacob's tents, and have mercy on his dwelling places; and the city shall be built on her own heap, and the palace shall remain after the manner thereof.[19] And out of them shall proceed thanksgiving and the voice of them that make merry: and I will multiply them, and they shall not be few; I will also glorify them, and they shall not be small.[20] Their children also shall be as aforetime, and their congregation shall be established before me, and I will punish all that oppress them.[21] And their nobles shall be of themselves, and their governor shall proceed from the middle of them; and I will cause him to draw near, and he shall approach to me: for who is this that engaged his heart to approach to me? says the LORD.[22] And you shall be my people, and I will be your God.[23] Behold, the whirlwind of the LORD goes forth with fury, a continuing whirlwind: it shall fall with pain on the head of the wicked.[24] The fierce anger of the LORD shall not return, until he has done it, and until he have performed the intents of his heart: in the latter days you shall consider it.

[1] At the same time, says the LORD, will I be the God of all the families of Israel, and they shall be my people.

[2] Thus says the LORD, The people which were left of the sword found grace in the wilderness; even Israel, when I went to cause him to rest.[3] The LORD has appeared of old to me, saying, Yes, I have loved you with an everlasting love: therefore with loving kindness have I drawn you.[4] Again I will build you, and you shall be built, O virgin of Israel: you shall again be adorned with your tabrets, and shall go forth in the dances of them that make merry.[5] You shall yet plant vines on the mountains of Samaria: the planters shall plant, and shall eat them as common things.[6] For there shall be a day, that the watchmen on the mount Ephraim shall cry, Arise you, and let us go up to Zion to the LORD our God.[7] For thus says the LORD; Sing with gladness for Jacob, and shout among the chief of the nations: publish you, praise you, and say, O LORD, save your people, the remnant of Israel.[8] Behold, I will bring them from the north country, and gather them from the coasts of the earth, and with them the blind and the lame, the woman with child and her that travails with child together: a great company shall return thither.[9] They shall come with weeping, and with supplications will I lead them: I will cause them to walk by the rivers of waters in a straight way, wherein they shall not stumble: for I am a father to Israel, and Ephraim is my firstborn. ¶[10] Hear the word of the LORD, O you nations, and declare it in the isles afar off, and say, He that scattered Israel will gather him, and keep him, as a shepherd does his flock.[11] For the LORD has redeemed Jacob, and ransomed him from the hand of him that was stronger than he.[12] Therefore they shall come and sing in the height of Zion, and shall flow together to the goodness of the LORD, for wheat, and for wine, and for oil, and for the young of the flock and of the herd: and their soul shall be as a watered garden; and they shall not sorrow any more at all.[13] Then shall the virgin rejoice in the dance, both young men and old together: for I will turn their mourning into joy, and will comfort them, and make them rejoice from their sorrow.[14] And I will satiate the soul of the priests with fatness, and my people shall be satisfied with my goodness, says the LORD. ¶[15] Thus says the LORD; A voice was heard in Ramah, lamentation, and bitter weeping; Rahel weeping for her children refused to be comforted for her children, because they were not.[16] Thus says the LORD; Refrain your voice from weeping, and your eyes from tears: for your work shall be rewarded, said the LORD; and they shall come again from the land of the enemy.[17] And there is hope in your end, says the LORD, that your children shall come again to their own border. ¶[18] I have surely heard Ephraim bemoaning himself thus; You have chastised me, and I was chastised, as a bullock unaccustomed to the yoke: turn you me, and I shall be turned; for you are the LORD my God.[19] Surely after that I was turned, I repented; and after that I was instructed, I smote on my thigh: I was ashamed, yes, even confounded, because I did bear the reproach of my youth.[20] Is Ephraim my dear son? is he a pleasant child? for since I spoke against him, I do earnestly remember him still: therefore my bowels are troubled for him; I will surely have mercy on him, says the LORD.[21] Set you up markers, make you high heaps:

set your heart toward the highway, even the way which you went: turn again, O virgin of Israel, turn again to these your cities. ¶[22] How long will you go about, O you backsliding daughter? for the LORD has created a new thing in the earth, A woman shall compass a man.[23] Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel; As yet they shall use this speech in the land of Judah and in the cities thereof, when I shall bring again their captivity; The LORD bless you, O habitation of justice, and mountain of holiness.[24] And there shall dwell in Judah itself, and in all the cities thereof together, farmers, and they that go forth with flocks.[25] For I have satiated the weary soul, and I have replenished every sorrowful soul.[26] On this I awaked, and beheld; and my sleep was sweet to me. ¶[27] Behold, the days come, says the LORD, that I will sow the house of Israel and the house of Judah with the seed of man, and with the seed of beast.[28] And it shall come to pass, that like as I have watched over them, to pluck up, and to break down, and to throw down, and to destroy, and to afflict; so will I watch over them, to build, and to plant, says the LORD.[29] In those days they shall say no more, The fathers have eaten a sour grape, and the children's teeth are set on edge.[30] But every one shall die for his own iniquity: every man that eats the sour grape, his teeth shall be set on edge. ¶[31] Behold, the days come, says the LORD, that I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel, and with the house of Judah:[32] Not according to the covenant that I made with their fathers in the day that I took them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt; which my covenant they broke, although I was an husband to them, says the LORD:[33] But this shall be the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel; After those days, says the LORD, I will put my law in their inward parts, and write it in their hearts; and will be their God, and they shall be my people.[34] And they shall teach no more every man his neighbor, and every man his brother, saying, Know the LORD: for they shall all know me, from the least of them to the greatest of them, says the LORD: for I will forgive their iniquity, and I will remember their sin no more. ¶[35] Thus says the LORD, which gives the sun for a light by day, and the ordinances of the moon and of the stars for a light by night, which divides the sea when the waves thereof roar; The LORD of hosts is his name:[36] If those ordinances depart from before me, says the LORD, then the seed of Israel also shall cease from being a nation before me for ever.[37] Thus says the LORD; If heaven above can be measured, and the foundations of the earth searched out beneath, I will also cast off all the seed of Israel for all that they have done, says the LORD. ¶[38] Behold, the days come, says the LORD, that the city shall be built to the LORD from the tower of Hananeel to the gate of the corner.[39] And the measuring line shall yet go forth over against it on the hill Gareb, and shall compass about to Goath.[40] And the whole valley of the dead bodies, and of the ashes, and all the fields to the brook of Kidron, to the corner of the horse gate toward the east, shall be holy to the LORD; it shall not be plucked up, nor thrown down any more for ever.

[1] The word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD in the tenth year of Zedekiah king of Judah, which was the eighteenth year of Nebuchadrezzar.

[2] For then the king of Babylon's army besieged Jerusalem: and Jeremiah the prophet was shut up in the court of the prison, which was in the king of Judah's house.[3] For Zedekiah king of Judah had shut him up, saying, Why do you prophesy, and say, Thus says the LORD, Behold, I will give this city into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he shall take it;[4] And Zedekiah king of Judah shall not escape out of the hand of the Chaldeans, but shall surely be delivered into the hand of the king of Babylon, and shall speak with him mouth to mouth, and his eyes shall behold his eyes;[5] And he shall lead Zedekiah to Babylon, and there shall he be until I visit him, says the LORD: though you fight with the Chaldeans, you shall not prosper. ¶[6] And Jeremiah said, The word of the LORD came to me, saying,[7] Behold, Hanameel the son of Shallum your uncle shall come to you saying, Buy you my field that is in Anathoth: for the right of redemption is your to buy it.[8] So Hanameel my uncle's son came to me in the court of the prison according to the word of the LORD, and said to me, Buy my field, I pray you, that is in Anathoth, which is in the country of Benjamin: for the right of inheritance is yours, and the redemption is yours; buy it for yourself. Then I knew that this was the word of the LORD.[9] And I bought the field of Hanameel my uncle's son, that was in Anathoth, and weighed him the money, even seventeen shekels of silver.[10] And I subscribed the evidence, and sealed it, and took witnesses, and weighed him the money in the balances.[11] So I took the evidence of the purchase, both that which was sealed according to the law and custom, and that which was open:[12] And I gave the evidence of the purchase to Baruch the son of Neriah, the son of Maaseiah, in the sight of Hanameel my uncle's son, and in the presence of the witnesses that subscribed the book of the purchase, before all the Jews that sat in the court of the prison. ¶[13] And I charged Baruch before them, saying,[14] Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel; Take these evidences, this evidence of the purchase, both which is sealed, and this evidence which is open; and put them in an earthen vessel, that they may continue many days.[15] For thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel; Houses and fields and vineyards shall be possessed again in this land. ¶[16] Now when I had delivered the evidence of the purchase to Baruch the son of Neriah, I prayed to the LORD, saying,[17] Ah Lord GOD! behold, you have made the heaven and the earth by your great power and stretched out arm, and there is nothing too hard for you:[18] You show loving kindness to thousands, and recompense the iniquity of the fathers into the bosom of their children after them: the Great, the Mighty God, the LORD of hosts, is his name,[19] Great in counsel, and mighty in work: for your eyes are open on all the ways of the sons of men: to give every one according to his ways, and according to the fruit of his doings:[20] Which have set signs and wonders in the land of Egypt, even to this day, and in Israel, and among other men; and have made you a name, as at this day;[21] And have brought forth your people Israel out of the land of Egypt with signs, and with wonders, and with a strong hand, and with a stretched out arm, and with great terror;[22] And have given them this land, which you did swear to their fathers to give them, a land flowing with milk and honey;[23] And they came in, and possessed it; but they obeyed not your voice, neither walked in your law; they have done nothing of all that you commanded them to do: therefore you have caused all this evil to come on them:[24] Behold the mounts, they are come to the city to take it; and the city is given into the hand of the Chaldeans, that fight against it, because of the sword, and of the famine, and of the pestilence: and what you have spoken is come to pass; and, behold, you see it.[25] And you have said to me, O Lord GOD, Buy you the field for money, and take witnesses; for the city is given into the hand of the Chaldeans. ¶[26] Then came the word of the LORD to Jeremiah, saying,[27] Behold, I am the LORD, the God of all flesh: is there any thing too hard for me?[28] Therefore thus says the LORD; Behold, I will give this city into the hand of the Chaldeans, and into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, and he shall take it:[29] And the Chaldeans, that fight against this city, shall come and set fire on this city, and burn it with the houses, on whose roofs they have offered incense to Baal, and poured out drink offerings to other gods, to provoke me to anger.[30] For the children of Israel and the children of Judah have only done evil before me from their youth: for the children of Israel have only provoked me to anger with the work of their hands, says the LORD.[31] For this city has been to me as a provocation of my anger and of my fury from the day that they built it even to this day; that I should remove it from before my face,[32] Because of all the evil of the children of Israel and of the children of Judah, which they have done to provoke me to anger, they, their kings, their princes, their priests, and their prophets, and the men of Judah, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem.[33] And they have turned to me the back, and not the face: though I taught them, rising up early and teaching them, yet they have not listened to receive instruction.[34] But they set their abominations in the house, which is called by my name, to defile it.[35] And they built the high places of Baal, which are in the valley of the son of Hinnom, to cause their sons and their daughters to pass through the fire to Molech; which I commanded them not, neither came it into my mind, that they should do this abomination, to cause Judah to sin. ¶[36] And now therefore thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, concerning this city, whereof you say, It shall be delivered into the hand of the king of Babylon by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence;[37] Behold, I will gather them out of all countries, where I have driven them in my anger, and in my fury, and in great wrath; and I will bring them again to this place, and I will cause them to dwell safely:[38] And they shall be my people, and I will be their God:[39] And I will give them one heart, and one way, that they may fear me for ever, for the good of them, and of their children after them:[40] And I will make an everlasting covenant with them, that I will not turn away from them, to do them good; but I will put my fear in their hearts, that they shall not depart from me.[41] Yes, I will rejoice over them to do them good, and I will plant them in this land assuredly with my whole heart and with my whole soul.[42] For thus says the LORD; Like as I have brought all this great evil on this people, so will I bring on them all the good that I have promised them.[43] And fields shall be bought in this land, whereof you say, It is desolate without man or beast; it is given into the hand of the Chaldeans.[44] Men shall buy fields for money, and subscribe evidences, and seal them, and take witnesses in the land of Benjamin, and in the places about Jerusalem, and in the cities of Judah, and in the cities of the mountains, and in the cities of the valley, and in the cities of the south: for I will cause their captivity to return, says the LORD.

[1] Moreover the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah the second time, while he was yet shut up in the court of the prison, saying,

[2] Thus says the LORD the maker thereof, the LORD that formed it, to establish it; the LORD is his name;[3] Call to me, and I will answer you, and show you great and mighty things, which you know not.[4] For thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, concerning the houses of this city, and concerning the houses of the kings of Judah, which are thrown down by the mounts, and by the sword;[5] They come to fight with the Chaldeans, but it is to fill them with the dead bodies of men, whom I have slain in my anger and in my fury, and for all whose wickedness I have hid my face from this city.[6] Behold, I will bring it health and cure, and I will cure them, and will reveal to them the abundance of peace and truth.[7] And I will cause the captivity of Judah and the captivity of Israel to return, and will build them, as at the first.[8] And I will cleanse them from all their iniquity, whereby they have sinned against me; and I will pardon all their iniquities, whereby they have sinned, and whereby they have transgressed against me. ¶[9] And it shall be to me a name of joy, a praise and an honor before all the nations of the earth, which shall hear all the good that I do to them: and they shall fear and tremble for all the goodness and for all the prosperity that I procure to it.[10] Thus says the LORD; Again there shall be heard in this place, which you say shall be desolate without man and without beast, even in the cities of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem, that are desolate, without man, and without inhabitant, and without beast,[11] The voice of joy, and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom, and the voice of the bride, the voice of them that shall say, Praise the LORD of hosts: for the LORD is good; for his mercy endures for ever: and of them that shall bring the sacrifice of praise into the house of the LORD. For I will cause to return the captivity of the land, as at the first, says the LORD.[12] Thus says the LORD of hosts; Again in this place, which is desolate without man and without beast, and in all the cities thereof, shall be an habitation of shepherds causing their flocks to lie down.[13] In the cities of the mountains, in the cities of the vale, and in the cities of the south, and in the land of Benjamin, and in the places about Jerusalem, and in the cities of Judah, shall the flocks pass again under the hands of him that tells them, says the LORD.[14] Behold, the days come, says the LORD, that I will perform that good thing which I have promised to the house of Israel and to the house of Judah. ¶[15] In those days, and at that time, will I cause the Branch of righteousness to grow up to David; and he shall execute judgment and righteousness in the land.[16] In those days shall Judah be saved, and Jerusalem shall dwell safely: and this is the name with which she shall be called, The LORD our righteousness. ¶[17] For thus says the LORD; David shall never want a man to sit on the throne of the house of Israel;[18] Neither shall the priests the Levites want a man before me to offer burnt offerings, and to kindle meat offerings, and to do sacrifice continually. ¶[19] And the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah, saying,[20] Thus says the LORD; If you can break my covenant of the day, and my covenant of the night, and that there should not be day and night in their season;[21] Then may also my covenant be broken with David my servant, that he should not have a son to reign on his throne; and with the Levites the priests, my ministers.[22] As the host of heaven cannot be numbered, neither the sand of the sea measured: so will I multiply the seed of David my servant, and the Levites that minister to me.[23] Moreover the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah, saying,[24] Consider you not what this people have spoken, saying, The two families which the LORD has chosen, he has even cast them off? thus they have despised my people, that they should be no more a nation before them.[25] Thus says the LORD; If my covenant be not with day and night, and if I have not appointed the ordinances of heaven and earth;[26] Then will I cast away the seed of Jacob and David my servant, so that I will not take any of his seed to be rulers over the seed of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob: for I will cause their captivity to return, and have mercy on them.

[1] The word which came to Jeremiah from the LORD, when Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and all his army, and all the kingdoms of the earth of his dominion, and all the people, fought against Jerusalem, and against all the cities thereof, saying,

[2] Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel; Go and speak to Zedekiah king of Judah, and tell him, Thus said the LORD; Behold, I will give this city into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he shall burn it with fire:[3] And you shall not escape out of his hand, but shall surely be taken, and delivered into his hand; and your eyes shall behold the eyes of the king of Babylon, and he shall speak with you mouth to mouth, and you shall go to Babylon.[4] Yet hear the word of the LORD, O Zedekiah king of Judah; Thus says the LORD of you, You shall not die by the sword:[5] But you shall die in peace: and with the burnings of your fathers, the former kings which were before you, so shall they burn odors for you; and they will lament you, saying, Ah lord! for I have pronounced the word, says the LORD.[6] Then Jeremiah the prophet spoke all these words to Zedekiah king of Judah in Jerusalem,[7] When the king of Babylon's army fought against Jerusalem, and against all the cities of Judah that were left, against Lachish, and against Azekah: for these defended cities remained of the cities of Judah. ¶[8] This is the word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD, after that the king Zedekiah had made a covenant with all the people which were at Jerusalem, to proclaim liberty to them;[9] That every man should let his manservant, and every man his maidservant, being an Hebrew or an Hebrewess, go free; that none should serve himself of them, to wit, of a Jew his brother.[10] Now when all the princes, and all the people, which had entered into the covenant, heard that every one should let his manservant, and every one his maidservant, go free, that none should serve themselves of them any more, then they obeyed, and let them go.[11] But afterward they turned, and caused the servants and the handmaids, whom they had let go free, to return, and brought them into subjection for servants and for handmaids. ¶[12] Therefore the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah from the LORD, saying,[13] Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel; I made a covenant with your fathers in the day that I brought them forth out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of slaves, saying,[14] At the end of seven years let you go every man his brother an Hebrew, which has been sold to you; and when he has served you six years, you shall let him go free from you: but your fathers listened not to me, neither inclined their ear.[15] And you were now turned, and had done right in my sight, in proclaiming liberty every man to his neighbor; and you had made a covenant before me in the house which is called by my name:[16] But you turned and polluted my name, and caused every man his servant, and every man his handmaid, whom he had set at liberty at their pleasure, to return, and brought them into subjection, to be to you for servants and for handmaids.[17] Therefore thus says the LORD; You have not listened to me, in proclaiming liberty, every one to his brother, and every man to his neighbor: behold, I proclaim a liberty for you, said the LORD, to the sword, to the pestilence, and to the famine; and I will make you to be removed into all the kingdoms of the earth.[18] And I will give the men that have transgressed my covenant, which have not performed the words of the covenant which they had made before me, when they cut the calf in two, and passed between the parts thereof,[19] The princes of Judah, and the princes of Jerusalem, the eunuchs, and the priests, and all the people of the land, which passed between the parts of the calf;[20] I will even give them into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of them that seek their life: and their dead bodies shall be for meat to the fowls of the heaven, and to the beasts of the earth.[21] And Zedekiah king of Judah and his princes will I give into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of them that seek their life, and into the hand of the king of Babylon's army, which are gone up from you.[22] Behold, I will command, says the LORD, and cause them to return to this city; and they shall fight against it, and take it, and burn it with fire: and I will make the cities of Judah a desolation without an inhabitant.

[1] The word which came to Jeremiah from the LORD in the days of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah king of Judah, saying,

[2] Go to the house of the Rechabites, and speak to them, and bring them into the house of the LORD, into one of the chambers, and give them wine to drink.[3] Then I took Jaazaniah the son of Jeremiah, the son of Habaziniah, and his brothers, and all his sons, and the whole house of the Rechabites;[4] And I brought them into the house of the LORD, into the chamber of the sons of Hanan, the son of Igdaliah, a man of God, which was by the chamber of the princes, which was above the chamber of Maaseiah the son of Shallum, the keeper of the door:[5] And I set before the sons of the house of the Rechabites pots full of wine, and cups, and I said to them, Drink you wine.[6] But they said, We will drink no wine: for Jonadab the son of Rechab our father commanded us, saying, You shall drink no wine, neither you, nor your sons for ever:[7] Neither shall you build house, nor sow seed, nor plant vineyard, nor have any: but all your days you shall dwell in tents; that you may live many days in the land where you be strangers.[8] Thus have we obeyed the voice of Jonadab the son of Rechab our father in all that he has charged us, to drink no wine all our days, we, our wives, our sons, nor our daughters;[9] Nor to build houses for us to dwell in: neither have we vineyard, nor field, nor seed:[10] But we have dwelled in tents, and have obeyed, and done according to all that Jonadab our father commanded us.[11] But it came to pass, when Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon came up into the land, that we said, Come, and let us go to Jerusalem for fear of the army of the Chaldeans, and for fear of the army of the Syrians: so we dwell at Jerusalem. ¶[12] Then came the word of the LORD to Jeremiah, saying,[13] Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel; Go and tell the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, Will you not receive instruction to listen to my words? said the LORD.[14] The words of Jonadab the son of Rechab, that he commanded his sons not to drink wine, are performed; for to this day they drink none, but obey their father's commandment: notwithstanding I have spoken to you, rising early and speaking; but you listened not to me.[15] I have sent also to you all my servants the prophets, rising up early and sending them, saying, Return you now every man from his evil way, and amend your doings, and go not after other gods to serve them, and you shall dwell in the land which I have given to you and to your fathers: but you have not inclined your ear, nor listened to me.[16] Because the sons of Jonadab the son of Rechab have performed the commandment of their father, which he commanded them; but this people has not listened to me:[17] Therefore thus says the LORD God of hosts, the God of Israel; Behold, I will bring on Judah and on all the inhabitants of Jerusalem all the evil that I have pronounced against them: because I have spoken to them, but they have not heard; and I have called to them, but they have not answered. ¶[18] And Jeremiah said to the house of the Rechabites, Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel; Because you have obeyed the commandment of Jonadab your father, and kept all his precepts, and done according to all that he has commanded you:[19] Therefore thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel; Jonadab the son of Rechab shall not want a man to stand before me for ever.

[1] And it came to pass in the fourth year of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah king of Judah, that this word came to Jeremiah from the LORD, saying,

[2] Take you a roll of a book, and write therein all the words that I have spoken to you against Israel, and against Judah, and against all the nations, from the day I spoke to you, from the days of Josiah, even to this day.[3] It may be that the house of Judah will hear all the evil which I purpose to do to them; that they may return every man from his evil way; that I may forgive their iniquity and their sin.[4] Then Jeremiah called Baruch the son of Neriah: and Baruch wrote from the mouth of Jeremiah all the words of the LORD, which he had spoken to him, on a roll of a book.[5] And Jeremiah commanded Baruch, saying, I am shut up; I cannot go into the house of the LORD:[6] Therefore go you, and read in the roll, which you have written from my mouth, the words of the LORD in the ears of the people in the LORD's house on the fasting day: and also you shall read them in the ears of all Judah that come out of their cities.[7] It may be they will present their supplication before the LORD, and will return every one from his evil way: for great is the anger and the fury that the LORD has pronounced against this people.[8] And Baruch the son of Neriah did according to all that Jeremiah the prophet commanded him, reading in the book the words of the LORD in the LORD's house.[9] And it came to pass in the fifth year of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah king of Judah, in the ninth month, that they proclaimed a fast before the LORD to all the people in Jerusalem, and to all the people that came from the cities of Judah to Jerusalem.[10] Then read Baruch in the book the words of Jeremiah in the house of the LORD, in the chamber of Gemariah the son of Shaphan the scribe, in the higher court, at the entry of the new gate of the LORD's house, in the ears of all the people. ¶[11] When Michaiah the son of Gemariah, the son of Shaphan, had heard out of the book all the words of the LORD,[12] Then he went down into the king's house, into the scribe's chamber: and, see, all the princes sat there, even Elishama the scribe, and Delaiah the son of Shemaiah, and Elnathan the son of Achbor, and Gemariah the son of Shaphan, and Zedekiah the son of Hananiah, and all the princes.[13] Then Michaiah declared to them all the words that he had heard, when Baruch read the book in the ears of the people.[14] Therefore all the princes sent Jehudi the son of Nethaniah, the son of Shelemiah, the son of Cushi, to Baruch, saying, Take in your hand the roll wherein you have read in the ears of the people, and come. So Baruch the son of Neriah took the roll in his hand, and came to them.[15] And they said to him, Sit down now, and read it in our ears. So Baruch read it in their ears.[16] Now it came to pass, when they had heard all the words, they were afraid both one and other, and said to Baruch, We will surely tell the king of all these words.[17] And they asked Baruch, saying, Tell us now, How did you write all these words at his mouth?[18] Then Baruch answered them, He pronounced all these words to me with his mouth, and I wrote them with ink in the book.[19] Then said the princes to Baruch, Go, hide you, you and Jeremiah; and let no man know where you be. ¶[20] And they went in to the king into the court, but they laid up the roll in the chamber of Elishama the scribe, and told all the words in the ears of the king.[21] So the king sent Jehudi to fetch the roll: and he took it out of Elishama the scribe's chamber. And Jehudi read it in the ears of the king, and in the ears of all the princes which stood beside the king.[22] Now the king sat in the winter house in the ninth month: and there was a fire on the hearth burning before him.[23] And it came to pass, that when Jehudi had read three or four leaves, he cut it with the penknife, and cast it into the fire that was on the hearth, until all the roll was consumed in the fire that was on the hearth.[24] Yet they were not afraid, nor rent their garments, neither the king, nor any of his servants that heard all these words.[25] Nevertheless Elnathan and Delaiah and Gemariah had made intercession to the king that he would not burn the roll: but he would not hear them.[26] But the king commanded Jerahmeel the son of Hammelech, and Seraiah the son of Azriel, and Shelemiah the son of Abdeel, to take Baruch the scribe and Jeremiah the prophet: but the LORD hid them. ¶[27] Then the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah, after that the king had burned the roll, and the words which Baruch wrote at the mouth of Jeremiah, saying,[28] Take you again another roll, and write in it all the former words that were in the first roll, which Jehoiakim the king of Judah has burned.[29] And you shall say to Jehoiakim king of Judah, Thus says the LORD; You have burned this roll, saying, Why have you written therein, saying, The king of Babylon shall certainly come and destroy this land, and shall cause to cease from there man and beast?[30] Therefore thus says the LORD of Jehoiakim king of Judah; He shall have none to sit on the throne of David: and his dead body shall be cast out in the day to the heat, and in the night to the frost.[31] And I will punish him and his seed and his servants for their iniquity; and I will bring on them, and on the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and on the men of Judah, all the evil that I have pronounced against them; but they listened not. ¶[32] Then took Jeremiah another roll, and gave it to Baruch the scribe, the son of Neriah; who wrote therein from the mouth of Jeremiah all the words of the book which Jehoiakim king of Judah had burned in the fire: and there were added besides to them many like words.

[1] And king Zedekiah the son of Josiah reigned instead of Coniah the son of Jehoiakim, whom Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon made king in the land of Judah.

[2] But neither he, nor his servants, nor the people of the land, did listen to the words of the LORD, which he spoke by the prophet Jeremiah.[3] And Zedekiah the king sent Jehucal the son of Shelemiah and Zephaniah the son of Maaseiah the priest to the prophet Jeremiah, saying, Pray now to the LORD our God for us.[4] Now Jeremiah came in and went out among the people: for they had not put him into prison.[5] Then Pharaoh's army was come forth out of Egypt: and when the Chaldeans that besieged Jerusalem heard tidings of them, they departed from Jerusalem. ¶[6] Then came the word of the LORD to the prophet Jeremiah saying,[7] Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel; Thus shall you say to the king of Judah, that sent you to me to inquire of me; Behold, Pharaoh's army, which is come forth to help you, shall return to Egypt into their own land.[8] And the Chaldeans shall come again, and fight against this city, and take it, and burn it with fire.[9] Thus says the LORD; Deceive not yourselves, saying, The Chaldeans shall surely depart from us: for they shall not depart.[10] For though you had smitten the whole army of the Chaldeans that fight against you, and there remained but wounded men among them, yet should they rise up every man in his tent, and burn this city with fire. ¶[11] And it came to pass, that when the army of the Chaldeans was broken up from Jerusalem for fear of Pharaoh's army,[12] Then Jeremiah went forth out of Jerusalem to go into the land of Benjamin, to separate himself there in the middle of the people.[13] And when he was in the gate of Benjamin, a captain of the ward was there, whose name was Irijah, the son of Shelemiah, the son of Hananiah; and he took Jeremiah the prophet, saying, You fall away to the Chaldeans.[14] Then said Jeremiah, It is false; I fall not away to the Chaldeans. But he listened not to him: so Irijah took Jeremiah, and brought him to the princes.[15] Why the princes were wroth with Jeremiah, and smote him, and put him in prison in the house of Jonathan the scribe: for they had made that the prison. ¶[16] When Jeremiah was entered into the dungeon, and into the cabins, and Jeremiah had remained there many days;[17] Then Zedekiah the king sent, and took him out: and the king asked him secretly in his house, and said, Is there any word from the LORD? And Jeremiah said, There is: for, said he, you shall be delivered into the hand of the king of Babylon.[18] Moreover Jeremiah said to king Zedekiah, What have I offended against you, or against your servants, or against this people, that you have put me in prison?[19] Where are now your prophets which prophesied to you, saying, The king of Babylon shall not come against you, nor against this land?[20] Therefore hear now, I pray you, O my lord the king: let my supplication, I pray you, be accepted before you; that you cause me not to return to the house of Jonathan the scribe, lest I die there.[21] Then Zedekiah the king commanded that they should commit Jeremiah into the court of the prison, and that they should give him daily a piece of bread out of the bakers' street, until all the bread in the city were spent. Thus Jeremiah remained in the court of the prison.

[1] Then Shephatiah the son of Mattan, and Gedaliah the son of Pashur, and Jucal the son of Shelemiah, and Pashur the son of Malchiah, heard the words that Jeremiah had spoken to all the people, saying,

[2] Thus says the LORD, He that remains in this city shall die by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence: but he that goes forth to the Chaldeans shall live; for he shall have his life for a prey, and shall live.[3] Thus says the LORD, This city shall surely be given into the hand of the king of Babylon's army, which shall take it.[4] Therefore the princes said to the king, We beseech you, let this man be put to death: for thus he weakens the hands of the men of war that remain in this city, and the hands of all the people, in speaking such words to them: for this man seeks not the welfare of this people, but the hurt.[5] Then Zedekiah the king said, Behold, he is in your hand: for the king is not he that can do any thing against you.[6] Then took they Jeremiah, and cast him into the dungeon of Malchiah the son of Hammelech, that was in the court of the prison: and they let down Jeremiah with cords. And in the dungeon there was no water, but mire: so Jeremiah sunk in the mire. ¶[7] Now when Ebedmelech the Ethiopian, one of the eunuchs which was in the king's house, heard that they had put Jeremiah in the dungeon; the king then sitting in the gate of Benjamin;[8] Ebedmelech went forth out of the king's house, and spoke to the king saying,[9] My lord the king, these men have done evil in all that they have done to Jeremiah the prophet, whom they have cast into the dungeon; and he is like to die for hunger in the place where he is: for there is no more bread in the city.[10] Then the king commanded Ebedmelech the Ethiopian, saying, Take from hence thirty men with you, and take up Jeremiah the prophet out of the dungeon, before he die.[11] So Ebedmelech took the men with him, and went into the house of the king under the treasury, and took there old cast clouts and old rotten rags, and let them down by cords into the dungeon to Jeremiah.[12] And Ebedmelech the Ethiopian said to Jeremiah, Put now these old cast clouts and rotten rags under your armholes under the cords. And Jeremiah did so.[13] So they drew up Jeremiah with cords, and took him up out of the dungeon: and Jeremiah remained in the court of the prison. ¶[14] Then Zedekiah the king sent, and took Jeremiah the prophet to him into the third entry that is in the house of the LORD: and the king said to Jeremiah, I will ask you a thing; hide nothing from me.[15] Then Jeremiah said to Zedekiah, If I declare it to you, will you not surely put me to death? and if I give you counsel, will you not listen to me?[16] So Zedekiah the king swore secretly to Jeremiah, saying, As the LORD lives, that made us this soul, I will not put you to death, neither will I give you into the hand of these men that seek your life.[17] Then said Jeremiah to Zedekiah, Thus says the LORD, the God of hosts, the God of Israel; If you will assuredly go forth to the king of Babylon's princes, then your soul shall live, and this city shall not be burned with fire; and you shall live, and your house:[18] But if you will not go forth to the king of Babylon's princes, then shall this city be given into the hand of the Chaldeans, and they shall burn it with fire, and you shall not escape out of their hand.[19] And Zedekiah the king said to Jeremiah, I am afraid of the Jews that are fallen to the Chaldeans, lest they deliver me into their hand, and they mock me.[20] But Jeremiah said, They shall not deliver you. Obey, I beseech you, the voice of the LORD, which I speak to you: so it shall be well to you, and your soul shall live.[21] But if you refuse to go forth, this is the word that the LORD has showed me:[22] And, behold, all the women that are left in the king of Judah's house shall be brought forth to the king of Babylon's princes, and those women shall say, Your friends have set you on, and have prevailed against you: your feet are sunk in the mire, and they are turned away back.[23] So they shall bring out all your wives and your children to the Chaldeans: and you shall not escape out of their hand, but shall be taken by the hand of the king of Babylon: and you shall cause this city to be burned with fire. ¶[24] Then said Zedekiah to Jeremiah, Let no man know of these words, and you shall not die.[25] But if the princes hear that I have talked with you, and they come to you, and say to you, Declare to us now what you have said to the king, hide it not from us, and we will not put you to death; also what the king said to you:[26] Then you shall say to them, I presented my supplication before the king, that he would not cause me to return to Jonathan's house, to die there.[27] Then came all the princes to Jeremiah, and asked him: and he told them according to all these words that the king had commanded. So they left off speaking with him; for the matter was not perceived.[28] So Jeremiah stayed in the court of the prison until the day that Jerusalem was taken: and he was there when Jerusalem was taken.

[1] In the ninth year of Zedekiah king of Judah, in the tenth month, came Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon and all his army against Jerusalem, and they besieged it.

[2] And in the eleventh year of Zedekiah, in the fourth month, the ninth day of the month, the city was broken up.[3] And all the princes of the king of Babylon came in, and sat in the middle gate, even Nergalsharezer, Samgarnebo, Sarsechim, Rabsaris, Nergalsharezer, Rabmag, with all the residue of the princes of the king of Babylon. ¶[4] And it came to pass, that when Zedekiah the king of Judah saw them, and all the men of war, then they fled, and went forth out of the city by night, by the way of the king's garden, by the gate between the two walls: and he went out the way of the plain.[5] But the Chaldeans' army pursued after them, and overtook Zedekiah in the plains of Jericho: and when they had taken him, they brought him up to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon to Riblah in the land of Hamath, where he gave judgment on him.[6] Then the king of Babylon slew the sons of Zedekiah in Riblah before his eyes: also the king of Babylon slew all the nobles of Judah.[7] Moreover he put out Zedekiah's eyes, and bound him with chains, to carry him to Babylon. ¶[8] And the Chaldeans burned the king's house, and the houses of the people, with fire, and broke down the walls of Jerusalem.[9] Then Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard carried away captive into Babylon the remnant of the people that remained in the city, and those that fell away, that fell to him, with the rest of the people that remained.[10] But Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard left of the poor of the people, which had nothing, in the land of Judah, and gave them vineyards and fields at the same time. ¶[11] Now Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon gave charge concerning Jeremiah to Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard, saying,[12] Take him, and look well to him, and do him no harm; but do to him even as he shall say to you.[13] So Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard sent, and Nebushasban, Rabsaris, and Nergalsharezer, Rabmag, and all the king of Babylon's princes;[14] Even they sent, and took Jeremiah out of the court of the prison, and committed him to Gedaliah the son of Ahikam the son of Shaphan, that he should carry him home: so he dwelled among the people. ¶[15] Now the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah, while he was shut up in the court of the prison, saying,[16] Go and speak to Ebedmelech the Ethiopian, saying, Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel; Behold, I will bring my words on this city for evil, and not for good; and they shall be accomplished in that day before you.[17] But I will deliver you in that day, says the LORD: and you shall not be given into the hand of the men of whom you are afraid.[18] For I will surely deliver you, and you shall not fall by the sword, but your life shall be for a prey to you: because you have put your trust in me, says the LORD.

[1] The word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD, after that Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard had let him go from Ramah, when he had taken him being bound in chains among all that were carried away captive of Jerusalem and Judah, which were carried away captive to Babylon.

[2] And the captain of the guard took Jeremiah, and said to him, The LORD your God has pronounced this evil on this place.[3] Now the LORD has brought it, and done according as he has said: because you have sinned against the LORD, and have not obeyed his voice, therefore this thing is come on you.[4] And now, behold, I loose you this day from the chains which were on your hand. If it seem good to you to come with me into Babylon, come; and I will look well to you: but if it seem ill to you to come with me into Babylon, forbear: behold, all the land is before you: where it seems good and convenient for you to go, thither go.[5] Now while he was not yet gone back, he said, Go back also to Gedaliah the son of Ahikam the son of Shaphan, whom the king of Babylon has made governor over the cities of Judah, and dwell with him among the people: or go wherever it seems convenient to you to go. So the captain of the guard gave him victuals and a reward, and let him go.[6] Then went Jeremiah to Gedaliah the son of Ahikam to Mizpah; and dwelled with him among the people that were left in the land. ¶[7] Now when all the captains of the forces which were in the fields, even they and their men, heard that the king of Babylon had made Gedaliah the son of Ahikam governor in the land, and had committed to him men, and women, and children, and of the poor of the land, of them that were not carried away captive to Babylon;[8] Then they came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, even Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, and Johanan and Jonathan the sons of Kareah, and Seraiah the son of Tanhumeth, and the sons of Ephai the Netophathite, and Jezaniah the son of a Maachathite, they and their men.[9] And Gedaliah the son of Ahikam the son of Shaphan swore to them and to their men, saying, Fear not to serve the Chaldeans: dwell in the land, and serve the king of Babylon, and it shall be well with you.[10] As for me, behold, I will dwell at Mizpah, to serve the Chaldeans, which will come to us: but you, gather you wine, and summer fruits, and oil, and put them in your vessels, and dwell in your cities that you have taken.[11] Likewise when all the Jews that were in Moab, and among the Ammonites, and in Edom, and that were in all the countries, heard that the king of Babylon had left a remnant of Judah, and that he had set over them Gedaliah the son of Ahikam the son of Shaphan;[12] Even all the Jews returned out of all places where they were driven, and came to the land of Judah, to Gedaliah, to Mizpah, and gathered wine and summer fruits very much. ¶[13] Moreover Johanan the son of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces that were in the fields, came to Gedaliah to Mizpah,[14] And said to him, Do you certainly know that Baalis the king of the Ammonites has sent Ishmael the son of Nethaniah to slay you? But Gedaliah the son of Ahikam believed them not.[15] Then Johanan the son of Kareah spoke to Gedaliah in Mizpah secretly saying, Let me go, I pray you, and I will slay Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, and no man shall know it: why should he slay you, that all the Jews which are gathered to you should be scattered, and the remnant in Judah perish?[16] But Gedaliah the son of Ahikam said to Johanan the son of Kareah, You shall not do this thing: for you speak falsely of Ishmael.

[1] Now it came to pass in the seventh month, that Ishmael the son of Nethaniah the son of Elishama, of the seed royal, and the princes of the king, even ten men with him, came to Gedaliah the son of Ahikam to Mizpah; and there they did eat bread together in Mizpah.

[2] Then arose Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, and the ten men that were with him, and smote Gedaliah the son of Ahikam the son of Shaphan with the sword, and slew him, whom the king of Babylon had made governor over the land.[3] Ishmael also slew all the Jews that were with him, even with Gedaliah, at Mizpah, and the Chaldeans that were found there, and the men of war.[4] And it came to pass the second day after he had slain Gedaliah, and no man knew it,[5] That there came certain from Shechem, from Shiloh, and from Samaria, even fourscore men, having their beards shaven, and their clothes rent, and having cut themselves, with offerings and incense in their hand, to bring them to the house of the LORD.[6] And Ishmael the son of Nethaniah went forth from Mizpah to meet them, weeping all along as he went: and it came to pass, as he met them, he said to them, Come to Gedaliah the son of Ahikam.[7] And it was so, when they came into the middle of the city, that Ishmael the son of Nethaniah slew them, and cast them into the middle of the pit, he, and the men that were with him.[8] But ten men were found among them that said to Ishmael, Slay us not: for we have treasures in the field, of wheat, and of barley, and of oil, and of honey. So he declined, and slew them not among their brothers.[9] Now the pit wherein Ishmael had cast all the dead bodies of the men, whom he had slain because of Gedaliah, was it which Asa the king had made for fear of Baasha king of Israel: and Ishmael the son of Nethaniah filled it with them that were slain.[10] Then Ishmael carried away captive all the residue of the people that were in Mizpah, even the king's daughters, and all the people that remained in Mizpah, whom Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard had committed to Gedaliah the son of Ahikam: and Ishmael the son of Nethaniah carried them away captive, and departed to go over to the Ammonites. ¶[11] But when Johanan the son of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces that were with him, heard of all the evil that Ishmael the son of Nethaniah had done,[12] Then they took all the men, and went to fight with Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, and found him by the great waters that are in Gibeon.[13] Now it came to pass, that when all the people which were with Ishmael saw Johanan the son of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces that were with him, then they were glad.[14] So all the people that Ishmael had carried away captive from Mizpah cast about and returned, and went to Johanan the son of Kareah.[15] But Ishmael the son of Nethaniah escaped from Johanan with eight men, and went to the Ammonites.[16] Then took Johanan the son of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces that were with him, all the remnant of the people whom he had recovered from Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, from Mizpah, after that he had slain Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, even mighty men of war, and the women, and the children, and the eunuchs, whom he had brought again from Gibeon:[17] And they departed, and dwelled in the habitation of Chimham, which is by Bethlehem, to go to enter into Egypt,[18] Because of the Chaldeans: for they were afraid of them, because Ishmael the son of Nethaniah had slain Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, whom the king of Babylon made governor in the land.

[1] Then all the captains of the forces, and Johanan the son of Kareah, and Jezaniah the son of Hoshaiah, and all the people from the least even to the greatest, came near,

[2] And said to Jeremiah the prophet, Let, we beseech you, our supplication be accepted before you, and pray for us to the LORD your God, even for all this remnant; (for we are left but a few of many, as your eyes do behold us:)[3] That the LORD your God may show us the way wherein we may walk, and the thing that we may do.[4] Then Jeremiah the prophet said to them, I have heard you; behold, I will pray to the LORD your God according to your words; and it shall come to pass, that whatever thing the LORD shall answer you, I will declare it to you; I will keep nothing back from you.[5] Then they said to Jeremiah, The LORD be a true and faithful witness between us, if we do not even according to all things for the which the LORD your God shall send you to us.[6] Whether it be good, or whether it be evil, we will obey the voice of the LORD our God, to whom we send you; that it may be well with us, when we obey the voice of the LORD our God. ¶[7] And it came to pass after ten days, that the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah.[8] Then called he Johanan the son of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces which were with him, and all the people from the least even to the greatest,[9] And said to them, Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, to whom you sent me to present your supplication before him;[10] If you will still abide in this land, then will I build you, and not pull you down, and I will plant you, and not pluck you up: for I repent me of the evil that I have done to you.[11] Be not afraid of the king of Babylon, of whom you are afraid; be not afraid of him, says the LORD: for I am with you to save you, and to deliver you from his hand.[12] And I will show mercies to you, that he may have mercy on you, and cause you to return to your own land. ¶[13] But if you say, We will not dwell in this land, neither obey the voice of the LORD your God,[14] Saying, No; but we will go into the land of Egypt, where we shall see no war, nor hear the sound of the trumpet, nor have hunger of bread; and there will we dwell:[15] And now therefore hear the word of the LORD, you remnant of Judah; Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel; If you wholly set your faces to enter into Egypt, and go to sojourn there;[16] Then it shall come to pass, that the sword, which you feared, shall overtake you there in the land of Egypt, and the famine, whereof you were afraid, shall follow close after you there in Egypt; and there you shall die.[17] So shall it be with all the men that set their faces to go into Egypt to sojourn there; they shall die by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence: and none of them shall remain or escape from the evil that I will bring on them.[18] For thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel; As my anger and my fury has been poured forth on the inhabitants of Jerusalem; so shall my fury be poured forth on you, when you shall enter into Egypt: and you shall be an execration, and an astonishment, and a curse, and a reproach; and you shall see this place no more. ¶[19] The LORD has said concerning you, O you remnant of Judah; Go you not into Egypt: know certainly that I have admonished you this day.[20] For you dissembled in your hearts, when you sent me to the LORD your God, saying, Pray for us to the LORD our God; and according to all that the LORD our God shall say, so declare to us, and we will do it.[21] And now I have this day declared it to you; but you have not obeyed the voice of the LORD your God, nor any thing for the which he has sent me to you.[22] Now therefore know certainly that you shall die by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, in the place where you desire to go and to sojourn.

[1] And it came to pass, that when Jeremiah had made an end of speaking to all the people all the words of the LORD their God, for which the LORD their God had sent him to them, even all these words,

[2] Then spoke Azariah the son of Hoshaiah, and Johanan the son of Kareah, and all the proud men, saying to Jeremiah, You speak falsely: the LORD our God has not sent you to say, Go not into Egypt to sojourn there:[3] But Baruch the son of Neriah sets you on against us, for to deliver us into the hand of the Chaldeans, that they might put us to death, and carry us away captives into Babylon.[4] So Johanan the son of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces, and all the people, obeyed not the voice of the LORD, to dwell in the land of Judah.[5] But Johanan the son of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces, took all the remnant of Judah, that were returned from all nations, where they had been driven, to dwell in the land of Judah;[6] Even men, and women, and children, and the king's daughters, and every person that Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard had left with Gedaliah the son of Ahikam the son of Shaphan, and Jeremiah the prophet, and Baruch the son of Neriah.[7] So they came into the land of Egypt: for they obeyed not the voice of the LORD: thus came they even to Tahpanhes. ¶[8] Then came the word of the LORD to Jeremiah in Tahpanhes, saying,[9] Take great stones in your hand, and hide them in the clay in the brick kiln, which is at the entry of Pharaoh's house in Tahpanhes, in the sight of the men of Judah;[10] And say to them, Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel; Behold, I will send and take Nebuchadrezzar the king of Babylon, my servant, and will set his throne on these stones that I have hid; and he shall spread his royal pavilion over them.[11] And when he comes, he shall smite the land of Egypt, and deliver such as are for death to death; and such as are for captivity to captivity; and such as are for the sword to the sword.[12] And I will kindle a fire in the houses of the gods of Egypt; and he shall burn them, and carry them away captives: and he shall array himself with the land of Egypt, as a shepherd puts on his garment; and he shall go forth from there in peace.[13] He shall break also the images of Bethshemesh, that is in the land of Egypt; and the houses of the gods of the Egyptians shall he burn with fire.

[1] The word that came to Jeremiah concerning all the Jews which dwell in the land of Egypt, which dwell at Migdol, and at Tahpanhes, and at Noph, and in the country of Pathros, saying,

[2] Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel; You have seen all the evil that I have brought on Jerusalem, and on all the cities of Judah; and, behold, this day they are a desolation, and no man dwells therein,[3] Because of their wickedness which they have committed to provoke me to anger, in that they went to burn incense, and to serve other gods, whom they knew not, neither they, you, nor your fathers.[4] However, I sent to you all my servants the prophets, rising early and sending them, saying, Oh, do not this abominable thing that I hate.[5] But they listened not, nor inclined their ear to turn from their wickedness, to burn no incense to other gods.[6] Why my fury and my anger was poured forth, and was kindled in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem; and they are wasted and desolate, as at this day.[7] Therefore now thus says the LORD, the God of hosts, the God of Israel; Why commit you this great evil against your souls, to cut off from you man and woman, child and suckling, out of Judah, to leave you none to remain;[8] In that you provoke me to wrath with the works of your hands, burning incense to other gods in the land of Egypt, where you be gone to dwell, that you might cut yourselves off, and that you might be a curse and a reproach among all the nations of the earth?[9] Have you forgotten the wickedness of your fathers, and the wickedness of the kings of Judah, and the wickedness of their wives, and your own wickedness, and the wickedness of your wives, which they have committed in the land of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem?[10] They are not humbled even to this day, neither have they feared, nor walked in my law, nor in my statutes, that I set before you and before your fathers. ¶[11] Therefore thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel; Behold, I will set my face against you for evil, and to cut off all Judah.[12] And I will take the remnant of Judah, that have set their faces to go into the land of Egypt to sojourn there, and they shall all be consumed, and fall in the land of Egypt; they shall even be consumed by the sword and by the famine: they shall die, from the least even to the greatest, by the sword and by the famine: and they shall be an execration, and an astonishment, and a curse, and a reproach.[13] For I will punish them that dwell in the land of Egypt, as I have punished Jerusalem, by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence:[14] So that none of the remnant of Judah, which are gone into the land of Egypt to sojourn there, shall escape or remain, that they should return into the land of Judah, to the which they have a desire to return to dwell there: for none shall return but such as shall escape. ¶[15] Then all the men which knew that their wives had burned incense to other gods, and all the women that stood by, a great multitude, even all the people that dwelled in the land of Egypt, in Pathros, answered Jeremiah, saying,[16] As for the word that you have spoken to us in the name of the LORD, we will not listen to you.[17] But we will certainly do whatever thing goes forth out of our own mouth, to burn incense to the queen of heaven, and to pour out drink offerings to her, as we have done, we, and our fathers, our kings, and our princes, in the cities of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem: for then had we plenty of victuals, and were well, and saw no evil.[18] But since we left off to burn incense to the queen of heaven, and to pour out drink offerings to her, we have wanted all things, and have been consumed by the sword and by the famine.[19] And when we burned incense to the queen of heaven, and poured out drink offerings to her, did we make her cakes to worship her, and pour out drink offerings to her, without our men? ¶[20] Then Jeremiah said to all the people, to the men, and to the women, and to all the people which had given him that answer, saying,[21] The incense that you burned in the cities of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem, you, and your fathers, your kings, and your princes, and the people of the land, did not the LORD remember them, and came it not into his mind?[22] So that the LORD could no longer bear, because of the evil of your doings, and because of the abominations which you have committed; therefore is your land a desolation, and an astonishment, and a curse, without an inhabitant, as at this day.[23] Because you have burned incense, and because you have sinned against the LORD, and have not obeyed the voice of the LORD, nor walked in his law, nor in his statutes, nor in his testimonies; therefore this evil is happened to you, as at this day.[24] Moreover Jeremiah said to all the people, and to all the women, Hear the word of the LORD, all Judah that are in the land of Egypt:[25] Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, saying; You and your wives have both spoken with your mouths, and fulfilled with your hand, saying, We will surely perform our vows that we have vowed, to burn incense to the queen of heaven, and to pour out drink offerings to her: you will surely accomplish your vows, and surely perform your vows.[26] Therefore hear you the word of the LORD, all Judah that dwell in the land of Egypt; Behold, I have sworn by my great name, says the LORD, that my name shall no more be named in the mouth of any man of Judah in all the land of Egypt, saying, The Lord GOD lives.[27] Behold, I will watch over them for evil, and not for good: and all the men of Judah that are in the land of Egypt shall be consumed by the sword and by the famine, until there be an end of them.[28] Yet a small number that escape the sword shall return out of the land of Egypt into the land of Judah, and all the remnant of Judah, that are gone into the land of Egypt to sojourn there, shall know whose words shall stand, mine, or theirs. ¶[29] And this shall be a sign to you, says the LORD, that I will punish you in this place, that you may know that my words shall surely stand against you for evil:[30] Thus says the LORD; Behold, I will give pharaoh Hophra king of Egypt into the hand of his enemies, and into the hand of them that seek his life; as I gave Zedekiah king of Judah into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, his enemy, and that sought his life.

[1] The word that Jeremiah the prophet spoke to Baruch the son of Neriah, when he had written these words in a book at the mouth of Jeremiah, in the fourth year of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah king of Judah, saying,

[2] Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, to you, O Baruch:[3] You did say, Woe is me now! for the LORD has added grief to my sorrow; I fainted in my sighing, and I find no rest. ¶[4] Thus shall you say to him, The LORD says thus; Behold, that which I have built will I break down, and that which I have planted I will pluck up, even this whole land.[5] And seek you great things for yourself? seek them not: for, behold, I will bring evil on all flesh, says the LORD: but your life will I give to you for a prey in all places where you go.

[1] The word of the LORD which came to Jeremiah the prophet against the Gentiles;

[2] Against Egypt, against the army of Pharaohnecho king of Egypt, which was by the river Euphrates in Carchemish, which Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon smote in the fourth year of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah king of Judah.[3] Order you the buckler and shield, and draw near to battle.[4] Harness the horses; and get up, you horsemen, and stand forth with your helmets; furbish the spears, and put on the brigandines.[5] Why have I seen them dismayed and turned away back? and their mighty ones are beaten down, and are fled apace, and look not back: for fear was round about, says the LORD.[6] Let not the swift flee away, nor the mighty man escape; they shall stumble, and fall toward the north by the river Euphrates.[7] Who is this that comes up as a flood, whose waters are moved as the rivers?[8] Egypt rises up like a flood, and his waters are moved like the rivers; and he says, I will go up, and will cover the earth; I will destroy the city and the inhabitants thereof.[9] Come up, you horses; and rage, you chariots; and let the mighty men come forth; the Ethiopians and the Libyans, that handle the shield; and the Lydians, that handle and bend the bow.[10] For this is the day of the Lord GOD of hosts, a day of vengeance, that he may avenge him of his adversaries: and the sword shall devour, and it shall be satiate and made drunk with their blood: for the Lord GOD of hosts has a sacrifice in the north country by the river Euphrates.[11] Go up into Gilead, and take balm, O virgin, the daughter of Egypt: in vain shall you use many medicines; for you shall not be cured.[12] The nations have heard of your shame, and your cry has filled the land: for the mighty man has stumbled against the mighty, and they are fallen both together. ¶[13] The word that the LORD spoke to Jeremiah the prophet, how Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon should come and smite the land of Egypt.[14] Declare you in Egypt, and publish in Migdol, and publish in Noph and in Tahpanhes: say you, Stand fast, and prepare you; for the sword shall devour round about you.[15] Why are your valiant men swept away? they stood not, because the LORD did drive them.[16] He made many to fall, yes, one fell on another: and they said, Arise, and let us go again to our own people, and to the land of our nativity, from the oppressing sword.[17] They did cry there, Pharaoh king of Egypt is but a noise; he has passed the time appointed.[18] As I live, says the King, whose name is the LORD of hosts, Surely as Tabor is among the mountains, and as Carmel by the sea, so shall he come.[19] O you daughter dwelling in Egypt, furnish yourself to go into captivity: for Noph shall be waste and desolate without an inhabitant.[20] Egypt is like a very fair heifer, but destruction comes; it comes out of the north.[21] Also her hired men are in the middle of her like fatted bullocks; for they also are turned back, and are fled away together: they did not stand, because the day of their calamity was come on them, and the time of their visitation.[22] The voice thereof shall go like a serpent; for they shall march with an army, and come against her with axes, as hewers of wood.[23] They shall cut down her forest, says the LORD, though it cannot be searched; because they are more than the grasshoppers, and are innumerable.[24] The daughter of Egypt shall be confounded; she shall be delivered into the hand of the people of the north.[25] The LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, says; Behold, I will punish the multitude of No, and Pharaoh, and Egypt, with their gods, and their kings; even Pharaoh, and all them that trust in him:[26] And I will deliver them into the hand of those that seek their lives, and into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, and into the hand of his servants: and afterward it shall be inhabited, as in the days of old, says the LORD. ¶[27] But fear not you, O my servant Jacob, and be not dismayed, O Israel: for, behold, I will save you from afar off, and your seed from the land of their captivity; and Jacob shall return, and be in rest and at ease, and none shall make him afraid.[28] Fear you not, O Jacob my servant, says the LORD: for I am with you; for I will make a full end of all the nations where I have driven you: but I will not make a full end of you, but correct you in measure; yet will I not leave you wholly unpunished.

[1] The word of the LORD that came to Jeremiah the prophet against the Philistines, before that Pharaoh smote Gaza.

[2] Thus says the LORD; Behold, waters rise up out of the north, and shall be an overflowing flood, and shall overflow the land, and all that is therein; the city, and them that dwell therein: then the men shall cry, and all the inhabitants of the land shall howl.[3] At the noise of the stamping of the hoofs of his strong horses, at the rushing of his chariots, and at the rumbling of his wheels, the fathers shall not look back to their children for feebleness of hands;[4] Because of the day that comes to spoil all the Philistines, and to cut off from Tyrus and Zidon every helper that remains: for the LORD will spoil the Philistines, the remnant of the country of Caphtor.[5] Baldness is come on Gaza; Ashkelon is cut off with the remnant of their valley: how long will you cut yourself?[6] O you sword of the LORD, how long will it be before you be quiet? put up yourself into your scabbard, rest, and be still.[7] How can it be quiet, seeing the LORD has given it a charge against Ashkelon, and against the sea shore? there has he appointed it.

[1] Against Moab thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel; Woe to Nebo! for it is spoiled: Kiriathaim is confounded and taken: Misgab is confounded and dismayed.

[2] There shall be no more praise of Moab: in Heshbon they have devised evil against it; come, and let us cut it off from being a nation. Also you shall be cut down, O Madmen; the sword shall pursue you.[3] A voice of crying shall be from Horonaim, spoiling and great destruction.[4] Moab is destroyed; her little ones have caused a cry to be heard.[5] For in the going up of Luhith continual weeping shall go up; for in the going down of Horonaim the enemies have heard a cry of destruction.[6] Flee, save your lives, and be like the heath in the wilderness. ¶[7] For because you have trusted in your works and in your treasures, you shall also be taken: and Chemosh shall go forth into captivity with his priests and his princes together.[8] And the spoiler shall come on every city, and no city shall escape: the valley also shall perish, and the plain shall be destroyed, as the LORD has spoken.[9] Give wings to Moab, that it may flee and get away: for the cities thereof shall be desolate, without any to dwell therein.[10] Cursed be he that does the work of the LORD deceitfully, and cursed be he that keeps back his sword from blood. ¶[11] Moab has been at ease from his youth, and he has settled on his lees, and has not been emptied from vessel to vessel, neither has he gone into captivity: therefore his taste remained in him, and his scent is not changed.[12] Therefore, behold, the days come, says the LORD, that I will send to him wanderers, that shall cause him to wander, and shall empty his vessels, and break their bottles.[13] And Moab shall be ashamed of Chemosh, as the house of Israel was ashamed of Bethel their confidence. ¶[14] How say you, We are mighty and strong men for the war?[15] Moab is spoiled, and gone up out of her cities, and his chosen young men are gone down to the slaughter, says the King, whose name is the LORD of hosts.[16] The calamity of Moab is near to come, and his affliction hastens fast.[17] All you that are about him, bemoan him; and all you that know his name, say, How is the strong staff broken, and the beautiful rod![18] You daughter that do inhabit Dibon, come down from your glory, and sit in thirst; for the spoiler of Moab shall come on you, and he shall destroy your strong holds.[19] O inhabitant of Aroer, stand by the way, and espy; ask him that flees, and her that escapes, and say, What is done?[20] Moab is confounded; for it is broken down: howl and cry; tell you it in Arnon, that Moab is spoiled,[21] And judgment is come on the plain country; on Holon, and on Jahazah, and on Mephaath,[22] And on Dibon, and on Nebo, and on Bethdiblathaim,[23] And on Kiriathaim, and on Bethgamul, and on Bethmeon,[24] And on Kerioth, and on Bozrah, and on all the cities of the land of Moab, far or near.[25] The horn of Moab is cut off, and his arm is broken, says the LORD. ¶[26] Make you him drunken: for he magnified himself against the LORD: Moab also shall wallow in his vomit, and he also shall be in derision.[27] For was not Israel a derision to you? was he found among thieves? for since you spoke of him, you skipped for joy.[28] O you that dwell in Moab, leave the cities, and dwell in the rock, and be like the dove that makes her nest in the sides of the hole's mouth.[29] We have heard the pride of Moab, (he is exceeding proud) his loftiness, and his arrogance, and his pride, and the haughtiness of his heart.[30] I know his wrath, says the LORD; but it shall not be so; his lies shall not so effect it.[31] Therefore will I howl for Moab, and I will cry out for all Moab; my heart shall mourn for the men of Kirheres.[32] O vine of Sibmah, I will weep for you with the weeping of Jazer: your plants are gone over the sea, they reach even to the sea of Jazer: the spoiler is fallen on your summer fruits and on your vintage.[33] And joy and gladness is taken from the plentiful field, and from the land of Moab, and I have caused wine to fail from the winepresses: none shall tread with shouting; their shouting shall be no shouting.[34] From the cry of Heshbon even to Elealeh, and even to Jahaz, have they uttered their voice, from Zoar even to Horonaim, as an heifer of three years old: for the waters also of Nimrim shall be desolate.[35] Moreover I will cause to cease in Moab, says the LORD, him that offers in the high places, and him that burns incense to his gods.[36] Therefore my heart shall sound for Moab like pipes, and my heart shall sound like pipes for the men of Kirheres: because the riches that he has gotten are perished.[37] For every head shall be bald, and every beard clipped: on all the hands shall be cuttings, and on the loins sackcloth.[38] There shall be lamentation generally on all the housetops of Moab, and in the streets thereof: for I have broken Moab like a vessel wherein is no pleasure, says the LORD.[39] They shall howl, saying, How is it broken down! how has Moab turned the back with shame! so shall Moab be a derision and a dismaying to all them about him.[40] For thus says the LORD; Behold, he shall fly as an eagle, and shall spread his wings over Moab.[41] Kerioth is taken, and the strong holds are surprised, and the mighty men's hearts in Moab at that day shall be as the heart of a woman in her pangs.[42] And Moab shall be destroyed from being a people, because he has magnified himself against the LORD.[43] Fear, and the pit, and the snare, shall be on you, O inhabitant of Moab, says the LORD.[44] He that flees from the fear shall fall into the pit; and he that gets up out of the pit shall be taken in the snare: for I will bring on it, even on Moab, the year of their visitation, says the LORD.[45] They that fled stood under the shadow of Heshbon because of the force: but a fire shall come forth out of Heshbon, and a flame from the middle of Sihon, and shall devour the corner of Moab, and the crown of the head of the tumultuous ones.[46] Woe be to you, O Moab! the people of Chemosh perishes: for your sons are taken captives, and your daughters captives. ¶[47] Yet will I bring again the captivity of Moab in the latter days, says the LORD. Thus far is the judgment of Moab.

[1] Concerning the Ammonites, thus says the LORD; Has Israel no sons? has he no heir? why then does their king inherit Gad, and his people dwell in his cities?

[2] Therefore, behold, the days come, says the LORD, that I will cause an alarm of war to be heard in Rabbah of the Ammonites; and it shall be a desolate heap, and her daughters shall be burned with fire: then shall Israel be heir to them that were his heirs, said the LORD.[3] Howl, O Heshbon, for Ai is spoiled: cry, you daughters of Rabbah, gird you with sackcloth; lament, and run to and fro by the hedges; for their king shall go into captivity, and his priests and his princes together.[4] Why glory you in the valleys, your flowing valley, O backsliding daughter? that trusted in her treasures, saying, Who shall come to me?[5] Behold, I will bring a fear on you, says the Lord GOD of hosts, from all those that be about you; and you shall be driven out every man right forth; and none shall gather up him that wanders.[6] And afterward I will bring again the captivity of the children of Ammon, says the LORD. ¶[7] Concerning Edom, thus says the LORD of hosts; Is wisdom no more in Teman? is counsel perished from the prudent? is their wisdom vanished?[8] Flee you, turn back, dwell deep, O inhabitants of Dedan; for I will bring the calamity of Esau on him, the time that I will visit him.[9] If grape gatherers come to you, would they not leave some gleaning grapes? if thieves by night, they will destroy till they have enough.[10] But I have made Esau bore, I have uncovered his secret places, and he shall not be able to hide himself: his seed is spoiled, and his brothers, and his neighbors, and he is not.[11] Leave your fatherless children, I will preserve them alive; and let your widows trust in me.[12] For thus says the LORD; Behold, they whose judgment was not to drink of the cup have assuredly drunken; and are you he that shall altogether go unpunished? you shall not go unpunished, but you shall surely drink of it.[13] For I have sworn by myself, says the LORD, that Bozrah shall become a desolation, a reproach, a waste, and a curse; and all the cities thereof shall be perpetual wastes.[14] I have heard a rumor from the LORD, and an ambassador is sent to the heathen, saying, Gather you together, and come against her, and rise up to the battle.[15] For, see, I will make you small among the heathen, and despised among men.[16] Your terribleness has deceived you, and the pride of your heart, O you that dwell in the clefts of the rock, that hold the height of the hill: though you should make your nest as high as the eagle, I will bring you down from there, says the LORD.[17] Also Edom shall be a desolation: every one that goes by it shall be astonished, and shall hiss at all the plagues thereof.[18] As in the overthrow of Sodom and Gomorrah and the neighbor cities thereof, says the LORD, no man shall abide there, neither shall a son of man dwell in it.[19] Behold, he shall come up like a lion from the swelling of Jordan against the habitation of the strong: but I will suddenly make him run away from her: and who is a chosen man, that I may appoint over her? for who is like me? and who will appoint me the time? and who is that shepherd that will stand before me?[20] Therefore hear the counsel of the LORD, that he has taken against Edom; and his purposes, that he has purposed against the inhabitants of Teman: Surely the least of the flock shall draw them out: surely he shall make their habitations desolate with them.[21] The earth is moved at the noise of their fall, at the cry the noise thereof was heard in the Red sea.[22] Behold, he shall come up and fly as the eagle, and spread his wings over Bozrah: and at that day shall the heart of the mighty men of Edom be as the heart of a woman in her pangs. ¶[23] Concerning Damascus. Hamath is confounded, and Arpad: for they have heard evil tidings: they are fainthearted; there is sorrow on the sea; it cannot be quiet.[24] Damascus is waxed feeble, and turns herself to flee, and fear has seized on her: anguish and sorrows have taken her, as a woman in travail.[25] How is the city of praise not left, the city of my joy![26] Therefore her young men shall fall in her streets, and all the men of war shall be cut off in that day, says the LORD of hosts.[27] And I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damascus, and it shall consume the palaces of Benhadad. ¶[28] Concerning Kedar, and concerning the kingdoms of Hazor, which Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon shall smite, thus says the LORD; Arise you, go up to Kedar, and spoil the men of the east.[29] Their tents and their flocks shall they take away: they shall take to themselves their curtains, and all their vessels, and their camels; and they shall cry to them, Fear is on every side. ¶[30] Flee, get you far off, dwell deep, O you inhabitants of Hazor, says the LORD; for Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon has taken counsel against you, and has conceived a purpose against you.[31] Arise, get you up to the wealthy nation, that dwells without care, says the LORD, which have neither gates nor bars, which dwell alone.[32] And their camels shall be a booty, and the multitude of their cattle a spoil: and I will scatter into all winds them that are in the utmost corners; and I will bring their calamity from all sides thereof, says the LORD.[33] And Hazor shall be a dwelling for dragons, and a desolation for ever: there shall no man abide there, nor any son of man dwell in it. ¶[34] The word of the LORD that came to Jeremiah the prophet against Elam in the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah king of Judah, saying,[35] Thus says the LORD of hosts; Behold, I will break the bow of Elam, the chief of their might.[36] And on Elam will I bring the four winds from the four quarters of heaven, and will scatter them toward all those winds; and there shall be no nation where the outcasts of Elam shall not come.[37] For I will cause Elam to be dismayed before their enemies, and before them that seek their life: and I will bring evil on them, even my fierce anger, says the LORD; and I will send the sword after them, till I have consumed them:[38] And I will set my throne in Elam, and will destroy from there the king and the princes, says the LORD. ¶[39] But it shall come to pass in the latter days, that I will bring again the captivity of Elam, says the LORD.

[1] The word that the LORD spoke against Babylon and against the land of the Chaldeans by Jeremiah the prophet.

[2] Declare you among the nations, and publish, and set up a standard; publish, and conceal not: say, Babylon is taken, Bel is confounded, Merodach is broken in pieces; her idols are confounded, her images are broken in pieces.[3] For out of the north there comes up a nation against her, which shall make her land desolate, and none shall dwell therein: they shall remove, they shall depart, both man and beast. ¶[4] In those days, and in that time, says the LORD, the children of Israel shall come, they and the children of Judah together, going and weeping: they shall go, and seek the LORD their God.[5] They shall ask the way to Zion with their faces thitherward, saying, Come, and let us join ourselves to the LORD in a perpetual covenant that shall not be forgotten.[6] My people has been lost sheep: their shepherds have caused them to go astray, they have turned them away on the mountains: they have gone from mountain to hill, they have forgotten their resting place.[7] All that found them have devoured them: and their adversaries said, We offend not, because they have sinned against the LORD, the habitation of justice, even the LORD, the hope of their fathers.[8] Remove out of the middle of Babylon, and go forth out of the land of the Chaldeans, and be as the he goats before the flocks. ¶[9] For, see, I will raise and cause to come up against Babylon an assembly of great nations from the north country: and they shall set themselves in array against her; from there she shall be taken: their arrows shall be as of a mighty expert man; none shall return in vain.[10] And Chaldea shall be a spoil: all that spoil her shall be satisfied, says the LORD.[11] Because you were glad, because you rejoiced, O you destroyers of my heritage, because you are grown fat as the heifer at grass, and bellow as bulls;[12] Your mother shall be sore confounded; she that bore you shall be ashamed: behold, the last of the nations shall be a wilderness, a dry land, and a desert.[13] Because of the wrath of the LORD it shall not be inhabited, but it shall be wholly desolate: every one that goes by Babylon shall be astonished, and hiss at all her plagues.[14] Put yourselves in array against Babylon round about: all you that bend the bow, shoot at her, spare no arrows: for she has sinned against the LORD.[15] Shout against her round about: she has given her hand: her foundations are fallen, her walls are thrown down: for it is the vengeance of the LORD: take vengeance on her; as she has done, do to her.[16] Cut off the sower from Babylon, and him that handles the sickle in the time of harvest: for fear of the oppressing sword they shall turn every one to his people, and they shall flee every one to his own land. ¶[17] Israel is a scattered sheep; the lions have driven him away: first the king of Assyria has devoured him; and last this Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon has broken his bones.[18] Therefore thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel; Behold, I will punish the king of Babylon and his land, as I have punished the king of Assyria.[19] And I will bring Israel again to his habitation, and he shall feed on Carmel and Bashan, and his soul shall be satisfied on mount Ephraim and Gilead.[20] In those days, and in that time, says the LORD, the iniquity of Israel shall be sought for, and there shall be none; and the sins of Judah, and they shall not be found: for I will pardon them whom I reserve. ¶[21] Go up against the land of Merathaim, even against it, and against the inhabitants of Pekod: waste and utterly destroy after them, says the LORD, and do according to all that I have commanded you.[22] A sound of battle is in the land, and of great destruction.[23] How is the hammer of the whole earth cut asunder and broken! how is Babylon become a desolation among the nations![24] I have laid a snare for you, and you are also taken, O Babylon, and you were not aware: you are found, and also caught, because you have striven against the LORD.[25] The LORD has opened his armory, and has brought forth the weapons of his indignation: for this is the work of the Lord GOD of hosts in the land of the Chaldeans.[26] Come against her from the utmost border, open her storehouses: cast her up as heaps, and destroy her utterly: let nothing of her be left.[27] Slay all her bullocks; let them go down to the slaughter: woe to them! for their day is come, the time of their visitation.[28] The voice of them that flee and escape out of the land of Babylon, to declare in Zion the vengeance of the LORD our God, the vengeance of his temple.[29] Call together the archers against Babylon: all you that bend the bow, camp against it round about; let none thereof escape: recompense her according to her work; according to all that she has done, do to her: for she has been proud against the LORD, against the Holy One of Israel.[30] Therefore shall her young men fall in the streets, and all her men of war shall be cut off in that day, says the LORD.[31] Behold, I am against you, O you most proud, says the Lord GOD of hosts: for your day is come, the time that I will visit you.[32] And the most proud shall stumble and fall, and none shall raise him up: and I will kindle a fire in his cities, and it shall devour all round about him. ¶[33] Thus says the LORD of hosts; The children of Israel and the children of Judah were oppressed together: and all that took them captives held them fast; they refused to let them go.[34] Their Redeemer is strong; the LORD of hosts is his name: he shall thoroughly plead their cause, that he may give rest to the land, and disquiet the inhabitants of Babylon. ¶[35] A sword is on the Chaldeans, says the LORD, and on the inhabitants of Babylon, and on her princes, and on her wise men.[36] A sword is on the liars; and they shall dote: a sword is on her mighty men; and they shall be dismayed.[37] A sword is on their horses, and on their chariots, and on all the mingled people that are in the middle of her; and they shall become as women: a sword is on her treasures; and they shall be robbed.[38] A drought is on her waters; and they shall be dried up: for it is the land of graven images, and they are mad on their idols.[39] Therefore the wild beasts of the desert with the wild beasts of the islands shall dwell there, and the owls shall dwell therein: and it shall be no more inhabited for ever; neither shall it be dwelled in from generation to generation.[40] As God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah and the neighbor cities thereof, says the LORD; so shall no man abide there, neither shall any son of man dwell therein.[41] Behold, a people shall come from the north, and a great nation, and many kings shall be raised up from the coasts of the earth.[42] They shall hold the bow and the lance: they are cruel, and will not show mercy: their voice shall roar like the sea, and they shall ride on horses, every one put in array, like a man to the battle, against you, O daughter of Babylon.[43] The king of Babylon has heard the report of them, and his hands waxed feeble: anguish took hold of him, and pangs as of a woman in travail.[44] Behold, he shall come up like a lion from the swelling of Jordan to the habitation of the strong: but I will make them suddenly run away from her: and who is a chosen man, that I may appoint over her? for who is like me? and who will appoint me the time? and who is that shepherd that will stand before me?[45] Therefore hear you the counsel of the LORD, that he has taken against Babylon; and his purposes, that he has purposed against the land of the Chaldeans: Surely the least of the flock shall draw them out: surely he shall make their habitation desolate with them.[46] At the noise of the taking of Babylon the earth is moved, and the cry is heard among the nations.

[1] Thus says the LORD; Behold, I will raise up against Babylon, and against them that dwell in the middle of them that rise up against me, a destroying wind;

[2] And will send to Babylon fanners, that shall fan her, and shall empty her land: for in the day of trouble they shall be against her round about.[3] Against him that bends let the archer bend his bow, and against him that lifts himself up in his brigandine: and spare you not her young men; destroy you utterly all her host.[4] Thus the slain shall fall in the land of the Chaldeans, and they that are thrust through in her streets.[5] For Israel has not been forsaken, nor Judah of his God, of the LORD of hosts; though their land was filled with sin against the Holy One of Israel.[6] Flee out of the middle of Babylon, and deliver every man his soul: be not cut off in her iniquity; for this is the time of the LORD's vengeance; he will render to her a recompense.[7] Babylon has been a golden cup in the LORD's hand, that made all the earth drunken: the nations have drunken of her wine; therefore the nations are mad.[8] Babylon is suddenly fallen and destroyed: howl for her; take balm for her pain, if so be she may be healed.[9] We would have healed Babylon, but she is not healed: forsake her, and let us go every one into his own country: for her judgment reaches to heaven, and is lifted up even to the skies.[10] The LORD has brought forth our righteousness: come, and let us declare in Zion the work of the LORD our God.[11] Make bright the arrows; gather the shields: the LORD has raised up the spirit of the kings of the Medes: for his device is against Babylon, to destroy it; because it is the vengeance of the LORD, the vengeance of his temple.[12] Set up the standard on the walls of Babylon, make the watch strong, set up the watchmen, prepare the ambushes: for the LORD has both devised and done that which he spoke against the inhabitants of Babylon.[13] O you that dwell on many waters, abundant in treasures, your end is come, and the measure of your covetousness.[14] The LORD of hosts has sworn by himself, saying, Surely I will fill you with men, as with caterpillars; and they shall lift up a shout against you.[15] He has made the earth by his power, he has established the world by his wisdom, and has stretched out the heaven by his understanding.[16] When he utters his voice, there is a multitude of waters in the heavens; and he causes the vapors to ascend from the ends of the earth: he makes lightning with rain, and brings forth the wind out of his treasures.[17] Every man is brutish by his knowledge; every founder is confounded by the graven image: for his molten image is falsehood, and there is no breath in them.[18] They are vanity, the work of errors: in the time of their visitation they shall perish.[19] The portion of Jacob is not like them; for he is the former of all things: and Israel is the rod of his inheritance: the LORD of hosts is his name.[20] You are my battle ax and weapons of war: for with you will I break in pieces the nations, and with you will I destroy kingdoms;[21] And with you will I break in pieces the horse and his rider; and with you will I break in pieces the chariot and his rider;[22] With you also will I break in pieces man and woman; and with you will I break in pieces old and young; and with you will I break in pieces the young man and the maid;[23] I will also break in pieces with you the shepherd and his flock; and with you will I break in pieces the farmer and his yoke of oxen; and with you will I break in pieces captains and rulers.[24] And I will render to Babylon and to all the inhabitants of Chaldea all their evil that they have done in Zion in your sight, says the LORD.[25] Behold, I am against you, O destroying mountain, says the LORD, which destroy all the earth: and I will stretch out my hand on you, and roll you down from the rocks, and will make you a burnt mountain.[26] And they shall not take of you a stone for a corner, nor a stone for foundations; but you shall be desolate for ever, says the LORD.[27] Set you up a standard in the land, blow the trumpet among the nations, prepare the nations against her, call together against her the kingdoms of Ararat, Minni, and Ashchenaz; appoint a captain against her; cause the horses to come up as the rough caterpillars.[28] Prepare against her the nations with the kings of the Medes, the captains thereof, and all the rulers thereof, and all the land of his dominion.[29] And the land shall tremble and sorrow: for every purpose of the LORD shall be performed against Babylon, to make the land of Babylon a desolation without an inhabitant.[30] The mighty men of Babylon have declined to fight, they have remained in their holds: their might has failed; they became as women: they have burned her dwelling places; her bars are broken.[31] One post shall run to meet another, and one messenger to meet another, to show the king of Babylon that his city is taken at one end,[32] And that the passages are stopped, and the reeds they have burned with fire, and the men of war are affrighted.[33] For thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel; The daughter of Babylon is like a threshing floor, it is time to thresh her: yet a little while, and the time of her harvest shall come.[34] Nebuchadrezzar the king of Babylon has devoured me, he has crushed me, he has made me an empty vessel, he has swallowed me up like a dragon, he has filled his belly with my delicates, he has cast me out.[35] The violence done to me and to my flesh be on Babylon, shall the inhabitant of Zion say; and my blood on the inhabitants of Chaldea, shall Jerusalem say.[36] Therefore thus says the LORD; Behold, I will plead your cause, and take vengeance for you; and I will dry up her sea, and make her springs dry.[37] And Babylon shall become heaps, a dwelling place for dragons, an astonishment, and an hissing, without an inhabitant.[38] They shall roar together like lions: they shall yell as lions' whelps.[39] In their heat I will make their feasts, and I will make them drunken, that they may rejoice, and sleep a perpetual sleep, and not wake, says the LORD.[40] I will bring them down like lambs to the slaughter, like rams with he goats.[41] How is Sheshach taken! and how is the praise of the whole earth surprised! how is Babylon become an astonishment among the nations![42] The sea is come up on Babylon: she is covered with the multitude of the waves thereof.[43] Her cities are a desolation, a dry land, and a wilderness, a land wherein no man dwells, neither does any son of man pass thereby.[44] And I will punish Bel in Babylon, and I will bring forth out of his mouth that which he has swallowed up: and the nations shall not flow together any more to him: yes, the wall of Babylon shall fall.[45] My people, go you out of the middle of her, and deliver you every man his soul from the fierce anger of the LORD.[46] And lest your heart faint, and you fear for the rumor that shall be heard in the land; a rumor shall both come one year, and after that in another year shall come a rumor, and violence in the land, ruler against ruler.[47] Therefore, behold, the days come, that I will do judgment on the graven images of Babylon: and her whole land shall be confounded, and all her slain shall fall in the middle of her.[48] Then the heaven and the earth, and all that is therein, shall sing for Babylon: for the spoilers shall come to her from the north, says the LORD.[49] As Babylon has caused the slain of Israel to fall, so at Babylon shall fall the slain of all the earth.[50] You that have escaped the sword, go away, stand not still: remember the LORD afar off, and let Jerusalem come into your mind.[51] We are confounded, because we have heard reproach: shame has covered our faces: for strangers are come into the sanctuaries of the LORD's house.[52] Why, behold, the days come, says the LORD, that I will do judgment on her graven images: and through all her land the wounded shall groan.[53] Though Babylon should mount up to heaven, and though she should fortify the height of her strength, yet from me shall spoilers come to her, says the LORD.[54] A sound of a cry comes from Babylon, and great destruction from the land of the Chaldeans:[55] Because the LORD has spoiled Babylon, and destroyed out of her the great voice; when her waves do roar like great waters, a noise of their voice is uttered:[56] Because the spoiler is come on her, even on Babylon, and her mighty men are taken, every one of their bows is broken: for the LORD God of recompenses shall surely requite.[57] And I will make drunk her princes, and her wise men, her captains, and her rulers, and her mighty men: and they shall sleep a perpetual sleep, and not wake, says the King, whose name is the LORD of hosts.[58] Thus says the LORD of hosts; The broad walls of Babylon shall be utterly broken, and her high gates shall be burned with fire; and the people shall labor in vain, and the folk in the fire, and they shall be weary. ¶[59] The word which Jeremiah the prophet commanded Seraiah the son of Neriah, the son of Maaseiah, when he went with Zedekiah the king of Judah into Babylon in the fourth year of his reign. And this Seraiah was a quiet prince.[60] So Jeremiah wrote in a book all the evil that should come on Babylon, even all these words that are written against Babylon.[61] And Jeremiah said to Seraiah, When you come to Babylon, and shall see, and shall read all these words;[62] Then shall you say, O LORD, you have spoken against this place, to cut it off, that none shall remain in it, neither man nor beast, but that it shall be desolate for ever.[63] And it shall be, when you have made an end of reading this book, that you shall bind a stone to it, and cast it into the middle of Euphrates:[64] And you shall say, Thus shall Babylon sink, and shall not rise from the evil that I will bring on her: and they shall be weary. Thus far are the words of Jeremiah.

[1] Zedekiah was one and twenty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Hamutal the daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah.

[2] And he did that which was evil in the eyes of the LORD, according to all that Jehoiakim had done.[3] For through the anger of the LORD it came to pass in Jerusalem and Judah, till he had cast them out from his presence, that Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babylon. ¶[4] And it came to pass in the ninth year of his reign, in the tenth month, in the tenth day of the month, that Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon came, he and all his army, against Jerusalem, and pitched against it, and built forts against it round about.[5] So the city was besieged to the eleventh year of king Zedekiah.[6] And in the fourth month, in the ninth day of the month, the famine was sore in the city, so that there was no bread for the people of the land.[7] Then the city was broken up, and all the men of war fled, and went forth out of the city by night by the way of the gate between the two walls, which was by the king's garden; (now the Chaldeans were by the city round about:) and they went by the way of the plain. ¶[8] But the army of the Chaldeans pursued after the king, and overtook Zedekiah in the plains of Jericho; and all his army was scattered from him.[9] Then they took the king, and carried him up to the king of Babylon to Riblah in the land of Hamath; where he gave judgment on him.[10] And the king of Babylon slew the sons of Zedekiah before his eyes: he slew also all the princes of Judah in Riblah.[11] Then he put out the eyes of Zedekiah; and the king of Babylon bound him in chains, and carried him to Babylon, and put him in prison till the day of his death. ¶[12] Now in the fifth month, in the tenth day of the month, which was the nineteenth year of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, came Nebuzaradan, captain of the guard, which served the king of Babylon, into Jerusalem,[13] And burned the house of the LORD, and the king's house; and all the houses of Jerusalem, and all the houses of the great men, burned he with fire:[14] And all the army of the Chaldeans, that were with the captain of the guard, broke down all the walls of Jerusalem round about.[15] Then Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard carried away captive certain of the poor of the people, and the residue of the people that remained in the city, and those that fell away, that fell to the king of Babylon, and the rest of the multitude.[16] But Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard left certain of the poor of the land for vinedressers and for farmers.[17] Also the pillars of brass that were in the house of the LORD, and the bases, and the brazen sea that was in the house of the LORD, the Chaldeans broke, and carried all the brass of them to Babylon.[18] The caldrons also, and the shovels, and the snuffers, and the bowls, and the spoons, and all the vessels of brass with which they ministered, took they away.[19] And the basins, and the fire pans, and the bowls, and the caldrons, and the candlesticks, and the spoons, and the cups; that which was of gold in gold, and that which was of silver in silver, took the captain of the guard away.[20] The two pillars, one sea, and twelve brazen bulls that were under the bases, which king Solomon had made in the house of the LORD: the brass of all these vessels was without weight.[21] And concerning the pillars, the height of one pillar was eighteen cubits; and a fillet of twelve cubits did compass it; and the thickness thereof was four fingers:

it was hollow.[22] And a capital of brass was on it; and the height of one capital was five cubits, with network and pomegranates on the capitals round about, all of brass. The second pillar also and the pomegranates were like to these.[23] And there were ninety and six pomegranates on a side; and all the pomegranates on the network were an hundred round about. ¶[24] And the captain of the guard took Seraiah the chief priest, and Zephaniah the second priest, and the three keepers of the door:[25] He took also out of the city an eunuch, which had the charge of the men of war; and seven men of them that were near the king's person, which were found in the city; and the principal scribe of the host, who mustered the people of the land; and three score men of the people of the land, that were found in the middle of the city.[26] So Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard took them, and brought them to the king of Babylon to Riblah.[27] And the king of Babylon smote them, and put them to death in Riblah in the land of Hamath. Thus Judah was carried away captive out of his own land.[28] This is the people whom Nebuchadrezzar carried away captive: in the seventh year three thousand Jews and three and twenty:[29] In the eighteenth year of Nebuchadrezzar he carried away captive from Jerusalem eight hundred thirty and two persons:[30] In the three and twentieth year of Nebuchadrezzar Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard carried away captive of the Jews seven hundred forty and five persons: all the persons were four thousand and six hundred. ¶[31] And it came to pass in the seven and thirtieth year of the captivity of Jehoiachin king of Judah, in the twelfth month, in the five and twentieth day of the month, that Evilmerodach king of Babylon in the first year of his reign lifted up the head of Jehoiachin king of Judah, and brought him forth out of prison.[32] And spoke kindly to him, and set his throne above the throne of the kings that were with him in Babylon,[33] And changed his prison garments: and he did continually eat bread before him all the days of his life.[34] And for his diet, there was a continual diet given him of the king of Babylon, every day a portion until the day of his death, all the days of his life.

Lamentations

An Introduction to the Book of Lamentations

Called in the Hebrew canon ’Ekhah, meaning “How,” being the formula for the commencement of a song of wailing. It is the first word of the book (see 2 Sam. 1:19-27). The LXX. adopted the name rendered “Lamentations” (Gr. threnoi = Heb. qinoth) now in common use, to denote the character of the book, in which the prophet mourns over the desolations brought on the city and the holy land by Chaldeans. In the Hebrew Bible it is placed among the Khethubim. (See BIBLE.)

As to its authorship, there is no room for hesitancy in following the LXX. and the Targum in ascribing it to Jeremiah. The spirit, tone, language, and subject-matter are in accord with the testimony of tradition in assigning it to him. According to tradition, he retired after the destruction of Jerusalem by Nebuchadnezzar to a cavern outside the Damascus gate, where he wrote this book. That cavern is still pointed out. “In the face of a rocky hill, on the western side of the city, the local belief has placed ‘the grotto of Jeremiah.’ There, in that fixed attitude of grief which Michael Angelo has immortalized, the prophet may well be supposed to have mourned the fall of his country” (Stanley, Jewish Church).

The book consists of five separate poems. In chapter 1 the prophet dwells on the manifold miseries oppressed by which the city sits as a solitary widow weeping sorely. In chapter 2 these miseries are described in connection with the national sins that had caused them. Chapter 3 speaks of hope for the people of God. The chastisement would only be for their good; a better day would dawn for them. Chapter 4 laments the ruin and desolation that had come upon the city and temple, but traces it only to the people’s sins. Chapter 5 is a prayer that Zion’s reproach may be taken away in the repentance and recovery of the people.

The first four poems (chapters) are acrostics, like some of the Psalms (25, 34, 37, 119), i.e., each verse begins with a letter of the Hebrew alphabet taken in order. The first, second, and fourth have each twenty-two verses, the number of the letters in the Hebrew alphabet. The third has sixty-six verses, in which each three successive verses begin with the same letter. The fifth is not acrostic.

Speaking of the “Wailing-place (q.v.) of the Jews” at Jerusalem, a portion of the old wall of the temple of Solomon, Schaff says: “There the Jews assemble every Friday afternoon to bewail the downfall of the holy city, kissing the stone wall and watering it with their tears. They repeat from their well-worn Hebrew Bibles and prayer-books the Lamentations of Jeremiah and suitable Psalms.”

[1] How does the city sit solitary, that was full of people! how is she become as a widow! she that was great among the nations, and princess among the provinces, how is she become tributary!

[2] She weeps sore in the night, and her tears are on her cheeks: among all her lovers she has none to comfort her: all her friends have dealt treacherously with her, they are become her enemies.[3] Judah is gone into captivity because of affliction, and because of great servitude: she dwells among the heathen, she finds no rest: all her persecutors overtook her between the straits.[4] The ways of Zion do mourn, because none come to the solemn feasts: all her gates are desolate: her priests sigh, her virgins are afflicted, and she is in bitterness.[5] Her adversaries are the chief, her enemies prosper; for the LORD has afflicted her for the multitude of her transgressions: her children are gone into captivity before the enemy.[6] And from the daughter of Zion all her beauty is departed: her princes are become like harts that find no pasture, and they are gone without strength before the pursuer.[7] Jerusalem remembered in the days of her affliction and of her miseries all her pleasant things that she had in the days of old, when her people fell into the hand of the enemy, and none did help her: the adversaries saw her, and did mock at her sabbaths.[8] Jerusalem has grievously sinned; therefore she is removed: all that honored her despise her, because they have seen her nakedness: yes, she sighs, and turns backward.[9] Her filthiness is in her skirts; she remembers not her last end; therefore she came down wonderfully: she had no comforter. O LORD, behold my affliction: for the enemy has magnified himself.[10] The adversary has spread out his hand on all her pleasant things: for she has seen that the heathen entered into her sanctuary, whom you did command that they should not enter into your congregation.[11] All her people sigh, they seek bread; they have given their pleasant things for meat to relieve the soul: see, O LORD, and consider; for I am become vile. ¶[12] Is it nothing to you, all you that pass by? behold, and see if there be any sorrow like to my sorrow, which is done to me, with which the LORD has afflicted me in the day of his fierce anger.[13] From above has he sent fire into my bones, and it prevails against them: he has spread a net for my feet, he has turned me back: he has made me desolate and faint all the day.[14] The yoke of my transgressions is bound by his hand: they are wreathed, and come up on my neck: he has made my strength to fall, the LORD has delivered me into their hands, from whom I am not able to rise up.[15] The LORD has trodden under foot all my mighty men in the middle of me: he has called an assembly against me to crush my young men: the LORD has trodden the virgin, the daughter of Judah, as in a wine press.[16] For these things I weep; my eye, my eye runs down with water, because the comforter that should relieve my soul is far from me: my children are desolate, because the enemy prevailed.[17] Zion spreads forth her hands, and there is none to comfort her: the LORD has commanded concerning Jacob, that his adversaries should be round about him: Jerusalem is as a menstruous woman among them. ¶[18] The LORD is righteous; for I have rebelled against his commandment: hear, I pray you, all people, and behold my sorrow: my virgins and my young men are gone into captivity.[19] I called for my lovers, but they deceived me: my priests and my elders gave up the ghost in the city, while they sought their meat to relieve their souls.[20] Behold, O LORD; for I am in distress: my bowels are troubled; my heart is turned within me; for I have grievously rebelled: abroad the sword bereaves, at home there is as death.[21] They have heard that I sigh: there is none to comfort me: all my enemies have heard of my trouble; they are glad that you have done it: you will bring the day that you have called, and they shall be like to me.[22] Let all their wickedness come before you; and do to them, as you have done to me for all my transgressions: for my sighs are many, and my heart is faint.

[1] How has the LORD covered the daughter of Zion with a cloud in his anger, and cast down from heaven to the earth the beauty of Israel, and remembered not his footstool in the day of his anger!

[2] The LORD has swallowed up all the habitations of Jacob, and has not pitied: he has thrown down in his wrath the strong holds of the daughter of Judah; he has brought them down to the ground: he has polluted the kingdom and the princes thereof.[3] He has cut off in his fierce anger all the horn of Israel: he has drawn back his right hand from before the enemy, and he burned against Jacob like a flaming fire, which devours round about.[4] He has bent his bow like an enemy: he stood with his right hand as an adversary, and slew all that were pleasant to the eye in the tabernacle of the daughter of Zion: he poured out his fury like fire.[5] The LORD was as an enemy: he has swallowed up Israel, he has swallowed up all her palaces: he has destroyed his strong holds, and has increased in the daughter of Judah mourning and lamentation.[6] And he has violently taken away his tabernacle, as if it were of a garden: he has destroyed his places of the assembly: the LORD has caused the solemn feasts and sabbaths to be forgotten in Zion, and has despised in the indignation of his anger the king and the priest.[7] The LORD has cast off his altar, he has abhorred his sanctuary, he has given up into the hand of the enemy the walls of her palaces; they have made a noise in the house of the LORD, as in the day of a solemn feast.[8] The LORD has purposed to destroy the wall of the daughter of Zion: he has stretched out a line, he has not withdrawn his hand from destroying: therefore he made the rampart and the wall to lament; they languished together.[9] Her gates are sunk into the ground; he has destroyed and broken her bars: her king and her princes are among the Gentiles: the law is no more; her prophets also find no vision from the LORD.[10] The elders of the daughter of Zion sit on the ground, and keep silence: they have cast up dust on their heads; they have girded themselves with sackcloth: the virgins of Jerusalem hang down their heads to the ground.[11] My eyes do fail with tears, my bowels are troubled, my liver is poured on the earth, for the destruction of the daughter of my people; because the children and the sucklings swoon in the streets of the city.[12] They say to their mothers, Where is corn and wine? when they swooned as the wounded in the streets of the city, when their soul was poured out into their mothers' bosom.[13] What thing shall I take to witness for you? what thing shall I liken to you, O daughter of Jerusalem? what shall I equal to you, that I may comfort you, O virgin daughter of Zion? for your breach is great like the sea: who can heal you?[14] Your prophets have seen vain and foolish things for you: and they have not discovered your iniquity, to turn away your captivity; but have seen for you false burdens and causes of banishment.[15] All that pass by clap their hands at you; they hiss and wag their head at the daughter of Jerusalem, saying, Is this the city that men call The perfection of beauty, The joy of the whole earth?[16] All your enemies have opened their mouth against you: they hiss and gnash the teeth: they say, We have swallowed her up: certainly this is the day that we looked for; we have found, we have seen it.[17] The LORD has done that which he had devised; he has fulfilled his word that he had commanded in the days of old: he has thrown down, and has not pitied: and he has caused your enemy to rejoice over you, he has set up the horn of your adversaries.[18] Their heart cried to the LORD, O wall of the daughter of Zion, let tears run down like a river day and night: give yourself no rest; let not the apple of your eye cease.[19] Arise, cry out in the night: in the beginning of the watches pour out your heart like water before the face of the LORD: lift up your hands toward him for the life of your young children, that faint for hunger in the top of every street. ¶[20] Behold, O LORD, and consider to whom you have done this. Shall the women eat their fruit, and children of a span long? shall the priest and the prophet be slain in the sanctuary of the Lord?[21] The young and the old lie on the ground in the streets: my virgins and my young men are fallen by the sword; you have slain them in the day of your anger; you have killed, and not pitied.[22] You have called as in a solemn day my terrors round about, so that in the day of the LORD's anger none escaped nor remained: those that I have swaddled and brought up has my enemy

[1] I AM the man that has seen affliction by the rod of his wrath.

[2] He has led me, and brought me into darkness, but not into light.[3] Surely against me is he turned; he turns his hand against me all the day.[4] My flesh and my skin has he made old; he has broken my bones.[5] He has built against me, and compassed me with gall and travail.[6] He has set me in dark places, as they that be dead of old.[7] He has hedged me about, that I cannot get out: he has made my chain heavy.[8] Also when I cry and shout, he shuts out my prayer.[9] He has enclosed my ways with hewn stone, he has made my paths crooked.[10] He was to me as a bear lying in wait, and as a lion in secret places.[11] He has turned aside my ways, and pulled me in pieces: he has made me desolate.[12] He has bent his bow, and set me as a mark for the arrow.[13] He has caused the arrows of his quiver to enter into my reins.[14] I was a derision to all my people; and their song all the day.[15] He has filled me with bitterness, he has made me drunken with wormwood.[16] He has also broken my teeth with gravel stones, he has covered me with ashes.[17] And you have removed my soul far off from peace: I forgot prosperity.[18] And I said, My strength and my hope is perished from the LORD:[19] Remembering my affliction and my misery, the wormwood and the gall.[20] My soul has them still in remembrance, and is humbled in me.[21] This I recall to my mind, therefore have I hope. ¶[22] It is of the LORD's mercies that we are not consumed, because his compassions fail not.[23] They are new every morning: great is your faithfulness.[24] The LORD is my portion, says my soul; therefore will I hope in him.[25] The LORD is good to them that wait for him, to the soul that seeks him.[26] It is good that a man should both hope and quietly wait for the salvation of the LORD.[27] It is good for a man that he bear the yoke of his youth.[28] He sits alone and keeps silence, because he has borne it on him.[29] He puts his mouth in the dust; if so be there may be hope.[30] He gives his cheek to him that smites him: he is filled full with reproach.[31] For the LORD will not cast off for ever:[32] But though he cause grief, yet will he have compassion according to the multitude of his mercies.[33] For he does not afflict willingly nor grieve the children of men.[34] To crush under his feet all the prisoners of the earth.[35] To turn aside the right of a man before the face of the most High,[36] To subvert a man in his cause, the LORD approves not. ¶[37] Who is he that says, and it comes to pass, when the Lord commands it not?[38] Out of the mouth of the most High proceeds not evil and good?[39] Why does a living man complain, a man for the punishment of his sins?[40] Let us search and try our ways, and turn again to the LORD.[41] Let us lift up our heart with our hands to God in the heavens.[42] We have transgressed and have rebelled: you have not pardoned.[43] You have covered with anger, and persecuted us: you have slain, you have not pitied.[44] You have covered yourself with a cloud, that our prayer should not pass through.[45] You have made us as the offscouring and refuse in the middle of the people.[46] All our enemies have opened their mouths against us.[47] Fear and a snare is come on us, desolation and destruction.[48] My eye runs down with rivers of water for the destruction of the daughter of my people.[49] My eye trickles down, and ceases not, without any intermission.[50] Till the LORD look down, and behold from heaven.[51] My eye affects my heart because of all the daughters of my city.[52] My enemies chased me sore, like a bird, without cause.[53] They have cut off my life in the dungeon, and cast a stone on me.[54] Waters flowed over my head; then I said, I am cut off. ¶[55] I called on your name, O LORD, out of the low dungeon.[56] You have heard my voice: hide not your ear at my breathing, at my cry.[57] You drew near in the day that I called on you: you said, Fear not.[58] O LORD, you have pleaded the causes of my soul; you have redeemed my life.[59] O LORD, you have seen my wrong: judge you my cause.[60] You have seen all their vengeance and all their imaginations against me.[61] You have heard their reproach, O LORD, and all their imaginations against me;[62] The lips of those that rose up against me, and their device against me all the day.[63] Behold their sitting down, and their rising up; I am their music. ¶[64] Render to them a recompense, O LORD, according to the work of their hands.[65] Give them sorrow of heart, your curse to them.[66] Persecute and destroy them in anger from under the heavens of the LORD.

[1] How is the gold become dim! how is the most fine gold changed! the stones of the sanctuary are poured out in the top of every street.

[2] The precious sons of Zion, comparable to fine gold, how are they esteemed as earthen pitchers, the work of the hands of the potter![3] Even the sea monsters draw out the breast, they give suck to their young ones: the daughter of my people is become cruel, like the ostriches in the wilderness.[4] The tongue of the sucking child sticks to the roof of his mouth for thirst: the young children ask bread, and no man breaks it to them.[5] They that did feed delicately are desolate in the streets: they that were brought up in scarlet embrace dunghills.[6] For the punishment of the iniquity of the daughter of my people is greater than the punishment of the sin of Sodom, that was overthrown as in a moment, and no hands stayed on her.[7] Her Nazarites were purer than snow, they were whiter than milk, they were more ruddy in body than rubies, their polishing was of sapphire:[8] Their visage is blacker than a coal; they are not known in the streets: their skin sticks to their bones; it is withered, it is become like a stick.[9] They that be slain with the sword are better than they that be slain with hunger: for these pine away, stricken through for want of the fruits of the field.[10] The hands of the pitiful women have sodden their own children: they were their meat in the destruction of the daughter of my people.[11] The LORD has accomplished his fury; he has poured out his fierce anger, and has kindled a fire in Zion, and it has devoured the foundations thereof.[12] The kings of the earth, and all the inhabitants of the world, would not have believed that the adversary and the enemy should have entered into the gates of Jerusalem. ¶[13] For the sins of her prophets, and the iniquities of her priests, that have shed the blood of the just in the middle of her,[14] They have wandered as blind men in the streets, they have polluted themselves with blood, so that men could not touch their garments.[15] They cried to them, Depart you; it is unclean; depart, depart, touch not: when they fled away and wandered, they said among the heathen, They shall no more sojourn there.[16] The anger of the LORD has divided them; he will no more regard them: they respected not the persons of the priests, they favored not the elders.[17] As for us, our eyes as yet failed for our vain help: in our watching we have watched for a nation that could not save us.[18] They hunt our steps, that we cannot go in our streets: our end is near, our days are fulfilled; for our end is come.[19] Our persecutors are swifter than the eagles of the heaven: they pursued us on the mountains, they laid wait for us in the wilderness.[20] The breath of our nostrils, the anointed of the LORD, was taken in their pits, of whom we said, Under his shadow we shall live among the heathen. ¶[21] Rejoice and be glad, O daughter of Edom, that dwell in the land of Uz; the cup also shall pass through to you: you shall be drunken, and shall make yourself naked. ¶[22] The punishment of your iniquity is accomplished, O daughter of Zion; he will no more carry you away into captivity: he will visit your iniquity, O daughter of Edom; he will discover your sins.

[1] Remember, O LORD, what is come on us: consider, and behold our reproach.

[2] Our inheritance is turned to strangers, our houses to aliens.[3] We are orphans and fatherless, our mothers are as widows.[4] We have drunken our water for money; our wood is sold to us.[5] Our necks are under persecution: we labor, and have no rest.[6] We have given the hand to the Egyptians, and to the Assyrians, to be satisfied with bread.[7] Our fathers have sinned, and are not; and we have borne their iniquities.[8] Servants have ruled over us: there is none that does deliver us out of their hand.[9] We got our bread with the peril of our lives because of the sword of the wilderness.[10] Our skin was black like an oven because of the terrible famine.[11] They ravished the women in Zion, and the maids in the cities of Judah.[12] Princes are hanged up by their hand: the faces of elders were not honored.[13] They took the young men to grind, and the children fell under the wood.[14] The elders have ceased from the gate, the young men from their music.[15] The joy of our heart is ceased; our dance is turned into mourning.[16] The crown is fallen from our head: woe to us, that we have sinned![17] For this our heart is faint; for these things our eyes are dim.[18] Because of the mountain of Zion, which is desolate, the foxes walk on it.[19] You, O LORD, remain for ever; your throne from generation to generation.[20] Why do you forget us for ever, and forsake us so long time?[21] Turn you us to you, O LORD, and we shall be turned; renew our days as of old.[22] But you have utterly rejected us; you are very wroth against us.

Ezekiel

An Introduction to the Book of Ezekiel

Consists mainly of three groups of prophecies. After an account of his call to the prophetical office (1-3:21), Ezekiel (1) utters words of denunciation against the Jews (3:22-24), warning them of the certain destruction of Jerusalem, in opposition to the words of the false prophets (4:1-3). The symbolical acts, by which the extremities to which Jerusalem would be reduced are described in ch. 4, 5, show his intimate acquaintance with the Levitical legislation. (See Ex. 22:30; Deut. 14:21; Lev. 5:2; 7:18, 24; 17:15; 19:7; 22:8, etc.)

(2.) Prophecies against various surrounding nations: against the Ammonites (Ezek. 25:1-7), the Moabites (8-11), the Edomites (12-14), the Philistines (15-17), Tyre and Sidon (26-28), and against Egypt (29-32).

(3.) Prophecies delivered after the destruction of Jerusalem by Nebuchadnezzar: the triumphs of Israel and of the kingdom of God on earth (Ezek. 33-39); Messianic times, and the establishment and prosperity of the kingdom of God (40;48).

The closing visions of this book are referred to in the book of Revelation (Ezek. 38=Rev. 20:8; Ezek. 47:1-8=Rev. 22:1,2). Other references to this book are also found in the New Testament. (Comp. Rom. 2:24 with Ezek. 36:2; Rom. 10:5, Gal. 3:12 with Ezek. 20:11; 2 Pet. 3:4 with Ezek. 12:22.)

It may be noted that Daniel, fourteen years after his deportation from Jerusalem, is mentioned by Ezekiel (14:14) along with Noah and Job as distinguished for his righteousness, and some five years later he is spoken of as pre-eminent for his wisdom (28:3).

Ezekiel's prophecies are characterized by symbolical and allegorical representations, "unfolding a rich series of majestic visions and of colossal symbols." There are a great many also of "symbolcal actions embodying vivid conceptions on the part of the prophet" (4:1-4; 5:1-4; 12:3-6; 24:3-5; 37:16, etc.) "The mode of representation, in which symbols and allegories occupy a prominent place, gives a dark, mysterious character to the prophecies of Ezekiel. They are obscure and enigmatical. A cloudy mystery overhangs them which it is almost impossible to penetrate. Jerome calls the book 'a labyrith of the mysteries of God.' It was because of this obscurity that the Jews forbade any one to read it till he had attained the age of thirty."

Ezekiel is singular in the frequency with which he refers to the Pentateuch (e.g., Ezek. 27; 28:13; 31:8; 36:11, 34; 47:13, etc.). He shows also an acquaintance with the writings of Hosea (Ezek. 37:22), Isaiah (Ezek. 8:12; 29:6), and especially with those of Jeremiah, his older contemporary (Jer. 24:7, 9; 48:37).

[1] Now it came to pass in the thirtieth year, in the fourth month, in the fifth day of the month, as I was among the captives by the river of Chebar, that the heavens were opened, and I saw visions of God.

[2] In the fifth day of the month, which was the fifth year of king Jehoiachin's captivity,[3] The word of the LORD came expressly to Ezekiel the priest, the son of Buzi, in the land of the Chaldeans by the river Chebar; and the hand of the LORD was there on him. ¶[4] And I looked, and, behold, a whirlwind came out of the north, a great cloud, and a fire enfolding itself, and a brightness was about it, and out of the middle thereof as the color of amber, out of the middle of the fire.[5] Also out of the middle thereof came the likeness of four living creatures. And this was their appearance; they had the likeness of a man.[6] And every one had four faces, and every one had four wings.[7] And their feet were straight feet; and the sole of their feet was like the sole of a calf's foot: and they sparkled like the color of burnished brass.[8] And they had the hands of a man under their wings on their four sides; and they four had their faces and their wings.[9] Their wings were joined one to another; they turned not when they went; they went every one straight forward.[10] As for the likeness of their faces, they four had the face of a man, and the face of a lion, on the right side: and they four had the face of an ox on the left side; they four also had the face of an eagle.[11] Thus were their faces: and their wings were stretched upward; two wings of every one were joined one to another, and two covered their bodies.[12] And they went every one straight forward: where the spirit was to go, they went; and they turned not when they went.[13] As for the likeness of the living creatures, their appearance was like burning coals of fire, and like the appearance of lamps: it went up and down among the living creatures; and the fire was bright, and out of the fire went forth lightning.[14] And the living creatures ran and returned as the appearance of a flash of lightning. ¶[15] Now as I beheld the living creatures, behold one wheel on the earth by the living creatures, with his four faces.[16] The appearance of the wheels and their work was like to the color of a beryl: and they four had one likeness: and their appearance and their work was as it were a wheel in the middle of a wheel.[17] When they went, they went on their four sides: and they turned not when they went.[18] As for their rings, they were so high that they were dreadful; and their rings were full of eyes round about them four.[19] And when the living creatures went, the wheels went by them: and when the living creatures were lifted up from the earth, the wheels were lifted up.[20] Wherever the spirit was to go, they went, thither was their spirit to go; and the wheels were lifted up over against them: for the spirit of the living creature was in the wheels.[21] When those went, these went; and when those stood, these stood; and when those were lifted up from the earth, the wheels were lifted up over against them: for the spirit of the living creature was in the wheels.[22] And the likeness of the firmament on the heads of the living creature was as the color of the terrible crystal, stretched forth over their heads above.[23] And under the firmament were their wings straight, the one toward the other: every one had two, which covered on this side, and every one had two, which covered on that side, their bodies.[24] And when they went, I heard the noise of their wings, like the noise of great waters, as the voice of the Almighty, the voice of speech, as the noise of an host: when they stood, they let down their wings.[25] And there was a voice from the firmament that was over their heads, when they stood, and had let down their wings. ¶[26] And above the firmament that was over their heads was the likeness of a throne, as the appearance of a sapphire stone: and on the likeness of the throne was the likeness as the appearance of a man above on it.[27] And I saw as the color of amber, as the appearance of fire round about within it, from the appearance of his loins even upward, and from the appearance of his loins even downward, I saw as it were the appearance of fire, and it had brightness round about.[28] As the appearance of the bow that is in the cloud in the day of rain, so was the appearance of the brightness round about. This was the appearance of the likeness of the glory of the LORD. And when I saw it, I fell on my face, and I heard a voice of one that spoke.

[1] And he said to me, Son of man, stand on your feet, and I will speak to you.

[2] And the spirit entered into me when he spoke to me, and set me on my feet, that I heard him that spoke to me.[3] And he said to me, Son of man, I send you to the children of Israel, to a rebellious nation that has rebelled against me: they and their fathers have transgressed against me, even to this very day.[4] For they are impudent children and stiff hearted. I do send you to them; and you shall say to them, Thus says the Lord GOD.[5] And they, whether they will hear, or whether they will forbear, (for they are a rebellious house,) yet shall know that there has been a prophet among them. ¶[6] And you, son of man, be not afraid of them, neither be afraid of their words, though briers and thorns be with you, and you do dwell among scorpions: be not afraid of their words, nor be dismayed at their looks, though they be a rebellious house.[7] And you shall speak my words to them, whether they will hear, or whether they will forbear: for they are most rebellious.[8] But you, son of man, hear what I say to you; Be not you rebellious like that rebellious house: open your mouth, and eat that I give you. ¶[9] And when I looked, behold, an hand was sent to me; and, see, a roll of a book was therein;[10] And he spread it before me; and it was written within and without: and there was written therein lamentations, and mourning, and woe.

[1] Moreover he said to me, Son of man, eat that you find; eat this roll, and go speak to the house of Israel.

[2] So I opened my mouth, and he caused me to eat that roll.[3] And he said to me, Son of man, cause your belly to eat, and fill your bowels with this roll that I give you. Then did I eat it; and it was in my mouth as honey for sweetness. ¶[4] And he said to me, Son of man, go, get you to the house of Israel, and speak with my words to them.[5] For you are not sent to a people of a strange speech and of an hard language, but to the house of Israel;[6] Not to many people of a strange speech and of an hard language, whose words you can not understand. Surely, had I sent you to them, they would have listened to you.[7] But the house of Israel will not listen to you; for they will not listen to me: for all the house of Israel are impudent and hardhearted.[8] Behold, I have made your face strong against their faces, and your forehead strong against their foreheads.[9] As an adamant harder than flint have I made your forehead: fear them not, neither be dismayed at their looks, though they be a rebellious house.[10] Moreover he said to me, Son of man, all my words that I shall speak to you receive in your heart, and hear with your ears.[11] And go, get you to them of the captivity, to the children of your people, and speak to them, and tell them, Thus says the Lord GOD; whether they will hear, or whether they will forbear.[12] Then the spirit took me up, and I heard behind me a voice of a great rushing, saying, Blessed be the glory of the LORD from his place.[13] I heard also the noise of the wings of the living creatures that touched one another, and the noise of the wheels over against them, and a noise of a great rushing.[14] So the spirit lifted me up, and took me away, and I went in bitterness, in the heat of my spirit; but the hand of the LORD was strong on me. ¶[15] Then I came to them of the captivity at Telabib, that dwelled by the river of Chebar, and I sat where they sat, and remained there astonished among them seven days.[16] And it came to pass at the end of seven days, that the word of the LORD came to me, saying,[17] Son of man, I have made you a watchman to the house of Israel: therefore hear the word at my mouth, and give them warning from me.[18] When I say to the wicked, You shall surely die; and you give him not warning, nor speak to warn the wicked from his wicked way, to save his life; the same wicked man shall die in his iniquity; but his blood will I require at your hand.[19] Yet if you warn the wicked, and he turn not from his wickedness, nor from his wicked way, he shall die in his iniquity; but you have delivered your soul.[20] Again, When a righteous man does turn from his righteousness, and commit iniquity, and I lay a stumbling-block before him, he shall die: because you have not given him warning, he shall die in his sin, and his righteousness which he has done shall not be remembered; but his blood will I require at your hand.[21] Nevertheless if you warn the righteous man, that the righteous sin not, and he does not sin, he shall surely live, because he is warned; also you have delivered your soul. ¶[22] And the hand of the LORD was there on me; and he said to me, Arise, go forth into the plain, and I will there talk with you.[23] Then I arose, and went forth into the plain: and, behold, the glory of the LORD stood there, as the glory which I saw by the river of Chebar: and I fell on my face.[24] Then the spirit entered into me, and set me on my feet, and spoke with me, and said to me, Go, shut yourself within your house.[25] But you, O son of man, behold, they shall put bands on you, and shall bind you with them, and you shall not go out among them:[26] And I will make your tongue sticks to the roof of your mouth, that you shall be dumb, and shall not be to them a reprover: for they are a rebellious house.[27] But when I speak with you, I will open your mouth, and you shall say to them, Thus says the Lord GOD; He that hears, let him hear; and he that declines, let him forbear: for they are a rebellious house.

[1] You also, son of man, take you a tile, and lay it before you, and portray on it the city, even Jerusalem:

[2] And lay siege against it, and build a fort against it, and cast a mount against it; set the camp also against it, and set battering rams against it round about.[3] Moreover take you to you an iron pan, and set it for a wall of iron between you and the city: and set your face against it, and it shall be besieged, and you shall lay siege against it. This shall be a sign to the house of Israel.[4] Lie you also on your left side, and lay the iniquity of the house of Israel on it: according to the number of the days that you shall lie on it you shall bear their iniquity.[5] For I have laid on you the years of their iniquity, according to the number of the days, three hundred and ninety days: so shall you bear the iniquity of the house of Israel.[6] And when you have accomplished them, lie again on your right side, and you shall bear the iniquity of the house of Judah forty days: I have appointed you each day for a year.[7] Therefore you shall set your face toward the siege of Jerusalem, and your arm shall be uncovered, and you shall prophesy against it.[8] And, behold, I will lay bands on you, and you shall not turn you from one side to another, till you have ended the days of your siege. ¶[9] Take you also to you wheat, and barley, and beans, and lentils, and millet, and fitches, and put them in one vessel, and make you bread thereof, according to the number of the days that you shall lie on your side, three hundred and ninety days shall you eat thereof.[10] And your meat which you shall eat shall be by weight, twenty shekels a day: from time to time shall you eat it.[11] You shall drink also water by measure, the sixth part of an hin: from time to time shall you drink.[12] And you shall eat it as barley cakes, and you shall bake it with dung that comes out of man, in their sight.[13] And the LORD said, Even thus shall the children of Israel eat their defiled bread among the Gentiles, where I will drive them.[14] Then said I, Ah Lord GOD! behold, my soul has not been polluted: for from my youth up even till now have I not eaten of that which dies of itself, or is torn in pieces; neither came there abominable flesh into my mouth.[15] Then he said to me, See, I have given you cow's dung for man's dung, and you shall prepare your bread therewith.[16] Moreover he said to me, Son of man, behold, I will break the staff of bread in Jerusalem: and they shall eat bread by weight, and with care; and they shall drink water by measure, and with astonishment:[17] That they may want bread and water, and be astonished one with another, and consume away for their iniquity.

[1] And you, son of man, take you a sharp knife, take you a barber's razor, and cause it to pass on your head and on your beard: then take you balances to weigh, and divide the hair.

[2] You shall burn with fire a third part in the middle of the city, when the days of the siege are fulfilled: and you shall take a third part, and smite about it with a knife: and a third part you shall scatter in the wind; and I will draw out a sword after them.[3] You shall also take thereof a few in number, and bind them in your skirts.[4] Then take of them again, and cast them into the middle of the fire, and burn them in the fire; for thereof shall a fire come forth into all the house of Israel. ¶[5] Thus says the Lord GOD; This is Jerusalem: I have set it in the middle of the nations and countries that are round about her.[6] And she has changed my judgments into wickedness more than the nations, and my statutes more than the countries that are round about her: for they have refused my judgments and my statutes, they have not walked in them.[7] Therefore thus says the Lord GOD; Because you multiplied more than the nations that are round about you, and have not walked in my statutes, neither have kept my judgments, neither have done according to the judgments of the nations that are round about you;[8] Therefore thus says the Lord GOD; Behold, I, even I, am against you, and will execute judgments in the middle of you in the sight of the nations.[9] And I will do in you that which I have not done, and which I will not do any more the like, because of all your abominations.[10] Therefore the fathers shall eat the sons in the middle of you, and the sons shall eat their fathers; and I will execute judgments in you, and the whole remnant of you will I scatter into all the winds.[11] Why, as I live, says the Lord GOD; Surely, because you have defiled my sanctuary with all your detestable things, and with all your abominations, therefore will I also diminish you; neither shall my eye spare, neither will I have any pity. ¶[12] A third part of you shall die with the pestilence, and with famine shall they be consumed in the middle of you: and a third part shall fall by the sword round about you; and I will scatter a third part into all the winds, and I will draw out a sword after them.[13] Thus shall my anger be accomplished, and I will cause my fury to rest on them, and I will be comforted: and they shall know that I the LORD have spoken it in my zeal, when I have accomplished my fury in them.[14] Moreover I will make you waste, and a reproach among the nations that are round about you, in the sight of all that pass by.[15] So it shall be a reproach and a taunt, an instruction and an astonishment to the nations that are round about you, when I shall execute judgments in you in anger and in fury and in furious rebukes. I the LORD have spoken it.[16] When I shall send on them the evil arrows of famine, which shall be for their destruction, and which I will send to destroy you: and I will increase the famine on you, and will break your staff of bread:[17] So will I send on you famine and evil beasts, and they shall bereave you: and pestilence and blood shall pass through you; and I will bring the sword on you. I the LORD have spoken it.

[1] And the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

[2] Son of man, set your face toward the mountains of Israel, and prophesy against them,[3] And say, You mountains of Israel, hear the word of the Lord GOD; Thus says the Lord GOD to the mountains, and to the hills, to the rivers, and to the valleys; Behold, I, even I, will bring a sword on you, and I will destroy your high places.[4] And your altars shall be desolate, and your images shall be broken: and I will cast down your slain men before your idols.[5] And I will lay the dead carcasses of the children of Israel before their idols; and I will scatter your bones round about your altars.[6] In all your dwelling places the cities shall be laid waste, and the high places shall be desolate; that your altars may be laid waste and made desolate, and your idols may be broken and cease, and your images may be cut down, and your works may be abolished.[7] And the slain shall fall in the middle of you, and you shall know that I am the LORD. ¶[8] Yet will I leave a remnant, that you may have some that shall escape the sword among the nations, when you shall be scattered through the countries.[9] And they that escape of you shall remember me among the nations where they shall be carried captives, because I am broken with their whorish heart, which has departed from me, and with their eyes, which go a whoring after their idols: and they shall loathe themselves for the evils which they have committed in all their abominations.[10] And they shall know that I am the LORD, and that I have not said in vain that I would do this evil to them. ¶[11] Thus says the Lord GOD; Smite with your hand, and stamp with your foot, and say, Alas for all the evil abominations of the house of Israel! for they shall fall by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence.[12] He that is far off shall die of the pestilence; and he that is near shall fall by the sword; and he that remains and is besieged shall die by the famine: thus will I accomplish my fury on them.[13] Then shall you know that I am the LORD, when their slain men shall be among their idols round about their altars, on every high hill, in all the tops of the mountains, and under every green tree, and under every thick oak, the place where they did offer sweet smell to all their idols.[14] So will I stretch out my hand on them, and make the land desolate, yes, more desolate than the wilderness toward Diblath, in all their habitations: and they shall know that I am the LORD.

[1] Moreover the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

[2] Also, you son of man, thus says the Lord GOD to the land of Israel; An end, the end is come on the four corners of the land.[3] Now is the end come on you, and I will send my anger on you, and will judge you according to your ways, and will recompense on you all your abominations.[4] And my eye shall not spare you, neither will I have pity: but I will recompense your ways on you, and your abominations shall be in the middle of you: and you shall know that I am the LORD.[5] Thus says the Lord GOD; An evil, an only evil, behold, is come.[6] An end is come, the end is come: it watches for you; behold, it is come.[7] The morning is come to you, O you that dwell in the land: the time is come, the day of trouble is near, and not the sounding again of the mountains.[8] Now will I shortly pour out my fury on you, and accomplish my anger on you: and I will judge you according to your ways, and will recompense you for all your abominations.[9] And my eye shall not spare, neither will I have pity: I will recompense you according to your ways and your abominations that are in the middle of you; and you shall know that I am the LORD that smites.[10] Behold the day, behold, it is come: the morning is gone forth; the rod has blossomed, pride has budded.[11] Violence is risen up into a rod of wickedness: none of them shall remain, nor of their multitude, nor of any of theirs: neither shall there be wailing for them.[12] The time is come, the day draws near: let not the buyer rejoice, nor the seller mourn: for wrath is on all the multitude thereof.[13] For the seller shall not return to that which is sold, although they were yet alive: for the vision is touching the whole multitude thereof, which shall not return; neither shall any strengthen himself in the iniquity of his life.[14] They have blown the trumpet, even to make all ready; but none goes to the battle: for my wrath is on all the multitude thereof.[15] The sword is without, and the pestilence and the famine within: he that is in the field shall die with the sword; and he that is in the city, famine and pestilence shall devour him. ¶[16] But they that escape of them shall escape, and shall be on the mountains like doves of the valleys, all of them mourning, every one for his iniquity.[17] All hands shall be feeble, and all knees shall be weak as water.[18] They shall also gird themselves with sackcloth, and horror shall cover them; and shame shall be on all faces, and baldness on all their heads.[19] They shall cast their silver in the streets, and their gold shall be removed: their silver and their gold shall not be able to deliver them in the day of the wrath of the LORD: they shall not satisfy their souls, neither fill their bowels: because it is the stumbling block of their iniquity. ¶[20] As for the beauty of his ornament, he set it in majesty: but they made the images of their abominations and of their detestable things therein: therefore have I set it far from them.[21] And I will give it into the hands of the strangers for a prey, and to the wicked of the earth for a spoil; and they shall pollute it.[22] My face will I turn also from them, and they shall pollute my secret place: for the robbers shall enter into it, and defile it. ¶[23] Make a chain: for the land is full of bloody crimes, and the city is full of violence.[24] Why I will bring the worst of the heathen, and they shall possess their houses: I will also make the pomp of the strong to cease; and their holy places shall be defiled.[25] Destruction comes; and they shall seek peace, and there shall be none.[26] Mischief shall come on mischief, and rumor shall be on rumor; then shall they seek a vision of the prophet; but the law shall perish from the priest, and counsel from the ancients.[27] The king shall mourn, and the prince shall be clothed with desolation, and the hands of the people of the land shall be troubled: I will do to them after their way, and according to their deserts will I judge them; and they shall know that I am the LORD.

[1] And it came to pass in the sixth year, in the sixth month, in the fifth day of the month, as I sat in my house, and the elders of Judah sat before me, that the hand of the Lord GOD fell there on me.

[2] Then I beheld, and see a likeness as the appearance of fire: from the appearance of his loins even downward, fire; and from his loins even upward, as the appearance of brightness, as the color of amber.[3] And he put forth the form of an hand, and took me by a lock of my head; and the spirit lifted me up between the earth and the heaven, and brought me in the visions of God to Jerusalem, to the door of the inner gate that looks toward the north; where was the seat of the image of jealousy, which provokes to jealousy.[4] And, behold, the glory of the God of Israel was there, according to the vision that I saw in the plain. ¶[5] Then said he to me, Son of man, lift up your eyes now the way toward the north. So I lifted up my eyes the way toward the north, and behold northward at the gate of the altar this image of jealousy in the entry.[6] He said furthermore to me, Son of man, see you what they do? even the great abominations that the house of Israel commits here, that I should go far off from my sanctuary? but turn you yet again, and you shall see greater abominations. ¶[7] And he brought me to the door of the court; and when I looked, behold a hole in the wall.[8] Then said he to me, Son of man, dig now in the wall: and when I had dig in the wall, behold a door.[9] And he said to me, Go in, and behold the wicked abominations that they do here.[10] So I went in and saw; and behold every form of creeping things, and abominable beasts, and all the idols of the house of Israel, portrayed on the wall round about.[11] And there stood before them seventy men of the ancients of the house of Israel, and in the middle of them stood Jaazaniah the son of Shaphan, with every man his censer in his hand; and a thick cloud of incense went up.[12] Then said he to me, Son of man, have you seen what the ancients of the house of Israel do in the dark, every man in the chambers of his imagery? for they say, the LORD sees us not; the LORD has forsaken the earth. ¶[13] He said also to me, Turn you yet again, and you shall see greater abominations that they do.[14] Then he brought me to the door of the gate of the LORD's house which was toward the north; and, behold, there sat women weeping for Tammuz. ¶[15] Then said he to me, Have you seen this, O son of man? turn you yet again, and you shall see greater abominations than these.[16] And he brought me into the inner court of the LORD's house, and, behold, at the door of the temple of the LORD, between the porch and the altar, were about five and twenty men, with their backs toward the temple of the LORD, and their faces toward the east; and they worshipped the sun toward the east. ¶[17] Then he said to me, Have you seen this, O son of man? Is it a light thing to the house of Judah that they commit the abominations which they commit here? for they have filled the land with violence, and have returned to provoke me to anger: and, see, they put the branch to their nose.[18] Therefore will I also deal in fury: my eye shall not spare, neither will I have pity: and though they cry in my ears with a loud voice, yet will I not hear them.

[1] He cried also in my ears with a loud voice, saying, Cause them that have charge over the city to draw near, even every man with his destroying weapon in his hand.

[2] And, behold, six men came from the way of the higher gate, which lies toward the north, and every man a slaughter weapon in his hand; and one man among them was clothed with linen, with a writer's inkhorn by his side: and they went in, and stood beside the brazen altar.[3] And the glory of the God of Israel was gone up from the cherub, whereupon he was, to the threshold of the house. And he called to the man clothed with linen, which had the writer's inkhorn by his side;[4] And the LORD said to him, Go through the middle of the city, through the middle of Jerusalem, and set a mark on the foreheads of the men that sigh and that cry for all the abominations that be done in the middle thereof. ¶[5] And to the others he said in my hearing, Go you after him through the city, and smite: let not your eye spare, neither have you pity:[6] Slay utterly old and young, both maids, and little children, and women: but come not near any man on whom is the mark; and begin at my sanctuary. Then they began at the ancient men which were before the house.[7] And he said to them, Defile the house, and fill the courts with the slain: go you forth. And they went forth, and slew in the city. ¶[8] And it came to pass, while they were slaying them, and I was left, that I fell on my face, and cried, and said, Ah Lord GOD! will you destroy all the residue of Israel in your pouring out of your fury on Jerusalem?[9] Then said he to me, The iniquity of the house of Israel and Judah is exceeding great, and the land is full of blood, and the city full of perverseness: for they say, The LORD has forsaken the earth, and the LORD sees not.[10] And as for me also, my eye shall not spare, neither will I have pity, but I will recompense their way on their head.[11] And, behold, the man clothed with linen, which had the inkhorn by his side, reported the matter, saying, I have done as you have commanded me.

[1] Then I looked, and, behold, in the firmament that was above the head of the cherubim there appeared over them as it were a sapphire stone, as the appearance of the likeness of a throne.

[2] And he spoke to the man clothed with linen, and said, Go in between the wheels, even under the cherub, and fill your hand with coals of fire from between the cherubim, and scatter them over the city. And he went in in my sight.[3] Now the cherubim stood on the right side of the house, when the man went in; and the cloud filled the inner court.[4] Then the glory of the LORD went up from the cherub, and stood over the threshold of the house; and the house was filled with the cloud, and the court was full of the brightness of the LORD's glory.[5] And the sound of the cherubims' wings was heard even to the outer court, as the voice of the Almighty God when he speaks.[6] And it came to pass, that when he had commanded the man clothed with linen, saying, Take fire from between the wheels, from between the cherubim; then he went in, and stood beside the wheels.[7] And one cherub stretched forth his hand from between the cherubim to the fire that was between the cherubim, and took thereof, and put it into the hands of him that was clothed with linen: who took it, and went out. ¶[8] And there appeared in the cherubim the form of a man's hand under their wings.[9] And when I looked, behold the four wheels by the cherubim, one wheel by one cherub, and another wheel by another cherub: and the appearance of the wheels was as the color of a beryl stone.[10] And as for their appearances, they four had one likeness, as if a wheel had been in the middle of a wheel.[11] When they went, they went on their four sides; they turned not as they went, but to the place where the head looked they followed it; they turned not as they went.[12] And their whole body, and their backs, and their hands, and their wings, and the wheels, were full of eyes round about, even the wheels that they four had.[13] As for the wheels, it was cried to them in my hearing, O wheel.[14] And every one had four faces: the first face was the face of a cherub, and the second face was the face of a man, and the third the face of a lion, and the fourth the face of an eagle.[15] And the cherubim were lifted up. This is the living creature that I saw by the river of Chebar.[16] And when the cherubim went, the wheels went by them: and when the cherubim lifted up their wings to mount up from the earth, the same wheels also turned not from beside them.[17] When they stood, these stood; and when they were lifted up, these lifted up themselves also: for the spirit of the living creature was in them.[18] Then the glory of the LORD departed from off the threshold of the house, and stood over the cherubim.[19] And the cherubim lifted up their wings, and mounted up from the earth in my sight: when they went out, the wheels also were beside them, and every one stood at the door of the east gate of the LORD's house; and the glory of the God of Israel was over them above.[20] This is the living creature that I saw under the God of Israel by the river of Chebar; and I knew that they were the cherubim.[21] Every one had four faces apiece, and every one four wings; and the likeness of the hands of a man was under their wings.[22] And the likeness of their faces was the same faces which I saw by the river of Chebar, their appearances and themselves: they went every one straight forward.

[1] Moreover the spirit lifted me up, and brought me to the east gate of the LORD's house, which looks eastward: and behold at the door of the gate five and twenty men; among whom I saw Jaazaniah the son of Azur, and Pelatiah the son of Benaiah, princes of the people.

[2] Then said he to me, Son of man, these are the men that devise mischief, and give wicked counsel in this city:[3] Which say, It is not near; let us build houses: this city is the caldron, and we be the flesh. ¶[4] Therefore prophesy against them, prophesy, O son of man.[5] And the Spirit of the LORD fell on me, and said to me, Speak; Thus says the LORD; Thus have you said, O house of Israel: for I know the things that come into your mind, every one of them.[6] You have multiplied your slain in this city, and you have filled the streets thereof with the slain.[7] Therefore thus says the Lord GOD; Your slain whom you have laid in the middle of it, they are the flesh, and this city is the caldron: but I will bring you forth out of the middle of it.[8] You have feared the sword; and I will bring a sword on you, says the Lord GOD.[9] And I will bring you out of the middle thereof, and deliver you into the hands of strangers, and will execute judgments among you.[10] You shall fall by the sword; I will judge you in the border of Israel; and you shall know that I am the LORD.[11] This city shall not be your caldron, neither shall you be the flesh in the middle thereof; but I will judge you in the border of Israel:[12] And you shall know that I am the LORD: for you have not walked in my statutes, neither executed my judgments, but have done after the manners of the heathen that are round about you. ¶[13] And it came to pass, when I prophesied, that Pelatiah the son of Benaiah died. Then fell I down on my face, and cried with a loud voice, and said, Ah Lord GOD! will you make a full end of the remnant of Israel?[14] Again the word of the LORD came to me, saying,[15] Son of man, your brothers, even your brothers, the men of your kindred, and all the house of Israel wholly, are they to whom the inhabitants of Jerusalem have said, Get you far from the LORD: to us is this land given in possession.[16] Therefore say, Thus says the Lord GOD; Although I have cast them far off among the heathen, and although I have scattered them among the countries, yet will I be to them as a little sanctuary in the countries where they shall come.[17] Therefore say, Thus says the Lord GOD; I will even gather you from the people, and assemble you out of the countries where you have been scattered, and I will give you the land of Israel.[18] And they shall come thither, and they shall take away all the detestable things thereof and all the abominations thereof from there.[19] And I will give them one heart, and I will put a new spirit within you; and I will take the stony heart out of their flesh, and will give them an heart of flesh:[20] That they may walk in my statutes, and keep my ordinances, and do them: and they shall be my people, and I will be their God.[21] But as for them whose heart walks after the heart of their detestable things and their abominations, I will recompense their way on their own heads, says the Lord GOD. ¶[22] Then did the cherubim lift up their wings, and the wheels beside them; and the glory of the God of Israel was over them above.[23] And the glory of the LORD went up from the middle of the city, and stood on the mountain which is on the east side of the city. ¶[24] Afterwards the spirit took me up, and brought me in a vision by the Spirit of God into Chaldea, to them of the captivity. So the vision that I had seen went up from me.[25] Then I spoke to them of the captivity all the things that the LORD had showed me.

[1] The word of the LORD also came to me, saying,

[2] Son of man, you dwell in the middle of a rebellious house, which have eyes to see, and see not; they have ears to hear, and hear not: for they are a rebellious house.[3] Therefore, you son of man, prepare you stuff for removing, and remove by day in their sight; and you shall remove from your place to another place in their sight: it may be they will consider, though they be a rebellious house.[4] Then shall you bring forth your stuff by day in their sight, as stuff for removing: and you shall go forth at even in their sight, as they that go forth into captivity.[5] Dig you through the wall in their sight, and carry out thereby.[6] In their sight shall you bear it on your shoulders, and carry it forth in the twilight: you shall cover your face, that you see not the ground: for I have set you for a sign to the house of Israel.[7] And I did so as I was commanded: I brought forth my stuff by day, as stuff for captivity, and in the even I dig through the wall with my hand; I brought it forth in the twilight, and I bore it on my shoulder in their sight. ¶[8] And in the morning came the word of the LORD to me, saying,[9] Son of man, has not the house of Israel, the rebellious house, said to you, What do you?[10] Say you to them, Thus says the Lord GOD; This burden concerns the prince in Jerusalem, and all the house of Israel that are among them.[11] Say, I am your sign: like as I have done, so shall it be done to them: they shall remove and go into captivity.[12] And the prince that is among them shall bear on his shoulder in the twilight, and shall go forth: they shall dig through the wall to carry out thereby: he shall cover his face, that he see not the ground with his eyes.[13] My net also will I spread on him, and he shall be taken in my snare: and I will bring him to Babylon to the land of the Chaldeans; yet shall he not see it, though he shall die there.[14] And I will scatter toward every wind all that are about him to help him, and all his bands; and I will draw out the sword after them.[15] And they shall know that I am the LORD, when I shall scatter them among the nations, and disperse them in the countries.[16] But I will leave a few men of them from the sword, from the famine, and from the pestilence; that they may declare all their abominations among the heathen where they come; and they shall know that I am the LORD. ¶[17] Moreover the word of the LORD came to me, saying,[18] Son of man, eat your bread with quaking, and drink your water with trembling and with carefulness;[19] And say to the people of the land, Thus says the Lord GOD of the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and of the land of Israel; They shall eat their bread with carefulness, and drink their water with astonishment, that her land may be desolate from all that is therein, because of the violence of all them that dwell therein.[20] And the cities that are inhabited shall be laid waste, and the land shall be desolate; and you shall know that I am the LORD. ¶[21] And the word of the LORD came to me, saying,[22] Son of man, what is that proverb that you have in the land of Israel, saying, The days are prolonged, and every vision fails?[23] Tell them therefore, Thus says the Lord GOD; I will make this proverb to cease, and they shall no more use it as a proverb in Israel; but say to them, The days are at hand, and the effect of every vision.[24] For there shall be no more any vain vision nor flattering divination within the house of Israel.[25] For I am the LORD: I will speak, and the word that I shall speak shall come to pass; it shall be no more prolonged: for in your days, O rebellious house, will I say the word, and will perform it, says the Lord GOD. ¶[26] Again the word of the LORD came to me, saying.[27] Son of man, behold, they of the house of Israel say, The vision that he sees is for many days to come, and he prophesies of the times that are far off.[28] Therefore say to them, Thus says the Lord GOD; There shall none of my words be prolonged any more, but the word which I have spoken shall be done, says the Lord GOD.

[1] And the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

[2] Son of man, prophesy against the prophets of Israel that prophesy, and say you to them that prophesy out of their own hearts, Hear you the word of the LORD;[3] Thus says the Lord GOD; Woe to the foolish prophets, that follow their own spirit, and have seen nothing![4] O Israel, your prophets are like the foxes in the deserts.[5] You have not gone up into the gaps, neither made up the hedge for the house of Israel to stand in the battle in the day of the LORD.[6] They have seen vanity and lying divination, saying, The LORD says: and the LORD has not sent them: and they have made others to hope that they would confirm the word.[7] Have you not seen a vain vision, and have you not spoken a lying divination, whereas you say, The LORD says it; albeit I have not spoken?[8] Therefore thus says the Lord GOD; Because you have spoken vanity, and seen lies, therefore, behold, I am against you, says the Lord GOD.[9] And my hand shall be on the prophets that see vanity, and that divine lies: they shall not be in the assembly of my people, neither shall they be written in the writing of the house of Israel, neither shall they enter into the land of Israel; and you shall know that I am the Lord GOD. ¶[10] Because, even because they have seduced my people, saying,

Peace; and there was no peace; and one built up a wall, and, see, others daubed it with untempered mortar:[11] Say to them which daub it with untempered mortar, that it shall fall: there shall be an overflowing shower; and you, O great hailstones, shall fall; and a stormy wind shall rend it.[12] See, when the wall is fallen, shall it not be said to you, Where is the daubing with which you have daubed it?[13] Therefore thus says the Lord GOD; I will even rend it with a stormy wind in my fury; and there shall be an overflowing shower in my anger, and great hailstones in my fury to consume it.[14] So will I break down the wall that you have daubed with untempered mortar, and bring it down to the ground, so that the foundation thereof shall be discovered, and it shall fall, and you shall be consumed in the middle thereof: and you shall know that I am the LORD.[15] Thus will I accomplish my wrath on the wall, and on them that have daubed it with untempered mortar, and will say to you, The wall is no more, neither they that daubed it;[16] To wit, the prophets of Israel which prophesy concerning Jerusalem, and which see visions of peace for her, and there is no peace, says the Lord GOD. ¶[17] Likewise, you son of man, set your face against the daughters of your people, which prophesy out of their own heart; and prophesy you against them,[18] And say, Thus says the Lord GOD; Woe to the women that sew pillows to all armholes, and make kerchiefs on the head of every stature to hunt souls! Will you hunt the souls of my people, and will you save the souls alive that come to you?[19] And will you pollute me among my people for handfuls of barley and for pieces of bread, to slay the souls that should not die, and to save the souls alive that should not live, by your lying to my people that hear your lies?[20] Why thus says the Lord GOD; Behold, I am against your pillows, with which you there hunt the souls to make them fly, and I will tear them from your arms, and will let the souls go, even the souls that you hunt to make them fly.[21] Your kerchiefs also will I tear, and deliver my people out of your hand, and they shall be no more in your hand to be hunted; and you shall know that I am the LORD.[22] Because with lies you have made the heart of the righteous sad, whom I have not made sad; and strengthened the hands of the wicked, that he should not return from his wicked way, by promising him life:[23] Therefore you shall see no more vanity, nor divine divinations: for I will deliver my people out of your hand: and you shall know that I am the LORD.

[1] Then came certain of the elders of Israel to me, and sat before me.

[2] And the word of the LORD came to me, saying,[3] Son of man, these men have set up their idols in their heart, and put the stumbling block of their iniquity before their face: should I be inquired of at all by them?[4] Therefore speak to them, and say to them, Thus says the Lord GOD; Every man of the house of Israel that sets up his idols in his heart, and puts the stumbling block of his iniquity before his face, and comes to the prophet; I the LORD will answer him that comes according to the multitude of his idols;[5] That I may take the house of Israel in their own heart, because they are all estranged from me through their idols. ¶[6] Therefore say to the house of Israel, Thus says the Lord GOD; Repent, and turn yourselves from your idols; and turn away your faces from all your abominations.[7] For every one of the house of Israel, or of the stranger that sojourns in Israel, which separates himself from me, and sets up his idols in his heart, and puts the stumbling block of his iniquity before his face, and comes to a prophet to inquire of him concerning me; I the LORD will answer him by myself:[8] And I will set my face against that man, and will make him a sign and a proverb, and I will cut him off from the middle of my people; and you shall know that I am the LORD.[9] And if the prophet be deceived when he has spoken a thing, I the LORD have deceived that prophet, and I will stretch out my hand on him, and will destroy him from the middle of my people Israel.[10] And they shall bear the punishment of their iniquity: the punishment of the prophet shall be even as the punishment of him that seeks to him;[11] That the house of Israel may go no more astray from me, neither be polluted any more with all their transgressions; but that they may be my people, and I may be their God, says the Lord GOD. ¶[12] The word of the LORD came again to me, saying,[13] Son of man, when the land sins against me by trespassing grievously, then will I stretch out my hand on it, and will break the staff of the bread thereof, and will send famine on it, and will cut off man and beast from it:[14] Though these three men, Noah, Daniel, and Job, were in it, they should deliver but their own souls by their righteousness, says the Lord GOD. ¶[15] If I cause noisome beasts to pass through the land, and they spoil it, so that it be desolate, that no man may pass through because of the beasts:[16] Though these three men were in it, as I live, says the Lord GOD, they shall deliver neither sons nor daughters; they only shall be delivered, but the land shall be desolate. ¶[17] Or if I bring a sword on that land, and say, Sword, go through the land; so that I cut off man and beast from it:[18] Though these three men were in it, as I live, says the Lord GOD, they shall deliver neither sons nor daughters, but they only shall be delivered themselves. ¶[19] Or if I send a pestilence into that land, and pour out my fury on it in blood, to cut off from it man and beast:[20] Though Noah, Daniel, and Job were in it, as I live, says the Lord GOD, they shall deliver neither son nor daughter; they shall but deliver their own souls by their righteousness.[21] For thus says the Lord GOD; How much more when I send my four sore judgments on Jerusalem, the sword, and the famine, and the noisome beast, and the pestilence, to cut off from it man and beast? ¶[22] Yet, behold, therein shall be left a remnant that shall be brought forth, both sons and daughters: behold, they shall come forth to you, and you shall see their way and their doings: and you shall be comforted concerning the evil that I have brought on Jerusalem, even concerning all that I have brought on it.[23] And they shall comfort you, when you see their ways and their doings: and you shall know that I have not done without cause all that I have done in it, says the Lord GOD.

[1] And the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

[2] Son of man, what is the vine tree more than any tree, or than a branch which is among the trees of the forest?[3] Shall wood be taken thereof to do any work? or will men take a pin of it to hang any vessel thereon?[4] Behold, it is cast into the fire for fuel; the fire devours both the ends of it, and the middle of it is burned. Is it meet for any work?[5] Behold, when it was whole, it was meet for no work: how much less shall it be meet yet for any work, when the fire has devoured it, and it is burned? ¶[6] Therefore thus says the Lord GOD; As the vine tree among the trees of the forest, which I have given to the fire for fuel, so will I give the inhabitants of Jerusalem.[7] And I will set my face against them; they shall go out from one fire, and another fire shall devour them; and you shall know that I am the LORD, when I set my face against them.[8] And I will make the land desolate, because they have committed a trespass, says the Lord GOD.

[1] Again the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

[2] Son of man, cause Jerusalem to know her abominations,[3] And say, Thus says the Lord GOD to Jerusalem; Your birth and your nativity is of the land of Canaan; your father was an Amorite, and your mother an Hittite.[4] And as for your nativity, in the day you were born your navel was not cut, neither were you washed in water to supple you; you were not salted at all, nor swaddled at all.[5] None eye pitied you, to do any of these to you, to have compassion on you; but you were cast out in the open field, to the loathing of your person, in the day that you were born. ¶[6] And when I passed by you, and saw you polluted in your own blood, I said to you when you were in your blood, Live; yes, I said to you when you were in your blood, Live.[7] I have caused you to multiply as the bud of the field, and you have increased and waxen great, and you are come to excellent ornaments: your breasts are fashioned, and your hair is grown, whereas you were naked and bore.[8] Now when I passed by you, and looked on you, behold, your time was the time of love; and I spread my skirt over you, and covered your nakedness: yes, I swore to you, and entered into a covenant with you, says the Lord GOD, and you became mine.[9] Then washed I you with water; yes, I thoroughly washed away your blood from you, and I anointed you with oil.[10] I clothed you also with broidered work, and shod you with badgers' skin, and I girded you about with fine linen, and I covered you with silk.[11] I decked you also with ornaments, and I put bracelets on your hands, and a chain on your neck.[12] And I put a jewel on your forehead, and earrings in your ears, and a beautiful crown on your head.[13] Thus were you decked with gold and silver; and your raiment was of fine linen, and silk, and broidered work; you did eat fine flour, and honey, and oil: and you were exceeding beautiful, and you did prosper into a kingdom.[14] And your renown went forth among the heathen for your beauty: for it was perfect through my comeliness, which I had put on you, says the Lord GOD. ¶[15] But you did trust in your own beauty, and played the harlot because of your renown, and poured out your fornications on every one that passed by; his it was.[16] And of your garments you did take, and decked your high places with divers colors, and played the harlot thereupon: the like things shall not come, neither shall it be so.[17] You have also taken your fair jewels of my gold and of my silver, which I had given you, and made to yourself images of men, and did commit prostitution with them,[18] And took your broidered garments, and covered them: and you have set my oil and my incense before them.[19] My meat also which I gave you, fine flour, and oil, and honey, with which I fed you, you have even set it before them for a sweet smell: and thus it was, says the Lord GOD.[20] Moreover you have taken your sons and your daughters, whom you have borne to me, and these have you sacrificed to them to be devoured. Is this of your prostitutions a small matter,[21] That you have slain my children, and delivered them to cause them to pass through the fire for them?[22] And in all your abominations and your prostitutions you have not remembered the days of your youth, when you were naked and bore, and were polluted in your blood.[23] And it came to pass after all your wickedness, (woe, woe to you! says the LORD GOD;)[24] That you have also built to you an eminent place, and have made you an high place in every street.[25] You have built your high place at every head of the way, and have made your beauty to be abhorred, and have opened your feet to every one that passed by, and multiplied your prostitutions.[26] You have also committed fornication with the Egyptians your neighbors, great of flesh; and have increased your prostitutions, to provoke me to anger.[27] Behold, therefore I have stretched out my hand over you, and have diminished your ordinary food, and delivered you to the will of them that hate you, the daughters of the Philistines, which are ashamed of your lewd way.[28] You have played the whore also with the Assyrians, because you were insatiable; yes, you have played the harlot with them, and yet could not be satisfied.[29] You have moreover multiplied your fornication in the land of Canaan to Chaldea; and yet you were not satisfied therewith.[30] How weak is your heart, says the LORD GOD, seeing you do all these things, the work of an imperious whorish woman;[31] In that you build your eminent place in the head of every way, and make your high place in every street; and have not been as an harlot, in that you scorn hire;[32] But as a wife that commits adultery, which takes strangers instead of her husband![33] They give gifts to all whores: but you give your gifts to all your lovers, and hire them, that they may come to you on every side for your prostitution.[34] And the contrary is in you from other women in your prostitutions, whereas none follows you to commit prostitutions: and in that you give a reward, and no reward is given to you, therefore you are contrary. ¶[35] Why, O harlot, hear the word of the LORD:[36] Thus says the Lord GOD; Because your filthiness was poured out, and your nakedness discovered through your prostitutions with your lovers, and with all the idols of your abominations, and by the blood of your children, which you did give to them;[37] Behold, therefore I will gather all your lovers, with whom you have taken pleasure, and all them that you have loved, with all them that you have hated; I will even gather them round about against you, and will discover your nakedness to them, that they may see all your nakedness.[38] And I will judge you, as women that break wedlock and shed blood are judged; and I will give you blood in fury and jealousy.[39] And I will also give you into their hand, and they shall throw down your eminent place, and shall break down your high places: they shall strip you also of your clothes, and shall take your fair jewels, and leave you naked and bore.[40] They shall also bring up a company against you, and they shall stone you with stones, and thrust you through with their swords.[41] And they shall burn your houses with fire, and execute judgments on you in the sight of many women: and I will cause you to cease from playing the harlot, and you also shall give no hire any more.[42] So will I make my fury toward you to rest, and my jealousy shall depart from you, and I will be quiet, and will be no more angry.[43] Because you have not remembered the days of your youth, but have fretted me in all these things; behold, therefore I also will recompense your way on your head, says the Lord GOD: and you shall not commit this lewdness above all your abominations. ¶[44] Behold, every one that uses proverbs shall use this proverb against you, saying, As is the mother, so is her daughter.[45] You are your mother's daughter, that lothes her husband and her children; and you are the sister of your sisters, which loathed their husbands and their children: your mother was an Hittite, and your father an Amorite.[46] And your elder sister is Samaria, she and her daughters that dwell at your left hand: and your younger sister, that dwells at your right hand, is Sodom and her daughters.[47] Yet have you not walked after their ways, nor done after their abominations: but, as if that were a very little thing, you were corrupted more than they in all your ways.[48] As I live, says the Lord GOD, Sodom your sister has not done, she nor her daughters, as you have done, you and your daughters.[49] Behold, this was the iniquity of your sister Sodom, pride, fullness of bread, and abundance of idleness was in her and in her daughters, neither did she strengthen the hand of the poor and needy.[50] And they were haughty, and committed abomination before me: therefore I took them away as I saw good.[51] Neither has Samaria committed half of your sins; but you have multiplied your abominations more than they, and have justified your sisters in all your abominations which you have done.[52] You also, which have judged your sisters, bear your own shame for your sins that you have committed more abominable than they: they are more righteous than you: yes, be you confounded also, and bear your shame, in that you have justified your sisters.[53] When I shall bring again their captivity, the captivity of Sodom and her daughters, and the captivity of Samaria and her daughters, then will I bring again the captivity of your captives in the middle of them:[54] That you may bear your own shame, and may be confounded in all that you have done, in that you are a comfort to them.[55] When your sisters, Sodom and her daughters, shall return to their former estate, and Samaria and her daughters shall return to their former estate, then you and your daughters shall return to your former estate.[56] For your sister Sodom was not mentioned by your mouth in the day of your pride,[57] Before your wickedness was discovered, as at the time of your reproach of the daughters of Syria, and all that are round about her, the daughters of the Philistines, which despise you round about.[58] You have borne your lewdness and your abominations, says the LORD.[59] For thus says the Lord GOD; I will even deal with you as you have done, which have despised the oath in breaking the covenant. ¶[60] Nevertheless I will remember my covenant with you in the days of your youth, and I will establish to you an everlasting covenant.[61] Then you shall remember your ways, and be ashamed, when you shall receive your sisters, your elder and your younger: and I will give them to you for daughters, but not by your covenant.[62] And I will establish my covenant with you; and you shall know that I am the LORD:[63] That you may remember, and be confounded, and never open your mouth any more because of your shame, when I am pacified toward you for all that you have done, says the Lord GOD.

[1] And the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

[2] Son of man, put forth a riddle, and speak a parable to the house of Israel;[3] And say, Thus says the Lord GOD; A great eagle with great wings, long winged, full of feathers, which had divers colors, came to Lebanon, and took the highest branch of the cedar:[4] He cropped off the top of his young twigs, and carried it into a land of traffic; he set it in a city of merchants.[5] He took also of the seed of the land, and planted it in a fruitful field; he placed it by great waters, and set it as a willow tree.[6] And it grew, and became a spreading vine of low stature, whose branches turned toward him, and the roots thereof were under him: so it became a vine, and brought forth branches, and shot forth sprigs.[7] There was also another great eagle with great wings and many feathers: and, behold, this vine did bend her roots toward him, and shot forth her branches toward him, that he might water it by the furrows of her plantation.[8] It was planted in a good soil by great waters, that it might bring forth branches, and that it might bear fruit, that it might be a goodly vine.[9] Say you, Thus says the Lord GOD; Shall it prosper? shall he not pull up the roots thereof, and cut off the fruit thereof, that it wither? it shall wither in all the leaves of her spring, even without great power or many people to pluck it up by the roots thereof.[10] Yes, behold, being planted, shall it prosper? shall it not utterly wither, when the east wind touches it? it shall wither in the furrows where it grew. ¶[11] Moreover the word of the LORD came to me, saying,[12] Say now to the rebellious house, Know you not what these things mean? tell them, Behold, the king of Babylon is come to Jerusalem, and has taken the king thereof, and the princes thereof, and led them with him to Babylon;[13] And has taken of the king's seed, and made a covenant with him, and has taken an oath of him: he has also taken the mighty of the land:[14] That the kingdom might be base, that it might not lift itself up, but that by keeping of his covenant it might stand.[15] But he rebelled against him in sending his ambassadors into Egypt, that they might give him horses and much people. Shall he prosper? shall he escape that does such things? or shall he break the covenant, and be delivered?[16] As I live, says the Lord GOD, surely in the place where the king dwells that made him king, whose oath he despised, and whose covenant he broke, even with him in the middle of Babylon he shall die.[17] Neither shall Pharaoh with his mighty army and great company make for him in the war, by casting up mounts, and building forts, to cut off many persons:[18] Seeing he despised the oath by breaking the covenant, when, see, he had given his hand, and has done all these things, he shall not escape.[19] Therefore thus says the Lord GOD; As I live, surely my oath that he has despised, and my covenant that he has broken, even it will I recompense on his own head.[20] And I will spread my net on him, and he shall be taken in my snare, and I will bring him to Babylon, and will plead with him there for his trespass that he has trespassed against me.[21] And all his fugitives with all his bands shall fall by the sword, and they that remain shall be scattered toward all winds: and you shall know that I the LORD have spoken it. ¶[22] Thus says the Lord GOD; I will also take of the highest branch of the high cedar, and will set it; I will crop off from the top of his young twigs a tender one, and will plant it on an high mountain and eminent:[23] In the mountain of the height of Israel will I plant it: and it shall bring forth boughs, and bear fruit, and be a goodly cedar: and under it shall dwell all fowl of every wing; in the shadow of the branches thereof shall they dwell.[24] And all the trees of the field shall know that I the LORD have brought down the high tree, have exalted the low tree, have dried up the green tree, and have made the dry tree to flourish: I the LORD have spoken and have done it.

[1] The word of the LORD came to me again, saying,

[2] What mean you, that you use this proverb concerning the land of Israel, saying, The fathers have eaten sour grapes, and the children's teeth are set on edge?[3] As I live, says the Lord GOD, you shall not have occasion any more to use this proverb in Israel.[4] Behold, all souls are mine; as the soul of the father, so also the soul of the son is mine: the soul that sins, it shall die. ¶[5] But if a man be just, and do that which is lawful and right,[6] And has not eaten on the mountains, neither has lifted up his eyes to the idols of the house of Israel, neither has defiled his neighbor's wife, neither has come near to a menstruous woman,[7] And has not oppressed any, but has restored to the debtor his pledge, has spoiled none by violence, has given his bread to the hungry, and has covered the naked with a garment;[8] He that has not given forth on usury, neither has taken any increase, that has withdrawn his hand from iniquity, has executed true judgment between man and man,[9] Has walked in my statutes, and has kept my judgments, to deal truly; he is just, he shall surely live, says the Lord GOD. ¶[10] If he beget a son that is a robber, a shedder of blood, and that does the like to any one of these things,[11] And that does not any of those duties, but even has eaten on the mountains, and defiled his neighbor's wife,[12] Has oppressed the poor and needy, has spoiled by violence, has not restored the pledge, and has lifted up his eyes to the idols, has committed abomination,[13] Has given forth on usury, and has taken increase: shall he then live? he shall not live: he has done all these abominations; he shall surely die; his blood shall be on him. ¶[14] Now, see, if he beget a son, that sees all his father's sins which he has done, and considers, and does not such like,[15] That has not eaten on the mountains, neither has lifted up his eyes to the idols of the house of Israel, has not defiled his neighbor's wife,[16] Neither has oppressed any, has not withheld the pledge, neither has spoiled by violence, but has given his bread to the hungry, and has covered the naked with a garment,[17] That has taken off his hand from the poor, that has not received usury nor increase, has executed my judgments, has walked in my statutes; he shall not die for the iniquity of his father, he shall surely live.[18] As for his father, because he cruelly oppressed, spoiled his brother by violence, and did that which is not good among his people, see, even he shall die in his iniquity. ¶[19] Yet say you, Why? does not the son bear the iniquity of the father? When the son has done that which is lawful and right, and has kept all my statutes, and has done them, he shall surely live.[20] The soul that sins, it shall die. The son shall not bear the iniquity of the father, neither shall the father bear the iniquity of the son: the righteousness of the righteous shall be on him, and the wickedness of the wicked shall be on him.[21] But if the wicked will turn from all his sins that he has committed, and keep all my statutes, and do that which is lawful and right, he shall surely live, he shall not die.[22] All his transgressions that he has committed, they shall not be mentioned to him: in his righteousness that he has done he shall live.[23] Have I any pleasure at all that the wicked should die? says the Lord GOD: and not that he should return from his ways, and live? ¶[24] But when the righteous turns away from his righteousness, and commits iniquity, and does according to all the abominations that the wicked man does, shall he live? All his righteousness that he has done shall not be mentioned: in his trespass that he has trespassed, and in his sin that he has sinned, in them shall he die. ¶[25] Yet you say, The way of the LORD is not equal. Hear now, O house of Israel; Is not my way equal? are not your ways unequal?[26] When a righteous man turns away from his righteousness, and commits iniquity, and dies in them; for his iniquity that he has done shall he die.[27] Again, when the wicked man turns away from his wickedness that he has committed, and does that which is lawful and right, he shall save his soul alive.[28] Because he considers, and turns away from all his transgressions that he has committed, he shall surely live, he shall not die.[29] Yet says the house of Israel, The way of the LORD is not equal. O house of Israel, are not my ways equal? are not your ways unequal?[30] Therefore I will judge you, O house of Israel, every one according to his ways, says the Lord GOD. Repent, and turn yourselves from all your transgressions; so iniquity shall not be your ruin. ¶[31] Cast away from you all your transgressions, whereby you have transgressed; and make you a new heart and a new spirit: for why will you die, O house of Israel?[32] For I have no pleasure in the death of him that dies, says the Lord GOD: why turn yourselves, and live you.

[1] Moreover take you up a lamentation for the princes of Israel,

[2] And say, What is your mother? A lioness: she lay down among lions, she nourished her whelps among young lions.[3] And she brought up one of her whelps: it became a young lion, and it learned to catch the prey; it devoured men.[4] The nations also heard of him; he was taken in their pit, and they brought him with chains to the land of Egypt.[5] Now when she saw that she had waited, and her hope was lost, then she took another of her whelps, and made him a young lion.[6] And he went up and down among the lions, he became a young lion, and learned to catch the prey, and devoured men.[7] And he knew their desolate palaces, and he laid waste their cities; and the land was desolate, and the fullness thereof, by the noise of his roaring.[8] Then the nations set against him on every side from the provinces, and spread their net over him: he was taken in their pit.[9] And they put him in ward in chains, and brought him to the king of Babylon: they brought him into holds, that his voice should no more be heard on the mountains of Israel. ¶[10] Your mother is like a vine in your blood, planted by the waters: she was fruitful and full of branches by reason of many waters.[11] And she had strong rods for the scepters of them that bore rule, and her stature was exalted among the thick branches, and she appeared in her height with the multitude of her branches.[12] But she was plucked up in fury, she was cast down to the ground, and the east wind dried up her fruit: her strong rods were broken and withered; the fire consumed them.[13] And now she is planted in the wilderness, in a dry and thirsty ground.[14] And fire is gone out of a rod of her branches, which has devoured her fruit, so that she has no strong rod to be a scepter to rule. This is a lamentation, and shall be for a lamentation.

[1] And it came to pass in the seventh year, in the fifth month, the tenth day of the month, that certain of the elders of Israel came to inquire of the LORD, and sat before me.

[2] Then came the word of the LORD to me, saying,[3] Son of man, speak to the elders of Israel, and say to them, Thus says the Lord GOD; Are you come to inquire of me? As I live, said the Lord GOD, I will not be inquired of by you.[4] Will you judge them, son of man, will you judge them? cause them to know the abominations of their fathers: ¶[5] And say to them, Thus says the Lord GOD; In the day when I chose Israel, and lifted up my hand to the seed of the house of Jacob, and made myself known to them in the land of Egypt, when I lifted up my hand to them, saying, I am the LORD your God;[6] In the day that I lifted up my hand to them, to bring them forth of the land of Egypt into a land that I had espied for them, flowing with milk and honey, which is the glory of all lands:[7] Then said I to them, Cast you away every man the abominations of his eyes, and defile not yourselves with the idols of Egypt: I am the LORD your God.[8] But they rebelled against me, and would not listen to me: they did not every man cast away the abominations of their eyes, neither did they forsake the idols of Egypt: then I said, I will pour out my fury on them, to accomplish my anger against them in the middle of the land of Egypt.[9] But I worked for my name's sake, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, among whom they were, in whose sight I made myself known to them, in bringing them forth out of the land of Egypt. ¶[10] Why I caused them to go forth out of the land of Egypt, and brought them into the wilderness.[11] And I gave them my statutes, and showed them my judgments, which if a man do, he shall even live in them.[12] Moreover also I gave them my sabbaths, to be a sign between me and them, that they might know that I am the LORD that sanctify them.[13] But the house of Israel rebelled against me in the wilderness: they walked not in my statutes, and they despised my judgments, which if a man do, he shall even live in them; and my sabbaths they greatly polluted: then I said, I would pour out my fury on them in the wilderness, to consume them.[14] But I worked for my name's sake, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, in whose sight I brought them out.[15] Yet also I lifted up my hand to them in the wilderness, that I would not bring them into the land which I had given them, flowing with milk and honey, which is the glory of all lands;[16] Because they despised my judgments, and walked not in my statutes, but polluted my sabbaths: for their heart went after their idols.[17] Nevertheless my eye spared them from destroying them, neither did I make an end of them in the wilderness.[18] But I said to their children in the wilderness, Walk you not in the statutes of your fathers, neither observe their judgments, nor defile yourselves with their idols:[19] I am the LORD your God; walk in my statutes, and keep my judgments, and do them;[20] And hallow my sabbaths; and they shall be a sign between me and you, that you may know that I am the LORD your God.[21] Notwithstanding the children rebelled against me: they walked not in my statutes, neither kept my judgments to do them, which if a man do, he shall even live in them; they polluted my sabbaths: then I said, I would pour out my fury on them, to accomplish my anger against them in the wilderness.[22] Nevertheless I withdrew my hand, and worked for my name's sake, that it should not be polluted in the sight of the heathen, in whose sight I brought them forth.[23] I lifted up my hand to them also in the wilderness, that I would scatter them among the heathen, and disperse them through the countries;[24] Because they had not executed my judgments, but had despised my statutes, and had polluted my sabbaths, and their eyes were after their fathers' idols.[25] Why I gave them also statutes that were not good, and judgments whereby they should not live;[26] And I polluted them in their own gifts, in that they caused to pass through the fire all that opens the womb, that I might make them desolate, to the end that they might know that I am the LORD. ¶[27] Therefore, son of man, speak to the house of Israel, and say to them, Thus says the Lord GOD; Yet in this your fathers have blasphemed me, in that they have committed a trespass against me.[28] For when I had brought them into the land, for the which I lifted up my hand to give it to them, then they saw every high hill, and all the thick trees, and they offered there their sacrifices, and there they presented the provocation of their offering: there also they made their sweet smell, and poured out there their drink offerings.[29] Then I said to them, What is the high place where you go? And the name whereof is called Bamah to this day.[30] Why say to the house of Israel, Thus says the Lord GOD; Are you polluted after the manner of your fathers? and commit you prostitution after their abominations?[31] For when you offer your gifts, when you make your sons to pass through the fire, you pollute yourselves with all your idols, even to this day: and shall I be inquired of by you, O house of Israel? As I live, says the Lord GOD, I will not be inquired of by you.[32] And that which comes into your mind shall not be at all, that you say, We will be as the heathen, as the families of the countries, to serve wood and stone. ¶[33] As I live, says the Lord GOD, surely with a mighty hand, and with a stretched out arm, and with fury poured out, will I rule over you:[34] And I will bring you out from the people, and will gather you out of the countries wherein you are scattered, with a mighty hand, and with a stretched out arm, and with fury poured out.[35] And I will bring you into the wilderness of the people, and there will I plead with you face to face.[36] Like as I pleaded with your fathers in the wilderness of the land of Egypt, so will I plead with you, says the Lord GOD.[37] And I will cause you to pass under the rod, and I will bring you into the bond of the covenant:[38] And I will purge out from among you the rebels, and them that transgress against me: I will bring them forth out of the country where they sojourn, and they shall not enter into the land of Israel: and you shall know that I am the LORD.[39] As for you, O house of Israel, thus says the Lord GOD; Go you, serve you every one his idols, and hereafter also, if you will not listen to me: but pollute you my holy name no more with your gifts, and with your idols.[40] For in my holy mountain, in the mountain of the height of Israel, says the Lord GOD, there shall all the house of Israel, all of them in the land, serve me: there will I accept them, and there will I require your offerings, and the first fruits of your oblations, with all your holy things.[41] I will accept you with your sweet smell, when I bring you out from the people, and gather you out of the countries wherein you have been scattered; and I will be sanctified in you before the heathen.[42] And you shall know that I am the LORD, when I shall bring you into the land of Israel, into the country for the which I lifted up my hand to give it to your fathers.[43] And there shall you remember your ways, and all your doings, wherein you have been defiled; and you shall loathe yourselves in your own sight for all your evils that you have committed.[44] And you shall know that I am the LORD when I have worked with you for my name's sake, not according to your wicked ways, nor according to your corrupt doings, O you house of Israel, says the Lord GOD. ¶[45] Moreover the word of the LORD came to me, saying,[46] Son of man, set your face toward the south, and drop your word toward the south, and prophesy against the forest of the south field;[47] And say to the forest of the south, Hear the word of the LORD; Thus says the Lord GOD; Behold, I will kindle a fire in you, and it shall devour every green tree in you, and every dry tree: the flaming flame shall not be quenched, and all faces from the south to the north shall be burned therein.[48] And all flesh shall see that I the LORD have kindled it: it shall not be quenched.[49] Then said I, Ah Lord GOD! they say of me, Does he not speak parables?

[1] And the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

[2] Son of man, set your face toward Jerusalem, and drop your word toward the holy places, and prophesy against the land of Israel,[3] And say to the land of Israel, Thus says the LORD; Behold, I am against you, and will draw forth my sword out of his sheath, and will cut off from you the righteous and the wicked.[4] Seeing then that I will cut off from you the righteous and the wicked, therefore shall my sword go forth out of his sheath against all flesh from the south to the north:[5] That all flesh may know that I the LORD have drawn forth my sword out of his sheath: it shall not return any more.[6] Sigh therefore, you son of man, with the breaking of your loins; and with bitterness sigh before their eyes.[7] And it shall be, when they say to you, Why sigh you? that you shall answer, For the tidings; because it comes: and every heart shall melt, and all hands shall be feeble, and every spirit shall faint, and all knees shall be weak as water: behold, it comes, and shall be brought to pass, says the Lord GOD. ¶[8] Again the word of the LORD came to me, saying,[9] Son of man, prophesy, and say, Thus says the LORD; Say, A sword, a sword is sharpened, and also furbished:[10] It is sharpened to make a sore slaughter; it is furbished that it may glitter: should we then make mirth? it scorns the rod of my son, as every tree.[11] And he has given it to be furbished, that it may be handled: this sword is sharpened, and it is furbished, to give it into the hand of the slayer.[12] Cry and howl, son of man: for it shall be on my people, it shall be on all the princes of Israel: terrors by reason of the sword shall be on my people: smite therefore on your thigh.[13] Because it is a trial, and what if the sword scorn even the rod? it shall be no more, says the Lord GOD.[14] You therefore, son of man, prophesy, and smite your hands together, and let the sword be doubled the third time, the sword of the slain: it is the sword of the great men that are slain, which enters into their privy chambers.[15] I have set the point of the sword against all their gates, that their heart may faint, and their ruins be multiplied: ah! it is made bright, it is wrapped up for the slaughter.[16] Go you one way or other, either on the right hand, or on the left, wherever your face is set.[17] I will also smite my hands together, and I will cause my fury to rest: I the LORD have said it. ¶[18] The word of the LORD came to me again, saying,[19] Also, you son of man, appoint you two ways, that the sword of the king of Babylon may come: both two shall come forth out of one land: and choose you a place, choose it at the head of the way to the city.[20] Appoint a way, that the sword may come to Rabbath of the Ammonites, and to Judah in Jerusalem the defended.[21] For the king of Babylon stood at the parting of the way, at the head of the two ways, to use divination: he made his arrows bright, he consulted with images, he looked in the liver.[22] At his right hand was the divination for Jerusalem, to appoint captains, to open the mouth in the slaughter, to lift up the voice with shouting, to appoint battering rams against the gates, to cast a mount, and to build a fort.[23] And it shall be to them as a false divination in their sight, to them that have sworn oaths: but he will call to remembrance the iniquity, that they may be taken.[24] Therefore thus says the Lord GOD; Because you have made your iniquity to be remembered, in that your transgressions are discovered, so that in all your doings your sins do appear; because, I say, that you are come to remembrance, you shall be taken with the hand. ¶[25] And you, profane wicked prince of Israel, whose day is come, when iniquity shall have an end,[26] Thus says the Lord GOD; Remove the diadem, and take off the crown: this shall not be the same: exalt him that is low, and abase him that is high.[27] I will overturn, overturn, overturn, it: and it shall be no more, until he come whose right it is; and I will give it him. ¶[28] And you, son of man, prophesy and say, Thus says the Lord GOD concerning the Ammonites, and concerning their reproach; even say you, The sword, the sword is drawn: for the slaughter it is furbished, to consume because of the glittering:[29] Whiles they see vanity to you, whiles they divine a lie to you, to bring you on the necks of them that are slain, of the wicked, whose day is come, when their iniquity shall have an end.[30] Shall I cause it to return into his sheath? I will judge you in the place where you were created, in the land of your nativity.[31] And I will pour out my indignation on you, I will blow against you in the fire of my wrath, and deliver you into the hand of brutish men, and skillful to destroy.[32] You shall be for fuel to the fire; your blood shall be in the middle of the land; you shall be no more remembered: for I the LORD have spoken it.

[1] Moreover the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

[2] Now, you son of man, will you judge, will you judge the bloody city? yes, you shall show her all her abominations.[3] Then say you, Thus says the Lord GOD, The city sheds blood in the middle of it, that her time may come, and makes idols against herself to defile herself.[4] You are become guilty in your blood that you have shed; and have defiled yourself in your idols which you have made; and you have caused your days to draw near, and are come even to your years: therefore have I made you a reproach to the heathen, and a mocking to all countries.[5] Those that be near, and those that be far from you, shall mock you, which are infamous and much vexed.[6] Behold, the princes of Israel, every one were in you to their power to shed blood.[7] In you have they set light by father and mother: in the middle of you have they dealt by oppression with the stranger: in you have they vexed the fatherless and the widow.[8] You have despised my holy things, and have profaned my sabbaths.[9] In you are men that carry tales to shed blood: and in you they eat on the mountains: in the middle of you they commit lewdness.[10] In you have they discovered their fathers' nakedness: in you have they humbled her that was set apart for pollution.[11] And one has committed abomination with his neighbor's wife; and another has lewdly defiled his daughter in law; and another in you has humbled his sister, his father's daughter.[12] In you have they taken gifts to shed blood; you have taken usury and increase, and you have greedily gained of your neighbors by extortion, and have forgotten me, says the Lord GOD. ¶[13] Behold, therefore I have smitten my hand at your dishonest gain which you have made, and at your blood which has been in the middle of you.[14] Can your heart endure, or can your hands be strong, in the days that I shall deal with you? I the LORD have spoken it, and will do it.[15] And I will scatter you among the heathen, and disperse you in the countries, and will consume your filthiness out of you.[16] And you shall take your inheritance in yourself in the sight of the heathen, and you shall know that I am the LORD.[17] And the word of the LORD came to me, saying,[18] Son of man, the house of Israel is to me become dross: all they are brass, and tin, and iron, and lead, in the middle of the furnace; they are even the dross of silver.[19] Therefore thus says the Lord GOD; Because you are all become dross, behold, therefore I will gather you into the middle of Jerusalem.[20] As they gather silver, and brass, and iron, and lead, and tin, into the middle of the furnace, to blow the fire on it, to melt it; so will I gather you in my anger and in my fury, and I will leave you there, and melt you.[21] Yes, I will gather you, and blow on you in the fire of my wrath, and you shall be melted in the middle therof.[22] As silver is melted in the middle of the furnace, so shall you be melted in the middle thereof; and you shall know that I the LORD have poured out my fury on you. ¶[23] And the word of the LORD came to me, saying,[24] Son of man, say to her, You are the land that is not cleansed, nor rained on in the day of indignation.[25] There is a conspiracy of her prophets in the middle thereof, like a roaring lion ravening the prey; they have devoured souls; they have taken the treasure and precious things; they have made her many widows in the middle thereof.[26] Her priests have violated my law, and have profaned my holy things: they have put no difference between the holy and profane, neither have they showed difference between the unclean and the clean, and have hid their eyes from my sabbaths, and I am profaned among them.[27] Her princes in the middle thereof are like wolves ravening the prey, to shed blood, and to destroy souls, to get dishonest gain.[28] And her prophets have daubed them with untempered mortar, seeing vanity, and divining lies to them, saying, Thus says the Lord GOD, when the LORD has not spoken.[29] The people of the land have used oppression, and exercised robbery, and have vexed the poor and needy: yes, they have oppressed the stranger wrongfully.[30] And I sought for a man among them, that should make up the hedge, and stand in the gap before me for the land, that I should not destroy it: but I found none.[31] Therefore have I poured out my indignation on them; I have consumed them with the fire of my wrath: their own way have I recompensed on their heads, says the Lord GOD.

[1] The word of the LORD came again to me, saying,

[2] Son of man, there were two women, the daughters of one mother:[3] And they committed prostitutions in Egypt; they committed prostitutions in their youth: there were their breasts pressed, and there they bruised the teats of their virginity.[4] And the names of them were Aholah the elder, and Aholibah her sister: and they were mine, and they bore sons and daughters. Thus were their names; Samaria is Aholah, and Jerusalem Aholibah.[5] And Aholah played the harlot when she was mine; and she doted on her lovers, on the Assyrians her neighbors,[6] Which were clothed with blue, captains and rulers, all of them desirable young men, horsemen riding on horses.[7] Thus she committed her prostitutions with them, with all them that were the chosen men of Assyria, and with all on whom she doted: with all their idols she defiled herself.[8] Neither left she her prostitutions brought from Egypt: for in her youth they lay with her, and they bruised the breasts of her virginity, and poured their prostitution on her.[9] Why I have delivered her into the hand of her lovers, into the hand of the Assyrians, on whom she doted.[10] These discovered her nakedness: they took her sons and her daughters, and slew her with the sword: and she became famous among women; for they had executed judgment on her.[11] And when her sister Aholibah saw this, she was more corrupt in her inordinate love than she, and in her prostitutions more than her sister in her prostitutions.[12] She doted on the Assyrians her neighbors, captains and rulers clothed most gorgeously, horsemen riding on horses, all of them desirable young men.[13] Then I saw that she was defiled, that they took both one way,[14] And that she increased her prostitutions: for when she saw men portrayed on the wall, the images of the Chaldeans portrayed with vermilion,[15] Girded with girdles on their loins, exceeding in dyed attire on their heads, all of them princes to look to, after the manner of the Babylonians of Chaldea, the land of their nativity:[16] And as soon as she saw them with her eyes, she doted on them, and sent messengers to them into Chaldea.[17] And the Babylonians came to her into the bed of love, and they defiled her with their prostitution, and she was polluted with them, and her mind was alienated from them.[18] So she discovered her prostitutions, and discovered her nakedness: then my mind was alienated from her, like as my mind was alienated from her sister.[19] Yet she multiplied her prostitutions, in calling to remembrance the days of her youth, wherein she had played the harlot in the land of Egypt.[20] For she doted on their paramours, whose flesh is as the flesh of asses, and whose issue is like the issue of horses.[21] Thus you called to remembrance the lewdness of your youth, in bruising your teats by the Egyptians for the breasts of your youth. ¶[22] Therefore, O Aholibah, thus says the Lord GOD; Behold, I will raise up your lovers against you, from whom your mind is alienated, and I will bring them against you on every side;[23] The Babylonians, and all the Chaldeans, Pekod, and Shoa, and Koa, and all the Assyrians with them: all of them desirable young men, captains and rulers, great lords and renowned, all of them riding on horses.[24] And they shall come against you with chariots, wagons, and wheels, and with an assembly of people, which shall set against you buckler and shield and helmet round about: and I will set judgment before them, and they shall judge you according to their judgments.[25] And I will set my jealousy against you, and they shall deal furiously with you: they shall take away your nose and your ears; and your remnant shall fall by the sword: they shall take your sons and your daughters; and your residue shall be devoured by the fire.[26] They shall also strip you out of your clothes, and take away your fair jewels.[27] Thus will I make your lewdness to cease from you, and your prostitution brought from the land of Egypt: so that you shall not lift up your eyes to them, nor remember Egypt any more.[28] For thus says the Lord GOD; Behold, I will deliver you into the hand of them whom you hate, into the hand of them from whom your mind is alienated:[29] And they shall deal with you hatefully, and shall take away all your labor, and shall leave you naked and bore: and the nakedness of your prostitutions shall be discovered, both your lewdness and your prostitutions.[30] I will do these things to you, because you have gone a whoring after the heathen, and because you are polluted with their idols.[31] You have walked in the way of your sister; therefore will I give her cup into your hand.[32] Thus says the Lord GOD; You shall drink of your sister's cup deep and large: you shall be laughed to scorn and had in derision; it contains much.[33] You shall be filled with drunkenness and sorrow, with the cup of astonishment and desolation, with the cup of your sister Samaria.[34] You shall even drink it and suck it out, and you shall break the shards thereof, and pluck off your own breasts: for I have spoken it, says the Lord GOD.[35] Therefore thus says the Lord GOD; Because you have forgotten me, and cast me behind your back, therefore bear you also your lewdness and your prostitutions. ¶[36] The LORD said moreover to me; Son of man, will you judge Aholah and Aholibah? yes, declare to them their abominations;[37] That they have committed adultery, and blood is in their hands, and with their idols have they committed adultery, and have also caused their sons, whom they bore to me, to pass for them through the fire, to devour them.[38] Moreover this they have done to me: they have defiled my sanctuary in the same day, and have profaned my sabbaths.[39] For when they had slain their children to their idols, then they came the same day into my sanctuary to profane it; and, see, thus have they done in the middle of my house.[40] And furthermore, that you have sent for men to come from far, to whom a messenger was sent; and, see, they came: for whom you did wash yourself, painted your eyes, and decked yourself with ornaments,[41] And sat on a stately bed, and a table prepared before it, whereupon you have set my incense and my oil.[42] And a voice of a multitude being at ease was with her: and with the men of the common sort were brought Sabeans from the wilderness, which put bracelets on their hands, and beautiful crowns on their heads.[43] Then said I to her that was old in adulteries, Will they now commit prostitutions with her, and she with them?[44] Yet they went in to her, as they go in to a woman that plays the harlot: so went they in to Aholah and to Aholibah, the lewd women. ¶[45] And the righteous men, they shall judge them after the manner of adulteresses, and after the manner of women that shed blood; because they are adulteresses, and blood is in their hands.[46] For thus says the Lord GOD; I will bring up a company on them, and will give them to be removed and spoiled.[47] And the company shall stone them with stones, and dispatch them with their swords; they shall slay their sons and their daughters, and burn up their houses with fire.[48] Thus will I cause lewdness to cease out of the land, that all women may be taught not to do after your lewdness.[49] And they shall recompense your lewdness on you, and you shall bear the sins of your idols: and you shall know that I am the Lord GOD.

[1] Again in the ninth year, in the tenth month, in the tenth day of the month, the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

[2] Son of man, write you the name of the day, even of this same day: the king of Babylon set himself against Jerusalem this same day.[3] And utter a parable to the rebellious house, and say to them, Thus says the Lord GOD; Set on a pot, set it on, and also pour water into it:[4] Gather the pieces thereof into it, even every good piece, the thigh, and the shoulder; fill it with the choice bones.[5] Take the choice of the flock, and burn also the bones under it, and make it boil well, and let them seethe the bones of it therein. ¶[6] Why thus says the Lord GOD; Woe to the bloody city, to the pot whose scum is therein, and whose scum is not gone out of it! bring it out piece by piece; let no lot fall on it.[7] For her blood is in the middle of her; she set it on the top of a rock; she poured it not on the ground, to cover it with dust;[8] That it might cause fury to come up to take vengeance; I have set her blood on the top of a rock, that it should not be covered.[9] Therefore thus says the Lord GOD; Woe to the bloody city! I will even make the pile for fire great.[10] Heap on wood, kindle the fire, consume the flesh, and spice it well, and let the bones be burned.[11] Then set it empty on the coals thereof, that the brass of it may be hot, and may burn, and that the filthiness of it may be molten in it, that the scum of it may be consumed.[12] She has wearied herself with lies, and her great scum went not forth out of her: her scum shall be in the fire.[13] In your filthiness is lewdness: because I have purged you, and you were not purged, you shall not be purged from your filthiness any more, till I have caused my fury to rest on you.[14] I the LORD have spoken it: it shall come to pass, and I will do it; I will not go back, neither will I spare, neither will I repent; according to your ways, and according to your doings, shall they judge you, says the Lord GOD. ¶[15] Also the word of the LORD came to me, saying,[16] Son of man, behold, I take away from you the desire of your eyes with a stroke: yet neither shall you mourn nor weep, neither shall your tears run down.[17] Forbear to cry, make no mourning for the dead, bind the tire of your head on you, and put on your shoes on your feet, and cover not your lips, and eat not the bread of men.[18] So I spoke to the people in the morning: and at even my wife died; and I did in the morning as I was commanded. ¶[19] And the people said to me, Will you not tell us what these things are to us, that you do so?[20] Then I answered them, The word of the LORD came to me, saying,[21] Speak to the house of Israel, Thus says the Lord GOD; Behold, I will profane my sanctuary, the excellency of your strength, the desire of your eyes, and that which your soul pities; and your sons and your daughters whom you have left shall fall by the sword.[22] And you shall do as I have done: you shall not cover your lips, nor eat the bread of men.[23] And your tires shall be on your heads, and your shoes on your feet: you shall not mourn nor weep; but you shall pine away for your iniquities, and mourn one toward another.[24] Thus Ezekiel is to you a sign: according to all that he has done shall you do: and when this comes, you shall know that I am the Lord GOD.[25] Also, you son of man, shall it not be in the day when I take from them their strength, the joy of their glory, the desire of their eyes, and that whereupon they set their minds, their sons and their daughters,[26] That he that escapes in that day shall come to you, to cause you to hear it with your ears?[27] In that day shall your mouth be opened to him which is escaped, and you shall speak, and be no more dumb: and you shall be a sign to them; and they shall know that I am the LORD.

[1] The word of the LORD came again to me, saying,

[2] Son of man, set your face against the Ammonites, and prophesy against them;[3] And say to the Ammonites, Hear the word of the Lord GOD; Thus says the Lord GOD; Because you said, Aha, against my sanctuary, when it was profaned; and against the land of Israel, when it was desolate; and against the house of Judah, when they went into captivity;[4] Behold, therefore I will deliver you to the men of the east for a possession, and they shall set their palaces in you, and make their dwellings in you: they shall eat your fruit, and they shall drink your milk.[5] And I will make Rabbah a stable for camels, and the Ammonites a couching place for flocks: and you shall know that I am the LORD.[6] For thus says the Lord GOD; Because you have clapped your hands, and stamped with the feet, and rejoiced in heart with all your despite against the land of Israel;[7] Behold, therefore I will stretch out my hand on you, and will deliver you for a spoil to the heathen; and I will cut you off from the people, and I will cause you to perish out of the countries: I will destroy you; and you shall know that I am the LORD. ¶[8] Thus says the Lord GOD; Because that Moab and Seir do say, Behold, the house of Judah is like to all the heathen;[9] Therefore, behold, I will open the side of Moab from the cities, from his cities which are on his frontiers, the glory of the country, Bethjeshimoth, Baalmeon, and Kiriathaim,[10] To the men of the east with the Ammonites, and will give them in possession, that the Ammonites may not be remembered among the nations.[11] And I will execute judgments on Moab; and they shall know that I am the LORD. ¶[12] Thus says the Lord GOD; Because that Edom has dealt against the house of Judah by taking vengeance, and has greatly offended, and revenged himself on them;[13] Therefore thus says the Lord GOD; I will also stretch out my hand on Edom, and will cut off man and beast from it; and I will make it desolate from Teman; and they of Dedan shall fall by the sword.[14] And I will lay my vengeance on Edom by the hand of my people Israel: and they shall do in Edom according to my anger and according to my fury; and they shall know my vengeance, says the Lord GOD. ¶[15] Thus says the Lord GOD; Because the Philistines have dealt by revenge, and have taken vengeance with a despiteful heart, to destroy it for the old hatred;[16] Therefore thus says the Lord GOD; Behold, I will stretch out my hand on the Philistines, and I will cut off the Cherethims, and destroy the remnant of the sea coast.[17] And I will execute great vengeance on them with furious rebukes; and they shall know that I am the LORD, when I shall lay my vengeance on them.

[1] And it came to pass in the eleventh year, in the first day of the month, that the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

[2] Son of man, because that Tyrus has said against Jerusalem, Aha, she is broken that was the gates of the people: she is turned to me: I shall be replenished, now she is laid waste:[3] Therefore thus says the Lord GOD; Behold, I am against you, O Tyrus, and will cause many nations to come up against you, as the sea causes his waves to come up.[4] And they shall destroy the walls of Tyrus, and break down her towers: I will also scrape her dust from her, and make her like the top of a rock.[5] It shall be a place for the spreading of nets in the middle of the sea: for I have spoken it, says the Lord GOD: and it shall become a spoil to the nations.[6] And her daughters which are in the field shall be slain by the sword; and they shall know that I am the LORD. ¶[7] For thus says the Lord GOD; Behold, I will bring on Tyrus Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, a king of kings, from the north, with horses, and with chariots, and with horsemen, and companies, and much people.[8] He shall slay with the sword your daughters in the field: and he shall make a fort against you, and cast a mount against you, and lift up the buckler against you.[9] And he shall set engines of war against your walls, and with his axes he shall break down your towers.[10] By reason of the abundance of his horses their dust shall cover you: your walls shall shake at the noise of the horsemen, and of the wheels, and of the chariots, when he shall enter into your gates, as men enter into a city wherein is made a breach.[11] With the hoofs of his horses shall he tread down all your streets: he shall slay your people by the sword, and your strong garrisons shall go down to the ground.[12] And they shall make a spoil of your riches, and make a prey of your merchandise: and they shall break down your walls, and destroy your pleasant houses: and they shall lay your stones and your timber and your dust in the middle of the water.[13] And I will cause the noise of your songs to cease; and the sound of your harps shall be no more heard.[14] And I will make you like the top of a rock: you shall be a place to spread nets on; you shall be built no more: for I the LORD have spoken it, says the Lord GOD. ¶[15] Thus says the Lord GOD to Tyrus; Shall not the isles shake at the sound of your fall, when the wounded cry, when the slaughter is made in the middle of you?[16] Then all the princes of the sea shall come down from their thrones, and lay away their robes, and put off their broidered garments: they shall clothe themselves with trembling; they shall sit on the ground, and shall tremble at every moment, and be astonished at you.[17] And they shall take up a lamentation for you, and say to you, How are you destroyed, that were inhabited of seafaring men, the renowned city, which were strong in the sea, she and her inhabitants, which cause their terror to be on all that haunt it![18] Now shall the isles tremble in the day of your fall; yes, the isles that are in the sea shall be troubled at your departure.[19] For thus says the Lord GOD; When I shall make you a desolate city, like the cities that are not inhabited; when I shall bring up the deep on you, and great waters shall cover you;[20] When I shall bring you down with them that descend into the pit, with the people of old time, and shall set you in the low parts of the earth, in places desolate of old, with them that go down to the pit, that you be not inhabited; and I shall set glory in the land of the living;[21] I will make you a terror, and you shall be no more: though you be sought for, yet shall you never be found again, says the Lord GOD.

[1] The word of the LORD came again to me, saying,

[2] Now, you son of man, take up a lamentation for Tyrus;[3] And say to Tyrus, O you that are situate at the entry of the sea, which are a merchant of the people for many isles, Thus says the Lord GOD; O Tyrus, you have said, I am of perfect beauty.[4] Your borders are in the middle of the seas, your builders have perfected your beauty.[5] They have made all your ship boards of fir trees of Senir:

they have taken cedars from Lebanon to make masts for you.[6] Of the oaks of Bashan have they made your oars; the company of the Ashurites have made your benches of ivory, brought out of the isles of Chittim.[7] Fine linen with broidered work from Egypt was that which you spread forth to be your sail; blue and purple from the isles of Elishah was that which covered you.[8] The inhabitants of Zidon and Arvad were your mariners: your wise men, O Tyrus, that were in you, were your pilots.[9] The ancients of Gebal and the wise men thereof were in you your caulkers: all the ships of the sea with their mariners were in you to occupy your merchandise.[10] They of Persia and of Lud and of Phut were in your army, your men of war: they hanged the shield and helmet in you; they set forth your comeliness.[11] The men of Arvad with your army were on your walls round about, and the Gammadims were in your towers: they hanged their shields on your walls round about; they have made your beauty perfect.[12] Tarshish was your merchant by reason of the multitude of all kind of riches; with silver, iron, tin, and lead, they traded in your fairs.[13] Javan, Tubal, and Meshech, they were your merchants: they traded the persons of men and vessels of brass in your market.[14] They of the house of Togarmah traded in your fairs with horses and horsemen and mules.[15] The men of Dedan were your merchants; many isles were the merchandise of your hand: they brought you for a present horns of ivory and ebony.[16] Syria was your merchant by reason of the multitude of the wares of your making: they occupied in your fairs with emeralds, purple, and broidered work, and fine linen, and coral, and agate.[17] Judah, and the land of Israel, they were your merchants: they traded in your market wheat of Minnith, and Pannag, and honey, and oil, and balm.[18] Damascus was your merchant in the multitude of the wares of your making, for the multitude of all riches; in the wine of Helbon, and white wool.[19] Dan also and Javan going to and fro occupied in your fairs: bright iron, cassia, and calamus, were in your market.[20] Dedan was your merchant in precious clothes for chariots.[21] Arabia, and all the princes of Kedar, they occupied with you in lambs, and rams, and goats: in these were they your merchants.[22] The merchants of Sheba and Raamah, they were your merchants: they occupied in your fairs with chief of all spices, and with all precious stones, and gold.[23] Haran, and Canneh, and Eden, the merchants of Sheba, Asshur, and Chilmad, were your merchants.[24] These were your merchants in all sorts of things, in blue clothes, and broidered work, and in chests of rich apparel, bound with cords, and made of cedar, among your merchandise.[25] The ships of Tarshish did sing of you in your market: and you were replenished, and made very glorious in the middle of the seas. ¶[26] Your rowers have brought you into great waters: the east wind has broken you in the middle of the seas.[27] Your riches, and your fairs, your merchandise, your mariners, and your pilots, your caulkers, and the occupiers of your merchandise, and all your men of war, that are in you, and in all your company which is in the middle of you, shall fall into the middle of the seas in the day of your ruin.[28] The suburbs shall shake at the sound of the cry of your pilots.[29] And all that handle the oar, the mariners, and all the pilots of the sea, shall come down from their ships, they shall stand on the land;[30] And shall cause their voice to be heard against you, and shall cry bitterly, and shall cast up dust on their heads, they shall wallow themselves in the ashes:[31] And they shall make themselves utterly bald for you, and gird them with sackcloth, and they shall weep for you with bitterness of heart and bitter wailing.[32] And in their wailing they shall take up a lamentation for you, and lament over you, saying, What city is like Tyrus, like the destroyed in the middle of the sea?[33] When your wares went forth out of the seas, you filled many people; you did enrich the kings of the earth with the multitude of your riches and of your merchandise.[34] In the time when you shall be broken by the seas in the depths of the waters your merchandise and all your company in the middle of you shall fall.[35] All the inhabitants of the isles shall be astonished at you, and their kings shall be sore afraid, they shall be troubled in their countenance.[36] The merchants among the people shall hiss at you; you shall be a terror, and never shall be any more.

[1] The word of the LORD came again to me, saying,

[2] Son of man, say to the prince of Tyrus, Thus says the Lord GOD; Because your heart is lifted up, and you have said, I am a God, I sit in the seat of God, in the middle of the seas; yet you are a man, and not God, though you set your heart as the heart of God:[3] Behold, you are wiser than Daniel; there is no secret that they can hide from you:[4] With your wisdom and with your understanding you have gotten you riches, and have gotten gold and silver into your treasures:[5] By your great wisdom and by your traffic have you increased your riches, and your heart is lifted up because of your riches:[6] Therefore thus says the Lord GOD; Because you have set your heart as the heart of God;[7] Behold, therefore I will bring strangers on you, the terrible of the nations: and they shall draw their swords against the beauty of your wisdom, and they shall defile your brightness.[8] They shall bring you down to the pit, and you shall die the deaths of them that are slain in the middle of the seas.[9] Will you yet say before him that slays you, I am God? but you shall be a man, and no God, in the hand of him that slays you.[10] You shall die the deaths of the uncircumcised by the hand of strangers: for I have spoken it, says the Lord GOD. ¶[11] Moreover the word of the LORD came to me, saying,[12] Son of man, take up a lamentation on the king of Tyrus, and say to him, Thus says the Lord GOD; You seal up the sum, full of wisdom, and perfect in beauty.[13] You have been in Eden the garden of God; every precious stone was your covering, the sardius, topaz, and the diamond, the beryl, the onyx, and the jasper, the sapphire, the emerald, and the carbuncle, and gold: the workmanship of your tabrets and of your pipes was prepared in you in the day that you were created.[14] You are the anointed cherub that covers; and I have set you so: you were on the holy mountain of God; you have walked up and down in the middle of the stones of fire.[15] You were perfect in your ways from the day that you were created, till iniquity was found in you.[16] By the multitude of your merchandise they have filled the middle of you with violence, and you have sinned: therefore I will cast you as profane out of the mountain of God: and I will destroy you, O covering cherub, from the middle of the stones of fire.[17] Your heart was lifted up because of your beauty, you have corrupted your wisdom by reason of your brightness: I will cast you to the ground, I will lay you before kings, that they may behold you.[18] You have defiled your sanctuaries by the multitude of your iniquities, by the iniquity of your traffic; therefore will I bring forth a fire from the middle of you, it shall devour you, and I will bring you to ashes on the earth in the sight of all them that behold you.[19] All they that know you among the people shall be astonished at you: you shall be a terror, and never shall you be any more. ¶[20] Again the word of the LORD came to me, saying,[21] Son of man, set your face against Zidon, and prophesy against it,[22] And say, Thus says the Lord GOD; Behold, I am against you, O Zidon; and I will be glorified in the middle of you: and they shall know that I am the LORD, when I shall have executed judgments in her, and shall be sanctified in her.[23] For I will send into her pestilence, and blood into her streets; and the wounded shall be judged in the middle of her by the sword on her on every side; and they shall know that I am the LORD. ¶[24] And there shall be no more a pricking brier to the house of Israel, nor any grieving thorn of all that are round about them, that despised them; and they shall know that I am the Lord GOD.[25] Thus says the Lord GOD; When I shall have gathered the house of Israel from the people among whom they are scattered, and shall be sanctified in them in the sight of the heathen, then shall they dwell in their land that I have given to my servant Jacob.[26] And they shall dwell safely therein, and shall build houses, and plant vineyards; yes, they shall dwell with confidence, when I have executed judgments on all those that despise them round about them; and they shall know that I am the LORD their God.

[1] In the tenth year, in the tenth month, in the twelfth day of the month, the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

[2] Son of man, set your face against Pharaoh king of Egypt, and prophesy against him, and against all Egypt:[3] Speak, and say, Thus says the Lord GOD; Behold, I am against you, Pharaoh king of Egypt, the great dragon that lies in the middle of his rivers, which has said, My river is my own, and I have made it for myself.[4] But I will put hooks in your jaws, and I will cause the fish of your rivers to stick to your scales, and I will bring you up out of the middle of your rivers, and all the fish of your rivers shall stick to your scales.[5] And I will leave you thrown into the wilderness, you and all the fish of your rivers: you shall fall on the open fields; you shall not be brought together, nor gathered: I have given you for meat to the beasts of the field and to the fowls of the heaven.[6] And all the inhabitants of Egypt shall know that I am the LORD, because they have been a staff of reed to the house of Israel.[7] When they took hold of you by your hand, you did break, and rend all their shoulder: and when they leaned on you, you brake, and made all their loins to be at a stand. ¶[8] Therefore thus says the Lord GOD; Behold, I will bring a sword on you, and cut off man and beast out of you.[9] And the land of Egypt shall be desolate and waste; and they shall know that I am the LORD: because he has said, The river is mine, and I have made it.[10] Behold, therefore I am against you, and against your rivers, and I will make the land of Egypt utterly waste and desolate, from the tower of Syene even to the border of Ethiopia.[11] No foot of man shall pass through it, nor foot of beast shall pass through it, neither shall it be inhabited forty years.[12] And I will make the land of Egypt desolate in the middle of the countries that are desolate, and her cities among the cities that are laid waste shall be desolate forty years: and I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will disperse them through the countries. ¶[13] Yet thus says the Lord GOD; At the end of forty years will I gather the Egyptians from the people where they were scattered:[14] And I will bring again the captivity of Egypt, and will cause them to return into the land of Pathros, into the land of their habitation; and they shall be there a base kingdom.[15] It shall be the basest of the kingdoms; neither shall it exalt itself any more above the nations: for I will diminish them, that they shall no more rule over the nations.[16] And it shall be no more the confidence of the house of Israel, which brings their iniquity to remembrance, when they shall look after them: but they shall know that I am the Lord GOD. ¶[17] And it came to pass in the seven and twentieth year, in the first month, in the first day of the month, the word of the LORD came to me, saying,[18] Son of man, Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon caused his army to serve a great service against Tyrus: every head was made bald, and every shoulder was peeled: yet had he no wages, nor his army, for Tyrus, for the service that he had served against it:[19] Therefore thus says the Lord GOD; Behold, I will give the land of Egypt to Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon; and he shall take her multitude, and take her spoil, and take her prey; and it shall be the wages for his army.[20] I have given him the land of Egypt for his labor with which he served against it, because they worked for me, says the Lord GOD. ¶[21] In that day will I cause the horn of the house of Israel to bud forth, and I will give you the opening of the mouth in the middle of them; and they shall know that I am the LORD.

[1] The word of the LORD came again to me, saying,

[2] Son of man, prophesy and say, Thus says the Lord GOD; Howl you, Woe worth the day![3] For the day is near, even the day of the LORD is near, a cloudy day; it shall be the time of the heathen.[4] And the sword shall come on Egypt, and great pain shall be in Ethiopia, when the slain shall fall in Egypt, and they shall take away her multitude, and her foundations shall be broken down.[5] Ethiopia, and Libya, and Lydia, and all the mingled people, and Chub, and the men of the land that is in league, shall fall with them by the sword.[6] Thus says the LORD; They also that uphold Egypt shall fall; and the pride of her power shall come down: from the tower of Syene shall they fall in it by the sword, said the Lord GOD.[7] And they shall be desolate in the middle of the countries that are desolate, and her cities shall be in the middle of the cities that are wasted.[8] And they shall know that I am the LORD, when I have set a fire in Egypt, and when all her helpers shall be destroyed.[9] In that day shall messengers go forth from me in ships to make the careless Ethiopians afraid, and great pain shall come on them, as in the day of Egypt: for, see, it comes.[10] Thus says the Lord GOD; I will also make the multitude of Egypt to cease by the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon.[11] He and his people with him, the terrible of the nations, shall be brought to destroy the land: and they shall draw their swords against Egypt, and fill the land with the slain.[12] And I will make the rivers dry, and sell the land into the hand of the wicked: and I will make the land waste, and all that is therein, by the hand of strangers: I the LORD have spoken it.[13] Thus says the Lord GOD; I will also destroy the idols, and I will cause their images to cease out of Noph; and there shall be no more a prince of the land of Egypt: and I will put a fear in the land of Egypt.[14] And I will make Pathros desolate, and will set fire in Zoan, and will execute judgments in No.[15] And I will pour my fury on Sin, the strength of Egypt; and I will cut off the multitude of No.[16] And I will set fire in Egypt: Sin shall have great pain, and No shall be rent asunder, and Noph shall have distresses daily.[17] The young men of Aven and of Pibeseth shall fall by the sword: and these cities shall go into captivity.[18] At Tehaphnehes also the day shall be darkened, when I shall break there the yokes of Egypt: and the pomp of her strength shall cease in her: as for her, a cloud shall cover her, and her daughters shall go into captivity.[19] Thus will I execute judgments in Egypt: and they shall know that I am the LORD. ¶[20] And it came to pass in the eleventh year, in the first month, in the seventh day of the month, that the word of the LORD came to me, saying,[21] Son of man, I have broken the arm of Pharaoh king of Egypt; and, see, it shall not be bound up to be healed, to put a roller to bind it, to make it strong to hold the sword.[22] Therefore thus says the Lord GOD; Behold, I am against Pharaoh king of Egypt, and will break his arms, the strong, and that which was broken; and I will cause the sword to fall out of his hand.[23] And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will disperse them through the countries.[24] And I will strengthen the arms of the king of Babylon, and put my sword in his hand: but I will break Pharaoh's arms, and he shall groan before him with the groanings of a deadly wounded man.[25] But I will strengthen the arms of the king of Babylon, and the arms of Pharaoh shall fall down; and they shall know that I am the LORD, when I shall put my sword into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he shall stretch it out on the land of Egypt.[26] And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and disperse them among the countries; and they shall know that I am the LORD.

[1] And it came to pass in the eleventh year, in the third month, in the first day of the month, that the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

[2] Son of man, speak to Pharaoh king of Egypt, and to his multitude; Whom are you like in your greatness? ¶[3] Behold, the Assyrian was a cedar in Lebanon with fair branches, and with a shadowing shroud, and of an high stature; and his top was among the thick boughs.[4] The waters made him great, the deep set him up on high with her rivers running round about his plants, and sent her little rivers to all the trees of the field.[5] Therefore his height was exalted above all the trees of the field, and his boughs were multiplied, and his branches became long because of the multitude of waters, when he shot forth.[6] All the fowls of heaven made their nests in his boughs, and under his branches did all the beasts of the field bring forth their young, and under his shadow dwelled all great nations.[7] Thus was he fair in his greatness, in the length of his branches: for his root was by great waters.[8] The cedars in the garden of God could not hide him: the fir trees were not like his boughs, and the chestnut trees were not like his branches; nor any tree in the garden of God was like to him in his beauty.[9] I have made him fair by the multitude of his branches: so that all the trees of Eden, that were in the garden of God, envied him. ¶[10] Therefore thus says the Lord GOD; Because you have lifted up yourself in height, and he has shot up his top among the thick boughs, and his heart is lifted up in his height;[11] I have therefore delivered him into the hand of the mighty one of the heathen; he shall surely deal with him: I have driven him out for his wickedness.[12] And strangers, the terrible of the nations, have cut him off, and have left him: on the mountains and in all the valleys his branches are fallen, and his boughs are broken by all the rivers of the land; and all the people of the earth are gone down from his shadow, and have left him.[13] On his ruin shall all the fowls of the heaven remain, and all the beasts of the field shall be on his branches:[14] To the end that none of all the trees by the waters exalt themselves for their height, neither shoot up their top among the thick boughs, neither their trees stand up in their height, all that drink water: for they are all delivered to death, to the nether parts of the earth, in the middle of the children of men, with them that go down to the pit.[15] Thus says the Lord GOD; In the day when he went down to the grave I caused a mourning: I covered the deep for him, and I restrained the floods thereof, and the great waters were stayed: and I caused Lebanon to mourn for him, and all the trees of the field fainted for him.[16] I made the nations to shake at the sound of his fall, when I cast him down to hell with them that descend into the pit: and all the trees of Eden, the choice and best of Lebanon, all that drink water, shall be comforted in the nether parts of the earth.[17] They also went down into hell with him to them that be slain with the sword; and they that were his arm, that dwelled under his shadow in the middle of the heathen. ¶[18] To whom are you thus like in glory and in greatness among the trees of Eden? yet shall you be brought down with the trees of Eden to the nether parts of the earth: you shall lie in the middle of the uncircumcised with them that be slain by the sword. This is Pharaoh and all his multitude, says the Lord GOD.

[1] And it came to pass in the twelfth year, in the twelfth month, in the first day of the month, that the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

[2] Son of man, take up a lamentation for Pharaoh king of Egypt, and say to him, You are like a young lion of the nations, and you are as a whale in the seas: and you came forth with your rivers, and troubled the waters with your feet, and fouled their rivers.[3] Thus says the Lord GOD; I will therefore spread out my net over you with a company of many people; and they shall bring you up in my net.[4] Then will I leave you on the land, I will cast you forth on the open field, and will cause all the fowls of the heaven to remain on you, and I will fill the beasts of the whole earth with you.[5] And I will lay your flesh on the mountains, and fill the valleys with your height.[6] I will also water with your blood the land wherein you swim, even to the mountains; and the rivers shall be full of you.[7] And when I shall put you out, I will cover the heaven, and make the stars thereof dark; I will cover the sun with a cloud, and the moon shall not give her light.[8] All the bright lights of heaven will I make dark over you, and set darkness on your land, says the Lord GOD.[9] I will also vex the hearts of many people, when I shall bring your destruction among the nations, into the countries which you have not known.[10] Yes, I will make many people amazed at you, and their kings shall be horribly afraid for you, when I shall brandish my sword before them; and they shall tremble at every moment, every man for his own life, in the day of your fall. ¶[11] For thus says the Lord GOD; The sword of the king of Babylon shall come on you.[12] By the swords of the mighty will I cause your multitude to fall, the terrible of the nations, all of them: and they shall spoil the pomp of Egypt, and all the multitude thereof shall be destroyed.[13] I will destroy also all the beasts thereof from beside the great waters; neither shall the foot of man trouble them any more, nor the hoofs of beasts trouble them.[14] Then will I make their waters deep, and cause their rivers to run like oil, says the Lord GOD.[15] When I shall make the land of Egypt desolate, and the country shall be destitute of that whereof it was full, when I shall smite all them that dwell therein, then shall they know that I am the LORD.[16] This is the lamentation with which they shall lament her: the daughters of the nations shall lament her: they shall lament for her, even for Egypt, and for all her multitude, says the Lord GOD. ¶[17] It came to pass also in the twelfth year, in the fifteenth day of the month, that the word of the LORD came to me, saying,[18] Son of man, wail for the multitude of Egypt, and cast them down, even her, and the daughters of the famous nations, to the nether parts of the earth, with them that go down into the pit.[19] Whom do you pass in beauty? go down, and be you laid with the uncircumcised.[20] They shall fall in the middle of them that are slain by the sword: she is delivered to the sword: draw her and all her multitudes.[21] The strong among the mighty shall speak to him out of the middle of hell with them that help him: they are gone down, they lie uncircumcised, slain by the sword.[22] Asshur is there and all her company: his graves are about him: all of them slain, fallen by the sword:[23] Whose graves are set in the sides of the pit, and her company is round about her grave: all of them slain, fallen by the sword, which caused terror in the land of the living.[24] There is Elam and all her multitude round about her grave, all of them slain, fallen by the sword, which are gone down uncircumcised into the nether parts of the earth, which caused their terror in the land of the living; yet have they borne their shame with them that go down to the pit.[25] They have set her a bed in the middle of the slain with all her multitude: her graves are round about him: all of them uncircumcised, slain by the sword: though their terror was caused in the land of the living, yet have they borne their shame with them that go down to the pit: he is put in the middle of them that be slain.[26] There is Meshech, Tubal, and all her multitude: her graves are round about him: all of them uncircumcised, slain by the sword, though they caused their terror in the land of the living.[27] And they shall not lie with the mighty that are fallen of the uncircumcised, which are gone down to hell with their weapons of war: and they have laid their swords under their heads, but their iniquities shall be on their bones, though they were the terror of the mighty in the land of the living.[28] Yes, you shall be broken in the middle of the uncircumcised, and shall lie with them that are slain with the sword.[29] There is Edom, her kings, and all her princes, which with their might are laid by them that were slain by the sword: they shall lie with the uncircumcised, and with them that go down to the pit.[30] There be the princes of the north, all of them, and all the Zidonians, which are gone down with the slain; with their terror they are ashamed of their might; and they lie uncircumcised with them that be slain by the sword, and bear their shame with them that go down to the pit.[31] Pharaoh shall see them, and shall be comforted over all his multitude, even Pharaoh and all his army slain by the sword, says the Lord GOD.[32] For I have caused my terror in the land of the living: and he shall be laid in the middle of the uncircumcised with them that are slain with the sword, even Pharaoh and all his multitude, says the Lord GOD.

[1] Again the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

[2] Son of man, speak to the children of your people, and say to them, When I bring the sword on a land, if the people of the land take a man of their coasts, and set him for their watchman:[3] If when he sees the sword come on the land, he blow the trumpet, and warn the people;[4] Then whoever hears the sound of the trumpet, and takes not warning; if the sword come, and take him away, his blood shall be on his own head.[5] He heard the sound of the trumpet, and took not warning; his blood shall be on him. But he that takes warning shall deliver his soul.[6] But if the watchman see the sword come, and blow not the trumpet, and the people be not warned; if the sword come, and take any person from among them, he is taken away in his iniquity; but his blood will I require at the watchman's hand. ¶[7] So you, O son of man, I have set you a watchman to the house of Israel; therefore you shall hear the word at my mouth, and warn them from me.[8] When I say to the wicked, O wicked man, you shall surely die; if you do not speak to warn the wicked from his way, that wicked man shall die in his iniquity; but his blood will I require at your hand.[9] Nevertheless, if you warn the wicked of his way to turn from it; if he do not turn from his way, he shall die in his iniquity; but you have delivered your soul.[10] Therefore, O you son of man, speak to the house of Israel; Thus you speak, saying, If our transgressions and our sins be on us, and we pine away in them, how should we then live?[11] Say to them, As I live, says the Lord GOD, I have no pleasure in the death of the wicked; but that the wicked turn from his way and live: turn you, turn you from your evil ways; for why will you die, O house of Israel?[12] Therefore, you son of man, say to the children of your people, The righteousness of the righteous shall not deliver him in the day of his transgression: as for the wickedness of the wicked, he shall not fall thereby in the day that he turns from his wickedness; neither shall the righteous be able to live for his righteousness in the day that he sins.[13] When I shall say to the righteous, that he shall surely live; if he trust to his own righteousness, and commit iniquity, all his righteousnesses shall not be remembered; but for his iniquity that he has committed, he shall die for it.[14] Again, when I say to the wicked, You shall surely die; if he turn from his sin, and do that which is lawful and right;[15] If the wicked restore the pledge, give again that he had robbed, walk in the statutes of life, without committing iniquity; he shall surely live, he shall not die.[16] None of his sins that he has committed shall be mentioned to him: he has done that which is lawful and right; he shall surely live. ¶[17] Yet the children of your people say, The way of the Lord is not equal: but as for them, their way is not equal.[18] When the righteous turns from his righteousness, and commits iniquity, he shall even die thereby.[19] But if the wicked turn from his wickedness, and do that which is lawful and right, he shall live thereby. ¶[20] Yet you say, The way of the Lord is not equal. O you house of Israel, I will judge you every one after his ways. ¶[21] And it came to pass in the twelfth year of our captivity, in the tenth month, in the fifth day of the month, that one that had escaped out of Jerusalem came to me, saying, The city is smitten.[22] Now the hand of the LORD was on me in the evening, before he that was escaped came; and had opened my mouth, until he came to me in the morning; and my mouth was opened, and I was no more dumb.[23] Then the word of the LORD came to me, saying,[24] Son of man, they that inhabit those wastes of the land of Israel speak, saying, Abraham was one, and he inherited the land: but we are many; the land is given us for inheritance.[25] Why say to them, Thus says the Lord GOD; You eat with the blood, and lift up your eyes toward your idols, and shed blood: and shall you possess the land?[26] You stand on your sword, you work abomination, and you defile every one his neighbor's wife: and shall you possess the land?[27] Say you thus to them, Thus says the Lord GOD; As I live, surely they that are in the wastes shall fall by the sword, and him that is in the open field will I give to the beasts to be devoured, and they that be in the forts and in the caves shall die of the pestilence.[28] For I will lay the land most desolate, and the pomp of her strength shall cease; and the mountains of Israel shall be desolate, that none shall pass through.[29] Then shall they know that I am the LORD, when I have laid the land most desolate because of all their abominations which they have committed. ¶[30] Also, you son of man, the children of your people still are talking against you by the walls and in the doors of the houses, and speak one to another, every one to his brother, saying, Come, I pray you, and hear what is the word that comes forth from the LORD.[31] And they come to you as the people comes, and they sit before you as my people, and they hear your words, but they will not do them: for with their mouth they show much love, but their heart goes after their covetousness.[32] And, see, you are to them as a very lovely song of one that has a pleasant voice, and can play well on an instrument: for they hear your words, but they do them not.[33] And when this comes to pass, (see, it will come,) then shall they know that a prophet has been among them.

[1] And the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

[2] Son of man, prophesy against the shepherds of Israel, prophesy, and say to them, Thus says the Lord GOD to the shepherds; Woe be to the shepherds of Israel that do feed themselves! should not the shepherds feed the flocks?[3] You eat the fat, and you clothe you with the wool, you kill them that are fed: but you feed not the flock.[4] The diseased have you not strengthened, neither have you healed that which was sick, neither have you bound up that which was broken, neither have you brought again that which was driven away, neither have you sought that which was lost; but with force and with cruelty have you ruled them.[5] And they were scattered, because there is no shepherd: and they became meat to all the beasts of the field, when they were scattered.[6] My sheep wandered through all the mountains, and on every high hill: yes, my flock was scattered on all the face of the earth, and none did search or seek after them. ¶[7] Therefore, you shepherds, hear the word of the LORD;[8] As I live, says the Lord GOD, surely because my flock became a prey, and my flock became meat to every beast of the field, because there was no shepherd, neither did my shepherds search for my flock, but the shepherds fed themselves, and fed not my flock;[9] Therefore, O you shepherds, hear the word of the LORD;[10] Thus says the Lord GOD; Behold, I am against the shepherds; and I will require my flock at their hand, and cause them to cease from feeding the flock; neither shall the shepherds feed themselves any more; for I will deliver my flock from their mouth, that they may not be meat for them. ¶[11] For thus says the Lord GOD; Behold, I, even I, will both search my sheep, and seek them out.[12] As a shepherd seeks out his flock in the day that he is among his sheep that are scattered; so will I seek out my sheep, and will deliver them out of all places where they have been scattered in the cloudy and dark day.[13] And I will bring them out from the people, and gather them from the countries, and will bring them to their own land, and feed them on the mountains of Israel by the rivers, and in all the inhabited places of the country.[14] I will feed them in a good pasture, and on the high mountains of Israel shall their fold be: there shall they lie in a good fold, and in a fat pasture shall they feed on the mountains of Israel.[15] I will feed my flock, and I will cause them to lie down, says the Lord GOD.[16] I will seek that which was lost, and bring again that which was driven away, and will bind up that which was broken, and will strengthen that which was sick: but I will destroy the fat and the strong; I will feed them with judgment.[17] And as for you, O my flock, thus says the Lord GOD; Behold, I judge between cattle and cattle, between the rams and the he goats.[18] Seems it a small thing to you to have eaten up the good pasture, but you must tread down with your feet the residue of your pastures? and to have drunk of the deep waters, but you must foul the residue with your feet?[19] And as for my flock, they eat that which you have trodden with your feet; and they drink that which you have fouled with your feet. ¶[20] Therefore thus says the Lord GOD to them; Behold, I, even I, will judge between the fat cattle and between the lean cattle.[21] Because you have thrust with side and with shoulder, and pushed all the diseased with your horns, till you have scattered them abroad;[22] Therefore will I save my flock, and they shall no more be a prey; and I will judge between cattle and cattle.[23] And I will set up one shepherd over them, and he shall feed them, even my servant David; he shall feed them, and he shall be their shepherd.[24] And I the LORD will be their God, and my servant David a prince among them; I the LORD have spoken it.[25] And I will make with them a covenant of peace, and will cause the evil beasts to cease out of the land: and they shall dwell safely in the wilderness, and sleep in the woods.[26] And I will make them and the places round about my hill a blessing; and I will cause the shower to come down in his season; there shall be showers of blessing.[27] And the tree of the field shall yield her fruit, and the earth shall yield her increase, and they shall be safe in their land, and shall know that I am the LORD, when I have broken the bands of their yoke, and delivered them out of the hand of those that served themselves of them.[28] And they shall no more be a prey to the heathen, neither shall the beast of the land devour them; but they shall dwell safely, and none shall make them afraid.[29] And I will raise up for them a plant of renown, and they shall be no more consumed with hunger in the land, neither bear the shame of the heathen any more.[30] Thus shall they know that I the LORD their God am with them, and that they, even the house of Israel, are my people, says the Lord GOD.[31] And you my flock, the flock of my pasture, are men, and I am your God, says the Lord GOD.

[2] Son of man, set your face against mount Seir, and prophesy against it,[3] And say to it, Thus says the Lord GOD; Behold, O mount Seir, I am against you, and I will stretch out my hand against you, and I will make you most desolate.[4] I will lay your cities waste, and you shall be desolate, and you shall know that I am the LORD.[5] Because you have had a perpetual hatred, and have shed the blood of the children of Israel by the force of the sword in the time of their calamity, in the time that their iniquity had an end:[6] Therefore, as I live, says the Lord GOD, I will prepare you to blood, and blood shall pursue you: since you have not hated blood, even blood shall pursue you.[7] Thus will I make mount Seir most desolate, and cut off from it him that passes out and him that returns.[8] And I will fill his mountains with his slain men: in your hills, and in your valleys, and in all your rivers, shall they fall that are slain with the sword.[9] I will make you perpetual desolations, and your cities shall not return: and you shall know that I am the LORD.[10] Because you have said, These two nations and these two countries shall be mine, and we will possess it; whereas the LORD was there:[11] Therefore, as I live, says the Lord GOD, I will even do according to your anger, and according to your envy which you have used out of your hatred against them; and I will make myself known among them, when I have judged you.[12] And you shall know that I am the LORD, and that I have heard all your blasphemies which you have spoken against the mountains of Israel, saying, They are laid desolate, they are given us to consume.[13] Thus with your mouth you have boasted against me, and have multiplied your words against me: I have heard them.[14] Thus says the Lord GOD; When the whole earth rejoices, I will make you desolate.[15] As you did rejoice at the inheritance of the house of Israel, because it was desolate, so will I do to you: you shall be desolate, O mount Seir, and all Idumea, even all of it: and they shall know that I am the LORD.

[1] Also, you son of man, prophesy to the mountains of Israel, and say, You mountains of Israel, hear the word of the LORD:

[2] Thus says the Lord GOD; Because the enemy has said against you, Aha, even the ancient high places are ours in possession:[3] Therefore prophesy and say, Thus says the Lord GOD; Because they have made you desolate, and swallowed you up on every side, that you might be a possession to the residue of the heathen, and you are taken up in the lips of talkers, and are an infamy of the people:[4] Therefore, you mountains of Israel, hear the word of the Lord GOD; Thus says the Lord GOD to the mountains, and to the hills, to the rivers, and to the valleys, to the desolate wastes, and to the cities that are forsaken, which became a prey and derision to the residue of the heathen that are round about;[5] Therefore thus says the Lord GOD; Surely in the fire of my jealousy have I spoken against the residue of the heathen, and against all Idumea, which have appointed my land into their possession with the joy of all their heart, with despiteful minds, to cast it out for a prey.[6] Prophesy therefore concerning the land of Israel, and say to the mountains, and to the hills, to the rivers, and to the valleys, Thus says the Lord GOD; Behold, I have spoken in my jealousy and in my fury, because you have borne the shame of the heathen:[7] Therefore thus says the Lord GOD; I have lifted up my hand, Surely the heathen that are about you, they shall bear their shame. ¶[8] But you, O mountains of Israel, you shall shoot forth your branches, and yield your fruit to my people of Israel; for they are at hand to come.[9] For, behold, I am for you, and I will turn to you, and you shall be tilled and sown:[10] And I will multiply men on you, all the house of Israel, even all of it: and the cities shall be inhabited, and the wastes shall be built:[11] And I will multiply on you man and beast; and they shall increase and bring fruit: and I will settle you after your old estates, and will do better to you than at your beginnings: and you shall know that I am the LORD.[12] Yes, I will cause men to walk on you, even my people Israel; and they shall possess you, and you shall be their inheritance, and you shall no more from now on bereave them of men.[13] Thus says the Lord GOD; Because they say to you, You land devour up men, and have bereaved your nations:[14] Therefore you shall devour men no more, neither bereave your nations any more, says the Lord GOD.[15] Neither will I cause men to hear in you the shame of the heathen any more, neither shall you bear the reproach of the people any more, neither shall you cause your nations to fall any more, says the Lord GOD. ¶[16] Moreover the word of the LORD came to me, saying,[17] Son of man, when the house of Israel dwelled in their own land, they defiled it by their own way and by their doings: their way was before me as the uncleanness of a removed woman.[18] Why I poured my fury on them for the blood that they had shed on the land, and for their idols with which they had polluted it:[19] And I scattered them among the heathen, and they were dispersed through the countries: according to their way and according to their doings I judged them.[20] And when they entered to the heathen, where they went, they profaned my holy name, when they said to them, These are the people of the LORD, and are gone forth out of his land. ¶[21] But I had pity for my holy name, which the house of Israel had profaned among the heathen, where they went.[22] Therefore say to the house of Israel, thus says the Lord GOD; I do not this for your sakes, O house of Israel, but for my holy name's sake, which you have profaned among the heathen, where you went.[23] And I will sanctify my great name, which was profaned among the heathen, which you have profaned in the middle of them; and the heathen shall know that I am the LORD, says the Lord GOD, when I shall be sanctified in you before their eyes.[24] For I will take you from among the heathen, and gather you out of all countries, and will bring you into your own land. ¶[25] Then will I sprinkle clean water on you, and you shall be clean: from all your filthiness, and from all your idols, will I cleanse you.[26] A new heart also will I give you, and a new spirit will I put within you: and I will take away the stony heart out of your flesh, and I will give you an heart of flesh.[27] And I will put my spirit within you, and cause you to walk in my statutes, and you shall keep my judgments, and do them.[28] And you shall dwell in the land that I gave to your fathers; and you shall be my people, and I will be your God.[29] I will also save you from all your uncleannesses: and I will call for the corn, and will increase it, and lay no famine on you.[30] And I will multiply the fruit of the tree, and the increase of the field, that you shall receive no more reproach of famine among the heathen.[31] Then shall you remember your own evil ways, and your doings that were not good, and shall loathe yourselves in your own sight for your iniquities and for your abominations.[32] Not for your sakes do I this, says the Lord GOD, be it known to you: be ashamed and confounded for your own ways, O house of Israel.[33] Thus says the Lord GOD; In the day that I shall have cleansed you from all your iniquities I will also cause you to dwell in the cities, and the wastes shall be built.[34] And the desolate land shall be tilled, whereas it lay desolate in the sight of all that passed by.[35] And they shall say, This land that was desolate is become like the garden of Eden; and the waste and desolate and ruined cities are become fenced, and are inhabited.[36] Then the heathen that are left round about you shall know that I the LORD build the ruined places, and plant that that was desolate: I the LORD have spoken it, and I will do it.[37] Thus says the Lord GOD; I will yet for this be inquired of by the house of Israel, to do it for them; I will increase them with men like a flock.[38] As the holy flock, as the flock of Jerusalem in her solemn feasts; so shall the waste cities be filled with flocks of men: and they shall know that I am the LORD.

[1] The hand of the LORD was on me, and carried me out in the spirit of the LORD, and set me down in the middle of the valley which was full of bones,

[2] And caused me to pass by them round about: and, behold, there were very many in the open valley; and, see, they were very dry.[3] And he said to me, Son of man, can these bones live? And I answered, O Lord GOD, you know.[4] Again he said to me, Prophesy on these bones, and say to them, O you dry bones, hear the word of the LORD.[5] Thus says the Lord GOD to these bones; Behold, I will cause breath to enter into you, and you shall live:[6] And I will lay sinews on you, and will bring up flesh on you, and cover you with skin, and put breath in you, and you shall live; and you shall know that I am the LORD.[7] So I prophesied as I was commanded: and as I prophesied, there was a noise, and behold a shaking, and the bones came together, bone to his bone.[8] And when I beheld, see, the sinews and the flesh came up on them, and the skin covered them above: but there was no breath in them.[9] Then said he to me, Prophesy to the wind, prophesy, son of man, and say to the wind, Thus says the Lord GOD; Come from the four winds, O breath, and breathe on these slain, that they may live.[10] So I prophesied as he commanded me, and the breath came into them, and they lived, and stood up on their feet, an exceeding great army. ¶[11] Then he said to me, Son of man, these bones are the whole house of Israel: behold, they say, Our bones are dried, and our hope is lost: we are cut off for our parts.[12] Therefore prophesy and say to them, Thus says the Lord GOD; Behold, O my people, I will open your graves, and cause you to come up out of your graves, and bring you into the land of Israel.[13] And you shall know that I am the LORD, when I have opened your graves, O my people, and brought you up out of your graves,[14] And shall put my spirit in you, and you shall live, and I shall place you in your own land: then shall you know that I the LORD have spoken it, and performed it, says the LORD. ¶[15] The word of the LORD came again to me, saying,[16] Moreover, you son of man, take you one stick, and write on it, For Judah, and for the children of Israel his companions: then take another stick, and write on it, For Joseph, the stick of Ephraim and for all the house of Israel his companions:[17] And join them one to another into one stick; and they shall become one in your hand. ¶[18] And when the children of your people shall speak to you, saying, Will you not show us what you mean by these?[19] Say to them, Thus says the Lord GOD; Behold, I will take the stick of Joseph, which is in the hand of Ephraim, and the tribes of Israel his fellows, and will put them with him, even with the stick of Judah, and make them one stick, and they shall be one in my hand. ¶[20] And the sticks where on you write shall be in your hand before their eyes.[21] And say to them, Thus says the Lord GOD; Behold, I will take the children of Israel from among the heathen, where they be gone, and will gather them on every side, and bring them into their own land:[22] And I will make them one nation in the land on the mountains of Israel; and one king shall be king to them all: and they shall be no more two nations, neither shall they be divided into two kingdoms any more at all.[23] Neither shall they defile themselves any more with their idols, nor with their detestable things, nor with any of their transgressions: but I will save them out of all their dwelling places, wherein they have sinned, and will cleanse them: so shall they be my people, and I will be their God.[24] And David my servant shall be king over them; and they all shall have one shepherd: they shall also walk in my judgments, and observe my statutes, and do them.[25] And they shall dwell in the land that I have given to Jacob my servant, wherein your fathers have dwelled; and they shall dwell therein, even they, and their children, and their children's children for ever: and my servant David shall be their prince for ever.[26] Moreover I will make a covenant of peace with them; it shall be an everlasting covenant with them: and I will place them, and multiply them, and will set my sanctuary in the middle of them for ever more.[27] My tabernacle also shall be with them: yes, I will be their God, and they shall be my people.[28] And the heathen shall know that I the LORD do sanctify Israel, when my sanctuary shall be in the middle of them for ever more.

[1] And the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

[2] Son of man, set your face against Gog, the land of Magog, the chief prince of Meshech and Tubal, and prophesy against him,[3] And say, Thus says the Lord GOD; Behold, I am against you, O Gog, the chief prince of Meshech and Tubal:[4] And I will turn you back, and put hooks into your jaws, and I will bring you forth, and all your army, horses and horsemen, all of them clothed with all sorts of armor, even a great company with bucklers and shields, all of them handling swords:[5] Persia, Ethiopia, and Libya with them; all of them with shield and helmet:[6] Gomer, and all his bands; the house of Togarmah of the north quarters, and all his bands: and many people with you.[7] Be you prepared, and prepare for yourself, you, and all your company that are assembled to you, and be you a guard to them. ¶[8] After many days you shall be visited: in the latter years you shall come into the land that is brought back from the sword, and is gathered out of many people, against the mountains of Israel, which have been always waste: but it is brought forth out of the nations, and they shall dwell safely all of them.[9] You shall ascend and come like a storm, you shall be like a cloud to cover the land, you, and all your bands, and many people with you.[10] Thus says the Lord GOD; It shall also come to pass, that at the same time shall things come into your mind, and you shall think an evil thought:[11] And you shall say, I will go up to the land of unwalled villages; I will go to them that are at rest, that dwell safely, all of them dwelling without walls, and having neither bars nor gates,[12] To take a spoil, and to take a prey; to turn your hand on the desolate places that are now inhabited, and on the people that are gathered out of the nations, which have gotten cattle and goods, that dwell in the middle of the land.[13] Sheba, and Dedan, and the merchants of Tarshish, with all the young lions thereof, shall say to you, Are you come to take a spoil? have you gathered your company to take a prey? to carry away silver and gold, to take away cattle and goods, to take a great spoil? ¶[14] Therefore, son of man, prophesy and say to Gog, Thus says the Lord GOD; In that day when my people of Israel dwells safely, shall you not know it?[15] And you shall come from your place out of the north parts, you, and many people with you, all of them riding on horses, a great company, and a mighty army:[16] And you shall come up against my people of Israel, as a cloud to cover the land; it shall be in the latter days, and I will bring you against my land, that the heathen may know me, when I shall be sanctified in you, O Gog, before their eyes.[17] Thus says the Lord GOD; Are you he of whom I have spoken in old time by my servants the prophets of Israel, which prophesied in those days many years that I would bring you against them?[18] And it shall come to pass at the same time when Gog shall come against the land of Israel, says the Lord GOD, that my fury shall come up in my face.[19] For in my jealousy and in the fire of my wrath have I spoken, Surely in that day there shall be a great shaking in the land of Israel;[20] So that the fishes of the sea, and the fowls of the heaven, and the beasts of the field, and all creeping things that creep on the earth, and all the men that are on the face of the earth, shall shake at my presence, and the mountains shall be thrown down, and the steep places shall fall, and every wall shall fall to the ground.[21] And I will call for a sword against him throughout all my mountains, says the Lord GOD: every man's sword shall be against his brother.[22] And I will plead against him with pestilence and with blood; and I will rain on him, and on his bands, and on the many people that are with him, an overflowing rain, and great hailstones, fire, and brimstone.[23] Thus will I magnify myself, and sanctify myself; and I will be known in the eyes of many nations, and they shall know that I am the LORD.

[1] Therefore, you son of man, prophesy against Gog, and say, Thus says the Lord GOD; Behold, I am against you, O Gog, the chief prince of Meshech and Tubal:

[2] And I will turn you back, and leave but the sixth part of you, and will cause you to come up from the north parts, and will bring you on the mountains of Israel:[3] And I will smite your bow out of your left hand, and will cause your arrows to fall out of your right hand.[4] You shall fall on the mountains of Israel, you, and all your bands, and the people that is with you: I will give you to the ravenous birds of every sort, and to the beasts of the field to be devoured.[5] You shall fall on the open field: for I have spoken it, says the Lord GOD.[6] And I will send a fire on Magog, and among them that dwell carelessly in the isles: and they shall know that I am the LORD.[7] So will I make my holy name known in the middle of my people Israel; and I will not let them pollute my holy name any more: and the heathen shall know that I am the LORD, the Holy One in Israel. ¶[8] Behold, it is come, and it is done, says the Lord GOD; this is the day whereof I have spoken.[9] And they that dwell in the cities of Israel shall go forth, and shall set on fire and burn the weapons, both the shields and the bucklers, the bows and the arrows, and the hand staves, and the spears, and they shall burn them with fire seven years:[10] So that they shall take no wood out of the field, neither cut down any out of the forests; for they shall burn the weapons with fire: and they shall spoil those that spoiled them, and rob those that robbed them, says the Lord GOD. ¶[11] And it shall come to pass in that day, that I will give to Gog a place there of graves in Israel, the valley of the passengers on the east of the sea: and it shall stop the noses of the passengers: and there shall they bury Gog and all his multitude: and they shall call it The valley of Hamongog.[12] And seven months shall the house of Israel be burying of them, that they may cleanse the land.[13] Yes, all the people of the land shall bury them; and it shall be to them a renown the day that I shall be glorified, says the Lord GOD.[14] And they shall sever out men of continual employment, passing through the land to bury with the passengers those that remain on the face of the earth, to cleanse it: after the end of seven months shall they search.[15] And the passengers that pass through the land, when any sees a man's bone, then shall he set up a sign by it, till the buriers have buried it in the valley of Hamongog.[16] And also the name of the city shall be Hamonah. Thus shall they cleanse the land. ¶[17] And, you son of man, thus says the Lord GOD; Speak to every feathered fowl, and to every beast of the field, Assemble yourselves, and come; gather yourselves on every side to my sacrifice that I do sacrifice for you, even a great sacrifice on the mountains of Israel, that you may eat flesh, and drink blood.[18] You shall eat the flesh of the mighty, and drink the blood of the princes of the earth, of rams, of lambs, and of goats, of bullocks, all of them fatted calves of Bashan.[19] And you shall eat fat till you be full, and drink blood till you be drunken, of my sacrifice which I have sacrificed for you.[20] Thus you shall be filled at my table with horses and chariots, with mighty men, and with all men of war, says the Lord GOD.[21] And I will set my glory among the heathen, and all the heathen shall see my judgment that I have executed, and my hand that I have laid on them.[22] So the house of Israel shall know that I am the LORD their God from that day and forward. ¶[23] And the heathen shall know that the house of Israel went into captivity for their iniquity: because they trespassed against me, therefore hid I my face from them, and gave them into the hand of their enemies: so fell they all by the sword.[24] According to their uncleanness and according to their transgressions have I done to them, and hid my face from them.[25] Therefore thus says the Lord GOD; Now will I bring again the captivity of Jacob, and have mercy on the whole house of Israel, and will be jealous for my holy name;[26] After that they have borne their shame, and all their trespasses whereby they have trespassed against me, when they dwelled safely in their land, and none made them afraid.[27] When I have brought them again from the people, and gathered them out of their enemies' lands, and am sanctified in them in the sight of many nations;[28] Then shall they know that I am the LORD their God, which caused them to be led into captivity among the heathen: but I have gathered them to their own land, and have left none of them any more there.[29] Neither will I hide my face any more from them: for I have poured out my spirit on the house of Israel, says the Lord GOD.

[1] In the five and twentieth year of our captivity, in the beginning of the year, in the tenth day of the month, in the fourteenth year after that the city was smitten, in the selfsame day the hand of the LORD was on me, and brought me thither.

[2] In the visions of God brought he me into the land of Israel, and set me on a very high mountain, by which was as the frame of a city on the south.[3] And he brought me thither, and, behold, there was a man, whose appearance was like the appearance of brass, with a line of flax in his hand, and a measuring reed; and he stood in the gate.[4] And the man said to me, Son of man, behold with your eyes, and hear with your ears, and set your heart on all that I shall show you; for to the intent that I might show them to you are you brought here: declare all that you see to the house of Israel.[5] And behold a wall on the outside of the house round about, and in the man's hand a measuring reed of six cubits long by the cubit and an hand breadth: so he measured the breadth of the building, one reed; and the height, one reed. ¶[6] Then came he to the gate which looks toward the east, and went up the stairs thereof, and measured the threshold of the gate, which was one reed broad; and the other threshold of the gate, which was one reed broad.[7] And every little chamber was one reed long, and one reed broad; and between the little chambers were five cubits; and the threshold of the gate by the porch of the gate within was one reed.[8] He measured also the porch of the gate within, one reed.[9] Then measured he the porch of the gate, eight cubits; and the posts thereof, two cubits; and the porch of the gate was inward.[10] And the little chambers of the gate eastward were three on this side, and three on that side; they three were of one measure: and the posts had one measure on this side and on that side.[11] And he measured the breadth of the entry of the gate, ten cubits; and the length of the gate, thirteen cubits.[12] The space also before the little chambers was one cubit on this side, and the space was one cubit on that side: and the little chambers were six cubits on this side, and six cubits on that side.[13] He measured then the gate from the roof of one little chamber to the roof of another: the breadth was five and twenty cubits, door against door.[14] He made also posts of three score cubits, even to the post of the court round about the gate.[15] And from the face of the gate of the entrance to the face of the porch of the inner gate were fifty cubits.[16] And there were narrow windows to the little chambers, and to their posts within the gate round about, and likewise to the arches: and windows were round about inward: and on each post were palm trees.[17] Then brought he me into the outward court, and, see, there were chambers, and a pavement made for the court round about: thirty chambers were on the pavement.[18] And the pavement by the side of the gates over against the length of the gates was the lower pavement.[19] Then he measured the breadth from the forefront of the lower gate to the forefront of the inner court without, an hundred cubits eastward and northward. ¶[20] And the gate of the outward court that looked toward the north, he measured the length thereof, and the breadth thereof.[21] And the little chambers thereof were three on this side and three on that side; and the posts thereof and the arches thereof were after the measure of the first gate: the length thereof was fifty cubits, and the breadth five and twenty cubits.[22] And their windows, and their arches, and their palm trees, were after the measure of the gate that looks toward the east; and they went up to it by seven steps; and the arches thereof were before them.[23] And the gate of the inner court was over against the gate toward the north, and toward the east; and he measured from gate to gate an hundred cubits. ¶[24] After that he brought me toward the south, and behold a gate toward the south: and he measured the posts thereof and the arches thereof according to these measures.[25] And there were windows in it and in the arches thereof round about, like those windows: the length was fifty cubits, and the breadth five and twenty cubits.[26] And there were seven steps to go up to it, and the arches thereof were before them: and it had palm trees, one on this side, and another on that side, on the posts thereof.[27] And there was a gate in the inner court toward the south: and he measured from gate to gate toward the south an hundred cubits.[28] And he brought me to the inner court by the south gate: and he measured the south gate according to these measures;[29] And the little chambers thereof, and the posts thereof, and the arches thereof, according to these measures: and there were windows in it and in the arches thereof round about: it was fifty cubits long, and five and twenty cubits broad.[30] And the arches round about were five and twenty cubits long, and five cubits broad.[31] And the arches thereof were toward the outer court; and palm trees were on the posts thereof: and the going up to it had eight steps. ¶[32] And he brought me into the inner court toward the east: and he measured the gate according to these measures.[33] And the little chambers thereof, and the posts thereof, and the arches thereof, were according to these measures: and there were windows therein and in the arches thereof round about: it was fifty cubits long, and five and twenty cubits broad.[34] And the arches thereof were toward the outward court; and palm trees were on the posts thereof, on this side, and on that side: and the going up to it had eight steps. ¶[35] And he brought me to the north gate, and measured it according to these measures;[36] The little chambers thereof, the posts thereof, and the arches thereof, and the windows to it round about: the length was fifty cubits, and the breadth five and twenty cubits.[37] And the posts thereof were toward the outer court; and palm trees were on the posts thereof, on this side, and on that side: and the going up to it had eight steps.[38] And the chambers and the entries thereof were by the posts of the gates, where they washed the burnt offering. ¶[39] And in the porch of the gate were two tables on this side, and two tables on that side, to slay thereon the burnt offering and the sin offering and the trespass offering.[40] And at the side without, as one goes up to the entry of the north gate, were two tables; and on the other side, which was at the porch of the gate, were two tables.[41] Four tables were on this side, and four tables on that side, by the side of the gate; eight tables, whereupon they slew their sacrifices.[42] And the four tables were of hewn stone for the burnt offering, of a cubit and an half long, and a cubit and an half broad, and one cubit high: whereupon also they laid the instruments with which they slew the burnt offering and the sacrifice.[43] And within were hooks, an hand broad, fastened round about: and on the tables was the flesh of the offering. ¶[44] And without the inner gate were the chambers of the singers in the inner court, which was at the side of the north gate; and their prospect was toward the south: one at the side of the east gate having the prospect toward the north.[45] And he said to me, This chamber, whose prospect is toward the south, is for the priests, the keepers of the charge of the house.[46] And the chamber whose prospect is toward the north is for the priests, the keepers of the charge of the altar: these are the sons of Zadok among the sons of Levi, which come near to the LORD to minister to him.[47] So he measured the court, an hundred cubits long, and an hundred cubits broad, foursquare; and the altar that was before the house. ¶[48] And he brought me to the porch of the house, and measured each post of the porch, five cubits on this side, and five cubits on that side: and the breadth of the gate was three cubits on this side, and three cubits on that side.[49] The length of the porch was twenty cubits, and the breadth eleven cubits, and he brought me by the steps whereby they went up to it: and there were pillars by the posts, one on this side, and another on that side.

[1] Afterward he brought me to the temple, and measured the posts, six cubits broad on the one side, and six cubits broad on the other side, which was the breadth of the tabernacle.

[2] And the breadth of the door was ten cubits; and the sides of the door were five cubits on the one side, and five cubits on the other side: and he measured the length thereof, forty cubits: and the breadth, twenty cubits.[3] Then went he inward, and measured the post of the door, two cubits; and the door, six cubits; and the breadth of the door, seven cubits.[4] So he measured the length thereof, twenty cubits; and the breadth, twenty cubits, before the temple: and he said to me, This is the most holy place.[5] After he measured the wall of the house, six cubits; and the breadth of every side chamber, four cubits, round about the house on every side.[6] And the side chambers were three, one over another, and thirty in order; and they entered into the wall which was of the house for the side chambers round about, that they might have hold, but they had not hold in the wall of the house.[7] And there was an enlarging, and a winding about still upward to the side chambers: for the winding about of the house went still upward round about the house: therefore the breadth of the house was still upward, and so increased from the lowest chamber to the highest by the middle.[8] I saw also the height of the house round about: the foundations of the side chambers were a full reed of six great cubits.[9] The thickness of the wall, which was for the side chamber without, was five cubits: and that which was left was the place of the side chambers that were within.[10] And between the chambers was the wideness of twenty cubits round about the house on every side.[11] And the doors of the side chambers were toward the place that was left, one door toward the north, and another door toward the south: and the breadth of the place that was left was five cubits round about.[12] Now the building that was before the separate place at the end toward the west was seventy cubits broad; and the wall of the building was five cubits thick round about, and the length thereof ninety cubits.[13] So he measured the house, an hundred cubits long; and the separate place, and the building, with the walls thereof, an hundred cubits long;[14] Also the breadth of the face of the house, and of the separate place toward the east, an hundred cubits.[15] And he measured the length of the building over against the separate place which was behind it, and the galleries thereof on the one side and on the other side, an hundred cubits, with the inner temple, and the porches of the court;[16] The door posts, and the narrow windows, and the galleries round about on their three stories, over against the door, paneled with wood round about, and from the ground up to the windows, and the windows were covered;[17] To that above the door, even to the inner house, and without, and by all the wall round about within and without, by measure.[18] And it was made with cherubim and palm trees, so that a palm tree was between a cherub and a cherub; and every cherub had two faces;[19] So that the face of a man was toward the palm tree on the one side, and the face of a young lion toward the palm tree on the other side: it was made through all the house round about.[20] From the ground to above the door were cherubim and palm trees made, and on the wall of the temple.[21] The posts of the temple were squared, and the face of the sanctuary; the appearance of the one as the appearance of the other.[22] The altar of wood was three cubits high, and the length thereof two cubits; and the corners thereof, and the length thereof, and the walls thereof, were of wood: and he said to me, This is the table that is before the LORD.[23] And the temple and the sanctuary had two doors.[24] And the doors had two leaves apiece, two turning leaves; two leaves for the one door, and two leaves for the other door.[25] And there were made on them, on the doors of the temple, cherubim and palm trees, like as were made on the walls; and there were thick planks on the face of the porch without.[26] And there were narrow windows and palm trees on the one side and on the other side, on the sides of the porch, and on the side chambers of the house, and thick planks.

[1] Then he brought me forth into the outer court, the way toward the north: and he brought me into the chamber that was over against the separate place, and which was before the building toward the north.

[2] Before the length of an hundred cubits was the north door, and the breadth was fifty cubits.[3] Over against the twenty cubits which were for the inner court, and over against the pavement which was for the outer court, was gallery against gallery in three stories.[4] And before the chambers was a walk to ten cubits breadth inward, a way of one cubit; and their doors toward the north.[5] Now the upper chambers were shorter: for the galleries were higher than these, than the lower, and than the middlemost of the building.[6] For they were in three stories, but had not pillars as the pillars of the courts: therefore the building was straitened more than the lowest and the middlemost from the ground.[7] And the wall that was without over against the chambers, toward the outer court on the forepart of the chambers, the length thereof was fifty cubits.[8] For the length of the chambers that were in the outer court was fifty cubits: and, see, before the temple were an hundred cubits.[9] And from under these chambers was the entry on the east side, as one goes into them from the outer court.[10] The chambers were in the thickness of the wall of the court toward the east, over against the separate place, and over against the building.[11] And the way before them was like the appearance of the chambers which were toward the north, as long as they, and as broad as they: and all their goings out were both according to their fashions, and according to their doors.[12] And according to the doors of the chambers that were toward the south was a door in the head of the way, even the way directly before the wall toward the east, as one enters into them. ¶[13] Then said he to me, The north chambers and the south chambers, which are before the separate place, they be holy chambers, where the priests that approach to the LORD shall eat the most holy things: there shall they lay the most holy things, and the meat offering, and the sin offering, and the trespass offering; for the place is holy.[14] When the priests enter therein, then shall they not go out of the holy place into the outer court, but there they shall lay their garments wherein they minister; for they are holy; and shall put on other garments, and shall approach to those things which are for the people.[15] Now when he had made an end of measuring the inner house, he brought me forth toward the gate whose prospect is toward the east, and measured it round about.[16] He measured the east side with the measuring reed, five hundred reeds, with the measuring reed round about.[17] He measured the north side, five hundred reeds, with the measuring reed round about.[18] He measured the south side, five hundred reeds, with the measuring reed. ¶[19] He turned about to the west side, and measured five hundred reeds with the measuring reed.[20] He measured it by the four sides: it had a wall round about, five hundred reeds long, and five hundred broad, to make a separation between the sanctuary and the profane place.

[1] Afterward he brought me to the gate, even the gate that looks toward the east:

[2] And, behold, the glory of the God of Israel came from the way of the east: and his voice was like a noise of many waters: and the earth shined with his glory.[3] And it was according to the appearance of the vision which I saw, even according to the vision that I saw when I came to destroy the city: and the visions were like the vision that I saw by the river Chebar; and I fell on my face.[4] And the glory of the LORD came into the house by the way of the gate whose prospect is toward the east.[5] So the spirit took me up, and brought me into the inner court; and, behold, the glory of the LORD filled the house.[6] And I heard him speaking to me out of the house; and the man stood by me. ¶[7] And he said to me, Son of man, the place of my throne, and the place of the soles of my feet, where I will dwell in the middle of the children of Israel for ever, and my holy name, shall the house of Israel no more defile, neither they, nor their kings, by their prostitution, nor by the carcasses of their kings in their high places.[8] In their setting of their threshold by my thresholds, and their post by my posts, and the wall between me and them, they have even defiled my holy name by their abominations that they have committed: why I have consumed them in my anger.[9] Now let them put away their prostitution, and the carcasses of their kings, far from me, and I will dwell in the middle of them for ever. ¶[10] You son of man, show the house to the house of Israel, that they may be ashamed of their iniquities: and let them measure the pattern.[11] And if they be ashamed of all that they have done, show them the form of the house, and the fashion thereof, and the goings out thereof, and the comings in thereof, and all the forms thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and all the forms thereof, and all the laws thereof: and write it in their sight, that they may keep the whole form thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and do them.[12] This is the law of the house; On the top of the mountain the whole limit thereof round about shall be most holy. Behold, this is the law of the house. ¶[13] And these are the measures of the altar after the cubits: The cubit is a cubit and an hand breadth; even the bottom shall be a cubit, and the breadth a cubit, and the border thereof by the edge thereof round about shall be a span: and this shall be the higher place of the altar.[14] And from the bottom on the ground even to the lower settle shall be two cubits, and the breadth one cubit; and from the lesser settle even to the greater settle shall be four cubits, and the breadth one cubit.[15] So the altar shall be four cubits; and from the altar and upward shall be four horns.[16] And the altar shall be twelve cubits long, twelve broad, square in the four squares thereof.[17] And the settle shall be fourteen cubits long and fourteen broad in the four squares thereof; and the border about it shall be half a cubit; and the bottom thereof shall be a cubit about; and his stairs shall look toward the east. ¶[18] And he said to me, Son of man, thus says the Lord GOD; These are the ordinances of the altar in the day when they shall make it, to offer burnt offerings thereon, and to sprinkle blood thereon.[19] And you shall give to the priests the Levites that be of the seed of Zadok, which approach to me, to minister to me, says the Lord GOD, a young bullock for a sin offering.[20] And you shall take of the blood thereof, and put it on the four horns of it, and on the four corners of the settle, and on the border round about: thus shall you cleanse and purge it.[21] You shall take the bullock also of the sin offering, and he shall burn it in the appointed place of the house, without the sanctuary.[22] And on the second day you shall offer a kid of the goats without blemish for a sin offering; and they shall cleanse the altar, as they did cleanse it with the bullock.[23] When you have made an end of cleansing it, you shall offer a young bullock without blemish, and a ram out of the flock without blemish.[24] And you shall offer them before the LORD, and the priests shall cast salt on them, and they shall offer them up for a burnt offering to the LORD.[25] Seven days shall you prepare every day a goat for a sin offering: they shall also prepare a young bullock, and a ram out of the flock, without blemish.[26] Seven days shall they purge the altar and purify it; and they shall consecrate themselves.[27] And when these days are expired, it shall be, that on the eighth day, and so forward, the priests shall make your burnt offerings on the altar, and your peace offerings; and I will accept you, says the Lord GOD.

[1] Then he brought me back the way of the gate of the outward sanctuary which looks toward the east; and it was shut.

[2] Then said the LORD to me; This gate shall be shut, it shall not be opened, and no man shall enter in by it; because the LORD, the God of Israel, has entered in by it, therefore it shall be shut.[3] It is for the prince; the prince, he shall sit in it to eat bread before the LORD; he shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate, and shall go out by the way of the same. ¶[4] Then brought he me the way of the north gate before the house: and I looked, and, behold, the glory of the LORD filled the house of the LORD: and I fell on my face.[5] And the LORD said to me, Son of man, mark well, and behold with your eyes, and hear with your ears all that I say to you concerning all the ordinances of the house of the LORD, and all the laws thereof; and mark well the entering in of the house, with every going forth of the sanctuary.[6] And you shall say to the rebellious, even to the house of Israel, Thus says the Lord GOD; O you house of Israel, let it suffice you of all your abominations,[7] In that you have brought into my sanctuary strangers, uncircumcised in heart, and uncircumcised in flesh, to be in my sanctuary, to pollute it, even my house, when you offer my bread, the fat and the blood, and they have broken my covenant because of all your abominations.[8] And you have not kept the charge of my holy things: but you have set keepers of my charge in my sanctuary for yourselves. ¶[9] Thus says the Lord GOD; No stranger, uncircumcised in heart, nor uncircumcised in flesh, shall enter into my sanctuary, of any stranger that is among the children of Israel.[10] And the Levites that are gone away far from me, when Israel went astray, which went astray away from me after their idols; they shall even bear their iniquity.[11] Yet they shall be ministers in my sanctuary, having charge at the gates of the house, and ministering to the house: they shall slay the burnt offering and the sacrifice for the people, and they shall stand before them to minister to them.[12] Because they ministered to them before their idols, and caused the house of Israel to fall into iniquity; therefore have I lifted up my hand against them, says the Lord GOD, and they shall bear their iniquity.[13] And they shall not come near to me, to do the office of a priest to me, nor to come near to any of my holy things, in the most holy place: but they shall bear their shame, and their abominations which they have committed.[14] But I will make them keepers of the charge of the house, for all the service thereof, and for all that shall be done therein. ¶[15] But the priests the Levites, the sons of Zadok, that kept the charge of my sanctuary when the children of Israel went astray from me, they shall come near to me to minister to me, and they shall stand before me to offer to me the fat and the blood, says the Lord GOD:[16] They shall enter into my sanctuary, and they shall come near to my table, to minister to me, and they shall keep my charge. ¶[17] And it shall come to pass, that when they enter in at the gates of the inner court, they shall be clothed with linen garments; and no wool shall come on them, whiles they minister in the gates of the inner court, and within.[18] They shall have linen bonnets on their heads, and shall have linen breeches on their loins; they shall not gird themselves with any thing that causes sweat.[19] And when they go forth into the outer court, even into the outer court to the people, they shall put off their garments wherein they ministered, and lay them in the holy chambers, and they shall put on other garments; and they shall not sanctify the people with their garments.[20] Neither shall they shave their heads, nor suffer their locks to grow long; they shall only poll their heads.[21] Neither shall any priest drink wine, when they enter into the inner court.[22] Neither shall they take for their wives a widow, nor her that is put away: but they shall take maidens of the seed of the house of Israel, or a widow that had a priest before.[23] And they shall teach my people the difference between the holy and profane, and cause them to discern between the unclean and the clean.[24] And in controversy they shall stand in judgment; and they shall judge it according to my judgments: and they shall keep my laws and my statutes in all my assemblies; and they shall hallow my sabbaths.[25] And they shall come at no dead person to defile themselves: but for father, or for mother, or for son, or for daughter, for brother, or for sister that has had no husband, they may defile themselves.[26] And after he is cleansed, they shall reckon to him seven days.[27] And in the day that he goes into the sanctuary, to the inner court, to minister in the sanctuary, he shall offer his sin offering, says the Lord GOD.[28] And it shall be to them for an inheritance: I am their inheritance: and you shall give them no possession in Israel: I am their possession.[29] They shall eat the meat offering, and the sin offering, and the trespass offering: and every dedicated thing in Israel shall be theirs.[30] And the first of all the first fruits of all things, and every oblation of all, of every sort of your oblations, shall be the priest's: you shall also give to the priest the first of your dough, that he may cause the blessing to rest in your house.[31] The priests shall not eat of any thing that is dead of itself, or torn, whether it be fowl or beast.

[1] Moreover, when you shall divide by lot the land for inheritance, you shall offer an oblation to the LORD, an holy portion of the land: the length shall be the length of five and twenty thousand reeds, and the breadth shall be ten thousand. This shall be holy in all the borders thereof round about.

[2] Of this there shall be for the sanctuary five hundred in length, with five hundred in breadth, square round about; and fifty cubits round about for the suburbs thereof.[3] And of this measure shall you measure the length of five and twenty thousand, and the breadth of ten thousand: and in it shall be the sanctuary and the most holy place.[4] The holy portion of the land shall be for the priests the ministers of the sanctuary, which shall come near to minister to the LORD: and it shall be a place for their houses, and an holy place for the sanctuary.[5] And the five and twenty thousand of length, and the ten thousand of breadth shall also the Levites, the ministers of the house, have for themselves, for a possession for twenty chambers. ¶[6] And you shall appoint the possession of the city five thousand broad, and five and twenty thousand long, over against the oblation of the holy portion: it shall be for the whole house of Israel. ¶[7] And a portion shall be for the prince on the one side and on the other side of the oblation of the holy portion, and of the possession of the city, before the oblation of the holy portion, and before the possession of the city, from the west side westward, and from the east side eastward: and the length shall be over against one of the portions, from the west border to the east border.[8] In the land shall be his possession in Israel: and my princes shall no more oppress my people; and the rest of the land shall they give to the house of Israel according to their tribes. ¶[9] Thus says the Lord GOD; Let it suffice you, O princes of Israel: remove violence and spoil, and execute judgment and justice, take away your exactions from my people, said the Lord GOD.[10] You shall have just balances, and a just ephah, and a just bath.[11] The ephah and the bath shall be of one measure, that the bath may contain the tenth part of an homer, and the ephah the tenth part of an homer: the measure thereof shall be after the homer.[12] And the shekel shall be twenty gerahs: twenty shekels, five and twenty shekels, fifteen shekels, shall be your maneh.[13] This is the oblation that you shall offer; the sixth part of an ephah of an homer of wheat, and you shall give the sixth part of an ephah of an homer of barley:[14] Concerning the ordinance of oil, the bath of oil, you shall offer the tenth part of a bath out of the cor, which is an homer of ten baths; for ten baths are an homer:[15] And one lamb out of the flock, out of two hundred, out of the fat pastures of Israel; for a meat offering, and for a burnt offering, and for peace offerings, to make reconciliation for them, says the Lord GOD.[16] All the people of the land shall give this oblation for the prince in Israel.[17] And it shall be the prince's part to give burnt offerings, and meat offerings, and drink offerings, in the feasts, and in the new moons, and in the sabbaths, in all solemnities of the house of Israel: he shall prepare the sin offering, and the meat offering, and the burnt offering, and the peace offerings, to make reconciliation for the house of Israel.[18] Thus says the Lord GOD; In the first month, in the first day of the month, you shall take a young bullock without blemish, and cleanse the sanctuary:[19] And the priest shall take of the blood of the sin offering, and put it on the posts of the house, and on the four corners of the settle of the altar, and on the posts of the gate of the inner court.[20] And so you shall do the seventh day of the month for every one that errs, and for him that is simple: so shall you reconcile the house.[21] In the first month, in the fourteenth day of the month, you shall have the passover, a feast of seven days; unleavened bread shall be eaten.[22] And on that day shall the prince prepare for himself and for all the people of the land a bullock for a sin offering.[23] And seven days of the feast he shall prepare a burnt offering to the LORD, seven bullocks and seven rams without blemish daily the seven days; and a kid of the goats daily for a sin offering.[24] And he shall prepare a meat offering of an ephah for a bullock, and an ephah for a ram, and an hin of oil for an ephah.[25] In the seventh month, in the fifteenth day of the month, shall he do the like in the feast of the seven days, according to the sin offering, according to the burnt offering, and according to the meat offering, and according to the oil.

[1] Thus says the Lord GOD; The gate of the inner court that looks toward the east shall be shut the six working days; but on the sabbath it shall be opened, and in the day of the new moon it shall be opened.

[2] And the prince shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate without, and shall stand by the post of the gate, and the priests shall prepare his burnt offering and his peace offerings, and he shall worship at the threshold of the gate: then he shall go forth; but the gate shall not be shut until the evening.[3] Likewise the people of the land shall worship at the door of this gate before the LORD in the sabbaths and in the new moons.[4] And the burnt offering that the prince shall offer to the LORD in the sabbath day shall be six lambs without blemish, and a ram without blemish.[5] And the meat offering shall be an ephah for a ram, and the meat offering for the lambs as he shall be able to give, and an hin of oil to an ephah.[6] And in the day of the new moon it shall be a young bullock without blemish, and six lambs, and a ram: they shall be without blemish.[7] And he shall prepare a meat offering, an ephah for a bullock, and an ephah for a ram, and for the lambs according as his hand shall attain to, and an hin of oil to an ephah.[8] And when the prince shall enter, he shall go in by the way of the porch of that gate, and he shall go forth by the way thereof. ¶[9] But when the people of the land shall come before the LORD in the solemn feasts, he that enters in by the way of the north gate to worship shall go out by the way of the south gate; and he that enters by the way of the south gate shall go forth by the way of the north gate: he shall not return by the way of the gate whereby he came in, but shall go forth over against it.[10] And the prince in the middle of them, when they go in, shall go in; and when they go forth, shall go forth.[11] And in the feasts and in the solemnities the meat offering shall be an ephah to a bullock, and an ephah to a ram, and to the lambs as he is able to give, and an hin of oil to an ephah.[12] Now when the prince shall prepare a voluntary burnt offering or peace offerings voluntarily to the LORD, one shall then open him the gate that looks toward the east, and he shall prepare his burnt offering and his peace offerings, as he did on the sabbath day: then he shall go forth; and after his going forth one shall shut the gate.[13] You shall daily prepare a burnt offering to the LORD of a lamb of the first year without blemish: you shall prepare it every morning.[14] And you shall prepare a meat offering for it every morning, the sixth part of an ephah, and the third part of an hin of oil, to temper with the fine flour; a meat offering continually by a perpetual ordinance to the LORD.[15] Thus shall they prepare the lamb, and the meat offering, and the oil, every morning for a continual burnt offering. ¶[16] Thus says the Lord GOD; If the prince give a gift to any of his sons, the inheritance thereof shall be his sons'; it shall be their possession by inheritance.[17] But if he give a gift of his inheritance to one of his servants, then it shall be his to the year of liberty; after it shall return to the prince: but his inheritance shall be his sons' for them.[18] Moreover the prince shall not take of the people's inheritance by oppression, to thrust them out of their possession; but he shall give his sons inheritance out of his own possession: that my people be not scattered every man from his possession. ¶[19] After he brought me through the entry, which was at the side of the gate, into the holy chambers of the priests, which looked toward the north: and, behold, there was a place on the two sides westward.[20] Then said he to me, This is the place where the priests shall boil the trespass offering and the sin offering, where they shall bake the meat offering; that they bear them not out into the outer court, to sanctify the people.[21] Then he brought me forth into the outer court, and caused me to pass by the four corners of the court; and, behold, in every corner of the court there was a court.[22] In the four corners of the court there were courts joined of forty cubits long and thirty broad: these four corners were of one measure.[23] And there was a row of building round about in them, round about them four, and it was made with boiling places under the rows round about.[24] Then said he to me, These are the places of them that boil, where the ministers of the house shall boil the sacrifice of the people.

[1] Afterward he brought me again to the door of the house; and, behold, waters issued out from under the threshold of the house eastward: for the forefront of the house stood toward the east, and the waters came down from under from the right side of the house, at the south side of the altar.

[2] Then brought he me out of the way of the gate northward, and led me about the way without to the outer gate by the way that looks eastward; and, behold, there ran out waters on the right side.[3] And when the man that had the line in his hand went forth eastward, he measured a thousand cubits, and he brought me through the waters; the waters were to the ankles.[4] Again he measured a thousand, and brought me through the waters; the waters were to the knees. Again he measured a thousand, and brought me through; the waters were to the loins.[5] Afterward he measured a thousand; and it was a river that I could not pass over: for the waters were risen, waters to swim in, a river that could not be passed over. ¶[6] And he said to me, Son of man, have you seen this? Then he brought me, and caused me to return to the brink of the river.[7] Now when I had returned, behold, at the bank of the river were very many trees on the one side and on the other.[8] Then said he to me, These waters issue out toward the east country, and go down into the desert, and go into the sea: which being brought forth into the sea, the waters shall be healed.[9] And it shall come to pass, that every thing that lives, which moves, wherever the rivers shall come, shall live: and there shall be a very great multitude of fish, because these waters shall come thither: for they shall be healed; and every thing shall live where the river comes.[10] And it shall come to pass, that the fishers shall stand on it from Engedi even to Eneglaim; they shall be a place to spread forth nets; their fish shall be according to their kinds, as the fish of the great sea, exceeding many.[11] But the miry places thereof and the marshes thereof shall not be healed; they shall be given to salt.[12] And by the river on the bank thereof, on this side and on that side, shall grow all trees for meat, whose leaf shall not fade, neither shall the fruit thereof be consumed: it shall bring forth new fruit according to his months, because their waters they issued out of the sanctuary: and the fruit thereof shall be for meat, and the leaf thereof for medicine. ¶[13] Thus says the Lord GOD; This shall be the border, whereby you shall inherit the land according to the twelve tribes of Israel: Joseph shall have two portions.[14] And you shall inherit it, one as well as another: concerning the which I lifted up my hand to give it to your fathers: and this land shall fall to you for inheritance.[15] And this shall be the border of the land toward the north side, from the great sea, the way of Hethlon, as men go to Zedad;[16] Hamath, Berothah, Sibraim, which is between the border of Damascus and the border of Hamath; Hazarhatticon, which is by the coast of Hauran.[17] And the border from the sea shall be Hazarenan, the border of Damascus, and the north northward, and the border of Hamath. And this is the north side.[18] And the east side you shall measure from Hauran, and from Damascus, and from Gilead, and from the land of Israel by Jordan, from the border to the east sea. And this is the east side.[19] And the south side southward, from Tamar even to the waters of strife in Kadesh, the river to the great sea. And this is the south side southward.[20] The west side also shall be the great sea from the border, till a man come over against Hamath. This is the west side.[21] So shall you divide this land to you according to the tribes of Israel. ¶[22] And it shall come to pass, that you shall divide it by lot for an inheritance to you, and to the strangers that sojourn among you, which shall beget children among you: and they shall be to you as born in the country among the children of Israel; they shall have inheritance with you among the tribes of Israel.[23] And it shall come to pass, that in what tribe the stranger sojourns, there shall you give him his inheritance, says the Lord GOD.

[1] Now these are the names of the tribes. From the north end to the coast of the way of Hethlon, as one goes to Hamath, Hazarenan, the border of Damascus northward, to the coast of Hamath; for these are his sides east and west; a portion for Dan.

[2] And by the border of Dan, from the east side to the west side, a portion for Asher.[3] And by the border of Asher, from the east side even to the west side, a portion for Naphtali.[4] And by the border of Naphtali, from the east side to the west side, a portion for Manasseh.[5] And by the border of Manasseh, from the east side to the west side, a portion for Ephraim.[6] And by the border of Ephraim, from the east side even to the west side, a portion for Reuben.[7] And by the border of Reuben, from the east side to the west side, a portion for Judah. ¶[8] And by the border of Judah, from the east side to the west side, shall be the offering which you shall offer of five and twenty thousand reeds in breadth, and in length as one of the other parts, from the east side to the west side: and the sanctuary shall be in the middle of it.[9] The oblation that you shall offer to the LORD shall be of five and twenty thousand in length, and of ten thousand in breadth.[10] And for them, even for the priests, shall be this holy oblation; toward the north five and twenty thousand in length, and toward the west ten thousand in breadth, and toward the east ten thousand in breadth, and toward the south five and twenty thousand in length: and the sanctuary of the LORD shall be in the middle thereof.[11] It shall be for the priests that are sanctified of the sons of Zadok; which have kept my charge, which went not astray when the children of Israel went astray, as the Levites went astray.[12] And this oblation of the land that is offered shall be to them a thing most holy by the border of the Levites.[13] And over against the border of the priests the Levites shall have five and twenty thousand in length, and ten thousand in breadth: all the length shall be five and twenty thousand, and the breadth ten thousand.[14] And they shall not sell of it, neither exchange, nor alienate the first fruits of the land: for it is holy to the LORD. ¶[15] And the five thousand, that are left in the breadth over against the five and twenty thousand, shall be a profane place for the city, for dwelling, and for suburbs: and the city shall be in the middle thereof.[16] And these shall be the measures thereof; the north side four thousand and five hundred, and the south side four thousand and five hundred, and on the east side four thousand and five hundred, and the west side four thousand and five hundred.[17] And the suburbs of the city shall be toward the north two hundred and fifty, and toward the south two hundred and fifty, and toward the east two hundred and fifty, and toward the west two hundred and fifty.[18] And the residue in length over against the oblation of the holy portion shall be ten thousand eastward, and ten thousand westward: and it shall be over against the oblation of the holy portion; and the increase thereof shall be for food to them that serve the city.[19] And they that serve the city shall serve it out of all the tribes of Israel.[20] All the oblation shall be five and twenty thousand by five and twenty thousand: you shall offer the holy oblation foursquare, with the possession of the city. ¶[21] And the residue shall be for the prince, on the one side and on the other of the holy oblation, and of the possession of the city, over against the five and twenty thousand of the oblation toward the east border, and westward over against the five and twenty thousand toward the west border, over against the portions for the prince: and it shall be the holy oblation; and the sanctuary of the house shall be in the middle thereof.[22] Moreover from the possession of the Levites, and from the possession of the city, being in the middle of that which is the prince's, between the border of Judah and the border of Benjamin, shall be for the prince.[23] As for the rest of the tribes, from the east side to the west side, Benjamin shall have a portion.[24] And by the border of Benjamin, from the east side to the west side, Simeon shall have a portion.[25] And by the border of Simeon, from the east side to the west side, Issachar a portion.[26] And by the border of Issachar, from the east side to the west side, Zebulun a portion.[27] And by the border of Zebulun, from the east side to the west side, Gad a portion.[28] And by the border of Gad, at the south side southward, the border shall be even from Tamar to the waters of strife in Kadesh, and to the river toward the great sea.[29] This is the land which you shall divide by lot to the tribes of Israel for inheritance, and these are their portions, says the Lord GOD. ¶[30] And these are the goings out of the city on the north side, four thousand and five hundred measures.[31] And the gates of the city shall be after the names of the tribes of Israel: three gates northward; one gate of Reuben, one gate of Judah, one gate of Levi.[32] And at the east side four thousand and five hundred: and three gates; and one gate of Joseph, one gate of Benjamin, one gate of Dan.[33] And at the south side four thousand and five hundred measures: and three gates; one gate of Simeon, one gate of Issachar, one gate of Zebulun.[34] At the west side four thousand and five hundred, with their three gates; one gate of Gad, one gate of Asher, one gate of Naphtali.[35] It was round about eighteen thousand measures: and the name of the city from that day shall be, The LORD is there.

Daniel

An Introduction to the Book of Daniel

Is ranked by the Jews in that division of their Bible called the Hagiographa (Heb. Khethubim). (See BIBLE.) It consists of two distinct parts. The first part, consisting of the first six chapters, is chiefly historical; and the second part, consisting of the remaining six chapters, is chiefly prophetical.

The historical part of the book treats of the period of the Captivity. Daniel is "the historian of the Captivity, the writer who alone furnishes any series of events for that dark and dismal period during which the harp of Israel hung on the trees that grew by the Euphrates. His narrative may be said in general to intervene between Kings and Chronicles on the one hand and Ezra on the other, or (more strictly) to fill out the sketch which the author of the Chronicles gives in a single verse in his last chapter: 'And them that had escaped from the sword carried he [i.e., Nebuchadnezzar] away to Babylon; where they were servants to him and his sons until the reign of the kingdom of Persia'" (2 Chr. 36:20).

The prophetical part consists of three visions and one lengthened prophetical communication.

The genuineness of this book has been much disputed, but the arguments in its favour fully establish its claims. (1.) We have the testimony of Christ (Matt. 24:15; 25:31; 26:64) and his apostles (1 Cor. 6:2; 2 Thess. 2:3) for its authority; and (2) the important testimony of Ezekiel (14:14, 20; 28:3). (3.) The character and records of the book are also entirely in harmony with the times and circumstances in which the author lived. (4.) The linguistic character of the book is, moreover, just such as might be expected. Certain portions (Dan. 2:4; 7) are written in the Chaldee language; and the portions written in Hebrew are in a style and form having a close affinity with the later books of the Old Testament, especially with that of Ezra. The writer is familiar both with the Hebrew and the Chaldee, passing from the one to the other just as his subject required. This is in strict accordance with the position of the author and of the people for whom his book was written. That Daniel is the writer of this book is also testified to in the book itself (7:1, 28; 8:2; 9:2; 10:1, 2; 12:4, 5). (See BELSHAZZAR.)

1 In the third year of the reign of Jehoiakim king of Judah came Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon to Jerusalem, and besieged it.

2 And the Lord gave Jehoiakim king of Judah into his hand, with part of the vessels of the house of God: which he carried into the land of Shinar to the house of his god; and he brought the vessels into the treasure house of his god. ¶3 And the king spoke to Ashpenaz the master of his eunuchs, that he should bring certain of the children of Israel, and of the king's seed, and of the princes;4 Children in whom was no blemish, but well favored, and skillful in all wisdom, and cunning in knowledge, and understanding science, and such as had ability in them to stand in the king's palace, and whom they might teach the learning and the tongue of the Chaldeans.5 And the king appointed them a daily provision of the king's meat, and of the wine which he drank: so nourishing them three years, that at the end thereof they might stand before the king.6 Now among these were of the children of Judah, Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah:7 To whom the prince of the eunuchs gave names: for he gave to Daniel the name of Belteshazzar; and to Hananiah, of Shadrach; and to Mishael, of Meshach; and to Azariah, of Abednego. ¶8 But Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself with the portion of the king's meat, nor with the wine which he drank: therefore he requested of the prince of the eunuchs that he might not defile himself.9 Now God had brought Daniel into favor and tender love with the prince of the eunuchs.10 And the prince of the eunuchs said to Daniel, I fear my lord the king, who has appointed your meat and your drink: for why should he see your faces worse liking than the children which are of your sort? then shall you make me endanger my head to the king.11 Then said Daniel to Melzar, whom the prince of the eunuchs had set over Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah,12 Prove your servants, I beseech you, ten days; and let them give us vegetables to eat, and water to drink.13 Then let our countenances be looked on before you, and the countenance of the children that eat of the portion of the king's meat: and as you see, deal with your servants.14 So he consented to them in this matter, and proved them ten days.15 And at the end of ten days their countenances appeared fairer and fatter in flesh than all the children which did eat the portion of the king's meat.16 Thus Melzar took away the portion of their meat, and the wine that they should drink; and gave them vegetables. ¶17 As for these four children, God gave them knowledge and skill in all learning and wisdom: and Daniel had understanding in all visions and dreams.18 Now at the end of the days that the king had said he should bring them in, then the prince of the eunuchs brought them in before Nebuchadnezzar.19 And the king communed with them; and among them all was found none like Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah: therefore stood they before the king.20 And in all matters of wisdom and understanding, that the king inquired of them, he found them ten times better than all the magicians and astrologers that were in all his realm.21 And Daniel continued even to the first year of king Cyrus.

2 Then the king commanded to call the magicians, and the astrologers, and the sorcerers, and the Chaldeans, for to show the king his dreams. So they came and stood before the king.3 And the king said to them, I have dreamed a dream, and my spirit was troubled to know the dream.4 Then spoke the Chaldeans to the king in Syriack, O king, live for ever: tell your servants the dream, and we will show the interpretation.5 The king answered and said to the Chaldeans, The thing is gone from me: if you will not make known to me the dream, with the interpretation thereof, you shall be cut in pieces, and your houses shall be made a dunghill.6 But if you show the dream, and the interpretation thereof, you shall receive of me gifts and rewards and great honor: therefore show me the dream, and the interpretation thereof.7 They answered again and said,

Let the king tell his servants the dream, and we will show the interpretation of it.[8] The king answered and said, I know of certainty that you would gain the time, because you see the thing is gone from me.[9] But if you will not make known to me the dream, there is but one decree for you: for you have prepared lying and corrupt words to speak before me, till the time be changed: therefore tell me the dream, and I shall know that you can show me the interpretation thereof. ¶[10] The Chaldeans answered before the king, and said, There is not a man on the earth that can show the king's matter: therefore there is no king, lord, nor ruler, that asked such things at any magician, or astrologer, or Chaldean.[11] And it is a rare thing that the king requires, and there is none other that can show it before the king, except the gods, whose dwelling is not with flesh.[12] For this cause the king was angry and very furious, and commanded to destroy all the wise men of Babylon.[13] And the decree went forth that the wise men should be slain; and they sought Daniel and his fellows to be slain. ¶[14] Then Daniel answered with counsel and wisdom to Arioch the captain of the king's guard, which was gone forth to slay the wise men of Babylon:[15] He answered and said to Arioch the king's captain, Why is the decree so hasty from the king? Then Arioch made the thing known to Daniel.[16] Then Daniel went in, and desired of the king that he would give him time, and that he would show the king the interpretation.[17] Then Daniel went to his house, and made the thing known to Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah, his companions:[18] That they would desire mercies of the God of heaven concerning this secret; that Daniel and his fellows should not perish with the rest of the wise men of Babylon. ¶[19] Then was the secret revealed to Daniel in a night vision. Then Daniel blessed the God of heaven.[20] Daniel answered and said, Blessed be the name of God for ever and ever: for wisdom and might are his:[21] And he changes the times and the seasons: he removes kings, and sets up kings: he gives wisdom to the wise, and knowledge to them that know understanding:[22] He reveals the deep and secret things: he knows what is in the darkness, and the light dwells with him.[23] I thank you, and praise you, O you God of my fathers, who have given me wisdom and might, and have made known to me now what we desired of you: for you have now made known to us the king's matter. ¶[24] Therefore Daniel went in to Arioch, whom the king had ordained to destroy the wise men of Babylon: he went and said thus to him; Destroy not the wise men of Babylon: bring me in before the king, and I will show to the king the interpretation.[25] Then Arioch brought in Daniel before the king in haste, and said thus to him, I have found a man of the captives of Judah, that will make known to the king the interpretation.[26] The king answered and said to Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar, Are you able to make known to me the dream which I have seen, and the interpretation thereof?[27] Daniel answered in the presence of the king, and said, The secret which the king has demanded cannot the wise men, the astrologers, the magicians, the soothsayers, show to the king;[28] But there is a God in heaven that reveals secrets, and makes known to the king Nebuchadnezzar what shall be in the latter days. Your dream, and the visions of your head on your bed, are these;[29] As for you, O king, your thoughts came into your mind on your bed, what should come to pass hereafter: and he that reveals secrets makes known to you what shall come to pass.[30] But as for me, this secret is not revealed to me for any wisdom that I have more than any living, but for their sakes that shall make known the interpretation to the king, and that you might know the thoughts of your heart. ¶[31] You, O king, saw, and behold a great image. This great image, whose brightness was excellent, stood before you; and the form thereof was terrible.[32] This image's head was of fine gold, his breast and his arms of silver, his belly and his thighs of brass,[33] His legs of iron, his feet part of iron and part of clay.[34] You saw till that a stone was cut out without hands, which smote the image on his feet that were of iron and clay, and broke them to pieces.[35] Then was the iron, the clay, the brass, the silver, and the gold, broken to pieces together, and became like the chaff of the summer threshing floors; and the wind carried them away, that no place was found for them: and the stone that smote the image became a great mountain, and filled the whole earth. ¶[36] This is the dream; and we will tell the interpretation thereof before the king.[37] You, O king, are a king of kings: for the God of heaven has given you a kingdom, power, and strength, and glory.[38] And wherever the children of men dwell, the beasts of the field and the fowls of the heaven has he given into your hand, and has made you ruler over them all. You are this head of gold.[39] And after you shall arise another kingdom inferior to you, and another third kingdom of brass, which shall bear rule over all the earth.[40] And the fourth kingdom shall be strong as iron: for as much as iron breaks in pieces and subdues all things: and as iron that breaks all these, shall it break in pieces and bruise.[41] And whereas you saw the feet and toes, part of potters' clay, and part of iron, the kingdom shall be divided; but there shall be in it of the strength of the iron, for as much as you saw the iron mixed with miry clay.[42] And as the toes of the feet were part of iron, and part of clay, so the kingdom shall be partly strong, and partly broken.[43] And whereas you saw iron mixed with miry clay, they shall mingle themselves with the seed of men: but they shall not join one to another, even as iron is not mixed with clay.[44] And in the days of these kings shall the God of heaven set up a kingdom, which shall never be destroyed: and the kingdom shall not be left to other people, but it shall break in pieces and consume all these kingdoms, and it shall stand for ever.[45] For as much as you saw that the stone was cut out of the mountain without hands, and that it broke in pieces the iron, the brass, the clay, the silver, and the gold; the great God has made known to the king what shall come to pass hereafter: and the dream is certain, and the interpretation thereof sure. ¶[46] Then the king Nebuchadnezzar fell on his face, and worshipped Daniel, and commanded that they should offer an oblation and sweet odors to him.[47] The king answered to Daniel, and said, Of a truth it is, that your God is a God of gods, and a Lord of kings, and a revealer of secrets, seeing you could reveal this secret.[48] Then the king made Daniel a great man, and gave him many great gifts, and made him ruler over the whole province of Babylon, and chief of the governors over all the wise men of Babylon.[49] Then Daniel requested of the king, and he set Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, over the affairs of the province of Babylon: but Daniel sat in the gate of the king.

[1] Nebuchadnezzar the king made an image of gold, whose height was three score cubits, and the breadth thereof six cubits: he set it up in the plain of Dura, in the province of Babylon.

[2] Then Nebuchadnezzar the king sent to gather together the princes, the governors, and the captains, the judges, the treasurers, the counsellors, the sheriffs, and all the rulers of the provinces, to come to the dedication of the image which Nebuchadnezzar the king had set up.[3] Then the princes, the governors, and captains, the judges, the treasurers, the counsellors, the sheriffs, and all the rulers of the provinces, were gathered together to the dedication of the image that Nebuchadnezzar the king had set up; and they stood before the image that Nebuchadnezzar had set up.[4] Then an herald cried aloud, To you it is commanded, O people, nations, and languages,[5] That at what time you hear the sound of the cornet, flute, harp, sackbut, psaltery, dulcimer, and all kinds of music, you fall down and worship the golden image that Nebuchadnezzar the king has set up:[6] And whoever falls not down and worships shall the same hour be cast into the middle of a burning fiery furnace.[7] Therefore at that time, when all the people heard the sound of the cornet, flute, harp, sackbut, psaltery, and all kinds of music, all the people, the nations, and the languages, fell down and worshipped the golden image that Nebuchadnezzar the king had set up. ¶[8] Why at that time certain Chaldeans came near, and accused the Jews.[9] They spoke and said to the king Nebuchadnezzar, O king, live for ever.[10] You, O king, have made a decree, that every man that shall hear the sound of the cornet, flute, harp, sackbut, psaltery, and dulcimer, and all kinds of music, shall fall down and worship the golden image:[11] And whoever falls not down and worships, that he should be cast into the middle of a burning fiery furnace.[12] There are certain Jews whom you have set over the affairs of the province of Babylon, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego; these men, O king, have not regarded you: they serve not your gods, nor worship the golden image which you have set up. ¶[13] Then Nebuchadnezzar in his rage and fury commanded to bring Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego. Then they brought these men before the king.[14] Nebuchadnezzar spoke and said to them, Is it true, O Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, do not you serve my gods, nor worship the golden image which I have set up?[15] Now if you be ready that at what time you hear the sound of the cornet, flute, harp, sackbut, psaltery, and dulcimer, and all kinds of music, you fall down and worship the image which I have made; well: but if you worship not, you shall be cast the same hour into the middle of a burning fiery furnace; and who is that God that shall deliver you out of my hands?[16] Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, answered and said to the king, O Nebuchadnezzar, we are not careful to answer you in this matter.[17] If it be so, our God whom we serve is able to deliver us from the burning fiery furnace, and he will deliver us out of your hand, O king.[18] But if not, be it known to you, O king, that we will not serve your gods, nor worship the golden image which you have set up. ¶[19] Then was Nebuchadnezzar full of fury, and the form of his visage was changed against Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: therefore he spoke, and commanded that they should heat the furnace one seven times more than it was wont to be heated.[20] And he commanded the most mighty men that were in his army to bind Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, and to cast them into the burning fiery furnace.[21] Then these men were bound in their coats, their hosen, and their hats, and their other garments, and were cast into the middle of the burning fiery furnace.[22] Therefore because the king's commandment was urgent, and the furnace exceeding hot, the flames of the fire slew those men that took up Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego.[23] And these three men, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, fell down bound into the middle of the burning fiery furnace.[24] Then Nebuchadnezzar the king was astonished, and rose up in haste, and spoke, and said to his counsellors, Did not we cast three men bound into the middle of the fire? They answered and said to the king, True, O king.[25] He answered and said, See, I see four men loose, walking in the middle of the fire, and they have no hurt; and the form of the fourth is like the Son of God. ¶[26] Then Nebuchadnezzar came near to the mouth of the burning fiery furnace, and spoke, and said, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, you servants of the most high God, come forth, and come here. Then Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, came forth of the middle of the fire.[27] And the princes, governors, and captains, and the king's counsellors, being gathered together, saw these men, on whose bodies the fire had no power, nor was an hair of their head singed, neither were their coats changed, nor the smell of fire had passed on them.[28] Then Nebuchadnezzar spoke, and said, Blessed be the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, who has sent his angel, and delivered his servants that trusted in him, and have changed the king's word, and yielded their bodies, that they might not serve nor worship any god, except their own God.[29] Therefore I make a decree, That every people, nation, and language, which speak any thing amiss against the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, shall be cut in pieces, and their houses shall be made a dunghill: because there is no other God that can deliver after this sort.[30] Then the king promoted Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, in the province of Babylon.

[1] Nebuchadnezzar the king, to all people, nations, and languages, that dwell in all the earth; Peace be multiplied to you.

[2] I thought it good to show the signs and wonders that the high God has worked toward me.[3] How great are his signs! and how mighty are his wonders! his kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and his dominion is from generation to generation. ¶[4] I Nebuchadnezzar was at rest in my house, and flourishing in my palace:[5] I saw a dream which made me afraid, and the thoughts on my bed and the visions of my head troubled me.[6] Therefore made I a decree to bring in all the wise men of Babylon before me, that they might make known to me the interpretation of the dream.[7] Then came in the magicians, the astrologers, the Chaldeans, and the soothsayers: and I told the dream before them; but they did not make known to me the interpretation thereof. ¶[8]

But at the last Daniel came in before me, whose name was Belteshazzar, according to the name of my God, and in whom is the spirit of the holy gods: and before him I told the dream, saying,[9] O Belteshazzar, master of the magicians, because I know that the spirit of the holy gods is in you, and no secret troubles you, tell me the visions of my dream that I have seen, and the interpretation thereof.[10] Thus were the visions of my head in my bed; I saw, and behold a tree in the middle of the earth, and the height thereof was great.[11] The tree grew, and was strong, and the height thereof reached to heaven, and the sight thereof to the end of all the earth:[12] The leaves thereof were fair, and the fruit thereof much, and in it was meat for all: the beasts of the field had shadow under it, and the fowls of the heaven dwelled in the boughs thereof, and all flesh was fed of it.[13] I saw in the visions of my head on my bed, and, behold, a watcher and an holy one came down from heaven;[14] He cried aloud, and said thus, Hew down the tree, and cut off his branches, shake off his leaves, and scatter his fruit: let the beasts get away from under it, and the fowls from his branches:[15] Nevertheless leave the stump of his roots in the earth, even with a band of iron and brass, in the tender grass of the field; and let it be wet with the dew of heaven, and let his portion be with the beasts in the grass of the earth:[16] Let his heart be changed from man's, and let a beast's heart be given to him; and let seven times pass over him.[17] This matter is by the decree of the watchers, and the demand by the word of the holy ones: to the intent that the living may know that the most High rules in the kingdom of men, and gives it to whomsoever he will, and sets up over it the basest of men.[18] This dream I king Nebuchadnezzar have seen. Now you, O Belteshazzar, declare the interpretation thereof, for as much as all the wise men of my kingdom are not able to make known to me the interpretation: but you are able; for the spirit of the holy gods is in you. ¶[19] Then Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar, was astonished for one hour, and his thoughts troubled him. The king spoke, and said, Belteshazzar, let not the dream, or the interpretation thereof, trouble you. Belteshazzar answered and said, My lord, the dream be to them that hate you, and the interpretation thereof to your enemies.[20] The tree that you saw, which grew, and was strong, whose height reached to the heaven, and the sight thereof to all the earth;[21] Whose leaves were fair, and the fruit thereof much, and in it was meat for all; under which the beasts of the field dwelled, and on whose branches the fowls of the heaven had their habitation:[22] It is you, O king, that are grown and become strong: for your greatness is grown, and reaches to heaven, and your dominion to the end of the earth.[23] And whereas the king saw a watcher and an holy one coming down from heaven, and saying, Hew the tree down, and destroy it; yet leave the stump of the roots thereof in the earth, even with a band of iron and brass, in the tender grass of the field; and let it be wet with the dew of heaven, and let his portion be with the beasts of the field, till seven times pass over him;[24] This is the interpretation, O king, and this is the decree of the most High, which is come on my lord the king:[25] That they shall drive you from men, and your dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field, and they shall make you to eat grass as oxen, and they shall wet you with the dew of heaven, and seven times shall pass over you, till you know that the most High rules in the kingdom of men, and gives it to whomsoever he will.[26] And whereas they commanded to leave the stump of the tree roots; your kingdom shall be sure to you, after that you shall have known that the heavens do rule.[27] Why, O king, let my counsel be acceptable to you, and break off your sins by righteousness, and your iniquities by showing mercy to the poor; if it may be a lengthening of your tranquility. ¶[28] All this came on the king Nebuchadnezzar.[29] At the end of twelve months he walked in the palace of the kingdom of Babylon.[30] The king spoke, and said, Is not this great Babylon, that I have built for the house of the kingdom by the might of my power, and for the honor of my majesty?[31] While the word was in the king's mouth, there fell a voice from heaven, saying, O king Nebuchadnezzar, to you it is spoken; The kingdom is departed from you.[32] And they shall drive you from men, and your dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field: they shall make you to eat grass as oxen, and seven times shall pass over you, until you know that the most High rules in the kingdom of men, and gives it to whomsoever he will.[33] The same hour was the thing fulfilled on Nebuchadnezzar: and he was driven from men, and did eat grass as oxen, and his body was wet with the dew of heaven, till his hairs were grown like eagles' feathers, and his nails like birds' claws.[34] And at the end of the days I Nebuchadnezzar lifted up my eyes to heaven, and my understanding returned to me, and I blessed the most High, and I praised and honored him that lives for ever, whose dominion is an everlasting dominion, and his kingdom is from generation to generation:[35] And all the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing: and he does according to his will in the army of heaven, and among the inhabitants of the earth: and none can stay his hand, or say to him, What do you?[36] At the same time my reason returned to me; and for the glory of my kingdom, my honor and brightness returned to me; and my counsellors and my lords sought to me; and I was established in my kingdom, and excellent majesty was added to me.[37] Now I Nebuchadnezzar praise and extol and honor the King of heaven, all whose works are truth, and his ways judgment: and those that walk in pride he is able to abase.

[1] Belshazzar the king made a great feast to a thousand of his lords, and drank wine before the thousand.

[2] Belshazzar, whiles he tasted the wine, commanded to bring the golden and silver vessels which his father Nebuchadnezzar had taken out of the temple which was in Jerusalem; that the king, and his princes, his wives, and his concubines, might drink therein.[3] Then they brought the golden vessels that were taken out of the temple of the house of God which was at Jerusalem; and the king, and his princes, his wives, and his concubines, drank in them.[4] They drank wine, and praised the gods of gold, and of silver, of brass, of iron, of wood, and of stone. ¶[5] In the same hour came forth fingers of a man's hand, and wrote over against the candlestick on the plaster of the wall of the king's palace: and the king saw the part of the hand that wrote.[6] Then the king's countenance was changed, and his thoughts troubled him, so that the joints of his loins were loosed, and his knees smote one against another.[7] The king cried aloud to bring in the astrologers, the Chaldeans, and the soothsayers. And the king spoke, and said to the wise men of Babylon, Whoever shall read this writing, and show me the interpretation thereof, shall be clothed with scarlet, and have a chain of gold about his neck, and shall be the third ruler in the kingdom.[8] Then came in all the king's wise men: but they could not read the writing, nor make known to the king the interpretation thereof.[9] Then was king Belshazzar greatly troubled, and his countenance was changed in him, and his lords were astonished. ¶[10] Now the queen by reason of the words of the king and his lords came into the banquet house: and the queen spoke and said, O king, live for ever: let not your thoughts trouble you, nor let your countenance be changed:[11] There is a man in your kingdom, in whom is the spirit of the holy gods; and in the days of your father light and understanding and wisdom, like the wisdom of the gods, was found in him; whom the king Nebuchadnezzar your father, the king, I say, your father, made master of the magicians, astrologers, Chaldeans, and soothsayers;[12] For as much as an excellent spirit, and knowledge, and understanding, interpreting of dreams, and showing of hard sentences, and dissolving of doubts, were found in the same Daniel, whom the king named Belteshazzar: now let Daniel be called, and he will show the interpretation.[13] Then was Daniel brought in before the king. And the king spoke and said to Daniel, Are you that Daniel, which are of the children of the captivity of Judah, whom the king my father brought out of Jewry?[14] I have even heard of you, that the spirit of the gods is in you, and that light and understanding and excellent wisdom is found in you.[15] And now the wise men, the astrologers, have been brought in before me, that they should read this writing, and make known to me the interpretation thereof: but they could not show the interpretation of the thing:[16] And I have heard of you, that you can make interpretations, and dissolve doubts: now if you can read the writing, and make known to me the interpretation thereof, you shall be clothed with scarlet, and have a chain of gold about your neck, and shall be the third ruler in the kingdom. ¶[17] Then Daniel answered and said before the king, Let your gifts be to yourself, and give your rewards to another; yet I will read the writing to the king, and make known to him the interpretation.[18] O you king, the most high God gave Nebuchadnezzar your father a kingdom, and majesty, and glory, and honor:[19] And for the majesty that he gave him, all people, nations, and languages, trembled and feared before him: whom he would he slew; and whom he would he kept alive; and whom he would he set up; and whom he would he put down.[20] But when his heart was lifted up, and his mind hardened in pride, he was deposed from his kingly throne, and they took his glory from him:[21] And he was driven from the sons of men; and his heart was made like the beasts, and his dwelling was with the wild asses: they fed him with grass like oxen, and his body was wet with the dew of heaven; till he knew that the most high God ruled in the kingdom of men, and that he appoints over it whomsoever he will.[22] And you his son, O Belshazzar, have not humbled your heart, though you knew all this;[23] But have lifted up yourself against the Lord of heaven; and they have brought the vessels of his house before you, and you, and your lords, your wives, and your concubines, have drunk wine in them; and you have praised the gods of silver, and gold, of brass, iron, wood, and stone, which see not, nor hear, nor know: and the God in whose hand your breath is, and whose are all your ways, have you not glorified:[24] Then was the part of the hand sent from him; and this writing was written. ¶[25] And this is the writing that was written, MENE, MENE, TEKEL, UPHARSIN.[26] This is the interpretation of the thing: MENE; God has numbered your kingdom, and finished it.[27] TEKEL; You are weighed in the balances, and are found wanting.[28] PERES; Your kingdom is divided, and given to the Medes and Persians.[29] Then commanded Belshazzar, and they clothed Daniel with scarlet, and put a chain of gold about his neck, and made a proclamation concerning him, that he should be the third ruler in the kingdom. ¶[30] In that night was Belshazzar the king of the Chaldeans slain.[31] And Darius the Median took the kingdom, being about three score and two years old.

[1] It pleased Darius to set over the kingdom an hundred and twenty princes, which should be over the whole kingdom;

[2] And over these three presidents; of whom Daniel was first: that the princes might give accounts to them, and the king should have no damage.[3] Then this Daniel was preferred above the presidents and princes, because an excellent spirit was in him; and the king thought to set him over the whole realm. ¶[4] Then the presidents and princes sought to find occasion against Daniel concerning the kingdom; but they could find none occasion nor fault; for as much as he was faithful, neither was there any error or fault found in him.[5] Then said these men, We shall not find any occasion against this Daniel, except we find it against him concerning the law of his God.[6] Then these presidents and princes assembled together to the king, and said thus to him, King Darius, live for ever.[7] All the presidents of the kingdom, the governors, and the princes, the counsellors, and the captains, have consulted together to establish a royal statute, and to make a firm decree, that whoever shall ask a petition of any God or man for thirty days, save of you, O king, he shall be cast into the den of lions.[8] Now, O king, establish the decree, and sign the writing, that it be not changed, according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which alters not.[9] Why king Darius signed the writing and the decree. ¶[10] Now when Daniel knew that the writing was signed, he went into his house; and his windows being open in his chamber toward Jerusalem, he kneeled on his knees three times a day, and prayed, and gave thanks before his God, as he did aforetime.[11] Then these men assembled, and found Daniel praying and making supplication before his God.[12] Then they came near, and spoke before the king concerning the king's decree; Have you not signed a decree, that every man that shall ask a petition of any God or man within thirty days, save of you, O king, shall be cast into the den of lions? The king answered and said, The thing is true, according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which alters not.[13] Then answered they and said before the king, That

Daniel, which is of the children of the captivity of Judah, regards not you, O king, nor the decree that you have signed, but makes his petition three times a day.[14] Then the king, when he heard these words, was sore displeased with himself, and set his heart on Daniel to deliver him: and he labored till the going down of the sun to deliver him.[15] Then these men assembled to the king, and said to the king, Know, O king, that the law of the Medes and Persians is, That no decree nor statute which the king establishes may be changed.[16] Then the king commanded, and they brought Daniel, and cast him into the den of lions. Now the king spoke and said to Daniel, Your God whom you serve continually, he will deliver you.[17] And a stone was brought, and laid on the mouth of the den; and the king sealed it with his own signet, and with the signet of his lords; that the purpose might not be changed concerning Daniel. ¶[18] Then the king went to his palace, and passed the night fasting: neither were instruments of music brought before him: and his sleep went from him.[19] Then the king arose very early in the morning, and went in haste to the den of lions.[20] And when he came to the den, he cried with a lamentable voice to Daniel: and the king spoke and said to Daniel, O Daniel, servant of the living God, is your God, whom you serve continually, able to deliver you from the lions?[21] Then said Daniel to the king, O king, live for ever.[22] My God has sent his angel, and has shut the lions' mouths, that they have not hurt me: for as much as before him innocence was found in me; and also before you, O king, have I done no hurt.[23] Then was the king exceedingly glad for him, and commanded that they should take Daniel up out of the den. So Daniel was taken up out of the den, and no manner of hurt was found on him, because he believed in his God. ¶[24] And the king commanded, and they brought those men which had accused Daniel, and they cast them into the den of lions, them, their children, and their wives; and the lions had the mastery of them, and broke all their bones in pieces or ever they came at the bottom of the den. ¶[25] Then king Darius wrote to all people, nations, and languages, that dwell in all the earth; Peace be multiplied to you.[26] I make a decree, That in every dominion of my kingdom men tremble and fear before the God of Daniel: for he is the living God, and steadfast for ever, and his kingdom that which shall not be destroyed, and his dominion shall be even to the end.[27] He delivers and rescues, and he works signs and wonders in heaven and in earth, who has delivered Daniel from the power of the lions.[28] So this Daniel prospered in the reign of Darius, and in the reign of Cyrus the Persian.

[1] In the first year of Belshazzar king of Babylon Daniel had a dream and visions of his head on his bed: then he wrote the dream, and told the sum of the matters.

[2] Daniel spoke and said, I saw in my vision by night, and, behold, the four winds of the heaven strove on the great sea.[3] And four great beasts came up from the sea, diverse one from another.[4] The first was like a lion, and had eagle's wings: I beheld till the wings thereof were plucked, and it was lifted up from the earth, and made stand on the feet as a man, and a man's heart was given to it.[5] And behold another beast, a second, like to a bear, and it raised up itself on one side, and it had three ribs in the mouth of it between the teeth of it: and they said thus to it, Arise, devour much flesh.[6] After this I beheld, and see another, like a leopard, which had on the back of it four wings of a fowl; the beast had also four heads; and dominion was given to it.[7] After this I saw in the night visions, and behold a fourth beast, dreadful and terrible, and strong exceedingly; and it had great iron teeth: it devoured and broke in pieces, and stamped the residue with the feet of it: and it was diverse from all the beasts that were before it; and it had ten horns.[8] I considered the horns, and, behold, there came up among them another little horn, before whom there were three of the first horns plucked up by the roots: and, behold, in this horn were eyes like the eyes of man, and a mouth speaking great things. ¶[9] I beheld till the thrones were cast down, and the Ancient of days did sit, whose garment was white as snow, and the hair of his head like the pure wool: his throne was like the fiery flame, and his wheels as burning fire.[10] A fiery stream issued and came forth from before him: thousand thousands ministered to him, and ten thousand times ten thousand stood before him: the judgment was set, and the books were opened.[11] I beheld then because of the voice of the great words which the horn spoke: I beheld even till the beast was slain, and his body destroyed, and given to the burning flame.[12] As concerning the rest of the beasts, they had their dominion taken away: yet their lives were prolonged for a season and time.[13] I saw in the night visions, and, behold, one like the Son of man came with the clouds of heaven, and came to the Ancient of days, and they brought him near before him.[14] And there was given him dominion, and glory, and a kingdom, that all people, nations, and languages, should serve him: his dominion is an everlasting dominion, which shall not pass away, and his kingdom that which shall not be destroyed. ¶[15] I Daniel was grieved in my spirit in the middle of my body, and the visions of my head troubled me.[16] I came near to one of them that stood by, and asked him the truth of all this. So he told me, and made me know the interpretation of the things.[17] These great beasts, which are four, are four kings, which shall arise out of the earth.[18] But the saints of the most High shall take the kingdom, and possess the kingdom for ever, even for ever and ever.[19] Then I would know the truth of the fourth beast, which was diverse from all the others, exceeding dreadful, whose teeth were of iron, and his nails of brass; which devoured, broke in pieces, and stamped the residue with his feet;[20] And of the ten horns that were in his head, and of the other which came up, and before whom three fell; even of that horn that had eyes, and a mouth that spoke very great things, whose look was more stout than his fellows.[21] I beheld, and the same horn made war with the saints, and prevailed against them;[22] Until the Ancient of days came, and judgment was given to the saints of the most High; and the time came that the saints possessed the kingdom.[23] Thus he said, The fourth beast shall be the fourth kingdom on earth, which shall be diverse from all kingdoms, and shall devour the whole earth, and shall tread it down, and break it in pieces.[24] And the ten horns out of this kingdom are ten kings that shall arise: and another shall rise after them; and he shall be diverse from the first, and he shall subdue three kings.[25] And he shall speak great words against the most High, and shall wear out the saints of the most High, and think to change times and laws: and they shall be given into his hand until a time and times and the dividing of time.[26] But the judgment shall sit, and they shall take away his dominion, to consume and to destroy it to the end.[27] And the kingdom and dominion, and the greatness of the kingdom under the whole heaven, shall be given to the people of the saints of the most High, whose kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and all dominions shall serve and obey him.[28] Till now is the end of the matter. As for me Daniel, my cogitations much troubled me, and my countenance changed in me: but I kept the matter in my heart.

[1] In the third year of the reign of king Belshazzar a vision appeared to me, even to me Daniel, after that which appeared to me at the first.

[2] And I saw in a vision; and it came to pass, when I saw, that I was at Shushan in the palace, which is in the province of Elam; and I saw in a vision, and I was by the river of Ulai.[3] Then I lifted up my eyes, and saw, and, behold, there stood before the river a ram which had two horns: and the two horns were high; but one was higher than the other, and the higher came up last.[4] I saw the ram pushing westward, and northward, and southward; so that no beasts might stand before him, neither was there any that could deliver out of his hand; but he did according to his will, and became great.[5] And as I was considering, behold, an he goat came from the west on the face of the whole earth, and touched not the ground: and the goat had a notable horn between his eyes.[6] And he came to the ram that had two horns, which I had seen standing before the river, and ran to him in the fury of his power.[7] And I saw him come close to the ram, and he was moved with choler against him, and smote the ram, and broke his two horns: and there was no power in the ram to stand before him, but he cast him down to the ground, and stamped on him: and there was none that could deliver the ram out of his hand.[8] Therefore the he goat waxed very great: and when he was strong, the great horn was broken; and for it came up four notable ones toward the four winds of heaven.[9] And out of one of them came forth a little horn, which waxed exceeding great, toward the south, and toward the east, and toward the pleasant land.[10] And it waxed great, even to the host of heaven; and it cast down some of the host and of the stars to the ground, and stamped on them.[11] Yes, he magnified himself even to the prince of the host, and by him the daily sacrifice was taken away, and the place of the sanctuary was cast down.[12] And an host was given him against the daily sacrifice by reason of transgression, and it cast down the truth to the ground; and it practiced, and prospered. ¶[13] Then I heard one saint speaking, and another saint said to that certain saint which spoke, How long shall be the vision concerning the daily sacrifice, and the transgression of desolation, to give both the sanctuary and the host to be trodden under foot?[14] And he said to me, To two thousand and three hundred days; then shall the sanctuary be cleansed. ¶[15] And it came to pass, when I, even I Daniel, had seen the vision, and sought for the meaning, then, behold, there stood before me as the appearance of a man.[16] And I heard a man's voice between the banks of Ulai, which called, and said, Gabriel, make this man to understand the vision.[17] So he came near where I stood: and when he came, I was afraid, and fell on my face: but he said to me, Understand, O son of man: for at the time of the end shall be the vision.[18] Now as he was speaking with me, I was in a deep sleep on my face toward the ground: but he touched me, and set me upright.[19] And he said, Behold, I will make you know what shall be in the last end of the indignation: for at the time appointed the end shall be.[20] The ram which you saw having two horns are the kings of Media and Persia.[21] And the rough goat is the king of Grecia: and the great horn that is between his eyes is the first king.[22] Now that being broken, whereas four stood up for it, four kingdoms shall stand up out of the nation, but not in his power.[23] And in the latter time of their kingdom, when the transgressors are come to the full, a king of fierce countenance, and understanding dark sentences, shall stand up.[24] And his power shall be mighty, but not by his own power: and he shall destroy wonderfully, and shall prosper, and practice, and shall destroy the mighty and the holy people.[25] And through his policy also he shall cause craft to prosper in his hand; and he shall magnify himself in his heart, and by peace shall destroy many: he shall also stand up against the Prince of princes; but he shall be broken without hand.[26] And the vision of the evening and the morning which was told is true: why shut you up the vision; for it shall be for many days.[27] And I Daniel fainted, and was sick certain days; afterward I rose up, and did the king's business; and I was astonished at the vision, but none understood it.

[1] In the first year of Darius the son of Ahasuerus, of the seed of the Medes, which was made king over the realm of the Chaldeans;

[2] In the first year of his reign I Daniel understood by books the number of the years, whereof the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah the prophet, that he would accomplish seventy years in the desolations of Jerusalem. ¶[3] And I set my face to the Lord God, to seek by prayer and supplications, with fasting, and sackcloth, and ashes:[4] And I prayed to the LORD my God, and made my confession, and said, O Lord, the great and dreadful God, keeping the covenant and mercy to them that love him, and to them that keep his commandments;[5] We have sinned, and have committed iniquity, and have done wickedly, and have rebelled, even by departing from your precepts and from your judgments:[6] Neither have we listened to your servants the prophets, which spoke in your name to our kings, our princes, and our fathers, and to all the people of the land.[7] O LORD, righteousness belongs to you, but to us confusion of faces, as at this day; to the men of Judah, and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and to all Israel, that are near, and that are far off, through all the countries where you have driven them, because of their trespass that they have trespassed against you.[8] O Lord, to us belongs confusion of face, to our kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, because we have sinned against you.[9] To the Lord our God belong mercies and forgivenesses, though we have rebelled against him;[10] Neither have we obeyed the voice of the LORD our God, to walk in his laws, which he set before us by his servants the prophets.[11] Yes, all Israel have transgressed your law, even by departing, that they might not obey your voice; therefore the curse is poured on us, and the oath that is written in the law of Moses the servant of God, because we have sinned against him.[12] And he has confirmed his words, which he spoke against us, and against our judges that judged us, by bringing on us a great evil: for under the whole heaven has not been done as has been done on Jerusalem.[13] As it is written in the law of Moses, all this evil is come on us: yet made we not our prayer before the LORD our God, that we might turn from our iniquities, and understand your truth.[14] Therefore has the LORD watched on the evil, and brought it on us: for the LORD our God is righteous in all his works which he does: for we obeyed not his voice.[15] And now, O Lord our God, that have brought your people forth out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand, and have gotten you renown, as at this day; we have sinned, we have done wickedly. ¶[16] O LORD, according to all your righteousness, I beseech you, let your anger and your fury be turned away from your city Jerusalem, your holy mountain: because for our sins, and for the iniquities of our fathers, Jerusalem and your people are become a reproach to all that are about us.[17] Now therefore, O our God, hear the prayer of your servant, and his supplications, and cause your face to shine on your sanctuary that is desolate, for the Lord's sake.[18] O my God, incline your ear, and hear; open your eyes, and behold our desolations, and the city which is called by your name: for we do not present our supplications before you for our righteousnesses, but for your great mercies.[19] O Lord, hear; O Lord, forgive; O Lord, listen and do; defer not, for your own sake, O my God: for your city and your people are called by your name. ¶[20] And whiles I was speaking, and praying, and confessing my sin and the sin of my people Israel, and presenting my supplication before the LORD my God for the holy mountain of my God;[21] Yes, whiles I was speaking in prayer, even the man Gabriel, whom I had seen in the vision at the beginning, being caused to fly swiftly, touched me about the time of the evening oblation.[22] And he informed me, and talked with me, and said, O Daniel, I am now come forth to give you skill and understanding.[23] At the beginning of your supplications the commandment came forth, and I am come to show you; for you are greatly beloved: therefore understand the matter, and consider the vision.[24] Seventy weeks are determined on your people and on your holy city, to finish the transgression, and to make an end of sins, and to make reconciliation for iniquity, and to bring in everlasting righteousness, and to seal up the vision and prophecy, and to anoint the most Holy.[25] Know therefore and understand, that from the going forth of the commandment to restore and to build Jerusalem to the Messiah the Prince shall be seven weeks, and three score and two weeks: the street shall be built again, and the wall, even in troublous times.[26] And after three score and two weeks shall Messiah be cut off, but not for himself: and the people of the prince that shall come shall destroy the city and the sanctuary; and the end thereof shall be with a flood, and to the end of the war desolations are determined.[27] And he shall confirm the covenant with many for one week: and in the middle of the week he shall cause the sacrifice and the oblation to cease, and for the overspreading of abominations he shall make it desolate, even until the consummation, and that determined shall be poured on the desolate.

[1] In the third year of Cyrus king of Persia a thing was revealed to Daniel, whose name was called Belteshazzar; and the thing was true, but the time appointed was long: and he understood the thing, and had understanding of the vision.

[2] In those days I Daniel was mourning three full weeks.[3] I ate no pleasant bread, neither came flesh nor wine in my mouth, neither did I anoint myself at all, till three whole weeks were fulfilled.[4] And in the four and twentieth day of the first month, as I was by the side of the great river, which is Hiddekel;[5] Then I lifted up my eyes, and looked, and behold a certain man clothed in linen, whose loins were girded with fine gold of Uphaz:[6] His body also was like the beryl, and his face as the appearance of lightning, and his eyes as lamps of fire, and his arms and his feet like in color to polished brass, and the voice of his words like the voice of a multitude.[7] And I Daniel alone saw the vision: for the men that were with me saw not the vision; but a great quaking fell on them, so that they fled to hide themselves.[8] Therefore I was left alone, and saw this great vision, and there remained no strength in me: for my comeliness was turned in me into corruption, and I retained no strength.[9] Yet heard I the voice of his words: and when I heard the voice of his words, then was I in a deep sleep on my face, and my face toward the ground. ¶[10] And, behold, an hand touched me, which set me on my knees and on the palms of my hands.[11] And he said to me, O Daniel, a man greatly beloved, understand the words that I speak to you, and stand upright: for to you am I now sent. And when he had spoken this word to me, I stood trembling.[12] Then said he to me, Fear not, Daniel: for from the first day that you did set your heart to understand, and to chasten yourself before your God, your words were heard, and I am come for your words.[13] But the prince of the kingdom of Persia withstood me one and twenty days: but, see, Michael, one of the chief princes, came to help me; and I remained there with the kings of Persia.[14] Now I am come to make you understand what shall befall your people in the latter days: for yet the vision is for many days.[15] And when he had spoken such words to me, I set my face toward the ground, and I became dumb.[16] And, behold, one like the similitude of the sons of men touched my lips: then I opened my mouth, and spoke, and said to him that stood before me, O my lord, by the vision my sorrows are turned on me, and I have retained no strength.[17] For how can the servant of this my lord talk with this my lord? for as for me, straightway there remained no strength in me, neither is there breath left in me.[18] Then there came again and touched me one like the appearance of a man, and he strengthened me,[19] And said, O man greatly beloved, fear not: peace be to you, be strong, yes, be strong. And when he had spoken to me, I was strengthened, and said, Let my lord speak; for you have strengthened me.[20] Then said he, Know you why I come to you? and now will I return to fight with the prince of Persia: and when I am gone forth, see, the prince of Grecia shall come.[21] But I will show you that which is noted in the scripture of truth: and there is none that holds with me in these things, but Michael your prince.

[1] Also I in the first year of Darius the Mede, even I, stood to confirm and to strengthen him.

[2] And now will I show you the truth. Behold, there shall stand up yet three kings in Persia; and the fourth shall be far richer than they all: and by his strength through his riches he shall stir up all against the realm of Grecia.[3] And a mighty king shall stand up, that shall rule with great dominion, and do according to his will.[4] And when he shall stand up, his kingdom shall be broken, and shall be divided toward the four winds of heaven; and not to his posterity, nor according to his dominion which he ruled: for his kingdom shall be plucked up, even for others beside those. ¶[5] And the king of the south shall be strong, and one of his princes; and he shall be strong above him, and have dominion; his dominion shall be a great dominion.[6] And in the end of years they shall join themselves together; for the king's daughter of the south shall come to the king of the north to make an agreement: but she shall not retain the power of the arm; neither shall he stand, nor his arm: but she shall be given up, and they that brought her, and he that begat her, and he that strengthened her in these times.[7] But out of a branch of her roots shall one stand up in his estate, which shall come with an army, and shall enter into the fortress of the king of the north, and shall deal against them, and shall prevail:[8] And shall also carry captives into Egypt their gods, with their princes, and with their precious vessels of silver and of gold; and he shall continue more years than the king of the north.[9] So the king of the south shall come into his kingdom, and shall return into his own land.[10] But his sons shall be stirred up, and shall assemble a multitude of great forces: and one shall certainly come, and overflow, and pass through: then shall he return, and be stirred up, even to his fortress.[11] And the king of the south shall be moved with choler, and shall come forth and fight with him, even with the king of the north: and he shall set forth a great multitude; but the multitude shall be given into his hand.[12] And when he has taken away the multitude, his heart shall be lifted up; and he shall cast down many ten thousands: but he shall not be strengthened by it.[13] For the king of the north shall return, and shall set forth a multitude greater than the former, and shall certainly come after certain years with a great army and with much riches.[14] And in those times there shall many stand up against the king of the south: also the robbers of your people shall exalt themselves to establish the vision; but they shall fall.[15] So the king of the north shall come, and cast up a mount, and take the most fenced cities: and the arms of the south shall not withstand, neither his chosen people, neither shall there be any strength to withstand.[16] But he that comes against him shall do according to his own will, and none shall stand before him: and he shall stand in the glorious land, which by his hand shall be consumed.[17] He shall also set his face to enter with the strength of his whole kingdom, and upright ones with him; thus shall he do: and he shall give him the daughter of women, corrupting her: but she shall not stand on his side, neither be for him.[18] After this shall he turn his face to the isles, and shall take many: but a prince for his own behalf shall cause the reproach offered by him to cease; without his own reproach he shall cause it to turn on him.[19] Then he shall turn his face toward the fort of his own land: but he shall stumble and fall, and not be found.[20] Then shall stand up in his estate a raiser of taxes in the glory of the kingdom: but within few days he shall be destroyed, neither in anger, nor in battle.[21] And in his estate shall stand up a vile person, to whom they shall not give the honor of the kingdom: but he shall come in peaceably, and obtain the kingdom by flatteries.[22] And with the arms of a flood shall they be overflowed from before him, and shall be broken; yes, also the prince of the covenant.[23] And after the league made with him he shall work deceitfully: for he shall come up, and shall become strong with a small people.[24] He shall enter peaceably even on the fattest places of the province; and he shall do that which his fathers have not done, nor his fathers' fathers; he shall scatter among them the prey, and spoil, and riches: yes, and he shall forecast his devices against the strong holds, even for a time.[25] And he shall stir up his power and his courage against the king of the south with a great army; and the king of the south shall be stirred up to battle with a very great and mighty army; but he shall not stand: for they shall forecast devices against him.[26] Yes, they that feed of the portion of his meat shall destroy him, and his army shall overflow: and many shall fall down slain.[27] And both of these kings' hearts shall be to do mischief, and they shall speak lies at one table; but it shall not prosper: for yet the end shall be at the time appointed.[28] Then shall he return into his land with great riches; and his heart shall be against the holy covenant; and he shall do exploits, and return to his own land.[29] At the time appointed he shall return, and come toward the south; but it shall not be as the former, or as the latter. ¶[30] For the ships of Chittim shall come against him: therefore he shall be grieved, and return, and have indignation against the holy covenant: so shall he do; he shall even return, and have intelligence with them that forsake the holy covenant.[31] And arms shall stand on his part, and they shall pollute the sanctuary of strength, and shall take away the daily sacrifice, and they shall place the abomination that makes desolate.[32] And such as do wickedly against the covenant shall he corrupt by flatteries: but the people that do know their God shall be strong, and do exploits.[33] And they that understand among the people shall instruct many: yet they shall fall by the sword, and by flame, by captivity, and by spoil, many days.[34] Now when they shall fall, they shall be helped with a little help: but many shall join to them with flatteries.[35] And some of them of understanding shall fall, to try them, and to purge, and to make them white, even to the time of the end: because it is yet for a time appointed.[36] And the king shall do according to his will; and he shall exalt himself, and magnify himself above every god, and shall speak marvelous things against the God of gods, and shall prosper till the indignation be accomplished: for that that is determined shall be done.[37] Neither shall he regard the God of his fathers, nor the desire of women, nor regard any god: for he shall magnify himself above all.[38] But in his estate shall he honor the God of forces: and a god whom his fathers knew not shall he honor with gold, and silver, and with precious stones, and pleasant things.[39] Thus shall he do in the most strong holds with a strange god, whom he shall acknowledge and increase with glory: and he shall cause them to rule over many, and shall divide the land for gain.[40] And at the time of the end shall the king of the south push at him: and the king of the north shall come against him like a whirlwind, with chariots, and with horsemen, and with many ships; and he shall enter into the countries, and shall overflow and pass over.[41] He shall enter also into the glorious land, and many countries shall be overthrown: but these shall escape out of his hand, even Edom, and Moab, and the chief of the children of Ammon.[42] He shall stretch forth his hand also on the countries: and the land of Egypt shall not escape.[43] But he shall have power over the treasures of gold and of silver, and over all the precious things of Egypt: and the Libyans and the Ethiopians shall be at his steps.[44] But tidings out of the east and out of the north shall trouble him: therefore he shall go forth with great fury to destroy, and utterly to make away many.[45] And he shall plant the tabernacles of his palace between the seas in the glorious holy mountain; yet he shall come to his end, and none shall help him.

[1] And at that time shall Michael stand up, the great prince which stands for the children of your people: and there shall be a time of trouble, such as never was since there was a nation even to that same time: and at that time your people shall be delivered, every one that shall be found written in the book.

[2] And many of them that sleep in the dust of the earth shall awake, some to everlasting life, and some to shame and everlasting contempt.[3] And they that be wise shall shine as the brightness of the firmament; and they that turn many to righteousness as the stars for ever and ever.[4] But you, O Daniel, shut up the words, and seal the book, even to the time of the end: many shall run to and fro, and knowledge shall be increased. ¶[5] Then I Daniel looked, and, behold, there stood other two, the one on this side of the bank of the river, and the other on that side of the bank of the river.[6] And one said to the man clothed in linen, which was on the waters of the river, How long shall it be to the end of these wonders?[7] And I heard the man clothed in linen, which was on the waters of the river, when he held up his right hand and his left hand to heaven, and swore by him that lives for ever that it shall be for a time, times, and an half; and when he shall have accomplished to scatter the power of the holy people, all these things shall be finished.[8] And I heard, but I understood not: then said I, O my Lord, what shall be the end of these things?[9] And he said, Go your way, Daniel: for the words are closed up and sealed till the time of the end.[10] Many shall be purified, and made white, and tried; but the wicked shall do wickedly: and none of the wicked shall understand; but the wise shall understand.[11] And from the time that the daily sacrifice shall be taken away, and the abomination that makes desolate set up, there shall be a thousand two hundred and ninety days.[12] Blessed is he that waits, and comes to the thousand three hundred and five and thirty days.[13] But go you your way till the end be: for you shall rest, and stand in your lot at the end of the days.

Hosea

An Introduction to the Book of Hosea

This book stands first in order among the “Minor Prophets.” “The probable cause of the location of Hosea may be the thoroughly national character of his oracles, their length, their earnest tone, and vivid representations.” This was the longest of the prophetic books written before the Captivity. Hosea prophesied in a dark and melancholy period of Israel’s history, the period of Israel’s decline and fall. Their sins had brought upon them great national disasters. “Their homicides and fornication, their perjury and theft, their idolatry and impiety, are censured and satirized with a faithful severity.” He was a contemporary of Isaiah. The book may be divided into two parts, the first containing chapters 1-3, and symbolically representing the idolatry of Israel under imagery borrowed from the matrimonial relation. The figures of marriage and adultery are common in the Old Testament writings to represent the spiritual relations between Jehovah and the people of Israel. Here we see the apostasy of Israel and their punishment, with their future repentance, forgiveness, and restoration.

The second part, containing 4-14, is a summary of Hosea’s discourses, filled with denunciations, threatenings, exhortations, promises, and revelations of mercy.

Quotations from Hosea are found in Matt. 2:15; 9:15; 12:7; Rom. 9:25, 26. There are, in addition, various allusions to it in other places (Luke 23:30; Rev. 6:16, comp. Hos. 10:8; Rom. 9:25, 26; 1 Pet. 2:10, comp. Hos. 1:10, etc.).

As regards the style of this writer, it has been said that “each verse forms a whole for itself, like one heavy toll in a funeral knell.” “Inversions (7:8; 9:11, 13; 12: 8), anacolutha (9:6; 12:8, etc.), ellipses (9:4; 13:9, etc.), paranomasias, and plays upon words, are very characteristic of Hosea (8:7; 9:15; 10:5; 11:5; 12:11).”

[1] The word of the LORD that came to Hosea, the son of Beeri, in the days of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, kings of Judah, and in the days of Jeroboam the son of Joash, king of Israel.

[2] The beginning of the word of the LORD by Hosea. And the LORD said to Hosea, Go, take to you a wife of prostitutions and children of prostitutions: for the land has committed great prostitution, departing from the LORD.[3] So he went and took Gomer the daughter of Diblaim; which conceived, and bore him a son.[4] And the LORD said to him, Call his name Jezreel; for yet a little while, and I will avenge the blood of Jezreel on the house of Jehu, and will cause to cease the kingdom of the house of Israel.[5] And it shall come to pass at that day, that I will break the bow of Israel, in the valley of Jezreel. ¶[6] And she conceived again, and bore a daughter. And God said to him, Call her name Loruhamah: for I will no more have mercy on the house of Israel; but I will utterly take them away.[7] But I will have mercy on the house of Judah, and will save them by the LORD their God, and will not save them by bow, nor by sword, nor by battle, by horses, nor by horsemen. ¶[8] Now when she had weaned Loruhamah, she conceived, and bore a son.[9] Then said God, Call his name Loammi: for you are not my people, and I will not be your God. ¶[10] Yet the number of the children of Israel shall be as the sand of the sea, which cannot be measured nor numbered; and it shall come to pass, that in the place where it was said to them, You are not my people, there it shall be said to them, You are the sons of the living God.[11] Then shall the children of Judah and the children of Israel be gathered together, and appoint themselves one head, and they shall come up out of the land: for great shall be the day of Jezreel.

[1] Say you to your brothers, Ammi; and to your sisters, Ruhamah.

[2] Plead with your mother, plead: for she is not my wife, neither am I her husband: let her therefore put away her prostitutions out of her sight, and her adulteries from between her breasts;[3] Lest I strip her naked, and set her as in the day that she was born, and make her as a wilderness, and set her like a dry land, and slay her with thirst.[4] And I will not have mercy on her children; for they be the children of prostitutions.[5] For their mother has played the harlot: she that conceived them has done shamefully: for she said, I will go after my lovers, that give me my bread and my water, my wool and my flax, my oil and my drink. ¶[6] Therefore, behold, I will hedge up your way with thorns, and make a wall, that she shall not find her paths.[7] And she shall follow after her lovers, but she shall not overtake them; and she shall seek them, but shall not find them: then shall she say, I will go and return to my first husband; for then was it better with me than now.[8] For she did not know that I gave her corn, and wine, and oil, and multiplied her silver and gold, which they prepared for Baal.[9] Therefore will I return, and take away my corn in the time thereof, and my wine in the season thereof, and will recover my wool and my flax given to cover her nakedness.[10] And now will I discover her lewdness in the sight of her lovers, and none shall deliver her out of my hand.[11] I will also cause all her mirth to cease, her feast days, her new moons, and her sabbaths, and all her solemn feasts.[12] And I will destroy her vines and her fig trees, whereof she has said, These are my rewards that my lovers have given me: and I will make them a forest, and the beasts of the field shall eat them.[13] And I will visit on her the days of Baalim, wherein she burned incense to them, and she decked herself with her earrings and her jewels, and she went after her lovers, and forgot me, says the LORD. ¶[14] Therefore, behold, I will allure her, and bring her into the wilderness, and speak comfortably to her.[15] And I will give her her vineyards from there, and the valley of Achor for a door of hope: and she shall sing there, as in the days of her youth, and as in the day when she came up out of the land of Egypt.[16] And it shall be at that day, says the LORD, that you shall call me Ishi; and shall call me no more Baali.[17] For I will take away the names of Baalim out of her mouth, and they shall no more be remembered by their name.[18] And in that day will I make a covenant for them with the beasts of the field and with the fowls of heaven, and with the creeping things of the ground: and I will break the bow and the sword and the battle out of the earth, and will make them to lie down safely.[19] And I will betroth you to me for ever; yes, I will betroth you to me in righteousness, and in judgment, and in loving kindness, and in mercies.[20] I will even betroth you to me in faithfulness: and you shall know the LORD.[21] And it shall come to pass in that day, I will hear, says the LORD, I will hear the heavens, and they shall hear the earth;[22] And the earth shall hear the corn, and the wine, and the oil; and they shall hear Jezreel.[23] And I will sow her to me in the earth; and I will have mercy on her that had not obtained mercy; and I will say to them which were not my people, You are my people; and they shall say, You are my God.

[1] Then said the LORD to me, Go yet, love a woman beloved of her friend, yet an adulteress, according to the love of the LORD toward the children of Israel, who look to other gods, and love flagons of wine.

[2] So I bought her to me for fifteen pieces of silver, and for an homer of barley, and an half homer of barley:[3] And I said to her, You shall abide for me many days; you shall not play the harlot, and you shall not be for another man: so will I also be for you.[4] For the children of Israel shall abide many days without a king, and without a prince, and without a sacrifice, and without an image, and without an ephod, and without teraphim:[5] Afterward shall the children of Israel return, and seek the LORD their God, and David their king; and shall fear the LORD and his goodness in the latter days.

[1] Hear the word of the LORD, you children of Israel: for the LORD has a controversy with the inhabitants of the land, because there is no truth, nor mercy, nor knowledge of God in the land.

[2] By swearing, and lying, and killing, and stealing, and committing adultery, they break out, and blood touches blood.[3] Therefore shall the land mourn, and every one that dwells therein shall languish, with the beasts of the field, and with the fowls of heaven; yes, the fishes of the sea also shall be taken away.[4] Yet let no man strive, nor reprove another: for your people are as they that strive with the priest.[5] Therefore shall you fall in the day, and the prophet also shall fall with you in the night, and I will destroy your mother. ¶[6] My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge: because you have rejected knowledge, I will also reject you, that you shall be no priest to me: seeing you have forgotten the law of your God, I will also forget your children.[7] As they were increased, so they sinned against me: therefore will I change their glory into shame.[8] They eat up the sin of my people, and they set their heart on their iniquity.[9] And there shall be, like people, like priest: and I will punish them for their ways, and reward them their doings.[10] For they shall eat, and not have enough: they shall commit prostitution, and shall not increase: because they have left off to take heed to the LORD.[11] Prostitution and wine and new wine take away the heart. ¶[12] My people ask counsel at their stocks, and their staff declares to them: for the spirit of prostitutions has caused them to err, and they have gone a whoring from under their God.[13] They sacrifice on the tops of the mountains, and burn incense on the hills, under oaks and poplars and elms, because the shadow thereof is good: therefore your daughters shall commit prostitution, and your spouses shall commit adultery.[14] I will not punish your daughters when they commit prostitution, nor your spouses when they commit adultery: for themselves are separated with whores, and they sacrifice with harlots: therefore the people that does not understand shall fall. ¶[15] Though you, Israel, play the harlot, yet let not Judah offend; and come not you to Gilgal, neither go you up to Bethaven, nor swear, The LORD lives.[16] For Israel slides back as a backsliding heifer: now the LORD will feed them as a lamb in a large place.[17] Ephraim is joined to idols: let him alone.[18] Their drink is sour: they have committed prostitution continually: her rulers with shame do love, Give you.[19] The wind has bound her up in her wings, and they shall be ashamed because of their sacrifices.

[1] Hear you this, O priests; and listen, you house of Israel; and give you ear, O house of the king; for judgment is toward you, because you have been a snare on Mizpah, and a net spread on Tabor.

[2] And the rebels are profound to make slaughter, though I have been a rebuker of them all.[3] I know Ephraim, and Israel is not hid from me: for now, O Ephraim, you commit prostitution, and Israel is defiled.[4] They will not frame their doings to turn to their God: for the spirit of prostitutions is in the middle of them, and they have not known the LORD.[5] And the pride of Israel does testify to his face: therefore shall Israel and Ephraim fall in their iniquity: Judah also shall fall with them.[6] They shall go with their flocks and with their herds to seek the LORD; but they shall not find him; he has withdrawn himself from them.[7] They have dealt treacherously against the LORD: for they have begotten strange children: now shall a month devour them with their portions.[8] Blow you the cornet in Gibeah, and the trumpet in Ramah: cry aloud at Bethaven, after you, O Benjamin.[9] Ephraim shall be desolate in the day of rebuke: among the tribes of Israel have I made known that which shall surely be.[10] The princes of Judah were like them that remove the bound: therefore I will pour out my wrath on them like water.[11] Ephraim is oppressed and broken in judgment, because he willingly walked after the commandment.[12] Therefore will I be to Ephraim as a moth, and to the house of Judah as rottenness.[13] When Ephraim saw his sickness, and Judah saw his wound, then went Ephraim to the Assyrian, and sent to king Jareb: yet could he not heal you, nor cure you of your wound.[14] For I will be to Ephraim as a lion, and as a young lion to the house of Judah: I, even I, will tear and go away; I will take away, and none shall rescue him. ¶[15] I will go and return to my place, till they acknowledge their offense, and seek my face: in their affliction they will seek me early.

[1] Come, and let us return to the LORD: for he has torn, and he will heal us; he has smitten, and he will bind us up.

[2] After two days will he revive us: in the third day he will raise us up, and we shall live in his sight.[3] Then shall we know, if we follow on to know the LORD: his going forth is prepared as the morning; and he shall come to us as the rain, as the latter and former rain to the earth. ¶[4] O Ephraim, what shall I do to you? O Judah, what shall I do to you? for your goodness is as a morning cloud, and as the early dew it goes away.[5] Therefore have I hewed them by the prophets; I have slain them by the words of my mouth: and your judgments are as the light that goes forth.[6] For I desired mercy, and not sacrifice; and the knowledge of God more than burnt offerings.[7] But they like men have transgressed the covenant: there have they dealt treacherously against me.[8] Gilead is a city of them that work iniquity, and is polluted with blood.[9] And as troops of robbers wait for a man, so the company of priests murder in the way by consent: for they commit lewdness.[10] I have seen an horrible thing in the house of Israel: there is the prostitution of Ephraim, Israel is defiled.[11] Also, O Judah, he has set an harvest for you, when I returned the captivity of my people.

[1] When I would have healed Israel, then the iniquity of Ephraim was discovered, and the wickedness of Samaria: for they commit falsehood; and the thief comes in, and the troop of robbers spoils without.

[2] And they consider not in their hearts that I remember all their wickedness: now their own doings have beset them about; they are before my face.[3] They make the king glad with their wickedness, and the princes with their lies.[4] They are all adulterers, as an oven heated by the baker, who ceases from raising after he has kneaded the dough, until it be leavened.[5] In the day of our king the princes have made him sick with bottles of wine; he stretched out his hand with scorners.[6] For they have made ready their heart like an oven, whiles they lie in wait: their baker sleeps all the night; in the morning it burns as a flaming fire.[7] They are all hot as an oven, and have devoured their judges; all their kings are fallen: there is none among them that calls to me.[8] Ephraim, he has mixed himself among the people; Ephraim is a cake not turned.[9] Strangers have devoured his strength, and he knows it not: yes, gray hairs are here and there on him, yet he knows not.[10] And the pride of Israel testifies to his face: and they do not return to the LORD their God, nor seek him for all this. ¶[11] Ephraim also is like a silly dove without heart: they call to Egypt, they go to Assyria.[12] When they shall go, I will spread my net on them; I will bring them down as the fowls of the heaven; I will chastise them, as their congregation has heard.[13] Woe to them! for they have fled from me: destruction to them! because they have transgressed against me: though I have redeemed them, yet they have spoken lies against me.[14] And they have not cried to me with their heart, when they howled on their beds: they assemble themselves for corn and wine, and they rebel against me.[15] Though I have bound and strengthened their arms, yet do they imagine mischief against me.[16] They return, but not to the most High: they are like a deceitful bow: their princes shall fall by the sword for the rage of their tongue: this shall be their derision in the land of Egypt.

[1] Set the trumpet to your mouth. He shall come as an eagle against the house of the LORD, because they have transgressed my covenant, and trespassed against my law.

[2] Israel shall cry to me, My God, we know you.[3] Israel has cast off the thing that is good: the enemy shall pursue him.[4] They have set up kings, but not by me: they have made princes, and I knew it not: of their silver and their gold have they made them idols, that they may be cut off. ¶[5] Your calf, O Samaria, has cast you off; my anger is kindled against them: how long will it be before they attain to innocence?[6] For from Israel was it also: the workman made it; therefore it is not God: but the calf of Samaria shall be broken in pieces.[7] For they have sown the wind, and they shall reap the whirlwind: it has no stalk; the bud shall yield no meal: if so be it yield, the strangers shall swallow it up.[8] Israel is swallowed up: now shall they be among the Gentiles as a vessel wherein is no pleasure.[9] For they are gone up to Assyria, a wild ass alone by himself: Ephraim has hired lovers.[10] Yes, though they have hired among the nations, now will I gather them, and they shall sorrow a little for the burden of the king of princes.[11] Because Ephraim has made many altars to sin, altars shall be to him to sin.[12] I have written to him the great things of my law, but they were counted as a strange thing.[13] They sacrifice flesh for the sacrifices of my offerings, and eat it; but the LORD accepts them not; now will he remember their iniquity, and visit their sins: they shall return to Egypt.[14] For Israel has forgotten his Maker, and builds temples; and Judah has multiplied fenced cities: but I will send a fire on his cities, and it shall devour the palaces thereof.

[1] Rejoice not, O Israel, for joy, as other people: for you have gone a whoring from your God, you have loved a reward on every corn floor.

[2] The floor and the wine press shall not feed them, and the new wine shall fail in her.[3] They shall not dwell in the LORD's land; but Ephraim shall return to Egypt, and they shall eat unclean things in Assyria.[4] They shall not offer wine offerings to the LORD, neither shall they be pleasing to him: their sacrifices shall be to them as the bread of mourners; all that eat thereof shall be polluted: for their bread for their soul shall not come into the house of the LORD.[5] What will you do in the solemn day, and in the day of the feast of the LORD?[6] For, see, they are gone because of destruction: Egypt shall gather them up, Memphis shall bury them: the pleasant places for their silver, nettles shall possess them: thorns shall be in their tabernacles.[7] The days of visitation are come, the days of recompense are come; Israel shall know it: the prophet is a fool, the spiritual man is mad, for the multitude of your iniquity, and the great hatred.[8] The watchman of Ephraim was with my God: but the prophet is a snare of a fowler in all his ways, and hatred in the house of his God.[9] They have deeply corrupted themselves, as in the days of Gibeah: therefore he will remember their iniquity, he will visit their sins.[10] I found Israel like grapes in the wilderness; I saw your fathers as the first ripe in the fig tree at her first time: but they went to Baalpeor, and separated themselves to that shame; and their abominations were according as they loved.[11] As for Ephraim, their glory shall fly away like a bird, from the birth, and from the womb, and from the conception.[12] Though they bring up their children, yet will I bereave them, that there shall not be a man left: yes, woe also to them when I depart from them![13] Ephraim, as I saw Tyrus, is planted in a pleasant place: but Ephraim shall bring forth his children to the murderer.[14] Give them, O LORD: what will you give? give them a miscarrying womb and dry breasts.[15] All their wickedness is in Gilgal: for there I hated them: for the wickedness of their doings I will drive them out of my house, I will love them no more: all their princes are rebels.[16] Ephraim is smitten, their root is dried up, they shall bear no fruit: yes, though they bring forth, yet will I slay even the beloved fruit of their womb.[17] My God will cast them away, because they did not listen to him: and they shall be wanderers among the nations.

[1] Israel is an empty vine, he brings forth fruit to himself: according to the multitude of his fruit he has increased the altars; according to the goodness of his land they have made goodly images.

[2] Their heart is divided; now shall they be found faulty: he shall break down their altars, he shall spoil their images.[3] For now they shall say, We have no king, because we feared not the LORD; what then should a king do to us?[4] They have spoken words, swearing falsely in making a covenant: thus judgment springs up as hemlock in the furrows of the field.[5] The inhabitants of Samaria shall fear because of the calves of Bethaven: for the people thereof shall mourn over it, and the priests thereof that rejoiced on it, for the glory thereof, because it is departed from it.[6] It shall be also carried to Assyria for a present to king Jareb: Ephraim shall receive shame, and Israel shall be ashamed of his own counsel.[7] As for Samaria, her king is cut off as the foam on the water.[8] The high places also of Aven, the sin of Israel, shall be destroyed: the thorn and the thistle shall come up on their altars; and they shall say to the mountains, Cover us; and to the hills, Fall on us.[9] O Israel, you have sinned from the days of Gibeah: there they stood: the battle in Gibeah against the children of iniquity did not overtake them.[10] It is in my desire that I should chastise them; and the people shall be gathered against them, when they shall bind themselves in their two furrows.[11] And Ephraim is as an heifer that is taught, and loves to tread out the corn; but I passed over on her fair neck: I will make Ephraim to ride; Judah shall plow, and Jacob shall break his clods.[12] Sow to yourselves in righteousness, reap in mercy; break up your fallow ground: for it is time to seek the LORD, till he come and rain righteousness on you.[13] You have plowed wickedness, you have reaped iniquity; you have eaten the fruit of lies: because you did trust in your way, in the multitude of your mighty men.[14] Therefore shall a tumult arise among your people, and all your fortresses shall be spoiled, as Shalman spoiled Betharbel in the day of battle: the mother was dashed in pieces on her children.[15] So shall Bethel do to you because of your great wickedness: in a morning shall the king of Israel utterly be cut off.

[1] When Israel was a child, then I loved him, and called my son out of Egypt.

[2] As they called them, so they went from them: they sacrificed to Baalim, and burned incense to graven images.[3] I taught Ephraim also to go, taking them by their arms; but they knew not that I healed them.[4] I drew them with cords of a man, with bands of love: and I was to them as they that take off the yoke on their jaws, and I laid meat to them. ¶[5] He shall not return into the land of Egypt, and the Assyrian shall be his king, because they refused to return.[6] And the sword shall abide on his cities, and shall consume his branches, and devour them, because of their own counsels.[7] And my people are bent to backsliding from me: though they called them to the most High, none at all would exalt him.[8] How shall I give you up, Ephraim? how shall I deliver you, Israel? how shall I make you as Admah? how shall I set you as Zeboim? my heart is turned within me, my repentings are kindled together.[9] I will not execute the fierceness of my anger, I will not return to destroy Ephraim: for I am God, and not man; the Holy One in the middle of you: and I will not enter into the city.[10] They shall walk after the LORD: he shall roar like a lion: when he shall roar, then the children shall tremble from the west.[11] They shall tremble as a bird out of Egypt, and as a dove out of the land of Assyria: and I will place them in their houses, says the LORD.[12] Ephraim compasses me about with lies, and the house of Israel with deceit: but Judah yet rules with God, and is faithful with the saints.

[1] Ephraim feeds on wind, and follows after the east wind: he daily increases lies and desolation; and they do make a covenant with the Assyrians, and oil is carried into Egypt.

[2] The LORD has also a controversy with Judah, and will punish Jacob according to his ways; according to his doings will he recompense him. ¶[3] He took his brother by the heel in the womb, and by his strength he had power with God:[4] Yes, he had power over the angel, and prevailed: he wept, and made supplication to him: he found him in Bethel, and there he spoke with us;[5] Even the LORD God of hosts; the LORD is his memorial.[6] Therefore turn you to your God: keep mercy and judgment and wait on your God continually. ¶[7] He is a merchant, the balances of deceit are in his hand: he loves to oppress.[8] And Ephraim said, Yet I am become rich, I have found me out substance: in all my labors they shall find none iniquity in me that were sin.[9] And I that am the LORD your God from the land of Egypt will yet make you to dwell in tabernacles, as in the days of the solemn feast.[10] I have also spoken by the prophets, and I have multiplied visions, and used similitudes, by the ministry of the prophets.[11] Is there iniquity in Gilead? surely they are vanity: they sacrifice bullocks in Gilgal; yes, their altars are as heaps in the furrows of the fields.[12] And Jacob fled into the country of Syria, and Israel served for a wife, and for a wife he kept sheep.[13] And by a prophet the LORD brought Israel out of Egypt, and by a prophet was he preserved.[14] Ephraim provoked him to anger most bitterly: therefore shall he leave his blood on him, and his reproach shall his LORD return to him.

[1] When Ephraim spoke trembling, he exalted himself in Israel; but when he offended in Baal, he died.

[2] And now they sin more and more, and have made them molten images of their silver, and idols according to their own understanding, all of it the work of the craftsmen: they say of them, Let the men that sacrifice kiss the calves.[3] Therefore they shall be as the morning cloud and as the early dew that passes away, as the chaff that is driven with the whirlwind out of the floor, and as the smoke out of the chimney.[4] Yet I am the LORD your God from the land of Egypt, and you shall know no god but me: for there is no savior beside me. ¶[5] I did know you in the wilderness, in the land of great drought.[6] According to their pasture, so were they filled; they were filled, and their heart was exalted; therefore have they forgotten me.[7] Therefore I will be to them as a lion: as a leopard by the way will I observe them:[8] I will meet them as a bear that is bereaved of her whelps, and will rend the lobe of their heart, and there will I devour them like a lion: the wild beast shall tear them. ¶[9] O Israel, you have destroyed yourself; but in me is your help.[10] I will be your king: where is any other that may save you in all your cities? and your judges of whom you said, Give me a king and princes?[11] I gave you a king in my anger, and took him away in my wrath.[12] The iniquity of Ephraim is bound up; his sin is hid.[13] The sorrows of a travailing woman shall come on him: he is an unwise son; for he should not stay long in the place of the breaking forth of children.[14] I will ransom them from the power of the grave; I will redeem them from death: O death, I will be your plagues; O grave, I will be your destruction: repentance shall be hid from my eyes. ¶[15] Though he be fruitful among his brothers, an east wind shall come, the wind of the LORD shall come up from the wilderness, and his spring shall become dry, and his fountain shall be dried up: he shall spoil the treasure of all pleasant vessels.[16] Samaria shall become desolate; for she has rebelled against her God: they shall fall by the sword: their infants shall be dashed in pieces, and their women with child shall be ripped up.

1 O Israel, return to the LORD your God; for you have fallen by your iniquity.

2 Take with you words, and turn to the LORD: say to him, Take away all iniquity, and receive us graciously: so will we render the calves of our lips.3 Asshur shall not save us; we will not ride on horses: neither will we say any more to the work of our hands, You are our gods: for in you the fatherless finds mercy. ¶4 I will heal their backsliding, I will love them freely: for my anger is turned away from him.5 I will be as the dew to Israel: he shall grow as the lily, and cast forth his roots as Lebanon.6 His branches shall spread, and his beauty shall be as the olive tree, and his smell as Lebanon.7
They that dwell under his shadow shall return; they shall revive as the corn, and grow as the vine: the scent thereof shall be as the wine of Lebanon.8 Ephraim shall say, What have I to do any more with idols? I have heard him, and observed him: I am like a green fir tree. From me is your fruit found.9 Who is wise, and he shall understand these things? prudent, and he shall know them? for the ways of the LORD are right, and the just shall walk in them: but the transgressors shall fall therein.

Joel

An Introduction to the Book of Joel

Joel was probably a resident in Judah, as his commission was to that people. He makes frequent mention of Judah and Jerusalem (1:14; 2:1, 15, 32; 3:1, 12, 17, 20, 21).

He probably flourished in the reign of Uzziah (about B.C. 800), and was contemporary with Amos and Isaiah.

The contents of this book are, (1.) A prophecy of a great public calamity then impending over the land, consisting of a want of water and an extraordinary plague of locusts (1:1-2:11). (2.) The prophet then calls on his countrymen to repent and to turn to God, assuring them of his readiness to forgive (2:12-17), and foretelling the restoration of the land to its accustomed fruitfulness (18-26). (3.) Then follows a Messianic prophecy, quoted by Peter (Acts 2:39). (4.) Finally, the prophet foretells portents and judgments as destined to fall on the enemies of God (ch. 3, but in the Hebrew text 4).

[1] The word of the LORD that came to Joel the son of Pethuel.

[2] Hear this, you old men, and give ear, all you inhabitants of the land. Has this been in your days, or even in the days of your fathers?[3] Tell you your children of it, and let your children tell their children, and their children another generation.[4] That which the palmerworm has left has the locust eaten; and that which the locust has left has the cankerworm eaten; and that which the cankerworm has left has the caterpillar eaten.[5] Awake, you drunkards, and weep; and howl, all you drinkers of wine, because of the new wine; for it is cut off from your mouth.[6] For a nation is come up on my land, strong, and without number, whose teeth are the teeth of a lion, and he has the cheek teeth of a great lion.[7] He has laid my vine waste, and barked my fig tree: he has made it clean bore, and cast it away; the branches thereof are made white. ¶[8] Lament like a virgin girded with sackcloth for the husband of her youth.[9] The meat offering and the drink offering is cut off from the house of the LORD; the priests, the LORD's ministers, mourn.[10] The field is wasted, the land mourns; for the corn is wasted: the new wine is dried up, the oil languishes.[11] Be you ashamed, O you farmers; howl, O you vinedressers, for the wheat and for the barley; because the harvest of the field is perished.[12] The vine is dried up, and the fig tree languishes; the pomegranate tree, the palm tree also, and the apple tree, even all the trees of the field, are withered: because joy is withered away from the sons of men.[13] Gird yourselves, and lament, you priests: howl, you ministers of the altar: come, lie all night in sackcloth, you ministers of my God: for the meat offering and the drink offering is withheld from the house of your God. ¶[14] Sanctify you a fast, call a solemn assembly, gather the elders and all the inhabitants of the land into the house of the LORD your God, and cry to the LORD,[15] Alas for the day! for the day of the LORD is at hand, and as a destruction from the Almighty shall it come.[16] Is not the meat cut off before our eyes, yes, joy and gladness from the house of our God?[17] The seed is rotten under their clods, the garners are laid desolate, the barns are broken down; for the corn is withered.[18] How do the beasts groan! the herds of cattle are perplexed, because they have no pasture; yes, the flocks of sheep are made desolate.[19] O LORD, to you will I cry: for the fire has devoured the pastures of the wilderness, and the flame has burned all the trees of the field.[20] The beasts of the field cry also to you: for the rivers of waters are dried up, and the fire has devoured the pastures of the wilderness.

[1] Blow you the trumpet in Zion, and sound an alarm in my holy mountain: let all the inhabitants of the land tremble: for the day of the LORD comes, for it is near at hand;

[2] A day of darkness and of gloominess, a day of clouds and of thick darkness, as the morning spread on the mountains: a great people and a strong; there has not been ever the like, neither shall be any more after it, even to the years of many generations.[3] A fire devours before them; and behind them a flame burns: the land is as the garden of Eden before them, and behind them a desolate wilderness; yes, and nothing shall escape them.[4] The appearance of them is as the appearance of horses; and as horsemen, so shall they run.[5] Like the noise of chariots on the tops of mountains shall they leap, like the noise of a flame of fire that devours the stubble, as a strong people set in battle array.[6] Before their face the people shall be much pained: all faces shall gather blackness.[7] They shall run like mighty men; they shall climb the wall like men of war; and they shall march every one on his ways, and they shall not break their ranks:[8] Neither shall one thrust another; they shall walk every one in his path: and when they fall on the sword, they shall not be wounded.[9] They shall run to and fro in the city; they shall run on the wall, they shall climb up on the houses; they shall enter in at the windows like a thief.[10] The earth shall quake before them; the heavens shall tremble: the sun and the moon shall be dark, and the stars shall withdraw their shining:[11] And the LORD shall utter his voice before his army: for his camp is very great: for he is strong that executes his word: for the day of the LORD is great and very terrible; and who can abide it? ¶[12] Therefore also now, says the LORD, turn you even to me with all your heart, and with fasting, and with weeping, and with mourning:[13] And rend your heart, and not your garments, and turn to the LORD your God: for he is gracious and merciful, slow to anger, and of great kindness, and repents him of the evil.[14] Who knows if he will return and repent, and leave a blessing behind him; even a meat offering and a drink offering to the LORD your God? ¶[15] Blow the trumpet in Zion, sanctify a fast, call a solemn assembly:[16] Gather the people, sanctify the congregation, assemble the elders, gather the children, and those that suck the breasts: let the bridegroom go forth of his chamber, and the bride out of her closet.[17] Let the priests, the ministers of the LORD, weep between the porch and the altar, and let them say, Spare your people, O LORD, and give not your heritage to reproach, that the heathen should rule over them: why should they say among the people, Where is their God? ¶[18] Then will the LORD be jealous for his land, and pity his people.[19] Yes, the LORD will answer and say to his people, Behold, I will send you corn, and wine, and oil, and you shall be satisfied therewith: and I will no more make you a reproach among the heathen:[20] But I will remove far off from you the northern army, and will drive him into a land barren and desolate, with his face toward the east sea, and his hinder part toward the utmost sea, and his stink shall come up, and his ill smell shall come up, because he has done great things. ¶[21] Fear not, O land; be glad and rejoice: for the LORD will do great things.[22] Be not afraid, you beasts of the field: for the pastures of the wilderness do spring, for the tree bears her fruit, the fig tree and the vine do yield their strength.[23] Be glad then, you children of Zion, and rejoice in the LORD your God: for he has given you the former rain moderately, and he will cause to come down for you the rain, the former rain, and the latter rain in the first month.[24] And the floors shall be full of wheat, and the vats shall overflow with wine and oil.[25] And I will restore to you the years that the locust has eaten, the cankerworm, and the caterpillar, and the palmerworm, my great army which I sent among you.[26] And you shall eat in plenty, and be satisfied, and praise the name of the LORD your God, that has dealt wondrously with you: and my people shall never be ashamed.[27] And you shall know that I am in the middle of Israel, and that I am the LORD your God, and none else: and my people shall never be ashamed. ¶[28] And it shall come to pass afterward, that I will pour out my spirit on all flesh; and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, your old men shall dream dreams, your young men shall see visions:[29] And also on the servants and on the handmaids in those days will I pour out my spirit.[30] And I will show wonders in the heavens and in the earth, blood, and fire, and pillars of smoke.[31] The sun shall be turned into darkness, and the moon into blood, before the great and terrible day of the LORD come.[32] And it shall come to pass, that whoever shall call on the name of the LORD shall be delivered: for in mount Zion and in Jerusalem shall be deliverance, as the LORD has said, and in the remnant whom the LORD shall call.

[1] For, behold, in those days, and in that time, when I shall bring again the captivity of Judah and Jerusalem,

[2] I will also gather all nations, and will bring them down into the valley of Jehoshaphat, and will plead with them there for my people and for my heritage Israel, whom they have scattered among the nations, and parted my land.[3] And they have cast lots for my people; and have given a boy for an harlot, and sold a girl for wine, that they might drink.[4] Yes, and what have you to do with me, O Tyre, and Zidon, and all the coasts of Palestine? will you render me a recompense? and if you recompense me, swiftly and speedily will I return your recompense on your own head;[5] Because you have taken my silver and my gold, and have carried into your temples my goodly pleasant things:[6] The children also of Judah and the children of Jerusalem have you sold to the Grecians, that you might remove them far from their border.[7] Behold, I will raise them out of the place where you have sold them, and will return your recompense on your own head:[8] And I will sell your sons and your daughters into the hand of the children of Judah, and they shall sell them to the Sabeans, to a people far off: for the LORD has spoken it. ¶[9] Proclaim you this among the Gentiles; Prepare war, wake up the mighty men, let all the men of war draw near; let them come up:[10] Beat your plowshares into swords and your pruning hooks into spears: let the weak say, I am strong.[11] Assemble yourselves, and come, all you heathen, and gather yourselves together round about: thither cause your mighty ones to come down, O LORD.[12] Let the heathen be wakened, and come up to the valley of Jehoshaphat: for there will I sit to judge all the heathen round about.[13] Put you in the sickle, for the harvest is ripe: come, get you down; for the press is full, the fats overflow; for their wickedness is great.[14] Multitudes, multitudes in the valley of decision: for the day of the LORD is near in the valley of decision.[15] The sun and the moon shall be darkened, and the stars shall withdraw their shining.[16] The LORD also shall roar out of Zion, and utter his voice from Jerusalem; and the heavens and the earth shall shake: but the LORD will be the hope of his people, and the strength of the children of Israel.[17] So shall you know that I am the LORD your God dwelling in Zion, my holy mountain: then shall Jerusalem be holy, and there shall no strangers pass through her any more. ¶[18] And it shall come to pass in that day, that the mountains shall drop down new wine, and the hills shall flow with milk, and all the rivers of Judah shall flow with waters, and a fountain shall come forth out of the house of the LORD, and shall water the valley of Shittim.[19] Egypt shall be a desolation, and Edom shall be a desolate wilderness, for the violence against the children of Judah, because they have shed innocent blood in their land.[20] But Judah shall dwell for ever, and Jerusalem from generation to generation.[21] For I will cleanse their blood that I have not cleansed: for the LORD dwells in Zion.

Amos

An Introduction to the Book of Amos

Borne; a burden, one of the twelve minor prophets. He was a native of Tekota, the modern Tekua, a town about 12 miles south-east of Bethlehem. He was a man of humble birth, neither a “prophet nor a prophet’s son,” but “an herdman and a dresser of sycomore trees,” R.V. He prophesied in the days of Uzziah, king of Judah, and was contemporary with Isaiah and Hosea (Amos 1:1; 7:14, 15; Zech. 14:5), who survived him a few years. Under Jeroboam II. the kingdom of Israel rose to the zenith of its prosperity; but that was followed by the prevalence of luxury and vice and idolatry. At this period Amos was called from his obscurity to remind the people of the law of God’s retributive justice, and to call them to repentance.

The Book of Amos consists of three parts:

(1.) The nations around are summoned to judgment because of their sins (1:1-2:3). He quotes Joel 3:16.

(2.) The spiritual condition of Judah, and especially of Israel, is described (2:4-6:14).

(3.) In 7:1-9:10 are recorded five prophetic visions. (a) The first two (7:1-6) refer to judgments against the guilty people. (b) The next two (7:7-9; 8:1-3) point out the ripeness of the people for the threatened judgements. 7:10-17 consists of a conversation between the prophet and the priest of Bethel. (c) The fifth describes the overthrow and ruin of Israel (9:1-10); to which is added the promise of the restoration of the kingdom and its final glory in the Messiah’s kingdom.

The style is peculiar in the number of the allusions made to natural objects and to agricultural occupations. Other allusions show also that Amos was a student of the law as well as a “child of nature.” These phrases are peculiar to him: “Cleanness of teeth” [i.e., want of bread] (4:6); “The excellency of Jacob” (6:8; 8:7); “The high places of Isaac” (7:9); “The house of Isaac” (7:16); “He that createth the wind” (4:13). Quoted, Acts 7:42.

[1] The words of Amos, who was among the herdsmen of Tekoa, which he saw concerning Israel in the days of Uzziah king of Judah, and in the days of Jeroboam the son of Joash king of Israel, two years before the earthquake.

[2] And he said, The LORD will roar from Zion, and utter his voice from Jerusalem; and the habitations of the shepherds shall mourn, and the top of Carmel shall wither.[3] Thus says the LORD; For three transgressions of Damascus, and for four, I will not turn away the punishment thereof; because they have threshed Gilead with threshing instruments of iron:[4] But I will send a fire into the house of Hazael, which shall devour the palaces of Benhadad.[5] I will break also the bar of Damascus, and cut off the inhabitant from the plain of Aven, and him that holds the scepter from the house of Eden: and the people of Syria shall go into captivity to Kir, says the LORD. ¶[6] Thus says the LORD; For three transgressions of Gaza, and for four, I will not turn away the punishment thereof; because they carried away captive the whole captivity, to deliver them up to Edom:[7] But I will send a fire on the wall of Gaza, which shall devour the palaces thereof:[8] And I will cut off the inhabitant from Ashdod, and him that holds the scepter from Ashkelon, and I will turn my hand against Ekron: and the remnant of the Philistines shall perish, says the Lord GOD. ¶[9] Thus says the LORD; For three transgressions of Tyrus, and for four, I will not turn away the punishment thereof; because they delivered up the whole captivity to Edom, and remembered not the brotherly covenant:[10] But I will send a fire on the wall of Tyrus, which shall devour the palaces thereof. ¶[11] Thus says the LORD; For three transgressions of Edom, and for four, I will not turn away the punishment thereof; because he did pursue his brother with the sword, and did cast off all pity, and his anger did tear perpetually, and he kept his wrath for ever:[12] But I will send a fire on Teman, which shall devour the palaces of Bozrah. ¶[13] Thus says the LORD; For three transgressions of the children of Ammon, and for four, I will not turn away the punishment thereof; because they have ripped up the women with child of Gilead, that they might enlarge their border:[14] But I will kindle a fire in the wall of Rabbah, and it shall devour the palaces thereof, with shouting in the day of battle, with a tempest in the day of the whirlwind:[15] And their king shall go into captivity, he and his princes together, said the LORD.

[1] Thus says the LORD; For three transgressions of Moab, and for four, I will not turn away the punishment thereof; because he burned the bones of the king of Edom into lime:

[2] But I will send a fire on Moab, and it shall devour the palaces of Kirioth: and Moab shall die with tumult, with shouting, and with the sound of the trumpet:[3] And I will cut off the judge from the middle thereof, and will slay all the princes thereof with him, says the LORD. ¶[4] Thus says the LORD; For three transgressions of Judah, and for four, I will not turn away the punishment thereof; because they have despised the law of the LORD, and have not kept his commandments, and their lies caused them to err, after the which their fathers have walked:[5] But I will send a fire on Judah, and it shall devour the palaces of Jerusalem. ¶[6] Thus says the LORD; For three transgressions of Israel, and for four, I will not turn away the punishment thereof; because they sold the righteous for silver, and the poor for a pair of shoes;[7] That pant after the dust of the earth on the head of the poor, and turn aside the way of the meek: and a man and his father will go in to the same maid, to profane my holy name:[8] And they lay themselves down on clothes laid to pledge by every altar, and they drink the wine of the condemned in the house of their god. ¶[9] Yet destroyed I the Amorite before them, whose height was like the height of the cedars, and he was strong as the oaks; yet I destroyed his fruit from above, and his roots from beneath.[10] Also I brought you up from the land of Egypt, and led you forty years through the wilderness, to possess the land of the Amorite.[11] And I raised up of your sons for prophets, and of your young men for Nazarites. Is it not even thus, O you children of Israel?

says the LORD.[12] But you gave the Nazarites wine to drink; and commanded the prophets, saying, Prophesy not.[13] Behold, I am pressed under you, as a cart is pressed that is full of sheaves.[14] Therefore the flight shall perish from the swift, and the strong shall not strengthen his force, neither shall the mighty deliver himself:[15] Neither shall he stand that handles the bow; and he that is swift of foot shall not deliver himself: neither shall he that rides the horse deliver himself.[16] And he that is courageous among the mighty shall flee away naked in that day, says the LORD.

[1] Hear this word that the LORD has spoken against you, O children of Israel, against the whole family which I brought up from the land of Egypt, saying,

[2] You only have I known of all the families of the earth: therefore I will punish you for all your iniquities.[3] Can two walk together, except they be agreed?[4] Will a lion roar in the forest, when he has no prey? will a young lion cry out of his den, if he have taken nothing?[5] Can a bird fall in a snare on the earth, where no gin is for him? shall one take up a snare from the earth, and have taken nothing at all?[6] Shall a trumpet be blown in the city, and the people not be afraid? shall there be evil in a city, and the LORD has not done it?[7] Surely the Lord GOD will do nothing, but he reveals his secret to his servants the prophets.[8] The lion has roared, who will not fear? the Lord GOD has spoken, who can but prophesy? ¶[9] Publish in the palaces at Ashdod, and in the palaces in the land of Egypt, and say, Assemble yourselves on the mountains of Samaria, and behold the great tumults in the middle thereof, and the oppressed in the middle thereof.[10] For they know not to do right, says the LORD, who store up violence and robbery in their palaces.[11] Therefore thus says the Lord GOD; An adversary there shall be even round about the land; and he shall bring down your strength from you, and your palaces shall be spoiled.[12] Thus says the LORD; As the shepherd takes out of the mouth of the lion two legs, or a piece of an ear; so shall the children of Israel be taken out that dwell in Samaria in the corner of a bed, and in Damascus in a couch.[13] Hear you, and testify in the house of Jacob, says the Lord GOD, the God of hosts,[14] That in the day that I shall visit the transgressions of Israel on him I will also visit the altars of Bethel: and the horns of the altar shall be cut off, and fall to the ground.[15] And I will smite the winter house with the summer house; and the houses of ivory shall perish, and the great houses shall have an end, says the LORD.

[1] Hear this word, you cows of Bashan, that are in the mountain of Samaria, which oppress the poor, which crush the needy, which say to their masters, Bring, and let us drink.

[2] The Lord GOD has sworn by his holiness, that, see, the days shall come on you, that he will take you away with hooks, and your posterity with fishhooks.[3] And you shall go out at the breaches, every cow at that which is before her; and you shall cast them into the palace, says the LORD. ¶[4] Come to Bethel, and transgress; at Gilgal multiply transgression; and bring your sacrifices every morning, and your tithes after three years:[5] And offer a sacrifice of thanksgiving with leaven, and proclaim and publish the free offerings: for this likes you, O you children of Israel, says the Lord GOD. ¶[6] And I also have given you cleanness of teeth in all your cities, and want of bread in all your places: yet have you not returned to me, says the LORD.[7] And also I have withheld the rain from you, when there were yet three months to the harvest: and I caused it to rain on one city, and caused it not to rain on another city: one piece was rained on, and the piece whereupon it rained not withered.[8] So two or three cities wandered to one city, to drink water; but they were not satisfied: yet have you not returned to me, says the LORD.[9] I have smitten you with blasting and mildew: when your gardens and your vineyards and your fig trees and your olive trees increased, the palmerworm devoured them: yet have you not returned to me, says the LORD.[10] I have sent among you the pestilence after the manner of Egypt: your young men have I slain with the sword, and have taken away your horses; and I have made the stink of your camps to come up to your nostrils: yet have you not returned to me, says the LORD.[11] I have overthrown some of you, as God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah, and you were as a firebrand plucked out of the burning: yet have you not returned to me, says the LORD.[12] Therefore thus will I do to you, O Israel: and because I will do this to you, prepare to meet your God, O Israel.[13] For, see, he that forms the mountains, and creates the wind, and declares to man what is his thought, that makes the morning darkness, and treads on the high places of the earth, The LORD, The God of hosts, is his name.

[1] Hear you this word which I take up against you, even a lamentation, O house of Israel.

[2] The virgin of Israel is fallen; she shall no more rise: she is forsaken on her land; there is none to raise her up.[3] For thus says the Lord GOD; The city that went out by a thousand shall leave an hundred, and that which went forth by an hundred shall leave ten, to the house of Israel. ¶[4] For thus says the LORD to the house of Israel, Seek you me, and you shall live:[5] But seek not Bethel, nor enter into Gilgal, and pass not to Beersheba: for Gilgal shall surely go into captivity, and Bethel shall come to nothing.[6] Seek the LORD, and you shall live; lest he break out like fire in the house of Joseph, and devour it, and there be none to quench it in Bethel.[7] You who turn judgment to wormwood, and leave off righteousness in the earth,[8] Seek him that makes the seven stars and Orion, and turns the shadow of death into the morning, and makes the day dark with night: that calls for the waters of the sea, and pours them out on the face of the earth: The LORD is his name:[9] That strengthens the spoiled against the strong, so that the spoiled shall come against the fortress.[10] They hate him that rebukes in the gate, and they abhor him that speaks uprightly.[11] For as much therefore as your treading is on the poor, and you take from him burdens of wheat: you have built houses of hewn stone, but you shall not dwell in them; you have planted pleasant vineyards, but you shall not drink wine of them.[12] For I know your manifold transgressions and your mighty sins: they afflict the just, they take a bribe, and they turn aside the poor in the gate from their right.[13] Therefore the prudent shall keep silence in that time; for it is an evil time.[14] Seek good, and not evil, that you may live: and so the LORD, the God of hosts, shall be with you, as you have spoken.[15] Hate the evil, and love the good, and establish judgment in the gate: it may be that the LORD God of hosts will be gracious to the remnant of Joseph.[16] Therefore the LORD, the God of hosts, the LORD, says thus; Wailing shall be in all streets; and they shall say in all the highways, Alas! alas! and they shall call the farmer to mourning, and such as are skillful of lamentation to wailing.[17] And in all vineyards shall be wailing: for I will pass through you, says the LORD.[18] Woe to you that desire the day of the LORD! to what end is it for you? the day of the LORD is darkness, and not light.[19] As if a man did flee from a lion, and a bear met him; or went into the house, and leaned his hand on the wall, and a serpent bit him.[20] Shall not the day of the LORD be darkness, and not light? even very dark, and no brightness in it? ¶[21] I hate, I despise your feast days, and I will not smell in your solemn assemblies.[22] Though you offer me burnt offerings and your meat offerings, I will not accept them: neither will I regard the peace offerings of your fat beasts.[23] Take you away from me the noise of your songs; for I will not hear the melody of your viols.[24] But let judgment run down as waters, and righteousness as a mighty stream.[25] Have you offered to me sacrifices and offerings in the wilderness forty years, O house of Israel?[26] But you have borne the tabernacle of your Moloch and Chiun your images, the star of your god, which you made to yourselves.[27] Therefore will I cause you to go into captivity beyond Damascus, says the LORD, whose name is The God of hosts.

[1] Woe to them that are at ease in Zion, and trust in the mountain of Samaria, which are named chief of the nations, to whom the house of Israel came!

[2] Pass you to Calneh, and see; and from there go you to Hamath the great: then go down to Gath of the Philistines: be they better than these kingdoms? or their border greater than your border?[3] You that put far away the evil day, and cause the seat of violence to come near;[4] That lie on beds of ivory, and stretch themselves on their couches, and eat the lambs out of the flock, and the calves out of the middle of the stall;[5] That chant to the sound of the viol, and invent to themselves instruments of music, like David;[6] That drink wine in bowls, and anoint themselves with the chief ointments: but they are not grieved for the affliction of Joseph. ¶[7] Therefore now shall they go captive with the first that go captive, and the banquet of them that stretched themselves shall be removed.[8] The Lord GOD has sworn by himself, says the LORD the God of hosts, I abhor the excellency of Jacob, and hate his palaces: therefore will I deliver up the city with all that is therein.[9] And it shall come to pass, if there remain ten men in one house, that they shall die.[10] And a man's uncle shall take him up, and he that burns him, to bring out the bones out of the house, and shall say to him that is by the sides of the house, Is there yet any with you? and he shall say, No. Then shall he say, Hold your tongue: for we may not make mention of the name of the LORD.[11] For, behold, the LORD commands, and he will smite the great house with breaches, and the little house with clefts. ¶[12] Shall horses run on the rock? will one plow there with oxen? for you have turned judgment into gall, and the fruit of righteousness into hemlock:[13] You which rejoice in a thing of nothing, which say, Have we not taken to us horns by our own strength?[14] But, behold, I will raise up against you a nation, O house of Israel, says the LORD the God of hosts; and they shall afflict you from the entering in of Hemath to the river of the wilderness.

[1] Thus has the Lord GOD showed to me; and, behold, he formed grasshoppers in the beginning of the shooting up of the latter growth; and, see, it was the latter growth after the king's mowings.

[2] And it came to pass, that when they had made an end of eating the grass of the land, then I said, O Lord GOD, forgive, I beseech you: by whom shall Jacob arise? for he is small.[3] The LORD repented for this: It shall not be, says the LORD. ¶[4] Thus has the Lord GOD showed to me: and, behold, the Lord GOD called to contend by fire, and it devoured the great deep, and did eat up a part.[5] Then said I, O Lord GOD, cease, I beseech you: by whom shall Jacob arise? for he is small.[6] The LORD repented for this: This also shall not be, says the Lord GOD. ¶[7] Thus he showed me: and, behold, the LORD stood on a wall made by a plumb line, with a plumb line in his hand.[8] And the LORD said to me, Amos, what see you? And I said, A plumb line. Then said the LORD, Behold, I will set a plumb line in the middle of my people Israel: I will not again pass by them any more:[9] And the high places of Isaac shall be desolate, and the sanctuaries of Israel shall be laid waste; and I will rise against the house of Jeroboam with the sword. ¶[10] Then Amaziah the priest of Bethel sent to Jeroboam king of Israel, saying, Amos has conspired against you in the middle of the house of Israel: the land is not able to bear all his words.[11] For thus Amos says, Jeroboam shall die by the sword, and Israel shall surely be led away captive out of their own land.[12] Also Amaziah said to Amos, O you seer, go, flee you away into the land of Judah, and there eat bread, and prophesy there:[13] But prophesy not again any more at Bethel: for it is the king's chapel, and it is the king's court. ¶[14] Then answered Amos, and said to Amaziah, I was no prophet, neither was I a prophet's son; but I was an herdsman, and a gatherer of sycomore fruit:[15] And the LORD took me as I followed the flock, and the LORD said to me, Go, prophesy to my people Israel. ¶[16] Now therefore hear you the word of the LORD: You say, Prophesy not against Israel, and drop not your word against the house of Isaac.[17] Therefore thus says the LORD; Your wife shall be an harlot in the city, and your sons and your daughters shall fall by the sword, and your land shall be divided by line; and you shall die in a polluted land: and Israel shall surely go into captivity forth of his land.

[1] Thus has the Lord GOD showed to me: and behold a basket of summer fruit.

[2] And he said, Amos, what see you? And I said, A basket of summer fruit. Then said the LORD to me, The end is come on my people of Israel; I will not again pass by them any more.[3] And the songs of the temple shall be howlings in that day, says the Lord GOD: there shall be many dead bodies in every place; they shall cast them forth with silence. ¶[4] Hear this, O you that swallow up the needy, even to make the poor of the land to fail,[5] Saying, When will the new moon be gone, that we may sell corn? and the sabbath, that we may set forth wheat, making the ephah small, and the shekel great, and falsifying the balances by deceit?[6] That we may buy the poor for silver, and the needy for a pair of shoes; yes, and sell the refuse of the wheat?[7] The LORD has sworn by the excellency of Jacob, Surely I will never forget any of their works.[8] Shall not the land tremble for this, and every one mourn that dwells therein? and it shall rise up wholly as a flood; and it shall be cast out and drowned, as by the flood of Egypt.[9] And it shall come to pass in that day, says the Lord GOD, that I will cause the sun to go down at noon, and I will darken the earth in the clear day:[10] And I will turn your feasts into mourning, and all your songs into lamentation; and I will bring up sackcloth on all loins, and baldness on every head; and I will make it as the mourning of an only son, and the end thereof as a bitter day. ¶[11] Behold, the days come, says the Lord GOD, that I will send a famine in the land, not a famine of bread, nor a thirst for water, but of hearing the words of the LORD:[12] And they shall wander from sea to sea, and from the north even to the east, they shall run to and fro to seek the word of the LORD, and shall not find it.[13] In that day shall the fair virgins and young men faint for thirst.[14] They that swear by the sin of Samaria, and say, Your god, O Dan, lives; and, The manner of Beersheba lives; even they shall fall, and never rise up again.

[1] I saw the LORD standing on the altar: and he said, Smite the lintel of the door, that the posts may shake: and cut them in the head, all of them; and I will slay the last of them with the sword: he that flees of them shall not flee away, and he that escapes of them shall not be delivered.

[2] Though they dig into hell, there shall my hand take them; though they climb up to heaven, there will I bring them down:[3] And though they hide themselves in the top of Carmel, I will search and take them out there; and though they be hid from my sight in the bottom of the sea, there will I command the serpent, and he shall bite them:[4] And though they go into captivity before their enemies, there will I command the sword, and it shall slay them: and I will set my eyes on them for evil, and not for good.[5] And the Lord GOD of hosts is he that touches the land, and it shall melt, and all that dwell therein shall mourn: and it shall rise up wholly like a flood; and shall be drowned, as by the flood of Egypt.[6] It is he that builds his stories in the heaven, and has founded his troop in the earth; he that calls for the waters of the sea, and pours them out on the face of the earth: The LORD is his name.[7] Are you not as children of the Ethiopians to me, O children of Israel? says the LORD. Have not I brought up Israel out of the land of Egypt? and the Philistines from Caphtor, and the Syrians from Kir?[8] Behold, the eyes of the Lord GOD are on the sinful kingdom, and I will destroy it from off the face of the earth; saving that I will not utterly destroy the house of Jacob, says the LORD.[9] For, see, I will command, and I will sift the house of Israel among all nations, like as corn is sifted in a sieve, yet shall not the least grain fall on the earth.[10] All the sinners of my people shall die by the sword, which say, The evil shall not overtake nor prevent us. ¶[11] In that day will I raise up the tabernacle of David that is fallen, and close up the breaches thereof; and I will raise up his ruins, and I will build it as in the days of old:[12] That they may possess the remnant of Edom, and of all the heathen, which are called by my name, says the LORD that does this.[13] Behold, the days come, says the LORD, that the plowman shall overtake the reaper, and the treader of grapes him that sows seed; and the mountains shall drop sweet wine, and all the hills shall melt.[14] And I will bring again the captivity of my people of Israel, and they shall build the waste cities, and inhabit them; and they shall plant vineyards, and drink the wine thereof; they shall also make gardens, and eat the fruit of them.[15] And I will plant them on their land, and they shall no more be pulled up out of their land which I have given them, says the LORD your God.

Obadiah

An Introduction to the Book of Obadiah

Consists of one chapter, “concerning Edom,” its impending doom (1:1-16), and the restoration of Israel (1:17-21). This is the shortest book of the Old Testament.

There are on record the account of four captures of Jerusalem, (1) by Shishak in the reign of Rehoboam (1 Kings 14:25); (2) by the Philistines and Arabians in the reign of Jehoram (2 Chr. 21:16); (3) by Joash, the king of Israel, in the reign of Amaziah (2 Kings 14:13); and (4) by the Babylonians, when Jerusalem was taken and destroyed by Nebuchadnezzar (B.C. 586). Obadiah (1:11-14) speaks of this capture as a thing past. He sees the calamity as having already come on Jerusalem, and the Edomites as joining their forces with those of the Chaldeans in bringing about the degradation and ruin of Israel. We do not indeed read that the Edomites actually took part with the Chaldeans, but the probabilities are that they did so, and this explains the words of Obadiah in denouncing against Edom the judgments of God. The date of his prophecies was thus in or about the year of the destruction of Jerusalem.

Edom is the type of Israel’s and of God’s last foe (Isa. 63:1-4). These will finally all be vanquished, and the kingdom will be the Lord’s (comp. Ps. 22:28).

Obadiah

[1] The vision of Obadiah. Thus says the Lord GOD concerning Edom; We have heard a rumor from the LORD, and an ambassador is sent among the heathen, Arise you, and let us rise up against her in battle.

[2] Behold, I have made you small among the heathen: you are greatly despised. ¶[3] The pride of your heart has deceived you, you that dwell in the clefts of the rock, whose habitation is high; that says in his heart, Who shall bring me down to the ground?[4] Though you exalt yourself as the eagle, and though you set your nest among the stars, there will I bring you down, says the LORD.[5] If thieves came to you, if robbers by night, (how are you cut off!) would they not have stolen till they had enough? if the grape gatherers came to you, would they not leave some grapes?[6] How are the things of Esau searched out! how are his hidden things sought up![7] All the men of your confederacy have brought you even to the border: the men that were at peace with you have deceived you, and prevailed against you; they that eat your bread have laid a wound under you: there is none understanding in him.[8] Shall I not in that day, says the LORD, even destroy the wise men out of Edom, and understanding out of the mount of Esau?[9] And your mighty men, O Teman, shall be dismayed, to the end that every one of the mount of Esau may be cut off by slaughter. ¶[10] For your violence against your brother Jacob shame shall cover you, and you shall be cut off for ever.[11] In the day that you stood on the other side, in the day that the strangers carried away captive his forces, and foreigners entered into his gates, and cast lots on Jerusalem, even you were as one of them.[12] But you should not have looked on the day of your brother in the day that he became a stranger; neither should you have rejoiced over the children of Judah in the day of their destruction; neither should you have spoken proudly in the day of distress.[13] You should not have entered into the gate of my people in the day of their calamity; yes, you should not have looked on their affliction in the day of their calamity, nor have laid hands on their substance in the day of their calamity;[14] Neither should you have stood in the crossway, to cut off those of his that did escape; neither should you have delivered up those of his that did remain in the day of distress.[15] For the day of the LORD is near on all the heathen: as you have done, it shall be done to you: your reward shall return on your own head.[16] For as you have drunk on my holy mountain, so shall all the heathen drink continually, yes, they shall drink, and they shall swallow down, and they shall be as though they had not been. ¶[17] But on mount Zion shall be deliverance, and there shall be holiness; and the house of Jacob shall possess their possessions.[18] And the house of Jacob shall be a fire, and the house of Joseph a flame, and the house of Esau for stubble, and they shall kindle in them, and devour them; and there shall not be any remaining of the house of Esau; for the LORD has spoken it.[19] And they of the south shall possess the mount of Esau; and they of the plain the Philistines: and they shall possess the fields of Ephraim, and the fields of Samaria: and Benjamin shall possess Gilead.[20] And the captivity of this host of the children of Israel shall possess that of the Canaanites, even to Zarephath; and the captivity of Jerusalem, which is in Sepharad, shall possess the cities of the south.[21] And saviors shall come up on mount Zion to judge the mount of Esau; and the kingdom shall be the LORD's.

Jonah

An Introduction to the Book of Jonah

This book professes to give an account of what actually took place in the experience of the prophet. Some critics have sought to interpret the book as a parable or allegory, and not as a history. They have done so for various reasons. Thus (1) some reject it on the ground that the miraculous element enters so largely into it, and that it is not prophetical but narrative in its form; (2) others, denying the possibility of miracles altogether, hold that therefore it cannot be true history.

Jonah and his story is referred to by our Lord (Matt. 12:39, 40; Luke 11:29), a fact to which the greatest weight must be attached. It is impossible to interpret this reference on any other theory. This one argument is of sufficient importance to settle the whole question. No theories devised for the purpose of getting rid of difficulties can stand against such a proof that the book is a veritable history.

There is every reason to believe that this book was written by Jonah himself. It gives an account of (1) his divine commission to go to Nineveh, his disobedience, and the punishment following (1:1-17); (2) his prayer and miraculous deliverance (1:17-2:10); (3) the second commission given to him, and his prompt obedience in delivering the message from God, and its results in the repentance of the Ninevites, and God's long-sparing mercy toward them (ch. 3); (4) Jonah's displeasure at God's merciful decision, and the rebuke tendered to the impatient prophet (ch. 4). Nineveh was spared after Jonah's mission for more than a century. The history of Jonah may well be regarded "as a part of that great onward movement which was before the Law and under the Law; which gained strength and volume as the fulness of the times drew near.", Perowne's Jonah.

[1] Now the word of the LORD came to Jonah the son of Amittai, saying,

[2] Arise, go to Nineveh, that great city, and cry against it; for their wickedness is come up before me.[3] But Jonah rose up to flee to Tarshish from the presence of the LORD, and went down to Joppa; and he found a ship going to Tarshish: so he paid the fare thereof, and went down into it, to go with them to Tarshish from the presence of the LORD. ¶[4] But the LORD sent out a great wind into the sea, and there was a mighty tempest in the sea, so that the ship was like to be broken.[5] Then the mariners were afraid, and cried every man to his god, and cast forth the wares that were in the ship into the sea, to lighten it of them. But Jonah was gone down into the sides of the ship; and he lay, and was fast asleep.[6] So the shipmaster came to him, and said to him, What mean you, O sleeper? arise, call on your God, if so be that God will think on us, that we perish not.[7] And they said every one to his fellow, Come, and let us cast lots, that we may know for whose cause this evil is on us. So they cast lots, and the lot fell on Jonah.[8] Then said they to him, Tell us, we pray you, for whose cause this evil is on us; What is your occupation? and from where come you? what is your country? and of what people are you?[9] And he said to them, I am an Hebrew; and I fear the LORD, the God of heaven, which has made the sea and the dry land.[10] Then were the men exceedingly afraid, and said to him. Why have you done this? For the men knew that he fled from the presence of the LORD, because he had told them. ¶[11] Then said they to him, What shall we do to you, that the sea may be calm to us? for the sea worked, and was tempestuous.[12] And he said to them, Take me up, and cast me forth into the sea; so shall the sea be calm to you: for I know that for my sake this great tempest is on you.[13] Nevertheless the men rowed hard to bring it to the land; but they could not: for the sea worked, and was tempestuous against them.[14] Why they cried to the LORD, and said, We beseech you, O LORD, we beseech you, let us not perish for this man's life, and lay not on us innocent blood: for you, O LORD, have done as it pleased you.[15] So they look up Jonah, and cast him forth into the sea: and the sea ceased from her raging.[16] Then the men feared the LORD exceedingly, and offered a sacrifice to the LORD, and made vows. ¶[17] Now the LORD had prepared a great fish to swallow up Jonah. And Jonah was in the belly of the fish three days and three nights.

[1] Then Jonah prayed to the LORD his God out of the fish's belly,

[2] And said, I cried by reason of my affliction to the LORD, and he heard me; out of the belly of hell cried I, and you heard my voice.[3] For you had cast me into the deep, in the middle of the seas; and the floods compassed me about: all your billows and your waves passed over me.[4] Then I said, I am cast out of your sight; yet I will look again toward your holy temple.[5] The waters compassed me about, even to the soul: the depth closed me round about, the weeds were wrapped about my head.[6] I went down to the bottoms of the mountains; the earth with her bars was about me for ever: yet have you brought up my life from corruption, O LORD my God.[7] When my soul fainted within me I remembered the LORD: and my prayer came in to you, into your holy temple.[8] They that observe lying vanities forsake their own mercy.[9] But I will sacrifice to you with the voice of thanksgiving; I will pay that that I have vowed. Salvation is of the LORD. ¶[10] And the LORD spoke to the fish, and it vomited out Jonah on the dry land.

[1] And the word of the LORD came to Jonah the second time, saying,

[2] Arise, go to Nineveh, that great city, and preach to it the preaching that I bid you.[3] So Jonah arose, and went to Nineveh, according to the word of the LORD. Now Nineveh was an exceeding great city of three days' journey.[4] And Jonah began to enter into the city a day's journey, and he cried, and said, Yet forty days, and Nineveh shall be overthrown. ¶[5] So the people of Nineveh believed God, and proclaimed a fast, and put on sackcloth, from the greatest of them even to the least of them.[6] For word came to the king of Nineveh, and he arose from his throne, and he laid his robe from him, and covered him with sackcloth, and sat in ashes.[7] And he caused it to be proclaimed and published through Nineveh by the decree of the king and his nobles, saying, Let neither man nor beast, herd nor flock, taste any thing: let them not feed, nor drink water:[8] But let man and beast be covered with sackcloth, and cry mightily to God: yes, let them turn every one from his evil way, and from the violence that is in their hands.[9] Who can tell if God will turn and repent, and turn away from his fierce anger, that we perish not? ¶[10] And God saw their works, that they turned from their evil way; and God repented of the evil, that he had said that he would do to them; and he did it not.

[1] But it displeased Jonah exceedingly, and he was very angry.

[2] And he prayed to the LORD, and said, I pray you, O LORD, was not this my saying, when I was yet in my country? Therefore I fled before to Tarshish: for I knew that you are a gracious God, and merciful, slow to anger, and of great kindness, and repent you of the evil.[3] Therefore now, O LORD, take, I beseech you, my life from me; for it is better for me to die than to live. ¶[4] Then said the LORD, Do you well to be angry?[5] So Jonah went out of the city, and sat on the east side of the city, and there made him a booth, and sat under it in the shadow, till he might see what would become of the city.[6] And the LORD God prepared a gourd, and made it to come up over Jonah, that it might be a shadow over his head, to deliver him from his grief. So Jonah was exceeding glad of the gourd.[7] But God prepared a worm when the morning rose the next day, and it smote the gourd that it withered.[8] And it came to pass, when the sun did arise, that God prepared a vehement east wind; and the sun beat on the head of Jonah, that he fainted, and wished in himself to die, and said, It is better for me to die than to live.[9] And God said to Jonah, Do you well to be angry for the gourd? And he said, I do well to be angry, even to death.[10] Then said the LORD, You have had pity on the gourd, for the which you have not labored, neither made it grow; which came up in a night, and perished in a night:[11] And should not I spare Nineveh, that great city, wherein are more than six score thousand persons that cannot discern between their right hand and their left hand; and also much cattle?

Micah

An Introduction to the Book of Micah

The sixth in order of the so-called minor prophets. The superscription to this book states that the prophet exercised his office in the reigns of Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah. If we reckon from the beginning of Jotham's reign to the end of Hezekiah's (B.C. 759-698), then he ministered for about fifty-nine years; but if we reckon from the death of Jotham to the accession of Hezekiah (B.C. 743-726), his ministry lasted only sixteen years. It has been noticed as remarkable that this book commences with the last words of another prophet, "Micaiah the son of Imlah" (1 Kings 22:28): "Hearken, O people, every one of you."

The book consists of three sections, each commencing with a rebuke, "Hear ye," etc., and closing with a promise, (1) ch. 1; 2; (2) ch. 3-5, especially addressed to the princes and heads of the people; (3) ch. 6-7, in which Jehovah is represented as holding a controversy with his people: the whole concluding with a song of triumph at the great deliverance which the Lord will achieve for his people. The closing verse is quoted in the song of Zacharias (Luke 1:72, 73). The prediction regarding the place "where Christ should be born," one of the most remarkable Messianic prophecies (Micah 5:2), is quoted in Matt. 2:6.

There are the following references to this book in the New Testament:

5:2, with Matt. 2:6; John 7:42. 7:6, with Matt. 10:21, 35, 36. 7:20, with Luke 1:72, 73.

[1] The word of the LORD that came to Micah the Morasthite in the days of Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, kings of Judah, which he saw concerning Samaria and Jerusalem.

[2] Hear, all you people; listen, O earth, and all that therein is: and let the Lord GOD be witness against you, the LORD from his holy temple.[3] For, behold, the LORD comes forth out of his place, and will come down, and tread on the high places of the earth.[4] And the mountains shall be molten under him, and the valleys shall be cleft, as wax before the fire, and as the waters that are poured down a steep place.[5] For the transgression of Jacob is all this, and for the sins of the house of Israel. What is the transgression of Jacob? is it not Samaria? and what are the high places of Judah? are they not Jerusalem?[6] Therefore I will make Samaria as an heap of the field, and as plantings of a vineyard: and I will pour down the stones thereof into the valley, and I will discover the foundations thereof.[7] And all the graven images thereof shall be beaten to pieces, and all the hires thereof shall be burned with the fire, and all the idols thereof will I lay desolate: for she gathered it of the hire of an harlot, and they shall return to the hire of an harlot.[8] Therefore I will wail and howl, I will go stripped and naked: I will make a wailing like the dragons, and mourning as the owls.[9] For her wound is incurable; for it is come to Judah; he is come to the gate of my people, even to Jerusalem. ¶[10] Declare you it not at Gath, weep you not at all: in the house of Aphrah roll yourself in the dust.[11] Pass you away, you inhabitant of Saphir, having your shame naked: the inhabitant of Zaanan came not forth in the mourning of Bethezel; he shall receive of you his standing.[12] For the inhabitant of Maroth waited carefully for good: but evil came down from the LORD to the gate of Jerusalem.[13] O you inhabitant of Lachish, bind the chariot to the swift beast: she is the beginning of the sin to the daughter of Zion: for the transgressions of Israel were found in you.[14] Therefore shall you give presents to Moreshethgath: the houses of Achzib shall be a lie to the kings of Israel.[15] Yet will I bring an heir to you, O inhabitant of Mareshah: he shall come to Adullam the glory of Israel.[16] Make you bald, and poll you for your delicate children; enlarge your baldness as the eagle; for they are gone into captivity from you.

[1] Woe to them that devise iniquity, and work evil on their beds! when the morning is light, they practice it, because it is in the power of their hand.

[2] And they covet fields, and take them by violence; and houses, and take them away: so they oppress a man and his house, even a man and his heritage.[3] Therefore thus says the LORD; Behold, against this family do I devise an evil, from which you shall not remove your necks; neither shall you go haughtily: for this time is evil. ¶[4] In that day shall one take up a parable against you, and lament with a doleful lamentation, and say, We be utterly spoiled: he has changed the portion of my people: how has he removed it from me! turning away he has divided our fields.[5] Therefore you shall have none that shall cast a cord by lot in the congregation of the LORD.[6] Prophesy you not, say they to them that prophesy: they shall not prophesy to them, that they shall not take shame. ¶[7] O you that are named the house of Jacob, is the spirit of the LORD straitened? are these his doings? do not my words do good to him that walks uprightly?[8] Even of late my people is risen up as an enemy: you pull off the robe with the garment from them that pass by securely as men averse from war.[9] The women of my people have you cast out from their pleasant houses; from their children have you taken away my glory for ever.[10] Arise you, and depart; for this is not your rest: because it is polluted, it shall destroy you, even with a sore destruction.[11] If a man walking in the spirit and falsehood do lie, saying, I will prophesy to you of wine and of strong drink; he shall even be the prophet of this people. ¶[12] I will surely assemble, O Jacob, all of you; I will surely gather the remnant of Israel; I will put them together as the sheep of Bozrah, as the flock in the middle of their fold: they shall make great noise by reason of the multitude of men.[13] The breaker is come up before them: they have broken up, and have passed through the gate, and are gone out by it: and their king shall pass before them, and the LORD on the head of them.

[1] And I said, Hear, I pray you, O heads of Jacob, and you princes of the house of Israel; Is it not for you to know judgment?

[2] Who hate the good, and love the evil; who pluck off their skin from off them, and their flesh from off their bones;[3] Who also eat the flesh of my people, and flay their skin from off them; and they break their bones, and chop them in pieces, as for the pot, and as flesh within the caldron.[4] Then shall they cry to the LORD, but he will not hear them: he will even hide his face from them at that time, as they have behaved themselves ill in their doings. ¶[5] Thus says the LORD concerning the prophets that make my people err, that bite with their teeth, and cry, Peace; and he that puts not into their mouths, they even prepare war against him.[6] Therefore night shall be to you, that you shall not have a vision; and it shall be dark to you, that you shall not divine; and the sun shall go down over the prophets, and the day shall be dark over them.[7] Then shall the seers be ashamed, and the diviners confounded: yes, they shall all cover their lips; for there is no answer of God. ¶[8] But truly I am full of power by the spirit of the LORD, and of judgment, and of might, to declare to Jacob his transgression, and to Israel his sin.[9] Hear this, I pray you, you heads of the house of Jacob, and princes of the house of Israel, that abhor judgment, and pervert all equity.[10] They build up Zion with blood, and Jerusalem with iniquity.[11] The heads thereof judge for reward, and the priests thereof teach for hire, and the prophets thereof divine for money: yet will they lean on the LORD, and say, Is not the LORD among us? none evil can come on us.[12] Therefore shall Zion for your sake be plowed as a field, and Jerusalem shall become heaps, and the mountain of the house as the high places of the forest.

[1] But in the last days it shall come to pass, that the mountain of the house of the LORD shall be established in the top of the mountains, and it shall be exalted above the hills; and people shall flow to it.

[2] And many nations shall come, and say, Come, and let us go up to the mountain of the LORD, and to the house of the God of Jacob; and he will teach us of his ways, and we will walk in his paths: for the law shall go forth of Zion, and the word of the LORD from Jerusalem. ¶[3] And he shall judge among many people, and rebuke strong nations afar off; and they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning hooks: nation shall not lift up a sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more.[4] But they shall sit every man under his vine and under his fig tree; and none shall make them afraid: for the mouth of the LORD of hosts has spoken it.[5] For all people will walk every one in the name of his god, and we will walk in the name of the LORD our God for ever and ever.[6] In that day, says the LORD, will I assemble her that halts, and I will gather her that is driven out, and her that I have afflicted;[7] And I will make her that halted a remnant, and her that was cast far off a strong nation: and the LORD shall reign over them in mount Zion from now on, even for ever. ¶[8] And you, O tower of the flock, the strong hold of the daughter of Zion, to you shall it come, even the first dominion; the kingdom shall come to the daughter of Jerusalem.[9] Now why do you cry out aloud? is there no king in you? is your counselor perished? for pangs have taken you as a woman in travail.[10] Be in pain, and labor to bring forth, O daughter of Zion, like a woman in travail: for now shall you go forth out of the city, and you shall dwell in the field, and you shall go even to Babylon; there shall you be delivered; there the LORD shall redeem you from the hand of your enemies. ¶[11] Now also many nations are gathered against you, that say, Let her be defiled, and let our eye look on Zion.[12] But they know not the thoughts of the LORD, neither understand they his counsel: for he shall gather them as the sheaves into the floor.[13] Arise and thresh, O daughter of Zion: for I will make your horn iron, and I will make your hoofs brass: and you shall beat in pieces many people: and I will consecrate their gain to the LORD, and their substance to the Lord of the whole earth.

[1] Now gather yourself in troops, O daughter of troops: he has laid siege against us: they shall smite the judge of Israel with a rod on the cheek.

[2] But you, Bethlehem Ephratah, though you be little among the thousands of Judah, yet out of you shall he come forth to me that is to be ruler in Israel; whose goings forth have been from of old, from everlasting.[3] Therefore will he give them up, until the time that she which travails has brought forth: then the remnant of his brothers shall return to the children of Israel. ¶[4] And he shall stand and feed in the strength of the LORD, in the majesty of the name of the LORD his God; and they shall abide: for now shall he be great to the ends of the earth.[5] And this man shall be the peace, when the Assyrian shall come into our land: and when he shall tread in our palaces, then shall we raise against him seven shepherds, and eight principal men.[6] And they shall waste the land of Assyria with the sword, and the land of Nimrod in the entrances thereof: thus shall he deliver us from the Assyrian, when he comes into our land, and when he treads within our borders.[7] And the remnant of Jacob shall be in the middle of many people as a dew from the LORD, as the showers on the grass, that tarries not for man, nor waits for the sons of men. ¶[8] And the remnant of Jacob shall be among the Gentiles in the middle of many people as a lion among the beasts of the forest, as a young lion among the flocks of sheep: who, if he go through, both treads down, and tears in pieces, and none can deliver.[9] Your hand shall be lifted up on your adversaries, and all your enemies shall be cut off.[10] And it shall come to pass in that day, says the LORD, that I will cut off your horses out of the middle of you, and I will destroy your chariots:[11] And I will cut off the cities of your land, and throw down all your strong holds:[12] And I will cut off witchcrafts out of your hand; and you shall have no more soothsayers:[13] Your graven images also will I cut off, and your standing images out of the middle of you; and you shall no more worship the work of your hands.[14] And I will pluck up your groves out of the middle of you: so will I destroy your cities.[15] And I will execute vengeance in anger and fury on the heathen, such as they have not heard.

[1] Hear you now what the LORD says; Arise, contend you before the mountains, and let the hills hear your voice.

[2] Hear you, O mountains, the LORD's controversy, and you strong foundations of the earth: for the LORD has a controversy with his people, and he will plead with Israel.[3] O my people, what have I done to you? and wherein have I wearied you? testify against me.[4] For I brought you up out of the land of Egypt, and redeemed you out of the house of servants; and I sent before you Moses, Aaron, and Miriam.[5] O my people, remember now what Balak king of Moab consulted, and what Balaam the son of Beor answered him from Shittim to Gilgal; that you may know the righteousness of the LORD. ¶[6] With which shall I come before the LORD, and bow myself before the high God? shall I come before him with burnt offerings, with calves of a year old?[7] Will the LORD be pleased with thousands of rams, or with ten thousands of rivers of oil? shall I give my firstborn for my transgression, the fruit of my body for the sin of my soul?[8] He has showed you, O man, what is good; and what does the LORD require of you, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with your God?[9] The LORD's voice cries to the city, and the man of wisdom shall see your name: hear you the rod, and who has appointed it. ¶[10] Are there yet the treasures of wickedness in the house of the wicked, and the scant measure that is abominable?[11] Shall I count them pure with the wicked balances, and with the bag of deceitful weights?[12] For the rich men thereof are full of violence, and the inhabitants thereof have spoken lies, and their tongue is deceitful in their mouth.[13] Therefore also will I make you sick in smiting you, in making you desolate because of your sins.[14] You shall eat, but not be satisfied; and your casting down shall be in the middle of you; and you shall take hold, but shall not deliver; and that which you deliver will I give up to the sword.[15] You shall sow, but you shall not reap; you shall tread the olives, but you shall not anoint you with oil; and sweet wine, but shall not drink wine. ¶[16] For the statutes of Omri are kept, and all the works of the house of Ahab, and you walk in their counsels; that I should make you a desolation, and the inhabitants thereof an hissing: therefore you shall bear the reproach of my people.

[1] Woe is me! for I am as when they have gathered the summer fruits, as the grape gleanings of the vintage: there is no cluster to eat: my soul desired the first ripe fruit.

[2] The good man is perished out of the earth: and there is none upright among men: they all lie in wait for blood; they hunt every man his brother with a net. ¶[3] That they may do evil with both hands earnestly, the prince asks, and the judge asks for a reward; and the great man, he utters his mischievous desire: so they wrap it up.[4] The best of them is as a brier: the most upright is sharper than a thorn hedge: the day of your watchmen and your visitation comes; now shall be their perplexity. ¶[5] Trust you not in a friend, put you not confidence in a guide: keep the doors of your mouth from her that lies in your bosom.[6] For the son dishonors the father, the daughter rises up against her mother, the daughter in law against her mother in law; a man's enemies are the men of his own house.[7] Therefore I will look to the LORD; I will wait for the God of my salvation: my God will hear me. ¶[8] Rejoice not against me, O my enemy: when I fall, I shall arise; when I sit in darkness, the LORD shall be a light to me.[9] I will bear the indignation of the LORD, because I have sinned against him, until he plead my cause, and execute judgment for me: he will bring me forth to the light, and I shall behold his righteousness.[10] Then she that is my enemy shall see it, and shame shall cover her which said to me, Where is the LORD your God? my eyes shall behold her: now shall she be trodden down as the mire of the streets.[11] In the day that your walls are to be built, in that day shall the decree be far removed.[12] In that day also he shall come even to you from Assyria, and from the fortified cities, and from the fortress even to the river, and from sea to sea, and from mountain to mountain.[13] Notwithstanding the land shall be desolate because of them that dwell therein, for the fruit of their doings. ¶[14] Feed your people with your rod, the flock of your heritage, which dwell solitarily in the wood, in the middle of Carmel: let them feed in Bashan and Gilead, as in the days of old.[15] According to the days of your coming out of the land of Egypt will I show to him marvelous things. ¶[16] The nations shall see and be confounded at all their might: they shall lay their hand on their mouth, their ears shall be deaf.[17] They shall lick the dust like a serpent, they shall move out of their holes like worms of the earth: they shall be afraid of the LORD our God, and shall fear because of you.[18] Who is a God like to you, that pardons iniquity, and passes by the transgression of the remnant of his heritage? he retains not his anger for ever, because he delights in mercy.[19] He will turn again, he will have compassion on us; he will subdue our iniquities; and you will cast all their sins into the depths of the sea.[20] You will perform the truth to Jacob, and the mercy to Abraham, which you have sworn to our fathers from the days of old.

Nahum

An Introduction to the Book of Nahum

Nahum prophesied, according to some, in the beginning of the reign of Ahaz (B.C. 743). Others, however, think that his prophecies are to be referred to the latter half of the reign of Hezekiah (about B.C. 709). This is the more probable opinion, internal evidences leading to that conclusion. Probably the book was written in Jerusalem (soon after B.C. 709), where he witnessed the invasion of Sennacherib and the destruction of his host (2 Kings 19:35).

The subject of this prophecy is the approaching complete and final destruction of Nineveh, the capital of the great and at that time flourishing Assyrian empire. Assur-bani-pal was at the height of his glory. Nineveh was a city of vast extent, and was then the centre of the civilzation and commerce of the world, a “bloody city all full of lies and robbery” (Nah. 3:1), for it had robbed and plundered all the neighbouring nations. It was strongly fortified on every side, bidding defiance to every enemy; yet it was to be utterly destroyed as a punishment for the great wickedness of its inhabitants.

Jonah had already uttered his message of warning, and Nahum was followed by Zephaniah, who also predicted (Zeph. 2:4-15) the destruction of the city, predictions which were remarkably fulfilled (B.C. 625) when Nineveh was destroyed apparently by fire, and the Assyrian empire came to an end, an event which changed the face of Asia. (See NINEVEH.)

[1] The burden of Nineveh. The book of the vision of Nahum the Elkoshite.

[2] God is jealous, and the LORD revenges; the LORD revenges, and is furious; the LORD will take vengeance on his adversaries, and he reserves wrath for his enemies.[3] The LORD is slow to anger, and great in power, and will not at all acquit the wicked: the LORD has his way in the whirlwind and in the storm, and the clouds are the dust of his feet.[4] He rebukes the sea, and makes it dry, and dries up all the rivers: Bashan languishes, and Carmel, and the flower of Lebanon languishes.[5] The mountains quake at him, and the hills melt, and the earth is burned at his presence, yes, the world, and all that dwell therein.[6] Who can stand before his indignation? and who can abide in the fierceness of his anger? his fury is poured out like fire, and the rocks are thrown down by him.[7] The LORD is good, a strong hold in the day of trouble; and he knows them that trust in him.[8] But with an overrunning flood he will make an utter end of the place thereof, and darkness shall pursue his enemies.[9] What do you imagine against the LORD? he will make an utter end: affliction shall not rise up the second time.[10] For while they be entwined together as thorns, and while they are drunken as drunkards, they shall be devoured as stubble fully dry.[11] There is one come out of you, that imagines evil against the LORD, a wicked counselor.[12] Thus says the LORD; Though they be quiet, and likewise many, yet thus shall they be cut down, when he shall pass through. Though I have afflicted you, I will afflict you no more.[13] For now will I break his yoke from off you, and will burst your bonds in sunder.[14] And the LORD has given a commandment concerning you, that no more of your name be sown: out of the house of your gods will I cut off the graven image and the molten image: I will make your grave; for you are vile.[15] Behold on the mountains the feet of him that brings good tidings, that publishes peace! O Judah, keep your solemn feasts, perform your vows: for the wicked shall no more pass through you; he is utterly cut off.

[1] He that dashes in pieces is come up before your face: keep the fortification, watch the way, make your loins strong, fortify your power mightily.

[2] For the LORD has turned away the excellency of Jacob, as the excellency of Israel: for the emptiers have emptied them out, and marred their vine branches.[3] The shield of his mighty men is made red, the valiant men are in scarlet: the chariots shall be with flaming torches in the day of his preparation, and the fir trees shall be terribly shaken.[4] The chariots shall rage in the streets, they shall jostle one against another in the broad ways: they shall seem like torches, they shall run like the lightning.[5] He shall recount his worthies: they shall stumble in their walk; they shall make haste to the wall thereof, and the defense shall be prepared.[6] The gates of the rivers shall be opened, and the palace shall be dissolved.[7] And Huzzab shall be led away captive, she shall be brought up, and her maids shall lead her as with the voice of doves, beating on their breasts.[8] But Nineveh is of old like a pool of water: yet they shall flee away. Stand, stand, shall they cry; but none shall look back.[9] Take you the spoil of silver, take the spoil of gold: for there is none end of the store and glory out of all the pleasant furniture.[10] She is empty, and void, and waste: and the heart melts, and the knees smite together, and much pain is in all loins, and the faces of them all gather blackness.[11] Where is the dwelling of the lions, and the feeding place of the young lions, where the lion, even the old lion, walked, and the lion's whelp, and none made them afraid?[12] The lion did tear in pieces enough for his whelps, and strangled for his lionesses, and filled his holes with prey, and his dens with shred.[13] Behold, I am against you, says the LORD of hosts, and I will burn her chariots in the smoke, and the sword shall devour your young lions: and I will cut off your prey from the earth, and the voice of your messengers shall no more be heard.

[1] Woe to the bloody city! it is all full of lies and robbery; the prey departs not;

[2] The noise of a whip, and the noise of the rattling of the wheels, and of the prancing horses, and of the jumping chariots.[3] The horseman lifts up both the bright sword and the glittering spear: and there is a multitude of slain, and a great number of carcasses; and there is none end of their corpses; they stumble on their corpses:[4] Because of the multitude of the prostitutions of the well favored harlot, the mistress of witchcrafts, that sells nations through her prostitutions, and families through her witchcrafts.[5] Behold, I am against you, says the LORD of hosts; and I will discover your skirts on your face, and I will show the nations your nakedness, and the kingdoms your shame.[6] And I will cast abominable filth on you, and make you vile, and will set you as a spectacle.[7] And it shall come to pass, that all they that look on you shall flee from you, and say, Nineveh is laid waste: who will bemoan her? from where shall I seek comforters for you?[8] Are you better than populous No, that was situate among the rivers, that had the waters round about it, whose rampart was the sea, and her wall was from the sea?[9] Ethiopia and Egypt were her strength, and it was infinite; Put and Lubim were your helpers.[10] Yet was she carried away, she went into captivity: her young children also were dashed in pieces at the top of all the streets: and they cast lots for her honorable men, and all her great men were bound in chains.[11] You also shall be drunken: you shall be hid, you also shall seek strength because of the enemy.[12] All your strong holds shall be like fig trees with the first ripe figs: if they be shaken, they shall even fall into the mouth of the eater.[13] Behold, your people in the middle of you are women: the gates of your land shall be set wide open to your enemies: the fire shall devour your bars.[14] Draw you waters for the siege, fortify your strong holds: go into clay, and tread the mortar, make strong the brick kiln.[15] There shall the fire devour you; the sword shall cut you off, it shall eat you up like the cankerworm: make yourself many as the cankerworm, make yourself many as the locusts.[16] You have multiplied your merchants above the stars of heaven: the cankerworm spoils, and flees away.[17] Your crowned are as the locusts, and your captains as the great grasshoppers, which camp in the hedges in the cold day, but when the sun rises they flee away, and their place is not known where they are.[18] Your shepherds slumber, O king of Assyria: your nobles shall dwell in the dust: your people is scattered on the mountains, and no man gathers them.[19] There is no healing of your bruise; your wound is grievous: all that hear the bruit of you shall clap the hands over you: for on whom has not your wickedness passed continually?

Habakkuk

An Introduction to the Book of Habakkuk

Were probably written about B.C. 650-627, or, as some think, a few years later. This book consists of three chapters, the contents of which are thus comprehensively described: “When the prophet in spirit saw the formidable power of the Chaldeans approaching and menacing his land, and saw the great evils they would cause in Judea, he bore his complaints and doubts before Jehovah, the just and the pure (1:2-17). And on this occasion the future punishment of the Chaldeans was revealed to him (2). In the third chapter a presentiment of the destruction of his country, in the inspired heart of the prophet, contends with his hope that the enemy would be chastised.” The third chapter is a sublime song dedicated “to the chief musician,” and therefore intended apparently to be used in the worship of God. It is “unequalled in majesty and splendour of language and imagery.”

The passage in 2:4, “The just shall live by his faith,” is quoted by the apostle in Rom. 1:17. (Comp. Gal. 3:12; Heb. 10:37, 38.)

[1] The burden which Habakkuk the prophet did see.

[2] O LORD, how long shall I cry, and you will not hear! even cry out to you of violence, and you will not save![3] Why do you show me iniquity, and cause me to behold grievance? for spoiling and violence are before me: and there are that raise up strife and contention.[4] Therefore the law is slacked, and judgment does never go forth: for the wicked does compass about the righteous; therefore wrong judgment proceeds. ¶[5] Behold you among the heathen, and regard, and wonder marvelously: for I will work a work in your days which you will not believe, though it be told you.[6] For, see, I raise up the Chaldeans, that bitter and hasty nation, which shall march through the breadth of the land, to possess the dwelling places that are not theirs.[7] They are terrible and dreadful: their judgment and their dignity shall proceed of themselves.[8] Their horses also are swifter than the leopards, and are more fierce than the evening wolves: and their horsemen shall spread themselves, and their horsemen shall come from far; they shall fly as the eagle that hastens to eat.[9] They shall come all for violence: their faces shall sup up as the east wind, and they shall gather the captivity as the sand.[10] And they shall scoff at the kings, and the princes shall be a scorn to them: they shall deride every strong hold; for they shall heap dust, and take it.[11] Then shall his mind change, and he shall pass over, and offend, imputing this his power to his god. ¶[12] Are you not from everlasting, O LORD my God, my Holy One? we shall not die. O LORD, you have ordained them for judgment; and, O mighty God, you have established them for correction.[13] You are of purer eyes than to behold evil, and can not look on iniquity: why look you on them that deal treacherously, and hold your tongue when the wicked devours the man that is more righteous than he?[14] And make men as the fishes of the sea, as the creeping things, that have no ruler over them?[15] They take up all of them with the angle, they catch them in their net, and gather them in their drag: therefore they rejoice and are glad.[16] Therefore they sacrifice to their net, and burn incense to their drag; because by them their portion is fat, and their meat plenteous.[17] Shall they therefore empty their net, and not spare continually to slay the nations?

[1] I will stand on my watch, and set me on the tower, and will watch to see what he will say to me, and what I shall answer when I am reproved.

[2] And the LORD answered me, and said, Write the vision, and make it plain on tables, that he may run that reads it.[3] For the vision is yet for an appointed time, but at the end it shall speak, and not lie: though it tarry, wait for it; because it will surely come, it will not tarry.[4] Behold, his soul which is lifted up is not upright in him: but the just shall live by his faith. ¶[5] Yes also, because he transgresses by wine, he is a proud man, neither keeps at home, who enlarges his desire as hell, and is as death, and cannot be satisfied, but gathers to him all nations, and heaps to him all people:[6] Shall not all these take up a parable against him, and a taunting proverb against him, and say, Woe to him that increases that which is not his! how long? and to him that lades himself with thick clay![7] Shall they not rise up suddenly that shall bite you, and awake that shall vex you, and you shall be for booties to them?[8] Because you have spoiled many nations, all the remnant of the people shall spoil you; because of men's blood, and for the violence of the land, of the city, and of all that dwell therein. ¶[9] Woe to him that covets an evil covetousness to his house, that he may set his nest on high, that he may be delivered from the power of evil![10] You have consulted shame to your house by cutting off many people, and have sinned against your soul.[11] For the stone shall cry out of the wall, and the beam out of the timber shall answer it. ¶[12] Woe to him that builds a town with blood, and establishes a city by iniquity![13] Behold, is it not of the LORD of hosts that the people shall labor in the very fire, and the people shall weary themselves for very vanity?[14] For the earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the LORD, as the waters cover the sea. ¶[15] Woe to him that gives his neighbor drink, that put your bottle to him, and make him drunken also, that you may look on their nakedness![16] You are filled with shame for glory: drink you also, and let your foreskin be uncovered: the cup of the LORD's right hand shall be turned to you, and shameful spewing shall be on your glory.[17] For the violence of Lebanon shall cover you, and the spoil of beasts, which made them afraid, because of men's blood, and for the violence of the land, of the city, and of all that dwell therein. ¶[18] What profits the graven image that the maker thereof has graven it; the molten image, and a teacher of lies, that the maker of his work trusts therein, to make dumb idols?[19] Woe to him that says to the wood, Awake; to the dumb stone, Arise, it shall teach! Behold, it is laid over with gold and silver, and there is no breath at all in the middle of it.[20] But the LORD is in his holy temple: let all the earth keep silence before him.

[1] A prayer of Habakkuk the prophet on Shigionoth.

[2] O LORD, I have heard your speech, and was afraid: O LORD, revive your work in the middle of the years, in the middle of the years make known; in wrath remember mercy.[3] God came from Teman, and the Holy One from mount Paran. Selah. His glory covered the heavens, and the earth was full of his praise.[4] And his brightness was as the light; he had horns coming out of his hand: and there was the hiding of his power.[5] Before him went the pestilence, and burning coals went forth at his feet.[6] He stood, and measured the earth: he beheld, and drove asunder the nations; and the everlasting mountains were scattered, the perpetual hills did bow: his ways are everlasting.[7] I saw the tents of Cushan in affliction: and the curtains of the land of Midian did tremble.[8] Was the LORD displeased against the rivers? was your anger against the rivers? was your wrath against the sea, that you did ride on your horses and your chariots of salvation?[9] Your bow was made quite naked, according to the oaths of the tribes, even your word. Selah. You did split the earth with rivers.[10] The mountains saw you, and they trembled: the overflowing of the water passed by: the deep uttered his voice, and lifted up his hands on high.[11] The sun and moon stood still in their habitation: at the light of your arrows they went, and at the shining of your glittering spear.[12] You did march through the land in indignation, you did thresh the heathen in anger.[13] You went forth for the salvation of your people, even for salvation with your anointed; you wounded the head out of the house of the wicked, by discovering the foundation to the neck. Selah.[14] You did strike through with his staves the head of his villages: they came out as a whirlwind to scatter me: their rejoicing was as to devour the poor secretly.[15] You did walk through the sea with your horses, through the heap of great waters.[16] When I heard, my belly trembled; my lips quivered at the voice: rottenness entered into my bones, and I trembled in myself, that I might rest in the day of trouble: when he comes up to the people, he will invade them with his troops. ¶[17] Although the fig tree shall not blossom, neither shall fruit be in the vines; the labor of the olive shall fail, and the fields shall yield no meat; the flock shall be cut off from the fold, and there shall be no herd in the stalls:[18] Yet I will rejoice in the LORD, I will joy in the God of my salvation.[19] The LORD God is my strength, and he will make my feet like hinds' feet, and he will make me to walk on my high places. To the chief singer on my stringed instruments.

Zephaniah

An Introduction to the Book of Zephaniah

Jehovah has concealed, or Jehovah of darkness. (1.) The son of Cushi, and great-grandson of Hezekiah, and the ninth in the order of the minor prophets. He prophesied in the days of Josiah, king of Judah (B.C. 641-610), and was contemporary with Jeremiah, with whom he had much in common. The book of his prophecies consists of:

(a) An introduction (1:1-6), announcing the judgment of the world, and the judgment upon Israel, because of their transgressions.

(b) The description of the judgment (1:7-18).

(c) An exhortation to seek God while there is still time (2:1-3).

(d) The announcement of judgment on the heathen (2:4-15).

(e) The hopeless misery of Jerusalem (3:1-7).

(f) The promise of salvation (3:8-20).

(2.) The son of Maaseiah, the "second priest" in the reign of Zedekiah, often mentioned in Jeremiah as having been sent from the king to inquire (Jer. 21:1) regarding the coming woes which he had denounced, and to entreat the prophet's intercession that the judgment threatened might be averted (Jer. 29:25, 26, 29; 37:3; 52:24). He, along with some other captive Jews, was put to death by the king of Babylon "at Riblah in the land of Hamath" (2 Kings 25:21).

(3.) A Kohathite ancestor of the prophet Samuel (1 Chr. 6:36).

(4.) The father of Josiah, the priest who dwelt in Jerusalem when Darius issued the decree that the temple should be rebuilt (Zech. 6:10).

[1] The word of the LORD which came to Zephaniah the son of Cushi, the son of Gedaliah, the son of Amariah, the son of Hizkiah, in the days of Josiah the son of Amon, king of Judah.

[2] I will utterly consume all things from off the land, says the LORD.[3] I will consume man and beast; I will consume the fowls of the heaven, and the fishes of the sea, and the stumbling blocks with the wicked: and I will cut off man from off the land, says the LORD.[4] I will also stretch out my hand on Judah, and on all the inhabitants of Jerusalem; and I will cut off the remnant of Baal from this place, and the name of the Chemarims with the priests;[5] And them that worship the host of heaven on the housetops; and them that worship and that swear by the LORD, and that swear by Malcham;[6] And them that are turned back from the LORD; and those that have not sought the LORD, nor inquired for him.[7] Hold your peace at the presence of the Lord GOD: for the day of the LORD is at hand: for the LORD has prepared a sacrifice, he has bid his guests.[8] And it shall come to pass in the day of the LORD's sacrifice, that I will punish the princes, and the king's children, and all such as are clothed with strange apparel.[9] In the same day also will I punish all those that leap on the threshold, which fill their masters' houses with violence and deceit.[10] And it shall come to pass in that day, says the LORD, that there shall be the noise of a cry from the fish gate, and an howling from the second, and a great crashing from the hills.[11] Howl, you inhabitants of Maktesh, for all the merchant people are cut down; all they that bear silver are cut off.[12] And it shall come to pass at that time, that I will search Jerusalem with candles, and punish the men that are settled on their lees: that say in their heart, The LORD will not do good, neither will he do evil.[13] Therefore their goods shall become a booty, and their houses a desolation: they shall also build houses, but not inhabit them; and they shall plant vineyards, but not drink the wine thereof.[14] The great day of the LORD is near, it is near, and hastens greatly, even the voice of the day of the LORD: the mighty man shall cry there bitterly.[15] That day is a day of wrath, a day of trouble and distress, a day of devastation and desolation, a day of darkness and gloominess, a day of clouds and thick darkness,[16] A day of the trumpet and alarm against the fenced cities, and against the high towers.[17] And I will bring distress on men, that they shall walk like blind men, because they have sinned against the LORD: and their blood shall be poured out as dust, and their flesh as the dung.[18] Neither their silver nor their gold shall be able to deliver them in the day of the LORD's wrath; but the whole land shall be devoured by the fire of his jealousy: for he shall make even a speedy riddance of all them that dwell in the land.

[2] Before the decree bring forth, before the day pass as the chaff, before the fierce anger of the LORD come on you, before the day of the LORD's anger come on you.[3] Seek you the LORD, all you meek of the earth, which have worked his judgment; seek righteousness, seek meekness: it may be you shall be hid in the day of the LORD's anger. ¶[4] For Gaza shall be forsaken, and Ashkelon a desolation: they shall drive out Ashdod at the noon day, and Ekron shall be rooted up.[5] Woe to the inhabitants of the sea coast, the nation of the Cherethites! the word of the LORD is against you; O Canaan, the land of the Philistines, I will even destroy you, that there shall be no inhabitant.[6] And the sea coast shall be dwellings and cottages for shepherds, and folds for flocks.[7] And the coast shall be for the remnant of the house of Judah; they shall feed thereupon: in the houses of Ashkelon shall they lie down in the evening: for the LORD their God shall visit them, and turn away their captivity. ¶[8] I have heard the reproach of Moab, and the revilings of the children of Ammon, whereby they have reproached my people, and magnified themselves against their border.[9] Therefore as I live, says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, Surely Moab shall be as Sodom, and the children of Ammon as Gomorrah, even the breeding of nettles, and salt pits, and a perpetual desolation: the residue of my people shall spoil them, and the remnant of my people shall possess them.[10] This shall they have for their pride, because they have reproached and magnified themselves against the people of the LORD of hosts.[11] The LORD will be terrible to them: for he will famish all the gods of the earth; and men shall worship him, every one from his place, even all the isles of the heathen. ¶[12] You Ethiopians also, you shall be slain by my sword.[13] And he will stretch out his hand against the north, and destroy Assyria; and will make Nineveh a desolation, and dry like a wilderness.[14] And flocks shall lie down in the middle of her, all the beasts of the nations: both the cormorant and the bittern shall lodge in the upper lintels of it; their voice shall sing in the windows; desolation shall be in the thresholds; for he shall uncover the cedar work.[15] This is the rejoicing city that dwelled carelessly, that said in her heart, I am, and there is none beside me: how is she become a desolation, a place for beasts to lie down in! every one that passes by her shall hiss, and wag his hand.

[1] Woe to her that is filthy and polluted, to the oppressing city!

[2] She obeyed not the voice; she received not correction; she trusted not in the LORD; she drew not near to her God.[3] Her princes within her are roaring lions; her judges are evening wolves; they gnaw not the bones till the morrow.[4] Her prophets are light and treacherous persons: her priests have polluted the sanctuary, they have done violence to the law.[5] The just LORD is in the middle thereof; he will not do iniquity: every morning does he bring his judgment to light, he fails not; but the unjust knows no shame.[6] I have cut off the nations: their towers are desolate; I made their streets waste, that none passes by: their cities are destroyed, so that there is no man, that there is none inhabitant.[7] I said, Surely you will fear me, you will receive instruction; so their dwelling should not be cut off, howsoever I punished them: but they rose early, and corrupted all their doings. ¶[8] Therefore wait you on me, says the LORD, until the day that I rise up to the prey: for my determination is to gather the nations, that I may assemble the kingdoms, to pour on them my indignation, even all my fierce anger: for all the earth shall be devoured with the fire of my jealousy.[9] For then will I turn to the people a pure language, that they may all call on the name of the LORD, to serve him with one consent.[10] From beyond the rivers of Ethiopia my suppliants, even the daughter of my dispersed, shall bring my offering.[11] In that day shall you not be ashamed for all your doings, wherein you have transgressed against me: for then I will take away out of the middle of you them that rejoice in your pride, and you shall no more be haughty because of my holy mountain.[12] I will also leave in the middle of you an afflicted and poor people, and they shall trust in the name of the LORD.[13] The remnant of Israel shall not do iniquity, nor speak lies; neither shall a deceitful tongue be found in their mouth: for they shall feed and lie down, and none shall make them afraid. ¶[14] Sing, O daughter of Zion; shout, O Israel; be glad and rejoice with all the heart, O daughter of Jerusalem.[15] The LORD has taken away your judgments, he has cast out your enemy: the king of Israel, even the LORD, is in the middle of you: you shall not see evil any more.[16] In that day it shall be said to Jerusalem, Fear you not: and to Zion, Let not your hands be slack.[17] The LORD your God in the middle of you is mighty; he will save, he will rejoice over you with joy; he will rest in his love, he will joy over you with singing.[18] I will gather them that are sorrowful for the solemn assembly, who are of you, to whom the reproach of it was a burden.[19] Behold, at that time I will undo all that afflict you: and I will save her that halts, and gather her that was driven out; and I will get them praise and fame in every land where they have been put to shame.[20] At that time will I bring you again, even in the time that I gather you: for I will make you a name and a praise among all people of the earth, when I turn back your captivity before your eyes, said the LORD.

Haggai

An Introduction to the Book of Haggai

Consists of two brief, comprehensive chapters. The object of the prophet was generally to urge the people to proceed with the rebuilding of the temple.

Chapter first comprehends the first address (2-11) and its effects (12-15). Chapter second contains,

(1.) The second prophecy (1-9), which was delivered a month after the first.

(2.) The third prophecy (10-19), delivered two months and three days after the second; and (3.) The fourth prophecy (20-23), delivered on the same day as the third.

These discourses are referred to in Ezra 5:1; 6:14; Heb. 12:26. (Comp. Hag. 2:7, 8, 22.)

[1] In the second year of Darius the king, in the sixth month, in the first day of the month, came the word of the LORD by Haggai the prophet to Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, governor of Judah, and to Joshua the son of Josedech, the high priest, saying,

[2] Thus speaks the LORD of hosts, saying, This people say, The time is not come, the time that the LORD's house should be built.[3] Then came the word of the LORD by Haggai the prophet, saying,[4] Is it time for you, O you, to dwell in your paneled houses, and this house lie waste?[5] Now therefore thus says the LORD of hosts; Consider your ways.[6] You have sown much, and bring in little; you eat, but you have not enough; you drink, but you are not filled with drink; you clothe you, but there is none warm; and he that earns wages earns wages to put it into a bag with holes. ¶[7] Thus says the LORD of hosts; Consider your ways.[8] Go up to the mountain, and bring wood, and build the house; and I will take pleasure in it, and I will be glorified, says the LORD.[9] You looked for much, and, see it came to little; and when you brought it home, I did blow on it. Why? says the LORD of hosts. Because of my house that is waste, and you run every man to his own house.[10] Therefore the heaven over you is stayed from dew, and the earth is stayed from her fruit.[11] And I called for a drought on the land, and on the mountains, and on the corn, and on the new wine, and on the oil, and on that which the ground brings forth, and on men, and on cattle, and on all the labor of the hands. ¶[12] Then Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, and Joshua the son of Josedech, the high priest, with all the remnant of the people, obeyed the voice of the LORD their God, and the words of Haggai the prophet, as the LORD their God had sent him, and the people did fear before the LORD.[13] Then spoke Haggai the LORD's messenger in the LORD's message to the people, saying, I am with you, says the LORD.[14] And the LORD stirred up the spirit of Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, governor of Judah, and the spirit of Joshua the son of Josedech, the high priest, and the spirit of all the remnant of the people; and they came and did work in the house of the LORD of hosts, their God,[15] In the four and twentieth day of the sixth month, in the second year of Darius the king.

[1] In the seventh month, in the one and twentieth day of the month, came the word of the LORD by the prophet Haggai, saying,

[2] Speak now to Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, governor of Judah, and to Joshua the son of Josedech, the high priest, and to the residue of the people, saying,[3] Who is left among you that saw this house in her first glory? and how do you see it now? is it not in your eyes in comparison of it as nothing?[4] Yet now be strong, O Zerubbabel, says the LORD; and be strong, O Joshua, son of Josedech, the high priest; and be strong, all you people of the land, says the LORD, and work: for I am with you, says the LORD of hosts:[5] According to the word that I covenanted with you when you came out of Egypt, so my spirit remains among you: fear you not.[6] For thus says the LORD of hosts; Yet once, it is a little while, and I will shake the heavens, and the earth, and the sea, and the dry land;[7] And I will shake all nations, and the desire of all nations shall come: and I will fill this house with glory, says the LORD of hosts.[8] The silver is mine, and the gold is mine, says the LORD of hosts.[9] The glory of this latter house shall be greater than of the former, says the LORD of hosts: and in this place will I give peace, says the LORD of hosts. ¶[10] In the four and twentieth day of the ninth month, in the second year of Darius, came the word of the LORD by Haggai the prophet, saying,[11] Thus says the LORD of hosts; Ask now the priests concerning the law, saying,[12] If one bear holy flesh in the skirt of his garment, and with his skirt do touch bread, or pottage, or wine, or oil, or any meat, shall it be holy? And the priests answered and said, No.[13] Then said Haggai, If one that is unclean by a dead body touch any of these, shall it be unclean? And the priests answered and said, It shall be unclean.[14] Then answered Haggai, and said, So is this people, and so is this nation before me, says the LORD; and so is every work of their hands; and that which they offer there is unclean.[15] And now, I pray you, consider from this day and upward, from before a stone was laid on a stone in the temple of the LORD:[16] Since those days were, when one came to an heap of twenty measures, there were but ten: when one came to the fat press for to draw out fifty vessels out of the press, there were but twenty.[17] I smote you with blasting and with mildew and with hail in all the labors of your hands; yet you turned not to me, says the LORD.[18] Consider now from this day and upward, from the four and twentieth day of the ninth month, even from the day that the foundation of the LORD's temple was laid, consider it.[19] Is the seed yet in the barn? yes, as yet the vine, and the fig tree, and the pomegranate, and the olive tree, has not brought forth: from this day will I bless you. ¶[20] And again the word of the LORD came to Haggai in the four and twentieth day of the month, saying,[21] Speak to Zerubbabel, governor of Judah, saying, I will shake the heavens and the earth;[22] And I will overthrow the throne of kingdoms, and I will destroy the strength of the kingdoms of the heathen; and I will overthrow the chariots, and those that ride in them; and the horses and their riders shall come down, every one by the sword of his brother.[23] In that day, says the LORD of hosts, will I take you, O Zerubbabel, my servant, the son of Shealtiel, said the LORD, and will make you as a signet: for I have chosen you, says the LORD of hosts.

Zechariah

An Introduction to the Book of Zechariah

Jehovah is renowned or remembered. (1.) A prophet of Judah, the eleventh of the twelve minor prophets. Like Ezekiel, he was of priestly extraction. He describes himself (1:1) as "the son of Berechiah." In Ezra 5:1 and 6:14 he is called "the son of Iddo," who was properly his grandfather. His prophetical career began in the second year of Darius (B.C. 520), about sixteen years after the return of the first company from exile. He was contemporary with Haggai (Ezra 5:1).

His book consists of two distinct parts, (1) chapters 1 to 8, inclusive, and (2) 9 to the end. It begins with a preface (1:1-6), which recalls the nation's past history, for the purpose of presenting a solemn warning to the present generation. Then follows a series of eight visions (1:7-6:8), succeeding one another in one night, which may be regarded as a symbolical history of Israel, intended to furnish consolation to the returned exiles and stir up hope in their minds. The symbolical action, the crowning of Joshua (6:9-15), describes how the kingdoms of the world become the kingdom of God's Christ.

Chapters 7 and 8, delivered two years later, are an answer to the question whether the days of mourning for the destruction of the city should be any longer kept, and an encouraging address to the people, assuring them of God's presence and blessing.

The second part of the book (ch. 9-14) bears no date. It is probable that a considerable interval separates it from the first part. It consists of two burdens.

The first burden (ch. 9-11) gives an outline of the course of God's providential dealings with his people down to the time of the Advent.

The second burden (ch. 12-14) points out the glories that await Israel in "the latter day", the final conflict and triumph of God's kingdom.

(2.) The son or grandson of Jehoiada, the high priest in the times of Ahaziah and Joash. After the death of Jehoiada he boldly condemned both the king and the people for their rebellion against God (2 Chr. 24:20), which so stirred up their resentment against him that at the king's commandment they stoned him with stones, and he died "in the court of the house of the Lord" (24:21). Christ alludes to this deed of murder in Matt. 23:35, Luke 11:51. (See ZACHARIAS [2].)

(3.) A prophet, who had "understanding in the seeing of God," in the time of Uzziah, who was much indebted to him for his wise counsel (2 Chr. 26:5).

Besides these, there is a large number of persons mentioned in Scripture bearing this name of whom nothing is known.

(4.) One of the chiefs of the tribe of Reuben (1 Chr. 5:7).

(5.) One of the porters of the tabernacle (1 Chr. 9:21).

(6.) 1 Chr. 9:37.

(7.) A Levite who assisted at the bringing up of the ark from the house of Obededom (1 Chr. 15:20-24).

(8.) A Kohathite Levite (1 Chr. 24:25).

(9.) A Merarite Levite (1 Chr. 27:21).

(10.) The father of Iddo (1 Chr. 27:21).

(11.) One who assisted in teaching the law to the people in the time of Jehoshaphat (2 Chr. 17:7).

(12.) A Levite of the sons of Asaph (2 Chr. 20:14).

(14.) The father of Abijah, who was the mother of Hezekiah (2 Chr. 29:1).

(15.) One of the sons of Asaph (2 Chr. 29:13).

(16.) One of the "rulers of the house of God" (2 Chr. 35:8).

(17.) A chief of the people in the time of Ezra, who consulted him about the return from captivity (Ezra 8:16); probably the same as mentioned in Neh. 8:4, (18.) Neh. 11:12.

(19.) Neh. 12:16.

(20.) Neh. 12:35, 41.

(21.) Isa. 8:2.

[1] In the eighth month, in the second year of Darius, came the word of the LORD to Zechariah, the son of Berechiah, the son of Iddo the prophet, saying,

[2] The LORD has been sore displeased with your fathers.[3] Therefore say you to them, Thus says the LORD of hosts; Turn you to me, says the LORD of hosts, and I will turn to you, says the LORD of hosts.[4] Be you not as your fathers, to whom the former prophets have cried, saying, Thus says the LORD of hosts; Turn you now from your evil ways, and from your evil doings: but they did not hear, nor listen to me, says the LORD.[5] Your fathers, where are they? and the prophets, do they live for ever?[6] But my words and my statutes, which I commanded my servants the prophets, did they not take hold of your fathers? and they returned and said, Like as the LORD of hosts thought to do to us, according to our ways, and according to our doings, so has he dealt with us. ¶[7] On the four and twentieth day of the eleventh month, which is the month Sebat, in the second year of Darius, came the word of the LORD to Zechariah, the son of Berechiah, the son of Iddo the prophet, saying,[8] I saw by night, and behold a man riding on a red horse, and he stood among the myrtle trees that were in the bottom; and behind him were there red horses, speckled, and white.[9] Then said I, O my lord, what are these? And the angel that talked with me said to me, I will show you what these be.[10] And the man that stood among the myrtle trees answered and said, These are they whom the LORD has sent to walk to and fro through the earth.[11] And they answered the angel of the LORD that stood among the myrtle trees, and said, We have walked to and fro through the earth, and, behold, all the earth sits still, and is at rest. ¶[12] Then the angel of the LORD answered and said, O LORD of hosts, how long will you not have mercy on Jerusalem and on the cities of Judah, against which you have had indignation these three score and ten years?[13] And the LORD answered the angel that talked with me with good words and comfortable words.[14] So the angel that communed with me said to me, Cry you, saying, Thus says the LORD of hosts; I am jealous for Jerusalem and for Zion with a great jealousy.[15] And I am very sore displeased with the heathen that are at ease: for I was but a little displeased, and they helped forward the affliction.[16] Therefore thus says the LORD; I am returned to Jerusalem with mercies: my house shall be built in it, says the LORD of hosts, and a line shall be stretched forth on Jerusalem.[17] Cry yet, saying, Thus says the LORD of hosts; My cities through prosperity shall yet be spread abroad; and the LORD shall yet comfort Zion, and shall yet choose Jerusalem. ¶[18] Then lifted I up my eyes, and saw, and behold four horns.[19] And I said to the angel that talked with me, What be these? And he answered me, These are the horns which have scattered Judah, Israel, and Jerusalem.[20] And the LORD showed me four carpenters.[21] Then said I, What come these to do? And he spoke, saying, These are the horns which have scattered Judah, so that no man did lift up his head: but these are come to fray them, to cast out the horns of the Gentiles, which lifted up their horn over the land of Judah to scatter it.

[1] I lifted up my eyes again, and looked, and behold a man with a measuring line in his hand.

[2] Then said I, Where go you? And he said to me, To measure Jerusalem, to see what is the breadth thereof, and what is the length thereof.[3] And, behold, the angel that talked with me went forth, and another angel went out to meet him,[4] And said to him, Run, speak to this young man, saying, Jerusalem shall be inhabited as towns without walls for the multitude of men and cattle therein:[5] For I, says the LORD, will be to her a wall of fire round about, and will be the glory in the middle of her. ¶[6] Ho, ho, come forth, and flee from the land of the north, says the LORD: for I have spread you abroad as the four winds of the heaven, said the LORD.[7] Deliver yourself, O Zion, that dwell with the daughter of Babylon.[8] For thus says the LORD of hosts; After the glory has he sent me to the nations which spoiled you: for he that touches you touches the apple of his eye.[9] For, behold, I will shake my hand on them, and they shall be a spoil to their servants: and you shall know that the LORD of hosts has sent me. ¶[10] Sing and rejoice, O daughter of Zion: for, see, I come, and I will dwell in the middle of you, says the LORD.[11] And many nations shall be joined to the LORD in that day, and shall be my people: and I will dwell in the middle of you, and you shall know that the LORD of hosts has sent me to you.[12] And the LORD shall inherit Judah his portion in the holy land, and shall choose Jerusalem again.[13] Be silent, O all flesh, before the LORD: for he is raised up out of his holy habitation.

[1] And he showed me Joshua the high priest standing before the angel of the LORD, and Satan standing at his right hand to resist him.

[2] And the LORD said to Satan, The LORD rebuke you, O Satan; even the LORD that has chosen Jerusalem rebuke you: is not this a brand plucked out of the fire?[3] Now Joshua was clothed with filthy garments, and stood before the angel.[4] And he answered and spoke to those that stood before him, saying, Take away the filthy garments from him. And to him he said, Behold, I have caused your iniquity to pass from you, and I will clothe you with change of raiment.[5] And I said, Let them set a fair turban on his head. So they set a fair turban on his head, and clothed him with garments. And the angel of the LORD stood by.[6] And the angel of the LORD protested to Joshua, saying,[7] Thus says the LORD of hosts; If you will walk in my ways, and if you will keep my charge, then you shall also judge my house, and shall also keep my courts, and I will give you places to walk among these that stand by.[8] Hear now, O Joshua the high priest, you, and your fellows that sit before you: for they are men wondered at: for, behold, I will bring forth my servant the BRANCH.[9] For behold the stone that I have laid before Joshua; on one stone shall be seven eyes: behold, I will engrave the engraving thereof, says the LORD of hosts, and I will remove the iniquity of that land in one day.[10] In that day, says the LORD of hosts, shall you call every man his neighbor under the vine and under the fig tree.

[1] And the angel that talked with me came again, and waked me, as a man that is wakened out of his sleep.

[2] And said to me, What see you? And I said, I have looked, and behold a candlestick all of gold, with a bowl on the top of it, and his seven lamps thereon, and seven pipes to the seven lamps, which are on the top thereof:[3] And two olive trees by it, one on the right side of the bowl, and the other on the left side thereof.[4] So I answered and spoke to the angel that talked with me, saying, What are these, my lord?[5] Then the angel that talked with me answered and said to me, Know you not what these be? And I said, No, my lord.[6] Then he answered and spoke to me, saying, This is the word of the LORD to Zerubbabel, saying, Not by might, nor by power, but by my spirit, says the LORD of hosts.[7] Who are you, O great mountain? before Zerubbabel you shall become a plain: and he shall bring forth the headstone thereof with shoutings, crying, Grace, grace to it.[8] Moreover the word of the LORD came to me, saying,[9] The hands of Zerubbabel have laid the foundation of this house; his hands shall also finish it; and you shall know that the LORD of hosts has sent me to you.[10] For who has despised the day of small things? for they shall rejoice, and shall see the plummet in the hand of Zerubbabel with those seven; they are the eyes of the LORD, which run to and fro through the whole earth. ¶[11] Then answered I, and said to him, What are these two olive trees on the right side of the candlestick and on the left side thereof?[12] And I answered again, and said to him, What be these two olive branches which through the two golden pipes empty the golden oil out of themselves?[13] And he answered me and said, Know you not what these be? And I said, No, my lord.[14] Then said he, These are the two anointed ones, that stand by the LORD of the whole earth.

[1] Then I turned, and lifted up my eyes, and looked, and behold a flying roll.

[2] And he said to me, What see you? And I answered, I see a flying roll; the length thereof is twenty cubits, and the breadth thereof ten cubits.[3] Then said he to me, This is the curse that goes forth over the face of the whole earth: for every one that steals shall be cut off as on this side according to it; and every one that swears shall be cut off as on that side according to it.[4] I will bring it forth, says the LORD of hosts, and it shall enter into the house of the thief, and into the house of him that swears falsely by my name: and it shall remain in the middle of his house, and shall consume it with the timber thereof and the stones thereof. ¶[5] Then the angel that talked with me went forth, and said to me, Lift up now your eyes, and see what is this that goes forth.[6] And I said, What is it? And he said, This is an ephah that goes forth. He said moreover, This is their resemblance through all the earth.[7] And, behold, there was lifted up a talent of lead: and this is a woman that sits in the middle of the ephah.[8] And he said, This is wickedness. And he cast it into the middle of the ephah; and he cast the weight of lead on the mouth thereof.[9] Then lifted I up my eyes, and looked, and, behold, there came out two women, and the wind was in their wings; for they had wings like the wings of a stork: and they lifted up the ephah between the earth and the heaven.[10] Then said I to the angel that talked with me, Where do these bear the ephah?[11] And he said to me, To build it an house in the land of Shinar: and it shall be established, and set there on her own base.

[1] And I turned, and lifted up my eyes, and looked, and, behold, there came four chariots out from between two mountains; and the mountains were mountains of brass.

[2] In the first chariot were red horses; and in the second chariot black horses;[3] And in the third chariot white horses; and in the fourth chariot spotted and bay horses.[4] Then I answered and said to the angel that talked with me, What are these, my lord?[5] And the angel answered and said to me, These are the four spirits of the heavens, which go forth from standing before the LORD of all the earth.[6] The black horses which are therein go forth into the north country; and the white go forth after them; and the spotted go forth toward the south country.[7] And the bay went forth, and sought to go that they might walk to and fro through the earth: and he said, Get you hence, walk to and fro through the earth. So they walked to and fro through the earth.[8] Then cried he on me, and spoke to me, saying, Behold, these that go toward the north country have quieted my spirit in the north country. ¶[9] And the word of the LORD came to me, saying,[10] Take of them of the captivity, even of Heldai, of Tobijah, and of Jedaiah, which are come from Babylon, and come you the same day, and go into the house of Josiah the son of Zephaniah;[11] Then take silver and gold, and make crowns, and set them on the head of Joshua the son of Josedech, the high priest;[12] And speak to him, saying, Thus speaks the LORD of hosts, saying, Behold the man whose name is The BRANCH; and he shall grow up out of his place, and he shall build the temple of the LORD:[13] Even he shall build the temple of the LORD; and he shall bear the glory, and shall sit and rule on his throne; and he shall be a priest on his throne: and the counsel of peace shall be between them both.[14] And the crowns shall be to Helem, and to Tobijah, and to Jedaiah, and to Hen the son of Zephaniah, for a memorial in the temple of the LORD.[15] And they that are far off shall come and build in the temple of the LORD, and you shall know that the LORD of hosts has sent me to you. And this shall come to pass, if you will diligently obey the voice of the LORD your God.

[1] And it came to pass in the fourth year of king Darius, that the word of the LORD came to Zechariah in the fourth day of the ninth month, even in Chisleu;

[2] When they had sent to the house of God Sherezer and Regemmelech, and their men, to pray before the LORD,[3] And to speak to the priests which were in the house of the LORD of hosts, and to the prophets, saying, Should I weep in the fifth month, separating myself, as I have done these so many years? ¶[4] Then came the word of the LORD of hosts to me, saying,[5] Speak to all the people of the land, and to the priests, saying, When you fasted and mourned in the fifth and seventh month, even those seventy years, did you at all fast to me, even to me?[6] And when you did eat, and when you did drink, did not you eat for yourselves, and drink for yourselves?[7] Should you not hear the words which the LORD has cried by the former prophets, when Jerusalem was inhabited and in prosperity, and the cities thereof round about her, when men inhabited the south and the plain? ¶[8] And the word of the LORD came to Zechariah, saying,[9] Thus speaks the LORD of hosts, saying, Execute true judgment, and show mercy and compassions every man to his brother:[10] And oppress not the widow, nor the fatherless, the stranger, nor the poor; and let none of you imagine evil against his brother in your heart.[11] But they refused to listen, and pulled away the shoulder, and stopped their ears, that they should not hear.[12] Yes, they made their hearts as an adamant stone, lest they should hear the law, and the words which the LORD of hosts has sent in his spirit by the former prophets: therefore came a great wrath from the LORD of hosts.[13] Therefore it is come to pass, that as he cried, and they would not hear; so they cried, and I would not hear, says the LORD of hosts:[14] But I scattered them with a whirlwind among all the nations whom they knew not. Thus the land was desolate after them, that no man passed through nor returned: for they laid the pleasant land desolate.

[1] Again the word of the LORD of hosts came to me, saying,

[2] Thus says the LORD of hosts; I was jealous for Zion with great jealousy, and I was jealous for her with great fury.[3] Thus says the LORD; I am returned to Zion, and will dwell in the middle of Jerusalem: and Jerusalem shall be called a city of truth; and the mountain of the LORD of hosts the holy mountain.[4] Thus says the LORD of hosts; There shall yet old men and old women dwell in the streets of Jerusalem, and every man with his staff in his hand for very age.[5] And the streets of the city shall be full of boys and girls playing in the streets thereof.[6] Thus says the LORD of hosts; If it be marvelous in the eyes of the remnant of this people in these days, should it also be marvelous in my eyes? says the LORD of hosts.[7] Thus said the LORD of hosts; Behold, I will save my people from the east country, and from the west country;[8] And I will bring them, and they shall dwell in the middle of Jerusalem: and they shall be my people, and I will be their God, in truth and in righteousness. ¶[9] Thus says the LORD of hosts; Let your hands be strong, you that hear in these days these words by the mouth of the prophets, which were in the day that the foundation of the house of the LORD of hosts was laid, that the temple might be built.[10] For before these days there was no hire for man, nor any hire for beast; neither was there any peace to him that went out or came in because of the affliction: for I set all men every one against his neighbor.[11] But now I will not be to the residue of this people as in the former days, says the LORD of hosts.[12] For the seed shall be prosperous; the vine shall give her fruit, and the ground shall give her increase, and the heavens shall give their dew; and I will cause the remnant of this people to possess all these things.[13] And it shall come to pass, that as you were a curse among the heathen, O house of Judah, and house of Israel; so will I save you, and you shall be a blessing: fear not, but let your hands be strong.[14] For thus says the LORD of hosts; As I thought to punish you, when your fathers provoked me to wrath, said the LORD of hosts, and I repented not:[15] So again have I thought in these days to do well to Jerusalem and to the house of Judah: fear you not. ¶[16] These are the things that you shall do; Speak you every man the truth to his neighbor; execute the judgment of truth and peace in your gates:[17] And let none of you imagine evil in your hearts against his neighbor; and love no false oath: for all these are things that I hate, says the LORD. ¶[18] And the word of the LORD of hosts came to me, saying,[19] Thus says the LORD of hosts; The fast of the fourth month, and the fast of the fifth, and the fast of the seventh, and the fast of the tenth, shall be to the house of Judah joy and gladness, and cheerful feasts; therefore love the truth and peace.[20] Thus says the LORD of hosts; It shall yet come to pass, that there shall come people, and the inhabitants of many cities:[21] And the inhabitants of one city shall go to another, saying, Let us go speedily to pray before the LORD, and to seek the LORD of hosts: I will go also.[22] Yes, many people and strong nations shall come to seek the LORD of hosts in Jerusalem, and to pray before the LORD.[23] Thus says the LORD of hosts; In those days it shall come to pass, that ten men shall take hold out of all languages of the nations, even shall take hold of the skirt of him that is a Jew, saying, We will go with you: for we have heard that God is with you.

[1] The burden of the word of the LORD in the land of Hadrach, and Damascus shall be the rest thereof: when the eyes of man, as of all the tribes of Israel, shall be toward the LORD.

[2] And Hamath also shall border thereby; Tyrus, and Zidon, though it be very wise.[3] And Tyrus did build herself a strong hold, and heaped up silver as the dust, and fine gold as the mire of the streets.[4] Behold, the LORD will cast her out, and he will smite her power in the sea; and she shall be devoured with fire.[5] Ashkelon shall see it, and fear; Gaza also shall see it, and be very sorrowful, and Ekron; for her expectation shall be ashamed; and the king shall perish from Gaza, and Ashkelon shall not be inhabited.[6] And a bastard shall dwell in Ashdod, and I will cut off the pride of the Philistines.[7] And I will take away his blood out of his mouth, and his abominations from between his teeth: but he that remains, even he, shall be for our God, and he shall be as a governor in Judah, and Ekron as a Jebusite.[8] And I will encamp about my house because of the army, because of him that passes by, and because of him that returns: and no oppressor shall pass through them any more: for now have I seen with my eyes. ¶[9] Rejoice greatly, O daughter of Zion; shout, O daughter of Jerusalem: behold, your King comes to you: he is just, and having salvation; lowly, and riding on an ass, and on a colt the foal of an ass.[10] And I will cut off the chariot from Ephraim, and the horse from Jerusalem, and the battle bow shall be cut off: and he shall speak peace to the heathen: and his dominion shall be from sea even to sea, and from the river even to the ends of the earth.[11] As for you also, by the blood of your covenant I have sent forth your prisoners out of the pit wherein is no water. ¶[12] Turn you to the strong hold, you prisoners of hope: even to day do I declare that I will render double to you;[13] When I have bent Judah for me, filled the bow with Ephraim, and raised up your sons, O Zion, against your sons, O Greece, and made you as the sword of a mighty man.[14] And the LORD shall be seen over them, and his arrow shall go forth as the lightning: and the LORD God shall blow the trumpet, and shall go with whirlwinds of the south.[15] The LORD of hosts shall defend them; and they shall devour, and subdue with sling stones; and they shall drink, and make a noise as through wine; and they shall be filled like bowls, and as the corners of the altar.[16] And the LORD their God shall save them in that day as the flock of his people: for they shall be as the stones of a crown, lifted up as an ensign on his land.[17] For how great is his goodness, and how great is his beauty! corn shall make the young men cheerful, and new wine the maids.

[1] Ask you of the LORD rain in the time of the latter rain; so the LORD shall make bright clouds, and give them showers of rain, to every one grass in the field.

[2] For the idols have spoken vanity, and the diviners have seen a lie, and have told false dreams; they comfort in vain: therefore they went their way as a flock, they were troubled, because there was no shepherd.[3] My anger was kindled against the shepherds, and I punished the goats: for the LORD of hosts has visited his flock the house of Judah, and has made them as his goodly horse in the battle.[4] Out of him came forth the corner, out of him the nail, out of him the battle bow, out of him every oppressor together. ¶[5] And they shall be as mighty men, which tread down their enemies in the mire of the streets in the battle: and they shall fight, because the LORD is with them, and the riders on horses shall be confounded.[6] And I will strengthen the house of Judah, and I will save the house of Joseph, and I will bring them again to place them; for I have mercy on them: and they shall be as though I had not cast them off: for I am the LORD their God, and will hear them.[7] And they of Ephraim shall be like a mighty man, and their heart shall rejoice as through wine: yes, their children shall see it, and be glad; their heart shall rejoice in the LORD.[8] I will hiss for them, and gather them; for I have redeemed them: and they shall increase as they have increased.[9] And I will sow them among the people: and they shall remember me in far countries; and they shall live with their children, and turn again.[10] I will bring them again also out of the land of Egypt, and gather them out of Assyria; and I will bring them into the land of Gilead and Lebanon; and place shall not be found for them.[11] And he shall pass through the sea with affliction, and shall smite the waves in the sea, and all the deeps of the river shall dry up: and the pride of Assyria shall be brought down, and the scepter of Egypt shall depart away.[12] And I will strengthen them in the LORD; and they shall walk up and down in his name, says the LORD.

[1] Open your doors, O Lebanon, that the fire may devour your cedars.

[2] Howl, fir tree; for the cedar is fallen; because the mighty are spoiled: howl, O you oaks of Bashan; for the forest of the vintage is come down. ¶[3] There is a voice of the howling of the shepherds; for their glory is spoiled: a voice of the roaring of young lions; for the pride of Jordan is spoiled.[4] Thus says the LORD my God; Feed the flock of the slaughter;[5] Whose possessors slay them, and hold themselves not guilty: and they that sell them say, Blessed be the LORD; for I am rich: and their own shepherds pity them not.[6] For I will no more pity the inhabitants of the land, says the LORD: but, see, I will deliver the men every one into his neighbor's hand, and into the hand of his king: and they shall smite the land, and out of their hand I will not deliver them.[7] And I will feed the flock of slaughter, even you, O poor of the flock. And I took to me two staves; the one I called Beauty, and the other I called Bands; and I fed the flock.[8] Three shepherds also I cut off in one month; and my soul loathed them, and their soul also abhorred me.[9] Then said I, I will not feed you: that that dies, let it die; and that that is to be cut off, let it be cut off; and let the rest eat every one the flesh of another. ¶[10] And I took my staff, even Beauty, and cut it asunder, that I might break my covenant which I had made with all the people.[11] And it was broken in that day: and so the poor of the flock that waited on me knew that it was the word of the LORD.[12] And I said to them, If you think good, give me my price; and if not, forbear. So they weighed for my price thirty pieces of silver.[13] And the LORD said to me, Cast it to the potter: a goodly price that I was priced at of them. And I took the thirty pieces of silver, and cast them to the potter in the house of the LORD.[14] Then I cut asunder my other staff, even Bands, that I might break the brotherhood between Judah and Israel. ¶[15] And the LORD said to me, Take to you yet the instruments of a foolish shepherd.[16] For, see, I will raise up a shepherd in the land, which shall not visit those that be cut off, neither shall seek the young one, nor heal that that is broken, nor feed that that stands still: but he shall eat the flesh of the fat, and tear their claws in pieces.[17] Woe to the idol shepherd that leaves the flock! the sword shall be on his arm, and on his right eye: his arm shall be clean dried up, and his right eye shall be utterly darkened.

[1] The burden of the word of the LORD for Israel, says the LORD, which stretches forth the heavens, and lays the foundation of the earth, and forms the spirit of man within him.

[2] Behold, I will make Jerusalem a cup of trembling to all the people round about, when they shall be in the siege both against Judah and against Jerusalem. ¶[3] And in that day will I make Jerusalem a burdensome stone for all people: all that burden themselves with it shall be cut in pieces, though all the people of the earth be gathered together against it.[4] In that day, says the LORD, I will smite every horse with astonishment, and his rider with madness: and I will open my eyes on the house of Judah, and will smite every horse of the people with blindness.[5] And the governors of Judah shall say in their heart, The inhabitants of Jerusalem shall be my strength in the LORD of hosts their God. ¶[6] In that day will I make the governors of Judah like an hearth of fire among the wood, and like a torch of fire in a sheaf; and they shall devour all the people round about, on the right hand and on the left: and Jerusalem shall be inhabited again in her own place, even in Jerusalem.[7] The LORD also shall save the tents of Judah first, that the glory of the house of David and the glory of the inhabitants of Jerusalem do not magnify themselves against Judah.[8] In that day shall the LORD defend the inhabitants of Jerusalem; and he that is feeble among them at that day shall be as David; and the house of David shall be as God, as the angel of the LORD before them. ¶[9] And it shall come to pass in that day, that I will seek to destroy all the nations that come against Jerusalem.[10] And I will pour on the house of David, and on the inhabitants of Jerusalem, the spirit of grace and of supplications: and they shall look on me whom they have pierced, and they shall mourn for him, as one mourns for his only son, and shall be in bitterness for him, as one that is in bitterness for his firstborn.[11] In that day shall there be a great mourning in Jerusalem, as the mourning of Hadadrimmon in the valley of Megiddon.[12] And the land shall mourn, every family apart; the family of the house of David apart, and their wives apart; the family of the house of Nathan apart, and their wives apart;[13] The family of the house of Levi apart, and their wives apart; the family of Shimei apart, and their wives apart;[14] All the families that remain, every family apart, and their wives apart.

[1] In that day there shall be a fountain opened to the house of David and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem for sin and for uncleanness. ¶

[2] And it shall come to pass in that day, says the LORD of hosts, that I will cut off the names of the idols out of the land, and they shall no more be remembered: and also I will cause the prophets and the unclean spirit to pass out of the land.[3] And it shall come to pass, that when any shall yet prophesy, then his father and his mother that begat him shall say to him, You shall not live; for you speak lies in the name of the LORD: and his father and his mother that begat him shall thrust him through when he prophesies.[4] And it shall come to pass in that day, that the prophets shall be ashamed every one of his vision, when he has prophesied; neither shall they wear a rough garment to deceive:[5] But he shall say, I am no prophet, I am an farmer; for man taught me to keep cattle from my youth.[6] And one shall say to him, What are these wounds in your hands? Then he shall answer, Those with which I was wounded in the house of my friends. ¶[7] Awake, O sword, against my shepherd, and against the man that is my fellow, says the LORD of hosts: smite the shepherd, and the sheep shall be scattered: and I will turn my hand on the little ones.[8] And it shall come to pass, that in all the land, says the LORD, two parts therein shall be cut off and die; but the third shall be left therein.[9] And I will bring the third part through the fire, and will refine them as silver is refined, and will try them as gold is tried: they shall call on my name, and I will hear them: I will say, It is my people: and they shall say, The LORD is my God.

[1] Behold, the day of the LORD comes, and your spoil shall be divided in the middle of you.

[2] For I will gather all nations against Jerusalem to battle; and the city shall be taken, and the houses rifled, and the women ravished; and half of the city shall go forth into captivity, and the residue of the people shall not be cut off from the city.[3] Then shall the LORD go forth, and fight against those nations, as when he fought in the day of battle. ¶[4] And his feet shall stand in that day on the mount of Olives, which is before Jerusalem on the east, and the mount of Olives shall split in the middle thereof toward the east and toward the west, and there shall be a very great valley; and half of the mountain shall remove toward the north, and half of it toward the south.[5] And you shall flee to the valley of the mountains; for the valley of the mountains shall reach to Azal: yes, you shall flee, like as you fled from before the earthquake in the days of Uzziah king of Judah: and the LORD my God shall come, and all the saints with you.[6] And it shall come to pass in that day, that the light shall not be clear, nor dark:[7] But it shall be one day which shall be known to the LORD, not day, nor night: but it shall come to pass, that at evening time it shall be light.[8] And it shall be in that day, that living waters shall go out from Jerusalem; half of them toward the former sea, and half of them toward the hinder sea:

in summer and in winter shall it be.[9] And the LORD shall be king over all the earth: in that day shall there be one LORD, and his name one.[10] All the land shall be turned as a plain from Geba to Rimmon south of Jerusalem: and it shall be lifted up, and inhabited in her place, from Benjamin's gate to the place of the first gate, to the corner gate, and from the tower of Hananeel to the king's winepresses.[11] And men shall dwell in it, and there shall be no more utter destruction; but Jerusalem shall be safely inhabited. ¶[12] And this shall be the plague with which the LORD will smite all the people that have fought against Jerusalem; Their flesh shall consume away while they stand on their feet, and their eyes shall consume away in their holes, and their tongue shall consume away in their mouth.[13] And it shall come to pass in that day, that a great tumult from the LORD shall be among them; and they shall lay hold every one on the hand of his neighbor, and his hand shall rise up against the hand of his neighbor.[14] And Judah also shall fight at Jerusalem; and the wealth of all the heathen round about shall be gathered together, gold, and silver, and apparel, in great abundance.[15] And so shall be the plague of the horse, of the mule, of the camel, and of the ass, and of all the beasts that shall be in these tents, as this plague. ¶[16] And it shall come to pass, that every one that is left of all the nations which came against Jerusalem shall even go up from year to year to worship the King, the LORD of hosts, and to keep the feast of tabernacles.[17] And it shall be, that whoever will not come up of all the families of the earth to Jerusalem to worship the King, the LORD of hosts, even on them shall be no rain.[18] And if the family of Egypt go not up, and come not, that have no rain; there shall be the plague, with which the LORD will smite the heathen that come not up to keep the feast of tabernacles.[19] This shall be the punishment of Egypt, and the punishment of all nations that come not up to keep the feast of tabernacles. ¶[20] In that day shall there be on the bells of the horses, HOLINESS UNTO THE LORD; and the pots in the LORD's house shall be like the bowls before the altar.[21] Yes, every pot in Jerusalem and in Judah shall be holiness to the LORD of hosts: and all they that sacrifice shall come and take of them, and seethe therein: and in that day there shall be no more the Canaanite in the house of the LORD of hosts.

Malachi

An Introduction to the Book of Malachi

The contents of the book are comprised in four chapters. In the Hebrew text the third and fourth chapters (of the A.V.) form but one. The whole consists of three sections, preceded by an introduction (Mal. 1:1-5), in which the prophet reminds Israel of Jehovah's love to them. The first section (1:6-2:9) contains a stern rebuke addressed to the priests who had despised the name of Jehovah, and been leaders in a departure from his worship and from the covenant, and for their partiality in administering the law. In the second (2:9-16) the people are rebuked for their intermarriages with idolatrous heathen. In the third (2:17-4:6) he addresses the people as a whole, and warns them of the coming of the God of judgment, preceded by the advent of the Messiah.

This book is frequently referred to in the New Testament (Matt. 11:10; 17:12; Mark 1:2; 9:11, 12; Luke 1:17; Rom. 9:13).

[1] The burden of the word of the LORD to Israel by Malachi.

[2] I have loved you, says the LORD. Yet you say, Wherein have you loved us? Was not Esau Jacob's brother? says the LORD: yet I loved Jacob,[3] And I hated Esau, and laid his mountains and his heritage waste for the dragons of the wilderness.[4] Whereas Edom said, We are impoverished, but we will return and build the desolate places; thus says the LORD of hosts, They shall build, but I will throw down; and they shall call them, The border of wickedness, and, The people against whom the LORD has indignation for ever.[5] And your eyes shall see, and you shall say, The LORD will be magnified from the border of Israel. ¶[6] A son honors his father, and a servant his master: if then I be a father, where is my honor? and if I be a master, where is my fear? says the LORD of hosts to you, O priests, that despise my name. And you say, Wherein have we despised your name?[7] You offer polluted bread on my altar; and you say, Wherein have we polluted you? In that you say, The table of the LORD is contemptible.[8] And if you offer the blind for sacrifice, is it not evil? and if you offer the lame and sick, is it not evil? offer it now to your governor; will he be pleased with you, or accept your person? says the LORD of hosts.[9] And now, I pray you, beseech God that he will be gracious to us: this has been by your means: will he regard your persons? says the LORD of hosts.[10] Who is there even among you that would shut the doors for nothing? neither do you kindle fire on my altar for nothing. I have no pleasure in you, says the LORD of hosts, neither will I accept an offering at your hand.[11] For from the rising of the sun even to the going down of the same my name shall be great among the Gentiles; and in every place incense shall be offered to my name, and a pure offering: for my name shall be great among the heathen, says the LORD of hosts. ¶[12] But you have profaned it, in that you say, The table of the LORD is polluted; and the fruit thereof, even his meat, is contemptible.[13] You said also, Behold, what a weariness is it! and you have snuffed at it, says the LORD of hosts; and you brought that which was torn, and the lame, and the sick; thus you brought an offering: should I accept this of your hand? says the LORD.[14] But cursed be the deceiver, which has in his flock a male, and vows, and sacrifices to the LORD a corrupt thing: for I am a great King, says the LORD of hosts, and my name is dreadful among the heathen.

[1] And now, O you priests, this commandment is for you.

[2] If you will not hear, and if you will not lay it to heart, to give glory to my name, says the LORD of hosts, I will even send a curse on you, and I will curse your blessings: yes, I have cursed them already, because you do not lay it to heart.[3] Behold, I will corrupt your seed, and spread dung on your faces, even the dung of your solemn feasts; and one shall take you away with it.[4] And you shall know that I have sent this commandment to you, that my covenant might be with Levi, says the LORD of hosts.[5] My covenant was with him of life and peace; and I gave them to him for the fear with which he feared me, and was afraid before my name.[6] The law of truth was in his mouth, and iniquity was not found in his lips: he walked with me in peace and equity, and did turn many away from iniquity.[7] For the priest's lips should keep knowledge, and they should seek the law at his mouth: for he is the messenger of the LORD of hosts.[8] But you are departed out of the way; you have caused many to stumble at the law; you have corrupted the covenant of Levi, says the LORD of hosts.[9] Therefore have I also made you contemptible and base before all the people, according as you have not kept my ways, but have been partial in the law.[10] Have we not all one father? has not one God created us? why do we deal treacherously every man against his brother, by profaning the covenant of our fathers? ¶[11] Judah has dealt treacherously, and an abomination is committed in Israel and in Jerusalem; for Judah has profaned the holiness of the LORD which he loved, and has married the daughter of a strange god.[12] The LORD will cut off the man that does this, the master and the scholar, out of the tabernacles of Jacob, and him that offers an offering to the LORD of hosts.[13] And this have you done again, covering the altar of the LORD with tears, with weeping, and with crying out, so that he regards not the offering any more, or receives it with good will at your hand. ¶[14] Yet you say, Why? Because the LORD has been witness between you and the wife of your youth, against whom you have dealt treacherously: yet is she your companion, and the wife of your covenant.[15] And did not he make one? Yet had he the residue of the spirit. And why one? That he might seek a godly seed. Therefore take heed to your spirit, and let none deal treacherously against the wife of his youth.[16] For the LORD, the God of Israel, says that he hates putting away: for one covers violence with his garment, says the LORD of hosts: therefore take heed to your spirit, that you deal not treacherously. ¶[17] You have wearied the LORD with your words. Yet you say, Wherein have we wearied him? When you say, Every one that does evil is good in the sight of the LORD, and he delights in them; or, Where is the God of judgment?

[1] Behold, I will send my messenger, and he shall prepare the way before me: and the LORD, whom you seek, shall suddenly come to his temple, even the messenger of the covenant, whom you delight in: behold, he shall come, says the LORD of hosts.

[2] But who may abide the day of his coming? and who shall stand when he appears? for he is like a refiner's fire, and like fullers' soap:[3] And he shall sit as a refiner and purifier of silver: and he shall purify the sons of Levi, and purge them as gold and silver, that they may offer to the LORD an offering in righteousness.[4] Then shall the offering of Judah and Jerusalem be pleasant to the LORD, as in the days of old, and as in former years.[5] And I will come near to you to judgment; and I will be a swift witness against the sorcerers, and against the adulterers, and against false swearers, and against those that oppress the hireling in his wages, the widow, and the fatherless, and that turn aside the stranger from his right, and fear not me, says the LORD of hosts.[6] For I am the LORD, I change not; therefore you sons of Jacob are not consumed. ¶[7] Even from the days of your fathers you are gone away from my ordinances, and have not kept them. Return to me, and I will return to you, says the LORD of hosts. But you said, Wherein shall we return? ¶[8] Will a man rob God? Yet you have robbed me. But you say, Wherein have we robbed you? In tithes and offerings.[9] You are cursed with a curse: for you have robbed me, even this whole nation.[10] Bring you all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in my house, and prove me now herewith, says the LORD of hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it.[11] And I will rebuke the devourer for your sakes, and he shall not destroy the fruits of your ground; neither shall your vine cast her fruit before the time in the field, says the LORD of hosts.[12] And all nations shall call you blessed: for you shall be a delightsome land, says the LORD of hosts. ¶[13] Your words have been stout against me, says the LORD. Yet you say, What have we spoken so much against you?[14] You have said, It is vain to serve God: and what profit is it that we have kept his ordinance, and that we have walked mournfully before the LORD of hosts?[15] And now we call the proud happy; yes, they that work wickedness are set up; yes, they that tempt God are even delivered. ¶[16] Then they that feared the LORD spoke often one to another: and the LORD listened, and heard it, and a book of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the LORD, and that thought on his name.[17] And they shall be mine, says the LORD of hosts, in that day when I make up my jewels; and I will spare them, as a man spares his own son that serves him.[18] Then shall you return, and discern between the righteous and the wicked, between him that serves God and him that serves him not.

[1] For, behold, the day comes, that shall burn as an oven; and all the proud, yes, and all that do wickedly, shall be stubble: and the day that comes shall burn them up, says the LORD of hosts, that it shall leave them neither root nor branch. ¶

[2] But to you that fear my name shall the Sun of righteousness arise with healing in his wings; and you shall go forth, and grow up as calves of the stall.[3] And you shall tread down the wicked; for they shall be ashes under the soles of your feet in the day that I shall do this, says the LORD of hosts. ¶[4] Remember you the law of Moses my servant, which I commanded to him in Horeb for all Israel, with the statutes and judgments. ¶[5] Behold, I will send you Elijah the prophet before the coming of the great and dreadful day of the LORD:[6] And he shall turn the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers, lest I come and smite the earth with a curse.

The New Testament

Matthew

An Introduction to the Book of Matthew

The author of this book was beyond a doubt the Matthew, an apostle of our Lord, whose name it bears. He wrote the Gospel of Christ according to his own plans and aims, and from his own point of view, as did also the other "evangelists."

As to the time of its composition, there is little in the Gospel itself to indicate. It was evidently written before the destruction of Jerusalem (Matt. 24), and some time after the events it records. The probability is that it was written between the years A.D. 60 and 65.

The cast of thought and the forms of expression employed by the writer show that this Gospel was written for Jewish Christians of Palestine. His great object is to prove that Jesus of Nazareth was the promised Messiah, and that in him the ancient prophecies had their fulfilment. The Gospel is full of allusions to those passages of the Old Testament in which Christ is predicted and foreshadowed. The one aim prevading the whole book is to show that Jesus is he "of whom Moses in the law and the prophets did write." This Gospel contains no fewer than sixty-five references to the Old Testament, forty-three of these being direct verbal citations, thus greatly outnumbering those found in the other Gospels. The main feature of this Gospel may be expressed in the motto, "I am not come to destroy, but to fulfil."

As to the language in which this Gospel was written there is much controversy. Many hold, in accordance with old tradition, that it was originally written in Hebrew (i.e., the Aramaic or Syro-Chaldee dialect, then the vernacular of the inhabitants of Palestine), and afterwards translated into Greek, either by Matthew himself or by some person unknown. This theory, though earnestly maintained by able critics, we cannot see any ground for adopting. From the first this Gospel in Greek was received as of authority in the Church. There is nothing in it to show that it is a translation. Though Matthew wrote mainly for the Jews, yet they were everywhere familiar with the Greek language. The same reasons which would have suggested the necessity of a translation into Greek would have led the evangelist to write in Greek at first. It is confessed that this Gospel has never been found in any other form than that in which we now possess it.

The leading characteristic of this Gospel is that it sets forth the kingly glory of Christ, and shows him to be the true heir to David's throne. It is the Gospel of the kingdom. Matthew uses the expression "kingdom of heaven" (thirty-two times), while Luke uses the expression "kingdom of God" (thirty-three times). Some Latinized forms occur in this Gospel, as kodrantes (Matt. 5:26), for the Latin quadrans, and phragello (27:26), for the Latin flagello. It must be remembered that Matthew was a tax-gatherer for the Roman government, and hence in contact with those using the Latin language.

As to the relation of the Gospels to each other, we must maintain that each writer of the synoptics (the first three) wrote independently of the other two, Matthew being probably first in point of time.

"Out of a total of 1071 verses, Matthew has 387 in common with Mark and Luke, 130 with Mark, 184 with Luke; only 387 being peculiar to itself." (See MARK; LUKE; GOSPELS.)

The book is fitly divided into these four parts: (1.) Containing the genealogy, the birth, and the infancy of Jesus (1; 2).

(2.) The discourses and actions of John the Baptist preparatory to Christ's public ministry (3; 4:11).

(3.) The discourses and actions of Christ in Galilee (4:12-20:16).

(4.) The sufferings, death and resurrection of our Lord (20:17-28).

[1] The book of the generation of Jesus Christ, the son of David, the son of Abraham.

[2] Abraham was the father of Isaac; and Isaac was the father of Jacob; and Jacob was the father of Judas and his brothers;[3] And Judas was the father of Phares and Zara of Thamar; and Phares was the father of Esrom; and Esrom was the father of Aram;[4] And Aram was the father of Aminadab; and Aminadab was the father of Naasson; and Naasson was the father of Salmon;[5] And Salmon was the father of Booz of Rachab; and Booz was the father of Obed of Ruth; and Obed was the father of Jesse;[6] And Jesse was the father of David the king; and David the king was the father of Solomon of her that had been the wife of Urias;[7] And Solomon was the father of Roboam; and Roboam was the father of Abia; and Abia was the father of Asa;[8] And Asa was the father of Josaphat; and Josaphat was the father of Joram; and Joram was the father of Ozias;[9] And Ozias was the father of Joatham; and Joatham was the father of Achaz; and Achaz was the father of Ezekias;[10] And Ezekias was the father of Manasses; and Manasses was the father of Amon; and Amon was the father of Josias;[11] And Josias was the father of Jechonias and his brothers, about the time they were carried away to Babylon:[12] And after they were brought to Babylon, Jechonias was the father of Salathiel; and Salathiel was the father of Zorobabel;[13] And Zorobabel was the father of Abiud; and Abiud was the father of Eliakim; and Eliakim was the father of Azor;[14] And Azor was the father of Sadoc; and Sadoc was the father of Achim; and Achim was the father of Eliud;[15] And Eliud was the father of Eleazar; and Eleazar was the father of Matthan; and Matthan was the father of Jacob;[16] And Jacob was the father of Joseph the husband of Mary, of whom was born Jesus, who is called Christ.[17] So all the generations from Abraham to David are fourteen generations; and from David until the carrying away into Babylon are fourteen generations; and from the carrying away into Babylon to Christ are fourteen generations.

¶[18] Now the birth of Jesus Christ was on this wise: When as his mother Mary was espoused to Joseph, before they came together, she was found with child of the Holy Ghost.[19] Then Joseph her husband, being a just man, and not willing to make her a public example, was minded to put her away privately.[20] But while he thought on these things, behold, the angel of the LORD appeared to him in a dream, saying, Joseph, you son of David, fear not to take to you Mary your wife: for that which is conceived in her is of the Holy Ghost.[21] And she shall bring forth a son, and you shall call his name JESUS: for he shall save his people from their sins.[22] Now all this was done, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken of the Lord by the prophet, saying,[23] Behold, a virgin shall be with child, and shall bring forth a son, and they shall call his name Emmanuel, which being interpreted is, God with us.[24] Then Joseph being raised from sleep did as the angel of the Lord had bidden him, and took to him his wife:[25] And knew her not till she had brought forth her firstborn son: and he called his name JESUS.

[1] Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judaea in the days of Herod the king, behold, there came wise men from the east to Jerusalem,

[2] Saying, Where is he that is born King of the Jews? for we have seen his star in the east, and are come to worship him.[3] When Herod the king had heard these things, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him.[4] And when he had gathered all the chief priests and scribes of the people together, he demanded of them where Christ should be born.[5] And they said to him, In Bethlehem of Judaea: for thus it is written by the prophet,[6] And you Bethlehem, in the land of Juda, are not the least among the princes of Juda: for out of you shall come a Governor, that shall rule my people Israel.[7] Then Herod, when he had privately called the wise men, inquired of them diligently what time the star appeared.[8] And he sent them to Bethlehem, and said, Go and search diligently for the young child; and when you have found him, bring me word again, that I may come and worship him also.[9] When they had heard the king, they departed; and, see, the star, which they saw in the east, went before them, till it came and stood over where the young child was.[10] When they saw the star, they rejoiced with exceeding great joy. ¶[11] And when they were come into the house, they saw the young child with Mary his mother, and fell down, and worshipped him: and when they had opened their treasures, they presented to him gifts; gold, and frankincense and myrrh.[12] And being warned of God in a dream that they should not return to Herod, they departed into their own country another way.[13] And when they were departed, behold, the angel of the Lord appears to Joseph in a dream, saying, Arise, and take the young child and his mother, and flee into Egypt, and be you there until I bring you word: for Herod will seek the young child to destroy him.[14] When he arose, he took the young child and his mother by night, and departed into Egypt:[15] And was there until the death of Herod: that it might be fulfilled which was spoken of the Lord by the prophet, saying, Out of Egypt have I called my son. ¶[16] Then Herod, when he saw that he was mocked of the wise men, was exceeding wroth, and sent forth, and slew all the children that were in Bethlehem, and in all the coasts thereof, from two years old and under, according to the time which he had diligently inquired of the wise men.[17] Then was fulfilled that which was spoken by Jeremy the prophet, saying,[18] In Rama was there a voice heard, lamentation, and weeping, and great mourning, Rachel weeping for her children, and would not be comforted, because they are not. ¶[19] But when Herod was dead, behold, an angel of the Lord appears in a dream to Joseph in Egypt,[20] Saying, Arise, and take the young child and his mother, and go into the land of Israel: for they are dead which sought the young child's life.[21] And he arose, and took the young child and his mother, and came into the land of Israel.[22] But when he heard that Archelaus did reign in Judaea in the room of his father Herod, he was afraid to go thither: notwithstanding, being warned of God in a dream, he turned aside into the parts of Galilee:[23] And he came and dwelled in a city called Nazareth: that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophets, He shall be called a Nazarene.

[1] In those days came John the Baptist, preaching in the wilderness of Judaea,

[2] And saying, Repent you: for the kingdom of heaven is at hand.[3] For this is he that was spoken of by the prophet Isaiah, saying, The voice of one crying in the wilderness, Prepare you the way of the Lord, make his paths straight.[4] And the same John had his raiment of camel's hair, and a leather girdle about his loins; and his meat was locusts and wild honey.[5] Then went out to him Jerusalem, and all Judaea, and all the region round about Jordan,[6] And were baptized of him in Jordan, confessing their sins. ¶[7] But when he saw many of the Pharisees and Sadducees come to his baptism, he said to them, O generation of vipers, who has warned you to flee from the wrath to come?[8] Bring forth therefore fruits meet for repentance:[9] And think not to say within yourselves, We have Abraham to our father: for I say to you, that God is able of these stones to raise up children to Abraham.[10] And now also the ax is laid to the root of the trees: therefore every tree which brings not forth good fruit is hewn down, and cast into the fire.[11] I indeed baptize you with water to repentance. but he that comes after me is mightier than I, whose shoes I am not worthy to bear: he shall baptize you with the Holy Ghost, and with fire:[12] Whose fan is in his hand, and he will thoroughly purge his floor, and gather his wheat into the garner; but he will burn up the chaff with unquenchable fire. ¶[13] Then comes Jesus from Galilee to Jordan to John, to be baptized of him.[14] But John forbade him, saying, I have need to be baptized of you, and come you to me?[15] And Jesus answering said to him, Suffer it to be so now: for thus it becomes us to fulfill all righteousness. Then he suffered him.[16] And Jesus, when he was baptized, went up straightway out of the water: and, see, the heavens were opened to him, and he saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove, and lighting on him:[17] And see a voice from heaven, saying, This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased.

[1] Then was Jesus led up of the spirit into the wilderness to be tempted of the devil.

[2] And when he had fasted forty days and forty nights, he was afterward an hungered.[3] And when the tempter came to him, he said, If you be the Son of God, command that these stones be made bread.[4] But he answered and said, It is written, Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceeds out of the mouth of God.[5] Then the devil takes him up into the holy city, and sets him on a pinnacle of the temple,[6] And says to him, If you be the Son of God, cast yourself down: for it is written, He shall give his angels charge concerning you: and in their hands they shall bear you up, lest at any time you dash your foot against a stone.[7] Jesus said to him, It is written again, You shall not tempt the Lord your God.[8] Again, the devil takes him up into an exceeding high mountain, and shows him all the kingdoms of the world, and the glory of them;[9] And says to him, All these things will I give you, if you will fall down and worship me.[10] Then says Jesus to him, Get you hence, Satan: for it is written, You shall worship the Lord your God, and him only shall you serve.[11] Then the devil leaves him, and, behold, angels came and ministered to him. ¶[12] Now when Jesus had heard that John was cast into prison, he departed into Galilee;[13] And leaving Nazareth, he came and dwelled in Capernaum, which is on the sea coast, in the borders of Zabulon and Nephthalim:[14] That it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Isaiah the prophet, saying,[15] The land of Zabulon, and the land of Nephthalim, by the way of the sea, beyond Jordan, Galilee of the Gentiles;[16] The people which sat in darkness saw great light; and to them which sat in the region and shadow of death light is sprung up. ¶[17] From that time Jesus began to preach, and to say, Repent: for the kingdom of heaven is at hand. ¶[18] And Jesus, walking by the sea of Galilee, saw two brothers, Simon called Peter, and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the sea: for they were fishers.[19] And he says to them, Follow me, and I will make you fishers of men.[20] And they straightway left their nets, and followed him.[21] And going on from there, he saw other two brothers, James the son of Zebedee, and John his brother, in a ship with Zebedee their father, mending their nets; and he called them.[22] And they immediately left the ship and their father, and followed him. ¶[23] And Jesus went about all Galilee, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing all manner of sickness and all manner of disease among the people.[24] And his fame went throughout all Syria: and they brought to him all sick people that were taken with divers diseases and torments, and those which were possessed with devils, and those which were lunatic, and those that had the palsy; and he healed them.[25] And there followed him great multitudes of people from Galilee, and from Decapolis, and from Jerusalem, and from Judaea, and from beyond Jordan.

[1] And seeing the multitudes, he went up into a mountain: and when he was set, his disciples came to him:

[2] And he opened his mouth, and taught them, saying,[3] Blessed are the poor in spirit: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.[4] Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted.[5] Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth.[6] Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled.[7] Blessed are the merciful: for they shall obtain mercy.[8] Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God.[9] Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God.[10] Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness' sake: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.[11] Blessed are you, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake.[12] Rejoice, and be exceeding glad: for great is your reward in heaven: for so persecuted they the prophets which were before you. ¶[13] You are the salt of the earth: but if the salt have lost his flavor, with which shall it be salted? it is thereafter good for nothing, but to be cast out, and to be trodden under foot of men.[14] You are the light of the world. A city that is set on an hill cannot be hid.[15] Neither do men light a candle, and put it under a bushel, but on a candlestick; and it gives light to all that are in the house.[16] Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven. ¶[17] Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets: I am not come to destroy, but to fulfill.[18] For truly I say to you, Till heaven and earth pass, one stroke or one pronunciation mark shall in no wise pass from the law, till all be fulfilled.[19] Whoever therefore shall break one of these least commandments, and shall teach men so, he shall be called the least in the kingdom of heaven: but whoever shall do and teach them, the same shall be called great in the kingdom of heaven.[20] For I say to you, That except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees, you shall in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven. ¶[21] You have heard that it was said by them of old time, You shall not kill; and whoever shall kill shall be in danger of the judgment:[22] But I say to you, That whoever is angry with his brother without a cause shall be in danger of the judgment: and whoever shall say to his brother, Raca, shall be in danger of the council: but whoever shall say, You fool, shall be in danger of hell fire.[23] Therefore if you bring your gift to the altar, and there remember that your brother has something against you;[24] Leave there your gift before the altar, and go your way; first be reconciled to your brother, and then come and offer your gift.[25] Agree with your adversary quickly, whiles you are in the way with him; lest at any time the adversary deliver you to the judge, and the judge deliver you to the officer, and you be cast into prison.[26] Truly I say to you, You shall by no means come out there, till you have paid the uttermost farthing. ¶[27] You have heard that it was said by them of old time, You shall not commit adultery:[28] But I say to you, That whoever looks on a woman to lust after her has committed adultery with her already in his heart.[29] And if your right eye offend you, pluck it out, and cast it from you: for it is profitable for you that one of your members should perish, and not that your whole body should be cast into hell.[30] And if your right hand offend you, cut it off, and cast it from you: for it is profitable for you that one of your members should perish, and not that your whole body should be cast into hell.[31] It has been said, Whoever shall put away his wife, let him give her a writing of divorce:[32] But I say to you, That whoever shall put away his wife, saving for the cause of fornication, causes her to commit adultery: and whoever shall marry her that is divorced commits adultery. ¶[33] Again, you have heard that it has been said by them of old time, You shall not forswear yourself, but shall perform to the Lord your oaths:[34] But I say to you, Swear not at all; neither by heaven; for it is God's throne:[35] Nor by the earth; for it is his footstool: neither by Jerusalem; for it is the city of the great King.[36] Neither shall you swear by your head, because you can not make one hair white or black.[37] But let your communication be, Yes, yes; No, no: for whatever is more than these comes of evil. ¶[38] You have heard that it has been said, An eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth:[39] But I say to you, That you resist not evil: but whoever shall smite you on your right cheek, turn to him the other also.[40] And if any man will sue you at the law, and take away your coat, let him have your cloak also.[41] And whoever shall compel you to go a mile, go with him two.[42] Give to him that asks you, and from him that would borrow of you turn not you away. ¶[43] You have heard that it has been said, You shall love your neighbor, and hate your enemy.[44] But I say to you, Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which spitefully use you, and persecute you;[45] That you may be the children of your Father which is in heaven: for he makes his sun to rise on the evil and on the good, and sends rain on the just and on the unjust.[46] For if you love them which love you, what reward have you? do not even the publicans the same?[47] And if you salute your brothers only, what do you more than others? do not even the publicans so?[48] Be you therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect.

[1] Take heed that you do not your alms before men, to be seen of them: otherwise you have no reward of your Father which is in heaven.

[2] Therefore when you do your alms, do not sound a trumpet before you, as the hypocrites do in the synagogues and in the streets, that they may have glory of men. Truly I say to you, They have their reward.[3] But when you do alms, let not your left hand know what your right hand does:[4] That your alms may be in secret: and your Father which sees in secret himself shall reward you openly. ¶[5] And when you pray, you shall not be as the hypocrites are: for they love to pray standing in the synagogues and in the corners of the streets, that they may be seen of men. Truly I say to you, They have their reward.[6] But you, when you pray, enter into your closet, and when you have shut your door, pray to your Father which is in secret; and your Father which sees in secret shall reward you openly.[7] But when you pray, use not vain repetitions, as the heathen do: for they think that they shall be heard for their much speaking.[8] Be not you therefore like to them: for your Father knows what things you have need of, before you ask him.[9] After this manner therefore pray you: Our Father which are in heaven, Hallowed be your name.[10] Your kingdom come, Your will be done in earth, as it is in heaven.[11] Give us this day our daily bread.[12] And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors.[13] And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil: For your is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, for ever. Amen.[14] For if you forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgive you:[15] But if you forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses. ¶[16] Moreover when you fast, be not, as the hypocrites, of a sad countenance: for they disfigure their faces, that they may appear to men to fast. Truly I say to you, They have their reward.[17] But you, when you fast, anoint your head, and wash your face;[18] That you appear not to men to fast, but to your Father which is in secret: and your Father, which sees in secret, shall reward you openly. ¶[19] Lay not up for yourselves treasures on earth, where moth and rust does corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal:[20] But lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust does corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal:[21] For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also.[22] The light of the body is the eye: if therefore your eye be single, your whole body shall be full of light.[23] But if your eye be evil, your whole body shall be full of darkness. If therefore the light that is in you be darkness, how great is that darkness! ¶[24] No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. You cannot serve God and mammon.[25] Therefore I say to you, Take no thought for your life, what you shall eat, or what you shall drink; nor yet for your body, what you shall put on. Is not the life more than meat, and the body than raiment?[26] Behold the fowls of the air: for they sow not, neither do they reap, nor gather into barns; yet your heavenly Father feeds them. Are you not much better than they?[27] Which of you by taking thought can add one cubit to his stature?[28] And why take you thought for raiment? Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow; they toil not, neither do they spin:[29] And yet I say to you, That even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these.[30] Why, if God so clothe the grass of the field, which to day is, and to morrow is cast into the oven, shall he not much more clothe you, O you of little faith?[31] Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or, What shall we drink? or, Wherewithal shall we be clothed?[32] (For after all these things do the Gentiles seek:) for your heavenly Father knows that you have need of all these things.[33] But seek you first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added to you.[34] Take therefore no thought for the morrow: for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself. Sufficient to the day is the evil thereof.

[1] Judge not, that you be not judged.

[2] For with what judgment you judge, you shall be judged: and with what measure you mete, it shall be measured to you again.[3] And why behold you the mote that is in your brother's eye, but consider not the beam that is in your own eye?[4] Or how will you say to your brother, Let me pull out the mote out of your eye; and, behold, a beam is in your own eye?[5] You hypocrite, first cast out the beam out of your own eye; and then shall you see clearly to cast out the mote out of your brother's eye. ¶[6] Give not that which is holy to the dogs, neither cast you your pearls before swine, lest they trample them under their feet, and turn again and rend you. ¶[7] Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and you shall find; knock, and it shall be opened to you:[8] For every one that asks receives; and he that seeks finds; and to him that knocks it shall be opened.[9] Or what man is there of you, whom if his son ask bread, will he give him a stone?[10] Or if he ask a fish, will he give him a serpent?[11] If you then, being evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more shall your Father which is in heaven give good things to them that ask him?[12] Therefore all things whatever you would that men should do to you, do you even so to them: for this is the law and the prophets. ¶[13] Enter you in at the strait gate: for wide is the gate, and broad is the way, that leads to destruction, and many there be which go in thereat:[14] Because strait is the gate, and narrow is the way, which leads to life, and few there be that find it. ¶[15] Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves.[16] You shall know them by their fruits. Do men gather grapes of thorns, or figs of thistles?[17] Even so every good tree brings forth good fruit; but a corrupt tree brings forth evil fruit.[18] A good tree cannot bring forth evil fruit, neither can a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit.[19] Every tree that brings not forth good fruit is hewn down, and cast into the fire.[20] Why by their fruits you shall know them. ¶[21] Not every one that says to me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that does the will of my Father which is in heaven.[22] Many will say to me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in your name? and in your name have cast out devils? and in your name done many wonderful works?[23] And then will I profess to them, I never knew you: depart from me, you that work iniquity. ¶[24] Therefore whoever hears these sayings of mine, and does them, I will liken him to a wise man, which built his house on a rock:[25] And the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat on that house; and it fell not: for it was founded on a rock.[26] And every one that hears these sayings of mine, and does them not, shall be likened to a foolish man, which built his house on the sand:[27] And the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat on that house; and it fell: and great was the fall of it.[28] And it came to pass, when Jesus had ended these sayings, the people were astonished at his doctrine:[29] For he taught them as one having authority, and not as the scribes.

[1] When he was come down from the mountain, great multitudes followed him.

[2] And, behold, there came a leper and worshipped him, saying, Lord, if you will, you can make me clean.[3] And Jesus put forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I will; be you clean. And immediately his leprosy was cleansed.[4] And Jesus says to him, See you tell no man; but go your way, show yourself to the priest, and offer the gift that Moses commanded, for a testimony to them. ¶[5] And when Jesus was entered into Capernaum, there came to him a centurion, beseeching him,[6] And saying, Lord, my servant lies at home sick of the palsy, grievously tormented.[7] And Jesus says to him, I will come and heal him.[8] The centurion answered and said, Lord, I am not worthy that you should come under my roof: but speak the word only, and my servant shall be healed.[9] For I am a man under authority, having soldiers under me: and I say to this man, Go, and he goes; and to another, Come, and he comes; and to my servant, Do this, and he does it.[10] When Jesus heard it, he marveled, and said to them that followed, Truly I say to you, I have not found so great faith, no, not in Israel.[11] And I say to you, That many shall come from the east and west, and shall sit down with Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, in the kingdom of heaven.[12] But the children of the kingdom shall be cast out into outer darkness: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.[13] And Jesus said to the centurion, Go your way; and as you have believed, so be it done to you. And his servant was healed in the selfsame hour. ¶[14] And when Jesus was come into Peter's house, he saw his wife's mother laid, and sick of a fever.[15] And he touched her hand, and the fever left her: and she arose, and ministered to them. ¶[16] When the even was come, they brought to him many that were possessed with devils: and he cast out the spirits with his word, and healed all that were sick:[17] That it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Isaiah the prophet, saying, Himself took our infirmities, and bore our sicknesses. ¶[18] Now when Jesus saw great multitudes about him, he gave commandment to depart to the other side.[19] And a certain scribe came, and said to him, Master, I will follow you wherever you go.[20] And Jesus says to him, The foxes have holes, and the birds of the air have nests; but the Son of man has not where to lay his head.[21] And another of his disciples said to him, Lord, suffer me first to go and bury my father.[22] But Jesus said to him, Follow me; and let the dead bury their dead. ¶[23] And when he was entered into a ship, his disciples followed him.[24] And, behold, there arose a great tempest in the sea, so that the ship was covered with the waves: but he was asleep.[25] And his disciples came to him, and awoke him, saying, Lord, save us: we perish.[26] And he says to them, Why are you fearful, O you of little faith? Then he arose, and rebuked the winds and the sea; and there was a great calm.[27] But the men marveled, saying, What manner of man is this, that even the winds and the sea obey him! ¶[28] And when he was come to the other side into the country of the Gergesenes, there met him two possessed with devils, coming out of the tombs, exceeding fierce, so that no man might pass by that way.[29] And, behold, they cried out, saying, What have we to do with you, Jesus, you Son of God? are you come here to torment us before the time?[30] And there was a good way off from them an herd of many swine feeding.[31] So the devils sought him, saying, If you cast us out, suffer us to go away into the herd of swine.[32] And he said to them, Go. And when they were come out, they went into the herd of swine: and, behold, the whole herd of swine ran violently down a steep place into the sea, and perished in the waters.[33] And they that kept them fled, and went their ways into the city, and told every thing, and what was befallen to the possessed of the devils.[34] And, behold, the whole city came out to meet Jesus: and when they saw him, they sought him that he would depart out of their coasts.

[1] And he entered into a ship, and passed over, and came into his own city.

[2] And, behold, they brought to him a man sick of the palsy, lying on a bed: and Jesus seeing their faith said to the sick of the palsy; Son, be of good cheer; your sins be forgiven you.[3] And, behold, certain of the scribes said within themselves, This man blasphemes.[4] And Jesus knowing their thoughts said, Why think you evil in your hearts?[5] For whether is easier, to say, Your sins be forgiven you; or to say, Arise, and walk?[6] But that you may know that the Son of man has power on earth to forgive sins, (then says he to the sick of the palsy,) Arise, take up your bed, and go to your house.[7] And he arose, and departed to his house.[8] But when the multitudes saw it, they marveled, and glorified God, which had given such power to men. ¶[9] And as Jesus passed forth from there, he saw a man, named Matthew, sitting at the receipt of custom: and he says to him, Follow me. And he arose, and followed him. ¶[10] And it came to pass, as Jesus sat at meat in the house, behold, many publicans and sinners came and sat down with him and his disciples.[11] And when the Pharisees saw it, they said to his disciples, Why eats your Master with publicans and sinners?[12] But when Jesus heard that, he said to them, They that be whole need not a physician, but they that are sick.[13] But go you and learn what that means, I will have mercy, and not sacrifice: for I am not come to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance. ¶[14] Then came to him the disciples of John, saying, Why do we and the Pharisees fast oft, but your disciples fast not?[15] And Jesus said to them, Can the children of the bridal chamber mourn, as long as the bridegroom is with them? but the days will come, when the bridegroom shall be taken from them, and then shall they fast.[16] No man puts a piece of new cloth to an old garment, for that which is put in to fill it up takes from the garment, and the rent is made worse.[17] Neither do men put new wine into old bottles: else the bottles break, and the wine runs out, and the bottles perish: but they put new wine into new bottles, and both are preserved. ¶[18] While he spoke these things to them, behold, there came a certain ruler, and worshipped him, saying, My daughter is even now dead: but come and lay your hand on her, and she shall live.[19] And Jesus arose, and followed him, and so did his disciples.[20] And, behold, a woman, which was diseased with an issue of blood twelve years, came behind him, and touched the hem of his garment:[21] For she said within herself, If I may but touch his garment, I shall be whole.[22] But Jesus turned him about, and when he saw her, he said, Daughter, be of good comfort; your faith has made you whole. And the woman was made whole from that hour.[23] And when Jesus came into the ruler's house, and saw the minstrels and the people making a noise,[24] He said to them, Give place: for the maid is not dead, but sleeps. And they laughed him to scorn.[25] But when the people were put forth, he went in, and took her by the hand, and the maid arose.[26] And the fame hereof went abroad into all that land. ¶[27] And when Jesus departed there, two blind men followed him, crying, and saying, You son of David, have mercy on us.[28] And when he was come into the house, the blind men came to him: and Jesus says to them, Believe you that I am able to do this? They said to him, Yes, Lord.[29] Then touched he their eyes, saying, According to your faith be it to you.[30] And their eyes were opened; and Jesus straightly charged them, saying, See that no man know it.[31] But they, when they were departed, spread abroad his fame in all that country. ¶[32] As they went out, behold, they brought to him a dumb man possessed with a devil.[33] And when the devil was cast out, the dumb spoke: and the multitudes marveled, saying, It was never so seen in Israel.[34] But the Pharisees said, He casts out devils through the prince of the devils.[35] And Jesus went about all the cities and villages, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing every sickness and every disease among the people. ¶[36] But when he saw the multitudes, he was moved with compassion on them, because they fainted, and were scattered abroad, as sheep having no shepherd.[37] Then says he to his disciples, The harvest truly is plenteous, but the laborers are few;[38] Pray you therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he will send forth laborers into his harvest.

[1] And when he had called to him his twelve disciples, he gave them power against unclean spirits, to cast them out, and to heal all manner of sickness and all manner of disease.

[2] Now the names of the twelve apostles are these; The first, Simon, who is called Peter, and Andrew his brother; James the son of Zebedee, and John his brother;[3] Philip, and Bartholomew; Thomas, and Matthew the publican; James the son of Alphaeus, and Lebbaeus, whose surname was Thaddaeus;[4] Simon the Canaanite, and Judas Iscariot, who also betrayed him.[5] These twelve Jesus sent forth, and commanded them, saying, Go not into the way of the Gentiles, and into any city of the Samaritans enter you not:[6] But go rather to the lost sheep of the house of Israel.[7] And as you go, preach, saying, The kingdom of heaven is at hand.[8] Heal the sick, cleanse the lepers, raise the dead, cast out devils: freely you have received, freely give.[9] Provide neither gold, nor silver, nor brass in your purses,[10] Nor money for your journey, neither two coats, neither shoes, nor yet staves: for the workman is worthy of his meat.[11] And into whatever city or town you shall enter, inquire who in it is worthy; and there abide till you go there.[12] And when you come into an house, salute it.[13] And if the house be worthy, let your peace come on it: but if it be not worthy, let your peace return to you.[14] And whoever shall not receive you, nor hear your words, when you depart out of that house or city, shake off the dust of your feet.[15] Truly I say to you, It shall be more tolerable for the land of Sodom and Gomorrha in the day of judgment, than for that city. ¶[16] Behold, I send you forth as sheep in the middle of wolves: be you therefore wise as serpents, and harmless as doves.[17] But beware of men: for they will deliver you up to the councils, and they will whip you in their synagogues;[18] And you shall be brought before governors and kings for my sake, for a testimony against them and the Gentiles.[19] But when they deliver you up, take no thought how or what you shall speak: for it shall be given you in that same hour what you shall speak.[20] For it is not you that speak, but the Spirit of your Father which speaks in you.[21] And the brother shall deliver up the brother to death, and the father the child: and the children shall rise up against their parents, and cause them to be put to death.[22] And you shall be hated of all men for my name's sake: but he that endures to the end shall be saved.[23] But when they persecute you in this city, flee you into another: for truly I say to you, You shall not have gone over the cities of Israel, till the Son of man be come.[24] The disciple is not above his master, nor the servant above his lord.[25] It is enough for the disciple that he be as his master, and the servant as his lord. If they have called the master of the house Beelzebub, how much more shall they call them of his household?[26] Fear them not therefore: for there is nothing covered, that shall not be revealed; and hid, that shall not be known.[27] What I tell you in darkness, that speak you in light: and what you hear in the ear, that preach you on the housetops.[28] And fear not them which kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul: but rather fear him which is able to destroy both soul and body in hell.[29] Are not two sparrows sold for a farthing? and one of them shall not fall on the ground without your Father.[30] But the very hairs of your head are all numbered.[31] Fear you not therefore, you are of more value than many sparrows.[32] Whoever therefore shall confess me before men, him will I confess also before my Father which is in heaven.[33] But whoever shall deny me before men, him will I also deny before my Father which is in heaven.[34] Think not that I am come to send peace on earth: I came not to send peace, but a sword.[35] For I am come to set a man at variance against his father, and the daughter against her mother, and the daughter in law against her mother in law.[36] And a man's foes shall be they of his own household.[37] He that loves father or mother more than me is not worthy of me: and he that loves son or daughter more than me is not worthy of me.[38] And he that takes not his cross, and follows after me, is not worthy of me.[39] He that finds his life shall lose it: and he that loses his life for my sake shall find it. ¶[40] He that receives you receives me, and he that receives me receives him that sent me.[41] He that receives a prophet in the name of a prophet shall receive a prophet's reward; and he that receives a righteous man in the name of a righteous man shall receive a righteous man's reward.[42] And whoever shall give to drink to one of these little ones a cup of cold water only in the name of a disciple, truly I say to you, he shall in no wise lose his reward.

[1] And it came to pass, when Jesus had made an end of commanding his twelve disciples, he departed there to teach and to preach in their cities.

[2] Now when John had heard in the prison the works of Christ, he sent two of his disciples,[3] And said to him, Are you he that should come, or do we look for another?[4] Jesus answered and said to them, Go and show John again those things which you do hear and see:[5] The blind receive their sight, and the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, and the deaf hear, the dead are raised up, and the poor have the gospel preached to them.[6] And blessed is he, whoever shall not be offended in me. ¶[7] And as they departed, Jesus began to say to the multitudes concerning John, What went you out into the wilderness to see? A reed shaken with the wind?[8] But what went you out for to see? A man clothed in soft raiment? behold, they that wear soft clothing are in kings' houses.[9] But what went you out for to see? A prophet? yes, I say to you, and more than a prophet.[10] For this is he, of whom it is written, Behold, I send my messenger before your face, which shall prepare your way before you.[11] Truly I say to you, Among them that are born of women there has not risen a greater than John the Baptist: notwithstanding he that is least in the kingdom of heaven is greater than he.[12] And from the days of John the Baptist until now the kingdom of heaven suffers violence, and the violent take it by force.[13] For all the prophets and the law prophesied until John.[14] And if you will receive it, this is Elias, which was for to come.[15] He that has ears to hear, let him hear. ¶[16] But to what shall I liken this generation? It is like to children sitting in the markets, and calling to their fellows,[17] And saying, We have piped to you, and you have not danced; we have mourned to you, and you have not lamented.[18] For John came neither eating nor drinking, and they say, He has a devil.[19] The Son of man came eating and drinking, and they say, Behold a man gluttonous, and a drunkard, a friend of publicans and sinners. But wisdom is justified of her children. ¶[20] Then began he to upbraid the cities wherein most of his mighty works were done, because they repented not:[21] Woe to you, Chorazin! woe to you, Bethsaida! for if the mighty works, which were done in you, had been done in Tyre and Sidon, they would have repented long ago in sackcloth and ashes.[22] But I say to you, It shall be more tolerable for Tyre and Sidon at the day of judgment, than for you.[23] And you, Capernaum, which are exalted to heaven, shall be brought down to hell: for if the mighty works, which have been done in you, had been done in Sodom, it would have remained until this day.[24] But I say to you, That it shall be more tolerable for the land of Sodom in the day of judgment, than for you. ¶[25] At that time Jesus answered and said, I thank you, O Father, Lord of heaven and earth, because you have hid these things from the wise and prudent, and have revealed them to babes.[26] Even so, Father: for so it seemed good in your sight.[27] All things are delivered to me of my Father: and no man knows the Son, but the Father; neither knows any man the Father, save the Son, and he to whomsoever the Son will reveal him. ¶[28] Come to me, all you that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest.[29] Take my yoke on you, and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart: and you shall find rest to your souls.[30] For my yoke is easy, and my burden is light.

[1] At that time Jesus went on the sabbath day through the corn; and his disciples were an hungered, and began to pluck the ears of corn and to eat.

[2] But when the Pharisees saw it, they said to him, Behold, your disciples do that which is not lawful to do on the sabbath day.[3] But he said to them, Have you not read what David did, when he was an hungered, and they that were with him;[4] How he entered into the house of God, and did eat the show bread, which was not lawful for him to eat, neither for them which were with him, but only for the priests?[5] Or have you not read in the law, how that on the sabbath days the priests in the temple profane the sabbath, and are blameless?[6] But I say to you, That in this place is one greater than the temple.[7] But if you had known what this means, I will have mercy, and not sacrifice, you would not have condemned the guiltless.[8] For the Son of man is Lord even of the sabbath day.[9] And when he was departed there, he went into their synagogue: ¶[10] And, behold, there was a man which had his hand withered. And they asked him, saying, Is it lawful to heal on the sabbath days? that they might accuse him.[11] And he said to them, What man shall there be among you, that shall have one sheep, and if it fall into a pit on the sabbath day, will he not lay hold on it, and lift it out?[12] How much then is a man better than a sheep? Why it is lawful to do well on the sabbath days.[13] Then says he to the man, Stretch forth your hand. And he stretched it forth; and it was restored whole, like as the other. ¶[14] Then the Pharisees went out, and held a council against him, how they might destroy him.[15] But when Jesus knew it, he withdrew himself from there: and great multitudes followed him, and he healed them all;[16] And charged them that they should not make him known:[17] That it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Isaiah the prophet, saying,[18] Behold my servant, whom I have chosen; my beloved, in whom my soul is well pleased: I will put my spirit on him, and he shall show judgment to the Gentiles.[19] He shall not strive, nor cry; neither shall any man hear his voice in the streets.[20] A bruised reed shall he not break, and smoking flax shall he not quench, till he send forth judgment to victory.[21] And in his name shall the Gentiles trust. ¶[22] Then was brought to him one possessed with a devil, blind, and dumb: and he healed him, so that the blind and dumb both spoke and saw.[23] And all the people were amazed, and said, Is not this the son of David?[24] But when the Pharisees heard it, they said, This fellow does not cast out devils, but by Beelzebub the prince of the devils.[25] And Jesus knew their thoughts, and said to them, Every kingdom divided against itself is brought to desolation; and every city or house divided against itself shall not stand:[26] And if Satan cast out Satan, he is divided against himself; how shall then his kingdom stand?[27] And if I by Beelzebub cast out devils, by whom do your children cast them out? therefore they shall be your judges.[28] But if I cast out devils by the Spirit of God, then the kingdom of God is come to you.[29] Or else how can one enter into a strong man's house, and spoil his goods, except he first bind the strong man? and then he will spoil his house.[30] He that is not with me is against me; and he that gathers not with me scatters abroad. ¶[31] Why I say to you, All manner of sin and blasphemy shall be forgiven to men: but the blasphemy against the Holy Ghost shall not be forgiven to men.[32] And whoever speaks a word against the Son of man, it shall be forgiven him: but whoever speaks against the Holy Ghost, it shall not be forgiven him, neither in this world, neither in the world to come.[33] Either make the tree good, and his fruit good; or else make the tree corrupt, and his fruit corrupt: for the tree is known by his fruit.[34] O generation of vipers, how can you, being evil, speak good things? for out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaks.[35] A good man out of the good treasure of the heart brings forth good things: and an evil man out of the evil treasure brings forth evil things.[36] But I say to you, That every idle word that men shall speak, they shall give account thereof in the day of judgment.[37] For by your words you shall be justified, and by your words you shall be condemned. ¶[38] Then certain of the scribes and of the Pharisees answered, saying, Master, we would see a sign from you.[39] But he answered and said to them, An evil and adulterous generation seeks after a sign; and there shall no sign be given to it, but the sign of the prophet Jonas:[40] For as Jonas was three days and three nights in the whale's belly; so shall the Son of man be three days and three nights in the heart of the earth.[41] The men of Nineveh shall rise in judgment with this generation, and shall condemn it: because they repented at the preaching of Jonas; and, behold, a greater than Jonas is here.[42] The queen of the south shall rise up in the judgment with this generation, and shall condemn it: for she came from the uttermost parts of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon; and, behold, a greater than Solomon is here.[43] When the unclean spirit is gone out of a man, he walks through dry places, seeking rest, and finds none.[44] Then he says, I will return into my house from where I came out; and when he is come, he finds it empty, swept, and garnished.[45] Then goes he, and takes with himself seven other spirits more wicked than himself, and they enter in and dwell there: and the last state of that man is worse than the first. Even so shall it be also to this wicked generation. ¶[46] While he yet talked to the people, behold, his mother and his brothers stood without, desiring to speak with him.[47] Then one said to him, Behold, your mother and your brothers stand without, desiring to speak with you.[48] But he answered and said to him that told him, Who is my mother? and who are my brothers?[49] And he stretched forth his hand toward his disciples, and said, Behold my mother and my brothers![50] For whoever shall do the will of my Father which is in heaven, the same is my brother, and sister, and mother.

[1] The same day went Jesus out of the house, and sat by the sea side.

[2] And great multitudes were gathered together to him, so that he went into a ship, and sat; and the whole multitude stood on the shore.[3] And he spoke many things to them in parables, saying, Behold, a sower went forth to sow;[4] And when he sowed, some seeds fell by the way side, and the fowls came and devoured them up:[5] Some fell on stony places, where they had not much earth: and immediately they sprung up, because they had no deepness of earth:[6] And when the sun was up, they were scorched; and because they had no root, they withered away.[7] And some fell among thorns; and the thorns sprung up, and choked them:[8] But other fell into good ground, and brought forth fruit, some an hundred times, some sixty times, some thirty times.[9] Who has ears to hear, let him hear.[10] And the disciples came, and said to him, Why speak you to them in parables?[11] He answered and said to them, Because it is given to you to know the mysteries of the kingdom of heaven, but to them it is not given.[12] For whoever has, to him shall be given, and he shall have more abundance: but whoever has not, from him shall be taken away even that he has.[13] Therefore speak I to them in parables: because they seeing see not; and hearing they hear not, neither do they understand.[14] And in them is fulfilled the prophecy of Isaiah, which says, By hearing you shall hear, and shall not understand; and seeing you shall see, and shall not perceive:[15] For this people's heart is waxed gross, and their ears are dull of hearing, and their eyes they have closed; lest at any time they should see with their eyes and hear with their ears, and should understand with their heart, and should be converted, and I should heal them.[16] But blessed are your eyes, for they see: and your ears, for they hear.[17] For truly I say to you, That many prophets and righteous men have desired to see those things which you see, and have not seen them; and to hear those things which you hear, and have not heard them. ¶[18] Hear you therefore the parable of the sower.[19] When any one hears the word of the kingdom, and understands it not, then comes the wicked one, and catches away that which was sown in his heart. This is he which received seed by the way side.[20] But he that received the seed into stony places, the same is he that hears the word, and immediately with joy receives it;[21] Yet has he not root in himself, but endures for a while: for when tribulation or persecution rises because of the word, by and by he is offended.[22] He also that received seed among the thorns is he that hears the word; and the care of this world, and the deceitfulness of riches, choke the word, and he becomes unfruitful.[23] But he that received seed into the good ground is he that hears the word, and understands it; which also bears fruit, and brings forth, some an hundred times, some sixty, some thirty. ¶[24] Another parable put he forth to them, saying, The kingdom of heaven is likened to a man which sowed good seed in his field:[25] But while men slept, his enemy came and sowed tares among the wheat, and went his way.[26] But when the blade was sprung up, and brought forth fruit, then appeared the tares also.[27] So the servants of the householder came and said to him, Sir, did not you sow good seed in your field? from where then has it tares?[28] He said to them, An enemy has done this. The servants said to him, Will you then that we go and gather them up?[29] But he said, No; lest while you gather up the tares, you root up also the wheat with them.[30] Let both grow together until the harvest: and in the time of harvest I will say to the reapers, Gather you together first the tares, and bind them in bundles to burn them: but gather the wheat into my barn. ¶[31] Another parable put he forth to them, saying, The kingdom of heaven is like to a grain of mustard seed, which a man took, and sowed in his field:[32] Which indeed is the least of all seeds: but when it is grown, it is the greatest among herbs, and becomes a tree, so that the birds of the air come and lodge in the branches thereof. ¶[33] Another parable spoke he to them; The kingdom of heaven is like to leaven, which a woman took, and hid in three measures of meal, till the whole was leavened.[34] All these things spoke Jesus to the multitude in parables; and without a parable spoke he not to them:[35] That it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophet, saying, I will open my mouth in parables; I will utter things which have been kept secret from the foundation of the world.[36] Then Jesus sent the multitude away, and went into the house: and his disciples came to him, saying, Declare to us the parable of the tares of the field.[37] He answered and said to them, He that sows the good seed is the Son of man;[38] The field is the world; the good seed are the children of the kingdom; but the tares are the children of the wicked one;[39] The enemy that sowed them is the devil; the harvest is the end of the world; and the reapers are the angels.[40] As therefore the tares are gathered and burned in the fire; so shall it be in the end of this world.[41] The Son of man shall send forth his angels, and they shall gather out of his kingdom all things that offend, and them which do iniquity;[42] And shall cast them into a furnace of fire: there shall be wailing and gnashing of teeth.[43] Then shall the righteous shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of their Father. Who has ears to hear, let him hear. ¶[44] Again, the kingdom of heaven is like to treasure hid in a field; the which when a man has found, he hides, and for joy thereof goes and sells all that he has, and buys that field. ¶[45] Again, the kingdom of heaven is like to a merchant man, seeking goodly pearls:[46] Who, when he had found one pearl of great price, went and sold all that he had, and bought it. ¶[47] Again, the kingdom of heaven is like to a net, that was cast into the sea, and gathered of every kind:[48] Which, when it was full, they drew to shore, and sat down, and gathered the good into vessels, but cast the bad away.[49] So shall it be at the end of the world: the angels shall come forth, and sever the wicked from among the just,[50] And shall cast them into the furnace of fire: there shall be wailing and gnashing of teeth.[51] Jesus says to them, Have you understood all these things? They say to him, Yes, Lord.[52] Then said he to them, Therefore every scribe which is instructed to the kingdom of heaven is like to a man that is an householder, which brings forth out of his treasure things new and old. ¶[53] And it came to pass, that when Jesus had finished these parables, he departed there.[54] And when he was come into his own country, he taught them in their synagogue, so that they were astonished, and said, From where has this man this wisdom, and these mighty works?[55] Is not this the carpenter's son? is not his mother called Mary? and his brothers, James, and Joses, and Simon, and Judas?[56] And his sisters, are they not all with us? From where then has this man all these things?[57] And they were offended in him. But Jesus said to them, A prophet is not without honor, save in his own country, and in his own house.[58] And he did not many mighty works there because of their unbelief.

[1] At that time Herod the tetrarch heard of the fame of Jesus,

[2] And said to his servants, This is John the Baptist; he is risen from the dead; and therefore mighty works do show forth themselves in him. ¶[3] For Herod had laid hold on John, and bound him, and put him in prison for Herodias' sake, his brother Philip's wife.[4] For John said to him, It is not lawful for you to have her.[5] And when he would have put him to death, he feared the multitude, because they counted him as a prophet.[6] But when Herod's birthday was kept, the daughter of Herodias danced before them, and pleased Herod.[7] Whereupon he promised with an oath to give her whatever she would ask.[8] And she, being before instructed of her mother, said, Give me here John Baptist's head in a charger.[9] And the king was sorry: nevertheless for the oath's sake, and them which sat with him at meat, he commanded it to be given her.[10] And he sent, and beheaded John in the prison.[11] And his head was brought in a charger, and given to the damsel: and she brought it to her mother.[12] And his disciples came, and took up the body, and buried it, and went and told Jesus. ¶[13] When Jesus heard of it, he departed there by ship into a desert place apart: and when the people had heard thereof, they followed him on foot out of the cities.[14] And Jesus went forth, and saw a great multitude, and was moved with compassion toward them, and he healed their sick. ¶[15] And when it was evening, his disciples came to him, saying, This is a desert place, and the time is now past; send the multitude away, that they may go into the villages, and buy themselves victuals.[16] But Jesus said to them, They need not depart; give you them to eat.[17] And they say to him, We have here but five loaves, and two fishes.[18] He said, Bring them here to me.[19] And he commanded the multitude to sit down on the grass, and took the five loaves, and the two fishes, and looking up to heaven, he blessed, and broke, and gave the loaves to his disciples, and the disciples to the multitude.[20] And they did all eat, and were filled: and they took up of the fragments that remained twelve baskets full.[21] And they that had eaten were about five thousand men, beside women and children. ¶[22] And straightway Jesus constrained his disciples to get into a ship, and to go before him to the other side, while he sent the multitudes away.[23] And when he had sent the multitudes away, he went up into a mountain apart to pray: and when the evening was come, he was there alone.[24] But the ship was now in the middle of the sea, tossed with waves: for the wind was contrary.[25] And in the fourth watch of the night Jesus went to them, walking on the sea.[26] And when the disciples saw him walking on the sea, they were troubled, saying, It is a spirit; and they cried out for fear.[27] But straightway Jesus spoke to them, saying, Be of good cheer; it is I; be not afraid.[28] And Peter answered him and said, Lord, if it be you, bid me come to you on the water.[29] And he said, Come. And when Peter was come down out of the ship, he walked on the water, to go to Jesus.[30] But when he saw the wind boisterous, he was afraid; and beginning to sink, he cried, saying, Lord, save me.[31] And immediately Jesus stretched forth his hand, and caught him, and said to him, O you of little faith, why did you doubt?[32] And when they were come into the ship, the wind ceased.[33] Then they that were in the ship came and worshipped him, saying, Of a truth you are the Son of God. ¶[34] And when they were gone over, they came into the land of Gennesaret.[35] And when the men of that place had knowledge of him, they sent out into all that country round about, and brought to him all that were diseased;[36] And sought him that they might only touch the hem of his garment: and as many as touched were made perfectly whole.

[1] Then came to Jesus scribes and Pharisees, which were of Jerusalem, saying,

[2] Why do your disciples transgress the tradition of the elders? for they wash not their hands when they eat bread.[3] But he answered and said to them, Why do you also transgress the commandment of God by your tradition?[4] For God commanded, saying, Honor your father and mother: and, He that curses father or mother, let him die the death.[5] But you say, Whoever shall say to his father or his mother, It is a gift, by whatever you might be profited by me;[6] And honor not his father or his mother, he shall be free. Thus have you made the commandment of God of none effect by your tradition.[7] You hypocrites, well did Isaiah prophesy of you, saying,[8] This people draws near to me with their mouth, and honors me with their lips; but their heart is far from me.[9] But in vain they do worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men. ¶[10] And he called the multitude, and said to them, Hear, and understand:[11] Not that which goes into the mouth defiles a man; but that which comes out of the mouth, this defiles a man.[12] Then came his disciples, and said to him, Know you that the Pharisees were offended, after they heard this saying?[13] But he answered and said, Every plant, which my heavenly Father has not planted, shall be rooted up.[14] Let them alone: they be blind leaders of the blind. And if the blind lead the blind, both shall fall into the ditch.[15] Then answered Peter and said to him, Declare to us this parable.[16] And Jesus said, Are you also yet without understanding?[17] Do not you yet understand, that whatever enters in at the mouth goes into the belly, and is cast out into the draught?[18] But those things which proceed out of the mouth come forth from the heart; and they defile the man.[19] For out of the heart proceed evil thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false witness, blasphemies:[20] These are the things which defile a man: but to eat with unwashed hands defiles not a man. ¶[21] Then Jesus went there, and departed into the coasts of Tyre and Sidon.[22] And, behold, a woman of Canaan came out of the same coasts, and cried to him, saying, Have mercy on me, O Lord, you son of David; my daughter is grievously vexed with a devil.[23] But he answered her not a word. And his disciples came and sought him, saying, Send her away; for she cries after us.[24] But he answered and said, I am not sent but to the lost sheep of the house of Israel.[25] Then came she and worshipped him, saying, Lord, help me.[26] But he answered and said, It is not meet to take the children's bread, and to cast it to dogs.[27] And she said, Truth, Lord: yet the dogs eat of the crumbs which fall from their masters' table.[28] Then Jesus answered and said to her, O woman, great is your faith: be it to you even as you will. And her daughter was made whole from that very hour.[29] And Jesus departed from there, and came near to the sea of Galilee; and went up into a mountain, and sat down there.[30] And great multitudes came to him, having with them those that were lame, blind, dumb, maimed, and many others, and cast them down at Jesus' feet; and he healed them:[31] So that the multitude wondered, when they saw the dumb to speak, the maimed to be whole, the lame to walk, and the blind to see: and they glorified the God of Israel. ¶[32] Then Jesus called his disciples to him, and said, I have compassion on the multitude, because they continue with me now three days, and have nothing to eat: and I will not send them away fasting, lest they faint in the way.[33] And his disciples say to him, From where should we have so much bread in the wilderness, as to fill so great a multitude?[34] And Jesus says to them, How many loaves have you? And they said, Seven, and a few little fishes.[35] And he commanded the multitude to sit down on the ground.[36] And he took the seven loaves and the fishes, and gave thanks, and broke them, and gave to his disciples, and the disciples to the multitude.[37] And they did all eat, and were filled: and they took up of the broken meat that was left seven baskets full.[38] And they that did eat were four thousand men, beside women and children.[39] And he sent away the multitude, and took ship, and came into the coasts of Magdala.

[1] The Pharisees also with the Sadducees came, and tempting desired him that he would show them a sign from heaven.

[2] He answered and said to them, When it is evening, you say, It will be fair weather: for the sky is red.[3] And in the morning, It will be foul weather to day: for the sky is red and lowering. O you hypocrites, you can discern the face of the sky; but can you not discern the signs of the times?[4] A wicked and adulterous generation seeks after a sign; and there shall no sign be given to it, but the sign of the prophet Jonas. And he left them, and departed.[5] And when his disciples were come to the other side, they had forgotten to take bread. ¶[6] Then Jesus said to them, Take heed and beware of the leaven of the Pharisees and of the Sadducees.[7] And they reasoned among themselves, saying, It is because we have taken no bread.[8] Which when Jesus perceived, he said to them, O you of little faith, why reason you among yourselves, because you have brought no bread?[9] Do you not yet understand, neither remember the five loaves of the five thousand, and how many baskets you took up?[10] Neither the seven loaves of the four thousand, and how many baskets you took up?[11] How is it that you do not understand that I spoke it not to you concerning bread, that you should beware of the leaven of the Pharisees and of the Sadducees?[12] Then understood they how that he bade them not beware of the leaven of bread, but of the doctrine of the Pharisees and of the Sadducees. ¶[13] When Jesus came into the coasts of Caesarea Philippi, he asked his disciples, saying, Whom do men say that I the Son of man am?[14] And they said, Some say that you are John the Baptist: some, Elias; and others, Jeremias, or one of the prophets.[15] He says to them, But whom say you that I am?[16] And Simon Peter answered and said, You are the Christ, the Son of the living God.[17] And Jesus answered and said to him, Blessed are you, Simon Barjona: for flesh and blood has not revealed it to you, but my Father which is in heaven.[18] And I say also to you, That you are Peter, and on this rock I will build my church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it.[19] And I will give to you the keys of the kingdom of heaven: and whatever you shall bind on earth shall be bound in heaven: and whatever you shall loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven.[20] Then charged he his disciples that they should tell no man that he was Jesus the Christ. ¶[21] From that time forth began Jesus to show to his disciples, how that he must go to Jerusalem, and suffer many things of the elders and chief priests and scribes, and be killed, and be raised again the third day.[22] Then Peter took him, and began to rebuke him, saying, Be it far from you, Lord: this shall not be to you.[23] But he turned, and said to Peter, Get you behind me, Satan: you are an offense to me: for you mind not the things that be of God, but those that be of men. ¶[24] Then said Jesus to his disciples, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me.[25] For whoever will save his life shall lose it: and whoever will lose his life for my sake shall find it.[26] For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?[27] For the Son of man shall come in the glory of his Father with his angels; and then he shall reward every man according to his works.[28] Truly I say to you, There be some standing here, which shall not taste of death, till they see the Son of man coming in his kingdom.

[1] And after six days Jesus takes Peter, James, and John his brother, and brings them up into an high mountain apart,

[2] And was transfigured before them: and his face did shine as the sun, and his raiment was white as the light.[3] And, behold, there appeared to them Moses and Elias talking with him.[4] Then answered Peter, and said to Jesus, Lord, it is good for us to be here: if you will, let us make here three tabernacles; one for you, and one for Moses, and one for Elias.[5] While he yet spoke, behold, a bright cloud overshadowed them: and behold a voice out of the cloud, which said, This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased; hear you him.[6] And when the disciples heard it, they fell on their face, and were sore afraid.[7] And Jesus came and touched them, and said, Arise, and be not afraid.[8] And when they had lifted up their eyes, they saw no man, save Jesus only.[9] And as they came down from the mountain, Jesus charged them, saying, Tell the vision to no man, until the Son of man be risen again from the dead.[10] And his disciples asked him, saying, Why then say the scribes that Elias must first come?[11] And Jesus answered and said to them, Elias truly shall first come, and restore all things.[12] But I say to you, That Elias is come already, and they knew him not, but have done to him whatever they listed. Likewise shall also the Son of man suffer of them.[13] Then the disciples understood that he spoke to them of John the Baptist. ¶[14] And when they were come to the multitude, there came to him a certain man, kneeling down to him, and saying,[15] Lord, have mercy on my son: for he is lunatic, and sore vexed: for often he falls into the fire, and oft into the water.[16] And I brought him to your disciples, and they could not cure him.[17] Then Jesus answered and said, O faithless and perverse generation, how long shall I be with you? how long shall I suffer you? bring him here to me.[18] And Jesus rebuked the devil; and he departed out of him: and the child was cured from that very hour.[19] Then came the disciples to Jesus apart, and said, Why could not we cast him out?[20] And Jesus said to them, Because of your unbelief: for truly I say to you, If you have faith as a grain of mustard seed, you shall say to this mountain, Remove hence to yonder place; and it shall remove; and nothing shall be impossible to you.[21] However, this kind goes not out but by prayer and fasting. ¶[22] And while they stayed in Galilee, Jesus said to them, The Son of man shall be betrayed into the hands of men:[23] And they shall kill him, and the third day he shall be raised again. And they were exceeding sorry. ¶[24] And when they were come to Capernaum, they that received tribute money came to Peter, and said, Does not your master pay tribute?[25] He says, Yes. And when he was come into the house, Jesus prevented him, saying, What think you, Simon? of whom do the kings of the earth take custom or tribute? of their own children, or of strangers?[26] Peter says to him, Of strangers. Jesus says to him, Then are the children free.[27] Notwithstanding, lest we should offend them, go you to the sea, and cast an hook, and take up the fish that first comes up; and when you have opened his mouth, you shall find a piece of money: that take, and give to them for me and you.

[2] And Jesus called a little child to him, and set him in the middle of them,[3] And said, Truly I say to you, Except you be converted, and become as little children, you shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven.[4] Whoever therefore shall humble himself as this little child, the same is greatest in the kingdom of heaven.[5] And whoever shall receive one such little child in my name receives me.[6] But whoever shall offend one of these little ones which believe in me, it were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and that he were drowned in the depth of the sea. ¶[7] Woe to the world because of offenses! for it must needs be that offenses come; but woe to that man by whom the offense comes![8] Why if your hand or your foot offend you, cut them off, and cast them from you: it is better for you to enter into life halt or maimed, rather than having two hands or two feet to be cast into everlasting fire.[9] And if your eye offend you, pluck it out, and cast it from you: it is better for you to enter into life with one eye, rather than having two eyes to be cast into hell fire.[10] Take heed that you despise not one of these little ones; for I say to you, That in heaven their angels do always behold the face of my Father which is in heaven.[11] For the Son of man is come to save that which was lost.[12] How think you? if a man have an hundred sheep, and one of them be gone astray, does he not leave the ninety and nine, and goes into the mountains, and seeks that which is gone astray?[13] And if so be that he find it, truly I say to you, he rejoices more of that sheep, than of the ninety and nine which went not astray.[14] Even so it is not the will of your Father which is in heaven, that one of these little ones should perish. ¶[15] Moreover if your brother shall trespass against you, go and tell him his fault between you and him alone: if he shall hear you, you have gained your brother.[16] But if he will not hear you, then take with you one or two more, that in the mouth of two or three witnesses every word may be established.[17] And if he shall neglect to hear them, tell it to the church: but if he neglect to hear the church, let him be to you as an heathen man and a publican.[18] Truly I say to you, Whatever you shall bind on earth shall be bound in heaven: and whatever you shall loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven.[19] Again I say to you, That if two of you shall agree on earth as touching any thing that they shall ask, it shall be done for them of my Father which is in heaven.[20] For where two or three are gathered together in my name, there am I in the middle of them. ¶[21] Then came Peter to him, and said, Lord, how oft shall my brother sin against me, and I forgive him? till seven times?[22] Jesus says to him, I say not to you, Until seven times: but, Until seventy times seven. ¶[23] Therefore is the kingdom of heaven likened to a certain king, which would take account of his servants.[24] And when he had begun to reckon, one was brought to him, which owed him ten thousand talents.[25] But for as much as he had not to pay, his lord commanded him to be sold, and his wife, and children, and all that he had, and payment to be made.[26] The servant therefore fell down, and worshipped him, saying, Lord, have patience with me, and I will pay you all.[27] Then the lord of that servant was moved with compassion, and loosed him, and forgave him the debt.[28] But the same servant went out, and found one of his fellow servants, which owed him an hundred pence: and he laid hands on him, and took him by the throat, saying, Pay me that you owe.[29] And his fellow servant fell down at his feet, and sought him, saying, Have patience with me, and I will pay you all.[30] And he would not: but went and cast him into prison, till he should pay the debt.[31] So when his fellow servants saw what was done, they were very sorry, and came and told to their lord all that was done.[32] Then his lord, after that he had called him, said to him, O you wicked servant, I forgave you all that debt, because you desired me:[33] Should not you also have had compassion on your fellow servant, even as I had pity on you?[34] And his lord was wroth, and delivered him to the tormentors, till he should pay all that was due to him.[35] So likewise shall my heavenly Father do also to you, if you from your hearts forgive not every one his brother their trespasses.

[2] And great multitudes followed him; and he healed them there. ¶[3] The Pharisees also came to him, tempting him, and saying to him, Is it lawful for a man to put away his wife for every cause?[4] And he answered and said to them, Have you not read, that he which made them at the beginning made them male and female,[5] And said, For this cause shall a man leave father and mother, and shall join to his wife: and they two shall be one flesh?[6] Why they are no more two, but one flesh. What therefore God has joined together, let not man put asunder.[7] They say to him, Why did Moses then command to give a writing of divorce, and to put her away?[8] He says to them, Moses because of the hardness of your hearts suffered you to put away your wives: but from the beginning it was not so.[9] And I say to you, Whoever shall put away his wife, except it be for fornication, and shall marry another, commits adultery: and whoever marries her which is put away does commit adultery. ¶[10] His disciples say to him, If the case of the man be so with his wife, it is not good to marry.[11] But he said to them, All men cannot receive this saying, save they to whom it is given.[12] For there are some eunuchs, which were so born from their mother's womb: and there are some eunuchs, which were made eunuchs of men: and there be eunuchs, which have made themselves eunuchs for the kingdom of heaven's sake. He that is able to receive it, let him receive it. ¶[13] Then were there brought to him little children, that he should put his hands on them, and pray: and the disciples rebuked them.[14] But Jesus said, Suffer little children, and forbid them not, to come to me: for of such is the kingdom of heaven.[15] And he laid his hands on them, and departed there. ¶[16] And, behold, one came and said to him, Good Master, what good thing shall I do, that I may have eternal life?[17] And he said to him, Why call you me good? there is none good but one, that is, God: but if you will enter into life, keep the commandments.[18] He says to him, Which? Jesus said, You shall do no murder, You shall not commit adultery, You shall not steal, You shall not bear false witness,[19] Honor your father and your mother: and, You shall love your neighbor as yourself.[20] The young man says to him, All these things have I kept from my youth up: what lack I yet?[21] Jesus said to him, If you will be perfect, go and sell that you have, and give to the poor, and you shall have treasure in heaven: and come and follow me.[22] But when the young man heard that saying, he went away sorrowful: for he had great possessions. ¶[23] Then said Jesus to his disciples, Truly I say to you, That a rich man shall hardly enter into the kingdom of heaven.[24] And again I say to you, It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle, than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God.[25] When his disciples heard it, they were exceedingly amazed, saying, Who then can be saved?[26] But Jesus beheld them, and said to them, With men this is impossible; but with God all things are possible. ¶[27] Then answered Peter and said to him, Behold, we have forsaken all, and followed you; what shall we have therefore?[28] And Jesus said to them, Truly I say to you, That you which have followed me, in the regeneration when the Son of man shall sit in the throne of his glory, you also shall sit on twelve thrones, judging the twelve tribes of Israel.[29] And every one that has forsaken houses, or brothers, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or lands, for my name's sake, shall receive an hundred times, and shall inherit everlasting life.[30] But many that are first shall be last; and the last shall be first.

[1] For the kingdom of heaven is like to a man that is an householder, which went out early in the morning to hire laborers into his vineyard.

[2] And when he had agreed with the laborers for a penny a day, he sent them into his vineyard.[3] And he went out about the third hour, and saw others standing idle in the marketplace,[4] And said to them; Go you also into the vineyard, and whatever is right I will give you. And they went their way.[5] Again he went out about the sixth and ninth hour, and did likewise.[6] And about the eleventh hour he went out, and found others standing idle, and says to them, Why stand you here all the day idle?[7] They say to him, Because no man has hired us. He says to them, Go you also into the vineyard; and whatever is right, that shall you receive.[8] So when even was come, the lord of the vineyard says to his steward, Call the laborers, and give them their hire, beginning from the last to the first.[9] And when they came that were hired about the eleventh hour, they received every man a penny.[10] But when the first came, they supposed that they should have received more; and they likewise received every man a penny.[11] And when they had received it, they murmured against the manager of the house,[12] Saying, These last have worked but one hour, and you have made them equal to us, which have borne the burden and heat of the day.[13] But he answered one of them, and said, Friend, I do you no wrong: did not you agree with me for a penny?[14] Take that your is, and go your way: I will give to this last, even as to you.[15] Is it not lawful for me to do what I will with my own? Is your eye evil, because I am good?[16] So the last shall be first, and the first last: for many be called, but few chosen. ¶[17] And Jesus going up to Jerusalem took the twelve disciples apart in the way, and said to them,[18] Behold, we go up to Jerusalem; and the Son of man shall be betrayed to the chief priests and to the scribes, and they shall condemn him to death,[19] And shall deliver him to the Gentiles to mock, and to whip, and to crucify him: and the third day he shall rise again. ¶[20] Then came to him the mother of Zebedees children with her sons, worshipping him, and desiring a certain thing of him.[21] And he said to her, What will you? She says to him, Grant that these my two sons may sit, the one on your right hand, and the other on the left, in your kingdom.[22] But Jesus answered and said, You know not what you ask. Are you able to drink of the cup that I shall drink of, and to be baptized with the baptism that I am baptized with? They say to him, We are able.[23] And he says to them, You shall drink indeed of my cup, and be baptized with the baptism that I am baptized with: but to sit on my right hand, and on my left, is not my to give, but it shall be given to them for whom it is prepared of my Father.[24] And when the ten heard it, they were moved with indignation against the two brothers.[25] But Jesus called them to him, and said, You know that the princes of the Gentiles exercise dominion over them, and they that are great exercise authority on them.[26] But it shall not be so among you: but whoever will be great among you, let him be your minister;[27] And whoever will be chief among you, let him be your servant:[28] Even as the Son of man came not to be ministered to, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many.[29] And as they departed from Jericho, a great multitude followed him. ¶[30] And, behold, two blind men sitting by the way side, when they heard that Jesus passed by, cried out, saying, Have mercy on us, O Lord, you son of David.[31] And the multitude rebuked them, because they should hold their peace: but they cried the more, saying, Have mercy on us, O Lord, you son of David.[32] And Jesus stood still, and called them, and said, What will you that I shall do to you?[33] They say to him, Lord, that our eyes may be opened.[34] So Jesus had compassion on them, and touched their eyes: and immediately their eyes received sight, and they followed him.

[1] And when they drew near to Jerusalem, and were come to Bethphage, to the mount of Olives, then sent Jesus two disciples,

[2] Saying to them, Go into the village over against you, and straightway you shall find an ass tied, and a colt with her: loose them, and bring them to me.[3] And if any man say something to you, you shall say, The Lord has need of them; and straightway he will send them.[4] All this was done, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophet, saying,[5] Tell you the daughter of Sion, Behold, your King comes to you, meek, and sitting on an ass, and a colt the foal of an ass.[6] And the disciples went, and did as Jesus commanded them,[7] And brought the ass, and the colt, and put on them their clothes, and they set him thereon.[8] And a very great multitude spread their garments in the way; others cut down branches from the trees, and strewed them in the way.[9] And the multitudes that went before, and that followed, cried, saying, Hosanna to the son of David: Blessed is he that comes in the name of the Lord; Hosanna in the highest.[10] And when he was come into Jerusalem, all the city was moved, saying, Who is this?[11] And the multitude said, This is Jesus the prophet of Nazareth of Galilee. ¶[12] And Jesus went into the temple of God, and cast out all them that sold and bought in the temple, and overthrew the tables of the moneychangers, and the seats of them that sold doves,[13] And said to them, It is written, My house shall be called the house of prayer; but you have made it a den of thieves.[14] And the blind and the lame came to him in the temple; and he healed them.[15] And when the chief priests and scribes saw the wonderful things that he did, and the children crying in the temple, and saying, Hosanna to the son of David; they were sore displeased,[16] And said to him, Hear you what these say? And Jesus says to them, Yes; have you never read, Out of the mouth of babes and sucklings you have perfected praise? ¶[17] And he left them, and went out of the city into Bethany; and he lodged there.[18] Now in the morning as he returned into the city, he hungry.[19] And when he saw a fig tree in the way, he came to it, and found nothing thereon, but leaves only, and said to it, Let no fruit grow on you henceforward for ever. And presently the fig tree withered away.[20] And when the disciples saw it, they marveled, saying, How soon is the fig tree withered away![21] Jesus answered and said to them, Truly I say to you, If you have faith, and doubt not, you shall not only do this which is done to the fig tree, but also if you shall say to this mountain, Be you removed, and be you cast into the sea; it shall be done.[22] And all things, whatever you shall ask in prayer, believing, you shall receive. ¶[23] And when he was come into the temple, the chief priests and the elders of the people came to him as he was teaching, and said, By what authority do you these things? and who gave you this authority?[24] And Jesus answered and said to them, I also will ask you one thing, which if you tell me, I in like wise will tell you by what authority I do these things.[25] The baptism of John, from where was it? from heaven, or of men? And they reasoned with themselves, saying, If we shall say, From heaven; he will say to us, Why did you not then believe him?[26] But if we shall say, Of men; we fear the people; for all hold John as a prophet.[27] And they answered Jesus, and said, We cannot tell. And he said to them, Neither tell I you by what authority I do these things. ¶[28] But what think you? A certain man had two sons; and he came to the first, and said, Son, go work to day in my vineyard.[29] He answered and said, I will not: but afterward he repented, and went.[30] And he came to the second, and said likewise. And he answered and said, I go, sir: and went not.[31] Whether of them two did the will of his father? They say to him, The first. Jesus says to them, Truly I say to you, That the publicans and the harlots go into the kingdom of God before you.[32] For John came to you in the way of righteousness, and you believed him not: but the publicans and the harlots believed him: and you, when you had seen it, repented not afterward, that you might believe him. ¶[33] Hear another parable: There was a certain householder, which planted a vineyard, and hedged it round about, and dig a wine press in it, and built a tower, and let it out to farmers, and went into a far country:[34] And when the time of the fruit drew near, he sent his servants to the farmers, that they might receive the fruits of it.[35] And the farmers took his servants, and beat one, and killed another, and stoned another.[36] Again, he sent other servants more than the first: and they did to them likewise.[37] But last of all he sent to them his son, saying, They will reverence my son.[38] But when the farmers saw the son, they said among themselves, This is the heir; come, let us kill him, and let us seize on his inheritance.[39] And they caught him, and cast him out of the vineyard, and slew him.[40] When the lord therefore of the vineyard comes, what will he do to those farmers?[41] They say to him, He will miserably destroy those wicked men, and will let out his vineyard to other farmers, which shall render him the fruits in their seasons.[42] Jesus says to them, Did you never read in the scriptures, The stone which the builders rejected, the same is become the head of the corner: this is the Lord's doing, and it is marvelous in our eyes?[43] Therefore say I to you, The kingdom of God shall be taken from you, and given to a nation bringing forth the fruits thereof.[44] And whoever shall fall on this stone shall be broken: but on whomsoever it shall fall, it will grind him to powder.[45] And when the chief priests and Pharisees had heard his parables, they perceived that he spoke of them.[46] But when they sought to lay hands on him, they feared the multitude, because they took him for a prophet.

[1] And Jesus answered and spoke to them again by parables, and said,

[2] The kingdom of heaven is like to a certain king, which made a marriage for his son,[3] And sent forth his servants to call them that were bidden to the wedding: and they would not come.[4] Again, he sent forth other servants, saying, Tell them which are bidden, Behold, I have prepared my dinner: my oxen and my fatted calves are killed, and all things are ready: come to the marriage.[5] But they made light of it, and went their ways, one to his farm, another to his merchandise:[6] And the remnant took his servants, and entreated them spitefully, and slew them.[7] But when the king heard thereof, he was wroth: and he sent forth his armies, and destroyed those murderers, and burned up their city.[8] Then says he to his servants, The wedding is ready, but they which were bidden were not worthy.[9] Go you therefore into the highways, and as many as you shall find, bid to the marriage.[10] So those servants went out into the highways, and gathered together all as many as they found, both bad and good: and the wedding was furnished with guests. ¶[11] And when the king came in to see the guests, he saw there a man which had not on a wedding garment:[12] And he says to him, Friend, how came you in here not having a wedding garment? And he was speechless.[13] Then said the king to the servants, Bind him hand and foot, and take him away, and cast him into outer darkness, there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.[14] For many are called, but few are chosen. ¶[15] Then went the Pharisees, and took counsel how they might entangle him in his talk.[16] And they sent out to him their disciples with the Herodians, saying, Master, we know that you are true, and teach the way of God in truth, neither care you for any man: for you regard not the person of men.[17] Tell us therefore, What think you? Is it lawful to give tribute to Caesar, or not?[18] But Jesus perceived their wickedness, and said, Why tempt you me, you hypocrites?[19] Show me the tribute money. And they brought to him a penny.[20] And he says to them, Whose is this image and superscription?[21] They say to him, Caesar's. Then says he to them, Render therefore to Caesar the things which are Caesar's; and to God the things that are God's.[22] When they had heard these words, they marveled, and left him, and went their way. ¶[23] The same day came to him the Sadducees, which say that there is no resurrection, and asked him,[24] Saying, Master, Moses said, If a man die, having no children, his brother shall marry his wife, and raise up seed to his brother.[25] Now there were with us seven brothers: and the first, when he had married a wife, deceased, and, having no issue, left his wife to his brother:[26] Likewise the second also, and the third, to the seventh.[27] And last of all the woman died also.[28] Therefore in the resurrection whose wife shall she be of the seven? for they all had her.[29] Jesus answered and said to them, You do err, not knowing the scriptures, nor the power of God.[30] For in the resurrection they neither marry, nor are given in marriage, but are as the angels of God in heaven.[31] But as touching the resurrection of the dead, have you not read that which was spoken to you by God, saying,[32] I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob? God is not the God of the dead, but of the living.[33] And when the multitude heard this, they were astonished at his doctrine. ¶[34] But when the Pharisees had heard that he had put the Sadducees to silence, they were gathered together.[35] Then one of them, which was a lawyer, asked him a question, tempting him, and saying,[36] Master, which is the great commandment in the law?[37] Jesus said to him, You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, and with all your soul, and with all your mind.[38] This is the first and great commandment.[39] And the second is like to it, You shall love your neighbor as yourself.[40] On these two commandments hang all the law and the prophets. ¶[41] While the Pharisees were gathered together, Jesus asked them,[42] Saying, What think you of Christ? whose son is he? They say to him, The son of David.[43] He says to them, How then does David in spirit call him Lord, saying,[44] The LORD said to my Lord, Sit you on my right hand, till I make your enemies your footstool?[45] If David then call him Lord, how is he his son?[46] And no man was able to answer him a word, neither dared any man from that day forth ask him any more questions.

[1] Then spoke Jesus to the multitude, and to his disciples,

[2] Saying, The scribes and the Pharisees sit in Moses' seat:[3] All therefore whatever they bid you observe, that observe and do; but do not you after their works: for they say, and do not.[4] For they bind heavy burdens and grievous to be borne, and lay them on men's shoulders; but they themselves will not move them with one of their fingers.[5] But all their works they do for to be seen of men: they make broad their phylacteries, and enlarge the borders of their garments,[6] And love the uppermost rooms at feasts, and the chief seats in the synagogues,[7] And greetings in the markets, and to be called of men, Rabbi, Rabbi.[8] But be not you called Rabbi: for one is your Master, even Christ; and all you are brothers.[9] And call no man your father on the earth: for one is your Father, which is in heaven.[10] Neither be you called masters: for one is your Master, even Christ.[11] But he that is greatest among you shall be your servant.[12] And whoever shall exalt himself shall be abased; and he that shall humble himself shall be exalted. ¶[13] But woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for you shut up the kingdom of heaven against men: for you neither go in yourselves, neither suffer you them that are entering to go in.[14] Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for you devour widows' houses, and for a pretense make long prayer: therefore you shall receive the greater damnation.[15] Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for you compass sea and land to make one proselyte, and when he is made, you make him twofold more the child of hell than yourselves.[16] Woe to you, you blind guides, which say, Whoever shall swear by the temple, it is nothing; but whoever shall swear by the gold of the temple, he is a debtor![17] You fools and blind: for whether is greater, the gold, or the temple that sanctifies the gold?[18] And, Whoever shall swear by the altar, it is nothing; but whoever swears by the gift that is on it, he is guilty.[19] You fools and blind: for whether is greater, the gift, or the altar that sanctifies the gift?[20] Whoever therefore shall swear by the altar, swears by it, and by all things thereon.[21] And whoever shall swear by the temple, swears by it, and by him that dwells therein.[22] And he that shall swear by heaven, swears by the throne of God, and by him that sits thereon.[23] Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for you pay tithe of mint and anise and cummin, and have omitted the weightier matters of the law, judgment, mercy, and faith: these you should have done, and not to leave the other undone.[24] You blind guides, which strain at a gnat, and swallow a camel.[25] Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for you make clean the outside of the cup and of the platter, but within they are full of extortion and excess.[26] You blind Pharisee, cleanse first that which is within the cup and platter, that the outside of them may be clean also.[27] Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for you are like to white washed sepulchers, which indeed appear beautiful outward, but are within full of dead men's bones, and of all uncleanness.[28] Even so you also outwardly appear righteous to men, but within you are full of hypocrisy and iniquity.[29] Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! because you build the tombs of the prophets, and garnish the sepulchers of the righteous,[30] And say, If we had been in the days of our fathers, we would not have been partakers with them in the blood of the prophets.[31] Why you be witnesses to yourselves, that you are the children of them which killed the prophets.[32] Fill you up then the measure of your fathers.[33] You serpents, you generation of vipers, how can you escape the damnation of hell? ¶[34] Why, behold, I send to you prophets, and wise men, and scribes: and some of them you shall kill and crucify; and some of them shall you whip in your synagogues, and persecute them from city to city:[35] That on you may come all the righteous blood shed on the earth, from the blood of righteous Abel to the blood of Zacharias son of Barachias, whom you slew between the temple and the altar.[36] Truly I say to you, All these things shall come on this generation.[37] O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, you that kill the prophets, and stone them which are sent to you, how often would I have gathered your children together, even as a hen gathers her chickens under her wings, and you would not![38] Behold, your house is left to you desolate.[39] For I say to you, You shall not see me from now on, till you shall say, Blessed is he that comes in the name of the Lord.

[1] And Jesus went out, and departed from the temple: and his disciples came to him for to show him the buildings of the temple.

[2] And Jesus said to them, See you not all these things? truly I say to you, There shall not be left here one stone on another, that shall not be thrown down. ¶[3] And as he sat on the mount of Olives, the disciples came to him privately, saying, Tell us, when shall these things be? and what shall be the sign of your coming, and of the end of the world?[4] And Jesus answered and said to them, Take heed that no man deceive you.[5] For many shall come in my name, saying, I am Christ; and shall deceive many.[6] And you shall hear of wars and rumors of wars: see that you be not troubled: for all these things must come to pass, but the end is not yet.[7] For nation shall rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom: and there shall be famines, and pestilences, and earthquakes, in divers places.[8] All these are the beginning of sorrows.[9] Then shall they deliver you up to be afflicted, and shall kill you: and you shall be hated of all nations for my name's sake.[10] And then shall many be offended, and shall betray one another, and shall hate one another.[11] And many false prophets shall rise, and shall deceive many.[12] And because iniquity shall abound, the love of many shall wax cold.[13] But he that shall endure to the end, the same shall be saved.[14] And this gospel of the kingdom shall be preached in all the world for a witness to all nations; and then shall the end come.[15] When you therefore shall see the abomination of desolation, spoken of by Daniel the prophet, stand in the holy place, (whoever reads, let him understand:)[16]

Then let them which be in Judaea flee into the mountains:[17] Let him which is on the housetop not come down to take any thing out of his house:[18] Neither let him which is in the field return back to take his clothes.[19] And woe to them that are with child, and to them that give suck in those days![20] But pray you that your flight be not in the winter, neither on the sabbath day:[21] For then shall be great tribulation, such as was not since the beginning of the world to this time, no, nor ever shall be.[22] And except those days should be shortened, there should no flesh be saved: but for the elect's sake those days shall be shortened.[23] Then if any man shall say to you, See, here is Christ, or there; believe it not.[24] For there shall arise false Christs, and false prophets, and shall show great signs and wonders; so that, if it were possible, they shall deceive the very elect.[25] Behold, I have told you before.[26] Why if they shall say to you, Behold, he is in the desert; go not forth: behold, he is in the secret chambers; believe it not.[27] For as the lightning comes out of the east, and shines even to the west; so shall also the coming of the Son of man be.[28] For wherever the carcass is, there will the eagles be gathered together. ¶[29] Immediately after the tribulation of those days shall the sun be darkened, and the moon shall not give her light, and the stars shall fall from heaven, and the powers of the heavens shall be shaken:[30] And then shall appear the sign of the Son of man in heaven: and then shall all the tribes of the earth mourn, and they shall see the Son of man coming in the clouds of heaven with power and great glory.[31] And he shall send his angels with a great sound of a trumpet, and they shall gather together his elect from the four winds, from one end of heaven to the other.[32] Now learn a parable of the fig tree; When his branch is yet tender, and puts forth leaves, you know that summer is near:[33] So likewise you, when you shall see all these things, know that it is near, even at the doors.[34] Truly I say to you, This generation shall not pass, till all these things be fulfilled.[35] Heaven and earth shall pass away, but my words shall not pass away. ¶[36] But of that day and hour knows no man, no, not the angels of heaven, but my Father only.[37] But as the days of Noe were, so shall also the coming of the Son of man be.[38] For as in the days that were before the flood they were eating and drinking, marrying and giving in marriage, until the day that Noe entered into the ark,[39] And knew not until the flood came, and took them all away; so shall also the coming of the Son of man be.[40] Then shall two be in the field; the one shall be taken, and the other left.[41] Two women shall be grinding at the mill; the one shall be taken, and the other left. ¶[42] Watch therefore: for you know not what hour your Lord does come.[43] But know this, that if the manager of the house had known in what watch the thief would come, he would have watched, and would not have suffered his house to be broken up.[44] Therefore be you also ready: for in such an hour as you think not the Son of man comes.[45] Who then is a faithful and wise servant, whom his lord has made ruler over his household, to give them meat in due season?[46] Blessed is that servant, whom his lord when he comes shall find so doing.[47] Truly I say to you, That he shall make him ruler over all his goods.[48] But and if that evil servant shall say in his heart, My lord delays his coming;[49] And shall begin to smite his fellow servants, and to eat and drink with the drunken;[50] The lord of that servant shall come in a day when he looks not for him, and in an hour that he is not aware of,[51] And shall cut him asunder, and appoint him his portion with the hypocrites: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

[1] Then shall the kingdom of heaven be likened to ten virgins, which took their lamps, and went forth to meet the bridegroom.

[2] And five of them were wise, and five were foolish.[3] They that were foolish took their lamps, and took no oil with them:[4] But the wise took oil in their vessels with their lamps.[5] While the bridegroom tarried, they all slumbered and slept.[6] And at midnight there was a cry made, Behold, the bridegroom comes; go you out to meet him.[7] Then all those virgins arose, and trimmed their lamps.[8] And the foolish said to the wise, Give us of your oil; for our lamps are gone out.[9] But the wise answered, saying, Not so; lest there be not enough for us and you: but go you rather to them that sell, and buy for yourselves.[10] And while they went to buy, the bridegroom came; and they that were ready went in with him to the marriage: and the door was shut.[11] Afterward came also the other virgins, saying, Lord, Lord, open to us.[12] But he answered and said, Truly I say to you, I know you not.[13] Watch therefore, for you know neither the day nor the hour wherein the Son of man comes. ¶[14] For the kingdom of heaven is as a man traveling into a far country, who called his own servants, and delivered to them his goods.[15] And to one he gave five talents, to another two, and to another one; to every man according to his several ability; and straightway took his journey.[16] Then he that had received the five talents went and traded with the same, and made them other five talents.[17] And likewise he that had received two, he also gained other two.[18] But he that had received one went and dig in the earth, and hid his lord's money.[19] After a long time the lord of those servants comes, and reckons with them.[20] And so he that had received five talents came and brought other five talents, saying, Lord, you delivered to me five talents: behold, I have gained beside them five talents more.[21] His lord said to him, Well done, you good and faithful servant: you have been faithful over a few things, I will make you ruler over many things: enter you into the joy of your lord.[22] He also that had received two talents came and said, Lord, you delivered to me two talents: behold, I have gained two other talents beside them.[23] His lord said to him, Well done, good and faithful servant; you have been faithful over a few things, I will make you ruler over many things: enter you into the joy of your lord.[24] Then he which had received the one talent came and said, Lord, I knew you that you are an hard man, reaping where you have not sown, and gathering where you have not strewed:[25] And I was afraid, and went and hid your talent in the earth: see, there you have that is yours.[26] His lord answered and said to him, You wicked and slothful servant, you knew that I reap where I sowed not, and gather where I have not strewed:[27] You should therefore to have put my money to the exchangers, and then at my coming I should have received my own with usury.[28] Take therefore the talent from him, and give it to him which has ten talents.[29] For to every one that has shall be given, and he shall have abundance: but from him that has not shall be taken away even that which he has.[30] And cast you the unprofitable servant into outer darkness: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth. ¶[31] When the Son of man shall come in his glory, and all the holy angels with him, then shall he sit on the throne of his glory:[32] And before him shall be gathered all nations: and he shall separate them one from another, as a shepherd divides his sheep from the goats:[33] And he shall set the sheep on his right hand, but the goats on the left.[34] Then shall the King say to them on his right hand, Come, you blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world:[35] For I was an hungered, and you gave me meat: I was thirsty, and you gave me drink: I was a stranger, and you took me in:[36] Naked, and you clothed me: I was sick, and you visited me: I was in prison, and you came to me.[37] Then shall the righteous answer him, saying, Lord, when saw we you an hungered, and fed you? or thirsty, and gave you drink?[38] When saw we you a stranger, and took you in? or naked, and clothed you?[39] Or when saw we you sick, or in prison, and came to you?[40] And the King shall answer and say to them, Truly I say to you, Inasmuch as you have done it to one of the least of these my brothers, you have done it to me.[41] Then shall he say also to them on the left hand, Depart from me, you cursed, into everlasting fire, prepared for the devil and his angels:[42] For I was an hungered, and you gave me no meat: I was thirsty, and you gave me no drink:[43] I was a stranger, and you took me not in: naked, and you clothed me not: sick, and in prison, and you visited me not.[44] Then shall they also answer him, saying, Lord, when saw we you an hungered, or thirsty, or a stranger, or naked, or sick, or in prison, and did not minister to you?[45] Then shall he answer them, saying, Truly I say to you, Inasmuch as you did it not to one of the least of these, you did it not to me.[46] And these shall go away into everlasting punishment: but the righteous into life eternal.

[1] And it came to pass, when Jesus had finished all these sayings, he said to his disciples,

[2] You know that after two days is the feast of the passover, and the Son of man is betrayed to be crucified.[3] Then assembled together the chief priests, and the scribes, and the elders of the people, to the palace of the high priest, who was called Caiaphas,[4] And consulted that they might take Jesus by subtlety, and kill him.[5] But they said, Not on the feast day, lest there be an uproar among the people. ¶[6] Now when Jesus was in Bethany, in the house of Simon the leper,[7] There came to him a woman having an alabaster box of very precious ointment, and poured it on his head, as he sat at meat.[8] But when his disciples saw it, they had indignation, saying, To what purpose is this waste?[9] For this ointment might have been sold for much, and given to the poor.[10] When Jesus understood it, he said to them, Why trouble you the woman? for she has worked a good work on me.[11] For you have the poor always with you; but me you have not always.[12] For in that she has poured this ointment on my body, she did it for my burial.[13] Truly I say to you, Wherever this gospel shall be preached in the whole world, there shall also this, that this woman has done, be told for a memorial of her. ¶[14] Then one of the twelve, called Judas Iscariot, went to the chief priests,[15] And said to them, What will you give me, and I will deliver him to you? And they covenanted with him for thirty pieces of silver.[16] And from that time he sought opportunity to betray him. ¶[17] Now the first day of the feast of unleavened bread the disciples came to Jesus, saying to him, Where will you that we prepare for you to eat the passover?[18] And he says, Go into the city to such a man, and say to him, The Master said, My time is at hand; I will keep the passover at your house with my disciples.[19] And the disciples did as Jesus had appointed them; and they made ready the passover.[20] Now when the even was come, he sat down with the twelve.[21] And as they did eat, he said, Truly I say to you, that one of you shall betray me.[22] And they were exceeding sorrowful, and began every one of them to say to him, Lord, is it I?[23] And he answered and said, He that dips his hand with me in the dish, the same shall betray me.[24] The Son of man goes as it is written of him: but woe to that man by whom the Son of man is betrayed! it had been good for that man if he had not been born.[25] Then Judas, which betrayed him, answered and said, Master, is it I? He said to him, You have said. ¶[26] And as they were eating, Jesus took bread, and blessed it, and broke it, and gave it to the disciples, and said, Take, eat; this is my body.[27] And he took the cup, and gave thanks, and gave it to them, saying, Drink you all of it;[28] For this is my blood of the new testament, which is shed for many for the remission of sins.[29] But I say to you, I will not drink from now on of this fruit of the vine, until that day when I drink it new with you in my Father's kingdom.[30] And when they had sung an hymn, they went out into the mount of Olives.[31] Then says Jesus to them, All you shall be offended because of me this night: for it is written, I will smite the shepherd, and the sheep of the flock shall be scattered abroad.[32] But after I am risen again, I will go before you into Galilee.[33] Peter answered and said to him, Though all men shall be offended because of you, yet will I never be offended.[34] Jesus said to him, Truly I say to you, That this night, before the cock crow, you shall deny me thrice.[35] Peter said to him, Though I should die with you, yet will I not deny you. Likewise also said all the disciples. ¶[36] Then comes Jesus with them to a place called Gethsemane, and says to the disciples, Sit you here, while I go and pray yonder.[37] And he took with him Peter and the two sons of Zebedee, and began to be sorrowful and very heavy.[38] Then says he to them, My soul is exceeding sorrowful, even to death: tarry you here, and watch with me.[39] And he went a little farther, and fell on his face, and prayed, saying, O my Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from me: nevertheless not as I will, but as you will.[40] And he comes to the disciples, and finds them asleep, and says to Peter, What, could you not watch with me one hour?[41] Watch and pray, that you enter not into temptation: the spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak.[42] He went away again the second time, and prayed, saying, O my Father, if this cup may not pass away from me, except I drink it, your will be done.[43] And he came and found them asleep again: for their eyes were heavy.[44] And he left them, and went away again, and prayed the third time, saying the same words.[45] Then comes he to his disciples, and says to them, Sleep on now, and take your rest: behold, the hour is at hand, and the Son of man is betrayed into the hands of sinners.[46] Rise, let us be going: behold, he is at hand that does betray me. ¶[47] And while he yet spoke, see, Judas, one of the twelve, came, and with him a great multitude with swords and staves, from the chief priests and elders of the people.[48] Now he that betrayed him gave them a sign, saying, Whomsoever I shall kiss, that same is he: hold him fast.[49] And immediately he came to Jesus, and said, Hail, master; and kissed him.[50] And Jesus said to him, Friend, why are you come? Then came they, and laid hands on Jesus and took him.[51] And, behold, one of them which were with Jesus stretched out his hand, and drew his sword, and struck a servant of the high priest's, and smote off his ear.[52] Then said Jesus to him, Put up again your sword into his place: for all they that take the sword shall perish with the sword.[53] Think you that I cannot now pray to my Father, and he shall presently give me more than twelve legions of angels?[54] But how then shall the scriptures be fulfilled, that thus it must be?[55] In that same hour said Jesus to the multitudes, Are you come out as against a thief with swords and staves for to take me? I sat daily with you teaching in the temple, and you laid no hold on me.[56] But all this was done, that the scriptures of the prophets might be fulfilled. Then all the disciples forsook him, and fled. ¶[57] And they that had laid hold on Jesus led him away to Caiaphas the high priest, where the scribes and the elders were assembled.[58] But Peter followed him afar off to the high priest's palace, and went in, and sat with the servants, to see the end.[59] Now the chief priests, and elders, and all the council, sought false witness against Jesus, to put him to death;[60] But found none: yes, though many false witnesses came, yet found they none. At the last came two false witnesses,[61] And said, This fellow said, I am able to destroy the temple of God, and to build it in three days.[62] And the high priest arose, and said to him, Answer you nothing? what is it which these witness against you?[63] But Jesus held his peace, And the high priest answered and said to him, I adjure you by the living God, that you tell us whether you be the Christ, the Son of God.[64] Jesus says to him, You have said: nevertheless I say to you, Hereafter shall you see the Son of man sitting on the right hand of power, and coming in the clouds of heaven.[65] Then the high priest rent his clothes, saying, He has spoken blasphemy; what further need have we of witnesses? behold, now you have heard his blasphemy.[66] What think you? They answered and said, He is guilty of death.[67] Then did they spit in his face, and buffeted him; and others smote him with the palms of their hands,[68] Saying, Prophesy to us, you Christ, Who is he that smote you? ¶[69] Now Peter sat without in the palace: and a damsel came to him, saying, You also were with Jesus of Galilee.[70] But he denied before them all, saying, I know not what you say.[71] And when he was gone out into the porch, another maid saw him, and said to them that were there, This fellow was also with Jesus of Nazareth.[72] And again he denied with an oath, I do not know the man.[73] And after a while came to him they that stood by, and said to Peter, Surely you also are one of them; for your speech denudes you.[74] Then began he to curse and to swear, saying, I know not the man. And immediately the cock crew.[75] And Peter remembered the word of Jesus, which said to him, Before the cock crow, you shall deny me thrice. And he went out, and wept bitterly.

[1] When the morning was come, all the chief priests and elders of the people took counsel against Jesus to put him to death:

[2] And when they had bound him, they led him away, and delivered him to Pontius Pilate the governor. ¶[3] Then Judas, which had betrayed him, when he saw that he was condemned, repented himself, and brought again the thirty pieces of silver to the chief priests and elders,[4] Saying, I have sinned in that I have betrayed the innocent blood. And they said, What is that to us? see you to that.[5] And he cast down the pieces of silver in the temple, and departed, and went and hanged himself.[6] And the chief priests took the silver pieces, and said, It is not lawful for to put them into the treasury, because it is the price of blood.[7] And they took counsel, and bought with them the potter's field, to bury strangers in.[8] Why that field was called, The field of blood, to this day.[9] Then was fulfilled that which was spoken by

Jeremy the prophet, saying, And they took the thirty pieces of silver, the price of him that was valued, whom they of the children of Israel did value;[10] And gave them for the potter's field, as the Lord appointed me.[11] And Jesus stood before the governor: and the governor asked him, saying, Are you the King of the Jews? And Jesus said to him, You say.[12] And when he was accused of the chief priests and elders, he answered nothing.[13] Then said Pilate to him, Hear you not how many things they witness against you?[14] And he answered him to never a word; so that the governor marveled greatly.[15] Now at that feast the governor was wont to release to the people a prisoner, whom they would.[16] And they had then a notable prisoner, called Barabbas.[17] Therefore when they were gathered together, Pilate said to them, Whom will you that I release to you? Barabbas, or Jesus which is called Christ?[18] For he knew that for envy they had delivered him. ¶[19] When he was set down on the judgment seat, his wife sent to him, saying, Have you nothing to do with that just man: for I have suffered many things this day in a dream because of him.[20] But the chief priests and elders persuaded the multitude that they should ask Barabbas, and destroy Jesus.[21] The governor answered and said to them, Whether of the two will you that I release to you? They said, Barabbas.[22] Pilate says to them, What shall I do then with Jesus which is called Christ? They all say to him, Let him be crucified.[23] And the governor said, Why, what evil has he done? But they cried out the more, saying, Let him be crucified. ¶[24] When Pilate saw that he could prevail nothing, but that rather a tumult was made, he took water, and washed his hands before the multitude, saying, I am innocent of the blood of this just person: see you to it.[25] Then answered all the people, and said, His blood be on us, and on our children. ¶[26] Then released he Barabbas to them: and when he had scourged Jesus, he delivered him to be crucified.[27] Then the soldiers of the governor took Jesus into the common hall, and gathered to him the whole band of soldiers.[28] And they stripped him, and put on him a scarlet robe. ¶[29] And when they had platted a crown of thorns, they put it on his head, and a reed in his right hand: and they bowed the knee before him, and mocked him, saying, Hail, King of the Jews![30] And they spit on him, and took the reed, and smote him on the head.[31] And after that they had mocked him, they took the robe off from him, and put his own raiment on him, and led him away to crucify him.[32] And as they came out, they found a man of Cyrene, Simon by name: him they compelled to bear his cross.[33] And when they were come to a place called Golgotha, that is to say, a place of a skull, ¶[34] They gave him vinegar to drink mingled with gall: and when he had tasted thereof, he would not drink.[35] And they crucified him, and parted his garments, casting lots: that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophet, They parted my garments among them, and on my clothing did they cast lots.[36] And sitting down they watched him there;[37] And set up over his head his accusation written, THIS IS JESUS THE KING OF THE JEWS.[38] Then were there two thieves crucified with him, one on the right hand, and another on the left. ¶[39] And they that passed by reviled him, wagging their heads,[40] And saying, You that destroy the temple, and build it in three days, save yourself. If you be the Son of God, come down from the cross.[41] Likewise also the chief priests mocking him, with the scribes and elders, said,[42] He saved others; himself he cannot save. If he be the King of Israel, let him now come down from the cross, and we will believe him.[43] He trusted in God; let him deliver him now, if he will have him: for he said, I am the Son of God.[44] The thieves also, which were crucified with him, cast the same in his teeth.[45] Now from the sixth hour there was darkness over all the land to the ninth hour.[46] And about the ninth hour Jesus cried with a loud voice, saying, Eli, Eli, lama sabachthani? that is to say, My God, my God, why have you forsaken me?[47] Some of them that stood there, when they heard that, said, This man calls for Elias.[48] And straightway one of them ran, and took a sponge, and filled it with vinegar, and put it on a reed, and gave him to drink.[49] The rest said, Let be, let us see whether Elias will come to save him. ¶[50] Jesus, when he had cried again with a loud voice, yielded up the ghost.[51] And, behold, the veil of the temple was rent in two from the top to the bottom; and the earth did quake, and the rocks rent;[52] And the graves were opened; and many bodies of the saints which slept arose,[53] And came out of the graves after his resurrection, and went into the holy city, and appeared to many.[54] Now when the centurion, and they that were with him, watching Jesus, saw the earthquake, and those things that were done, they feared greatly, saying, Truly this was the Son of God.[55] And many women were there beholding afar off, which followed Jesus from Galilee, ministering to him:[56] Among which was Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of James and Joses, and the mother of Zebedee's children.[57] When the even was come, there came a rich man of Arimathaea, named Joseph, who also himself was Jesus' disciple:[58] He went to Pilate, and begged the body of Jesus. Then Pilate commanded the body to be delivered.[59] And when Joseph had taken the body, he wrapped it in a clean linen cloth,[60] And laid it in his own new tomb, which he had hewn out in the rock: and he rolled a great stone to the door of the sepulcher, and departed.[61] And there was Mary Magdalene, and the other Mary, sitting over against the sepulcher. ¶[62] Now the next day, that followed the day of the preparation, the chief priests and Pharisees came together to Pilate,[63] Saying, Sir, we remember that that deceiver said, while he was yet alive, After three days I will rise again.[64] Command therefore that the sepulcher be made sure until the third day, lest his disciples come by night, and steal him away, and say to the people, He is risen from the dead: so the last error shall be worse than the first.[65] Pilate said to them, You have a watch: go your way, make it as sure as you can.[66] So they went, and made the sepulcher sure, sealing the stone, and setting a watch.

[1] In the end of the sabbath, as it began to dawn toward the first day of the week, came Mary Magdalene and the other Mary to see the sepulcher.

[2] And, behold, there was a great earthquake: for the angel of the Lord descended from heaven, and came and rolled back the stone from the door, and sat on it.[3] His countenance was like lightning, and his raiment white as snow:[4] And for fear of him the keepers did shake, and became as dead men.[5] And the angel answered and said to the women, Fear not you: for I know that you seek Jesus, which was crucified.[6] He is not here: for he is risen, as he said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay.[7] And go quickly, and tell his disciples that he is risen from the dead; and, behold, he goes before you into Galilee; there shall you see him: see, I have told you.[8] And they departed quickly from the sepulcher with fear and great joy; and did run to bring his disciples word. ¶[9] And as they went to tell his disciples, behold, Jesus met them, saying, All hail. And they came and held him by the feet, and worshipped him.[10] Then said Jesus to them, Be not afraid: go tell my brothers that they go into Galilee, and there shall they see me. ¶[11] Now when they were going, behold, some of the watch came into the city, and showed to the chief priests all the things that were done.[12] And when they were assembled with the elders, and had taken counsel, they gave large money to the soldiers,[13] Saying, Say you, His disciples came by night, and stole him away while we slept.[14] And if this come to the governor's ears, we will persuade him, and secure you.[15] So they took the money, and did as they were taught: and this saying is commonly reported among the Jews until this day. ¶[16] Then the eleven disciples went away into Galilee, into a mountain where Jesus had appointed them.[17] And when they saw him, they worshipped him: but some doubted.[18] And Jesus came and spoke to them, saying, All power is given to me in heaven and in earth. ¶[19] Go you therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost:[20] Teaching them to observe all things whatever I have commanded you: and, see, I am with you always, even to the end of the world. Amen.

Mark

An Introduction to the Book of Mark

It is the current and apparently well-founded tradition that Mark derived his information mainly from the discourses of Peter. In his mother's house he would have abundant opportunities of obtaining information from the other apostles and their coadjutors, yet he was "the disciple and interpreter of Peter" specially.

As to the time when it was written, the Gospel furnishes us with no definite information. Mark makes no mention of the destruction of Jerusalem, hence it must have been written before that event, and probably about A.D. 63.

The place where it was written was probably Rome. Some have supposed Antioch (comp. Mark 15:21 with Acts 11:20).

It was intended primarily for Romans. This appears probable when it is considered that it makes no reference to the Jewish law, and that the writer takes care to interpret words which a Gentile would be likely to misunderstand, such as, "Boanerges" (3:17); "Talitha cumi" (5:41); "Corban" (7:11); "Bartimaeus" (10:46); "Abba" (14:36); "Eloi," etc. (15:34). Jewish usages are also explained (7:3; 14:3; 14:12; 15:42). Mark also uses certain Latin words not found in any of the other Gospels, as "speculator" (6:27, rendered, A.V., "executioner;" R.V., "soldier of his guard"), "xestes" (a corruption of sextarius, rendered "pots," 7:4, 8), "quadrans" (12:42, rendered "a farthing"), "centurion" (15:39, 44, 45). He only twice quotes from the Old Testament (1:2; 15:28).

The characteristics of this Gospel are, (1) the absence of the genealogy of our Lord, (2) whom he represents as clothed with power, the "lion of the tribe of Judah." (3.) Mark also records with wonderful minuteness the very words (3:17; 5:41; 7:11, 34; 14:36) as well as the position (9:35) and gestures (3:5, 34; 5:32; 9:36; 10:16) of our Lord. (4.) He is also careful to record particulars of person (1:29, 36; 3:6, 22, etc.), number (5:13; 6:7, etc.), place (2:13; 4:1; 7:31, etc.), and time (1:35; 2:1; 4:35, etc.), which the other evangelists omit. (5.) The phrase "and straightway" occurs nearly forty times in this Gospel; while in Luke's Gospel, which is much longer, it is used only seven times, and in John only four times.

"The Gospel of Mark," says Westcott, "is essentially a transcript from life. The course and issue of facts are imaged in it with the clearest outline." "In Mark we have no attempt to draw up a continuous narrative. His Gospel is a rapid succession of vivid pictures loosely strung together without much attempt to bind them into a whole or give the events in their natural sequence. This pictorial power is that which specially characterizes this evangelist, so that 'if any one desires to know an evangelical fact, not only in its main features and grand results, but also in its most minute and so to speak more graphic delineation, he must betake himself to Mark.'" The leading principle running through this Gospel may be expressed in the motto: "Jesus came...preaching the gospel of the kingdom" (Mark 1:14).

"Out of a total of 662 verses, Mark has 406 in common with Matthew and Luke, 145 with Matthew, 60 with Luke, and at most 51 peculiar to itself." (See MATTHEW.)

[1] The beginning of the gospel of Jesus Christ, the Son of God;

[2] As it is written in the prophets, Behold, I send my messenger before your face, which shall prepare your way before you.[3] The voice of one crying in the wilderness, Prepare you the way of the Lord, make his paths straight.[4] John did baptize in the wilderness, and preach the baptism of repentance for the remission of sins.[5] And there went out to him all the land of Judaea, and they of Jerusalem, and were all baptized of him in the river of Jordan, confessing their sins.[6] And John was clothed with camel's hair, and with a girdle of a skin about his loins; and he did eat locusts and wild honey;[7] And preached, saying, There comes one mightier than I after me, the lace of whose shoes I am not worthy to stoop down and unloose.[8] I indeed have baptized you with water: but he shall baptize you with the Holy Ghost.[9] And it came to pass in those days, that Jesus came from Nazareth of Galilee, and was baptized of John in Jordan.[10] And straightway coming up out of the water, he saw the heavens opened, and the Spirit like a dove descending on him:[11] And there came a voice from heaven, saying, You are my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased.[12] And immediately the spirit drives him into the wilderness.[13] And he was there in the wilderness forty days, tempted of Satan; and was with the wild beasts; and the angels ministered to him.[14] Now after that John was put in prison, Jesus came into Galilee, preaching the gospel of the kingdom of God,[15] And saying, The time is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God is at hand: repent you, and believe the gospel.[16] Now as he walked by the sea of Galilee, he saw Simon and Andrew his brother casting a net into the sea: for they were fishers.[17] And Jesus said to them, Come you after me, and I will make you to become fishers of men.[18] And straightway they forsook their nets, and followed him.[19] And when he had gone a little farther there, he saw James the son of Zebedee, and John his brother, who also were in the ship mending their nets.[20] And straightway he called them: and they left their father Zebedee in the ship with the hired servants, and went after him.[21] And they went into Capernaum; and straightway on the sabbath day he entered into the synagogue, and taught.[22] And they were astonished at his doctrine: for he taught them as one that had authority, and not as the scribes.[23] And there was in their synagogue a man with an unclean spirit; and he cried out,[24] Saying, Let us alone; what have we to do with you, you Jesus of Nazareth? are you come to destroy us? I know you who you are, the Holy One of God.[25] And Jesus rebuked him, saying, Hold your peace, and come out of him.[26] And when the unclean spirit had torn him, and cried with a loud voice, he came out of him.[27] And they were all amazed, so that they questioned among themselves, saying, What thing is this? what new doctrine is this? for with authority commands he even the unclean spirits, and they do obey him.[28] And immediately his fame spread abroad throughout all the region round about Galilee.[29] And immediately, when they were come out of the synagogue, they entered into the house of Simon and Andrew, with James and John.[30] But Simon's wife's mother lay sick of a fever, and immediately they tell him of her.[31] And he came and took her by the hand, and lifted her up; and immediately the fever left her, and she ministered to them.[32] And at even, when the sun did set, they brought to him all that were diseased, and them that were possessed with devils.[33] And all the city was gathered together at the door.[34] And he healed many that were sick of divers diseases, and cast out many devils; and suffered not the devils to speak, because they knew him.[35] And in the morning, rising up a great while before day, he went out, and departed into a solitary place, and there prayed.[36] And Simon and they that were with him followed after him.[37] And when they had found him, they said to him, All men seek for you.[38] And he said to them, Let us go into the next towns, that I may preach there also: for therefore came I forth.[39] And he preached in their synagogues throughout all Galilee, and cast out devils.[40] And there came a leper to him, beseeching him, and kneeling down to him, and saying to him, If you will, you can make me clean.[41] And Jesus, moved with compassion, put forth his hand, and touched him, and says to him, I will; be you clean.[42] And as soon as he had spoken, immediately the leprosy departed from him, and he was cleansed.[43] And he straightly charged him, and immediately sent him away;[44] And says to him, See you say nothing to any man: but go your way, show yourself to the priest, and offer for your cleansing those things which Moses commanded, for a testimony to them.[45] But he went out, and began to publish it much, and to blaze abroad the matter, so that Jesus could no more openly enter into the city, but was without in desert places: and they came to him from every quarter.

[1] And again he entered into Capernaum after some days; and it was noised that he was in the house.

[2] And straightway many were gathered together, so that there was no room to receive them, no, not so much as about the door: and he preached the word to them.[3] And they come to him, bringing one sick of the palsy, which was borne of four.[4] And when they could not come near to him for the press, they uncovered the roof where he was: and when they had broken it up, they let down the bed wherein the sick of the palsy lay.[5] When Jesus saw their faith, he said to the sick of the palsy, Son, your sins be forgiven you.[6] But there was certain of the scribes sitting there, and reasoning in their hearts,[7] Why does this man thus speak blasphemies? who can forgive sins but God only?[8] And immediately when Jesus perceived in his spirit that they so reasoned within themselves, he said to them, Why reason you these things in your hearts?[9] Whether is it easier to say to the sick of the palsy, Your sins be forgiven you; or to say, Arise, and take up your bed, and walk?[10] But that you may know that the Son of man has power on earth to forgive sins, (he says to the sick of the palsy,)[11] I say to you, Arise, and take up your bed, and go your way into your house.[12] And immediately he arose, took up the bed, and went forth before them all; so that they were all amazed, and glorified God, saying, We never saw it on this fashion.[13] And he went forth again by the sea side; and all the multitude resorted to him, and he taught them.[14] And as he passed by, he saw Levi the son of Alphaeus sitting at the receipt of custom, and said to him, Follow me. And he arose and followed him.[15] And it came to pass, that, as Jesus sat at meat in his house, many publicans and sinners sat also together with Jesus and his disciples: for there were many, and they followed him.[16] And when the scribes and Pharisees saw him eat with publicans and sinners, they said to his disciples, How is it that he eats and drinks with publicans and sinners?[17] When Jesus heard it, he says to them, They that are whole have no need of the physician, but they that are sick: I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance.[18] And the disciples of John and of the Pharisees used to fast: and they come and say to him, Why do the disciples of John and of the Pharisees fast, but your disciples fast not?[19] And Jesus said to them, Can the children of the bridal chamber fast, while the bridegroom is with them? as long as they have the bridegroom with them, they cannot fast.[20] But the days will come, when the bridegroom shall be taken away from them, and then shall they fast in those days.[21] No man also sews a piece of new cloth on an old garment: else the new piece that filled it up takes away from the old, and the rent is made worse.[22] And no man puts new wine into old bottles: else the new wine does burst the bottles, and the wine is spilled, and the bottles will be marred: but new wine must be put into new bottles.[23] And it came to pass, that he went through the corn fields on the sabbath day; and his disciples began, as they went, to pluck the ears of corn.[24] And the Pharisees said to him, Behold, why do they on the sabbath day that which is not lawful?[25] And he said to them, Have you never read what David did, when he had need, and was an hungered, he, and they that were with him?[26] How he went into the house of God in the days of Abiathar the high priest, and did eat the show bread, which is not lawful to eat but for the priests, and gave also to them which were with him?[27] And he said to them, The sabbath was made for man, and not man for the sabbath:[28] Therefore the Son of man is Lord also of the sabbath.

[1] And he entered again into the synagogue; and there was a man there which had a withered hand.

[2] And they watched him, whether he would heal him on the sabbath day; that they might accuse him.[3] And he says to the man which had the withered hand, Stand forth.[4] And he says to them, Is it lawful to do good on the sabbath days, or to do evil? to save life, or to kill? But they held their peace.[5] And when he had looked round about on them with anger, being grieved for the hardness of their hearts, he says to the man, Stretch forth your hand. And he stretched it out: and his hand was restored whole as the other.[6] And the Pharisees went forth, and straightway took counsel with the Herodians against him, how they might destroy him.[7] But Jesus withdrew himself with his disciples to the sea: and a great multitude from Galilee followed him, and from Judaea,[8] And from Jerusalem, and from Idumaea, and from beyond Jordan; and they about Tyre and Sidon, a great multitude, when they had heard what great things he did, came to him.[9] And he spoke to his disciples, that a small ship should wait on him because of the multitude, lest they should throng him.[10] For he had healed many; so that they pressed on him for to touch him, as many as had plagues.[11] And unclean spirits, when they saw him, fell down before him, and cried, saying, You are the Son of God.[12] And he straightly charged them that they should not make him known.[13] And he goes up into a mountain, and calls to him whom he would: and they came to him.[14] And he ordained twelve, that they should be with him, and that he might send them forth to preach,[15] And to have power to heal sicknesses, and to cast out devils:[16] And Simon he surnamed Peter;[17] And James the son of Zebedee, and John the brother of James; and he surnamed them Boanerges, which is, The sons of thunder:[18] And Andrew, and Philip, and Bartholomew, and Matthew, and Thomas, and James the son of Alphaeus, and Thaddaeus, and Simon the Canaanite,[19] And Judas Iscariot, which also betrayed him: and they went into an house.[20] And the multitude comes together again, so that they could not so much as eat bread.[21] And when his friends heard of it, they went out to lay hold on him: for they said, He is beside himself. ¶[22] And the scribes which came down from Jerusalem said, He has Beelzebub, and by the prince of the devils casts he out devils.[23] And he called them to him, and said to them in parables, How can Satan cast out Satan?[24] And if a kingdom be divided against itself, that kingdom cannot stand.[25] And if a house be divided against itself, that house cannot stand.[26] And if Satan rise up against himself, and be divided, he cannot stand, but has an end.[27] No man can enter into a strong man's house, and spoil his goods, except he will first bind the strong man; and then he will spoil his house.[28] Truly I say to you, All sins shall be forgiven to the sons of men, and blasphemies with which soever they shall blaspheme:[29] But he that shall blaspheme against the Holy Ghost has never forgiveness, but is in danger of eternal damnation.[30] Because they said, He has an unclean spirit. ¶[31] There came then his brothers and his mother, and, standing without, sent to him, calling him.[32] And the multitude sat about him, and they said to him, Behold, your mother and your brothers without seek for you.[33] And he answered them, saying, Who is my mother, or my brothers?[34] And he looked round about on them which sat about him, and said, Behold my mother and my brothers![35] For whoever shall do the will of God, the same is my brother, and my sister, and mother.

[1] And he began again to teach by the sea side: and there was gathered to him a great multitude, so that he entered into a ship, and sat in the sea; and the whole multitude was by the sea on the land.

[2] And he taught them many things by parables, and said to them in his doctrine,[3] Listen; Behold, there went out a sower to sow:[4] And it came to pass, as he sowed, some fell by the way side, and the fowls of the air came and devoured it up.[5] And some fell on stony ground, where it had not much earth; and immediately it sprang up, because it had no depth of earth:[6] But when the sun was up, it was scorched; and because it had no root, it withered away.[7] And some fell among thorns, and the thorns grew up, and choked it, and it yielded no fruit.[8]

And other fell on good ground, and did yield fruit that sprang up and increased; and brought forth, some thirty, and some sixty, and some an hundred.[9] And he said to them, He that has ears to hear, let him hear.[10] And when he was alone, they that were about him with the twelve asked of him the parable.[11] And he said to them, To you it is given to know the mystery of the kingdom of God: but to them that are without, all these things are done in parables:[12] That seeing they may see, and not perceive; and hearing they may hear, and not understand; lest at any time they should be converted, and their sins should be forgiven them.[13] And he said to them, Know you not this parable? and how then will you know all parables? ¶[14] The sower sows the word.[15] And these are they by the way side, where the word is sown; but when they have heard, Satan comes immediately, and takes away the word that was sown in their hearts.[16] And these are they likewise which are sown on stony ground; who, when they have heard the word, immediately receive it with gladness;[17] And have no root in themselves, and so endure but for a time: afterward, when affliction or persecution rises for the word's sake, immediately they are offended.[18] And these are they which are sown among thorns; such as hear the word,[19] And the cares of this world, and the deceitfulness of riches, and the lusts of other things entering in, choke the word, and it becomes unfruitful.[20] And these are they which are sown on good ground; such as hear the word, and receive it, and bring forth fruit, some thirty times, some sixty, and some an hundred. ¶[21] And he said to them, Is a candle brought to be put under a bushel, or under a bed? and not to be set on a candlestick?[22] For there is nothing hid, which shall not be manifested; neither was any thing kept secret, but that it should come abroad.[23] If any man have ears to hear, let him hear.[24] And he said to them, Take heed what you hear: with what measure you mete, it shall be measured to you: and to you that hear shall more be given.[25] For he that has, to him shall be given: and he that has not, from him shall be taken even that which he has. ¶[26] And he said, So is the kingdom of God, as if a man should cast seed into the ground;[27] And should sleep, and rise night and day, and the seed should spring and grow up, he knows not how.[28] For the earth brings forth fruit of herself; first the blade, then the ear, after that the full corn in the ear.[29] But when the fruit is brought forth, immediately he puts in the sickle, because the harvest is come. ¶[30] And he said, To what shall we liken the kingdom of God? or with what comparison shall we compare it?[31] It is like a grain of mustard seed, which, when it is sown in the earth, is less than all the seeds that be in the earth:[32] But when it is sown, it grows up, and becomes greater than all herbs, and shoots out great branches; so that the fowls of the air may lodge under the shadow of it.[33] And with many such parables spoke he the word to them, as they were able to hear it.[34] But without a parable spoke he not to them: and when they were alone, he expounded all things to his disciples.[35] And the same day, when the even was come, he says to them, Let us pass over to the other side.[36] And when they had sent away the multitude, they took him even as he was in the ship. And there were also with him other little ships.[37] And there arose a great storm of wind, and the waves beat into the ship, so that it was now full.[38] And he was in the hinder part of the ship, asleep on a pillow: and they awake him, and say to him, Master, care you not that we perish?[39] And he arose, and rebuked the wind, and said to the sea, Peace, be still. And the wind ceased, and there was a great calm.[40] And he said to them, Why are you so fearful? how is it that you have no faith?[41] And they feared exceedingly, and said one to another, What manner of man is this, that even the wind and the sea obey him?

[2] And when he was come out of the ship, immediately there met him out of the tombs a man with an unclean spirit,[3] Who had his dwelling among the tombs; and no man could bind him, no, not with chains:[4] Because that he had been often bound with fetters and chains, and the chains had been plucked asunder by him, and the fetters broken in pieces: neither could any man tame him.[5] And always, night and day, he was in the mountains, and in the tombs, crying, and cutting himself with stones.[6] But when he saw Jesus afar off, he ran and worshipped him,[7] And cried with a loud voice, and said, What have I to do with you, Jesus, you Son of the most high God? I adjure you by God, that you torment me not.[8] For he said to him, Come out of the man, you unclean spirit.[9] And he asked him, What is your name? And he answered, saying, My name is Legion: for we are many.[10] And he sought him much that he would not send them away out of the country.[11] Now there was there near to the mountains a great herd of swine feeding.[12] And all the devils sought him, saying, Send us into the swine, that we may enter into them.[13] And immediately Jesus gave them leave. And the unclean spirits went out, and entered into the swine: and the herd ran violently down a steep place into the sea, (they were about two thousand;) and were choked in the sea.[14] And they that fed the swine fled, and told it in the city, and in the country. And they went out to see what it was that was done.[15] And they come to Jesus, and see him that was possessed with the devil, and had the legion, sitting, and clothed, and in his right mind: and they were afraid.[16] And they that saw it told them how it befell to him that was possessed with the devil, and also concerning the swine.[17] And they began to pray him to depart out of their coasts.[18] And when he was come into the ship, he that had been possessed with the devil prayed him that he might be with him.[19] However, Jesus suffered him not, but says to him, Go home to your friends, and tell them how great things the Lord has done for you, and has had compassion on you.[20] And he departed, and began to publish in Decapolis how great things Jesus had done for him: and all men did marvel.[21] And when Jesus was passed over again by ship to the other side, much people gathered to him: and he was near to the sea.[22] And, behold, there comes one of the rulers of the synagogue, Jairus by name; and when he saw him, he fell at his feet,[23] And sought him greatly, saying, My little daughter lies at the point of death: I pray you, come and lay your hands on her, that she may be healed; and she shall live.[24] And Jesus went with him; and much people followed him, and thronged him.[25] And a certain woman, which had an issue of blood twelve years,[26] And had suffered many things of many physicians, and had spent all that she had, and was nothing bettered, but rather grew worse,[27] When she had heard of Jesus, came in the press behind, and touched his garment.[28] For she said, If I may touch but his clothes, I shall be whole.[29] And straightway the fountain of her blood was dried up; and she felt in her body that she was healed of that plague.[30] And Jesus, immediately knowing in himself that virtue had gone out of him, turned him about in the press, and said, Who touched my clothes?[31] And his disciples said to him, You see the multitude thronging you, and say you, Who touched me?[32] And he looked round about to see her that had done this thing.[33] But the woman fearing and trembling, knowing what was done in her, came and fell down before him, and told him all the truth.[34] And he said to her, Daughter, your faith has made you whole; go in peace, and be whole of your plague.[35] While he yet spoke, there came from the ruler of the synagogue's house certain which said, Your daughter is dead: why trouble you the Master any further?[36] As soon as Jesus heard the word that was spoken, he says to the ruler of the synagogue, Be not afraid, only believe.[37] And he suffered no man to follow him, save Peter, and James, and John the brother of James.[38] And he comes to the house of the ruler of the synagogue, and sees the tumult, and them that wept and wailed greatly.[39] And when he was come in, he says to them, Why make you this ado, and weep? the damsel is not dead, but sleeps.[40] And they laughed him to scorn. But when he had put them all out, he takes the father and the mother of the damsel, and them that were with him, and enters in where the damsel was lying.[41] And he took the damsel by the hand, and said to her, Talitha cumi; which is, being interpreted, Damsel, I say to you, arise.[42] And straightway the damsel arose, and walked; for she was of the age of twelve years. And they were astonished with a great astonishment.[43] And he charged them straightly that no man should know it; and commanded that something should be given her to eat.

[1] And he went out from there, and came into his own country; and his disciples follow him.

[2] And when the sabbath day was come, he began to teach in the synagogue: and many hearing him were astonished, saying, From where has this man these things? and what wisdom is this which is given to him, that even such mighty works are worked by his hands?[3] Is not this the carpenter, the son of Mary, the brother of James, and Joses, and of Juda, and Simon? and are not his sisters here with us? And they were offended at him.[4] But Jesus said to them, A prophet is not without honor, but in his own country, and among his own kin, and in his own house.[5] And he could there do no mighty work, save that he laid his hands on a few sick folk, and healed them.[6] And he marveled because of their unbelief. And he went round about the villages, teaching. ¶[7] And he called to him the twelve, and began to send them forth by two and two; and gave them power over unclean spirits;[8] And commanded them that they should take nothing for their journey, save a staff only; no money, no bread, no money in their purse:[9] But be shod with sandals; and not put on two coats.[10] And he said to them, In what place soever you enter into an house, there abide till you depart from that place.[11] And whoever shall not receive you, nor hear you, when you depart there, shake off the dust under your feet for a testimony against them. Truly I say to you, It shall be more tolerable for Sodom and Gomorrha in the day of judgment, than for that city.[12] And they went out, and preached that men should repent.[13] And they cast out many devils, and anointed with oil many that were sick, and healed them.[14] And king Herod heard of him; (for his name was spread abroad:) and he said, That John the Baptist was risen from the dead, and therefore mighty works do show forth themselves in him.[15] Others said, That it is Elias. And others said, That it is a prophet, or as one of the prophets.[16] But when Herod heard thereof, he said, It is John, whom I beheaded: he is risen from the dead.[17] For Herod himself had sent forth and laid hold on John, and bound him in prison for Herodias' sake, his brother Philip's wife: for he had married her.[18] For John had said to Herod, It is not lawful for you to have your brother's wife.[19] Therefore Herodias had a quarrel against him, and would have killed him; but she could not:[20] For Herod feared John, knowing that he was a just man and an holy, and observed him; and when he heard him, he did many things, and heard him gladly.[21] And when a convenient day was come, that Herod on his birthday made a supper to his lords, high captains, and chief estates of Galilee;[22] And when the daughter of the said Herodias came in, and danced, and pleased Herod and them that sat with him, the king said to the damsel, Ask of me whatever you will, and I will give it you.[23] And he swore to her, Whatever you shall ask of me, I will give it you, to the half of my kingdom.[24] And she went forth, and said to her mother, What shall I ask? And she said, The head of John the Baptist.[25] And she came in straightway with haste to the king, and asked, saying, I will that you give me by and by in a charger the head of John the Baptist.[26] And the king was exceeding sorry; yet for his oath's sake, and for their sakes which sat with him, he would not reject her.[27] And immediately the king sent an executioner, and commanded his head to be brought: and he went and beheaded him in the prison,[28] And brought his head in a charger, and gave it to the damsel: and the damsel gave it to her mother.[29] And when his disciples heard of it, they came and took up his corpse, and laid it in a tomb.[30] And the apostles gathered themselves together to Jesus, and told him all things, both what they had done, and what they had taught.[31] And he said to them, Come you yourselves apart into a desert place, and rest a while: for there were many coming and going, and they had no leisure so much as to eat.[32] And they departed into a desert place by ship privately.[33] And the people saw them departing, and many knew him, and ran afoot thither out of all cities, and preceded them, and came together to him.[34] And Jesus, when he came out, saw much people, and was moved with compassion toward them, because they were as sheep not having a shepherd: and he began to teach them many things.[35] And when the day was now far spent, his disciples came to him, and said, This is a desert place, and now the time is far passed:[36] Send them away, that they may go into the country round about, and into the villages, and buy themselves bread: for they have nothing to eat.[37] He answered and said to them, Give you them to eat. And they say to him, Shall we go and buy two hundred pennyworth of bread, and give them to eat?[38] He says to them, How many loaves have you? go and see. And when they knew, they say, Five, and two fishes.[39] And he commanded them to make all sit down by companies on the green grass.[40] And they sat down in ranks, by hundreds, and by fifties.[41] And when he had taken the five loaves and the two fishes, he looked up to heaven, and blessed, and broke the loaves, and gave them to his disciples to set before them; and the two fishes divided he among them all.[42] And they did all eat, and were filled.[43] And they took up twelve baskets full of the fragments, and of the fishes.[44] And they that did eat of the loaves were about five thousand men.[45] And straightway he constrained his disciples to get into the ship, and to go to the other side before to Bethsaida, while he sent away the people.[46] And when he had sent them away, he departed into a mountain to pray.[47] And when even was come, the ship was in the middle of the sea, and he alone on the land.[48] And he saw them toiling in rowing; for the wind was contrary to them: and about the fourth watch of the night he comes to them, walking on the sea, and would have passed by them.[49] But when they saw him walking on the sea, they supposed it had been a spirit, and cried out:[50] For they all saw him, and were troubled. And immediately he talked with them, and says to them, Be of good cheer: it is I; be not afraid.[51] And he went up to them into the ship; and the wind ceased: and they were sore amazed in themselves beyond measure, and wondered.[52] For they considered not the miracle of the loaves: for their heart was hardened.[53] And when they had passed over, they came into the land of Gennesaret, and drew to the shore.[54] And when they were come out of the ship, straightway they knew him,[55] And ran through that whole region round about, and began to carry about in beds those that were sick, where they heard he was.[56] And wherever he entered, into villages, or cities, or country, they laid the sick in the streets, and sought him that they might touch if it were but the border of his garment: and as many as touched him were made whole.

[1] Then came together to him the Pharisees, and certain of the scribes, which came from Jerusalem.

[2] And when they saw some of his disciples eat bread with defiled, that is to say, with unwashed, hands, they found fault.[3] For the Pharisees, and all the Jews, except they wash their hands oft, eat not, holding the tradition of the elders.[4] And when they come from the market, except they wash, they eat not. And many other things there be, which they have received to hold, as the washing of cups, and pots, brazen vessels, and of tables.[5] Then the Pharisees and scribes asked him, Why walk not your disciples according to the tradition of the elders, but eat bread with unwashed hands?[6] He answered and said to them, Well has Isaiah prophesied of you hypocrites, as it is written, This people honors me with their lips, but their heart is far from me.[7] However, in vain do they worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men.[8] For laying aside the commandment of God, you hold the tradition of men, as the washing of pots and cups: and many other such like things you do.[9] And he said to them, Full well you reject the commandment of God, that you may keep your own tradition.[10] For Moses said, Honor your father and your mother; and, Whoever curses father or mother, let him die the death:[11] But you say, If a man shall say to his father or mother, It is Corban, that is to say, a gift, by whatever you might be profited by me; he shall be free.[12] And you suffer him no more to do something for his father or his mother;[13] Making the word of God of none effect through your tradition, which you have delivered: and many such like things do you. ¶[14] And when he had called all the people to him, he said to them, Listen to me every one of you, and understand:[15] There is nothing from without a man, that entering into him can defile him: but the things which come out of him, those are they that defile the man.[16] If any man have ears to hear, let him hear.[17] And when he was entered into the house from the people, his disciples asked him concerning the parable.[18] And he says to them, Are you so without understanding also? Do you not perceive, that whatever thing from without enters into the man, it cannot defile him;[19] Because it enters not into his heart, but into the belly, and goes out into the draught, purging all meats?[20] And he said, That which comes out of the man, that defiles the man.[21] For from within, out of the heart of men, proceed evil thoughts, adulteries, fornications, murders,[22] Thefts, covetousness, wickedness, deceit, lasciviousness, an evil eye, blasphemy, pride, foolishness:[23] All these evil things come from within, and defile the man. ¶[24] And from there he arose, and went into the borders of Tyre and Sidon, and entered into an house, and would have no man know it: but he could not be hid.[25] For a certain woman, whose young daughter had an unclean spirit, heard of him, and came and fell at his feet:[26] The woman was a Greek, a Syrophenician by nation; and she sought him that he would cast forth the devil out of her daughter.[27] But Jesus said to her, Let the children first be filled: for it is not meet to take the children's bread, and to cast it to the dogs.[28] And she answered and said to him, Yes, Lord: yet the dogs under the table eat of the children's crumbs.[29] And he said to her, For this saying go your way; the devil is gone out of your daughter.[30] And when she was come to her house, she found the devil gone out, and her daughter laid on the bed. ¶[31] And again, departing from the coasts of Tyre and Sidon, he came to the sea of Galilee, through the middle of the coasts of Decapolis.[32] And they bring to him one that was deaf, and had an impediment in his speech; and they beseech him to put his hand on him.[33] And he took him aside from the multitude, and put his fingers into his ears, and he spit, and touched his tongue;[34] And looking up to heaven, he sighed, and says to him, Ephphatha, that is, Be opened.[35] And straightway his ears were opened, and the string of his tongue was loosed, and he spoke plain.[36] And he charged them that they should tell no man: but the more he charged them, so much the more a great deal they published it;[37] And were beyond measure astonished, saying, He has done all things well: he makes both the deaf to hear, and the dumb to speak.

[1] In those days the multitude being very great, and having nothing to eat, Jesus called his disciples to him, and says to them,

[2] I have compassion on the multitude, because they have now been with me three days, and have nothing to eat:[3] And if I send them away fasting to their own houses, they will faint by the way: for divers of them came from far.[4] And his disciples answered him, From where can a man satisfy these men with bread here in the wilderness?[5] And he asked them, How many loaves have you? And they said, Seven.[6] And he commanded the people to sit down on the ground: and he took the seven loaves, and gave thanks, and broke, and gave to his disciples to set before them; and they did set them before the people.[7] And they had a few small fishes: and he blessed, and commanded to set them also before them.[8] So they did eat, and were filled: and they took up of the broken meat that was left seven baskets.[9] And they that had eaten were about four thousand: and he sent them away. ¶[10] And straightway he entered into a ship with his disciples, and came into the parts of Dalmanutha.[11] And the Pharisees came forth, and began to question with him, seeking of him a sign from heaven, tempting him.[12] And he sighed deeply in his spirit, and says, Why does this generation seek after a sign? truly I say to you, There shall no sign be given to this generation.[13] And he left them, and entering into the ship again departed to the other side. ¶[14] Now the disciples had forgotten to take bread, neither had they in the ship with them more than one loaf.[15] And he charged them, saying, Take heed, beware of the leaven of the Pharisees, and of the leaven of Herod.[16] And they reasoned among themselves, saying, It is because we have no bread.[17] And when Jesus knew it, he says to them, Why reason you, because you have no bread? perceive you not yet, neither understand? have you your heart yet hardened?[18] Having eyes, see you not? and having ears, hear you not? and do you not remember?[19] When I broke the five loaves among five thousand, how many baskets full of fragments took you up? They say to him, Twelve.[20] And when the seven among four thousand, how many baskets full of fragments took you up? And they said, Seven.[21] And he said to them, How is it that you do not understand? ¶[22] And he comes to Bethsaida; and they bring a blind man to him, and sought him to touch him.[23] And he took the blind man by the hand, and led him out of the town; and when he had spit on his eyes, and put his hands on him, he asked him if he saw something.[24] And he looked up, and said, I see men as trees, walking.[25] After that he put his hands again on his eyes, and made him look up: and he was restored, and saw every man clearly.[26] And he sent him away to his house, saying, Neither go into the town, nor tell it to any in the town. ¶[27] And Jesus went out, and his disciples, into the towns of Caesarea Philippi: and by the way he asked his disciples, saying to them, Whom do men say that I am?[28] And they answered, John the Baptist; but some say, Elias; and others, One of the prophets.[29] And he says to them, But whom say you that I am? And Peter answers and said to him, You are the Christ.[30] And he charged them that they should tell no man of him.[31] And he began to teach them, that the Son of man must suffer many things, and be rejected of the elders, and of the chief priests, and scribes, and be killed, and after three days rise again.[32] And he spoke that saying openly. And Peter took him, and began to rebuke him.[33] But when he had turned about and looked on his disciples, he rebuked Peter, saying, Get you behind me, Satan: for you mind not the things that be of God, but the things that be of men. ¶[34] And when he had called the people to him with his disciples also, he said to them, Whoever will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me.[35] For whoever will save his life shall lose it; but whoever shall lose his life for my sake and the gospel's, the same shall save it.[36] For what shall it profit a man, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul?[37] Or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?[38] Whoever therefore shall be ashamed of me and of my words in this adulterous and sinful generation; of him also shall the Son of man be ashamed, when he comes in the glory of his Father with the holy angels.

[1] And he said to them, Truly I say to you, That there be some of them that stand here, which shall not taste of death, till they have seen the kingdom of God come with power. ¶

[2] And after six days Jesus takes with him Peter, and James, and John, and leads them up into an high mountain apart by themselves: and he was transfigured before them.[3] And his raiment became shining, exceeding white as snow; so as no fuller on earth can white them.[4] And there appeared to them Elias with Moses: and they were talking with Jesus.[5] And Peter answered and said to Jesus, Master, it is good for us to be here: and let us make three tabernacles; one for you, and one for Moses, and one for Elias.[6] For he knew not what to say; for they were sore afraid.[7] And there was a cloud that overshadowed them: and a voice came out of the cloud, saying, This is my beloved Son: hear him.[8] And suddenly, when they had looked round about, they saw no man any more, save Jesus only with themselves.[9] And as they came down from the mountain, he charged them that they should tell no man what things they had seen, till the Son of man were risen from the dead.[10] And they kept that saying with themselves, questioning one with another what the rising from the dead should mean. ¶[11] And they asked him, saying, Why say the scribes that Elias must first come?[12] And he answered and told them, Elias truly comes first, and restores all things; and how it is written of the Son of man, that he must suffer many things, and be set at nothing.[13] But I say to you, That Elias is indeed come, and they have done to him whatever they listed, as it is written of him. ¶[14] And when he came to his disciples, he saw a great multitude about them, and the scribes questioning with them.[15] And straightway all the people, when they beheld him, were greatly amazed, and running to him saluted him.[16] And he asked the scribes, What question you with them?[17] And one of the multitude answered and said, Master, I have brought to you my son, which has a dumb spirit;[18] And wherever he takes him, he tears him: and he foams, and gnashes with his teeth, and pines away: and I spoke to your disciples that they should cast him out; and they could not.[19] He answers him, and says, O faithless generation, how long shall I be with you? how long shall I suffer you? bring him to me.[20] And they brought him to him: and when he saw him, straightway the spirit tare him; and he fell on the ground, and wallowed foaming.[21] And he asked his father, How long is it ago since this came to him? And he said, Of a child.[22] And often it has cast him into the fire, and into the waters, to destroy him: but if you can do any thing, have compassion on us, and help us.[23] Jesus said to him, If you can believe, all things are possible to him that believes.[24] And straightway the father of the child cried out, and said with tears, Lord, I believe; help you my unbelief.[25] When Jesus saw that the people came running together, he rebuked the foul spirit, saying to him, You dumb and deaf spirit, I charge you, come out of him, and enter no more into him.[26] And the spirit cried, and rent him sore, and came out of him: and he was as one dead; so that many said, He is dead.[27] But Jesus took him by the hand, and lifted him up; and he arose.[28] And when he was come into the house, his disciples asked him privately, Why could not we cast him out?[29] And he said to them, This kind can come forth by nothing, but by prayer and fasting. ¶[30] And they departed there, and passed through Galilee; and he would not that any man should know it.[31] For he taught his disciples, and said to them, The Son of man is delivered into the hands of men, and they shall kill him; and after that he is killed, he shall rise the third day.[32] But they understood not that saying, and were afraid to ask him. ¶[33] And he came to Capernaum: and being in the house he asked them, What was it that you disputed among yourselves by the way?[34] But they held their peace: for by the way they had disputed among themselves, who should be the greatest.[35] And he sat down, and called the twelve, and says to them, If any man desire to be first, the same shall be last of all, and servant of all.[36] And he took a child, and set him in the middle of them: and when he had taken him in his arms, he said to them,[37] Whoever shall receive one of such children in my name, receives me: and whoever shall receive me, receives not me, but him that sent me. ¶[38] And John answered him, saying, Master, we saw one casting out devils in your name, and he follows not us: and we forbade him, because he follows not us.[39] But Jesus said, Forbid him not: for there is no man which shall do a miracle in my name, that can lightly speak evil of me.[40] For he that is not against us is on our part.[41] For whoever shall give you a cup of water to drink in my name, because you belong to Christ, truly I say to you, he shall not lose his reward.[42] And whoever shall offend one of these little ones that believe in me, it is better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and he were cast into the sea.[43] And if your hand offend you, cut it off: it is better for you to enter into life maimed, than having two hands to go into hell, into the fire that never shall be quenched:[44] Where their worm dies not, and the fire is not quenched.[45] And if your foot offend you, cut it off: it is better for you to enter halt into life, than having two feet to be cast into hell, into the fire that never shall be quenched:[46] Where their worm dies not, and the fire is not quenched.[47] And if your eye offend you, pluck it out: it is better for you to enter into the kingdom of God with one eye, than having two eyes to be cast into hell fire:[48] Where their worm dies not, and the fire is not quenched.[49] For every one shall be salted with fire, and every sacrifice shall be salted with salt.[50] Salt is good: but if the salt have lost his saltiness, with which will you season it? Have salt in yourselves, and have peace one with another.

[1] And he arose from there, and comes into the coasts of Judaea by the farther side of Jordan: and the people resort to him again; and, as he was wont, he taught them again. ¶

[2] And the Pharisees came to him, and asked him, Is it lawful for a man to put away his wife? tempting him.[3] And he answered and said to them, What did Moses command you?[4] And they said, Moses suffered to write a bill of divorce, and to put her away.[5] And Jesus answered and said to them, For the hardness of your heart he wrote you this precept.[6] But from the beginning of the creation God made them male and female.[7] For this cause shall a man leave his father and mother, and join to his wife;[8] And they two shall be one flesh: so then they are no more two, but one flesh.[9] What therefore God has joined together, let not man put asunder.[10] And in the house his disciples asked him again of the same matter.[11] And he says to them, Whoever shall put away his wife, and marry another, commits adultery against her.[12] And if a woman shall put away her husband, and be married to another, she commits adultery. ¶[13] And they brought young children to him, that he should touch them: and his disciples rebuked those that brought them.[14] But when Jesus saw it, he was much displeased, and said to them, Suffer the little children to come to me, and forbid them not: for of such is the kingdom of God.[15] Truly I say to you, Whoever shall not receive the kingdom of God as a little child, he shall not enter therein.[16] And he took them up in his arms, put his hands on them, and blessed them. ¶[17] And when he was gone forth into the way, there came one running, and kneeled to him, and asked him, Good Master, what shall I do that I may inherit eternal life?[18] And Jesus said to him, Why call you me good? there is none good but one, that is, God.[19] You know the commandments, Do not commit adultery, Do not kill, Do not steal, Do not bear false witness, Defraud not, Honor your father and mother.[20] And he answered and said to him, Master, all these have I observed from my youth.[21] Then Jesus beholding him loved him, and said to him, One thing you lack: go your way, sell whatever you have, and give to the poor, and you shall have treasure in heaven: and come, take up the cross, and follow me.[22] And he was sad at that saying, and went away grieved: for he had great possessions. ¶[23] And Jesus looked round about, and says to his disciples, How hardly shall they that have riches enter into the kingdom of God![24] And the disciples were astonished at his words. But Jesus answers again, and says to them, Children, how hard is it for them that trust in riches to enter into the kingdom of God![25] It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle, than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God.[26] And they were astonished out of measure, saying among themselves, Who then can be saved?[27] And Jesus looking on them says, With men it is impossible, but not with God: for with God all things are possible. ¶[28] Then Peter began to say to him, See, we have left all, and have followed you.[29] And Jesus answered and said, Truly I say to you, There is no man that has left house, or brothers, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or lands, for my sake, and the gospel's,[30] But he shall receive an hundred times now in this time, houses, and brothers, and sisters, and mothers, and children, and lands, with persecutions; and in the world to come eternal life.[31] But many that are first shall be last; and the last first. ¶[32] And they were in the way going up to Jerusalem; and Jesus went before them: and they were amazed; and as they followed, they were afraid. And he took again the twelve, and began to tell them what things should happen to him,[33] Saying, Behold, we go up to Jerusalem; and the Son of man shall be delivered to the chief priests, and to the scribes; and they shall condemn him to death, and shall deliver him to the Gentiles:[34] And they shall mock him, and shall whip him, and shall spit on him, and shall kill him: and the third day he shall rise again. ¶[35] And James and John, the sons of Zebedee, come to him, saying, Master, we would that you should do for us whatever we shall desire.[36] And he said to them, What would you that I should do for you?[37] They said to him, Grant to us that we may sit, one on your right hand, and the other on your left hand, in your glory.[38] But Jesus said to them, You know not what you ask: can you drink of the cup that I drink of? and be baptized with the baptism that I am baptized with?[39] And they said to him, We can. And Jesus said to them, You shall indeed drink of the cup that I drink of; and with the baptism that I am baptized with shall you be baptized:[40] But to sit on my right hand and on my left hand is not my to give; but it shall be given to them for whom it is prepared.[41] And when the ten heard it, they began to be much displeased with James and John.[42] But Jesus called them to him, and says to them, You know that they which are accounted to rule over the Gentiles exercise lordship over them; and their great ones exercise authority on them.[43] But so shall it not be among you: but whoever will be great among you, shall be your minister:[44] And whoever of you will be the most chief, shall be servant of all.[45] For even the Son of man came not to be ministered to, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many. ¶[46] And they came to Jericho: and as he went out of Jericho with his disciples and a great number of people, blind Bartimaeus, the son of Timaeus, sat by the highway side begging.[47] And when he heard that it was Jesus of Nazareth, he began to cry out, and say, Jesus, you son of David, have mercy on me.[48] And many charged him that he should hold his peace: but he cried the more a great deal, You son of David, have mercy on me.[49] And Jesus stood still, and commanded him to be called. And they call the blind man, saying to him, Be of good comfort, rise; he calls you.[50] And he, casting away his garment, rose, and came to Jesus.[51] And Jesus answered and said to him, What will you that I should do to you? The blind man said to him, Lord, that I might receive my sight.[52] And Jesus said to him, Go your way; your faith has made you whole. And immediately he received his sight, and followed Jesus in the way.

[1] And when they came near to Jerusalem, to Bethphage and Bethany, at the mount of Olives, he sends forth two of his disciples,

[2] And says to them, Go your way into the village over against you: and as soon as you be entered into it, you shall find a colt tied, where on never man sat; loose him, and bring him.[3] And if any man say to you, Why do you this? say you that the Lord has need of him; and straightway he will send him here.[4] And they went their way, and found the colt tied by the door without in a place where two ways met; and they loose him.[5] And certain of them that stood there said to them, What do you, loosing the colt?[6] And they said to them even as Jesus had commanded: and they let them go.[7] And they brought the colt to Jesus, and cast their garments on him; and he sat on him.[8] And many spread their garments in the way: and others cut down branches off the trees, and strewed them in the way.[9] And they that went before, and they that followed, cried, saying, Hosanna; Blessed is he that comes in the name of the Lord:[10] Blessed be the kingdom of our father David, that comes in the name of the Lord: Hosanna in the highest.[11] And Jesus entered into Jerusalem, and into the temple: and when he had looked round about on all things, and now the eventide was come, he went out to Bethany with the twelve. ¶[12] And on the morrow, when they were come from Bethany, he was hungry:[13] And seeing a fig tree afar off having leaves, he came, if haply he might find any thing thereon: and when he came to it, he found nothing but leaves; for the time of figs was not yet.[14] And Jesus answered and said to it, No man eat fruit of you hereafter for ever. And his disciples heard it. ¶[15] And they come to Jerusalem: and Jesus went into the temple, and began to cast out them that sold and bought in the temple, and overthrew the tables of the moneychangers, and the seats of them that sold doves;[16] And would not suffer that any man should carry any vessel through the temple.[17] And he taught, saying to them, Is it not written, My house shall be called of all nations the house of prayer? but you have made it a den of thieves.[18] And the scribes and chief priests heard it, and sought how they might destroy him: for they feared him, because all the people was astonished at his doctrine.[19] And when even was come, he went out of the city. ¶[20] And in the morning, as they passed by, they saw the fig tree dried up from the roots.[21] And Peter calling to remembrance says to him, Master, behold, the fig tree which you cursed is withered away.[22] And Jesus answering says to them, Have faith in God.[23] For truly I say to you, That whoever shall say to this mountain, Be you removed, and be you cast into the sea; and shall not doubt in his heart, but shall believe that those things which he says shall come to pass; he shall have whatever he says.[24] Therefore I say to you, What things soever you desire, when you pray, believe that you receive them, and you shall have them.[25] And when you stand praying, forgive, if you have something against any: that your Father also which is in heaven may forgive you your trespasses.[26] But if you do not forgive, neither will your Father which is in heaven forgive your trespasses. ¶[27] And they come again to Jerusalem: and as he was walking in the temple, there come to him the chief priests, and the scribes, and the elders,[28] And say to him, By what authority do you these things? and who gave you this authority to do these things?[29] And Jesus answered and said to them, I will also ask of you one question, and answer me, and I will tell you by what authority I do these things.[30] The baptism of John, was it from heaven, or of men? answer me.[31] And they reasoned with themselves, saying, If we shall say, From heaven; he will say, Why then did you not believe him?[32] But if we shall say, Of men; they feared the people: for all men counted John, that he was a prophet indeed.[33] And they answered and said to Jesus, We cannot tell. And Jesus answering says to them, Neither do I tell you by what authority I do these things.

[1] And he began to speak to them by parables. A certain man planted a vineyard, and set an hedge about it, and dig a place for the winefat, and built a tower, and let it out to farmers, and went into a far country.

[2] And at the season he sent to the farmers a servant, that he might receive from the farmers of the fruit of the vineyard.[3] And they caught him, and beat him, and sent him away empty.[4] And again he sent to them another servant; and at him they cast stones, and wounded him in the head, and sent him away shamefully handled.[5] And again he sent another; and him they killed, and many others; beating some, and killing some.[6] Having yet therefore one son, his well beloved, he sent him also last to them, saying, They will reverence my son.[7] But those farmers said among themselves, This is the heir; come, let us kill him, and the inheritance shall be ours.[8] And they took him, and killed him, and cast him out of the vineyard.[9] What shall therefore the lord of the vineyard do? he will come and destroy the farmers, and will give the vineyard to others.[10] And have you not read this scripture; The stone which the builders rejected is become the head of the corner:[11] This was the Lord's doing, and it is marvelous in our eyes?[12] And they sought to lay hold on him, but feared the people: for they knew that he had spoken the parable against them: and they left him, and went their way. ¶[13] And they send to him certain of the Pharisees and of the Herodians, to catch him in his words.[14] And when they were come, they say to him, Master, we know that you are true, and care for no man: for you regard not the person of men, but teach the way of God in truth: Is it lawful to give tribute to Caesar, or not?[15] Shall we give, or shall we not give? But he, knowing their hypocrisy, said to them, Why tempt you me? bring me a penny, that I may see it.[16] And they brought it. And he says to them, Whose is this image and superscription? And they said to him, Caesar's.[17] And Jesus answering said to them, Render to Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and to God the things that are God's. And they marveled at him. ¶[18] Then come to him the Sadducees, which say there is no resurrection; and they asked him, saying,[19] Master, Moses wrote to us, If a man's brother die, and leave his wife behind him, and leave no children, that his brother should take his wife, and raise up seed to his brother.[20] Now there were seven brothers: and the first took a wife, and dying left no seed.[21] And the second took her, and died, neither left he any seed: and the third likewise.[22] And the seven had her, and left no seed: last of all the woman died also.[23] In the resurrection therefore, when they shall rise, whose wife shall she be of them? for the seven had her to wife.[24] And Jesus answering said to them, Do you not therefore err, because you know not the scriptures, neither the power of God?[25] For when they shall rise from the dead, they neither marry, nor are given in marriage; but are as the angels which are in heaven.[26] And as touching the dead, that they rise: have you not read in the book of Moses, how in the bush God spoke to him, saying, I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob?[27] He is not the God of the dead, but the God of the living: you therefore do greatly err. ¶[28] And one of the scribes came, and having heard them reasoning together, and perceiving that he had answered them well, asked him, Which is the first commandment of all?[29] And Jesus answered him, The first of all the commandments is, Hear, O Israel; The Lord our God is one Lord:[30] And you shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, and with all your soul, and with all your mind, and with all your strength: this is the first commandment.[31] And the second is like, namely this, You shall love your neighbor as yourself. There is none other commandment greater than these.[32] And the scribe said to him, Well, Master, you have said the truth: for there is one God; and there is none other but he:[33]

And to love him with all the heart, and with all the understanding, and with all the soul, and with all the strength, and to love his neighbor as himself, is more than all whole burnt offerings and sacrifices.[34] And when Jesus saw that he answered discreetly, he said to him, You are not far from the kingdom of God. And no man after that dared ask him any question. ¶[35] And Jesus answered and said, while he taught in the temple, How say the scribes that Christ is the son of David?[36] For David himself said by the Holy Ghost, The LORD said to my Lord, Sit you on my right hand, till I make your enemies your footstool.[37] David therefore himself calls him Lord; and from where is he then his son? And the common people heard him gladly. ¶[38] And he said to them in his doctrine, Beware of the scribes, which love to go in long clothing, and love salutations in the marketplaces,[39] And the chief seats in the synagogues, and the uppermost rooms at feasts:[40] Which devour widows' houses, and for a pretense make long prayers: these shall receive greater damnation. ¶[41] And Jesus sat over against the treasury, and beheld how the people cast money into the treasury: and many that were rich cast in much.[42] And there came a certain poor widow, and she threw in two mites, which make a farthing.[43] And he called to him his disciples, and says to them, Truly I say to you, That this poor widow has cast more in, than all they which have cast into the treasury:[44] For all they did cast in of their abundance; but she of her want did cast in all that she had, even all her living.

[1] And as he went out of the temple, one of his disciples says to him, Master, see what manner of stones and what buildings are here!

[2] And Jesus answering said to him, See you these great buildings? there shall not be left one stone on another, that shall not be thrown down.[3] And as he sat on the mount of Olives over against the temple, Peter and James and John and Andrew asked him privately,[4] Tell us, when shall these things be? and what shall be the sign when all these things shall be fulfilled?[5] And Jesus answering them began to say, Take heed lest any man deceive you:[6] For many shall come in my name, saying, I am Christ; and shall deceive many.[7] And when you shall hear of wars and rumors of wars, be you not troubled: for such things must needs be; but the end shall not be yet.[8] For nation shall rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom: and there shall be earthquakes in divers places, and there shall be famines and troubles: these are the beginnings of sorrows. ¶[9] But take heed to yourselves: for they shall deliver you up to councils; and in the synagogues you shall be beaten: and you shall be brought before rulers and kings for my sake, for a testimony against them.[10] And the gospel must first be published among all nations.[11] But when they shall lead you, and deliver you up, take no thought beforehand what you shall speak, neither do you premeditate: but whatever shall be given you in that hour, that speak you: for it is not you that speak, but the Holy Ghost.[12] Now the brother shall betray the brother to death, and the father the son; and children shall rise up against their parents, and shall cause them to be put to death.[13] And you shall be hated of all men for my name's sake: but he that shall endure to the end, the same shall be saved. ¶[14] But when you shall see the abomination of desolation, spoken of by Daniel the prophet, standing where it should not, (let him that reads understand,) then let them that be in Judaea flee to the mountains:[15] And let him that is on the housetop not go down into the house, neither enter therein, to take any thing out of his house:[16] And let him that is in the field not turn back again for to take up his garment.[17] But woe to them that are with child, and to them that give suck in those days![18] And pray you that your flight be not in the winter.[19] For in those days shall be affliction, such as was not from the beginning of the creation which God created to this time, neither shall be.[20] And except that the Lord had shortened those days, no flesh should be saved: but for the elect's sake, whom he has chosen, he has shortened the days.[21] And then if any man shall say to you, See, here is Christ; or, see, he is there; believe him not:[22] For false Christs and false prophets shall rise, and shall show signs and wonders, to seduce, if it were possible, even the elect.[23] But take you heed: behold, I have foretold you all things. ¶[24] But in those days, after that tribulation, the sun shall be darkened, and the moon shall not give her light,[25] And the stars of heaven shall fall, and the powers that are in heaven shall be shaken.[26] And then shall they see the Son of man coming in the clouds with great power and glory.[27] And then shall he send his angels, and shall gather together his elect from the four winds, from the uttermost part of the earth to the uttermost part of heaven.[28] Now learn a parable of the fig tree; When her branch is yet tender, and puts forth leaves, you know that summer is near:[29] So you in like manner, when you shall see these things come to pass, know that it is near, even at the doors.[30] Truly I say to you, that this generation shall not pass, till all these things be done.[31] Heaven and earth shall pass away: but my words shall not pass away. ¶[32] But of that day and that hour knows no man, no, not the angels which are in heaven, neither the Son, but the Father.[33] Take you heed, watch and pray: for you know not when the time is.[34] For the Son of Man is as a man taking a far journey, who left his house, and gave authority to his servants, and to every man his work, and commanded the porter to watch.[35] Watch you therefore: for you know not when the master of the house comes, at even, or at midnight, or at the cock-crowing, or in the morning:[36] Lest coming suddenly he find you sleeping.[37] And what I say to you I say to all, Watch.

[1] After two days was the feast of the passover, and of unleavened bread: and the chief priests and the scribes sought how they might take him by craft, and put him to death.

[2] But they said, Not on the feast day, lest there be an uproar of the people. ¶[3] And being in Bethany in the house of Simon the leper, as he sat at meat, there came a woman having an alabaster box of ointment of spikenard very precious; and she broke the box, and poured it on his head.[4] And there were some that had indignation within themselves, and said, Why was this waste of the ointment made?[5] For it might have been sold for more than three hundred pence, and have been given to the poor. And they murmured against her.[6] And Jesus said, Let her alone; why trouble you her? she has worked a good work on me.[7] For you have the poor with you always, and whenever you will you may do them good: but me you have not always.[8] She has done what she could: she is come beforehand to anoint my body to the burying.[9] Truly I say to you, Wherever this gospel shall be preached throughout the whole world, this also that she has done shall be spoken of for a memorial of her. ¶[10] And Judas Iscariot, one of the twelve, went to the chief priests, to betray him to them.[11] And when they heard it, they were glad, and promised to give him money. And he sought how he might conveniently betray him. ¶[12] And the first day of unleavened bread, when they killed the passover, his disciples said to him, Where will you that we go and prepare that you may eat the passover?[13] And he sends forth two of his disciples, and says to them, Go you into the city, and there shall meet you a man bearing a pitcher of water: follow him.[14] And wherever he shall go in, say you to the manager of the house, The Master says, Where is the guest room, where I shall eat the passover with my disciples?[15] And he will show you a large upper room furnished and prepared: there make ready for us.[16] And his disciples went forth, and came into the city, and found as he had said to them: and they made ready the passover.[17] And in the evening he comes with the twelve.[18] And as they sat and did eat, Jesus said, Truly I say to you, One of you which eats with me shall betray me.[19] And they began to be sorrowful, and to say to him one by one, Is it I? and another said, Is it I?[20] And he answered and said to them, It is one of the twelve, that dips with me in the dish.[21] The Son of man indeed goes, as it is written of him: but woe to that man by whom the Son of man is betrayed! good were it for that man if he had never been born. ¶[22] And as they did eat, Jesus took bread, and blessed, and broke it, and gave to them, and said, Take, eat: this is my body.[23] And he took the cup, and when he had given thanks, he gave it to them: and they all drank of it.[24] And he said to them, This is my blood of the new testament, which is shed for many.[25] Truly I say to you, I will drink no more of the fruit of the vine, until that day that I drink it new in the kingdom of God. ¶[26] And when they had sung an hymn, they went out into the mount of Olives.[27] And Jesus says to them, All you shall be offended because of me this night: for it is written, I will smite the shepherd, and the sheep shall be scattered.[28] But after that I am risen, I will go before you into Galilee.[29] But Peter said to him, Although all shall be offended, yet will not I.[30] And Jesus says to him, Truly I say to you, That this day, even in this night, before the cock crow twice, you shall deny me thrice.[31] But he spoke the more vehemently, If I should die with you, I will not deny you in any wise. Likewise also said they all.[32] And they came to a place which was named Gethsemane: and he says to his disciples, Sit you here, while I shall pray.[33] And he takes with him Peter and James and John, and began to be sore amazed, and to be very heavy;[34] And says to them, My soul is exceeding sorrowful to death: tarry you here, and watch.[35] And he went forward a little, and fell on the ground, and prayed that, if it were possible, the hour might pass from him.[36] And he said, Abba, Father, all things are possible to you; take away this cup from me: nevertheless not what I will, but what you will.[37] And he comes, and finds them sleeping, and says to Peter, Simon, sleep you? could not you watch one hour?[38] Watch you and pray, lest you enter into temptation. The spirit truly is ready, but the flesh is weak.[39] And again he went away, and prayed, and spoke the same words.[40] And when he returned, he found them asleep again, (for their eyes were heavy,) neither knew they what to answer him.[41] And he comes the third time, and says to them, Sleep on now, and take your rest: it is enough, the hour is come; behold, the Son of man is betrayed into the hands of sinners.[42] Rise up, let us go; see, he that betrays me is at hand. ¶[43] And immediately, while he yet spoke, comes Judas, one of the twelve, and with him a great multitude with swords and staves, from the chief priests and the scribes and the elders.[44] And he that betrayed him had given them a token, saying, Whomsoever I shall kiss, that same is he; take him, and lead him away safely.[45] And as soon as he was come, he goes straightway to him, and says, Master, master; and kissed him. ¶[46] And they laid their hands on him, and took him.[47] And one of them that stood by drew a sword, and smote a servant of the high priest, and cut off his ear.[48] And Jesus answered and said to them, Are you come out, as against a thief, with swords and with staves to take me?[49] I was daily with you in the temple teaching, and you took me not: but the scriptures must be fulfilled.[50] And they all forsook him, and fled.[51] And there followed him a certain young man, having a linen cloth cast about his naked body; and the young men laid hold on him:[52] And he left the linen cloth, and fled from them naked. ¶[53] And they led Jesus away to the high priest: and with him were assembled all the chief priests and the elders and the scribes.[54] And Peter followed him afar off, even into the palace of the high priest: and he sat with the servants, and warmed himself at the fire.[55] And the chief priests and all the council sought for witness against Jesus to put him to death; and found none.[56] For many bore false witness against him, but their witness agreed not together.[57] And there arose certain, and bore false witness against him, saying,[58] We heard him say, I will destroy this temple that is made with hands, and within three days I will build another made without hands.[59] But neither so did their witness agree together.[60] And the high priest stood up in the middle, and asked Jesus, saying, Answer you nothing? what is it which these witness against you?[61] But he held his peace, and answered nothing. Again the high priest asked him, and said to him, Are you the Christ, the Son of the Blessed?[62] And Jesus said, I am: and you shall see the Son of man sitting on the right hand of power, and coming in the clouds of heaven.[63] Then the high priest rent his clothes, and says, What need we any further witnesses?[64] You have heard the blasphemy: what think you? And they all condemned him to be guilty of death.[65] And some began to spit on him, and to cover his face, and to buffet him, and to say to him, Prophesy: and the servants did strike him with the palms of their hands. ¶[66] And as Peter was beneath in the palace, there comes one of the maids of the high priest:[67] And when she saw Peter warming himself, she looked on him, and said, And you also were with Jesus of Nazareth.[68] But he denied, saying, I know not, neither understand I what you say. And he went out into the porch; and the cock crew.[69] And a maid saw him again, and began to say to them that stood by, This is one of them.[70] And he denied it again. And a little after, they that stood by said again to Peter, Surely you are one of them: for you are a Galilaean, and your speech agrees thereto.[71] But he began to curse and to swear, saying, I know not this man of whom you speak.[72] And the second time the cock crew. And Peter called to mind the word that Jesus said to him, Before the cock crow twice, you shall deny me thrice. And when he thought thereon, he wept.

[1] And straightway in the morning the chief priests held a consultation with the elders and scribes and the whole council, and bound Jesus, and carried him away, and delivered him to Pilate.

[2] And Pilate asked him, Are you the King of the Jews? And he answering said to them, You say it.[3] And the chief priests accused him of many things: but he answered nothing.[4] And Pilate asked him again, saying, Answer you nothing? behold how many things they witness against you.[5] But Jesus yet answered nothing; so that Pilate marveled.[6] Now at that feast he released to them one prisoner, whomsoever they desired.[7] And there was one named Barabbas, which lay bound with them that had made insurrection with him, who had committed murder in the insurrection.[8] And the multitude crying aloud began to desire him to do as he had ever done to them.[9] But Pilate answered them, saying, Will you that I release to you the King of the Jews?[10] For he knew that the chief priests had delivered him for envy.[11] But the chief priests moved the people, that he should rather release Barabbas to them.[12] And Pilate answered and said again to them, What will you then that I shall do to him whom you call the King of the Jews?[13] And they cried out again, Crucify him.[14] Then Pilate said to them, Why, what evil has he done? And they cried out the more exceedingly, Crucify him. ¶[15] And so Pilate, willing to content the people, released Barabbas to them, and delivered Jesus, when he had scourged him, to be crucified.[16] And the soldiers led him away into the hall, called Praetorium; and they call together the whole band.[17] And they clothed him with purple, and platted a crown of thorns, and put it about his head,[18] And began to salute him, Hail, King of the Jews![19] And they smote him on the head with a reed, and did spit on him, and bowing their knees worshipped him.[20] And when they had mocked him, they took off the purple from him, and put his own clothes on him, and led him out to crucify him.[21] And they compel one Simon a Cyrenian, who passed by, coming out of the country, the father of Alexander and Rufus, to bear his cross.[22] And they bring him to the place Golgotha, which is, being interpreted, The place of a skull.[23] And they gave him to drink wine mingled with myrrh: but he received it not.[24] And when they had crucified him, they parted his garments, casting lots on them, what every man should take.[25] And it was the third hour, and they crucified him.[26] And the superscription of his accusation was written over, THE KING OF THE JEWS.[27] And with him they crucify two thieves; the one on his right hand, and the other on his left.[28] And the scripture was fulfilled, which says, And he was numbered with the transgressors.[29] And they that passed by railed on him, wagging their heads, and saying, Ah, you that destroy the temple, and build it in three days,[30] Save yourself, and come down from the cross.[31] Likewise also the chief priests mocking said among themselves with the scribes, He saved others; himself he cannot save.[32] Let Christ the King of Israel descend now from the cross, that we may see and believe. And they that were crucified with him reviled him.[33] And when the sixth hour was come, there was darkness over the whole land until the ninth hour.[34] And at the ninth hour Jesus cried with a loud voice, saying, Eloi, Eloi, lama sabachthani? which is, being interpreted, My God, my God, why have you forsaken me?[35] And some of them that stood by, when they heard it, said, Behold, he calls Elias.[36] And one ran and filled a sponge full of vinegar, and put it on a reed, and gave him to drink, saying, Let alone; let us see whether Elias will come to take him down.[37] And Jesus cried with a loud voice, and gave up the ghost.[38] And the veil of the temple was rent in two from the top to the bottom. ¶[39] And when the centurion, which stood over against him, saw that he so cried out, and gave up the ghost, he said, Truly this man was the Son of God.[40] There were also women looking on afar off: among whom was Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of James the less and of Joses, and Salome;[41] (Who also, when he was in Galilee, followed him, and ministered to him;) and many other women which came up with him to Jerusalem. ¶[42] And now when the even was come, because it was the preparation, that is, the day before the sabbath,[43] Joseph of Arimathaea, an honorable counselor, which also waited for the kingdom of God, came, and went in boldly to Pilate, and craved the body of Jesus.[44] And Pilate marveled if he were already dead: and calling to him the centurion, he asked him whether he had been any while dead.[45] And when he knew it of the centurion, he gave the body to Joseph.[46] And he bought fine linen, and took him down, and wrapped him in the linen, and laid him in a sepulcher which was hewn out of a rock, and rolled a stone to the door of the sepulcher.[47] And Mary Magdalene and Mary the mother of Joses beheld where he was laid.

[1] And when the sabbath was past, Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of James, and Salome, had bought sweet spices, that they might come and anoint him.

[2] And very early in the morning the first day of the week, they came to the sepulcher at the rising of the sun.[3] And they said among themselves, Who shall roll us away the stone from the door of the sepulcher?[4] And when they looked, they saw that the stone was rolled away: for it was very great.[5] And entering into the sepulcher, they saw a young man sitting on the right side, clothed in a long white garment; and they were affrighted.[6] And he says to them, Be not affrighted: You seek Jesus of Nazareth, which was crucified: he is risen; he is not here: behold the place where they laid him.[7] But go your way, tell his disciples and Peter that he goes before you into Galilee: there shall you see him, as he said to you.[8] And they went out quickly, and fled from the sepulcher; for they trembled and were amazed: neither said they any thing to any man; for they were afraid. ¶[9] Now when Jesus was risen early the first day of the week, he appeared first to Mary Magdalene, out of whom he had cast seven devils.[10] And she went and told them that had been with him, as they mourned and wept.[11] And they, when they had heard that he was alive, and had been seen of her, believed not. ¶[12] After that he appeared in another form to two of them, as they walked, and went into the country.[13] And they went and told it to the residue: neither believed they them. ¶[14] Afterward he appeared to the eleven as they sat at meat, and upbraided them with their unbelief and hardness of heart, because they believed not them which had seen him after he was risen.[15] And he said to them, Go you into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature.[16] He that believes and is baptized shall be saved; but he that believes not shall be damned.[17] And these signs shall follow them that believe; In my name shall they cast out devils; they shall speak with new tongues;[18] They shall take up serpents; and if they drink any deadly thing, it shall not hurt them; they shall lay hands on the sick, and they shall recover. ¶[19] So then after the Lord had spoken to them, he was received up into heaven, and sat on the right hand of God.[20] And they went forth, and preached every where, the Lord working with them, and confirming the word with signs following. Amen.

Luke

An Introduction to the Book of Luke

Was written by Luke. He does not claim to have been an eye-witness of our Lord's ministry, but to have gone to the best sources of information within his reach, and to have written an orderly narrative of the facts (Luke 1:1-4). The authors of the first three Gospels, the synoptics, wrote independently of each other. Each wrote his independent narrative under the guidance of the Holy Spirit.

Each writer has some things, both in matter and style, peculiar to himself, yet all the three have much in common. Luke's Gospel has been called "the Gospel of the nations, full of mercy and hope, assured to the world by the love of a suffering Saviour;" "the Gospel of the saintly life;" "the Gospel for the Greeks; the Gospel of the future; the Gospel of progressive Christianity, of the universality and gratuitousness of the gospel; the historic Gospel; the Gospel of Jesus as the good Physician and the Saviour of mankind;" the "Gospel of the Fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man;" "the Gospel of womanhood;" "the Gospel of the outcast, of the Samaritan, the publican, the harlot, and the prodigal;" "the Gospel of tolerance." The main characteristic of this Gospel, as Farrar (Cambridge Bible, Luke, Introd.) remarks, is fitly expressed in the motto, "Who went about doing good, and healing all that were oppressed of the devil" (Acts 10:38; comp. Luke 4:18). Luke wrote for the "Hellenic world." This Gospel is indeed "rich and precious."

"Out of a total of 1151 verses, Luke has 389 in common with Matthew and Mark, 176 in common with Matthew alone, 41 in common with Mark alone, leaving 544 peculiar to himself. In many instances all three use identical language." (See MATTHEW; MARK; GOSPELS.)

There are seventeen of our Lord's parables peculiar to this Gospel. (See List of Parables in Appendix.) Luke also records seven of our Lord's miracles which are omitted by Matthew and Mark. (See List of Miracles in Appendix.) The synoptical Gospels are related to each other after the following scheme. If the contents of each Gospel be represented by 100, then when compared this result is obtained:

Mark has 7 peculiarities, 93 coincidences. Matthew 42 peculiarities, 58 coincidences. Luke 59 peculiarities, 41 coincidences.

That is, thirteen-fourteenths of Mark, four-sevenths of Matthew, and two-fifths of Luke are taken up in describing the same things in very similar language.

Luke's style is more finished and classical than that of Matthew and Mark. There is less in it of the Hebrew idiom. He uses a few Latin words (Luke 12:6; 7:41; 8:30; 11:33; 19:20), but no Syriac or Hebrew words except sikera, an exciting drink of the nature of wine, but not made of grapes (from Heb. shakar, "he is intoxicated", Lev. 10:9), probably palm wine.

This Gospel contains twenty-eight distinct references to the Old Testament.

The date of its composition is uncertain. It must have been written before the Acts, the date of the composition of which is generally fixed at about 63 or 64 A.D. This Gospel was written, therefore, probably about 60 or 63, when Luke may have been at Caesarea in attendance on Paul, who was then a prisoner. Others have conjectured that it was written at Rome during Paul's imprisonment there. But on this point no positive certainty can be attained.

It is commonly supposed that Luke wrote under the direction, if not at the dictation of Paul. Many words and phrases are common to both; e.g., compare:

Luke 4:22; with Col. 4:6. Luke 4:32; with 1 Cor. 2:4. Luke 6:36; with 2 Cor. 1:3. Luke 6:39; with Rom. 2:19. Luke 9:56; with 2 Cor. 10:8. Luke 10:8; with 1 Cor. 10:27. Luke 11:41; with Titus 1:15. Luke 18:1; with 2 Thess. 1:11. Luke 21:36; with Eph. 6:18. Luke 22:19, 20; with 1 Cor. 11:23-29. Luke 24:46; with Acts 17:3. Luke 24:34; with 1 Cor. 15:5.

[1] For as much as many have taken in hand to set forth in order a declaration of those things which are most surely believed among us,

[2] Even as they delivered them to us, which from the beginning were eyewitnesses, and ministers of the word;[3] It seemed good to me also, having had perfect understanding of all things from the very first, to write to you in order, most excellent Theophilus,[4] That you might know the certainty of those things, wherein you have been instructed. ¶[5] THERE was in the days of Herod, the king of Judaea, a certain priest named Zacharias, of the course of Abia: and his wife was of the daughters of Aaron, and her name was Elisabeth.[6] And they were both righteous before God, walking in all the commandments and ordinances of the Lord blameless.[7] And they had no child, because that Elisabeth was barren, and they both were now well stricken in years.[8] And it came to pass, that while he executed the priest's office before God in the order of his course,[9] According to the custom of the priest's office, his lot was to burn incense when he went into the temple of the Lord.[10] And the whole multitude of the people were praying without at the time of incense.[11] And there appeared to him an angel of the Lord standing on the right side of the altar of incense.[12] And when Zacharias saw him, he was troubled, and fear fell on him.[13] But the angel said to him, Fear not, Zacharias: for your prayer is heard; and your wife Elisabeth shall bear you a son, and you shall call his name John.[14] And you shall have joy and gladness; and many shall rejoice at his birth.[15] For he shall be great in the sight of the Lord, and shall drink neither wine nor strong drink; and he shall be filled with the Holy Ghost, even from his mother's womb.[16] And many of the children of Israel shall he turn to the Lord their God.[17] And he shall go before him in the spirit and power of Elias, to turn the hearts of the fathers to the children, and the disobedient to the wisdom of the just; to make ready a people prepared for the Lord.[18] And Zacharias said to the angel, Whereby shall I know this? for I am an old man, and my wife well stricken in years.[19] And the angel answering said to him, I am Gabriel, that stand in the presence of God; and am sent to speak to you, and to show you these glad tidings.[20] And, behold, you shall be dumb, and not able to speak, until the day that these things shall be performed, because you believe not my words, which shall be fulfilled in their season.[21] And the people waited for Zacharias, and marveled that he tarried so long in the temple.[22] And when he came out, he could not speak to them: and they perceived that he had seen a vision in the temple: for he beckoned to them, and remained speechless.[23] And it came to pass, that, as soon as the days of his ministration were accomplished, he departed to his own house.[24] And after those days his wife Elisabeth conceived, and hid herself five months, saying,[25] Thus has the Lord dealt with me in the days wherein he looked on me, to take away my reproach among men.[26] And in the sixth month the angel Gabriel was sent from God to a city of Galilee, named Nazareth,[27] To a virgin espoused to a man whose name was Joseph, of the house of David; and the virgin's name was Mary.[28] And the angel came in to her, and said, Hail, you that are highly favored, the Lord is with you: blessed are you among women.[29] And when she saw him, she was troubled at his saying, and cast in her mind what manner of salutation this should be.[30] And the angel said to her, Fear not, Mary: for you have found favor with God.[31] And, behold, you shall conceive in your womb, and bring forth a son, and shall call his name JESUS.[32] He shall be great, and shall be called the Son of the Highest: and the Lord God shall give to him the throne of his father David:[33] And he shall reign over the house of Jacob for ever; and of his kingdom there shall be no end.[34] Then said Mary to the angel, How shall this be, seeing I know not a man?[35] And the angel answered and said to her, The Holy Ghost shall come on you, and the power of the Highest shall overshadow you: therefore also that holy thing which shall be born of you shall be called the Son of God.[36] And, behold, your cousin Elisabeth, she has also conceived a son in her old age: and this is the sixth month with her, who was called barren.[37] For with God nothing shall be impossible.[38] And Mary said, Behold the handmaid of the Lord; be it to me according to your word. And the angel departed from her.[39] And Mary arose in those days, and went into the hill country with haste, into a city of Juda;[40] And entered into the house of Zacharias, and saluted Elisabeth.[41] And it came to pass, that, when Elisabeth heard the salutation of Mary, the babe leaped in her womb; and Elisabeth was filled with the Holy Ghost:[42] And she spoke out with a loud voice, and said, Blessed are you among women, and blessed is the fruit of your womb.[43] And what is this to me, that the mother of my Lord should come to me?[44] For, see, as soon as the voice of your salutation sounded in my ears, the babe leaped in my womb for joy.[45] And blessed is she that believed: for there shall be a performance of those things which were told her from the Lord.[46] And Mary said, My soul does magnify the Lord,[47] And my spirit has rejoiced in God my Savior.[48] For he has regarded the low estate of his handmaiden: for, behold, from now on all generations shall call me blessed.[49] For he that is mighty has done to me great things; and holy is his name.[50] And his mercy is on them that fear him from generation to generation.[51] He has showed strength with his arm; he has scattered the proud in the imagination of their hearts.[52] He has put down the mighty from their seats, and exalted them of low degree.[53] He has filled the hungry with good things; and the rich he has sent empty away.[54] He has helped his servant Israel, in remembrance of his mercy;[55] As he spoke to our fathers, to Abraham, and to his seed for ever.[56] And Mary stayed with her about three months, and returned to her own house.[57] Now Elisabeth's full time came that she should be delivered; and she brought forth a son.[58] And her neighbors and her cousins heard how the Lord had showed great mercy on her; and they rejoiced with her.[59] And it came to pass, that on the eighth day they came to circumcise the child; and they called him Zacharias, after the name of his father.[60] And his mother answered and said, Not so; but he shall be called John.[61] And they said to her, There is none of your kindred that is called by this name.[62] And they made signs to his father, how he would have him called.[63] And he asked for a writing table, and wrote, saying, His name is John. And they marveled all.[64] And his mouth was opened immediately, and his tongue loosed, and he spoke, and praised God.[65] And fear came on all that dwelled round about them: and all these sayings were noised abroad throughout all the hill country of Judaea.[66] And all they that heard them laid them up in their hearts, saying, What manner of child shall this be! And the hand of the Lord was with him.[67] And his father Zacharias was filled with the Holy Ghost, and prophesied, saying,[68] Blessed be the Lord God of Israel; for he has visited and redeemed his people,[69] And has raised up an horn of salvation for us in the house of his servant David;[70] As he spoke by the mouth of his holy prophets, which have been since the world began:[71] That we should be saved from our enemies, and from the hand of all that hate us;[72] To perform the mercy promised to our fathers, and to remember his holy covenant;[73] The oath which he swore to our father Abraham,[74] That he would grant to us, that we being delivered out of the hand of our enemies might serve him without fear,[75] In holiness and righteousness before him, all the days of our life.[76] And you, child, shall be called the prophet of the Highest: for you shall go before the face of the Lord to prepare his ways;[77] To give knowledge of salvation to his people by the remission of their sins,[78] Through the tender mercy of our God; whereby the dayspring from on high has visited us,[79] To give light to them that sit in darkness and in the shadow of death, to guide our feet into the way of peace.[80] And the child grew, and waxed strong in spirit, and was in the deserts till the day of his showing to Israel.

[1] And it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus that all the world should be taxed.

[2] (And this taxing was first made when Cyrenius was governor of Syria.)[3] And all went to be taxed, every one into his own city.[4] And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judaea, to the city of David, which is called Bethlehem; (because he was of the house and lineage of David:)[5] To be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child.[6] And so it was, that, while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered.[7] And she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn.[8] And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night.[9] And, see, the angel of the Lord came on them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them: and they were sore afraid.[10] And the angel said to them, Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people.[11] For to you is born this day in the city of David a Savior, which is Christ the Lord.[12] And this shall be a sign to you; You shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.[13] And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying,[14] Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.[15] And it came to pass, as the angels were gone away from them into heaven, the shepherds said one to another, Let us now go even to Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord has made known to us.[16] And they came with haste, and found Mary, and Joseph, and the babe lying in a manger.[17] And when they had seen it, they made known abroad the saying which was told them concerning this child.[18] And all they that heard it wondered at those things which were told them by the shepherds.[19] But Mary kept all these things, and pondered them in her heart.[20] And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all the things that they had heard and seen, as it was told to them.[21] And when eight days were accomplished for the circumcising of the child, his name was called JESUS, which was so named of the angel before he was conceived in the womb.[22] And when the days of her purification according to the law of Moses were accomplished, they brought him to Jerusalem, to present him to the Lord;[23] (As it is written in the law of the LORD, Every male that opens the womb shall be called holy to the Lord;)[24] And to offer a sacrifice according to that which is said in the law of the Lord, A pair of turtledoves, or two young pigeons.[25] And, behold, there was a man in Jerusalem, whose name was Simeon; and the same man was just and devout, waiting for the consolation of Israel: and the Holy Ghost was on him.[26] And it was revealed to him by the Holy Ghost, that he should not see death, before he had seen the Lord's Christ.[27] And he came by the Spirit into the temple: and when the parents brought in the child Jesus, to do for him after the custom of the law,[28] Then took he him up in his arms, and blessed God, and said,[29] Lord, now let you your servant depart in peace, according to your word:[30] For my eyes have seen your salvation,[31] Which you have prepared before the face of all people;[32] A light to lighten the Gentiles, and the glory of your people Israel.[33] And Joseph and his mother marveled at those things which were spoken of him.[34] And Simeon blessed them, and said to Mary his mother, Behold, this child is set for the fall and rising again of many in Israel; and for a sign which shall be spoken against;[35] (Yes, a sword shall pierce through your own soul also,) that the thoughts of many hearts may be revealed.[36] And there was one Anna, a prophetess, the daughter of Phanuel, of the tribe of Aser: she was of a great age, and had lived with an husband seven years from her virginity;[37] And she was a widow of about fourscore and four years, which departed not from the temple, but served God with fastings and prayers night and day.[38] And she coming in that instant gave thanks likewise to the Lord, and spoke of him to all them that looked for redemption in Jerusalem.[39] And when they had performed all things according to the law of the Lord, they returned into Galilee, to their own city Nazareth.[40] And the child grew, and waxed strong in spirit, filled with wisdom: and the grace of God was on him.[41] Now his parents went to Jerusalem every year at the feast of the passover.[42] And when he was twelve years old, they went up to Jerusalem after the custom of the feast.[43] And when they had fulfilled the days, as they returned, the child Jesus tarried behind in Jerusalem; and Joseph and his mother knew not of it.[44] But they, supposing him to have been in the company, went a day's journey; and they sought him among their kinsfolk and acquaintance.[45] And when they found him not, they turned back again to Jerusalem, seeking him.[46] And it came to pass, that after three days they found him in the temple, sitting in the middle of the doctors, both hearing them, and asking them questions.[47] And all that heard him were astonished at his understanding and answers.[48] And when they saw him, they were amazed: and his mother said to him, Son, why have you thus dealt with us? behold, your father and I have sought you sorrowing.[49] And he said to them, How is it that you sought me? knew you not that I must be about my Father's business?[50] And they understood not the saying which he spoke to them.[51] And he went down with them, and came to Nazareth, and was subject to them: but his mother kept all these sayings in her heart.[52] And Jesus increased in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and man.

[1] Now in the fifteenth year of the reign of Tiberius Caesar, Pontius Pilate being governor of Judaea, and Herod being tetrarch of Galilee, and his brother Philip tetrarch of Ituraea and of the region of Trachonitis, and Lysanias the tetrarch of Abilene,

[2] Annas and Caiaphas being the high priests, the word of God came to John the son of Zacharias in the wilderness.[3] And he came into all the country about Jordan, preaching the baptism of repentance for the remission of sins;[4] As it is written in the book of the words of Isaiah the prophet, saying, The voice of one crying in the wilderness, Prepare you the way of the Lord, make his paths straight.[5] Every valley shall be filled, and every mountain and hill shall be brought low; and the crooked shall be made straight, and the rough ways shall be made smooth;[6] And all flesh shall see the salvation of God.[7] Then said he to the multitude that came forth to be baptized of him, O generation of vipers, who has warned you to flee from the wrath to come?[8] Bring forth therefore fruits worthy of repentance, and begin not to say within yourselves, We have Abraham to our father: for I say to you, That God is able of these stones to raise up children to Abraham.[9] And now also the ax is laid to the root of the trees: every tree therefore which brings not forth good fruit is hewn down, and cast into the fire.[10] And the people asked him, saying, What shall we do then?[11] He answers and says to them, He that has two coats, let him impart to him that has none; and he that has meat, let him do likewise.[12] Then came also publicans to be baptized, and said to him, Master, what shall we do?[13] And he said to them, Exact no more than that which is appointed you.[14] And the soldiers likewise demanded of him, saying, And what shall we do? And he said to them, Do violence to no man, neither accuse any falsely; and be content with your wages.[15] And as the people were in expectation, and all men mused in their hearts of John, whether he were the Christ, or not;[16] John answered, saying to them all, I indeed baptize you with water; but one mightier than I comes, the lace of whose shoes I am not worthy to unloose: he shall baptize you with the Holy Ghost and with fire:[17] Whose fan is in his hand, and he will thoroughly purge his floor, and will gather the wheat into his garner; but the chaff he will burn with fire unquenchable.[18] And many other things in his exhortation preached he to the people.[19] But Herod the tetrarch, being reproved by him for Herodias his brother Philip's wife, and for all the evils which Herod had done,[20] Added yet this above all, that he shut up John in prison.[21] Now when all the people were baptized, it came to pass, that Jesus also being baptized, and praying, the heaven was opened,[22] And the Holy Ghost descended in a bodily shape like a dove on him, and a voice came from heaven, which said, You are my beloved Son; in you I am well pleased.[23] And Jesus himself began to be about thirty years of age, being (as was supposed) the son of Joseph, which was the son of Heli,[24] Which was the son of Matthat, which was the son of Levi, which was the son of Melchi, which was the son of Janna, which was the son of Joseph,[25] Which was the son of Mattathias, which was the son of Amos, which was the son of Naum, which was the son of Esli, which was the son of Nagge,[26] Which was the son of Maath, which was the son of Mattathias, which was the son of Semei, which was the son of Joseph, which was the son of Juda,[27] Which was the son of Joanna, which was the son of Rhesa, which was the son of Zorobabel, which was the son of Salathiel, which was the son of Neri,[28] Which was the son of Melchi, which was the son of Addi, which was the son of Cosam, which was the son of Elmodam, which was the son of Er,[29] Which was the son of Jose, which was the son of Eliezer, which was the son of Jorim, which was the son of Matthat, which was the son of Levi,[30] Which was the son of Simeon, which was the son of Juda, which was the son of Joseph, which was the son of Jonan, which was the son of Eliakim,[31] Which was the son of Melea, which was the son of Menan, which was the son of Mattatha, which was the son of Nathan, which was the son of David,[32] Which was the son of Jesse, which was the son of Obed, which was the son of Booz, which was the son of Salmon, which was the son of Naasson,[33] Which was the son of Aminadab, which was the son of Aram, which was the son of Esrom, which was the son of Phares, which was the son of Juda,[34] Which was the son of Jacob, which was the son of Isaac, which was the son of Abraham, which was the son of Thara, which was the son of Nachor,[35] Which was the son of Saruch, which was the son of Ragau, which was the son of Phalec, which was the son of Heber, which was the son of Sala,[36] Which was the son of Cainan, which was the son of Arphaxad, which was the son of Sem, which was the son of Noe, which was the son of Lamech,[37] Which was the son of Mathusala, which was the son of Enoch, which was the son of Jared, which was the son of Maleleel, which was the son of Cainan,[38] Which was the son of Enos, which was the son of Seth, which was the son of Adam, which was the son of God.

[1] And Jesus being full of the Holy Ghost returned from Jordan, and was led by the Spirit into the wilderness,

[2] Being forty days tempted of the devil. And in those days he did eat nothing: and when they were ended, he afterward hungry.[3] And the devil said to him, If you be the Son of God, command this stone that it be made bread.[4] And Jesus answered him, saying, It is written, That man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word of God.[5] And the devil, taking him up into an high mountain, showed to him all the kingdoms of the world in a moment of time.[6] And the devil said to him, All this power will I give you, and the glory of them: for that is delivered to me; and to whomsoever I will I give it.[7] If you therefore will worship me, all shall be yours.[8] And Jesus answered and said to him, Get you behind me, Satan: for it is written, You shall worship the Lord your God, and him only shall you serve.[9] And he brought him to Jerusalem, and set him on a pinnacle of the temple, and said to him, If you be the Son of God, cast yourself down from hence:[10] For it is written, He shall give his angels charge over you, to keep you:[11] And in their hands they shall bear you up, lest at any time you dash your foot against a stone.[12] And Jesus answering said to him, It is said, You shall not tempt the Lord your God.[13] And when the devil had ended all the temptation, he departed from him for a season. ¶[14] And Jesus returned in the power of the Spirit into Galilee: and there went out a fame of him through all the region round about.[15] And he taught in their synagogues, being glorified of all. ¶[16] And he came to Nazareth, where he had been brought up: and, as his custom was, he went into the synagogue on the sabbath day, and stood up for to read.[17] And there was delivered to him the book of the prophet Isaiah. And when he had opened the book, he found the place where it was written,[18] The Spirit of the Lord is on me, because he has anointed me to preach the gospel to the poor; he has sent me to heal the brokenhearted, to preach deliverance to the captives, and recovering of sight to the blind, to set at liberty them that are bruised,[19] To preach the acceptable year of the Lord.[20] And he closed the book, and he gave it again to the minister, and sat down. And the eyes of all them that were in the synagogue were fastened on him.[21] And he began to say to them, This day is this scripture fulfilled in your ears.[22] And all bore him witness, and wondered at the gracious words which proceeded out of his mouth. And they said, Is not this Joseph's son?[23] And he said to them, You will surely say to me this proverb, Physician, heal yourself: whatever we have heard done in Capernaum, do also here in your country.[24] And he said, Truly I say to you, No prophet is accepted in his own country.[25] But I tell you of a truth, many widows were in Israel in the days of Elias, when the heaven was shut up three years and six months, when great famine was throughout all the land;[26] But to none of them was Elias sent, save to Sarepta, a city of Sidon, to a woman that was a widow.[27] And many lepers were in Israel in the time of Eliseus the prophet; and none of them was cleansed, saving Naaman the Syrian.[28] And all they in the synagogue, when they heard these things, were filled with wrath,[29] And rose up, and thrust him out of the city, and led him to the brow of the hill where on their city was built, that they might cast him down headlong.[30] But he passing through the middle of them went his way,[31] And came down to Capernaum, a city of Galilee, and taught them on the sabbath days.[32] And they were astonished at his doctrine: for his word was with power. ¶[33] And in the synagogue there was a man, which had a spirit of an unclean devil, and cried out with a loud voice,[34] Saying, Let us alone; what have we to do with you, you Jesus of Nazareth? are you come to destroy us? I know you who you are; the Holy One of God.[35] And Jesus rebuked him, saying, Hold your peace, and come out of him. And when the devil had thrown him in the middle, he came out of him, and hurt him not.[36] And they were all amazed, and spoke among themselves, saying, What a word is this! for with authority and power he commands the unclean spirits, and they come out.[37] And the fame of him went out into every place of the country round about. ¶[38] And he arose out of the synagogue, and entered into Simon's house. And Simon's wife's mother was taken with a great fever; and they sought him for her.[39] And he stood over her, and rebuked the fever; and it left her: and immediately she arose and ministered to them. ¶[40] Now when the sun was setting, all they that had any sick with divers diseases brought them to him; and he laid his hands on every one of them, and healed them.[41] And devils also came out of many, crying out, and saying, You are Christ the Son of God. And he rebuking them suffered them not to speak: for they knew that he was Christ.[42] And when it was day, he departed and went into a desert place: and the people sought him, and came to him, and stayed him, that he should not depart from them.[43] And he said to them, I must preach the kingdom of God to other cities also: for therefore am I sent.[44] And he preached in the synagogues of Galilee.

[1] And it came to pass, that, as the people pressed on him to hear the word of God, he stood by the lake of Gennesaret,

[2] And saw two ships standing by the lake: but the fishermen were gone out of them, and were washing their nets.[3] And he entered into one of the ships, which was Simon's, and prayed him that he would thrust out a little from the land. And he sat down, and taught the people out of the ship.[4] Now when he had left speaking, he said to Simon, Launch out into the deep, and let down your nets for a draught.[5] And Simon answering said to him, Master, we have toiled all the night, and have taken nothing: nevertheless at your word I will let down the net.[6] And when they had this done, they enclosed a great multitude of fishes: and their net broke.[7] And they beckoned to their partners, which were in the other ship, that they should come and help them. And they came, and filled both the ships, so that they began to sink.[8] When Simon Peter saw it, he fell down at Jesus' knees, saying, Depart from me; for I am a sinful man, O Lord.[9] For he was astonished, and all that were with him, at the draught of the fishes which they had taken:[10] And so was also James, and John, the sons of Zebedee, which were partners with Simon. And Jesus said to Simon, Fear not; from now on you shall catch men.[11] And when they had brought their ships to land, they forsook all, and followed him. ¶[12] And it came to pass, when he was in a certain city, behold a man full of leprosy: who seeing Jesus fell on his face, and sought him, saying, Lord, if you will, you can make me clean.[13] And he put forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I will: be you clean. And immediately the leprosy departed from him.[14] And he charged him to tell no man: but go, and show yourself to the priest, and offer for your cleansing, according as Moses commanded, for a testimony to them.[15] But so much the more went there a fame abroad of him: and great multitudes came together to hear, and to be healed by him of their infirmities. ¶[16] And he withdrew himself into the wilderness, and prayed.[17] And it came to pass on a certain day, as he was teaching, that there were Pharisees and doctors of the law sitting by, which were come out of every town of Galilee, and Judaea, and Jerusalem: and the power of the Lord was present to heal them. ¶[18] And, behold, men brought in a bed a man which was taken with a palsy: and they sought means to bring him in, and to lay him before him.[19] And when they could not find by what way they might bring him in because of the multitude, they went on the housetop, and let him down through the tiling with his couch into the middle before Jesus.[20] And when he saw their faith, he said to him, Man, your sins are forgiven you.[21] And the scribes and the Pharisees began to reason, saying, Who is this which speaks blasphemies? Who can forgive sins, but God alone?[22] But when Jesus perceived their thoughts, he answering said to them, What reason you in your hearts?[23] Whether is easier, to say, Your sins be forgiven you; or to say, Rise up and walk?[24] But that you may know that the Son of man has power on earth to forgive sins, (he said to the sick of the palsy,) I say to you, Arise, and take up your couch, and go into your house.[25] And immediately he rose up before them, and took up that where on he lay, and departed to his own house, glorifying God.[26] And they were all amazed, and they glorified God, and were filled with fear, saying, We have seen strange things to day. ¶[27] And after these things he went forth, and saw a publican, named Levi, sitting at the receipt of custom: and he said to him, Follow me.[28] And he left all, rose up, and followed him.[29] And Levi made him a great feast in his own house: and there was a great company of publicans and of others that sat down with them.[30] But their scribes and Pharisees murmured against his disciples, saying, Why do you eat and drink with publicans and sinners?[31] And Jesus answering said to them, They that are whole need not a physician; but they that are sick.[32] I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance. ¶[33] And they said to him, Why do the disciples of John fast often, and make prayers, and likewise the disciples of the Pharisees; but your eat and drink?[34] And he said to them, Can you make the children of the bridal chamber fast, while the bridegroom is with them?[35] But the days will come, when the bridegroom shall be taken away from them, and then shall they fast in those days. ¶[36] And he spoke also a parable to them; No man puts a piece of a new garment on an old; if otherwise, then both the new makes a rent, and the piece that was taken out of the new agrees not with the old.[37] And no man puts new wine into old bottles; else the new wine will burst the bottles, and be spilled, and the bottles shall perish.[38] But new wine must be put into new bottles; and both are preserved.[39] No man also having drunk old wine straightway desires new: for he says, The old is better.

[1] And it came to pass on the second sabbath after the first, that he went through the corn fields; and his disciples plucked the ears of corn, and did eat, rubbing them in their hands.

[2] And certain of the Pharisees said to them, Why do you that which is not lawful to do on the sabbath days?[3] And Jesus answering them said, Have you not read so much as this, what David did, when himself was an hungered, and they which were with him;[4] How he went into the house of God, and did take and eat the show bread, and gave also to them that were with him; which it is not lawful to eat but for the priests alone?[5] And he said to them, That the Son of man is Lord also of the sabbath.[6] And it came to pass also on another sabbath, that he entered into the synagogue and taught: and there was a man whose right hand was withered.[7] And the scribes and Pharisees watched him, whether he would heal on the sabbath day; that they might find an accusation against him.[8] But he knew their thoughts, and said to the man which had the withered hand, Rise up, and stand forth in the middle. And he arose and stood forth.[9] Then said Jesus to them, I will ask you one thing; Is it lawful on the sabbath days to do good, or to do evil? to save life, or to destroy it?[10] And looking round about on them all, he said to the man, Stretch forth your hand. And he did so: and his hand was restored whole as the other.[11] And they were filled with madness; and communed one with another what they might do to Jesus.[12] And it came to pass in those days, that he went out into a mountain to pray, and continued all night in prayer to God. ¶[13] And when it was day, he called to him his disciples: and of them he chose twelve, whom also he named apostles;[14] Simon, (whom he also named Peter,) and Andrew his brother, James and John, Philip and Bartholomew,[15] Matthew and Thomas, James the son of Alphaeus, and Simon called Zelotes,[16] And Judas the brother of James, and Judas Iscariot, which also was the traitor. ¶[17] And he came down with them, and stood in the plain, and the company of his disciples, and a great multitude of people out of all Judaea and Jerusalem, and from the sea coast of Tyre and Sidon, which came to hear him, and to be healed of their diseases;[18] And they that were vexed with unclean spirits: and they were healed.[19] And the whole multitude sought to touch him: for there went virtue out of him, and healed them all. ¶[20] And he lifted up his eyes on his disciples, and said, Blessed be you poor: for yours is the kingdom of God.[21] Blessed are you that hunger now: for you shall be filled. Blessed are you that weep now: for you shall laugh.[22] Blessed are you, when men shall hate you, and when they shall separate you from their company, and shall reproach you, and cast out your name as evil, for the Son of man's sake.[23] Rejoice you in that day, and leap for joy: for, behold, your reward is great in heaven: for in the like manner did their fathers to the prophets.[24] But woe to you that are rich! for you have received your consolation.[25] Woe to you that are full! for you shall hunger. Woe to you that laugh now! for you shall mourn and weep.[26] Woe to you, when all men shall speak well of you! for so did their fathers to the false prophets. ¶[27] But I say to you which hear, Love your enemies, do good to them which hate you,[28] Bless them that curse you, and pray for them which spitefully use you.[29] And to him that smites you on the one cheek offer also the other; and him that takes away your cloak forbid not to take your coat also.[30] Give to every man that asks of you; and of him that takes away your goods ask them not again.[31] And as you would that men should do to you, do you also to them likewise.[32] For if you love them which love you, what thank have you? for sinners also love those that love them.[33] And if you do good to them which do good to you, what thank have you? for sinners also do even the same.[34] And if you lend to them of whom you hope to receive, what thank have you? for sinners also lend to sinners, to receive as much again.[35] But love you your enemies, and do good, and lend, hoping for nothing again; and your reward shall be great, and you shall be the children of the Highest: for he is kind to the unthankful and to the evil.[36] Be you therefore merciful, as your Father also is merciful.[37] Judge not, and you shall not be judged: condemn not, and you shall not be condemned: forgive, and you shall be forgiven:[38] Give, and it shall be given to you; good measure, pressed down, and shaken together, and running over, shall men give into your bosom. For with the same measure that you mete with it shall be measured to you again.[39] And he spoke a parable to them, Can the blind lead the blind? shall they not both fall into the ditch?[40] The disciple is not above his master: but every one that is perfect shall be as his master.[41] And why behold you the mote that is in your brother's eye, but perceive not the beam that is in your own eye?[42] Either how can you say to your brother, Brother, let me pull out the mote that is in your eye, when you yourself behold not the beam that is in your own eye? You hypocrite, cast out first the beam out of your own eye, and then shall you see clearly to pull out the mote that is in your brother's eye.[43] For a good tree brings not forth corrupt fruit; neither does a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit.[44] For every tree is known by his own fruit. For of thorns men do not gather figs, nor of a bramble bush gather they grapes.[45] A good man out of the good treasure of his heart brings forth that which is good; and an evil man out of the evil treasure of his heart brings forth that which is evil: for of the abundance of the heart his mouth speaks. ¶[46] And why call you me, Lord, Lord, and do not the things which I say?[47] Whoever comes to me, and hears my sayings, and does them, I will show you to whom he is like:[48] He is like a man which built an house, and dig deep, and laid the foundation on a rock: and when the flood arose, the stream beat vehemently on that house, and could not shake it: for it was founded on a rock.[49] But he that hears, and does not, is like a man that without a foundation built an house on the earth; against which the stream did beat vehemently, and immediately it fell; and the ruin of that house was great.

[2] And a certain centurion's servant, who was dear to him, was sick, and ready to die.[3] And when he heard of Jesus, he sent to him the elders of the Jews, beseeching him that he would come and heal his servant.[4] And when they came to Jesus, they sought him instantly, saying, That he was worthy for whom he should do this:[5] For he loves our nation, and he has built us a synagogue.[6] Then Jesus went with them. And when he was now not far from the house, the centurion sent friends to him, saying to him, Lord, trouble not yourself: for I am not worthy that you should enter under my roof:[7] Why neither thought I myself worthy to come to you: but say in a word, and my servant shall be healed.[8] For I also am a man set under authority, having under me soldiers, and I say to one, Go, and he goes; and to another, Come, and he comes; and to my servant, Do this, and he does it.[9] When Jesus heard these things, he marveled at him, and turned him about, and said to the people that followed him, I say to you, I have not found so great faith, no, not in Israel.[10] And they that were sent, returning to the house, found the servant whole that had been sick. ¶[11] And it came to pass the day after, that he went into a city called Nain; and many of his disciples went with him, and much people.[12] Now when he came near to the gate of the city, behold, there was a dead man carried out, the only son of his mother, and she was a widow: and much people of the city was with her.[13] And when the Lord saw her, he had compassion on her, and said to her, Weep not.[14] And he came and touched the bier: and they that bore him stood still. And he said, Young man, I say to you, Arise.[15] And he that was dead sat up, and began to speak. And he delivered him to his mother.[16] And there came a fear on all: and they glorified God, saying, That a great prophet is risen up among us; and, That God has visited his people.[17] And this rumor of him went forth throughout all Judaea, and throughout all the region round about.[18] And the disciples of John showed him of all these things. ¶[19] And John calling to him two of his disciples sent them to Jesus, saying, Are you he that should come? or look we for another?[20] When the men were come to him, they said, John Baptist has sent us to you, saying, Are you he that should come? or look we for another?[21] And in that same hour he cured many of their infirmities and plagues, and of evil spirits; and to many that were blind he gave sight.[22] Then Jesus answering said to them, Go your way, and tell John what things you have seen and heard; how that the blind see, the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, the deaf hear, the dead are raised, to the poor the gospel is preached.[23] And blessed is he, whoever shall not be offended in me. ¶[24] And when the messengers of John were departed, he began to speak to the people concerning John, What went you out into the wilderness for to see? A reed shaken with the wind?[25] But what went you out for to see? A man clothed in soft raiment? Behold, they which are gorgeously appareled, and live delicately, are in kings' courts.[26] But what went you out for to see? A prophet? Yes, I say to you, and much more than a prophet.[27] This is he, of whom it is written, Behold, I send my messenger before your face, which shall prepare your way before you.[28] For I say to you, Among those that are born of women there is not a greater prophet than John the Baptist: but he that is least in the kingdom of God is greater than he.[29] And all the people that heard him, and the publicans, justified God, being baptized with the baptism of John.[30] But the Pharisees and lawyers rejected the counsel of God against themselves, being not baptized of him. ¶[31] And the Lord said, To what then shall I liken the men of this generation? and to what are they like?[32] They are like to children sitting in the marketplace, and calling one to another, and saying, We have piped to you, and you have not danced; we have mourned to you, and you have not wept.[33] For John the Baptist came neither eating bread nor drinking wine; and you say, He has a devil.[34] The Son of man is come eating and drinking; and you say, Behold a gluttonous man, and a drunkard, a friend of publicans and sinners![35] But wisdom is justified of all her children. ¶[36] And one of the Pharisees desired him that he would eat with him. And he went into the Pharisee's house, and sat down to meat.[37] And, behold, a woman in the city, which was a sinner, when she knew that Jesus sat at meat in the Pharisee's house, brought an alabaster box of ointment,[38] And stood at his feet behind him weeping, and began to wash his feet with tears, and did wipe them with the hairs of her head, and kissed his feet, and anointed them with the ointment.[39] Now when the Pharisee which had bidden him saw it, he spoke within himself, saying, This man, if he were a prophet, would have known who and what manner of woman this is that touches him: for she is a sinner.[40] And Jesus answering said to him, Simon, I have somewhat to say to you. And he says, Master, say on.[41] There was a certain creditor which had two debtors: the one owed five hundred pence, and the other fifty.[42] And when they had nothing to pay, he frankly forgave them both. Tell me therefore, which of them will love him most?[43] Simon answered and said, I suppose that he, to whom he forgave most. And he said to him, You have rightly judged.[44] And he turned to the woman, and said to Simon, See you this woman? I entered into your house, you gave me no water for my feet: but she has washed my feet with tears, and wiped them with the hairs of her head.[45] You gave me no kiss: but this woman since the time I came in has not ceased to kiss my feet.[46] My head with oil you did not anoint: but this woman has anointed my feet with ointment.[47] Why I say to you, Her sins, which are many, are forgiven; for she loved much: but to whom little is forgiven, the same loves little.[48] And he said to her, Your sins are forgiven.[49] And they that sat at meat with him began to say within themselves, Who is this that forgives sins also?[50] And he said to the woman, Your faith has saved you; go in peace.

[1] And it came to pass afterward, that he went throughout every city and village, preaching and showing the glad tidings of the kingdom of God: and the twelve were with him,

[2] And certain women, which had been healed of evil spirits and infirmities, Mary called Magdalene, out of whom went seven devils,[3] And Joanna the wife of Chuza Herod's steward, and Susanna, and many others, which ministered to him of their substance. ¶[4] And when much people were gathered together, and were come to him out of every city, he spoke by a parable:[5] A sower went out to sow his seed: and as he sowed, some fell by the way side; and it was trodden down, and the fowls of the air devoured it.[6] And some fell on a rock; and as soon as it was sprung up, it withered away, because it lacked moisture.[7] And some fell among thorns; and the thorns sprang up with it, and choked it.[8] And other fell on good ground, and sprang up, and bore fruit an hundred times. And when he had said these things, he cried, He that has ears to hear, let him hear.[9] And his disciples asked him, saying, What might this parable be?[10] And he said, To you it is given to know the mysteries of the kingdom of God: but to others in parables; that seeing they might not see, and hearing they might not understand.[11] Now the parable is this: The seed is the word of God.[12] Those by the way side are they that hear; then comes the devil, and takes away the word out of their hearts, lest they should believe and be saved.[13] They on the rock are they, which, when they hear, receive the word with joy; and these have no root, which for a while believe, and in time of temptation fall away.[14] And that which fell among thorns are they, which, when they have heard, go forth, and are choked with cares and riches and pleasures of this life, and bring no fruit to perfection.[15] But that on the good ground are they, which in an honest and good heart, having heard the word, keep it, and bring forth fruit with patience. ¶[16] No man, when he has lighted a candle, covers it with a vessel, or puts it under a bed; but sets it on a candlestick, that they which enter in may see the light.[17] For nothing is secret, that shall not be made manifest; neither any thing hid, that shall not be known and come abroad.[18] Take heed therefore how you hear: for whoever has, to him shall be given; and whoever has not, from him shall be taken even that which he seems to have. ¶[19] Then came to him his mother and his brothers, and could not come at him for the press.[20] And it was told him by certain which said, Your mother and your brothers stand without, desiring to see you.[21] And he answered and said to them, My mother and my brothers are these which hear the word of God, and do it. ¶[22] Now it came to pass on a certain day, that he went into a ship with his disciples: and he said to them, Let us go over to the other side of the lake. And they launched forth.[23] But as they sailed he fell asleep: and there came down a storm of wind on the lake; and they were filled with water, and were in jeopardy.[24] And they came to him, and awoke him, saying, Master, master, we perish. Then he arose, and rebuked the wind and the raging of the water: and they ceased, and there was a calm.[25] And he said to them, Where is your faith? And they being afraid wondered, saying one to another, What manner of man is this! for he commands even the winds and water, and they obey him. ¶[26] And they arrived at the country of the Gadarenes, which is over against Galilee.[27] And when he went forth to land, there met him out of the city a certain man, which had devils long time, and ware no clothes, neither stayed in any house, but in the tombs.[28] When he saw Jesus, he cried out, and fell down before him, and with a loud voice said, What have I to do with you, Jesus, you Son of God most high? I beseech you, torment me not.[29] (For he had commanded the unclean spirit to come out of the man. For oftentimes it had caught him: and he was kept bound with chains and in fetters; and he broke the bands, and was driven of the devil into the wilderness.)[30] And Jesus asked him, saying, What is your name? And he said, Legion: because many devils were entered into him.[31] And they sought him that he would not command them to go out into the deep.[32] And there was there an herd of many swine feeding on the mountain: and they sought him that he would suffer them to enter into them. And he suffered them.[33] Then went the devils out of the man, and entered into the swine: and the herd ran violently down a steep place into the lake, and were choked.[34] When they that fed them saw what was done, they fled, and went and told it in the city and in the country.[35] Then they went out to see what was done; and came to Jesus, and found the man, out of whom the devils were departed, sitting at the feet of Jesus, clothed, and in his right mind: and they were afraid.[36] They also which saw it told them by what means he that was possessed of the devils was healed. ¶[37] Then the whole multitude of the country of the Gadarenes round about sought him to depart from them; for they were taken with great fear: and he went up into the ship, and returned back again.[38] Now the man out of whom the devils were departed sought him that he might be with him: but Jesus sent him away, saying,[39] Return to your own house, and show how great things God has done to you. And he went his way, and published throughout the whole city how great things Jesus had done to him.[40] And it came to pass, that, when Jesus was returned, the people gladly received him: for they were all waiting for him. ¶[41] And, behold, there came a man named Jairus, and he was a ruler of the synagogue: and he fell down at Jesus' feet, and sought him that he would come into his house:[42] For he had one only daughter, about twelve years of age, and she lay a dying. But as he went the people thronged him. ¶[43] And a woman having an issue of blood twelve years, which had spent all her living on physicians, neither could be healed of any,[44] Came behind him, and touched the border of his garment: and immediately her issue of blood stanched.[45] And Jesus said, Who touched me? When all denied, Peter and they that were with him said, Master, the multitude throng you and press you, and say you, Who touched me?[46] And Jesus said, Somebody has touched me: for I perceive that virtue is gone out of me.[47] And when the woman saw that she was not hid, she came trembling, and falling down before him, she declared to him before all the people for what cause she had touched him, and how she was healed immediately.[48] And he said to her, Daughter, be of good comfort: your faith has made you whole; go in peace. ¶[49] While he yet spoke, there comes one from the ruler of the synagogue's house, saying to him, Your daughter is dead; trouble not the Master.[50] But when Jesus heard it, he answered him, saying, Fear not: believe only, and she shall be made whole.[51] And when he came into the house, he suffered no man to go in, save Peter, and James, and John, and the father and the mother of the maiden.[52] And all wept, and bewailed her: but he said, Weep not; she is not dead, but sleeps.[53] And they laughed him to scorn, knowing that she was dead.[54] And he put them all out, and took her by the hand, and called, saying, Maid, arise.[55] And her spirit came again, and she arose straightway: and he commanded to give her meat.[56] And her parents were astonished: but he charged them that they should tell no man what was done.

[1] Then he called his twelve disciples together, and gave them power and authority over all devils, and to cure diseases.

[2] And he sent them to preach the kingdom of God, and to heal the sick.[3] And he said to them, Take nothing for your journey, neither staves, nor money, neither bread, neither money; neither have two coats apiece.[4] And whatever house you enter into, there abide, and there depart.[5] And whoever will not receive you, when you go out of that city, shake off the very dust from your feet for a testimony against them.[6] And they departed, and went through the towns, preaching the gospel, and healing every where. ¶[7] Now Herod the tetrarch heard of all that was done by him: and he was perplexed, because that it was said of some, that John was risen from the dead;[8] And of some, that Elias had appeared; and of others, that one of the old prophets was risen again.[9] And Herod said, John have I beheaded: but who is this, of whom I hear such things? And he desired to see him. ¶[10] And the apostles, when they were returned, told him all that they had done. And he took them, and went aside privately into a desert place belonging to the city called Bethsaida.[11] And the people, when they knew it, followed him: and he received them, and spoke to them of the kingdom of God, and healed them that had need of healing.[12] And when the day began to wear away, then came the twelve, and said to him, Send the multitude away, that they may go into the towns and country round about, and lodge, and get victuals: for we are here in a desert place.[13] But he said to them, Give you them to eat. And they said, We have no more but five loaves and two fishes; except we should go and buy meat for all this people.[14] For they were about five thousand men. And he said to his disciples, Make them sit down by fifties in a company.[15] And they did so, and made them all sit down.[16] Then he took the five loaves and the two fishes, and looking up to heaven, he blessed them, and broke, and gave to the disciples to set before the multitude.[17] And they did eat, and were all filled: and there was taken up of fragments that remained to them twelve baskets. ¶[18] And it came to pass, as he was alone praying, his disciples were with him: and he asked them, saying, Whom say the people that I am?[19] They answering said, John the Baptist; but some say, Elias; and others say, that one of the old prophets is risen again.[20] He said to them, But whom say you that I am? Peter answering said, The Christ of God.[21] And he straightly charged them, and commanded them to tell no man that thing;[22] Saying, The Son of man must suffer many things, and be rejected of the elders and chief priests and scribes, and be slain, and be raised the third day. ¶[23] And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me.[24] For whoever will save his life shall lose it: but whoever will lose his life for my sake, the same shall save it.[25] For what is a man advantaged, if he gain the whole world, and lose himself, or be cast away?[26] For whoever shall be ashamed of me and of my words, of him shall the Son of man be ashamed, when he shall come in his own glory, and in his Father's, and of the holy angels.[27] But I tell you of a truth, there be some standing here, which shall not taste of death, till they see the kingdom of God. ¶[28] And it came to pass about an eight days after these sayings, he took Peter and John and James, and went up into a mountain to pray.[29] And as he prayed, the fashion of his countenance was altered, and his raiment was white and glistering.[30] And, behold, there talked with him two men, which were Moses and Elias:[31] Who appeared in glory, and spoke of his decease which he should accomplish at Jerusalem.[32] But Peter and they that were with him were heavy with sleep: and when they were awake, they saw his glory, and the two men that stood with him.[33] And it came to pass, as they departed from him, Peter said to Jesus, Master, it is good for us to be here: and let us make three tabernacles; one for you, and one for Moses, and one for Elias: not knowing what he said.[34] While he thus spoke, there came a cloud, and overshadowed them: and they feared as they entered into the cloud.[35] And there came a voice out of the cloud, saying, This is my beloved Son: hear him.[36]

And when the voice was past, Jesus was found alone. And they kept it close, and told no man in those days any of those things which they had seen. ¶[37] And it came to pass, that on the next day, when they were come down from the hill, much people met him.[38] And, behold, a man of the company cried out, saying, Master, I beseech you, look on my son: for he is my only child.[39] And, see, a spirit takes him, and he suddenly cries out; and it tears him that he foams again, and bruising him hardly departs from him.[40] And I sought your disciples to cast him out; and they could not.[41] And Jesus answering said, O faithless and perverse generation, how long shall I be with you, and suffer you? Bring your son here.[42] And as he was yet a coming, the devil threw him down, and tare him. And Jesus rebuked the unclean spirit, and healed the child, and delivered him again to his father. ¶[43] And they were all amazed at the mighty power of God. But while they wondered every one at all things which Jesus did, he said to his disciples,[44] Let these sayings sink down into your ears: for the Son of man shall be delivered into the hands of men.[45] But they understood not this saying, and it was hid from them, that they perceived it not: and they feared to ask him of that saying. ¶[46] Then there arose a reasoning among them, which of them should be greatest.[47] And Jesus, perceiving the thought of their heart, took a child, and set him by him,[48] And said to them, Whoever shall receive this child in my name receives me: and whoever shall receive me receives him that sent me: for he that is least among you all, the same shall be great. ¶[49] And John answered and said, Master, we saw one casting out devils in your name; and we forbade him, because he follows not with us.[50] And Jesus said to him, Forbid him not: for he that is not against us is for us. ¶[51] And it came to pass, when the time was come that he should be received up, he steadfastly set his face to go to Jerusalem,[52] And sent messengers before his face: and they went, and entered into a village of the Samaritans, to make ready for him.[53] And they did not receive him, because his face was as though he would go to Jerusalem.[54] And when his disciples James and John saw this, they said, Lord, will you that we command fire to come down from heaven, and consume them, even as Elias did?[55] But he turned, and rebuked them, and said, You know not what manner of spirit you are of.[56] For the Son of man is not come to destroy men's lives, but to save them. And they went to another village. ¶[57] And it came to pass, that, as they went in the way, a certain man said to him, Lord, I will follow you wherever you go.[58] And Jesus said to him, Foxes have holes, and birds of the air have nests; but the Son of man has not where to lay his head.[59] And he said to another, Follow me. But he said, Lord, suffer me first to go and bury my father.[60] Jesus said to him, Let the dead bury their dead: but go you and preach the kingdom of God.[61] And another also said, Lord, I will follow you; but let me first go bid them farewell, which are at home at my house.[62] And Jesus said to him, No man, having put his hand to the plough, and looking back, is fit for the kingdom of God.

[1] After these things the LORD appointed other seventy also, and sent them two and two before his face into every city and place, where he himself would come.

[2] Therefore said he to them, The harvest truly is great, but the laborers are few: pray you therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he would send forth laborers into his harvest.[3] Go your ways: behold, I send you forth as lambs among wolves.[4] Carry neither purse, nor money, nor shoes: and salute no man by the way.[5] And into whatever house you enter, first say, Peace be to this house.[6] And if the son of peace be there, your peace shall rest on it: if not, it shall turn to you again.[7] And in the same house remain, eating and drinking such things as they give: for the laborer is worthy of his hire. Go not from house to house.[8] And into whatever city you enter, and they receive you, eat such things as are set before you:[9] And heal the sick that are therein, and say to them, The kingdom of God is come near to you.[10] But into whatever city you enter, and they receive you not, go your ways out into the streets of the same, and say,[11] Even the very dust of your city, which sticks on us, we do wipe off against you: notwithstanding be you sure of this, that the kingdom of God is come near to you.[12] But I say to you, that it shall be more tolerable in that day for Sodom, than for that city.[13] Woe to you, Chorazin! woe to you, Bethsaida! for if the mighty works had been done in Tyre and Sidon, which have been done in you, they had a great while ago repented, sitting in sackcloth and ashes.[14] But it shall be more tolerable for Tyre and Sidon at the judgment, than for you.[15] And you, Capernaum, which are exalted to heaven, shall be thrust down to hell.[16] He that hears you hears me; and he that despises you despises me; and he that despises me despises him that sent me. ¶[17] And the seventy returned again with joy, saying, Lord, even the devils are subject to us through your name.[18] And he said to them, I beheld Satan as lightning fall from heaven.[19] Behold, I give to you power to tread on serpents and scorpions, and over all the power of the enemy: and nothing shall by any means hurt you.[20] Notwithstanding in this rejoice not, that the spirits are subject to you; but rather rejoice, because your names are written in heaven. ¶[21] In that hour Jesus rejoiced in spirit, and said, I thank you, O Father, Lord of heaven and earth, that you have hid these things from the wise and prudent, and have revealed them to babes: even so, Father; for so it seemed good in your sight.[22] All things are delivered to me of my Father: and no man knows who the Son is, but the Father; and who the Father is, but the Son, and he to whom the Son will reveal him. ¶[23] And he turned him to his disciples, and said privately, Blessed are the eyes which see the things that you see:[24] For I tell you, that many prophets and kings have desired to see those things which you see, and have not seen them; and to hear those things which you hear, and have not heard them. ¶[25] And, behold, a certain lawyer stood up, and tempted him, saying, Master, what shall I do to inherit eternal life?[26] He said to him, What is written in the law? how read you?[27] And he answering said, You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, and with all your soul, and with all your strength, and with all your mind; and your neighbor as yourself.[28] And he said to him, You have answered right: this do, and you shall live.[29] But he, willing to justify himself, said to Jesus, And who is my neighbor?[30] And Jesus answering said, A certain man went down from Jerusalem to Jericho, and fell among thieves, which stripped him of his raiment, and wounded him, and departed, leaving him half dead.[31] And by chance there came down a certain priest that way: and when he saw him, he passed by on the other side.[32] And likewise a Levite, when he was at the place, came and looked on him, and passed by on the other side.[33] But a certain Samaritan, as he journeyed, came where he was: and when he saw him, he had compassion on him,[34] And went to him, and bound up his wounds, pouring in oil and wine, and set him on his own beast, and brought him to an inn, and took care of him.[35] And on the morrow when he departed, he took out two pence, and gave them to the host, and said to him, Take care of him; and whatever you spend more, when I come again, I will repay you.[36] Which now of these three, think you, was neighbor to him that fell among the thieves?[37] And he said, He that showed mercy on him. Then said Jesus to him, Go, and do you likewise. ¶[38] Now it came to pass, as they went, that he entered into a certain village: and a certain woman named Martha received him into her house.[39] And she had a sister called Mary, which also sat at Jesus' feet, and heard his word.[40] But Martha was encumbered about much serving, and came to him, and said, Lord, do you not care that my sister has left me to serve alone? bid her therefore that she help me.[41] And Jesus answered and said to her, Martha, Martha, you are careful and troubled about many things:[42] But one thing is needful: and Mary has chosen that good part, which shall not be taken away from her.

[1] And it came to pass, that, as he was praying in a certain place, when he ceased, one of his disciples said to him, Lord, teach us to pray, as John also taught his disciples.

[2] And he said to them, When you pray, say, Our Father which are in heaven, Hallowed be your name. Your kingdom come. Your will be done, as in heaven, so in earth.[3] Give us day by day our daily bread.[4] And forgive us our sins; for we also forgive every one that is indebted to us. And lead us not into temptation; but deliver us from evil.[5] And he said to them, Which of you shall have a friend, and shall go to him at midnight, and say to him, Friend, lend me three loaves;[6] For a friend of my in his journey is come to me, and I have nothing to set before him?[7] And he from within shall answer and say, Trouble me not: the door is now shut, and my children are with me in bed; I cannot rise and give you.[8] I say to you, Though he will not rise and give him, because he is his friend, yet because of his importunity he will rise and give him as many as he needs.[9] And I say to you, Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and you shall find; knock, and it shall be opened to you.[10] For every one that asks receives; and he that seeks finds; and to him that knocks it shall be opened.[11] If a son shall ask bread of any of you that is a father, will he give him a stone? or if he ask a fish, will he for a fish give him a serpent?[12] Or if he shall ask an egg, will he offer him a scorpion?[13] If you then, being evil, know how to give good gifts to your children: how much more shall your heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to them that ask him? ¶[14] And he was casting out a devil, and it was dumb. And it came to pass, when the devil was gone out, the dumb spoke; and the people wondered.[15] But some of them said, He casts out devils through Beelzebub the chief of the devils.[16] And others, tempting him, sought of him a sign from heaven.[17] But he, knowing their thoughts, said to them, Every kingdom divided against itself is brought to desolation; and a house divided against a house falls.[18] If Satan also be divided against himself, how shall his kingdom stand? because you say that I cast out devils through Beelzebub.[19] And if I by Beelzebub cast out devils, by whom do your sons cast them out? therefore shall they be your judges.[20] But if I with the finger of God cast out devils, no doubt the kingdom of God is come on you.[21] When a strong man armed keeps his palace, his goods are in peace:[22] But when a stronger than he shall come on him, and overcome him, he takes from him all his armor wherein he trusted, and divides his spoils.[23] He that is not with me is against me: and he that gathers not with me scatters.[24] When the unclean spirit is gone out of a man, he walks through dry places, seeking rest; and finding none, he says, I will return to my house from where I came out.[25] And when he comes, he finds it swept and garnished.[26] Then goes he, and takes to him seven other spirits more wicked than himself; and they enter in, and dwell there: and the last state of that man is worse than the first. ¶[27] And it came to pass, as he spoke these things, a certain woman of the company lifted up her voice, and said to him, Blessed is the womb that bore you, and the breasts which you have sucked.[28] But he said, Yes rather, blessed are they that hear the word of God, and keep it. ¶[29] And when the people were gathered thick together, he began to say, This is an evil generation: they seek a sign; and there shall no sign be given it, but the sign of Jonas the prophet.[30] For as Jonas was a sign to the Ninevites, so shall also the Son of man be to this generation.[31] The queen of the south shall rise up in the judgment with the men of this generation, and condemn them: for she came from the utmost parts of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon; and, behold, a greater than Solomon is here.[32] The men of Nineve shall rise up in the judgment with this generation, and shall condemn it: for they repented at the preaching of Jonas; and, behold, a greater than Jonas is here.[33] No man, when he has lighted a candle, puts it in a secret place, neither under a bushel, but on a candlestick, that they which come in may see the light.[34] The light of the body is the eye: therefore when your eye is single, your whole body also is full of light; but when your eye is evil, your body also is full of darkness.[35] Take heed therefore that the light which is in you be not darkness.[36] If your whole body therefore be full of light, having no part dark, the whole shall be full of light, as when the bright shining of a candle does give you light. ¶[37] And as he spoke, a certain Pharisee sought him to dine with him: and he went in, and sat down to meat.[38] And when the Pharisee saw it, he marveled that he had not first washed before dinner.[39] And the Lord said to him, Now do you Pharisees make clean the outside of the cup and the platter; but your inward part is full of ravening and wickedness.[40] You fools, did not he that made that which is without make that which is within also?[41] But rather give alms of such things as you have; and, behold, all things are clean to you.[42] But woe to you, Pharisees! for you tithe mint and rue and all manner of herbs, and pass over judgment and the love of God: these you should have done, and not to leave the other undone.[43] Woe to you, Pharisees! for you love the uppermost seats in the synagogues, and greetings in the markets.[44] Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for you are as graves which appear not, and the men that walk over them are not aware of them. ¶[45] Then answered one of the lawyers, and said to him, Master, thus saying you reproach us also.[46] And he said, Woe to you also, you lawyers! for you lade men with burdens grievous to be borne, and you yourselves touch not the burdens with one of your fingers.[47] Woe to you! for you build the sepulchers of the prophets, and your fathers killed them.[48] Truly you bear witness that you allow the deeds of your fathers: for they indeed killed them, and you build their sepulchers.[49] Therefore also said the wisdom of God, I will send them prophets and apostles, and some of them they shall slay and persecute:[50] That the blood of all the prophets, which was shed from the foundation of the world, may be required of this generation;[51] From the blood of Abel to the blood of Zacharias which perished between the altar and the temple: truly I say to you, It shall be required of this generation.[52] Woe to you, lawyers! for you have taken away the key of knowledge: you entered not in yourselves, and them that were entering in you hindered.[53] And as he said these things to them, the scribes and the Pharisees began to urge him vehemently, and to provoke him to speak of many things:[54] Laying wait for him, and seeking to catch something out of his mouth, that they might accuse him.

[1] In the mean time, when there were gathered together an innumerable multitude of people, so that they stepped one on another, he began to say to his disciples first of all, Beware you of the leaven of the Pharisees, which is hypocrisy.

[2] For there is nothing covered, that shall not be revealed; neither hid, that shall not be known.[3] Therefore whatever you have spoken in darkness shall be heard in the light; and that which you have spoken in the ear in closets shall be proclaimed on the housetops.[4] And I say to you my friends, Be not afraid of them that kill the body, and after that have no more that they can do.[5] But I will forewarn you whom you shall fear: Fear him, which after he has killed has power to cast into hell; yes, I say to you, Fear him.[6] Are not five sparrows sold for two farthings, and not one of them is forgotten before God?[7] But even the very hairs of your head are all numbered. Fear not therefore: you are of more value than many sparrows.[8] Also I say to you, Whoever shall confess me before men, him shall the Son of man also confess before the angels of God:[9] But he that denies me before men shall be denied before the angels of God.[10] And whoever shall speak a word against the Son of man, it shall be forgiven him: but to him that blasphemes against the Holy Ghost it shall not be forgiven.[11] And when they bring you to the synagogues, and to magistrates, and powers, take you no thought how or what thing you shall answer, or what you shall say:[12] For the Holy Ghost shall teach you in the same hour what you ought to say. ¶[13] And one of the company said to him, Master, speak to my brother, that he divide the inheritance with me.[14] And he said to him, Man, who made me a judge or a divider over you?[15] And he said to them, Take heed, and beware of covetousness: for a man's life consists not in the abundance of the things which he possesses.[16] And he spoke a parable to them, saying, The ground of a certain rich man brought forth plentifully:[17] And he thought within himself, saying, What shall I do, because I have no room where to bestow my fruits?[18] And he said, This will I do: I will pull down my barns, and build greater; and there will I bestow all my fruits and my goods.[19] And I will say to my soul, Soul, you have much goods laid up for many years; take your ease, eat, drink, and be merry.[20] But God said to him, You fool, this night your soul shall be required of you: then whose shall those things be, which you have provided?[21] So is he that lays up treasure for himself, and is not rich toward God. ¶[22] And he said to his disciples, Therefore I say to you, Take no thought for your life, what you shall eat; neither for the body, what you shall put on.[23] The life is more than meat, and the body is more than raiment.[24] Consider the ravens: for they neither sow nor reap; which neither have storehouse nor barn; and God feeds them: how much more are you better than the fowls?[25] And which of you with taking thought can add to his stature one cubit?[26] If you then be not able to do that thing which is least, why take you thought for the rest?[27] Consider the lilies how they grow: they toil not, they spin not; and yet I say to you, that Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these.[28] If then God so clothe the grass, which is to day in the field, and to morrow is cast into the oven; how much more will he clothe you, O you of little faith?[29] And seek not you what you shall eat, or what you shall drink, neither be you of doubtful mind.[30] For all these things do the nations of the world seek after: and your Father knows that you have need of these things. ¶[31] But rather seek you the kingdom of God; and all these things shall be added to you.[32] Fear not, little flock; for it is your Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom.[33] Sell that you have, and give alms; provide yourselves bags which wax not old, a treasure in the heavens that fails not, where no thief approaches, neither moth corrupts.[34] For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also.[35] Let your loins be girded about, and your lights burning;[36] And you yourselves like to men that wait for their lord, when he will return from the wedding; that when he comes and knocks, they may open to him immediately.[37] Blessed are those servants, whom the lord when he comes shall find watching: truly I say to you, that he shall gird himself, and make them to sit down to meat, and will come forth and serve them.[38] And if he shall come in the second watch, or come in the third watch, and find them so, blessed are those servants.[39] And this know, that if the manager of the house had known what hour the thief would come, he would have watched, and not have suffered his house to be broken through.[40] Be you therefore ready also: for the Son of man comes at an hour when you think not. ¶[41] Then Peter said to him, Lord, speak you this parable to us, or even to all?[42] And the Lord said, Who then is that faithful and wise steward, whom his lord shall make ruler over his household, to give them their portion of meat in due season?[43] Blessed is that servant, whom his lord when he comes shall find so doing.[44] Of a truth I say to you, that he will make him ruler over all that he has.[45] But and if that servant say in his heart, My lord delays his coming; and shall begin to beat the menservants and maidens, and to eat and drink, and to be drunken;[46] The lord of that servant will come in a day when he looks not for him, and at an hour when he is not aware, and will cut him in sunder, and will appoint him his portion with the unbelievers.[47] And that servant, which knew his lord's will, and prepared not himself, neither did according to his will, shall be beaten with many stripes.[48] But he that knew not, and did commit things worthy of stripes, shall be beaten with few stripes. For to whomsoever much is given, of him shall be much required: and to whom men have committed much, of him they will ask the more. ¶[49] I am come to send fire on the earth; and what will I, if it be already kindled?[50] But I have a baptism to be baptized with; and how am I straitened till it be accomplished![51] Suppose you that I am come to give peace on earth? I tell you, No; but rather division:[52] For from now on there shall be five in one house divided, three against two, and two against three.[53] The father shall be divided against the son, and the son against the father; the mother against the daughter, and the daughter against the mother; the mother in law against her daughter in law, and the daughter in law against her mother in law. ¶[54] And he said also to the people, When you see a cloud rise out of the west, straightway you say, There comes a shower; and so it is.[55] And when you see the south wind blow, you say, There will be heat; and it comes to pass.[56] You hypocrites, you can discern the face of the sky and of the earth; but how is it that you do not discern this time?[57] Yes, and why even of yourselves judge you not what is right? ¶[58] When you go with your adversary to the magistrate, as you are in the way, give diligence that you may be delivered from him; lest he hale you to the judge, and the judge deliver you to the officer, and the officer cast you into prison.[59] I tell you, you shall not depart there, till you have paid the very last mite.

[1] There were present at that season some that told him of the Galilaeans, whose blood Pilate had mingled with their sacrifices.

[2] And Jesus answering said to them, Suppose you that these Galilaeans were sinners above all the Galilaeans, because they suffered such things?[3] I tell you, No: but, except you repent, you shall all likewise perish.[4] Or those eighteen, on whom the tower in Siloam fell, and slew them, think you that they were sinners above all men that dwelled in Jerusalem?[5] I tell you, No: but, except you repent, you shall all likewise perish. ¶[6] He spoke also this parable; A certain man had a fig tree planted in his vineyard; and he came and sought fruit thereon, and found none.[7] Then said he to the dresser of his vineyard, Behold, these three years I come seeking fruit on this fig tree, and find none: cut it down; why encumbers it the ground?[8] And he answering said to him, Lord, let it alone this year also, till I shall dig about it, and dung it:[9] And if it bear fruit, well: and if not, then after that you shall cut it down.[10] And he was teaching in one of the synagogues on the sabbath. ¶[11] And, behold, there was a woman which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bowed together, and could in no wise lift up herself.[12] And when Jesus saw her, he called her to him, and said to her, Woman, you are loosed from your infirmity.[13] And he laid his hands on her: and immediately she was made straight, and glorified God.[14] And the ruler of the synagogue answered with indignation, because that Jesus had healed on the sabbath day, and said to the people, There are six days in which men ought to work: in them therefore come and be healed, and not on the sabbath day.[15] The Lord then answered him, and said, You hypocrite, does not each one of you on the sabbath loose his ox or his ass from the stall, and lead him away to watering?[16] And should not this woman, being a daughter of Abraham, whom Satan has bound, see, these eighteen years, be loosed from this bond on the sabbath day?[17] And when he had said these things, all his adversaries were ashamed: and all the people rejoiced for all the glorious things that were done by him. ¶[18] Then said he, To what is the kingdom of God like? and to what shall I resemble it?[19] It is like a grain of mustard seed, which a man took, and cast into his garden; and it grew, and waxed a great tree; and the fowls of the air lodged in the branches of it.[20] And again he said, Whereunto shall I liken the kingdom of God?[21] It is like leaven, which a woman took and hid in three measures of meal, till the whole was leavened.[22] And he went through the cities and villages, teaching, and journeying toward Jerusalem.[23] Then said one to him, Lord, are there few that be saved? And he said to them, ¶[24] Strive to enter in at the strait gate: for many, I say to you, will seek to enter in, and shall not be able.[25] When once the master of the house is risen up, and has shut to the door, and you begin to stand without, and to knock at the door, saying, Lord, Lord, open to us; and he shall answer and say to you, I know you not from where you are:[26] Then shall you begin to say, We have eaten and drunk in your presence, and you have taught in our streets.[27] But he shall say, I tell you, I know you not from where you are; depart from me, all you workers of iniquity.[28] There shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth, when you shall see Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, and all the prophets, in the kingdom of God, and you yourselves thrust out.[29] And they shall come from the east, and from the west, and from the north, and from the south, and shall sit down in the kingdom of God.[30] And, behold, there are last which shall be first, and there are first which shall be last. ¶[31] The same day there came certain of the Pharisees, saying to him, Get you out, and depart hence: for Herod will kill you.[32] And he said to them, Go you, and tell that fox, Behold, I cast out devils, and I do cures to day and to morrow, and the third day I shall be perfected.[33] Nevertheless I must walk to day, and to morrow, and the day following: for it cannot be that a prophet perish out of Jerusalem.[34] O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, which kill the prophets, and stone them that are sent to you; how often would I have gathered your children together, as a hen does gather her brood under her wings, and you would not![35] Behold, your house is left to you desolate: and truly I say to you, You shall not see me, until the time come when you shall say, Blessed is he that comes in the name of the Lord.

[1] And it came to pass, as he went into the house of one of the chief Pharisees to eat bread on the sabbath day, that they watched him.

[2] And, behold, there was a certain man before him which had the dropsy.[3] And Jesus answering spoke to the lawyers and Pharisees, saying, Is it lawful to heal on the sabbath day?[4] And they held their peace. And he took him, and healed him, and let him go;[5] And answered them, saying, Which of you shall have an ass or an ox fallen into a pit, and will not straightway pull him out on the sabbath day?[6] And they could not answer him again to these things. ¶[7] And he put forth a parable to those which were bidden, when he marked how they chose out the chief rooms; saying to them,[8] When you are bidden of any man to a wedding, sit not down in the highest room; lest a more honorable man than you be bidden of him;[9] And he that bade you and him come and say to you, Give this man place; and you begin with shame to take the lowest room.[10] But when you are bidden, go and sit down in the lowest room; that when he that bade you comes, he may say to you, Friend, go up higher: then shall you have worship in the presence of them that sit at meat with you.[11] For whoever exalts himself shall be abased; and he that humbles himself shall be exalted. ¶[12] Then said he also to him that bade him, When you make a dinner or a supper, call not your friends, nor your brothers, neither your kinsmen, nor your rich neighbors; lest they also bid you again, and a recompense be made you.[13] But when you make a feast, call the poor, the maimed, the lame, the blind:[14] And you shall be blessed; for they cannot recompense you: for you shall be recompensed at the resurrection of the just. ¶[15] And when one of them that sat at meat with him heard these things, he said to him, Blessed is he that shall eat bread in the kingdom of God.[16] Then said he to him, A certain man made a great supper, and bade many:[17] And sent his servant at supper time to say to them that were bidden, Come; for all things are now ready.[18] And they all with one consent began to make excuse. The first said to him, I have bought a piece of ground, and I must needs go and see it: I pray you have me excused.[19] And another said, I have bought five yoke of oxen, and I go to prove them: I pray you have me excused.[20] And another said, I have married a wife, and therefore I cannot come.[21] So that servant came, and showed his lord these things. Then the master of the house being angry said to his servant, Go out quickly into the streets and lanes of the city, and bring in here the poor, and the maimed, and the halt, and the blind.[22] And the servant said, Lord, it is done as you have commanded, and yet there is room.[23] And the lord said to the servant, Go out into the highways and hedges, and compel them to come in, that my house may be filled.[24] For I say to you, That none of those men which were bidden shall taste of my supper. ¶[25] And there went great multitudes with him: and he turned, and said to them,[26] If any man come to me, and hate not his father, and mother, and wife, and children, and brothers, and sisters, yes, and his own life also, he cannot be my disciple.[27] And whoever does not bear his cross, and come after me, cannot be my disciple.[28] For which of you, intending to build a tower, sits not down first, and counts the cost, whether he have sufficient to finish it?[29] Lest haply, after he has laid the foundation, and is not able to finish it, all that behold it begin to mock him,[30] Saying, This man began to build, and was not able to finish.[31] Or what king, going to make war against another king, sits not down first, and consults whether he be able with ten thousand to meet him that comes against him with twenty thousand?[32] Or else, while the other is yet a great way off, he sends an ambassador, and desires conditions of peace.[33] So likewise, whoever he be of you that forsakes not all that he has, he cannot be my disciple. ¶[34] Salt is good: but if the salt have lost his flavor, with which shall it be seasoned?[35] It is neither fit for the land, nor yet for the dunghill; but men cast it out. He that has ears to hear, let him hear.

[1] Then drew near to him all the publicans and sinners for to hear him.

[2] And the Pharisees and scribes murmured, saying, This man receives sinners, and eats with them. ¶[3] And he spoke this parable to them, saying,[4] What man of you, having an hundred sheep, if he lose one of them, does not leave the ninety and nine in the wilderness, and go after that which is lost, until he find it?[5] And when he has found it, he lays it on his shoulders, rejoicing.[6] And when he comes home, he calls together his friends and neighbors, saying to them, Rejoice with me; for I have found my sheep which was lost.[7] I say to you, that likewise joy shall be in heaven over one sinner that repents, more than over ninety and nine just persons, which need no repentance. ¶[8] Either what woman having ten pieces of silver, if she lose one piece, does not light a candle, and sweep the house, and seek diligently till she find it?[9] And when she has found it, she calls her friends and her neighbors together, saying, Rejoice with me; for I have found the piece which I had lost.[10] Likewise, I say to you, there is joy in the presence of the angels of God over one sinner that repents. ¶[11] And he said, A certain man had two sons:[12] And the younger of them said to his father, Father, give me the portion of goods that falls to me. And he divided to them his living.[13] And not many days after the younger son gathered all together, and took his journey into a far country, and there wasted his substance with riotous living.[14] And when he had spent all, there arose a mighty famine in that land; and he began to be in want.[15] And he went and joined himself to a citizen of that country; and he sent him into his fields to feed swine.[16] And he would fain have filled his belly with the husks that the swine did eat: and no man gave to him.[17] And when he came to himself, he said, How many hired servants of my father's have bread enough and to spare, and I perish with hunger![18] I will arise and go to my father, and will say to him, Father, I have sinned against heaven, and before you,[19] And am no more worthy to be called your son: make me as one of your hired servants.[20] And he arose, and came to his father. But when he was yet a great way off, his father saw him, and had compassion, and ran, and fell on his neck, and kissed him.[21] And the son said to him, Father, I have sinned against heaven, and in your sight, and am no more worthy to be called your son.[22] But the father said to his servants, Bring forth the best robe, and put it on him; and put a ring on his hand, and shoes on his feet:[23] And bring here the fatted calf, and kill it; and let us eat, and be merry:[24] For this my son was dead, and is alive again; he was lost, and is found. And they began to be merry.[25] Now his elder son was in the field: and as he came and drew near to the house, he heard music and dancing.[26] And he called one of the servants, and asked what these things meant.[27] And he said to him, Your brother is come; and your father has killed the fatted calf, because he has received him safe and sound.[28] And he was angry, and would not go in: therefore came his father out, and entreated him.[29] And he answering said to his father, See, these many years do I serve you, neither transgressed I at any time your commandment: and yet you never gave me a kid, that I might make merry with my friends:[30] But as soon as this your son was come, which has devoured your living with harlots, you have killed for him the fatted calf.[31] And he said to him, Son, you are ever with me, and all that I have is yours.[32] It was meet that we should make merry, and be glad: for this your brother was dead, and is alive again; and was lost, and is found.

[1] And he said also to his disciples, There was a certain rich man, which had a steward; and the same was accused to him that he had wasted his goods.

[2] And he called him, and said to him, How is it that I hear this of you? give an account of your stewardship; for you may be no longer steward.[3] Then the steward said within himself, What shall I do? for my lord takes away from me the stewardship: I cannot dig; to beg I am ashamed.[4] I am resolved what to do, that, when I am put out of the stewardship, they may receive me into their houses.[5] So he called every one of his lord's debtors to him, and said to the first, How much owe you to my lord?[6] And he said, An hundred measures of oil. And he said to him, Take your bill, and sit down quickly, and write fifty.[7] Then said he to another, And how much owe you? And he said, An hundred measures of wheat. And he said to him, Take your bill, and write fourscore.[8] And the lord commended the unjust steward, because he had done wisely: for the children of this world are in their generation wiser than the children of light.[9] And I say to you, Make to yourselves friends of the mammon of unrighteousness; that, when you fail, they may receive you into everlasting habitations.[10] He that is faithful in that which is least is faithful also in much: and he that is unjust in the least is unjust also in much.[11] If therefore you have not been faithful in the unrighteous mammon, who will commit to your trust the true riches?[12] And if you have not been faithful in that which is another man's, who shall give you that which is your own? ¶[13] No servant can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. You cannot serve God and mammon.[14] And the Pharisees also, who were covetous, heard all these things: and they derided him.[15] And he said to them, You are they which justify yourselves before men; but God knows your hearts: for that which is highly esteemed among men is abomination in the sight of God.[16] The law and the prophets were until John: since that time the kingdom of God is preached, and every man presses into it.[17] And it is easier for heaven and earth to pass, than one pronunciation mark of the law to fail.[18] Whoever puts away his wife, and marries another, commits adultery: and whoever marries her that is put away from her husband commits adultery. ¶[19] There was a certain rich man, which was clothed in purple and fine linen, and fared sumptuously every day:[20] And there was a certain beggar named Lazarus, which was laid at his gate, full of sores,[21] And desiring to be fed with the crumbs which fell from the rich man's table: moreover the dogs came and licked his sores.[22] And it came to pass, that the beggar died, and was carried by the angels into Abraham's bosom: the rich man also died, and was buried;[23] And in hell he lift up his eyes, being in torments, and sees Abraham afar off, and Lazarus in his bosom.[24] And he cried and said, Father Abraham, have mercy on me, and send Lazarus, that he may dip the tip of his finger in water, and cool my tongue; for I am tormented in this flame.[25] But Abraham said, Son, remember that you in your lifetime received your good things, and likewise Lazarus evil things: but now he is comforted, and you are tormented.[26] And beside all this, between us and you there is a great gulf fixed: so that they which would pass from hence to you cannot; neither can they pass to us, that would come from there.[27] Then he said, I pray you therefore, father, that you would send him to my father's house:[28] For I have five brothers; that he may testify to them, lest they also come into this place of torment.[29] Abraham says to him, They have Moses and the prophets; let them hear them.[30] And he said, No, father Abraham: but if one went to them from the dead, they will repent.[31] And he said to him, If they hear not Moses and the prophets, neither will they be persuaded, though one rose from the dead.

[1] Then said he to the disciples, It is impossible but that offenses will come: but woe to him, through whom they come!

[2] It were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and he cast into the sea, than that he should offend one of these little ones. ¶[3] Take heed to yourselves: If your brother trespass against you, rebuke him; and if he repent, forgive him.[4] And if he trespass against you seven times in a day, and seven times in a day turn again to you, saying, I repent; you shall forgive him.[5] And the apostles said to the Lord, Increase our faith.[6] And the Lord said, If you had faith as a grain of mustard seed, you might say to this sycamine tree, Be you plucked up by the root, and be you planted in the sea; and it should obey you.[7] But which of you, having a servant plowing or feeding cattle, will say to him by and by, when he is come from the field, Go and sit down to meat?[8] And will not rather say to him, Make ready with which I may sup, and gird yourself, and serve me, till I have eaten and drunken; and afterward you shall eat and drink?[9] Does he thank that servant because he did the things that were commanded him? I trow not.[10] So likewise you, when you shall have done all those things which are commanded you, say, We are unprofitable servants: we have done that which was our duty to do. ¶[11] And it came to pass, as he went to Jerusalem, that he passed through the middle of Samaria and Galilee.[12] And as he entered into a certain village, there met him ten men that were lepers, which stood afar off:[13] And they lifted up their voices, and said, Jesus, Master, have mercy on us.[14] And when he saw them, he said to them, Go show yourselves to the priests. And it came to pass, that, as they went, they were cleansed.[15] And one of them, when he saw that he was healed, turned back, and with a loud voice glorified God,[16] And fell down on his face at his feet, giving him thanks: and he was a Samaritan.[17] And Jesus answering said, Were there not ten cleansed? but where are the nine?[18] There are not found that returned to give glory to God, save this stranger.[19] And he said to him, Arise, go your way: your faith has made you whole. ¶[20] And when he was demanded of the Pharisees, when the kingdom of God should come, he answered them and said, The kingdom of God comes not with observation:[21] Neither shall they say, See here! or, see there! for, behold, the kingdom of God is within you.[22] And he said to the disciples, The days will come, when you shall desire to see one of the days of the Son of man, and you shall not see it.[23] And they shall say to you, See here; or, see there: go not after them, nor follow them.[24] For as the lightning, that lightens out of the one part under heaven, shines to the other part under heaven; so shall also the Son of man be in his day.[25] But first must he suffer many things, and be rejected of this generation.[26] And as it was in the days of Noe, so shall it be also in the days of the Son of man.[27] They did eat, they drank, they married wives, they were given in marriage, until the day that Noe entered into the ark, and the flood came, and destroyed them all.[28] Likewise also as it was in the days of Lot; they did eat, they drank, they bought, they sold, they planted, they built;[29] But the same day that Lot went out of Sodom it rained fire and brimstone from heaven, and destroyed them all.[30] Even thus shall it be in the day when the Son of man is revealed.[31] In that day, he which shall be on the housetop, and his stuff in the house, let him not come down to take it away: and he that is in the field, let him likewise not return back.[32] Remember Lot's wife.[33] Whoever shall seek to save his life shall lose it; and whoever shall lose his life shall preserve it.[34] I tell you, in that night there shall be two men in one bed; the one shall be taken, and the other shall be left.[35] Two women shall be grinding together; the one shall be taken, and the other left.[36] Two men shall be in the field; the one shall be taken, and the other left.[37] And they answered and said to him, Where, Lord? And he said to them, Wherever the body is, thither will the eagles be gathered together.

[1] And he spoke a parable to them to this end, that men should always to pray, and not to faint;

[2] Saying, There was in a city a judge, which feared not God, neither regarded man:[3] And there was a widow in that city; and she came to him, saying, Avenge me of my adversary.[4] And he would not for a while: but afterward he said within himself, Though I fear not God, nor regard man;[5] Yet because this widow troubles me, I will avenge her, lest by her continual coming she weary me.[6] And the Lord said, Hear what the unjust judge says.[7] And shall not God avenge his own elect, which cry day and night to him, though he bear long with them?[8] I tell you that he will avenge them speedily. Nevertheless when the Son of man comes, shall he find faith on the earth?[9] And he spoke this parable to certain which trusted in themselves that they were righteous, and despised others:[10] Two men went up into the temple to pray; the one a Pharisee, and the other a publican.[11] The Pharisee stood and prayed thus with himself, God, I thank you, that I am not as other men are, extortionists, unjust, adulterers, or even as this publican.[12] I fast twice in the week, I give tithes of all that I possess.[13] And the publican, standing afar off, would not lift up so much as his eyes to heaven, but smote on his breast, saying, God be merciful to me a sinner.[14] I tell you, this man went down to his house justified rather than the other: for every one that exalts himself shall be abased; and he that humbles himself shall be exalted.[15] And they brought to him also infants, that he would touch them: but when his disciples saw it, they rebuked them.[16] But Jesus called them to him, and said, Suffer little children to come to me, and forbid them not: for of such is the kingdom of God.[17] Truly I say to you, Whoever shall not receive the kingdom of God as a little child shall in no wise enter therein.[18] And a certain ruler asked him, saying, Good Master, what shall I do to inherit eternal life?[19] And Jesus said to him, Why call you me good? none is good, save one, that is, God.[20] You know the commandments, Do not commit adultery, Do not kill, Do not steal, Do not bear false witness, Honor your father and your mother.[21] And he said, All these have I kept from my youth up.[22] Now when Jesus heard these things, he said to him, Yet lack you one thing: sell all that you have, and distribute to the poor, and you shall have treasure in heaven: and come, follow me.[23] And when he heard this, he was very sorrowful: for he was very rich.[24] And when Jesus saw that he was very sorrowful, he said, How hardly shall they that have riches enter into the kingdom of God![25] For it is easier for a camel to go through a needle's eye, than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God.[26] And they that heard it said, Who then can be saved?[27] And he said, The things which are impossible with men are possible with God.[28] Then Peter said, See, we have left all, and followed you.[29] And he said to them, Truly I say to you, There is no man that has left house, or parents, or brothers, or wife, or children, for the kingdom of God's sake,[30] Who shall not receive manifold more in this present time, and in the world to come life everlasting. ¶[31] Then he took to him the twelve, and said to them, Behold, we go up to Jerusalem, and all things that are written by the prophets concerning the Son of man shall be accomplished.[32] For he shall be delivered to the Gentiles, and shall be mocked, and spitefully entreated, and spitted on:[33] And they shall whip him, and put him to death: and the third day he shall rise again.[34] And they understood none of these things: and this saying was hid from them, neither knew they the things which were spoken. ¶[35] And it came to pass, that as he was come near to Jericho, a certain blind man sat by the way side begging:[36] And hearing the multitude pass by, he asked what it meant.[37] And they told him, that Jesus of Nazareth passes by.[38] And he cried, saying, Jesus, you son of David, have mercy on me.[39] And they which went before rebuked him, that he should hold his peace: but he cried so much the more, You son of David, have mercy on me.[40] And Jesus stood, and commanded him to be brought to him: and when he was come near, he asked him,[41] Saying, What will you that I shall do to you? And he said, Lord, that I may receive my sight.[42] And Jesus said to him, Receive your sight: your faith has saved you.[43] And immediately he received his sight, and followed him, glorifying God: and all the people, when they saw it, gave praise to God.

[1] And Jesus entered and passed through Jericho.

[2] And, behold, there was a man named Zacchaeus, which was the chief among the publicans, and he was rich.[3] And he sought to see Jesus who he was; and could not for the press, because he was little of stature.[4] And he ran before, and climbed up into a sycomore tree to see him: for he was to pass that way.[5] And when Jesus came to the place, he looked up, and saw him, and said to him, Zacchaeus, make haste, and come down; for to day I must abide at your house.[6] And he made haste, and came down, and received him joyfully.[7] And when they saw it, they all murmured, saying, That he was gone to be guest with a man that is a sinner.[8] And Zacchaeus stood, and said to the Lord: Behold, Lord, the half of my goods I give to the poor; and if I have taken any thing from any man by false accusation, I restore him fourfold.[9] And Jesus said to him, This day is salvation come to this house, as much as he also is a son of Abraham.[10] For the Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost.[11] And as they heard these things, he added and spoke a parable, because he was near to Jerusalem, and because they thought that the kingdom of God should immediately appear.[12] He said therefore, A certain nobleman went into a far country to receive for himself a kingdom, and to return.[13] And he called his ten servants, and delivered them ten pounds, and said to them, Occupy till I come.[14] But his citizens hated him, and sent a message after him, saying, We will not have this man to reign over us.[15] And it came to pass, that when he was returned, having received the kingdom, then he commanded these servants to be called to him, to whom he had given the money, that he might know how much every man had gained by trading.[16] Then came the first, saying, Lord, your pound has gained ten pounds.[17] And he said to him, Well, you good servant: because you have been faithful in a very little, have you authority over ten cities.[18] And the second came, saying, Lord, your pound has gained five pounds.[19] And he said likewise to him, Be you also over five cities.[20] And another came, saying, Lord, behold, here is your pound, which I have kept laid up in a napkin:[21] For I feared you, because you are an austere man: you take up that you layed not down, and reap that you did not sow.[22] And he says to him, Out of your own mouth will I judge you, you wicked servant. You knew that I was an austere man, taking up that I laid not down, and reaping that I did not sow:[23] Why then gave not you my money into the bank, that at my coming I might have required my own with usury?[24] And he said to them that stood by, Take from him the pound, and give it to him that has ten pounds.[25] (And they said to him, Lord, he has ten pounds.)[26] For I say to you, That to every one which has shall be given; and from him that has not, even that he has shall be taken away from him.[27] But those my enemies, which would not that I should reign over them, bring here, and slay them before me. ¶[28] And when he had thus spoken, he went before, ascending up to Jerusalem.[29] And it came to pass, when he was come near to Bethphage and Bethany, at the mount called the mount of Olives, he sent two of his disciples,[30] Saying, Go you into the village over against you; in the which at your entering you shall find a colt tied, where on yet never man sat: loose him, and bring him here.[31] And if any man ask you, Why do you loose him? thus shall you say to him, Because the Lord has need of him.[32] And they that were sent went their way, and found even as he had said to them.[33] And as they were loosing the colt, the owners thereof said to them, Why loose you the colt?[34] And they said, The Lord has need of him.[35] And they brought him to Jesus: and they cast their garments on the colt, and they set Jesus thereon.[36] And as he went, they spread their clothes in the way.[37] And when he was come near, even now at the descent of the mount of Olives, the whole multitude of the disciples began to rejoice and praise God with a loud voice for all the mighty works that they had seen;[38] Saying, Blessed be the King that comes in the name of the Lord: peace in heaven, and glory in the highest.[39] And some of the Pharisees from among the multitude said to him, Master, rebuke your disciples.[40] And he answered and said to them, I tell you that, if these should hold their peace, the stones would immediately cry out. ¶[41] And when he was come near, he beheld the city, and wept over it,[42] Saying, If you had known, even you, at least in this your day, the things which belong to your peace! but now they are hid from your eyes.[43] For the days shall come on you, that your enemies shall cast a trench about you, and compass you round, and keep you in on every side,[44] And shall lay you even with the ground, and your children within you; and they shall not leave in you one stone on another; because you knew not the time of your visitation.[45] And he went into the temple, and began to cast out them that sold therein, and them that bought;[46] Saying to them, It is written, My house is the house of prayer: but you have made it a den of thieves.[47] And he taught daily in the temple. But the chief priests and the scribes and the chief of the people sought to destroy him,[48] And could not find what they might do: for all the people were very attentive to hear him.

[1] And it came to pass, that on one of those days, as he taught the people in the temple, and preached the gospel, the chief priests and the scribes came on him with the elders,

[2] And spoke to him, saying, Tell us, by what authority do you these things? or who is he that gave you this authority?[3] And he answered and said to them, I will also ask you one thing; and answer me:[4] The baptism of John, was it from heaven, or of men?[5] And they reasoned with themselves, saying, If we shall say, From heaven; he will say, Why then believed you him not?[6] But and if we say, Of men; all the people will stone us: for they be persuaded that John was a prophet.[7] And they answered, that they could not tell from where it was.[8] And Jesus said to them, Neither tell I you by what authority I do these things.[9] Then began he to speak to the people this parable; A certain man planted a vineyard, and let it forth to farmers, and went into a far country for a long time.[10] And at the season he sent a servant to the farmers, that they should give him of the fruit of the vineyard: but the farmers beat him, and sent him away empty.[11] And again he sent another servant: and they beat him also, and entreated him shamefully, and sent him away empty.[12] And again he sent a third: and they wounded him also, and cast him out.[13] Then said the lord of the vineyard, What shall I do? I will send my beloved son: it may be they will reverence him when they see him.[14] But when the farmers saw him, they reasoned among themselves, saying, This is the heir: come, let us kill him, that the inheritance may be ours.[15] So they cast him out of the vineyard, and killed him. What therefore shall the lord of the vineyard do to them?[16] He shall come and destroy these farmers, and shall give the vineyard to others. And when they heard it, they said, God forbid.[17] And he beheld them, and said, What is this then that is written, The stone which the builders rejected, the same is become the head of the corner?[18] Whoever shall fall on that stone shall be broken; but on whomsoever it shall fall, it will grind him to powder. ¶[19] And the chief priests and the scribes the same hour sought to lay hands on him; and they feared the people: for they perceived that he had spoken this parable against them.[20] And they watched him, and sent forth spies, which should feign themselves just men, that they might take hold of his words, that so they might deliver him to the power and authority of the governor.[21] And they asked him, saying, Master, we know that you say and teach rightly, neither accept you the person of any, but teach the way of God truly:[22] Is it lawful for us to give tribute to Caesar, or no?[23] But he perceived their craftiness, and said to them, Why tempt you me?[24] Show me a penny. Whose image and superscription has it? They answered and said, Caesar's.[25] And he said to them, Render therefore to Caesar the things which be Caesar's, and to God the things which be God's.[26] And they could not take hold of his words before the people: and they marveled at his answer, and held their peace. ¶[27] Then came to him certain of the Sadducees, which deny that there is any resurrection; and they asked him,[28] Saying, Master, Moses wrote to us, If any man's brother die, having a wife, and he die without children, that his brother should take his wife, and raise up seed to his brother.[29] There were therefore seven brothers: and the first took a wife, and died without children.[30] And the second took her to wife, and he died childless.[31] And the third took her; and in like manner the seven also: and they left no children, and died.[32] Last of all the woman died also.[33] Therefore in the resurrection whose wife of them is she? for seven had her to wife.[34] And Jesus answering said to them, The children of this world marry, and are given in marriage:[35] But they which shall be accounted worthy to obtain that world, and the resurrection from the dead, neither marry, nor are given in marriage:[36] Neither can they die any more: for they are equal to the angels; and are the children of God, being the children of the resurrection.[37] Now that the dead are raised, even Moses showed at the bush, when he calls the Lord the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob.[38] For he is not a God of the dead, but of the living: for all live to him. ¶[39] Then certain of the scribes answering said, Master, you have well said.[40] And after that they dared not ask him any question at all.[41] And he said to them, How say they that Christ is David's son?[42] And David himself says in the book of Psalms, The LORD said to my Lord, Sit you on my right hand,[43] Till I make your enemies your footstool.[44] David therefore calls him Lord, how is he then his son? ¶[45] Then in the audience of all the people he said to his disciples,[46] Beware of the scribes, which desire to walk in long robes, and love greetings in the markets, and the highest seats in the synagogues, and the chief rooms at feasts;[47] Which devour widows' houses, and for a show make long prayers: the same shall receive greater damnation.

[1] And he looked up, and saw the rich men casting their gifts into the treasury.

[2] And he saw also a certain poor widow casting in thither two mites.[3] And he said, Of a truth I say to you, that this poor widow has cast in more than they all:[4] For all these have of their abundance cast in to the offerings of God: but she of her penury has cast in all the living that she had. ¶[5] And as some spoke of the temple, how it was adorned with goodly stones and gifts, he said,[6] As for these things which you behold, the days will come, in the which there shall not be left one stone on another, that shall not be thrown down.[7] And they asked him, saying, Master, but when shall these things be? and what sign will there be when these things shall come to pass?[8] And he said, Take heed that you be not deceived: for many shall come in my name, saying, I am Christ; and the time draws near: go you not therefore after them.[9] But when you shall hear of wars and commotions, be not terrified: for these things must first come to pass; but the end is not by and by.[10] Then said he to them, Nation shall rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom:[11] And great earthquakes shall be in divers places, and famines, and pestilences; and fearful sights and great signs shall there be from heaven.[12] But before all these, they shall lay their hands on you, and persecute you, delivering you up to the synagogues, and into prisons, being brought before kings and rulers for my name's sake.[13] And it shall turn to you for a testimony.[14] Settle it therefore in your hearts, not to meditate before what you shall answer:[15] For I will give you a mouth and wisdom, which all your adversaries shall not be able to gainsay nor resist.[16] And you shall be betrayed both by parents, and brothers, and kinfolks, and friends; and some of you shall they cause to be put to death.[17] And you shall be hated of all men for my name's sake.[18] But there shall not an hair of your head perish.[19] In your patience possess you your souls.[20] And when you shall see Jerusalem compassed with armies, then know that the desolation thereof is near.[21] Then let them which are in Judaea flee to the mountains; and let them which are in the middle of it depart out; and let not them that are in the countries enter thereinto.[22] For these be the days of vengeance, that all things which are written may be fulfilled.[23] But woe to them that are with child, and to them that give suck, in those days! for there shall be great distress in the land, and wrath on this people.[24] And they shall fall by the edge of the sword, and shall be led away captive into all nations: and Jerusalem shall be trodden down of the Gentiles, until the times of the Gentiles be fulfilled. ¶[25] And there shall be signs in the sun, and in the moon, and in the stars; and on the earth distress of nations, with perplexity; the sea and the waves roaring;[26] Men's hearts failing them for fear, and for looking after those things which are coming on the earth: for the powers of heaven shall be shaken.[27] And then shall they see the Son of man coming in a cloud with power and great glory.[28] And when these things begin to come to pass, then look up, and lift up your heads; for your redemption draws near.[29] And he spoke to them a parable; Behold the fig tree, and all the trees;[30] When they now shoot forth, you see and know of your own selves that summer is now near at hand.[31] So likewise you, when you see these things come to pass, know you that the kingdom of God is near at hand.[32] Truly I say to you, This generation shall not pass away, till all be fulfilled.[33] Heaven and earth shall pass away: but my words shall not pass away. ¶[34] And take heed to yourselves, lest at any time your hearts be overcharged with surfeiting, and drunkenness, and cares of this life, and so that day come on you unawares.[35] For as a snare shall it come on all them that dwell on the face of the whole earth.[36] Watch you therefore, and pray always, that you may be accounted worthy to escape all these things that shall come to pass, and to stand before the Son of man.[37] And in the day time he was teaching in the temple; and at night he went out, and stayed in the mount that is called the mount of Olives.[38] And all the people came early in the morning to him in the temple, for to hear him.

[1] Now the feast of unleavened bread drew near, which is called the Passover.

[2] And the chief priests and scribes sought how they might kill him; for they feared the people. ¶[3] Then entered Satan into Judas surnamed Iscariot, being of the number of the twelve.[4] And he went his way, and communed with the chief priests and captains, how he might betray him to them.[5] And they were glad, and covenanted to give him money.[6] And he promised, and sought opportunity to betray him to them in the absence of the multitude. ¶[7] Then came the day of unleavened bread, when the passover must be killed.[8] And he sent Peter and John, saying, Go and prepare us the passover, that we may eat.[9] And they said to him, Where will you that we prepare?[10] And he said to them, Behold, when you are entered into the city, there shall a man meet you, bearing a pitcher of water; follow him into the house where he enters in.[11] And you shall say to the manager of the house, The Master says to you, Where is the guest room, where I shall eat the passover with my disciples?[12] And he shall show you a large upper room furnished: there make ready.[13] And they went, and found as he had said to them: and they made ready the passover.[14] And when the hour was come, he sat down, and the twelve apostles with him.[15] And he said to them, With desire I have desired to eat this passover with you before I suffer:[16] For I say to you, I will not any more eat thereof, until it be fulfilled in the kingdom of God.[17] And he took the cup, and gave thanks, and said, Take this, and divide it among yourselves:[18] For I say to you, I will not drink of the fruit of the vine, until the kingdom of God shall come. ¶[19] And he took bread, and gave thanks, and broke it, and gave to them, saying, This is my body which is given for you: this do in remembrance of me.[20] Likewise also the cup after supper, saying, This cup is the new testament in my blood, which is shed for you. ¶[21] But, behold, the hand of him that betrays me is with me on the table.[22] And truly the Son of man goes, as it was determined: but woe to that man by whom he is betrayed![23] And they began to inquire among themselves, which of them it was that should do this thing. ¶[24] And there was also a strife among them, which of them should be accounted the greatest.[25] And he said to them, The kings of the Gentiles exercise lordship over them; and they that exercise authority on them are called benefactors.[26] But you shall not be so: but he that is greatest among you, let him be as the younger; and he that is chief, as he that does serve.[27] For whether is greater, he that sits at meat, or he that serves? is not he that sits at meat? but I am among you as he that serves.[28] You are they which have continued with me in my temptations.[29] And I appoint to you a kingdom, as my Father has appointed to me;[30] That you may eat and drink at my table in my kingdom, and sit on thrones judging the twelve tribes of Israel. ¶[31] And the Lord said, Simon, Simon, behold, Satan has desired to have you, that he may sift you as wheat:[32] But I have prayed for you, that your faith fail not: and when you are converted, strengthen your brothers.[33] And he said to him, Lord, I am ready to go with you, both into prison, and to death.[34] And he said, I tell you, Peter, the cock shall not crow this day, before that you shall thrice deny that you know me.[35] And he said to them, When I sent you without purse, and money, and shoes, lacked you any thing? And they said, Nothing.[36] Then said he to them, But now, he that has a purse, let him take it, and likewise his money: and he that has no sword, let him sell his garment, and buy one.[37] For I say to you, that this that is written must yet be accomplished in me, And he was reckoned among the transgressors: for the things concerning me have an end.[38] And they said, Lord, behold, here are two swords. And he said to them, It is enough. ¶[39] And he came out, and went, as he was wont, to the mount of Olives; and his disciples also followed him.[40] And when he was at the place, he said to them, Pray that you enter not into temptation.[41] And he was withdrawn from them about a stone's cast, and kneeled down, and prayed,[42] Saying, Father, if you be willing, remove this cup from me: nevertheless not my will, but yours, be done.[43] And there appeared an angel to him from heaven, strengthening him.[44] And being in an agony he prayed more earnestly: and his sweat was as it were great drops of blood falling down to the ground.[45] And when he rose up from prayer, and was come to his disciples, he found them sleeping for sorrow,[46] And said to them, Why sleep you? rise and pray, lest you enter into temptation. ¶[47] And while he yet spoke, behold a multitude, and he that was called Judas, one of the twelve, went before them, and drew near to Jesus to kiss him.[48] But Jesus said to him, Judas, betray you the Son of man with a kiss?[49] When they which were about him saw what would follow, they said to him, Lord, shall we smite with the sword? ¶[50] And one of them smote the servant of the high priest, and cut off his right ear.[51] And Jesus answered and said, Suffer you thus far. And he touched his ear, and healed him.[52] Then Jesus said to the chief priests, and captains of the temple, and the elders, which were come to him, Be you come out, as against a thief, with swords and staves?[53] When I was daily with you in the temple, you stretched forth no hands against me: but this is your hour, and the power of darkness. ¶[54] Then took they him, and led him, and brought him into the high priest's house. And Peter followed afar off.[55] And when they had kindled a fire in the middle of the hall, and were set down together, Peter sat down among them.[56] But a certain maid beheld him as he sat by the fire, and earnestly looked on him, and said, This man was also with him.[57] And he denied him, saying, Woman, I know him not.[58] And after a little while another saw him, and said, You are also of them. And Peter said, Man, I am not.[59] And about the space of one hour after another confidently affirmed, saying, Of a truth this fellow also was with him: for he is a Galilaean.[60] And Peter said, Man, I know not what you say. And immediately, while he yet spoke, the cock crew.[61] And the Lord turned, and looked on Peter. And Peter remembered the word of the Lord, how he had said to him, Before the cock crow, you shall deny me thrice.[62] And Peter went out, and wept bitterly. ¶[63] And the men that held Jesus mocked him, and smote him.[64] And when they had blindfolded him, they struck him on the face, and asked him, saying, Prophesy, who is it that smote you?[65] And many other things blasphemously spoke they against him. ¶[66] And as soon as it was day, the elders of the people and the chief priests and the scribes came together, and led him into their council, saying,[67] Are you the Christ? tell us. And he said to them, If I tell you, you will not believe:[68] And if I also ask you, you will not answer me, nor let me go.[69] Hereafter shall the Son of man sit on the right hand of the power of God.[70] Then said they all, Are you then the Son of God? And he said to them, You say that I am.[71] And they said, What need we any further witness? for we ourselves have heard of his own mouth.

[1] And the whole multitude of them arose, and led him to Pilate.

[2] And they began to accuse him, saying, We found this fellow perverting the nation, and forbidding to give tribute to Caesar, saying that he himself is Christ a King.[3] And Pilate asked him, saying, Are you the King of the Jews? And he answered him and said, You say it.[4] Then said Pilate to the chief priests and to the people, I find no fault in this man.[5] And they were the more fierce, saying, He stirs up the people, teaching throughout all Jewry, beginning from Galilee to this place.[6] When Pilate heard of Galilee, he asked whether the man were a Galilaean.[7] And as soon as he knew that he belonged to Herod's jurisdiction, he sent him to Herod, who himself also was at Jerusalem at that time. ¶[8] And when Herod saw Jesus, he was exceeding glad: for he was desirous to see him of a long season, because he had heard many things of him; and he hoped to have seen some miracle done by him.[9] Then he questioned with him in many words; but he answered him nothing.[10] And the chief priests and scribes stood and vehemently accused him.[11] And Herod with his men of war set him at nothing, and mocked him, and arrayed him in a gorgeous robe, and sent him again to Pilate. ¶[12] And the same day Pilate and Herod were made friends together: for before they were at enmity between themselves. ¶[13] And Pilate, when he had called together the chief priests and the rulers and the people,[14] Said to them, You have brought this man to me, as one that perverts the people: and, behold, I, having examined him before you, have found no fault in this man touching those things whereof you accuse him:[15] No, nor yet Herod: for I sent you to him; and, see, nothing worthy of death is done to him.[16] I will therefore chastise him, and release him.[17] (For of necessity he must release one to them at the feast.)[18] And they cried out all at once, saying, Away with this man, and release to us Barabbas:[19] (Who for a certain sedition made in the city, and for murder, was cast into prison.)[20] Pilate therefore, willing to release Jesus, spoke again to them.[21] But they cried, saying, Crucify him, crucify him.[22] And he said to them the third time, Why, what evil has he done? I have found no cause of death in him: I will therefore chastise him, and let him go.[23] And they were instant with loud voices, requiring that he might be crucified. And the voices of them and of the chief priests prevailed.[24] And Pilate gave sentence that it should be as they required.[25] And he released to them him that for sedition and murder was cast into prison, whom they had desired; but he delivered Jesus to their will.[26] And as they led him away, they laid hold on one Simon, a Cyrenian, coming out of the country, and on him they laid the cross, that he might bear it after Jesus. ¶[27] And there followed him a great company of people, and of women, which also bewailed and lamented him.[28] But Jesus turning to them said, Daughters of Jerusalem, weep not for me, but weep for yourselves, and for your children.[29] For, behold, the days are coming, in the which they shall say, Blessed are the barren, and the wombs that never bore, and the breasts which never gave suck.[30] Then shall they begin to say to the mountains, Fall on us; and to the hills, Cover us.[31] For if they do these things in a green tree, what shall be done in the dry?[32] And there were also two other, malefactors, led with him to be put to death.[33] And when they were come to the place, which is called Calvary, there they crucified him, and the malefactors, one on the right hand, and the other on the left. ¶[34] Then said Jesus, Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do. And they parted his raiment, and cast lots.[35] And the people stood beholding. And the rulers also with them derided him, saying, He saved others; let him save himself, if he be Christ, the chosen of God.[36] And the soldiers also mocked him, coming to him, and offering him vinegar,[37] And saying, If you be the king of the Jews, save yourself.[38] And a superscription also was written over him in letters of Greek, and Latin, and Hebrew, THIS IS THE KING OF THE JEWS. ¶[39] And one of the malefactors which were hanged railed on him, saying, If you be Christ, save yourself and us.[40] But the other answering rebuked him, saying, Do not you fear God, seeing you are in the same condemnation?[41] And we indeed justly; for we receive the due reward of our deeds: but this man has done nothing amiss.[42] And he said to Jesus, Lord, remember me when you come into your kingdom.[43] And Jesus said to him, Truly I say to you, To day shall you be with me in paradise.[44] And it was about the sixth hour, and there was a darkness over all the earth until the ninth hour.[45] And the sun was darkened, and the veil of the temple was rent in the middle. ¶[46] And when Jesus had cried with a loud voice, he said, Father, into your hands I commend my spirit: and having said thus, he gave up the ghost.[47] Now when the centurion saw what was done, he glorified God, saying, Certainly this was a righteous man.[48] And all the people that came together to that sight, beholding the things which were done, smote their breasts, and returned.[49] And all his acquaintance, and the women that followed him from Galilee, stood afar off, beholding these things. ¶[50] And, behold, there was a man named Joseph, a counselor; and he was a good man, and a just:[51] (The same had not consented to the counsel and deed of them;) he was of Arimathaea, a city of the Jews: who also himself waited for the kingdom of God.[52] This man went to Pilate, and begged the body of Jesus.[53] And he took it down, and wrapped it in linen, and laid it in a sepulcher that was hewn in stone, wherein never man before was laid.[54] And that day was the preparation, and the sabbath drew on.[55] And the women also, which came with him from Galilee, followed after, and beheld the sepulcher, and how his body was laid.[56] And they returned, and prepared spices and ointments; and rested the sabbath day according to the commandment.

[1] Now on the first day of the week, very early in the morning, they came to the sepulcher, bringing the spices which they had prepared, and certain others with them.

[2] And they found the stone rolled away from the sepulcher.[3] And they entered in, and found not the body of the Lord Jesus.[4] And it came to pass, as they were much perplexed thereabout, behold, two men stood by them in shining garments:[5] And as they were afraid, and bowed down their faces to the earth, they said to them, Why seek you the living among the dead?[6] He is not here, but is risen: remember how he spoke to you when he was yet in Galilee,[7] Saying, The Son of man must be delivered into the hands of sinful men, and be crucified, and the third day rise again.[8] And they remembered his words,[9] And returned from the sepulcher, and told all these things to the eleven, and to all the rest.[10] It was Mary Magdalene and Joanna, and Mary the mother of James, and other women that were with them, which told these things to the apostles.[11] And their words seemed to them as idle tales, and they believed them not.[12] Then arose Peter, and ran to the sepulcher; and stooping down, he beheld the linen clothes laid by themselves, and departed, wondering in himself at that which was come to pass. ¶[13] And, behold, two of them went that same day to a village called Emmaus, which was from Jerusalem about three score furlongs.[14] And they talked together of all these things which had happened.[15] And it came to pass, that, while they communed together and reasoned, Jesus himself drew near, and went with them.[16] But their eyes were held that they should not know him.[17] And he said to them, What manner of communications are these that you have one to another, as you walk, and are sad?[18] And the one of them, whose name was Cleopas, answering said to him, Are you only a stranger in Jerusalem, and have not known the things which are come to pass there in these days?[19] And he said to them, What things? And they said to him, Concerning Jesus of Nazareth, which was a prophet mighty in deed and word before God and all the people:[20] And how the chief priests and our rulers delivered him to be condemned to death, and have crucified him.[21] But we trusted that it had been he which should have redeemed Israel: and beside all this, to day is the third day since these things were done.[22] Yes, and certain women also of our company made us astonished, which were early at the sepulcher;[23] And when they found not his body, they came, saying, that they had also seen a vision of angels, which said that he was alive.[24] And certain of them which were with us went to the sepulcher, and found it even so as the women had said: but him they saw not.[25] Then he said to them, O fools, and slow of heart to believe all that the prophets have spoken:[26] Ought not Christ to have suffered these things, and to enter into his glory?[27] And beginning at Moses and all the prophets, he expounded to them in all the scriptures the things concerning himself.[28] And they drew near to the village, where they went: and he made as though he would have gone further.[29] But they constrained him, saying, Abide with us: for it is toward evening, and the day is far spent. And he went in to tarry with them.[30] And it came to pass, as he sat at meat with them, he took bread, and blessed it, and broke, and gave to them.[31] And their eyes were opened, and they knew him; and he vanished out of their sight.[32] And they said one to another, Did not our heart burn within us, while he talked with us by the way, and while he opened to us the scriptures?[33] And they rose up the same hour, and returned to Jerusalem, and found the eleven gathered together, and them that were with them,[34] Saying, The Lord is risen indeed, and has appeared to Simon.[35] And they told what things were done in the way, and how he was known of them in breaking of bread. ¶[36] And as they thus spoke, Jesus himself stood in the middle of them, and says to them, Peace be to you.[37] But they were terrified and affrighted, and supposed that they had seen a spirit.[38] And he said to them, Why are you troubled? and why do thoughts arise in your hearts?[39] Behold my hands and my feet, that it is I myself: handle me, and see; for a spirit has not flesh and bones, as you see me have.[40] And when he had thus spoken, he showed them his hands and his feet.[41] And while they yet believed not for joy, and wondered, he said to them, Have you here any meat?[42] And they gave him a piece of a broiled fish, and of an honeycomb.[43] And he took it, and did eat before them.[44] And he said to them, These are the words which I spoke to you, while I was yet with you, that all things must be fulfilled, which were written in the law of Moses, and in the prophets, and in the psalms, concerning me.[45] Then opened he their understanding, that they might understand the scriptures,[46] And said to them, Thus it is written, and thus it behooved Christ to suffer, and to rise from the dead the third day:[47] And that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in his name among all nations, beginning at Jerusalem.[48] And you are witnesses of these things. ¶[49] And, behold, I send the promise of my Father on you: but tarry you in the city of Jerusalem, until you be endued with power from on high. ¶[50] And he led them out as far as to Bethany, and he lifted up his hands, and blessed them.[51] And it came to pass, while he blessed them, he was parted from them, and carried up into heaven.[52] And they worshipped him, and returned to Jerusalem with great joy:[53] And were continually in the temple, praising and blessing God. Amen.

John

An Introduction to the Book of John

The genuineness of this Gospel, i.e., the fact that the apostle John was its author, is beyond all reasonable doubt. In recent times, from about 1820, many attempts have been made to impugn its genuineness, but without success.

The design of John in writing this Gospel is stated by himself (John 20:31). It was at one time supposed that he wrote for the purpose of supplying the omissions of the synoptical, i.e., of the first three, Gospels, but there is no evidence for this. “There is here no history of Jesus and his teaching after the manner of the other evangelists. But there is in historical form a representation of the Christian faith in relation to the person of Christ as its central point; and in this representation there is a picture on the one hand of the antagonism of the world to the truth revealed in him, and on the other of the spiritual blessedness of the few who yield themselves to him as the Light of life” (Reuss).

After the prologue (1:1-5), the historical part of the book begins with verse 6, and consists of two parts. The first part (1:6-ch. 12) contains the history of our Lord’s public ministry from the time of his introduction to it by John the Baptist to its close. The second part (ch. 13-21) presents our Lord in the retirement of private life and in his intercourse with his immediate followers (13-17), and gives an account of his sufferings and of his appearances to the disciples after his resurrection (18-21).

The peculiarities of this Gospel are the place it gives (1) to the mystical relation of the Son to the Father, and (2) of the Redeemer to believers; (3) the announcement of the Holy Ghost as the Comforter; (4) the prominence given to love as an element in the Christian character. It was obviously addressed primarily to Christians.

It was probably written at Ephesus, which, after the destruction of Jerusalem (A.D. 70), became the centre of Christian life and activity in the East, about A.D. 90.

[1] In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God.

[2] The same was in the beginning with God.[3] All things were made by him; and without him was not any thing made that was made.[4] In him was life; and the life was the light of men.[5] And the light shines in darkness; and the darkness comprehended it not. ¶[6] There was a man sent from God, whose name was John.[7] The same came for a witness, to bear witness of the Light, that all men through him might believe.[8] He was not that Light, but was sent to bear witness of that Light.[9] That was the true Light, which lights every man that comes into the world.[10] He was in the world, and the world was made by him, and the world knew him not.[11] He came to his own, and his own received him not.[12] But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name:[13] Which were born, not of blood, nor of the will of the flesh, nor of the will of man, but of God.[14] And the Word was made flesh, and dwelled among us, (and we beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father,) full of grace and truth. ¶[15] John bore witness of him, and cried, saying, This was he of whom I spoke, He that comes after me is preferred before me: for he was before me.[16] And of his fullness have all we received, and grace for grace.[17] For the law was given by Moses, but grace and truth came by Jesus Christ.[18] No man has seen God at any time, the only begotten Son, which is in the bosom of the Father, he has declared him. ¶[19] And this is the record of John, when the Jews sent priests and Levites from Jerusalem to ask him, Who are you?[20] And he confessed, and denied not; but confessed, I am not the Christ.[21] And they asked him, What then? Are you Elias? And he says, I am not. Are you that prophet? And he answered, No.[22] Then said they to him, Who are you? that we may give an answer to them that sent us. What say you of yourself?[23] He said, I am the voice of one crying in the wilderness, Make straight the way of the Lord, as said the prophet Isaiah.[24] And they which were sent were of the Pharisees.[25] And they asked him, and said to him, Why baptize you then, if you be not that Christ, nor Elias, neither that prophet?[26] John answered them, saying, I baptize with water: but there stands one among you, whom you know not;[27] He it is, who coming after me is preferred before me, whose shoe's lace I am not worthy to unloose.[28] These things were done in Bethabara beyond Jordan, where John was baptizing. ¶[29] The next day John sees Jesus coming to him, and says, Behold the Lamb of God, which takes away the sin of the world.[30] This is he of whom I said, After me comes a man which is preferred before me: for he was before me.[31] And I knew him not: but that he should be made manifest to Israel, therefore am I come baptizing with water.[32] And John bore record, saying, I saw the Spirit descending from heaven like a dove, and it stayed on him.[33] And I knew him not: but he that sent me to baptize with water, the same said to me, On whom you shall see the Spirit descending, and remaining on him, the same is he which baptizes with the Holy Ghost.[34] And I saw, and bore record that this is the Son of God. ¶[35] Again the next day after John stood, and two of his disciples;[36] And looking on Jesus as he walked, he says, Behold the Lamb of God![37] And the two disciples heard him speak, and they followed Jesus.[38] Then Jesus turned, and saw them following, and says to them, What seek you? They said to him, Rabbi, (which is to say, being interpreted, Master,) where dwell you?[39] He says to them, Come and see. They came and saw where he dwelled, and stayed with him that day: for it was about the tenth hour.[40] One of the two which heard John speak, and followed him, was Andrew, Simon Peter's brother.[41] He first finds his own brother Simon, and says to him, We have found the Messias, which is, being interpreted, the Christ.[42] And he brought him to Jesus. And when Jesus beheld him, he said, You are Simon the son of Jona: you shall be called Cephas, which is by interpretation, A stone. ¶[43] The day following Jesus would go forth into Galilee, and finds Philip, and says to him, Follow me.[44] Now Philip was of Bethsaida, the city of Andrew and Peter.[45] Philip finds Nathanael, and says to him, We have found him, of whom Moses in the law, and the prophets, did write, Jesus of Nazareth, the son of Joseph.[46] And Nathanael says to him, Can there any good thing come out of Nazareth? Philip said to him, Come and see.[47] Jesus saw Nathanael coming to him, and says of him, Behold an Israelite indeed, in whom is no guile![48] Nathanael says to him, From where know you me? Jesus answered and said to him, Before that Philip called you, when you were under the fig tree, I saw you.[49] Nathanael answered and says to him, Rabbi, you are the Son of God; you are the King of Israel.[50] Jesus answered and said to him, Because I said to you, I saw you under the fig tree, believe you? you shall see greater things than these.[51] And he says to him, Truly, truly, I say to you, Hereafter you shall see heaven open, and the angels of God ascending and descending on the Son of man.

[1] And the third day there was a marriage in Cana of Galilee; and the mother of Jesus was there:

[2] And both Jesus was called, and his disciples, to the marriage.[3] And when they wanted wine, the mother of Jesus says to him, They have no wine.[4] Jesus says to her, Woman, what have I to do with you? my hour is not yet come.[5] His mother says to the servants, Whatever he said to you, do it.[6] And there were set there six water pots of stone, after the manner of the purifying of the Jews, containing two or three firkins apiece.[7] Jesus says to them, Fill the water pots with water. And they filled them up to the brim.[8] And he says to them, Draw out now, and bear to the governor of the feast. And they bore it.[9] When the ruler of the feast had tasted the water that was made wine, and knew not from where it was: (but the servants which drew the water knew;) the governor of the feast called the bridegroom,[10] And says to him, Every man at the beginning does set forth good wine; and when men have well drunk, then that which is worse: but you have kept the good wine until now.[11] This beginning of miracles did Jesus in Cana of Galilee, and manifested forth his glory; and his disciples believed on him. ¶[12] After this he went down to Capernaum, he, and his mother, and his brothers, and his disciples: and they continued there not many days. ¶[13] And the Jews' passover was at hand, and Jesus went up to Jerusalem.[14] And found in the temple those that sold oxen and sheep and doves, and the changers of money sitting:[15] And when he had made a whip of small cords, he drove them all out of the temple, and the sheep, and the oxen; and poured out the changers' money, and overthrew the tables;[16] And said to them that sold doves, Take these things hence; make not my Father's house an house of merchandise.[17] And his disciples remembered that it was written, The zeal of your house has eaten me up. ¶[18] Then answered the Jews and said to him, What sign show you to us, seeing that you do these things?[19] Jesus answered and said to them, Destroy this temple, and in three days I will raise it up.[20] Then said the Jews, Forty and six years was this temple in building, and will you raise it up in three days?[21] But he spoke of the temple of his body.[22] When therefore he was risen from the dead, his disciples remembered that he had said this to them; and they believed the scripture, and the word which Jesus had said. ¶[23] Now when he was in Jerusalem at the passover, in the feast day, many believed in his name, when they saw the miracles which he did.[24] But Jesus did not commit himself to them, because he knew all men,[25] And needed not that any should testify of man: for he knew what was in man.

[1] There was a man of the Pharisees, named Nicodemus, a ruler of the Jews:

[2] The same came to Jesus by night, and said to him, Rabbi, we know that you are a teacher come from God: for no man can do these miracles that you do, except God be with him.[3] Jesus answered and said to him, Truly, truly, I say to you, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God.[4] Nicodemus says to him, How can a man be born when he is old? can he enter the second time into his mother's womb, and be born?[5] Jesus answered, Truly, truly, I say to you, Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God.[6] That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit.[7] Marvel not that I said to you, You must be born again.[8] The wind blows where it wants, and you hear the sound thereof, but can not tell from where it comes, and where it goes: so is every one that is born of the Spirit.[9] Nicodemus answered and said to him, How can these things be?[10] Jesus answered and said to him, Are you a master of Israel, and know not these things?[11] Truly, truly, I say to you, We speak that we do know, and testify that we have seen; and you receive not our witness.[12] If I have told you earthly things, and you believe not, how shall you believe, if I tell you of heavenly things?[13] And no man has ascended up to heaven, but he that came down from heaven, even the Son of man which is in heaven. ¶[14] And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of man be lifted up:[15] That whoever believes in him should not perish, but have eternal life. ¶[16] For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whoever believes in him should not perish, but have everlasting life.[17] For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved. ¶[18] He that believes on him is not condemned: but he that believes not is condemned already, because he has not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God.[19] And this is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil.[20] For every one that does evil hates the light, neither comes to the light, lest his deeds should be reproved.[21] But he that does truth comes to the light, that his deeds may be made manifest, that they are worked in God. ¶[22] After these things came Jesus and his disciples into the land of Judaea; and there he tarried with them, and baptized. ¶[23] And John also was baptizing in Aenon near to Salim, because there was much water there: and they came, and were baptized.[24] For John was not yet cast into prison. ¶[25] Then there arose a question between some of John's disciples and the Jews about purifying.[26] And they came to John, and said to him, Rabbi, he that was with you beyond Jordan, to whom you bore witness, behold, the same baptizes, and all men come to him.[27] John answered and said, A man can receive nothing, except it be given him from heaven.[28] You yourselves bear me witness, that I said, I am not the Christ, but that I am sent before him.[29] He that has the bride is the bridegroom: but the friend of the bridegroom, which stands and hears him, rejoices greatly because of the bridegroom's voice: this my joy therefore is fulfilled.[30] He must increase, but I must decrease.[31] He that comes from above is above all: he that is of the earth is earthly, and speaks of the earth: he that comes from heaven is above all.[32] And what he has seen and heard, that he testifies; and no man receives his testimony.[33] He that has received his testimony has set to his seal that God is true.[34] For he whom God has sent speaks the words of God: for God gives not the Spirit by measure to him.[35] The Father loves the Son, and has given all things into his hand.[36] He that believes on the Son has everlasting life: and he that believes not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God stays on him.

[1] When therefore the LORD knew how the Pharisees had heard that Jesus made and baptized more disciples than John,

[2] (Though Jesus himself baptized not, but his disciples,)[3] He left Judaea, and departed again into Galilee.[4] And he must needs go through Samaria.[5] Then comes he to a city of Samaria, which is called Sychar, near to the parcel of ground that Jacob gave to his son Joseph.[6] Now Jacob's well was there. Jesus therefore, being wearied with his journey, sat thus on the well: and it was about the sixth hour.[7] There comes a woman of Samaria to draw water: Jesus says to her, Give me to drink.[8] (For his disciples were gone away to the city to buy meat.)[9] Then says the woman of Samaria to him, How is it that you, being a Jew, ask drink of me, which am a woman of Samaria? for the Jews have no dealings with the Samaritans.[10] Jesus answered and said to her, If you knew the gift of God, and who it is that says to you, Give me to drink; you would have asked of him, and he would have given you living water.[11] The woman says to him, Sir, you have nothing to draw with, and the well is deep: from where then have you that living water?[12] Are you greater than our father Jacob, which gave us the well, and drank thereof himself, and his children, and his cattle?[13] Jesus answered and said to her, Whoever drinks of this water shall thirst again:[14] But whoever drinks of the water that I shall give him shall never thirst; but the water that I shall give him shall be in him a well of water springing up into everlasting life.[15] The woman says to him, Sir, give me this water, that I thirst not, neither come here to draw.[16] Jesus says to her, Go, call your husband, and come here.[17] The woman answered and said, I have no husband. Jesus said to her, You have well said, I have no husband:[18] For you have had five husbands; and he whom you now have is not your husband: in that said you truly.[19] The woman says to him, Sir, I perceive that you are a prophet.[20] Our fathers worshipped in this mountain; and you say, that in Jerusalem is the place where men ought to worship.[21] Jesus says to her, Woman, believe me, the hour comes, when you shall neither in this mountain, nor yet at Jerusalem, worship the Father.[22] You worship you know not what: we know what we worship: for salvation is of the Jews.[23] But the hour comes, and now is, when the true worshippers shall worship the Father in spirit and in truth: for the Father seeks such to worship him.[24] God is a Spirit: and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth.[25] The woman says to him, I know that Messias comes, which is called Christ: when he is come, he will tell us all things.[26] Jesus says to her, I that speak to you am he. ¶[27] And on this came his disciples, and marveled that he talked with the woman: yet no man said, What seek you? or, Why talk you with her?[28] The woman then left her water pot, and went her way into the city, and says to the men,[29] Come, see a man, which told me all things that ever I did: is not this the Christ?[30] Then they went out of the city, and came to him. ¶[31] In the mean while his disciples prayed him, saying, Master, eat.[32] But he said to them, I have meat to eat that you know not of.[33] Therefore says the disciples one to another, Has any man brought him something to eat?[34] Jesus said to them, My meat is to do the will of him that sent me, and to finish his work.[35] Say not you, There are yet four months, and then comes harvest? behold, I say to you, Lift up your eyes, and look on the fields; for they are white already to harvest.[36] And he that reaps receives wages, and gathers fruit to life eternal: that both he that sows and he that reaps may rejoice together.[37] And herein is that saying true, One sows, and another reaps.[38] I sent you to reap that where on you bestowed no labor: other men labored, and you are entered into their labors. ¶[39] And many of the Samaritans of that city believed on him for the saying of the woman, which testified, He told me all that ever I did.[40] So when the Samaritans were come to him, they sought him that he would tarry with them: and he stayed there two days.[41] And many more believed because of his own word;[42] And said to the woman, Now we believe, not because of your saying: for we have heard him ourselves, and know that this is indeed the Christ, the Savior of the world. ¶[43] Now after two days he departed there, and went into Galilee.[44] For Jesus himself testified, that a prophet has no honor in his own country.[45] Then when he was come into Galilee, the Galilaeans received him, having seen all the things that he did at Jerusalem at the feast: for they also went to the feast.[46] So Jesus came again into Cana of Galilee, where he made the water wine. And there was a certain nobleman, whose son was sick at Capernaum.[47] When he heard that Jesus was come out of Judaea into Galilee, he went to him, and sought him that he would come down, and heal his son: for he was at the point of death.[48] Then said Jesus to him, Except you see signs and wonders, you will not believe.[49] The nobleman says to him, Sir, come down before my child dies.[50] Jesus says to him, Go your way; your son lives. And the man believed the word that Jesus had spoken to him, and he went his way.[51] And as he was now going down, his servants met him, and told him, saying, Your son lives.[52] Then inquired he of them the hour when he began to amend. And they said to him, Yesterday at the seventh hour the fever left him.[53] So the father knew that it was at the same hour, in the which Jesus said to him, Your son lives: and himself believed, and his whole house.[54] This is again the second miracle that Jesus did, when he was come out of Judaea into Galilee.

[1] After this there was a feast of the Jews; and Jesus went up to Jerusalem.

[2] Now there is at Jerusalem by the sheep market a pool, which is called in the Hebrew tongue Bethesda, having five porches.[3] In these lay a great multitude of weak folk, of blind, halt, withered, waiting for the moving of the water.[4] For an angel went down at a certain season into the pool, and troubled the water: whoever then first after the troubling of the water stepped in was made whole of whatever disease he had.[5] And a certain man was there, which had an infirmity thirty and eight years.[6] When Jesus saw him lie, and knew that he had been now a long time in that case, he says to him, Will you be made whole?[7] The weak man answered him, Sir, I have no man, when the water is troubled, to put me into the pool: but while I am coming, another steps down before me.[8] Jesus says to him, Rise, take up your bed, and walk.[9] And immediately the man was made whole, and took up his bed, and walked: and on the same day was the sabbath. ¶[10] The Jews therefore said to him that was cured, It is the sabbath day: it is not lawful for you to carry your bed.[11] He answered them, He that made me whole, the same said to me, Take up your bed, and walk.[12] Then asked they him, What man is that which said to you, Take up your bed, and walk?[13] And he that was healed knew not who it was: for Jesus had conveyed himself away, a multitude being in that place.[14] Afterward Jesus finds him in the temple, and said to him, Behold, you are made whole: sin no more, lest a worse thing come to you.[15] The man departed, and told the Jews that it was Jesus, which had made him whole.[16] And therefore did the Jews persecute Jesus, and sought to slay him, because he had done these things on the sabbath day. ¶[17] But Jesus answered them, My Father works till now, and I work.[18] Therefore the Jews sought the more to kill him, because he not only had broken the sabbath, but said also that God was his Father, making himself equal with God.[19] Then answered Jesus and said to them, Truly, truly, I say to you, The Son can do nothing of himself, but what he sees the Father do: for what things soever he does, these also does the Son likewise.[20] For the Father loves the Son, and shows him all things that himself does: and he will show him greater works than these, that you may marvel.[21] For as the Father raises up the dead, and vivifies them; even so the Son vivifies whom he will.[22] For the Father judges no man, but has committed all judgment to the Son:[23] That all men should honor the Son, even as they honor the Father. He that honors not the Son honors not the Father which has sent him.[24] Truly, truly, I say to you, He that hears my word, and believes on him that sent me, has everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death to life.[25] Truly, truly, I say to you, The hour is coming, and now is, when the dead shall hear the voice of the Son of God: and they that hear shall live.[26] For as the Father has life in himself; so has he given to the Son to have life in himself;[27] And has given him authority to execute judgment also, because he is the Son of man.[28] Marvel not at this: for the hour is coming, in the which all that are in the graves shall hear his voice,[29] And shall come forth; they that have done good, to the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil, to the resurrection of damnation.[30] I can of my own self do nothing: as I hear, I judge: and my judgment is just; because I seek not my own will, but the will of the Father which has sent me.[31] If I bear witness of myself, my witness is not true. ¶[32] There is another that bears witness of me; and I know that the witness which he witnesses of me is true.[33] You sent to John, and he bore witness to the truth.[34] But I receive not testimony from man: but these things I say, that you might be saved.[35] He was a burning and a shining light: and you were willing for a season to rejoice in his light. ¶[36] But I have greater witness than that of John: for the works which the Father has given me to finish, the same works that I do, bear witness of me, that the Father has sent me.[37] And the Father himself, which has sent me, has borne witness of me. You have neither heard his voice at any time, nor seen his shape.[38] And you have not his word abiding in you: for whom he has sent, him you believe not. ¶[39] Search the scriptures; for in them you think you have eternal life: and they are they which testify of me.[40] And you will not come to me, that you might have life.[41] I receive not honor from men.[42] But I know you, that you have not the love of God in you.[43] I am come in my Father's name, and you receive me not: if another shall come in his own name, him you will receive.[44] How can you believe, which receive honor one of another, and seek not the honor that comes from God only?[45] Do not think that I will accuse you to the Father: there is one that accuses you, even Moses, in whom you trust.[46] For had you believed Moses, you would have believed me; for he wrote of me.[47] But if you believe not his writings, how shall you believe my words?

[1] After these things Jesus went over the sea of Galilee, which is the sea of Tiberias.

[2] And a great multitude followed him, because they saw his miracles which he did on them that were diseased.[3] And Jesus went up into a mountain, and there he sat with his disciples.[4] And the passover, a feast of the Jews, was near. ¶[5] When Jesus then lifted up his eyes, and saw a great company come to him, he says to Philip, From where shall we buy bread, that these may eat?[6] And this he said to prove him: for he himself knew what he would do.[7] Philip answered him, Two hundred pennyworth of bread is not sufficient for them, that every one of them may take a little.[8] One of his disciples, Andrew, Simon Peter's brother, says to him,[9] There is a lad here, which has five barley loaves, and two small fishes: but what are they among so many?[10] And Jesus said, Make the men sit down. Now there was much grass in the place. So the men sat down, in number about five thousand.[11] And Jesus took the loaves; and when he had given thanks, he distributed to the disciples, and the disciples to them that were set down; and likewise of the fishes as much as they would.[12] When they were filled, he said to his disciples, Gather up the fragments that remain, that nothing be lost.[13] Therefore they gathered them together, and filled twelve baskets with the fragments of the five barley loaves, which remained over and above to them that had eaten.[14] Then those men, when they had seen the miracle that Jesus did, said, This is of a truth that prophet that should come into the world. ¶[15] When Jesus therefore perceived that they would come and take him by force, to make him a king, he departed again into a mountain himself alone.[16] And when even was now come, his disciples went down to the sea,[17] And entered into a ship, and went over the sea toward Capernaum. And it was now dark, and Jesus was not come to them.[18] And the sea arose by reason of a great wind that blew.[19] So when they had rowed about five and twenty or thirty furlongs, they see Jesus walking on the sea, and drawing near to the ship: and they were afraid.[20] But he says to them, It is I; be not afraid.[21] Then they willingly received him into the ship: and immediately the ship was at the land where they went. ¶[22] The day following, when the people which stood on the other side of the sea saw that there was none other boat there, save that one into where his disciples were entered, and that Jesus went not with his disciples into the boat, but that his disciples were gone away alone;[23] (However, there came other boats from Tiberias near to the place where they did eat bread, after that the Lord had given thanks:)[24] When the people therefore saw that Jesus was not there, neither his disciples, they also took shipping, and came to Capernaum, seeking for Jesus.[25] And when they had found him on the other side of the sea, they said to him, Rabbi, when came you here?[26] Jesus answered them and said, Truly, truly, I say to you, You seek me, not because you saw the miracles, but because you did eat of the loaves, and were filled.[27] Labor not for the meat which perishes, but for that meat which endures to everlasting life, which the Son of man shall give to you: for him has God the Father sealed.[28] Then said they to him, What shall we do, that we might work the works of God?[29] Jesus answered and said to them, This is the work of God, that you believe on him whom he has sent.[30] They said therefore to him, What sign show you then, that we may see, and believe you? what do you work?[31] Our fathers did eat manna in the desert; as it is written, He gave them bread from heaven to eat.[32] Then Jesus said to them, Truly, truly, I say to you, Moses gave you not that bread from heaven; but my Father gives you the true bread from heaven.[33] For the bread of God is he which comes down from heaven, and gives life to the world.[34] Then said they to him, Lord, ever more give us this bread.[35] And Jesus said to them, I am the bread of life: he that comes to me shall never hunger; and he that believes on me shall never thirst.[36] But I said to you, That you also have seen me, and believe not.[37] All that the Father gives me shall come to me; and him that comes to me I will in no wise cast out.[38] For I came down from heaven, not to do my own will, but the will of him that sent me.[39] And this is the Father's will which has sent me, that of all which he has given me I should lose nothing, but should raise it up again at the last day.[40] And this is the will of him that sent me, that every one which sees the Son, and believes on him, may have everlasting life: and I will raise him up at the last day.[41] The Jews then murmured at him, because he said, I am the bread which came down from heaven.[42] And they said, Is not this Jesus, the son of Joseph, whose father and mother we know? how is it then that he says, I came down from heaven?[43] Jesus therefore answered and said to them, Murmur not among yourselves.[44] No man can come to me, except the Father which has sent me draw him: and I will raise him up at the last day.[45] It is written in the prophets, And they shall be all taught of God. Every man therefore that has heard, and has learned of the Father, comes to me.[46] Not that any man has seen the Father, save he which is of God, he has seen the Father.[47] Truly, truly, I say to you, He that believes on me has everlasting life.[48] I am that bread of life.[49] Your fathers did eat manna in the wilderness, and are dead.[50] This is the bread which comes down from heaven, that a man may eat thereof, and not die.[51] I am the living bread which came down from heaven: if any man eat of this bread, he shall live for ever: and the bread that I will give is my flesh, which I will give for the life of the world.[52] The Jews therefore strove among themselves, saying, How can this man give us his flesh to eat?[53] Then Jesus said to them, Truly, truly, I say to you, Except you eat the flesh of the Son of man, and drink his blood, you have no life in you.[54] Whoever eats my flesh, and drinks my blood, has eternal life; and I will raise him up at the last day.[55] For my flesh is meat indeed, and my blood is drink indeed.[56] He that eats my flesh, and drinks my blood, dwells in me, and I in him.[57] As the living Father has sent me, and I live by the Father: so he that eats me, even he shall live by me.[58] This is that bread which came down from heaven: not as your fathers did eat manna, and are dead: he that eats of this bread shall live for ever.[59] These things said he in the synagogue, as he taught in Capernaum.[60] Many therefore of his disciples, when they had heard this, said, This is an hard saying; who can hear it?[61] When Jesus knew in himself that his disciples murmured at it, he said to them, Does this offend you?[62] What and if you shall see the Son of man ascend up where he was before?[63] It is the spirit that vivifies; the flesh profits nothing: the words that I speak to you, they are spirit, and they are life.[64] But there are some of you that believe not. For Jesus knew from the beginning who they were that believed not, and who should betray him.[65] And he said, Therefore said I to you, that no man can come to me, except it were given to him of my Father. ¶[66] From that time many of his disciples went back, and walked no more with him.[67] Then said Jesus to the twelve, Will you also go away?[68] Then Simon Peter answered him, Lord, to whom shall we go? you have the words of eternal life.[69] And we believe and are sure that you are that Christ, the Son of the living God.[70] Jesus answered them, Have not I chosen you twelve, and one of you is a devil?[71] He spoke of Judas Iscariot the son of Simon: for he it was that should betray him, being one of the twelve.

[1] After these things Jesus walked in Galilee: for he would not walk in Jewry, because the Jews sought to kill him.

[2] Now the Jew's feast of tabernacles was at hand.[3] His brothers therefore said to him, Depart hence, and go into Judaea, that your disciples also may see the works that you do.[4] For there is no man that does any thing in secret, and he himself seeks to be known openly. If you do these things, show yourself to the world.[5] For neither did his brothers believe in him.[6] Then Jesus said to them, My time is not yet come: but your time is always ready.[7] The world cannot hate you; but me it hates, because I testify of it, that the works thereof are evil.[8] Go you up to this feast: I go not up yet to this feast: for my time is not yet full come.[9] When he had said these words to them, he stayed still in Galilee. ¶[10] But when his brothers were gone up, then went he also up to the feast, not openly, but as it were in secret.[11] Then the Jews sought him at the feast, and said, Where is he?[12] And there was much murmuring among the people concerning him: for some said, He is a good man: others said, No; but he deceives the people.[13] However, no man spoke openly of him for fear of the Jews. ¶[14] Now about the middle of the feast Jesus went up into the temple, and taught.[15] And the Jews marveled, saying, How knows this man letters, having never learned?[16] Jesus answered them, and said, My doctrine is not mine, but his that sent me.[17] If any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myself.[18] He that speaks of himself seeks his own glory: but he that seeks his glory that sent him, the same is true, and no unrighteousness is in him.[19] Did not Moses give you the law, and yet none of you keeps the law? Why go you about to kill me?[20] The people answered and said, You have a devil: who goes about to kill you?[21] Jesus answered and said to them, I have done one work, and you all marvel.[22] Moses therefore gave to you circumcision; (not because it is of Moses, but of the fathers;) and you on the sabbath day circumcise a man.[23] If a man on the sabbath day receive circumcision, that the law of Moses should not be broken; are you angry at me, because I have made a man every whit whole on the sabbath day?[24] Judge not according to the appearance, but judge righteous judgment.[25] Then said some of them of Jerusalem, Is not this he, whom they seek to kill?[26] But, see, he speaks boldly, and they say nothing to him. Do the rulers know indeed that this is the very Christ?[27] However, we know this man from where he is: but when Christ comes, no man knows from where he is.[28] Then cried Jesus in the temple as he taught, saying, You both know me, and you know from where I am: and I am not come of myself, but he that sent me is true, whom you know not.[29] But I know him: for I am from him, and he has sent me.[30] Then they sought to take him: but no man laid hands on him, because his hour was not yet come.[31] And many of the people believed on him, and said, When Christ comes, will he do more miracles than these which this man has done? ¶[32] The Pharisees heard that the people murmured such things concerning him; and the Pharisees and the chief priests sent officers to take him.[33] Then said Jesus to them, Yet a little while am I with you, and then I go to him that sent me.[34] You shall seek me, and shall not find me: and where I am, thither you cannot come.[35] Then said the Jews among themselves, Where will he go, that we shall not find him? will he go to the dispersed among the Gentiles, and teach the Gentiles?[36] What manner of saying is this that he said, You shall seek me, and shall not find me: and where I am, thither you cannot come?[37] In the last day, that great day of the feast, Jesus stood and cried, saying, If any man thirst, let him come to me, and drink.[38] He that believes on me, as the scripture has said, out of his belly shall flow rivers of living water.[39] (But this spoke he of the Spirit, which they that believe on him should receive: for the Holy Ghost was not yet given; because that Jesus was not yet glorified.) ¶[40] Many of the people therefore, when they heard this saying, said, Of a truth this is the Prophet.[41] Others said, This is the Christ. But some said, Shall Christ come out of Galilee?[42] Has not the scripture said, That Christ comes of the seed of David, and out of the town of Bethlehem, where David was?[43] So there was a division among the people because of him.[44] And some of them would have taken him; but no man laid hands on him. ¶[45] Then came the officers to the chief priests and Pharisees; and they said to them, Why have you not brought him?[46] The officers answered, Never man spoke like this man.[47] Then answered them the Pharisees, Are you also deceived?[48] Have any of the rulers or of the Pharisees believed on him?[49] But this people who knows not the law are cursed.[50] Nicodemus says to them, (he that came to Jesus by night, being one of them,)[51] Does our law judge any man, before it hear him, and know what he does?[52] They answered and said to him, Are you also of Galilee? Search, and look: for out of Galilee rises no prophet.[53] And every man went to his own house.

[1] Jesus went to the mount of Olives.

[2] And early in the morning he came again into the temple, and all the people came to him; and he sat down, and taught them.[3] And the scribes and Pharisees brought to him a woman taken in adultery; and when they had set her in the middle,[4] They say to him, Master, this woman was taken in adultery, in the very act.[5] Now Moses in the law commanded us, that such should be stoned: but what say you?[6] This they said, tempting him, that they might have to accuse him. But Jesus stooped down, and with his finger wrote on the ground, as though he heard them not.[7] So when they continued asking him, he lifted up himself, and said to them, He that is without sin among you, let him first cast a stone at her.[8] And again he stooped down, and wrote on the ground.[9] And they which heard it, being convicted by their own conscience, went out one by one, beginning at the oldest, even to the last: and Jesus was left alone, and the woman standing in the middle.[10] When Jesus had lifted up himself, and saw none but the woman, he said to her, Woman, where are those your accusers? has no man condemned you?[11] She said, No man, Lord. And Jesus said to her, Neither do I condemn you: go, and sin no more. ¶[12] Then spoke Jesus again to them, saying, I am the light of the world: he that follows me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life.[13] The Pharisees therefore said to him, You bore record of yourself; your record is not true.[14] Jesus answered and said to them, Though I bear record of myself, yet my record is true: for I know from where I came, and where I go; but you cannot tell from where I come, and where I go.[15] You judge after the flesh; I judge no man.[16] And yet if I judge, my judgment is true: for I am not alone, but I and the Father that sent me.[17] It is also written in your law, that the testimony of two men is true.[18] I am one that bear witness of myself, and the Father that sent me bears witness of me.[19] Then said they to him, Where is your Father? Jesus answered, You neither know me, nor my Father: if you had known me, you should have known my Father also.[20] These words spoke Jesus in the treasury, as he taught in the temple: and no man laid hands on him; for his hour was not yet come.[21] Then said Jesus again to them, I go my way, and you shall seek me, and shall die in your sins: where I go, you cannot come.[22] Then said the Jews, Will he kill himself? because he says, Where I go, you cannot come.[23] And he said to them, You are from beneath; I am from above: you are of this world; I am not of this world.[24] I said therefore to you, that you shall die in your sins: for if you believe not that I am he, you shall die in your sins.[25] Then said they to him, Who are you? And Jesus says to them, Even the same that I said to you from the beginning.[26] I have many things to say and to judge of you: but he that sent me is true; and I speak to the world those things which I have heard of him.[27] They understood not that he spoke to them of the Father.[28] Then said Jesus to them, When you have lifted up the Son of man, then shall you know that I am he, and that I do nothing of myself; but as my Father has taught me, I speak these things.[29] And he that sent me is with me: the Father has not left me alone; for I do always those things that please him.[30] As he spoke these words, many believed on him.[31] Then said Jesus to those Jews which believed on him, If you continue in my word, then are you my disciples indeed;[32] And you shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free. ¶[33] They answered him, We be Abraham's seed, and were never in bondage to any man: how say you, You shall be made free?[34] Jesus answered them, Truly, truly, I say to you, Whoever commits sin is the servant of sin.[35] And the servant stays not in the house for ever: but the Son stays ever.[36] If the Son therefore shall make you free, you shall be free indeed.[37] I know that you are Abraham's seed; but you seek to kill me, because my word has no place in you.[38] I speak that which I have seen with my Father: and you do that which you have seen with your father.[39] They answered and said to him, Abraham is our father. Jesus says to them, If you were Abraham's children, you would do the works of Abraham.[40] But now you seek to kill me, a man that has told you the truth, which I have heard of God: this did not Abraham.[41] You do the deeds of your father. Then said they to him, We be not born of fornication; we have one Father, even God.[42] Jesus said to them, If God were your Father, you would love me: for I proceeded forth and came from God; neither came I of myself, but he sent me.[43] Why do you not understand my speech? even because you cannot hear my word.[44] You are of your father the devil, and the lusts of your father you will do. He was a murderer from the beginning, and stayed not in the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he speaks a lie, he speaks of his own: for he is a liar, and the father of it.[45] And because I tell you the truth, you believe me not.[46] Which of you convinces me of sin? And if I say the truth, why do you not believe me?[47] He that is of God hears God's words: you therefore hear them not, because you are not of God.[48] Then answered the Jews, and said to him, Say we not well that you are a Samaritan, and have a devil?[49] Jesus answered, I have not a devil; but I honor my Father, and you do dishonor me.[50] And I seek not my own glory: there is one that seeks and judges.[51] Truly, truly, I say to you, If a man keep my saying, he shall never see death.[52] Then said the Jews to him, Now we know that you have a devil. Abraham is dead, and the prophets; and you say, If a man keep my saying, he shall never taste of death.[53] Are you greater than our father Abraham, which is dead? and the prophets are dead: whom make you yourself?[54] Jesus answered, If I honor myself, my honor is nothing: it is my Father that honors me; of whom you say, that he is your God:[55] Yet you have not known him; but I know him: and if I should say, I know him not, I shall be a liar like to you: but I know him, and keep his saying.[56] Your father Abraham rejoiced to see my day: and he saw it, and was glad.[57] Then said the Jews to him, You are not yet fifty years old, and have you seen Abraham?[58] Jesus said to them, Truly, truly, I say to you, Before Abraham was, I am.[59] Then took they up stones to cast at him: but Jesus hid himself, and went out of the temple, going through the middle of them, and so passed by.

[1] And as Jesus passed by, he saw a man which was blind from his birth.

[2] And his disciples asked him, saying, Master, who did sin, this man, or his parents, that he was born blind?[3] Jesus answered, Neither has this man sinned, nor his parents: but that the works of God should be made manifest in him.[4] I must work the works of him that sent me, while it is day: the night comes, when no man can work.[5] As long as I am in the world, I am the light of the world.[6] When he had thus spoken, he spat on the ground, and made clay of the spittle, and he anointed the eyes of the blind man with the clay,[7] And said to him, Go, wash in the pool of Siloam, (which is by interpretation, Sent.) He went his way therefore, and washed, and came seeing. ¶[8] The neighbors therefore, and they which before had seen him that he was blind, said, Is not this he that sat and begged?[9] Some said, This is he: others said, He is like him: but he said, I am he.[10] Therefore said they to him, How were your eyes opened?[11] He answered and said, A man that is called Jesus made clay, and anointed my eyes, and said to me, Go to the pool of Siloam, and wash: and I went and washed, and I received sight.[12] Then said they to him, Where is he? He said, I know not. ¶[13] They brought to the Pharisees him that aforetime was blind.[14] And it was the sabbath day when Jesus made the clay, and opened his eyes.[15] Then again the Pharisees also asked him how he had received his sight. He said to them, He put clay on my eyes, and I washed, and do see.[16] Therefore said some of the Pharisees, This man is not of God, because he keeps not the sabbath day. Others said, How can a man that is a sinner do such miracles? And there was a division among them.[17] They say to the blind man again, What say you of him, that he has opened your eyes? He said, He is a prophet.[18] But the Jews did not believe concerning him, that he had been blind, and received his sight, until they called the parents of him that had received his sight.[19] And they asked them, saying, Is this your son, who you say was born blind? how then does he now see?[20] His parents answered them and said, We know that this is our son, and that he was born blind:[21] But by what means he now sees, we know not; or who has opened his eyes, we know not: he is of age; ask him: he shall speak for himself.[22] These words spoke his parents, because they feared the Jews: for the Jews had agreed already, that if any man did confess that he was Christ, he should be put out of the synagogue.[23] Therefore said his parents, He is of age; ask him.[24] Then again called they the man that was blind, and says to him, Give God the praise: we know that this man is a sinner.[25] He answered and said, Whether he be a sinner or no, I know not: one thing I know, that, whereas I was blind, now I see.[26] Then said they to him again, What did he to you? how opened he your eyes?[27] He answered them, I have told you already, and you did not hear: why would you hear it again? will you also be his disciples?[28] Then they reviled him, and said, You are his disciple; but we are Moses' disciples.[29] We know that God spoke to Moses: as for this fellow, we know not from where he is.[30] The man answered and said to them, Why herein is a marvelous thing, that you know not from where he is, and yet he has opened my eyes.[31] Now we know that God hears not sinners: but if any man be a worshipper of God, and does his will, him he hears.[32] Since the world began was it not heard that any man opened the eyes of one that was born blind.[33] If this man were not of God, he could do nothing.[34] They answered and said to him, You were altogether born in sins, and do you teach us? And they cast him out.[35] Jesus heard that they had cast him out; and when he had found him, he said to him, Do you believe on the Son of God?[36] He answered and said, Who is he, Lord, that I might believe on him?[37] And Jesus said to him, You have both seen him, and it is he that talks with you.[38] And he said, Lord, I believe. And he worshipped him. ¶[39] And Jesus said, For judgment I am come into this world, that they which see not might see; and that they which see might be made blind.[40] And some of the Pharisees which were with him heard these words, and said to him, Are we blind also?[41] Jesus said to them, If you were blind, you should have no sin: but now you say, We see; therefore your sin remains.

[1] Truly, truly, I say to you, He that enters not by the door into the sheepfold, but climbs up some other way, the same is a thief and a robber.

[2] But he that enters in by the door is the shepherd of the sheep.[3] To him the porter opens; and the sheep hear his voice: and he calls his own sheep by name, and leads them out.[4] And when he puts forth his own sheep, he goes before them, and the sheep follow him: for they know his voice.[5] And a stranger will they not follow, but will flee from him: for they know not the voice of strangers.[6] This parable spoke Jesus to them: but they understood not what things they were which he spoke to them.[7] Then said Jesus to them again, Truly, truly, I say to you, I am the door of the sheep.[8] All that ever came before me are thieves and robbers: but the sheep did not hear them.[9] I am the door: by me if any man enter in, he shall be saved, and shall go in and out, and find pasture.[10] The thief comes not, but for to steal, and to kill, and to destroy: I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly.[11] I am the good shepherd: the good shepherd gives his life for the sheep.[12] But he that is an hireling, and not the shepherd, whose own the sheep are not, sees the wolf coming, and leaves the sheep, and flees: and the wolf catches them, and scatters the sheep.[13] The hireling flees, because he is an hireling, and cares not for the sheep.[14] I am the good shepherd, and know my sheep, and am known of mine.[15] As the Father knows me, even so know I the Father: and I lay down my life for the sheep.[16] And other sheep I have, which are not of this fold: them also I must bring, and they shall hear my voice; and there shall be one fold, and one shepherd.[17] Therefore does my Father love me, because I lay down my life, that I might take it again.[18] No man takes it from me, but I lay it down of myself. I have power to lay it down, and I have power to take it again. This commandment have I received of my Father. ¶[19] There was a division therefore again among the Jews for these sayings.[20] And many of them said, He has a devil, and is mad; why hear you him?[21] Others said, These are not the words of him that has a devil. Can a devil open the eyes of the blind? ¶[22] And it was at Jerusalem the feast of the dedication, and it was winter.[23] And Jesus walked in the temple in Solomon's porch.[24] Then came the Jews round about him, and said to him, How long do you make us to doubt? If you be the Christ, tell us plainly.[25] Jesus answered them, I told you, and you believed not: the works that I do in my Father's name, they bear witness of me.[26] But you believe not, because you are not of my sheep, as I said to you.[27] My sheep hear my voice, and I know them, and they follow me:[28] And I give to them eternal life; and they shall never perish, neither shall any man pluck them out of my hand.[29] My Father, which gave them me, is greater than all; and no man is able to pluck them out of my Father's hand.[30] I and my Father are one.[31] Then the Jews took up stones again to stone him.[32] Jesus answered them, Many good works have I showed you from my Father; for which of those works do you stone me?[33] The Jews answered him, saying, For a good work we stone you not; but for blasphemy; and because that you, being a man, make yourself God.[34] Jesus answered them, Is it not written in your law, I said, You are gods?[35] If he called them gods, to whom the word of God came, and the scripture cannot be broken;[36] Say you of him, whom the Father has sanctified, and sent into the world, You blaspheme; because I said, I am the Son of God?[37] If I do not the works of my Father, believe me not.[38] But if I do, though you believe not me, believe the works: that you may know, and believe, that the Father is in me, and I in him.[39] Therefore they sought again to take him: but he escaped out of their hand,[40] And went away again beyond Jordan into the place where John at first baptized; and there he stayed.[41] And many resorted to him, and said, John did no miracle: but all things that John spoke of this man were true.[42] And many believed on him there.

[1] Now a certain man was sick, named Lazarus, of Bethany, the town of Mary and her sister Martha.

[2] (It was that Mary which anointed the Lord with ointment, and wiped his feet with her hair, whose brother Lazarus was sick.)[3] Therefore his sisters sent to him, saying, Lord, behold, he whom you love is sick.[4] When Jesus heard that, he said, This sickness is not to death, but for the glory of God, that the Son of God might be glorified thereby.[5] Now Jesus loved Martha, and her sister, and Lazarus.[6] When he had heard therefore that he was sick, he stayed two days still in the same place where he was.[7] Then after that says he to his disciples, Let us go into Judaea again.[8] His disciples say to him, Master, the Jews of late sought to stone you; and go you thither again?[9] Jesus answered, Are there not twelve hours in the day? If any man walk in the day, he stumbles not, because he sees the light of this world.[10] But if a man walk in the night, he stumbles, because there is no light in him.[11] These things said he: and after that he says to them, Our friend Lazarus sleeps; but I go, that I may awake him out of sleep.[12] Then said his disciples, Lord, if he sleep, he shall do well.[13] However, Jesus spoke of his death: but they thought that he had spoken of taking of rest in sleep.[14] Then said Jesus to them plainly, Lazarus is dead.[15] And I am glad for your sakes that I was not there, to the intent you may believe; nevertheless let us go to him.[16] Then said Thomas, which is called Didymus, to his fellow disciples, Let us also go, that we may die with him.[17] Then when Jesus came, he found that he had lain in the grave four days already.[18] Now Bethany was near to Jerusalem, about fifteen furlongs off:[19] And many of the Jews came to Martha and Mary, to comfort them concerning their brother.[20] Then Martha, as soon as she heard that Jesus was coming, went and met him: but Mary sat still in the house.[21] Then said Martha to Jesus, Lord, if you had been here, my brother had not died.[22] But I know, that even now, whatever you will ask of God, God will give it you.[23] Jesus says to her, Your brother shall rise again.[24] Martha says to him, I know that he shall rise again in the resurrection at the last day.[25] Jesus said to her, I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believes in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live:[26] And whoever lives and believes in me shall never die. Believe you this?[27] She says to him, Yes, Lord: I believe that you are the Christ, the Son of God, which should come into the world.[28] And when she had so said, she went her way, and called Mary her sister secretly, saying, The Master is come, and calls for you.[29] As soon as she heard that, she arose quickly, and came to him.[30] Now Jesus was not yet come into the town, but was in that place where Martha met him.[31] The Jews then which were with her in the house, and comforted her, when they saw Mary, that she rose up hastily and went out, followed her, saying, She goes to the grave to weep there.[32] Then when Mary was come where Jesus was, and saw him, she fell down at his feet, saying to him, Lord, if you had been here, my brother had not died.[33] When Jesus therefore saw her weeping, and the Jews also weeping which came with her, he groaned in the spirit, and was troubled.[34] And said, Where have you laid him? They said to him, Lord, come and see.[35] Jesus wept.[36] Then said the Jews, Behold how he loved him![37] And some of them said, Could not this man, which opened the eyes of the blind, have caused that even this man should not have died?[38]

Jesus therefore again groaning in himself comes to the grave. It was a cave, and a stone lay on it.[39] Jesus says, Take you away the stone. Martha, the sister of him that was dead, said to him, Lord, by this time he stinks: for he has been dead four days.[40] Jesus says to her, Said I not to you, that, if you would believe, you should see the glory of God?[41] Then they took away the stone from the place where the dead was laid. And Jesus lifted up his eyes, and said, Father, I thank you that you have heard me.[42] And I knew that you hear me always: but because of the people which stand by I said it, that they may believe that you have sent me.[43] And when he thus had spoken, he cried with a loud voice, Lazarus, come forth.[44] And he that was dead came forth, bound hand and foot with grave clothes: and his face was bound about with a napkin. Jesus says to them, Loose him, and let him go.[45] Then many of the Jews which came to Mary, and had seen the things which Jesus did, believed on him.[46] But some of them went their ways to the Pharisees, and told them what things Jesus had done. ¶[47] Then gathered the chief priests and the Pharisees a council, and said, What do we? for this man does many miracles.[48] If we let him thus alone, all men will believe on him: and the Romans shall come and take away both our place and nation.[49] And one of them, named Caiaphas, being the high priest that same year, said to them, You know nothing at all,[50] Nor consider that it is expedient for us, that one man should die for the people, and that the whole nation perish not.[51] And this spoke he not of himself: but being high priest that year, he prophesied that Jesus should die for that nation;[52] And not for that nation only, but that also he should gather together in one the children of God that were scattered abroad.[53] Then from that day forth they took counsel together for to put him to death.[54] Jesus therefore walked no more openly among the Jews; but went there to a country near to the wilderness, into a city called Ephraim, and there continued with his disciples. ¶[55] And the Jews' passover was near at hand: and many went out of the country up to Jerusalem before the passover, to purify themselves.[56] Then sought they for Jesus, and spoke among themselves, as they stood in the temple, What think you, that he will not come to the feast?[57] Now both the chief priests and the Pharisees had given a commandment, that, if any man knew where he were, he should show it, that they might take him.

[1] Then Jesus six days before the passover came to Bethany, where Lazarus was, which had been dead, whom he raised from the dead.

[2] There they made him a supper; and Martha served: but Lazarus was one of them that sat at the table with him.[3] Then took Mary a pound of ointment of spikenard, very costly, and anointed the feet of Jesus, and wiped his feet with her hair: and the house was filled with the odor of the ointment.[4] Then says one of his disciples, Judas Iscariot, Simon's son, which should betray him,[5] Why was not this ointment sold for three hundred pence, and given to the poor?[6] This he said, not that he cared for the poor; but because he was a thief, and had the bag, and bore what was put therein.[7] Then said Jesus, Let her alone: against the day of my burying has she kept this.[8] For the poor always you have with you; but me you have not always.[9] Much people of the Jews therefore knew that he was there: and they came not for Jesus' sake only, but that they might see Lazarus also, whom he had raised from the dead. ¶[10] But the chief priests consulted that they might put Lazarus also to death;[11] Because that by reason of him many of the Jews went away, and believed on Jesus. ¶[12] On the next day much people that were come to the feast, when they heard that Jesus was coming to Jerusalem,[13] Took branches of palm trees, and went forth to meet him, and cried, Hosanna: Blessed is the King of Israel that comes in the name of the Lord.[14] And Jesus, when he had found a young ass, sat thereon; as it is written,[15] Fear not, daughter of Sion: behold, your King comes, sitting on an ass's colt.[16] These things understood not his disciples at the first: but when Jesus was glorified, then remembered they that these things were written of him, and that they had done these things to him.[17] The people therefore that was with him when he called Lazarus out of his grave, and raised him from the dead, bore record.[18] For this cause the people also met him, for that they heard that he had done this miracle.[19] The Pharisees therefore said among themselves, Perceive you how you prevail nothing? behold, the world is gone after him. ¶[20] And there were certain Greeks among them that came up to worship at the feast:[21] The same came therefore to Philip, which was of Bethsaida of Galilee, and desired him, saying, Sir, we would see Jesus.[22] Philip comes and tells Andrew: and again Andrew and Philip tell Jesus. ¶[23] And Jesus answered them, saying, The hour is come, that the Son of man should be glorified.[24] Truly, truly, I say to you, Except a corn of wheat fall into the ground and die, it stays alone: but if it die, it brings forth much fruit.[25] He that loves his life shall lose it; and he that hates his life in this world shall keep it to life eternal.[26] If any man serve me, let him follow me; and where I am, there shall also my servant be: if any man serve me, him will my Father honor.[27] Now is my soul troubled; and what shall I say? Father, save me from this hour: but for this cause came I to this hour.[28] Father, glorify your name. Then came there a voice from heaven, saying, I have both glorified it, and will glorify it again.[29] The people therefore, that stood by, and heard it, said that it thundered: others said, An angel spoke to him.[30] Jesus answered and said, This voice came not because of me, but for your sakes.[31] Now is the judgment of this world: now shall the prince of this world be cast out.[32] And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men to me.[33] This he said, signifying what death he should die.[34] The people answered him, We have heard out of the law that Christ stays for ever: and how say you, The Son of man must be lifted up? who is this Son of man?[35] Then Jesus said to them, Yet a little while is the light with you. Walk while you have the light, lest darkness come on you: for he that walks in darkness knows not where he goes.[36] While you have light, believe in the light, that you may be the children of light. These things spoke Jesus, and departed, and did hide himself from them. ¶[37] But though he had done so many miracles before them, yet they believed not on him:[38] That the saying of Isaiah the prophet might be fulfilled, which he spoke, Lord, who has believed our report? and to whom has the arm of the Lord been revealed?[39] Therefore they could not believe, because that Isaiah said again,[40] He has blinded their eyes, and hardened their heart; that they should not see with their eyes, nor understand with their heart, and be converted, and I should heal them.[41] These things said Isaiah, when he saw his glory, and spoke of him. ¶[42] Nevertheless among the chief rulers also many believed on him; but because of the Pharisees they did not confess him, lest they should be put out of the synagogue:[43] For they loved the praise of men more than the praise of God. ¶[44] Jesus cried and said, He that believes on me, believes not on me, but on him that sent me.[45] And he that sees me sees him that sent me.[46] I am come a light into the world, that whoever believes on me should not abide in darkness.[47] And if any man hear my words, and believe not, I judge him not: for I came not to judge the world, but to save the world.[48] He that rejects me, and receives not my words, has one that judges him: the word that I have spoken, the same shall judge him in the last day.[49] For I have not spoken of myself; but the Father which sent me, he gave me a commandment, what I should say, and what I should speak.[50] And I know that his commandment is life everlasting: whatever I speak therefore, even as the Father said to me, so I speak.

[1] Now before the feast of the passover, when Jesus knew that his hour was come that he should depart out of this world to the Father, having loved his own which were in the world, he loved them to the end.

[2] And supper being ended, the devil having now put into the heart of Judas Iscariot, Simon's son, to betray him;[3] Jesus knowing that the Father had given all things into his hands, and that he was come from God, and went to God;[4] He rises from supper, and laid aside his garments; and took a towel, and girded himself.[5] After that he pours water into a basin, and began to wash the disciples' feet, and to wipe them with the towel with which he was girded.[6] Then comes he to Simon Peter: and Peter says to him, Lord, do you wash my feet?[7] Jesus answered and said to him, What I do you know not now; but you shall know hereafter.[8] Peter says to him, You shall never wash my feet. Jesus answered him, If I wash you not, you have no part with me.[9] Simon

Peter says to him, Lord, not my feet only, but also my hands and my head.[10] Jesus says to him, He that is washed needs not save to wash his feet, but is clean every whit: and you are clean, but not all.[11] For he knew who should betray him; therefore said he, You are not all clean.[12] So after he had washed their feet, and had taken his garments, and was set down again, he said to them, Know you what I have done to you?[13] You call me Master and Lord: and you say well; for so I am.[14] If I then, your Lord and Master, have washed your feet; you also ought to wash one another's feet.[15] For I have given you an example, that you should do as I have done to you.[16] Truly, truly, I say to you, The servant is not greater than his lord; neither he that is sent greater than he that sent him.[17] If you know these things, happy are you if you do them. ¶[18] I speak not of you all: I know whom I have chosen: but that the scripture may be fulfilled, He that eats bread with me has lifted up his heel against me.[19] Now I tell you before it come, that, when it is come to pass, you may believe that I am he.[20] Truly, truly, I say to you, He that receives whomsoever I send receives me; and he that receives me receives him that sent me.[21] When Jesus had thus said, he was troubled in spirit, and testified, and said, Truly, truly, I say to you, that one of you shall betray me.[22] Then the disciples looked one on another, doubting of whom he spoke.[23] Now there was leaning on Jesus' bosom one of his disciples, whom Jesus loved.[24] Simon Peter therefore beckoned to him, that he should ask who it should be of whom he spoke.[25] He then lying on Jesus' breast says to him, Lord, who is it?[26] Jesus answered, He it is, to whom I shall give a sop, when I have dipped it. And when he had dipped the sop, he gave it to Judas Iscariot, the son of Simon.[27] And after the sop Satan entered into him. Then said Jesus to him, That you do, do quickly.[28] Now no man at the table knew for what intent he spoke this to him.[29] For some of them thought, because Judas had the bag, that Jesus had said to him, Buy those things that we have need of against the feast; or, that he should give something to the poor.[30] He then having received the sop went immediately out: and it was night. ¶[31] Therefore, when he was gone out, Jesus said, Now is the Son of man glorified, and God is glorified in him.[32] If God be glorified in him, God shall also glorify him in himself, and shall straightway glorify him.[33] Little children, yet a little while I am with you. You shall seek me: and as I said to the Jews, Where I go, you cannot come; so now I say to you.[34] A new commandment I give to you, That you love one another; as I have loved you, that you also love one another.[35] By this shall all men know that you are my disciples, if you have love one to another. ¶[36] Simon Peter said to him, Lord, where go you? Jesus answered him, Where I go, you can not follow me now; but you shall follow me afterwards.[37] Peter said to him, Lord, why cannot I follow you now? I will lay down my life for your sake.[38] Jesus answered him, Will you lay down your life for my sake? Truly, truly, I say to you, The cock shall not crow, till you have denied me thrice.

[2] In my Father's house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you.[3] And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you to myself; that where I am, there you may be also.[4] And where I go you know, and the way you know.[5] Thomas says to him, Lord, we know not where you go; and how can we know the way?[6] Jesus says to him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man comes to the Father, but by me.[7] If you had known me, you should have known my Father also: and from now on you know him, and have seen him.[8] Philip says to him, Lord, show us the Father, and it suffices us.[9] Jesus says to him, Have I been so long time with you, and yet have you not known me, Philip? he that has seen me has seen the Father; and how say you then, Show us the Father?[10] Believe you not that I am in the Father, and the Father in me? the words that I speak to you I speak not of myself: but the Father that dwells in me, he does the works.[11] Believe me that I am in the Father, and the Father in me: or else believe me for the very works' sake.[12] Truly, truly, I say to you, He that believes on me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do; because I go to my Father.[13] And whatever you shall ask in my name, that will I do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son.[14] If you shall ask any thing in my name, I will do it. ¶[15] If you love me, keep my commandments.[16] And I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for ever;[17] Even the Spirit of truth; whom the world cannot receive, because it sees him not, neither knows him: but you know him; for he dwells with you, and shall be in you.[18] I will not leave you comfortless: I will come to you.[19] Yet a little while, and the world sees me no more; but you see me: because I live, you shall live also.[20] At that day you shall know that I am in my Father, and you in me, and I in you.[21] He that has my commandments, and keeps them, he it is that loves me: and he that loves me shall be loved of my Father, and I will love him, and will manifest myself to him.[22] Judas says to him, not Iscariot, Lord, how is it that you will manifest yourself to us, and not to the world?[23] Jesus answered and said to him, If a man love me, he will keep my words: and my Father will love him, and we will come to him, and make our stayed with him.[24] He that loves me not keeps not my sayings: and the word which you hear is not mine, but the Father's which sent me.[25] These things have I spoken to you, being yet present with you.[26] But the Comforter, which is the Holy Ghost, whom the Father will send in my name, he shall teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, whatever I have said to you.[27] Peace I leave with you, my peace I give to you: not as the world gives, give I to you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid.[28] You have heard how I said to you, I go away, and come again to you. If you loved me, you would rejoice, because I said, I go to the Father: for my Father is greater than I.[29] And now I have told you before it come to pass, that, when it is come to pass, you might believe.[30] Hereafter I will not talk much with you: for the prince of this world comes, and has nothing in me.[31] But that the world may know that I love the Father; and as the Father gave me commandment, even so I do. Arise, let us go hence.

[2] Every branch in me that bears not fruit he takes away: and every branch that bears fruit, he purges it, that it may bring forth more fruit.[3] Now you are clean through the word which I have spoken to you.[4] Abide in me, and I in you. As the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, except it abide in the vine; no more can you, except you abide in me.[5] I am the vine, you are the branches: He that stays in me, and I in him, the same brings forth much fruit: for without me you can do nothing.[6] If a man abide not in me, he is cast forth as a branch, and is withered; and men gather them, and cast them into the fire, and they are burned.[7] If you abide in me, and my words abide in you, you shall ask what you will, and it shall be done to you.[8] Herein is my Father glorified, that you bear much fruit; so shall you be my disciples.[9] As the Father has loved me, so have I loved you: continue you in my love.[10] If you keep my commandments, you shall abide in my love; even as I have kept my Father's commandments, and abide in his love.[11] These things have I spoken to you, that my joy might remain in you, and that your joy might be full.[12] This is my commandment, That you love one another, as I have loved you.[13] Greater love has no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends.[14] You are my friends, if you do whatever I command you.[15] From now on I call you not servants; for the servant knows not what his lord does: but I have called you friends; for all things that I have heard of my Father I have made known to you.[16] You have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that you should go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit should remain: that whatever you shall ask of the Father in my name, he may give it you.[17] These things I command you, that you love one another.[18] If the world hate you, you know that it hated me before it hated you.[19] If you were of the world, the world would love his own: but because you are not of the world, but I have chosen you out of the world, therefore the world hates you.[20] Remember the word that I said to you, The servant is not greater than his lord. If they have persecuted me, they will also persecute you; if they have kept my saying, they will keep yours also.[21] But all these things will they do to you for my name's sake, because they know not him that sent me.[22] If I had not come and spoken to them, they had not had sin: but now they have no cloak for their sin.[23] He that hates me hates my Father also.[24] If I had not done among them the works which none other man did, they had not had sin: but now have they both seen and hated both me and my Father.[25] But this comes to pass, that the word might be fulfilled that is written in their law, They hated me without a cause.[26] But when the Comforter is come, whom I will send to you from the Father, even the Spirit of truth, which proceeds from the Father, he shall testify of me:[27] And you also shall bear witness, because you have been with me from the beginning.

[1] These things have I spoken to you, that you should not be offended.

[2] They shall put you out of the synagogues: yes, the time comes, that whoever kills you will think that he does God service.[3] And these things will they do to you, because they have not known the Father, nor me.[4] But these things have I told you, that when the time shall come, you may remember that I told you of them. And these things I said not to you at the beginning, because I was with you.[5] But now I go my way to him that sent me; and none of you asks me, Where go you?[6] But because I have said these things to you, sorrow has filled your heart.[7] Nevertheless I tell you the truth; It is expedient for you that I go away: for if I go not away, the Comforter will not come to you; but if I depart, I will send him to you.[8] And when he is come, he will reprove the world of sin, and of righteousness, and of judgment:[9] Of sin, because they believe not on me;[10] Of righteousness, because I go to my Father, and you see me no more;[11] Of judgment, because the prince of this world is judged.[12] I have yet many things to say to you, but you cannot bear them now.[13] However, when he, the Spirit of truth, is come, he will guide you into all truth: for he shall not speak of himself; but whatever he shall hear, that shall he speak: and he will show you things to come.[14] He shall glorify me: for he shall receive of mine, and shall show it to you.[15] All things that the Father has are mine: therefore said I, that he shall take of mine, and shall show it to you.[16] A little while, and you shall not see me: and again, a little while, and you shall see me, because I go to the Father.[17] Then said some of his disciples among themselves, What is this that he says to us, A little while, and you shall not see me: and again, a little while, and you shall see me: and, Because I go to the Father?[18] They said therefore, What is this that he says, A little while? we cannot tell what he said.[19] Now Jesus knew that they were desirous to ask him, and said to them, Do you inquire among yourselves of that I said, A little while, and you shall not see me: and again, a little while, and you shall see me?[20] Truly, truly, I say to you, That you shall weep and lament, but the world shall rejoice: and you shall be sorrowful, but your sorrow shall be turned into joy.[21] A woman when she is in travail has sorrow, because her hour is come: but as soon as she is delivered of the child, she remembers no more the anguish, for joy that a man is born into the world.[22] And you now therefore have sorrow: but I will see you again, and your heart shall rejoice, and your joy no man takes from you.[23] And in that day you shall ask me nothing. Truly, truly, I say to you, Whatever you shall ask the Father in my name, he will give it you.[24] Till now have you asked nothing in my name: ask, and you shall receive, that your joy may be full.[25] These things have I spoken to you in proverbs: but the time comes, when I shall no more speak to you in proverbs, but I shall show you plainly of the Father.[26] At that day you shall ask in my name: and I say not to you, that I will pray the Father for you:[27] For the Father himself loves you, because you have loved me, and have believed that I came out from God.[28] I came forth from the Father, and am come into the world: again, I leave the world, and go to the Father.[29] His disciples said to him, See, now speak you plainly, and speak no proverb.[30] Now are we sure that you know all things, and need not that any man should ask you: by this we believe that you came forth from God.[31] Jesus answered them, Do you now believe?[32] Behold, the hour comes, yes, is now come, that you shall be scattered, every man to his own, and shall leave me alone: and yet I am not alone, because the Father is with me.[33] These things I have spoken to you, that in me you might have peace. In the world you shall have tribulation: but be of good cheer; I have overcome the

[1] These words spoke Jesus, and lifted up his eyes to heaven, and said, Father, the hour is come; glorify your Son, that your Son also may glorify you:

[2] As you have given him power over all flesh, that he should give eternal life to as many as you have given him.[3] And this is life eternal, that they might know you the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom you have sent.[4] I have glorified you on the earth: I have finished the work which you gave me to do.[5] And now, O Father, glorify you me with your own self with the glory which I had with you before the world was.[6] I have manifested your name to the men which you gave me out of the world: your they were, and you gave them me; and they have kept your word.[7] Now they have known that all things whatever you have given me are of you.[8] For I have given to them the words which you gave me; and they have received them, and have known surely that I came out from you, and they have believed that you did send me.[9] I pray for them: I pray not for the world, but for them which you have given me; for they are yours.[10] And all my are yours, and your are mine; and I am glorified in them.[11] And now I am no more in the world, but these are in the world, and I come to you. Holy Father, keep through your own name those whom you have given me, that they may be one, as we are.[12] While I was with them in the world, I kept them in your name: those that you gave me I have kept, and none of them is lost, but the son of perdition; that the scripture might be fulfilled.[13] And now come I to you; and these things I speak in the world, that they might have my joy fulfilled in themselves.[14] I have given them your word; and the world has hated them, because they are not of the world, even as I am not of the world.[15] I pray not that you should take them out of the world, but that you should keep them from the evil.[16] They are not of the world, even as I am not of the world.[17] Sanctify them through your truth: your word is truth.[18] As you have sent me into the world, even so have I also sent them into the world.[19] And for their sakes I sanctify myself, that they also might be sanctified through the truth.[20] Neither pray I for these alone, but for them also which shall believe on me through their word;[21] That they all may be one; as you, Father, are in me, and I in you, that they also may be one in us: that the world may believe that you have sent me.[22] And the glory which you gave me I have given them; that they may be one, even as we are one:[23] I in them, and you in me, that they may be made perfect in one; and that the world may know that you have sent me, and have loved them, as you have loved me.[24] Father, I will that they also, whom you have given me, be with me where I am; that they may behold my glory, which you have given me: for you loved me before the foundation of the world.[25] O righteous Father, the world has not known you: but I have known you, and these have known that you have sent me.[26] And I have declared to them your name, and will declare it: that the love with which you have loved me may be in them, and I in them.

[1] When Jesus had spoken these words, he went forth with his disciples over the brook Cedron, where was a garden, into the which he entered, and his disciples.

[2] And Judas also, which betrayed him, knew the place: for Jesus often resorted thither with his disciples.[3] Judas then, having received a band of men and officers from the chief priests and Pharisees, comes thither with lanterns and torches and weapons.[4] Jesus therefore, knowing all things that should come on him, went forth, and said to them, Whom seek you?[5] They answered him, Jesus of Nazareth. Jesus says to them, I am he. And Judas also, which betrayed him, stood with them.[6] As soon then as he had said to them, I am he, they went backward, and fell to the ground.[7] Then asked he them again, Whom seek you? And they said, Jesus of Nazareth.[8] Jesus answered, I have told you that I am he: if therefore you seek me, let these go their way:[9] That the saying might be fulfilled, which he spoke, Of them which you gave me have I lost none.[10] Then Simon Peter having a sword drew it, and smote the high priest's servant, and cut off his right ear. The servant's name was Malchus.[11] Then said Jesus to Peter, Put up your sword into the sheath: the cup which my Father has given me, shall I not drink it?[12] Then the band and the captain and officers of the Jews took Jesus, and bound him,[13] And led him away to Annas first; for he was father in law to Caiaphas, which was the high priest that same year.[14] Now Caiaphas was he, which gave counsel to the Jews, that it was expedient that one man should die for the people. ¶[15] And Simon Peter followed Jesus, and so did another disciple: that disciple was known to the high priest, and went in with Jesus into the palace of the high priest.[16] But Peter stood at the door without. Then went out that other disciple, which was known to the high priest, and spoke to her that kept the door, and brought in Peter.[17] Then says the damsel that kept the door to Peter, Are not you also one of this man's disciples? He says, I am not.[18] And the servants and officers stood there, who had made a fire of coals; for it was cold: and they warmed themselves: and Peter stood with them, and warmed himself. ¶[19] The high priest then asked Jesus of his disciples, and of his doctrine.[20] Jesus answered him, I spoke openly to the world; I ever taught in the synagogue, and in the temple, where the Jews always resort; and in secret have I said nothing.[21] Why ask you me? ask them which heard me, what I have said to them: behold, they know what I said.[22] And when he had thus spoken, one of the officers which stood by struck Jesus with the palm of his hand, saying, Answer you the high priest so?[23] Jesus answered him, If I have spoken evil, bear witness of the evil: but if well, why smite you me?[24] Now Annas had sent him bound to Caiaphas the high priest.[25] And Simon Peter stood and warmed himself. They said therefore to him, Are not you also one of his disciples? He denied it, and said, I am not.[26] One of the servants of the high priest, being his kinsman whose ear Peter cut off, says, Did not I see you in the garden with him?[27] Peter then denied again: and immediately the cock crew. ¶[28] Then led they Jesus from Caiaphas to the hall of judgment: and it was early; and they themselves went not into the judgment hall, lest they should be defiled; but that they might eat the passover.[29] Pilate then went out to them, and said, What accusation bring you against this man?[30] They answered and said to him, If he were not a malefactor, we would not have delivered him up to you.[31] Then said Pilate to them, Take you him, and judge him according to your law. The Jews therefore said to him, It is not lawful for us to put any man to death:[32] That the saying of Jesus might be fulfilled, which he spoke, signifying what death he should die.[33] Then Pilate entered into the judgment hall again, and called Jesus, and said to him, Are you the King of the Jews?[34] Jesus answered him, Say you this thing of yourself, or did others tell it you of me?[35] Pilate answered, Am I a Jew? Your own nation and the chief priests have delivered you to me: what have you done?[36] Jesus answered, My kingdom is not of this world: if my kingdom were of this world, then would my servants fight, that I should not be delivered to the Jews: but now is my kingdom not from hence.[37] Pilate therefore said to him, Are you a king then? Jesus answered, You say that I am a king. To this end was I born, and for this cause came I into the world, that I should bear witness to the truth. Every one that is of the truth hears my voice.[38] Pilate says to him, What is truth? And when he had said this, he went out again to the Jews, and said to them, I find in him no fault at all.[39] But you have a custom, that I should release to you one at the passover: will you therefore that I release to you the King of the Jews?[40] Then cried they all again, saying, Not this man, but Barabbas. Now Barabbas was a robber.

[2] And the soldiers platted a crown of thorns, and put it on his head, and they put on him a purple robe,[3] And said, Hail, King of the Jews! and they smote him with their hands.[4] Pilate therefore went forth again, and says to them, Behold, I bring him forth to you, that you may know that I find no fault in him.[5] Then came Jesus forth, wearing the crown of thorns, and the purple robe. And Pilate says to them, Behold the man![6] When the chief priests therefore and officers saw him, they cried out, saying, Crucify him, crucify him. Pilate says to them, Take you him, and crucify him: for I find no fault in him.[7] The Jews answered him, We have a law, and by our law he ought to die, because he made himself the Son of God. ¶[8] When Pilate therefore heard that saying, he was the more afraid;[9] And went again into the judgment hall, and says to Jesus, From where are you? But Jesus gave him no answer.[10] Then says Pilate to him, Speak you not to me? know you not that I have power to crucify you, and have power to release you?[11] Jesus answered, You could have no power at all against me, except it were given you from above: therefore he that delivered me to you has the greater sin.[12] And from thereafter Pilate sought to release him: but the Jews cried out, saying, If you let this man go, you are not Caesar's friend: whoever makes himself a king speaks against Caesar. ¶[13] When Pilate therefore heard that saying, he brought Jesus forth, and sat down in the judgment seat in a place that is called the Pavement, but in the Hebrew, Gabbatha.[14] And it was the preparation of the passover, and about the sixth hour: and he says to the Jews, Behold your King![15] But they cried out, Away with him, away with him, crucify him. Pilate says to them, Shall I crucify your King? The chief priests answered, We have no king but Caesar.[16] Then delivered he him therefore to them to be crucified. And they took Jesus, and led him away.[17] And he bearing his cross went forth into a place called the place of a skull, which is called in the Hebrew Golgotha:[18] Where they crucified him, and two other with him, on either side one, and Jesus in the middle. ¶[19] And Pilate wrote a title, and put it on the cross. And the writing was JESUS OF NAZARETH THE KING OF THE JEWS.[20] This title then read many of the Jews: for the place where Jesus was crucified was near to the city: and it was written in Hebrew, and Greek, and Latin.[21] Then said the chief priests of the Jews to Pilate, Write not, The King of the Jews; but that he said, I am King of the Jews.[22] Pilate answered, What I have written I have written. ¶[23] Then the soldiers, when they had crucified Jesus, took his garments, and made four parts, to every soldier a part; and also his coat: now the coat was without seam, woven from the top throughout.[24] They said therefore among themselves, Let us not rend it, but cast lots for it, whose it shall be: that the scripture might be fulfilled, which says, They parted my raiment among them, and for my clothing they did cast lots. These things therefore the soldiers did. ¶[25] Now there stood by the cross of Jesus his mother, and his mother's sister, Mary the wife of Cleophas, and Mary Magdalene.[26] When Jesus therefore saw his mother, and the disciple standing by, whom he loved, he says to his mother, Woman, behold your son![27] Then says he to the disciple, Behold your mother! And from that hour that disciple took her to his own home. ¶[28] After this, Jesus knowing that all things were now accomplished, that the scripture might be fulfilled, says, I thirst.[29] Now there was set a vessel full of vinegar: and they filled a sponge with vinegar, and put it on hyssop, and put it to his mouth.[30] When Jesus therefore had received the vinegar, he said, It is finished: and he bowed his head, and gave up the ghost.[31] The Jews therefore, because it was the preparation, that the bodies should not remain on the cross on the sabbath day, (for that sabbath day was an high day,) sought Pilate that their legs might be broken, and that they might be taken away.[32] Then came the soldiers, and broke the legs of the first, and of the other which was crucified with him.[33] But when they came to Jesus, and saw that he was dead already, they broke not his legs:[34] But one of the soldiers with a spear pierced his side, and immediately came there out blood and water.[35] And he that saw it bore record, and his record is true: and he knows that he says true, that you might believe.[36] For these things were done, that the scripture should be fulfilled, A bone of him shall not be broken.[37] And again another scripture says, They shall look on him whom they pierced. ¶[38] And after this Joseph of Arimathaea, being a disciple of Jesus, but secretly for fear of the Jews, sought Pilate that he might take away the body of Jesus: and Pilate gave him leave. He came therefore, and took the body of Jesus.[39] And there came also Nicodemus, which at the first came to Jesus by night, and brought a mixture of myrrh and aloes, about an hundred pound weight.[40] Then took they the body of Jesus, and wound it in linen clothes with the spices, as the manner of the Jews is to bury.[41] Now in the place where he was crucified there was a garden; and in the garden a new sepulcher, wherein was never man yet laid.[42] There laid they Jesus therefore because of the Jews' preparation day; for the sepulcher was near at hand.

[1] The first day of the week comes Mary Magdalene early, when it was yet dark, to the sepulcher, and sees the stone taken away from the sepulcher.

[2] Then she runs, and comes to Simon Peter, and to the other disciple, whom Jesus loved, and says to them, They have taken away the LORD out of the sepulcher, and we know not where they have laid him.[3] Peter therefore went forth, and that other disciple, and came to the sepulcher.[4] So they ran both together: and the other disciple did outrun Peter, and came first to the sepulcher.[5] And he stooping down, and looking in, saw the linen clothes lying; yet went he not in.[6] Then comes Simon Peter following him, and went into the sepulcher, and sees the linen clothes lie,[7] And the napkin, that was about his head, not lying with the linen clothes, but wrapped together in a place by itself.[8] Then went in also that other disciple, which came first to the sepulcher, and he saw, and believed.[9] For as yet they knew not the scripture, that he must rise again from the dead.[10] Then the disciples went away again to their own home. ¶[11] But Mary stood without at the sepulcher weeping: and as she wept, she stooped down, and looked into the sepulcher,[12] And sees two angels in white sitting, the one at the head, and the other at the feet, where the body of Jesus had lain.[13] And they say to her, Woman, why weep you? She says to them, Because they have taken away my LORD, and I know not where they have laid him.[14] And when she had thus said, she turned herself back, and saw Jesus standing, and knew not that it was Jesus.[15] Jesus says to her, Woman, why weep you? whom seek you? She, supposing him to be the gardener, says to him, Sir, if you have borne him hence, tell me where you have laid him, and I will take him away.[16] Jesus says to her, Mary. She turned herself, and says to him, Rabboni; which is to say, Master.[17] Jesus says to her, Touch me not; for I am not yet ascended to my Father: but go to my brothers, and say to them, I ascend to my Father, and your Father; and to my God, and your God.[18] Mary Magdalene came and told the disciples that she had seen the LORD, and that he had spoken these things to her. ¶[19] Then the same day at evening, being the first day of the week, when the doors were shut where the disciples were assembled for fear of the Jews, came Jesus and stood in the middle, and says to them, Peace be to you.[20] And when he had so said, he showed to them his hands and his side. Then were the disciples glad, when they saw the LORD.[21] Then said Jesus to them again, Peace be to you: as my Father has sent me, even so send I you.[22] And when he had said this, he breathed on them, and says to them, Receive you the Holy Ghost:[23] Whose soever sins you remit, they are remitted to them; and whose soever sins you retain, they are retained. ¶[24] But Thomas, one of the twelve, called Didymus, was not with them when Jesus came.[25] The other disciples therefore said to him, We have seen the LORD. But he said to them, Except I shall see in his hands the print of the nails, and put my finger into the print of the nails, and thrust my hand into his side, I will not believe. ¶[26] And after eight days again his disciples were within, and Thomas with them: then came Jesus, the doors being shut, and stood in the middle, and said, Peace be to you.[27] Then says he to Thomas, Reach here your finger, and behold my hands; and reach here your hand, and thrust it into my side: and be not faithless, but believing.[28] And Thomas answered and said to him, My LORD and my God.[29] Jesus says to him, Thomas, because you have seen me, you have believed: blessed are they that have not seen, and yet have believed. ¶[30] And many other signs truly did Jesus in the presence of his disciples, which are not written in this book:[31] But these are written, that you might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing you might have life through his name.

[1] After these things Jesus showed himself again to the disciples at the sea of Tiberias; and on this wise showed he himself.

[2] There were together Simon Peter, and Thomas called Didymus, and Nathanael of Cana in Galilee, and the sons of Zebedee, and two other of his disciples.[3] Simon Peter says to them, I go a fishing. They say to him, We also go with you. They went forth, and entered into a ship immediately; and that night they caught nothing.[4] But when the morning was now come, Jesus stood on the shore: but the disciples knew not that it was Jesus.[5] Then Jesus says to them, Children, have you any meat? They answered him, No.[6] And he said to them, Cast the net on the right side of the ship, and you shall find. They cast therefore, and now they were not able to draw it for the multitude of fishes.[7] Therefore that disciple whom Jesus loved says to Peter, It is the Lord. Now when Simon Peter heard that it was the Lord, he girt his fisher's coat to him, (for he was naked,) and did cast himself into the sea.[8] And the other disciples came in a little ship; (for they were not far from land, but as it were two hundred cubits,) dragging the net with fishes.[9] As soon then as they were come to land, they saw a fire of coals there, and fish laid thereon, and bread.[10] Jesus says to them, Bring of the fish which you have now caught.[11] Simon Peter went up, and drew the net to land full of great fishes, an hundred and fifty and three: and for all there were so many, yet was not the net broken.[12] Jesus says to them, Come and dine. And none of the disciples dared ask him, Who are you? knowing that it was the Lord.[13] Jesus then comes, and takes bread, and gives them, and fish likewise.[14] This is now the third time that Jesus showed himself to his disciples, after that he was risen from the dead. ¶[15] So when they had dined, Jesus says to Simon Peter, Simon, son of Jonas, love you me more than these? He says to him, Yes, Lord; you know that I love you. He said to him, Feed my lambs.[16] He says to him again the second time, Simon, son of Jonas, love you me? He says to him, Yes, Lord; you know that I love you. He said to him, Feed my sheep.[17] He says to him the third time, Simon, son of Jonas, love you me? Peter was grieved because he said to him the third time, Love you me? And he said to him, Lord, you know all things; you know that I love you. Jesus says to him, Feed my sheep.[18] Truly, truly, I say to you, When you were young, you gird yourself, and walked where you would: but when you shall be old, you shall stretch forth your hands, and another shall gird you, and carry you where you would not.[19] This spoke he, signifying by what death he should glorify God. And when he had spoken this, he says to him, Follow me.[20] Then Peter, turning about, sees the disciple whom Jesus loved following; which also leaned on his breast at supper, and said, Lord, which is he that betrays you?[21] Peter seeing him says to Jesus, Lord, and what shall this man do?[22] Jesus says to him, If I will that he tarry till I come, what is that to you? follow you me.[23] Then went this saying abroad among the brothers, that that disciple should not die: yet Jesus said not to him, He shall not die; but, If I will that he tarry till I come, what is that to you?[24] This is the disciple which testifies of these things, and wrote these things: and we know that his testimony is true.[25] And there are also many other things which Jesus did, the which, if they should be written every one, I suppose that even the world itself could not contain the books that should be written. Amen.

Acts

An Introduction to the Book of Acts

The title now given to the fifth and last of the historical books of the New Testament. The author styles it a “treatise” (1:1). It was early called “The Acts,” “The Gospel of the Holy Ghost,” and “The Gospel of the Resurrection.” It contains properly no account of any of the apostles except Peter and Paul. John is noticed only three times; and all that is recorded of James, the son of Zebedee, is his execution by Herod. It is properly therefore not the history of the “Acts of the Apostles,” a title which was given to the book at a later date, but of “Acts of Apostles,” or more correctly, of “Some Acts of Certain Apostles.”

As regards its authorship, it was certainly the work of Luke, the “beloved physician” (comp. Luke 1:1-4; Acts 1:1). This is the uniform tradition of antiquity, although the writer nowhere makes mention of himself by name. The style and idiom of the Gospel of Luke and of the Acts, and the usage of words and phrases common to both, strengthen this opinion. The writer first appears in the narrative in 16:11, and then disappears till Paul’s return to Philippi two years afterwards, when he and Paul left that place together (20:6), and the two seem henceforth to have been constant companions to the end. He was certainly with Paul at Rome (28; Col. 4:14). Thus he wrote a great portion of that history from personal observation. For what lay beyond his own experience he had the instruction of Paul. If, as is very probable, 2 Tim. was written during Paul’s second imprisonment at Rome, Luke was with him then as his faithful companion to the last (2 Tim. 4:11). Of his subsequent history we have no certain information.

The design of Luke’s Gospel was to give an exhibition of the character and work of Christ as seen in his history till he was taken up from his disciples into heaven; and of the Acts, as its sequel, to give an illustration of the power and working of the gospel when preached among all nations, “beginning at Jerusalem.” The opening sentences of the Acts are just an expansion and an explanation of the closing words of the Gospel. In this book we have just a continuation of the history of the church after Christ’s ascension. Luke here carries on the history in the same spirit in which he had commenced it. It is only a book of beginnings, a history of the founding of churches, the initial steps in the formation of the Christian society in the different places visited by the apostles. It records a cycle of “representative events.”

All through the narrative we see the ever-present, all-controlling power of the ever-living Saviour. He worketh all and in all in spreading abroad his truth among men by his Spirit and through the instrumentality of his apostles.

The time of the writing of this history may be gathered from the fact that the narrative extends down to the close of the second year of Paul’s first imprisonment at Rome. It could not therefore have been written earlier than A.D. 61 or 62, nor later than about the end of A.D. 63. Paul was probably put to death during his second imprisonment, about A.D. 64, or, as some think, 66.

The place where the book was written was probably Rome, to which Luke accompanied Paul.

The key to the contents of the book is in 1:8, “Ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth.” After referring to what had been recorded in a “former treatise” of the sayings and doings of Jesus Christ before his ascension, the author proceeds to give an account of the circumstances connected with that event, and then records the leading facts with reference to the spread and triumphs of Christianity over the world during a period of about thirty years. The record begins with Pentecost (A.D. 33) and ends with Paul’s first imprisonment (A.D. 63 or 64). The whole contents of the book may be divided into these three parts:

(1.) Chaps. 1-12, describing the first twelve years of the Christian church. This section has been entitled “From Jerusalem to Antioch.” It contains the history of the planting and extension of the church among the Jews by the ministry of Peter.

(2.) Chaps. 13-21, Paul's missionary journeys, giving the history of the extension and planting of the church among the Gentiles.

(3.) Chaps. 21-28, Paul at Rome, and the events which led to this. Chaps. 13-28 have been entitled "From Antioch to Rome."

In this book it is worthy of note that no mention is made of the writing by Paul of any of his epistles. This may be accounted for by the fact that the writer confined himself to a history of the planting of the church, and not to that of its training or edification. The relation, however, between this history and the epistles of Paul is of such a kind, i.e., brings to light so many undesigned coincidences, as to prove the genuineness and authenticity of both, as is so ably shown by Paley in his Horae Paulinae. "No ancient work affords so many tests of veracity; for no other has such numerous points of contact in all directions with contemporary history, politics, and topography, whether Jewish, or Greek, or Roman." Lightfoot. (See PAUL.)

[1] The former treatise have I made, O Theophilus, of all that Jesus began both to do and teach,

[2] Until the day in which he was taken up, after that he through the Holy Ghost had given commandments to the apostles whom he had chosen:[3] To whom also he showed himself alive after his passion by many infallible proofs, being seen of them forty days, and speaking of the things pertaining to the kingdom of God:[4] And, being assembled together with them, commanded them that they should not depart from Jerusalem, but wait for the promise of the Father, which, says he, you have heard of me.[5] For John truly baptized with water; but you shall be baptized with the Holy Ghost not many days hence.[6] When they therefore were come together, they asked of him, saying, Lord, will you at this time restore again the kingdom to Israel?[7] And he said to them, It is not for you to know the times or the seasons, which the Father has put in his own power.[8] But you shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come on you: and you shall be witnesses to me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and to the uttermost part of the earth.[9] And when he had spoken these things, while they beheld, he was taken up; and a cloud received him out of their sight.[10] And while they looked steadfastly toward heaven as he went up, behold, two men stood by them in white apparel;[11] Which also said, You men of Galilee, why stand you gazing up into heaven? this same Jesus, which is taken up from you into heaven, shall so come in like manner as you have seen him go into heaven.[12] Then returned they to Jerusalem from the mount called Olivet, which is from Jerusalem a sabbath day's journey.[13] And when they were come in, they went up into an upper room, where stayed both Peter, and James, and John, and Andrew, Philip, and Thomas, Bartholomew, and Matthew, James the son of Alphaeus, and Simon Zelotes, and Judas the brother of James.[14] These all continued with one accord in prayer and supplication, with the women, and Mary the mother of Jesus, and with his brothers. ¶[15] And in those days Peter stood up in the middle of the disciples, and said, (the number of names together were about an hundred and twenty,)[16] Men and brothers, this scripture must needs have been fulfilled, which the Holy Ghost by the mouth of David spoke before concerning Judas, which was guide to them that took Jesus.[17] For he was numbered with us, and had obtained part of this ministry.[18] Now this man purchased a field with the reward of iniquity; and falling headlong, he burst asunder in the middle, and all his bowels gushed out.[19] And it was known to all the dwellers at Jerusalem; so as that field is called in their proper tongue, Aceldama, that is to say, The field of blood.[20] For it is written in the book of Psalms, Let his habitation be desolate, and let no man dwell therein: and his position as bishop let another take.[21] Why of these men which have companied with us all the time that the Lord Jesus went in and out among us,[22] Beginning from the baptism of John, to that same day that he was taken up from us, must one be ordained to be a witness with us of his resurrection.[23] And they appointed two, Joseph called Barsabas, who was surnamed Justus, and Matthias.[24] And they prayed, and said, You, Lord, which know the hearts of all men, show whether of these two you have chosen,[25] That he may take part of this ministry and apostleship, from which Judas by transgression fell, that he might go to his own place.[26] And they gave forth their lots; and the lot fell on Matthias; and he was numbered with the eleven apostles.

[1] And when the day of Pentecost was fully come, they were all with one accord in one place.

[2] And suddenly there came a sound from heaven as of a rushing mighty wind, and it filled all the house where they were sitting.[3] And there appeared to them cloven tongues like as of fire, and it sat on each of them.[4] And they were all filled with the Holy Ghost, and began to speak with other tongues, as the Spirit gave them utterance.[5] And there were dwelling at Jerusalem Jews, devout men, out of every nation under heaven.[6] Now when this was noised abroad, the multitude came together, and were confounded, because that every man heard them speak in his own language.[7] And they were all amazed and marveled, saying one to another, Behold, are not all these which speak Galilaeans?[8] And how hear we every man in our own tongue, wherein we were born?[9] Parthians, and Medes, and Elamites, and the dwellers in Mesopotamia, and in Judaea, and Cappadocia, in Pontus, and Asia,[10] Phrygia, and Pamphylia, in Egypt, and in the parts of Libya about Cyrene, and strangers of Rome, Jews and proselytes,[11] Cretes and Arabians, we do hear them speak in our tongues the wonderful works of God.[12] And they were all amazed, and were in doubt, saying one to another, What means this?[13] Others mocking said, These men are full of new wine. ¶[14] But Peter, standing up with the eleven, lifted up his voice, and said to them, You men of Judaea, and all you that dwell at Jerusalem, be this known to you, and listen to my words:[15] For these are not drunken, as you suppose, seeing it is but the third hour of the day.[16] But this is that which was spoken by the prophet Joel;[17] And it shall come to pass in the last days, says God, I will pour out of my Spirit on all flesh: and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, and your young men shall see visions, and your old men shall dream dreams:[18] And on my servants and on my handmaidens I will pour out in those days of my Spirit; and they shall prophesy:[19] And I will show wonders in heaven above, and signs in the earth beneath; blood, and fire, and vapor of smoke:[20] The sun shall be turned into darkness, and the moon into blood, before the great and notable day of the Lord come:[21] And it shall come to pass, that whoever shall call on the name of the Lord shall be saved.[22] You men of Israel, hear these words; Jesus of Nazareth, a man approved of God among you by miracles and wonders and signs, which God did by him in the middle of you, as you yourselves also know:[23] Him, being delivered by the determinate counsel and foreknowledge of God, you have taken, and by wicked hands have crucified and slain:[24] Whom God has raised up, having loosed the pains of death: because it was not possible that he should be held of it.[25] For David speaks concerning him, I foresaw the Lord always before my face, for he is on my right hand, that I should not be moved:[26] Therefore did my heart rejoice, and my tongue was glad; moreover also my flesh shall rest in hope:[27] Because you will not leave my soul in hell, neither will you suffer your Holy One to see corruption.[28] You have made known to me the ways of life; you shall make me full of joy with your countenance.[29] Men and brothers, let me freely speak to you of the patriarch David, that he is both dead and buried, and his sepulcher is with us to this day.[30] Therefore being a prophet, and knowing that God had sworn with an oath to him, that of the fruit of his loins, according to the flesh, he would raise up Christ to sit on his throne;[31] He seeing this before spoke of the resurrection of Christ, that his soul was not left in hell, neither his flesh did see corruption.[32] This Jesus has God raised up, whereof we all are witnesses.[33] Therefore being by the right hand of God exalted, and having received of the Father the promise of the Holy Ghost, he has shed forth this, which you now see and hear.[34] For David is not ascended into the heavens: but he says himself, The Lord said to my Lord, Sit you on my right hand,[35] Until I make your foes your footstool.[36] Therefore let all the house of Israel know assuredly, that God has made the same Jesus, whom you have crucified, both Lord and Christ. ¶[37] Now when they heard this, they were pricked in their heart, and said to Peter and to the rest of the apostles, Men and brothers, what shall we do?[38] Then Peter said to them, Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and you shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost.[39] For the promise is to you, and to your children, and to all that are afar off, even as many as the LORD our God shall call.[40] And with many other words did he testify and exhort, saying, Save yourselves from this untoward generation. ¶[41] Then they that gladly received his word were baptized: and the same day there were added to them about three thousand souls.[42] And they continued steadfastly in the apostles' doctrine and fellowship, and in breaking of bread, and in prayers.[43] And fear came on every soul: and many wonders and signs were done by the apostles.[44] And all that believed were together, and had all things common;[45] And sold their possessions and goods, and parted them to all men, as every man had need.[46] And they, continuing daily with one accord in the temple, and breaking bread from house to house, did eat their meat with gladness and singleness of heart,[47] Praising God, and having favor with all the people. And the Lord added to the church daily such as should be saved.

[1] Now Peter and John went up together into the temple at the hour of prayer, being the ninth hour.

[2] And a certain man lame from his mother's womb was carried, whom they laid daily at the gate of the temple which is called Beautiful, to ask alms of them that entered into the temple;[3] Who seeing Peter and John about to go into the temple asked an alms.[4] And Peter, fastening his eyes on him with John, said, Look on us.[5] And he gave heed to them, expecting to receive something of them.[6] Then Peter said, Silver and gold have I none; but such as I have give I you: In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth rise up and walk.[7] And he took him by the right hand, and lifted him up: and immediately his feet and ankle bones received strength.[8] And he leaping up stood, and walked, and entered with them into the temple, walking, and leaping, and praising God.[9] And all the people saw him walking and praising God:[10] And they knew that it was he which sat for alms at the Beautiful gate of the temple: and they were filled with wonder and amazement at that which had happened to him.[11] And as the lame man which was healed held Peter and John, all the people ran together to them in the porch that is called Solomon's, greatly wondering. ¶[12] And when Peter saw it, he answered to the people, You men of Israel, why marvel you at this? or why look you so earnestly on us, as though by our own power or holiness we had made this man to walk?[13] The God of Abraham, and of Isaac, and of Jacob, the God of our fathers, has glorified his Son Jesus; whom you delivered up, and denied him in the presence of Pilate, when he was determined to let him go.[14] But you denied the Holy One and the Just, and desired a murderer to be granted to you;[15] And killed the Prince of life, whom God has raised from the dead; whereof we are witnesses.[16] And his name through faith in his name has made this man strong, whom you see and know: yes, the faith which is by him has given him this perfect soundness in the presence of you all.[17] And now, brothers, I know that through ignorance you did it, as did also your rulers.[18] But those things, which God before had showed by the mouth of all his prophets, that Christ should suffer, he has so fulfilled. ¶[19] Repent you therefore, and be converted, that your sins may be blotted out, when the times of refreshing shall come from the presence of the Lord.[20] And he shall send Jesus Christ, which before was preached to you:[21] Whom the heaven must receive until the times of restitution of all things, which God has spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began.[22] For Moses truly said to the fathers, A prophet shall the Lord your God raise up to you of your brothers, like to me; him shall you hear in all things whatever he shall say to you.[23] And it shall come to pass, that every soul, which will not hear that prophet, shall be destroyed from among the people.[24] Yes, and all the prophets from Samuel and those that follow after, as many as have spoken, have likewise foretold of these days.[25] You are the children of the prophets, and of the covenant which God made with our fathers, saying to Abraham, And in your seed shall all the kindreds of the earth be blessed.[26] To you first God, having raised up his Son Jesus, sent him to bless you, in turning away every one of you from his iniquities.

[1] And as they spoke to the people, the priests, and the captain of the temple, and the Sadducees, came on them,

[2] Being grieved that they taught the people, and preached through Jesus the resurrection from the dead.[3] And they laid hands on them, and put them in hold to the next day: for it was now eventide.[4] However, many of them which heard the word believed; and the number of the men was about five thousand. ¶[5] And it came to pass on the morrow, that their rulers, and elders, and scribes,[6] And Annas the high priest, and Caiaphas, and John, and Alexander, and as many as were of the kindred of the high priest, were gathered together at Jerusalem.[7] And when they had set them in the middle, they asked, By what power, or by what name, have you done this?[8] Then Peter, filled with the Holy Ghost, said to them, You rulers of the people, and elders of Israel,[9] If we this day be examined of the good deed done to the weak man, by what means he is made whole;[10] Be it known to you all, and to all the people of Israel, that by the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, whom you crucified, whom God raised from the dead, even by him does this man stand here before you whole.[11] This is the stone which was set at nothing of you builders, which is become the head of the corner.[12] Neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved. ¶[13] Now when they saw the boldness of Peter and John, and perceived that they were unlearned and ignorant men, they marveled; and they took knowledge of them, that they had been with Jesus.[14] And beholding the man which was healed standing with them, they could say nothing against it.[15] But when they had commanded them to go aside out of the council, they conferred among themselves,[16] Saying, What shall we do to these men? for that indeed a notable miracle has been done by them is manifest to all them that dwell in Jerusalem; and we cannot deny it.[17] But that it spread no further among the people, let us straightly threaten them, that they speak from now on to no man in this name.[18] And they called them, and commanded them not to speak at all nor teach in the name of Jesus.[19] But Peter and John answered and said to them, Whether it be right in the sight of God to listen to you more than to God, judge you.[20] For we cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard.[21] So when they had further threatened them, they let them go, finding nothing how they might punish them, because of the people: for all men glorified God for that which was done.[22] For the man was above forty years old, on whom this miracle of healing was showed. ¶[23] And being let go, they went to their own company, and reported all that the chief priests and elders had said to them.[24] And when they heard that, they lifted up their voice to God with one accord, and said, Lord, you are God, which have made heaven, and earth, and the sea, and all that in them is:[25] Who by the mouth of your servant David have said, Why did the heathen rage, and the people imagine vain things?[26] The kings of the earth stood up, and the rulers were gathered together against the Lord, and against his Christ.[27] For of a truth against your holy child Jesus, whom you have anointed, both Herod, and Pontius Pilate, with the Gentiles, and the people of Israel, were gathered together,[28] For to do whatever your hand and your counsel determined before to be done.[29] And now, Lord, behold their threatenings: and grant to your servants, that with all boldness they may speak your word,[30] By stretching forth your hand to heal; and that signs and wonders may be done by the name of your holy child Jesus. ¶[31] And when they had prayed, the place was shaken where they were assembled together; and they were all filled with the Holy Ghost, and they spoke the word of God with boldness.[32] And the multitude of them that believed were of one heart and of one soul: neither said any of them that something of the things which he possessed was his own; but they had all things common.[33] And with great power gave the apostles witness of the resurrection of the Lord Jesus: and great grace was on them all.[34] Neither was there any among them that lacked: for as many as were possessors of lands or houses sold them, and brought the prices of the things that were sold,[35] And laid them down at the apostles' feet: and distribution was made to every man according as he had need.[36] And Joses, who by the apostles was surnamed Barnabas, (which is, being interpreted, The son of consolation,) a Levite, and of the country of Cyprus,[37] Having land, sold it, and brought the money, and laid it at the apostles' feet.

[2] And kept back part of the price, his wife also being privy to it, and brought a certain part, and laid it at the apostles' feet.[3] But Peter said, Ananias, why has Satan filled your heart to lie to the Holy Ghost, and to keep back part of the price of the land?[4] Whiles it remained, was it not your own? and after it was sold, was it not in your own power? why have you conceived this thing in your heart? you have not lied to men, but to God.[5] And Ananias hearing these words fell down, and gave up the ghost: and great fear came on all them that heard these things.[6] And the young men arose, wound him up, and carried him out, and buried him.[7] And it was about the space of three hours after, when his wife, not knowing what was done, came in.[8] And Peter answered to her, Tell me whether you sold the land for so much? And she said, Yes, for so much.[9] Then Peter said to her, How is it that you have agreed together to tempt the Spirit of the Lord? behold, the feet of them which have buried your husband are at the door, and shall carry you out.[10] Then fell she down straightway at his feet, and yielded up the ghost: and the young men came in, and found her dead, and, carrying her forth, buried her by her husband.[11] And great fear came on all the church, and on as many as heard these things. ¶[12] And by the hands of the apostles were many signs and wonders worked among the people; (and they were all with one accord in Solomon's porch.[13] And of the rest dared no man join himself to them: but the people magnified them.[14] And believers were the more added to the Lord, multitudes both of men and women.)[15] So that they brought forth the sick into the streets, and laid them on beds and couches, that at the least the shadow of Peter passing by might overshadow some of them.[16] There came also a multitude out of the cities round about to Jerusalem, bringing sick folks, and them which were vexed with unclean spirits: and they were healed every one. ¶[17] Then the high priest rose up, and all they that were with him, (which is the sect of the Sadducees,) and were filled with indignation,[18] And laid their hands on the apostles, and put them in the common prison.[19] But the angel of the Lord by night opened the prison doors, and brought them forth, and said,[20] Go, stand and speak in the temple to the people all the words of this life.[21] And when they heard that, they entered into the temple early in the morning, and taught. But the high priest came, and they that were with him, and called the council together, and all the senate of the children of Israel, and sent to the prison to have them brought.[22] But when the officers came, and found them not in the prison, they returned and told,[23] Saying, The prison truly found we shut with all safety, and the keepers standing without before the doors: but when we had opened, we found no man within.[24] Now when the high priest and the captain of the temple and the chief priests heard these things, they doubted of them to what this would grow.[25] Then came one and told them, saying, Behold, the men whom you put in prison are standing in the temple, and teaching the people.[26] Then went the captain with the officers, and brought them without violence: for they feared the people, lest they should have been stoned.[27] And when they had brought them, they set them before the council: and the high priest asked them,[28] Saying, Did not we straightly command you that you should not teach in this name? and, behold, you have filled Jerusalem with your doctrine, and intend to bring this man's blood on us. ¶[29] Then Peter and the other apostles answered and said, We ought to obey God rather than men.[30] The God of our fathers raised up Jesus, whom you slew and hanged on a tree.[31] Him has God exalted with his right hand to be a Prince and a Savior, for to give repentance to Israel, and forgiveness of sins.[32] And we are his witnesses of these things; and so is also the Holy Ghost, whom God has given to them that obey him. ¶[33] When they heard that, they were cut to the heart, and took counsel to slay them.[34] Then stood there up one in the council, a Pharisee, named Gamaliel, a doctor of the law, had in reputation among all the people, and commanded to put the apostles forth a little space;[35] And said to them, You men of Israel, take heed to yourselves what you intend to do as touching these men.[36] For before these days rose up Theudas, boasting himself to be somebody; to whom a number of men, about four hundred, joined themselves: who was slain; and all, as many as obeyed him, were scattered, and brought to nothing.[37] After this man rose up Judas of Galilee in the days of the taxing, and drew away much people after him: he also perished; and all, even as many as obeyed him, were dispersed.[38] And now I say to you, Refrain from these men, and let them alone: for if this counsel or this work be of men, it will come to nothing:[39] But if it be of God, you cannot overthrow it; lest haply you be found even to fight against God.[40] And to him they agreed: and when they had called the apostles, and beaten them, they commanded that they should not speak in the name of Jesus, and let them go. ¶[41] And they departed from the presence of the council, rejoicing that they were counted worthy to suffer shame for his name.[42] And daily in the temple, and in every house, they ceased not to teach and preach Jesus Christ.

[1] And in those days, when the number of the disciples was multiplied, there arose a murmuring of the Grecians against the Hebrews, because their widows were neglected in the daily ministration.

[2] Then the twelve called the multitude of the disciples to them, and said, It is not reason that we should leave the word of God, and serve tables.[3] Why, brothers, look you out among you seven men of honest report, full of the Holy Ghost and wisdom, whom we may appoint over this business.[4] But we will give ourselves continually to prayer, and to the ministry of the word. ¶[5] And the saying pleased the whole multitude: and they chose Stephen, a man full of faith and of the Holy Ghost, and Philip, and Prochorus, and Nicanor, and Timon, and Parmenas, and Nicolas a proselyte of Antioch:[6] Whom they set before the apostles: and when they had prayed, they laid their hands on them.[7] And the word of God increased; and the number of the disciples multiplied in Jerusalem greatly; and a great company of the priests were obedient to the faith.[8] And Stephen, full of faith and power, did great wonders and miracles among the people. ¶[9] Then there arose certain of the synagogue, which is called the synagogue of the Libertines, and Cyrenians, and Alexandrians, and of them of Cilicia and of Asia, disputing with Stephen.[10] And they were not able to resist the wisdom and the spirit by which he spoke.[11] Then they suborned men, which said, We have heard him speak blasphemous words against Moses, and against God.[12] And they stirred up the people, and the elders, and the scribes, and came on him, and caught him, and brought him to the council,[13] And set up false witnesses, which said, This man ceases not to speak blasphemous words against this holy place, and the law:[14] For we have heard him say, that this Jesus of Nazareth shall destroy this place, and shall change the customs which Moses delivered us.[15] And all that sat in the council, looking steadfastly on him, saw his face as it had been the face of an angel.

[1] Then said the high priest, Are these things so?

[2] And he said, Men, brothers, and fathers, listen; The God of glory appeared to our father Abraham, when he was in Mesopotamia, before he dwelled in Charran,[3] And said to him, Get you out of your country, and from your kindred, and come into the land which I shall show you.[4] Then came he out of the land of the Chaldaeans, and dwelled in Charran: and from there, when his father was dead, he removed him into this land, wherein you now dwell.[5] And he gave him none inheritance in it, no, not so much as to set his foot on: yet he promised that he would give it to him for a possession, and to his seed after him, when as yet he had no child.[6] And God spoke on this wise, That his seed should sojourn in a strange land; and that they should bring them into bondage, and entreat them evil four hundred years.[7] And the nation to whom they shall be in bondage will I judge, said God: and after that shall they come forth, and serve me in this place.[8] And he gave him the covenant of circumcision: and so Abraham was the father of Isaac, and circumcised him the eighth day; and Isaac was the father of Jacob; and Jacob was the father of the twelve patriarchs.[9] And the patriarchs, moved with envy, sold Joseph into Egypt: but God was with him,[10] And delivered him out of all his afflictions, and gave him favor and wisdom in the sight of Pharaoh king of Egypt; and he made him governor over Egypt and all his house.[11] Now there came a dearth over all the land of Egypt and Chanaan, and great affliction: and our fathers found no sustenance.[12] But when Jacob heard that there was corn in Egypt, he sent out our fathers first.[13] And at the second time Joseph was made known to his brothers; and Joseph's kindred was made known to Pharaoh.[14] Then sent Joseph, and called his father Jacob to him, and all his kindred, three score and fifteen souls.[15] So Jacob went down into Egypt, and died, he, and our fathers,[16] And were carried over into Sychem, and laid in the sepulcher that Abraham bought for a sum of money of the sons of Emmor the father of Sychem.[17] But when the time of the promise drew near, which God had sworn to Abraham, the people grew and multiplied in Egypt,[18] Till another king arose, which knew not Joseph.[19] The same dealt subtly with our kindred, and evil entreated our fathers, so that they cast out their young children, to the end they might not live.[20] In which time Moses was born, and was exceeding fair, and nourished up in his father's house three months:[21] And when he was cast out, Pharaoh's daughter took him up, and nourished him for her own son.[22] And Moses was learned in all the wisdom of the Egyptians, and was mighty in words and in deeds.[23] And when he was full forty years old, it came into his heart to visit his brothers the children of Israel.[24] And seeing one of them suffer wrong, he defended him, and avenged him that was oppressed, and smote the Egyptian:[25] For he supposed his brothers would have understood how that God by his hand would deliver them: but they understood not.[26] And the next day he showed himself to them as they strove, and would have set them at one again, saying, Sirs, you are brothers; why do you wrong one to another?[27] But he that did his neighbor wrong thrust him away, saying, Who made you a ruler and a judge over us?[28] Will you kill me, as you did the Egyptian yesterday?[29] Then fled Moses at this saying, and was a stranger in the land of Madian, where he was the father of two sons.[30] And when forty years were expired, there appeared to him in the wilderness of mount Sina an angel of the Lord in a flame of fire in a bush.[31] When Moses saw it, he wondered at the sight: and as he drew near to behold it, the voice of the LORD came to him,[32] Saying, I am the God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob. Then Moses trembled, and dared not behold.[33] Then said the Lord to him, Put off your shoes from your feet: for the place where you stand is holy ground.[34] I have seen, I have seen the affliction of my people which is in Egypt, and I have heard their groaning, and am come down to deliver them. And now come, I will send you into Egypt.[35] This Moses whom they refused, saying, Who made you a ruler and a judge? the same did God send to be a ruler and a deliverer by the hand of the angel which appeared to him in the bush.[36] He brought them out, after that he had showed wonders and signs in the land of Egypt, and in the Red sea, and in the wilderness forty years. ¶[37] This is that Moses, which said to the children of Israel, A prophet shall the Lord your God raise up to you of your brothers, like to me; him shall you hear.[38] This is he, that was in the church in the wilderness with the angel which spoke to him in the mount Sina, and with our fathers: who received the lively oracles to give to us:[39] To whom our fathers would not obey, but thrust him from them, and in their hearts turned back again into Egypt,[40] Saying to Aaron, Make us gods to go before us: for as for this Moses, which brought us out of the land of Egypt, we know not what is become of him.[41] And they made a calf in those days, and offered sacrifice to the idol, and rejoiced in the works of their own hands.[42] Then God turned, and gave them up to worship the host of heaven; as it is written in the book of the prophets, O you house of Israel, have you offered to me slain beasts and sacrifices by the space of forty years in the wilderness?[43] Yes, you took up the tabernacle of Moloch, and the star of your god Remphan, figures which you made to worship them: and I will carry you away beyond Babylon.[44] Our fathers had the tabernacle of witness in the wilderness, as he had appointed, speaking to Moses, that he should make it according to the fashion that he had seen.[45] Which also our fathers that came after brought in with Jesus into the possession of the Gentiles, whom God drove out before the face of our fathers, to the days of David;[46] Who found favor before God, and desired to find a tabernacle for the God of Jacob.[47] But Solomon built him an house.[48] However, the most High dwells not in temples made with hands; as says the prophet,[49] Heaven is my throne, and earth is my footstool: what house will you build me? says the Lord: or what is the place of my rest?[50] Has not my hand made all these things? ¶[51] You stiff necked and uncircumcised in heart and ears, you do always resist the Holy Ghost: as your fathers did, so do you.[52] Which of the prophets have not your fathers persecuted? and they have slain them which showed before of the coming of the Just One; of whom you have been now the betrayers and murderers:[53] Who have received the law by the disposition of angels, and have not kept it. ¶[54] When they heard these things, they were cut to the heart, and they gnashed on him with their teeth.[55] But he, being full of the Holy Ghost, looked up steadfastly into heaven, and saw the glory of God, and Jesus standing on the right hand of God,[56] And said, Behold, I see the heavens opened, and the Son of man standing on the right hand of God.[57] Then they cried out with a loud voice, and stopped their ears, and ran on him with one accord,[58] And cast him out of the city, and stoned him: and the witnesses laid down their clothes at a young man's feet, whose name was Saul.[59] And they stoned Stephen, calling on God, and saying, Lord Jesus, receive my spirit.[60] And he kneeled down, and cried with a loud voice, Lord, lay not this sin to their charge. And when he had said this, he fell asleep.

[1] And Saul was consenting to his death. And at that time there was a great persecution against the church which was at Jerusalem; and they were all scattered abroad throughout the regions of Judaea and Samaria, except the apostles.

[2] And devout men carried Stephen to his burial, and made great lamentation over him.[3] As for Saul, he made havoc of the church, entering into every house, and haling men and women committed them to prison.[4] Therefore they that were scattered abroad went every where preaching the word.[5] Then Philip went down to the city of Samaria, and preached Christ to them.[6] And the people with one accord gave heed to those things which Philip spoke, hearing and seeing the miracles which he did.[7] For unclean spirits, crying with loud voice, came out of many that were possessed with them: and many taken with palsies, and that were lame, were healed.[8] And there was great joy in that city.[9] But there was a certain man, called Simon, which beforetime in the same city used sorcery, and bewitched the people of Samaria, giving out that himself was some great one:[10] To whom they all gave heed, from the least to the greatest, saying, This man is the great power of God.[11] And to him they had regard, because that of long time he had bewitched them with sorceries.[12] But when they believed Philip preaching the things concerning the kingdom of God, and the name of Jesus Christ, they were baptized, both men and women.[13] Then Simon himself believed also: and when he was baptized, he continued with Philip, and wondered, beholding the miracles and signs which were done.[14] Now when the apostles which were at Jerusalem heard that Samaria had received the word of God, they sent to them Peter and John:[15] Who, when they were come down, prayed for them, that they might receive the Holy Ghost:[16] (For as yet he was fallen on none of them: only they were baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus.)[17] Then laid they their hands on them, and they received the Holy Ghost.[18] And when Simon saw that through laying on of the apostles' hands the Holy Ghost was given, he offered them money,[19] Saying, Give me also this power, that on whomsoever I lay hands, he may receive the Holy Ghost.[20] But Peter said to him, Your money perish with you, because you have thought that the gift of God may be purchased with money.[21] You have neither part nor lot in this matter: for your heart is not right in the sight of God.[22] Repent therefore of this your wickedness, and pray God, if perhaps the thought of your heart may be forgiven you.[23] For I perceive that you are in the gall of bitterness, and in the bond of iniquity.[24] Then answered Simon, and said, Pray you to the LORD for me, that none of these things which you have spoken come on me.[25] And they, when they had testified and preached the word of the Lord, returned to Jerusalem, and preached the gospel in many villages of the Samaritans.[26] And the angel of the Lord spoke to Philip, saying, Arise, and go toward the south to the way that goes down from Jerusalem to Gaza, which is desert.[27] And he arose and went: and, behold, a man of Ethiopia, an eunuch of great authority under Candace queen of the Ethiopians, who had the charge of all her treasure, and had come to Jerusalem for to worship,[28] Was returning, and sitting in his chariot read Isaiah the prophet.[29] Then the Spirit said to Philip, Go near, and join yourself to this chariot.[30] And Philip ran thither to him, and heard him read the prophet Isaiah, and said,

Understand you what you read?[31] And he said, How can I, except some man should guide me? And he desired Philip that he would come up and sit with him.[32] The place of the scripture which he read was this, He was led as a sheep to the slaughter; and like a lamb dumb before his shearer, so opened he not his mouth:[33] In his humiliation his judgment was taken away: and who shall declare his generation? for his life is taken from the earth.[34] And the eunuch answered Philip, and said, I pray you, of whom speaks the prophet this? of himself, or of some other man?[35] Then Philip opened his mouth, and began at the same scripture, and preached to him Jesus.[36] And as they went on their way, they came to a certain water: and the eunuch said, See, here is water; what does hinder me to be baptized?[37] And Philip said, If you believe with all your heart, you may. And he answered and said, I believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God.[38] And he commanded the chariot to stand still: and they went down both into the water, both Philip and the eunuch; and he baptized him.[39] And when they were come up out of the water, the Spirit of the Lord caught away Philip, that the eunuch saw him no more: and he went on his way rejoicing.[40] But Philip was found at Azotus: and passing through he preached in all the cities, till he came to Caesarea.

[1] And Saul, yet breathing out threatenings and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord, went to the high priest,

[2] And desired of him letters to Damascus to the synagogues, that if he found any of this way, whether they were men or women, he might bring them bound to Jerusalem.[3] And as he journeyed, he came near Damascus: and suddenly there shined round about him a light from heaven:[4] And he fell to the earth, and heard a voice saying to him, Saul, Saul, why persecute you me?[5] And he said, Who are you, Lord? And the Lord said, I am Jesus whom you persecute: it is hard for you to kick against the pricks.[6] And he trembling and astonished said, Lord, what will you have me to do? And the Lord said to him, Arise, and go into the city, and it shall be told you what you must do.[7] And the men which journeyed with him stood speechless, hearing a voice, but seeing no man.[8] And Saul arose from the earth; and when his eyes were opened, he saw no man: but they led him by the hand, and brought him into Damascus.[9] And he was three days without sight, and neither did eat nor drink. ¶[10] And there was a certain disciple at Damascus, named Ananias; and to him said the Lord in a vision, Ananias. And he said, Behold, I am here, Lord.[11] And the Lord said to him, Arise, and go into the street which is called Straight, and inquire in the house of Judas for one called Saul, of Tarsus: for, behold, he prays,[12] And has seen in a vision a man named Ananias coming in, and putting his hand on him, that he might receive his sight.[13] Then Ananias answered, Lord, I have heard by many of this man, how much evil he has done to your saints at Jerusalem:[14] And here he has authority from the chief priests to bind all that call on your name.[15] But the Lord said to him, Go your way: for he is a chosen vessel to me, to bear my name before the Gentiles, and kings, and the children of Israel:[16] For I will show him how great things he must suffer for my name's sake.[17] And Ananias went his way, and entered into the house; and putting his hands on him said, Brother Saul, the Lord, even Jesus, that appeared to you in the way as you came, has sent me, that you might receive your sight, and be filled with the Holy Ghost.[18] And immediately there fell from his eyes as it had been scales: and he received sight immediately, and arose, and was baptized.[19] And when he had received meat, he was strengthened. Then was Saul certain days with the disciples which were at Damascus.[20] And straightway he preached Christ in the synagogues, that he is the Son of God.[21] But all that heard him were amazed, and said; Is not this he that destroyed them which called on this name in Jerusalem, and came here for that intent, that he might bring them bound to the chief priests?[22] But Saul increased the more in strength, and confounded the Jews which dwelled at Damascus, proving that this is very Christ. ¶[23] And after that many days were fulfilled, the Jews took counsel to kill him:[24] But their laying await was known of Saul. And they watched the gates day and night to kill him.[25] Then the disciples took him by night, and let him down by the wall in a basket.[26] And when Saul was come to Jerusalem, he assayed to join himself to the disciples: but they were all afraid of him, and believed not that he was a disciple.[27] But Barnabas took him, and brought him to the apostles, and declared to them how he had seen the Lord in the way, and that he had spoken to him, and how he had preached boldly at Damascus in the name of Jesus.[28] And he was with them coming in and going out at Jerusalem.[29] And he spoke boldly in the name of the Lord Jesus, and disputed against the Grecians: but they went about to slay him.[30] Which when the brothers knew, they brought him down to Caesarea, and sent him forth to Tarsus.[31] Then had the churches rest throughout all Judaea and Galilee and Samaria, and were edified; and walking in the fear of the Lord, and in the comfort of the Holy Ghost, were multiplied. ¶[32] And it came to pass, as Peter passed throughout all quarters, he came down also to the saints which dwelled at Lydda.[33] And there he found a certain man named Aeneas, which had kept his bed eight years, and was sick of the palsy.[34] And Peter said to him, Aeneas, Jesus Christ makes you whole: arise, and make your bed. And he arose immediately.[35] And all that dwelled at Lydda and Saron saw him, and turned to the Lord. ¶[36] Now there was at Joppa a certain disciple named Tabitha, which by interpretation is called Dorcas: this woman was full of good works and giving of alms which she did.[37] And it came to pass in those days, that she was sick, and died: whom when they had washed, they laid her in an upper chamber.[38] And for as much as Lydda was near to Joppa, and the disciples had heard that Peter was there, they sent to him two men, desiring him that he would not delay to come to them.[39] Then Peter arose and went with them. When he was come, they brought him into the upper chamber: and all the widows stood by him weeping, and showing the coats and garments which Dorcas made, while she was with them.[40] But Peter put them all forth, and kneeled down, and prayed; and turning him to the body said, Tabitha, arise. And she opened her eyes: and when she saw Peter, she sat up.[41] And he gave her his hand, and lifted her up, and when he had called the saints and widows, presented her alive.[42] And it was known throughout all Joppa; and many believed in the Lord.[43] And it came to pass, that he tarried many days in Joppa with one Simon a tanner.

[1] There was a certain man in Caesarea called Cornelius, a centurion of the band called the Italian band,

[2] A devout man, and one that feared God with all his house, which gave much alms to the people, and prayed to God always.[3] He saw in a vision evidently about the ninth hour of the day an angel of God coming in to him, and saying to him, Cornelius.[4] And when he looked on him, he was afraid, and said, What is it, Lord? And he said to him, Your prayers and your alms are come up for a memorial before God.[5] And now send men to Joppa, and call for one Simon, whose surname is Peter:[6] He lodges with one Simon a tanner, whose house is by the sea side: he shall tell you what you ought to do.[7] And when the angel which spoke to Cornelius was departed, he called two of his household servants, and a devout soldier of them that waited on him continually;[8] And when he had declared all these things to them, he sent them to Joppa. ¶[9] On the morrow, as they went on their journey, and drew near to the city, Peter went up on the housetop to pray about the sixth hour:[10] And he became very hungry, and would have eaten: but while they made ready, he fell into a trance,[11] And saw heaven opened, and a certain vessel descending on him, as it had been a great sheet knit at the four corners, and let down to the earth:[12] Wherein were all manner of four footed beasts of the earth, and wild beasts, and creeping things, and fowls of the air.[13] And there came a voice to him, Rise, Peter; kill, and eat.[14] But Peter said, Not so, Lord; for I have never eaten any thing that is common or unclean.[15] And the voice spoke to him again the second time, What God has cleansed, that call not you common.[16] This was done thrice: and the vessel was received up again into heaven.[17] Now while Peter doubted in himself what this vision which he had seen should mean, behold, the men which were sent from Cornelius had made inquiry for Simon's house, and stood before the gate,[18] And called, and asked whether Simon, which was surnamed Peter, were lodged there. ¶[19] While Peter thought on the vision, the Spirit said to him, Behold, three men seek you.[20] Arise therefore, and get you down, and go with them, doubting nothing: for I have sent them.[21] Then Peter went down to the men which were sent to him from Cornelius; and said, Behold, I am he whom you seek: what is the cause why you are come?[22] And they said, Cornelius the centurion, a just man, and one that fears God, and of good report among all the nation of the Jews, was warned from God by an holy angel to send for you into his house, and to hear words of you.[23] Then called he them in, and lodged them. And on the morrow Peter went away with them, and certain brothers from Joppa accompanied him.[24] And the morrow after they entered into Caesarea. And Cornelius waited for them, and he had called together his kinsmen and near friends.[25] And as Peter was coming in, Cornelius met him, and fell down at his feet, and worshipped him.[26] But Peter took him up, saying, Stand up; I myself also am a man.[27] And as he talked with him, he went in, and found many that were come together.[28] And he said to them, You know how that it is an unlawful thing for a man that is a Jew to keep company, or come to one of another nation; but God has showed me that I should not call any man common or unclean.[29] Therefore came I to you without gainsaying, as soon as I was sent for: I ask therefore for what intent you have sent for me?[30] And Cornelius said, Four days ago I was fasting until this hour; and at the ninth hour I prayed in my house, and, behold, a man stood before me in bright clothing,[31] And said, Cornelius, your prayer is heard, and your alms are had in remembrance in the sight of God.[32] Send therefore to Joppa, and call here Simon, whose surname is Peter; he is lodged in the house of one Simon a tanner by the sea side: who, when he comes, shall speak to you.[33] Immediately therefore I sent to you; and you have well done that you are come. Now therefore are we all here present before God, to hear all things that are commanded you of God. ¶[34] Then Peter opened his mouth, and said, Of a truth I perceive that God is no respecter of persons:[35] But in every nation he that fears him, and works righteousness, is accepted with him.[36] The word which God sent to the children of Israel, preaching peace by Jesus Christ: (he is Lord of all:)[37] That word, I say, you know, which was published throughout all Judaea, and began from Galilee, after the baptism which John preached;[38] How God anointed Jesus of Nazareth with the Holy Ghost and with power: who went about doing good, and healing all that were oppressed of the devil; for God was with him.[39] And we are witnesses of all things which he did both in the land of the Jews, and in Jerusalem; whom they slew and hanged on a tree:[40] Him God raised up the third day, and showed him openly;[41] Not to all the people, but to witnesses chosen before God, even to us, who did eat and drink with him after he rose from the dead.[42] And he commanded us to preach to the people, and to testify that it is he which was ordained of God to be the Judge of quick and dead.[43] To him give all the prophets witness, that through his name whoever believes in him shall receive remission of sins. ¶[44] While Peter yet spoke these words, the Holy Ghost fell on all them which heard the word.[45] And they of the circumcision which believed were astonished, as many as came with Peter, because that on the Gentiles also was poured out the gift of the Holy Ghost.[46] For they heard them speak with tongues, and magnify God. Then answered Peter,[47] Can any man forbid water, that these should not be baptized, which have received the Holy Ghost as well as we?[48] And he commanded them to be baptized in the name of the Lord. Then prayed they him to tarry certain days.

[1] And the apostles and brothers that were in Judaea heard that the Gentiles had also received the word of God.

[2] And when Peter was come up to Jerusalem, they that were of the circumcision contended with him,[3] Saying, You went in to men uncircumcised, and did eat with them.[4] But Peter rehearsed the matter from the beginning, and expounded it by order to them, saying,[5] I was in the city of Joppa praying: and in a trance I saw a vision, A certain vessel descend, as it had been a great sheet, let down from heaven by four corners; and it came even to me:[6] On the which when I had fastened my eyes, I considered, and saw four footed beasts of the earth, and wild beasts, and creeping things, and fowls of the air.[7] And I heard a voice saying to me, Arise, Peter; slay and eat.[8] But I said, Not so, Lord: for nothing common or unclean has at any time entered into my mouth.[9] But the voice answered me again from heaven, What God has cleansed, that call not you common.[10] And this was done three times: and all were drawn up again into heaven.[11] And, behold, immediately there were three men already come to the house where I was, sent from Caesarea to me.[12] And the Spirit bade me go with them, nothing doubting. Moreover these six brothers accompanied me, and we entered into the man's house:[13] And he showed us how he had seen an angel in his house, which stood and said to him, Send men to Joppa, and call for Simon, whose surname is Peter;[14] Who shall tell you words, whereby you and all your house shall be saved.[15] And as I began to speak, the Holy Ghost fell on them, as on us at the beginning.[16] Then remembered I the word of the Lord, how that he said, John indeed baptized with water; but you shall be baptized with the Holy Ghost.[17] For as much then as God gave them the like gift as he did to us, who believed on the Lord Jesus Christ; what was I, that I could withstand God?[18] When they heard these things, they held their peace, and glorified God, saying, Then has God also to the Gentiles granted repentance to life. ¶[19] Now they which were scattered abroad on the persecution that arose about Stephen traveled as far as Phenice, and Cyprus, and Antioch, preaching the word to none but to the Jews only.[20] And some of them were men of Cyprus and Cyrene, which, when they were come to Antioch, spoke to the Grecians, preaching the LORD Jesus.[21] And the hand of the Lord was with them: and a great number believed, and turned to the Lord. ¶[22] Then tidings of these things came to the ears of the church which was in Jerusalem: and they sent forth Barnabas, that he should go as far as Antioch.[23] Who, when he came, and had seen the grace of God, was glad, and exhorted them all, that with purpose of heart they would hold to the Lord.[24] For he was a good man, and full of the Holy Ghost and of faith: and much people was added to the Lord.[25] Then departed Barnabas to Tarsus, for to seek Saul:[26] And when he had found him, he brought him to Antioch. And it came to pass, that a whole year they assembled themselves with the church, and taught much people. And the disciples were called Christians first in Antioch. ¶[27] And in these days came prophets from Jerusalem to Antioch.[28] And there stood up one of them named Agabus, and signified by the Spirit that there should be great dearth throughout all the world: which came to pass in the days of Claudius Caesar.[29] Then the disciples, every man according to his ability, determined to send relief to the brothers which dwelled in Judaea:[30] Which also they did, and sent it to the elders by the hands of Barnabas and Saul.

[1] Now about that time Herod the king stretched forth his hands to vex certain of the church.

[2] And he killed James the brother of John with the sword.[3] And because he saw it pleased the Jews, he proceeded further to take Peter also. (Then were the days of unleavened bread.)[4] And when he had apprehended him, he put him in prison, and delivered him to four squads of soldiers to keep him; intending after Easter to bring him forth to the people.[5] Peter therefore was kept in prison: but prayer was made without ceasing of the church to God for him.[6] And when Herod would have brought him forth, the same night Peter was sleeping between two soldiers, bound with two chains: and the keepers before the door kept the prison.[7] And, behold, the angel of the Lord came on him, and a light shined in the prison: and he smote Peter on the side, and raised him up, saying, Arise up quickly. And his chains fell off from his hands.[8] And the angel said to him, Gird yourself, and bind on your sandals. And so he did. And he says to him, Cast your garment about you, and follow me.[9] And he went out, and followed him; and knew not that it was true which was done by the angel; but thought he saw a vision.[10] When they were past the first and the second ward, they came to the iron gate that leads to the city; which opened to them of his own accord: and they went out, and passed on through one street; and immediately the angel departed from him.[11] And when Peter was come to himself, he said, Now I know of a surety, that the LORD has sent his angel, and has delivered me out of the hand of Herod, and from all the expectation of the people of the Jews.[12] And when he had considered the thing, he came to the house of Mary the mother of John, whose surname was Mark; where many were gathered together praying.[13] And as Peter knocked at the door of the gate, a damsel came to listen, named Rhoda.[14] And when she knew Peter's voice, she opened not the gate for gladness, but ran in, and told how Peter stood before the gate.[15] And they said to her, You are mad. But she constantly affirmed that it was even so. Then said they, It is his angel.[16] But Peter continued knocking: and when they had opened the door, and saw him, they were astonished.[17] But he, beckoning to them with the hand to hold their peace, declared to them how the Lord had brought him out of the prison. And he said, Go show these things to James, and to the brothers. And he departed, and went into another place.[18] Now as soon as it was day, there was no small stir among the soldiers, what was become of Peter.[19] And when Herod had sought for him, and found him not, he examined the keepers, and commanded that they should be put to death. And he went down from Judaea to Caesarea, and there stayed. ¶[20] And Herod was highly displeased with them of Tyre and Sidon: but they came with one accord to him, and, having made Blastus the king's chamberlain their friend, desired peace; because their country was nourished by the king's country.[21] And on a set day Herod, arrayed in royal apparel, sat on his throne, and made an oration to them.[22] And the people gave a shout, saying, It is the voice of a god, and not of a man.[23] And immediately the angel of the Lord smote him, because he gave not God the glory: and he was eaten of worms, and gave up the ghost. ¶[24] But the word of God grew and multiplied.[25] And Barnabas and Saul returned from Jerusalem, when they had fulfilled their ministry, and took with them John, whose surname was Mark.

[1] Now there were in the church that was at Antioch certain prophets and teachers; as Barnabas, and Simeon that was called Niger, and Lucius of Cyrene, and Manaen, which had been brought up with Herod the tetrarch, and Saul.

[2] As they ministered to the Lord, and fasted, the Holy Ghost said, Separate me Barnabas and Saul for the work to which I have called them.[3] And when they had fasted and prayed, and laid their hands on them, they sent them away. ¶[4] So they, being sent forth by the Holy Ghost, departed to Seleucia; and from there they sailed to Cyprus.[5] And when they were at Salamis, they preached the word of God in the synagogues of the Jews: and they had also John to their minister.[6] And when they had gone through the isle to Paphos, they found a certain sorcerer, a false prophet, a Jew, whose name was Barjesus:[7] Which was with the deputy of the country, Sergius Paulus, a prudent man; who called for Barnabas and Saul, and desired to hear the word of God.[8] But Elymas the sorcerer (for so is his name by interpretation) withstood them, seeking to turn away the deputy from the faith.[9] Then Saul, (who also is called Paul,) filled with the Holy Ghost, set his eyes on him.[10] And said, O full of all subtlety and all mischief, you child of the devil, you enemy of all righteousness, will you not cease to pervert the right ways of the Lord?[11] And now, behold, the hand of the Lord is on you, and you shall be blind, not seeing the sun for a season. And immediately there fell on him a mist and a darkness; and he went about seeking some to lead him by the hand.[12] Then the deputy, when he saw what was done, believed, being astonished at the doctrine of the Lord.[13] Now when Paul and his company loosed from Paphos, they came to Perga in Pamphylia: and John departing from them returned to Jerusalem. ¶[14] But when they departed from Perga, they came to Antioch in Pisidia, and went into the synagogue on the sabbath day, and sat down.[15] And after the reading of the law and the prophets the rulers of the synagogue sent to them, saying, You men and brothers, if you have any word of exhortation for the people, say on.[16] Then Paul stood up, and beckoning with his hand said, Men of Israel, and you that fear God, give audience.[17] The God of this people of Israel chose our fathers, and exalted the people when they dwelled as strangers in the land of Egypt, and with an high arm brought he them out of it.[18] And about the time of forty years suffered he their manners in the wilderness.[19] And when he had destroyed seven nations in the land of Chanaan, he divided their land to them by lot.[20] And after that he gave to them judges about the space of four hundred and fifty years, until Samuel the prophet.[21] And afterward they desired a king: and God gave to them Saul the son of Cis, a man of the tribe of Benjamin, by the space of forty years.[22] And when he had removed him, he raised up to them David to be their king; to whom also he gave their testimony, and said, I have found David the son of Jesse, a man after my own heart, which shall fulfill all my will.[23] Of this man's seed has God according to his promise raised to Israel a Savior, Jesus:[24] When John had first preached before his coming the baptism of repentance to all the people of Israel.[25] And as John fulfilled his course, he said, Whom think you that I am? I am not he. But, behold, there comes one after me, whose shoes of his feet I am not worthy to loose.[26] Men and brothers, children of the stock of Abraham, and whoever among you fears God, to you is the word of this salvation sent.[27] For they that dwell at Jerusalem, and their rulers, because they knew him not, nor yet the voices of the prophets which are read every sabbath day, they have fulfilled them in condemning him.[28] And though they found no cause of death in him, yet desired they Pilate that he should be slain.[29] And when they had fulfilled all that was written of him, they took him down from the tree, and laid him in a sepulcher.[30] But God raised him from the dead:[31] And he was seen many days of them which came up with him from Galilee to Jerusalem, who are his witnesses to the people.[32] And we declare to you glad tidings, how that the promise which was made to the fathers,[33] God has fulfilled the same to us their children, in that he has raised up Jesus again; as it is also written in the second psalm, You are my Son, this day have I begotten you.[34] And as concerning that he raised him up from the dead, now no more to return to corruption, he said on this wise, I will give you the sure mercies of David.[35] Why he says also in another psalm, You shall not suffer your Holy One to see corruption.[36] For David, after he had served his own generation by the will of God, fell on sleep, and was laid to his fathers, and saw corruption:[37] But he, whom God raised again, saw no corruption. ¶[38] Be it known to you therefore, men and brothers, that through this man is preached to you the forgiveness of sins:[39] And by him all that believe are justified from all things, from which you could not be justified by the law of Moses.[40] Beware therefore, lest that come on you, which is spoken of in the prophets;[41] Behold, you despisers, and wonder, and perish: for I work a work in your days, a work which you shall in no wise believe, though a man declare it to you.[42] And when the Jews were gone out of the synagogue, the Gentiles sought that these words might be preached to them the next sabbath.[43] Now when the congregation was broken up, many of the Jews and religious proselytes followed Paul and Barnabas: who, speaking to them, persuaded them to continue in the grace of God. ¶[44] And the next sabbath day came almost the whole city together to hear the word of God.[45] But when the Jews saw the multitudes, they were filled with envy, and spoke against those things which were spoken by Paul, contradicting and blaspheming.[46] Then Paul and Barnabas waxed bold, and said, It was necessary that the word of God should first have been spoken to you: but seeing you put it from you, and judge yourselves unworthy of everlasting life, see, we turn to the Gentiles.[47] For so has the Lord commanded us, saying, I have set you to be a light of the Gentiles, that you should be for salvation to the ends of the earth.[48] And when the Gentiles heard this, they were glad, and glorified the word of the Lord: and as many as were ordained to eternal life believed.[49] And the word of the Lord was published throughout all the region.[50] But the Jews stirred up the devout and honorable women, and the chief men of the city, and raised persecution against Paul and Barnabas, and expelled them out of their coasts.[51] But they shook off the dust of their feet against them, and came to Iconium.[52] And the disciples were filled with joy, and with the Holy Ghost.

[1] And it came to pass in Iconium, that they went both together into the synagogue of the Jews, and so spoke, that a great multitude both of the Jews and also of the Greeks believed.

[2] But the unbelieving Jews stirred up the Gentiles, and made their minds evil affected against the brothers.[3] Long time therefore stayed they speaking boldly in the Lord, which gave testimony to the word of his grace, and granted signs and wonders to be done by their hands.[4] But the multitude of the city was divided: and part held with the Jews, and part with the apostles.[5] And when there was an assault made both of the Gentiles, and also of the Jews with their rulers, to use them spitefully, and to stone them,[6] They were ware of it, and fled to Lystra and Derbe, cities of Lycaonia, and to the region that lies round about:[7] And there they preached the gospel. ¶[8] And there sat a certain man at Lystra, weak in his feet, being a cripple from his mother's womb, who never had walked:[9] The same heard Paul speak: who steadfastly beholding him, and perceiving that he had faith to be healed,[10] Said with a loud voice, Stand upright on your feet. And he leaped and walked.[11] And when the people saw what Paul had done, they lifted up their voices, saying in the speech of Lycaonia, The gods are come down to us in the likeness of men.[12] And they called Barnabas, Jupiter; and Paul, Mercurius, because he was the chief speaker.[13] Then the priest of Jupiter, which was before their city, brought oxen and garlands to the gates, and would have done sacrifice with the people.[14] Which when the apostles, Barnabas and Paul, heard of, they rent their clothes, and ran in among the people, crying out,[15] And saying, Sirs, why do you these things? We also are men of like passions with you, and preach to you that you should turn from these vanities to the living God, which made heaven, and earth, and the sea, and all things that are therein:[16] Who in times past suffered all nations to walk in their own ways.[17] Nevertheless he left not himself without witness, in that he did good, and gave us rain from heaven, and fruitful seasons, filling our hearts with food and gladness.[18] And with these sayings scarce restrained they the people, that they had not done sacrifice to them. ¶[19] And there came thither certain Jews from Antioch and Iconium, who persuaded the people, and having stoned Paul, drew him out of the city, supposing he had been dead.[20] However,, as the disciples stood round about him, he rose up, and came into the city: and the next day he departed with Barnabas to Derbe.[21] And when they had preached the gospel to that city, and had taught many, they returned again to Lystra, and to Iconium, and Antioch,[22] Confirming the souls of the disciples, and exhorting them to continue in the faith, and that we must through much tribulation enter into the kingdom of God.[23] And when they had ordained them elders in every church, and had prayed with fasting, they commended them to the Lord, on whom they believed.[24] And after they had passed throughout Pisidia, they came to Pamphylia.[25] And when they had preached the word in Perga, they went down into Attalia:[26] And there sailed to Antioch, from where they had been recommended to the grace of God for the work which they fulfilled.[27] And when they were come, and had gathered the church together, they rehearsed all that God had done with them, and how he had opened the door of faith to the Gentiles.[28] And there they stayed long time with the disciples.

[1] And certain men which came down from Judaea taught the brothers, and said, Except you be circumcised after the manner of Moses, you cannot be saved.

[2] When therefore Paul and Barnabas had no small dissension and disputation with them, they determined that Paul and Barnabas, and certain other of them, should go up to Jerusalem to the apostles and elders about this question.[3] And being brought on their way by the church, they passed through Phenice and Samaria, declaring the conversion of the Gentiles: and they caused great joy to all the brothers.[4] And when they were come to Jerusalem, they were received of the church, and of the apostles and elders, and they declared all things that God had done with them.[5] But there rose up certain of the sect of the Pharisees which believed, saying, That it was needful to circumcise them, and to command them to keep the law of Moses. ¶[6] And the apostles and elders came together for to consider of this matter.[7] And when there had been much disputing, Peter rose up, and said to them, Men and brothers, you know how that a good while ago God made choice among us, that the Gentiles by my mouth should hear the word of the gospel, and believe.[8] And God, which knows the hearts, bore them witness, giving them the Holy Ghost, even as he did to us;[9] And put no difference between us and them, purifying their hearts by faith.[10] Now therefore why tempt you God, to put a yoke on the neck of the disciples, which neither our fathers nor we were able to bear?[11] But we believe that through the grace of the LORD Jesus Christ we shall be saved, even as they. ¶[12] Then all the multitude kept silence, and gave audience to Barnabas and Paul, declaring what miracles and wonders God had worked among the Gentiles by them. ¶[13] And after they had held their peace, James answered, saying, Men and brothers, listen to me:[14] Simeon has declared how God at the first did visit the Gentiles, to take out of them a people for his name.[15] And to this agree the words of the prophets; as it is written,[16] After this I will return, and will build again the tabernacle of David, which is fallen down; and I will build again the ruins thereof, and I will set it up:[17] That the residue of men might seek after the Lord, and all the Gentiles, on whom my name is called, says the Lord, who does all these things.[18] Known to God are all his works from the beginning of the world.[19] Why my sentence is, that we trouble not them, which from among the Gentiles are turned to God:[20] But that we write to them, that they abstain from pollutions of idols, and from fornication, and from things strangled, and from blood.[21] For Moses of old time has in every city them that preach him, being read in the synagogues every sabbath day.[22] Then pleased it the apostles and elders with the whole church, to send chosen men of their own company to Antioch with Paul and Barnabas; namely, Judas surnamed Barsabas and Silas, chief men among the brothers:[23] And they wrote letters by them after this manner; The apostles and elders and brothers send greeting to the brothers which are of the Gentiles in Antioch and Syria and Cilicia.[24] For as much as we have heard, that certain which went out from us have troubled you with words, subverting your souls, saying, You must be circumcised, and keep the law: to whom we gave no such commandment:[25] It seemed good to us, being assembled with one accord, to send chosen men to you with our beloved Barnabas and Paul,[26] Men that have hazarded their lives for the name of our Lord Jesus Christ.[27] We have sent therefore Judas and Silas, who shall also tell you the same things by mouth.[28] For it seemed good to the Holy Ghost, and to us, to lay on you no greater burden than these necessary things;[29] That you abstain from meats offered to idols, and from blood, and from things strangled, and from fornication: from which if you keep yourselves, you shall do well. Fare you well.[30] So when they were dismissed, they came to Antioch: and when they had gathered the multitude together, they delivered the letter:[31] Which when they had read, they rejoiced for the consolation.[32] And Judas and Silas, being prophets also themselves, exhorted the brothers with many words, and confirmed them.[33] And after they had tarried there a space, they were let go in peace from the brothers to the apostles.[34] Notwithstanding it pleased Silas to abide there still.[35] Paul also and Barnabas continued in Antioch, teaching and preaching the word of the Lord, with many others also. ¶[36] And some days after Paul said to Barnabas, Let us go again and visit our brothers in every city where we have preached the word of the LORD, and see how they do.[37] And Barnabas determined to take with them John, whose surname was Mark.[38] But Paul thought not good to take him with them, who departed from them from Pamphylia, and went not with them to the work.[39] And the contention was so sharp between them, that they departed asunder one from the other: and so Barnabas took Mark, and sailed to Cyprus;[40] And Paul chose Silas, and departed, being recommended by the brothers to the grace of God.[41] And he went through Syria and Cilicia, confirming the churches.

[1] Then came he to Derbe and Lystra: and, behold, a certain disciple was there, named Timotheus, the son of a certain woman, which was a Jewess, and believed; but his father was a Greek:

[2] Which was well reported of by the brothers that were at Lystra and Iconium.[3] Him would Paul have to go forth with him; and took and circumcised him because of the Jews which were in those quarters: for they knew all that his father was a Greek.[4] And as they went through the cities, they delivered them the decrees for to keep, that were ordained of the apostles and elders which were at Jerusalem.[5] And so were the churches established in the faith, and increased in number daily.[6] Now when they had gone throughout Phrygia and the region of Galatia, and were forbidden of the Holy Ghost to preach the word in Asia,[7] After they were come to Mysia, they assayed to go into Bithynia: but the Spirit suffered them not.[8] And they passing by Mysia came down to Troas.[9] And a vision appeared to Paul in the night; There stood a man of Macedonia, and prayed him, saying, Come over into Macedonia, and help us.[10] And after he had seen the vision, immediately we endeavored to go into Macedonia, assuredly gathering that the Lord had called us for to preach the gospel to them.[11] Therefore loosing from Troas, we came with a straight course to Samothracia, and the next day to Neapolis;[12] And from there to Philippi, which is the chief city of that part of Macedonia, and a colony: and we were in that city abiding certain days.[13] And on the sabbath we went out of the city by a river side, where prayer was wont to be made; and we sat down, and spoke to the women which resorted thither. ¶[14] And a certain woman named Lydia, a seller of purple, of the city of Thyatira, which worshipped God, heard us: whose heart the Lord opened, that she attended to the things which were spoken of Paul.[15] And when she was baptized, and her household, she sought us, saying, If you have judged me to be faithful to the Lord, come into my house, and abide there. And she constrained us. ¶[16] And it came to pass, as we went to prayer, a certain damsel possessed with a spirit of divination met us, which brought her masters much gain by soothsaying:[17] The same followed Paul and us, and cried, saying, These men are the servants of the most high God, which show to us the way of salvation.[18] And this did she many days. But Paul, being grieved, turned and said to the spirit, I command you in the name of Jesus Christ to come out of her. And he came out the same hour. ¶[19] And when her masters saw that the hope of their gains was gone, they caught Paul and Silas, and drew them into the marketplace to the rulers,[20] And brought them to the magistrates, saying, These men, being Jews, do exceedingly trouble our city,[21] And teach customs, which are not lawful for us to receive, neither to observe, being Romans.[22] And the multitude rose up together against them: and the magistrates rent off their clothes, and commanded to beat them.[23] And when they had laid many stripes on them, they cast them into prison, charging the jailor to keep them safely:[24] Who, having received such a charge, thrust them into the inner prison, and made their feet fast in the stocks. ¶[25] And at midnight Paul and Silas prayed, and sang praises to God: and the prisoners heard them.[26] And suddenly there was a great earthquake, so that the foundations of the prison were shaken: and immediately all the doors were opened, and every one's bands were loosed.[27] And the keeper of the prison awaking out of his sleep, and seeing the prison doors open, he drew out his sword, and would have killed himself, supposing that the prisoners had been fled.[28] But Paul cried with a loud voice, saying, Do yourself no harm: for we are all here.[29] Then he called for a light, and sprang in, and came trembling, and fell down before Paul and Silas,[30] And brought them out, and said, Sirs, what must I do to be saved?[31] And they said, Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and you shall be saved, and your house.[32] And they spoke to him the word of the Lord, and to all that were in his house.[33] And he took them the same hour of the night, and washed their stripes; and was baptized, he and all his, straightway.[34] And when he had brought them into his house, he set meat before them, and rejoiced, believing in God with all his house.[35] And when it was day, the magistrates sent the sergeants, saying, Let those men go.[36] And the keeper of the prison told this saying to Paul, The magistrates have sent to let you go: now therefore depart, and go in peace.[37] But Paul said to them, They have beaten us openly uncondemned, being Romans, and have cast us into prison; and now do they thrust us out privately? no truly; but let them come themselves and fetch us out.[38] And the sergeants told these words to the magistrates: and they feared, when they heard that they were Romans.[39] And they came and sought them, and brought them out, and desired them to depart out of the city.[40] And they went out of the prison, and entered into the house of Lydia: and when they had seen the brothers, they comforted them, and departed.

[2] And Paul, as his manner was, went in to them, and three sabbath days reasoned with them out of the scriptures,[3] Opening and alleging, that Christ must needs have suffered, and risen again from the dead; and that this Jesus, whom I preach to you, is Christ.[4] And some of them believed, and consorted with Paul and Silas; and of the devout Greeks a great multitude, and of the chief women not a few. ¶[5] But the Jews which believed not, moved with envy, took to them certain lewd fellows of the baser sort, and gathered a company, and set all the city on an uproar, and assaulted the house of Jason, and sought to bring them out to the people.[6] And when they found them not, they drew Jason and certain brothers to the rulers of the city, crying, These that have turned the world upside down are come here also;[7] Whom Jason has received: and these all do contrary to the decrees of Caesar, saying that there is another king, one Jesus.[8] And they troubled the people and the rulers of the city, when they heard these things.[9] And when they had taken security of Jason, and of the other, they let them go. ¶[10] And the brothers immediately sent away Paul and Silas by night to Berea: who coming thither went into the synagogue of the Jews.[11] These were more noble than those in Thessalonica, in that they received the word with all readiness of mind, and searched the scriptures daily, whether those things were so.[12] Therefore many of them believed; also of honorable women which were Greeks, and of men, not a few.[13] But when the Jews of Thessalonica had knowledge that the word of God was preached of Paul at Berea, they came thither also, and stirred up the people.[14] And then immediately the brothers sent away Paul to go as it were to the sea: but Silas and Timotheus stayed there still.[15] And they that conducted Paul brought him to Athens: and receiving a commandment to Silas and Timotheus for to come to him with all speed, they departed. ¶[16] Now while Paul waited for them at Athens, his spirit was stirred in him, when he saw the city wholly given to idolatry.[17] Therefore disputed he in the synagogue with the Jews, and with the devout persons, and in the market daily with them that met with him.[18] Then certain philosophers of the Epicureans, and of the Stoicks, encountered him. And some said, What will this babbler say? other some, He seems to be a setter forth of strange gods: because he preached to them Jesus, and the resurrection.[19] And they took him, and brought him to Areopagus, saying, May we know what this new doctrine, whereof you speak, is?[20] For you bring certain strange things to our ears: we would know therefore what these things mean.[21] (For all the Athenians and strangers which were there spent their time in nothing else, but either to tell, or to hear some new thing.) ¶[22] Then Paul stood in the middle of Mars' hill, and said, You men of Athens, I perceive that in all things you are too superstitious.[23] For as I passed by, and beheld your devotions, I found an altar with this inscription, TO THE UNKNOWN GOD. Whom therefore you ignorantly worship, him declare I to you.[24] God that made the world and all things therein, seeing that he is Lord of heaven and earth, dwells not in temples made with hands;[25] Neither is worshipped with men's hands, as though he needed any thing, seeing he gives to all life, and breath, and all things;[26] And has made of one blood all nations of men for to dwell on all the face of the earth, and has determined the times before appointed, and the bounds of their habitation;[27] That they should seek the Lord, if haply they might feel after him, and find him, though he be not far from every one of us:[28] For in him we live, and move, and have our being; as certain also of your own poets have said, For we are also his offspring.[29] For as much then as we are the offspring of God, we ought not to think that the Godhead is like to gold, or silver, or stone, graven by are and man's device.[30] And the times of this ignorance God winked at; but now commands all men every where to repent:[31] Because he has appointed a day, in the which he will judge the world in righteousness by that man whom he has ordained; whereof he has given assurance to all men, in that he has raised him from the dead. ¶[32] And when they heard of the resurrection of the dead, some mocked: and others said, We will hear you again of this matter.[33] So Paul departed from among them.[34] However, certain men joined to him, and believed: among the which was Dionysius the Areopagite, and a woman named Damaris, and others with them.

[1] After these things Paul departed from Athens, and came to Corinth;

[2] And found a certain Jew named Aquila, born in Pontus, lately come from Italy, with his wife Priscilla; (because that Claudius had commanded all Jews to depart from Rome:) and came to them.[3] And because he was of the same craft, he stayed with them, and worked: for by their occupation they were tentmakers.[4] And he reasoned in the synagogue every sabbath, and persuaded the Jews and the Greeks.[5] And when Silas and Timotheus were come from Macedonia, Paul was pressed in the spirit, and testified to the Jews that Jesus was Christ.[6] And when they opposed themselves, and blasphemed, he shook his raiment, and said to them, Your blood be on your own heads; I am clean; from now on I will go to the Gentiles. ¶[7] And he departed there, and entered into a certain man's house, named Justus, one that worshipped God, whose house joined hard to the synagogue.[8] And Crispus, the chief ruler of the synagogue, believed on the Lord with all his house; and many of the Corinthians hearing believed, and were baptized.[9] Then spoke the Lord to Paul in the night by a vision, Be not afraid, but speak, and hold not your peace:[10] For I am with you, and no man shall set on you to hurt you: for I have much people in this city.[11] And he continued there a year and six months, teaching the word of God among them. ¶[12] And when Gallio was the deputy of Achaia, the Jews made insurrection with one accord against Paul, and brought him to the judgment seat,[13] Saying, This fellow persuades men to worship God contrary to the law.[14] And when Paul was now about to open his mouth, Gallio said to the Jews, If it were a matter of wrong or wicked lewdness, O you Jews, reason would that I should bear with you:[15] But if it be a question of words and names, and of your law, look you to it; for I will be no judge of such matters.[16] And he drove them from the judgment seat.[17] Then all the Greeks took Sosthenes, the chief ruler of the synagogue, and beat him before the judgment seat. And Gallio cared for none of those things. ¶[18] And Paul after this tarried there yet a good while, and then took his leave of the brothers, and sailed there into Syria, and with him Priscilla and Aquila; having shorn his head in Cenchrea: for he had a vow.[19] And he came to Ephesus, and left them there: but he himself entered into the synagogue, and reasoned with the Jews.[20] When they desired him to tarry longer time with them, he consented not;[21] But bade them farewell, saying, I must by all means keep this feast that comes in Jerusalem: but I will return again to you, if God will. And he sailed from Ephesus.[22] And when he had landed at Caesarea, and gone up, and saluted the church, he went down to Antioch.[23] And after he had spent some time there, he departed, and went over all the country of Galatia and Phrygia in order, strengthening all the disciples. ¶[24] And a certain Jew named Apollos, born at Alexandria, an eloquent man, and mighty in the scriptures, came to Ephesus.[25] This man was instructed in the way of the Lord; and being fervent in the spirit, he spoke and taught diligently the things of the Lord, knowing only the baptism of John.[26] And he began to speak boldly in the synagogue: whom when Aquila and Priscilla had heard, they took him to them, and expounded to him the way of God more perfectly.[27] And when he was disposed to pass into Achaia, the brothers wrote, exhorting the disciples to receive him: who, when he was come, helped them much which had believed through grace:[28] For he mightily convinced the Jews, and that publicly, showing by the scriptures that Jesus was Christ.

[1] And it came to pass, that, while Apollos was at Corinth, Paul having passed through the upper coasts came to Ephesus: and finding certain disciples,

[2] He said to them, Have you received the Holy Ghost since you believed? And they said to him, We have not so much as heard whether there be any Holy Ghost.[3] And he said to them, To what then were you baptized? And they said, To John's baptism.[4] Then said Paul, John truly baptized with the baptism of repentance, saying to the people, that they should believe on him which should come after him, that is, on Christ Jesus.[5] When they heard this, they were baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus.[6] And when Paul had laid his hands on them, the Holy Ghost came on them; and they spoke with tongues, and prophesied.[7] And all the men were about twelve.[8] And he went into the synagogue, and spoke boldly for the space of three months, disputing and persuading the things concerning the kingdom of God.[9] But when divers were hardened, and believed not, but spoke evil of that way before the multitude, he departed from them, and separated the disciples, disputing daily in the school of one Tyrannus.[10] And this continued by the space of two years; so that all they which dwelled in Asia heard the word of the Lord Jesus, both Jews and Greeks.[11] And God worked special miracles by the hands of Paul:[12] So that from his body were brought to the sick handkerchiefs or aprons, and the diseases departed from them, and the evil spirits went out of them. ¶[13] Then certain of the vagabond Jews, exorcists, took on them to call over them which had evil spirits the name of the LORD Jesus, saying, We adjure you by Jesus whom Paul preaches.[14] And there were seven sons of one Sceva, a Jew, and chief of the priests, which did so.[15] And the evil spirit answered and said, Jesus I know, and Paul I know; but who are you?[16] And the man in whom the evil spirit was leaped on them, and overcame them, and prevailed against them, so that they fled out of that house naked and wounded.[17] And this was known to all the Jews and Greeks also dwelling at Ephesus; and fear fell on them all, and the name of the Lord Jesus was magnified.[18] And many that believed came, and confessed, and showed their deeds.[19] Many of them also which used curious arts brought their books together, and burned them before all men: and they counted the price of them, and found it fifty thousand pieces of silver.[20] So mightily grew the word of God and prevailed. ¶[21] After these things were ended, Paul purposed in the spirit, when he had passed through Macedonia and Achaia, to go to Jerusalem, saying, After I have been there, I must also see Rome.[22] So he sent into Macedonia two of them that ministered to him, Timotheus and Erastus; but he himself stayed in Asia for a season.[23] And the same time there arose no small stir about that way.[24] For a certain man named Demetrius, a silversmith, which made silver shrines for Diana, brought no small gain to the craftsmen;[25] Whom he called together with the workmen of like occupation, and said, Sirs, you know that by this craft we have our wealth.[26] Moreover you see and hear, that not alone at Ephesus, but almost throughout all Asia, this Paul has persuaded and turned away much people, saying that they be no gods, which are made with hands:[27] So that not only this our craft is in danger to be set at nothing; but also that the temple of the great goddess Diana should be despised, and her magnificence should be destroyed, whom all Asia and the world worships.[28] And when they heard these sayings, they were full of wrath, and cried out, saying, Great is Diana of the Ephesians.[29] And the whole city was filled with confusion: and having caught Gaius and Aristarchus, men of Macedonia, Paul's companions in travel, they rushed with one accord into the theatre.[30] And when Paul would have entered in to the people, the disciples suffered him not.[31] And certain of the chief of Asia, which were his friends, sent to him, desiring him that he would not adventure himself into the theatre.[32] Some therefore cried one thing, and some another: for the assembly was confused: and the more part knew not why they were come together.[33] And they drew Alexander out of the multitude, the Jews putting him forward. And Alexander beckoned with the hand, and would have made his defense to the people.[34] But when they knew that he was a Jew, all with one voice about the space of two hours cried out, Great is Diana of the Ephesians.[35] And when the town cleark had appeased the people, he said, You men of Ephesus, what man is there that knows not how that the city of the Ephesians is a worshipper of the great goddess Diana, and of the image which fell down from Jupiter?[36] Seeing then that these things cannot be spoken against, you ought to be quiet, and to do nothing rashly.[37] For you have brought here these men, which are neither robbers of churches, nor yet blasphemers of your goddess.[38] Why if Demetrius, and the craftsmen which are with him, have a matter against any man, the law is open, and there are deputies: let them accuse one another.[39] But if you inquire any thing concerning other matters, it shall be determined in a lawful assembly.[40] For we are in danger to be called in question for this day's uproar, there being no cause whereby we may give an account of this concourse.[41] And when he had thus spoken, he dismissed the assembly.

[1] And after the uproar was ceased, Paul called to him the disciples, and embraced them, and departed for to go into Macedonia.

[2] And when he had gone over those parts, and had given them much exhortation, he came into Greece,[3] And there stayed three months. And when the Jews laid wait for him, as he was about to sail into Syria, he purposed to return through Macedonia.[4] And there accompanied him into Asia Sopater of Berea; and of the Thessalonians, Aristarchus and Secundus; and Gaius of Derbe, and Timotheus; and of Asia, Tychicus and Trophimus.[5] These going before tarried for us at Troas.[6] And we sailed away from Philippi after the days of unleavened bread, and came to them to Troas in five days; where we stayed seven days.[7] And on the first day of the week, when the disciples came together to break bread, Paul preached to them, ready to depart on the morrow; and continued his speech until midnight.[8] And there were many lights in the upper chamber, where they were gathered together.[9] And there sat in a window a certain young man named Eutychus, being fallen into a deep sleep: and as Paul was long preaching, he sunk down with sleep, and fell down from the third loft, and was taken up dead.[10] And Paul went down, and fell on him, and embracing him said, Trouble not yourselves; for his life is in him.[11] When he therefore was come up again, and had broken bread, and eaten, and talked a long while, even till break of day, so he departed.[12] And they brought the young man alive, and were not a little comforted. ¶[13] And we went before to ship, and sailed to Assos, there intending to take in Paul: for so had he appointed, minding himself to go afoot.[14] And when he met with us at Assos, we took him in, and came to Mitylene.[15] And we sailed there, and came the next day over against Chios; and the next day we arrived at Samos, and tarried at Trogyllium; and the next day we came to Miletus.[16] For Paul had determined to sail by Ephesus, because he would not spend the time in Asia: for he hurried, if it were possible for him, to be at Jerusalem the day of Pentecost. ¶[17] And from Miletus he sent to Ephesus, and called the elders of the church.[18] And when they were come to him, he said to them, You know, from the first day that I came into Asia, after what manner I have been with you at all seasons,[19] Serving the LORD with all humility of mind, and with many tears, and temptations, which befell me by the lying in wait of the Jews:[20] And how I kept back nothing that was profitable to you, but have showed you, and have taught you publicly, and from house to house,[21] Testifying both to the Jews, and also to the Greeks, repentance toward God, and faith toward our Lord Jesus Christ.[22] And now, behold, I go bound in the spirit to Jerusalem, not knowing the things that shall befall me there:[23] Save that the Holy Ghost witnesses in every city, saying that bonds and afflictions abide me.[24] But none of these things move me, neither count I my life dear to myself, so that I might finish my course with joy, and the ministry, which I have received of the Lord Jesus, to testify the gospel of the grace of God.[25] And now, behold, I know that you all, among whom I have gone preaching the kingdom of God, shall see my face no more.[26] Why I take you to record this day, that I am pure from the blood of all men.[27] For I have not shunned to declare to you all the counsel of God. ¶[28] Take heed therefore to yourselves, and to all the flock, over the which the Holy Ghost has made you overseers, to feed the church of God, which he has purchased with his own blood.[29] For I know this, that after my departing shall grievous wolves enter in among you, not sparing the flock.[30] Also of your own selves shall men arise, speaking perverse things, to draw away disciples after them.[31] Therefore watch, and remember, that by the space of three years I ceased not to warn every one night and day with tears.[32] And now, brothers, I commend you to God, and to the word of his grace, which is able to build you up, and to give you an inheritance among all them which are sanctified.[33] I have coveted no man's silver, or gold, or apparel.[34] Yes, you yourselves know, that these hands have ministered to my necessities, and to them that were with me.[35] I have showed you all things, how that so laboring you ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, It is more blessed to give than to receive. ¶[36] And when he had thus spoken, he kneeled down, and prayed with them all.[37] And they all wept sore, and fell on Paul's neck, and kissed him,[38] Sorrowing most of all for the words which he spoke, that they should see his face no more. And they accompanied him to the ship.

[1] And it came to pass, that after we were gotten from them, and had launched, we came with a straight course to Coos, and the day following to Rhodes, and from there to Patara:

[2] And finding a ship sailing over to Phenicia, we went aboard, and set forth.[3] Now when we had discovered Cyprus, we left it on the left hand, and sailed into Syria, and landed at Tyre: for there the ship was to unlade her burden.[4] And finding disciples, we tarried there seven days: who said to Paul through the Spirit, that he should not go up to Jerusalem.[5] And when we had accomplished those days, we departed and went our way; and they all brought us on our way, with wives and children, till we were out of the city: and we kneeled down on the shore, and prayed.[6] And when we had taken our leave one of another, we took ship; and they returned home again.[7] And when we had finished our course from Tyre, we came to Ptolemais, and saluted the brothers, and stayed with them one day.[8] And the next day we that were of Paul's company departed, and came to Caesarea: and we entered into the house of Philip the evangelist, which was one of the seven; and stayed with him.[9] And the same man had four daughters, virgins, which did prophesy.[10] And as we tarried there many days, there came down from Judaea a certain prophet, named Agabus.[11] And when he was come to us, he took Paul's girdle, and bound his own hands and feet, and said, Thus says the Holy Ghost, So shall the Jews at Jerusalem bind the man that owns this girdle, and shall deliver him into the hands of the Gentiles.[12] And when we heard these things, both we, and they of that place, sought him not to go up to Jerusalem.[13] Then Paul answered, What mean you to weep and to break my heart? for I am ready not to be bound only, but also to die at Jerusalem for the name of the Lord Jesus.[14] And when he would not be persuaded, we ceased, saying, The will of the Lord be done.[15] And after those days we took up our carriages, and went up to Jerusalem.[16] There went with us also certain of the disciples of Caesarea, and brought with them one Mnason of Cyprus, an old disciple, with whom we should lodge.[17] And when we were come to Jerusalem, the brothers received us gladly.[18] And the day following Paul went in with us to James; and all the elders were present.[19] And when he had saluted them, he declared particularly what things God had worked among the Gentiles by his ministry.[20] And when they heard it, they glorified the Lord, and said to him, You see, brother, how many thousands of Jews there are which believe; and they are all zealous of the law:[21] And they are informed of you, that you teach all the Jews which are among the Gentiles to forsake Moses, saying that they ought not to circumcise their children, neither to walk after the customs.[22] What is it therefore? the multitude must needs come together: for they will hear that you are come.[23] Do therefore this that we say to you: We have four men which have a vow on them;[24] Them take, and purify yourself with them, and be at charges with them, that they may shave their heads: and all may know that those things, whereof they were informed concerning you, are nothing; but that you yourself also walk orderly, and keep the law.[25] As touching the Gentiles which believe, we have written and concluded that they observe no such thing, save only that they keep themselves from things offered to idols, and from blood, and from strangled, and from fornication.[26] Then Paul took the men, and the next day purifying himself with them entered into the temple, to signify the accomplishment of the days of purification, until that an offering should be offered for every one of them.[27] And when the seven days were almost ended, the Jews which were of Asia, when they saw him in the temple, stirred up all the people, and laid hands on him,[28] Crying out, Men of Israel, help: This is the man, that teaches all men every where against the people, and the law, and this place: and further brought Greeks also into the temple, and has polluted this holy place.[29] (For they had seen before with him in the city Trophimus an Ephesian, whom they supposed that Paul had brought into the temple.)[30] And all the city was moved, and the people ran together: and they took Paul, and drew him out of the temple: and immediately the doors were shut.[31] And as they went about to kill him, tidings came to the chief captain of the band, that all Jerusalem was in an uproar.[32] Who immediately took soldiers and centurions, and ran down to them: and when they saw the chief captain and the soldiers, they left beating of Paul.[33] Then the chief captain came near, and took him, and commanded him to be bound with two chains; and demanded who he was, and what he had done.[34] And some cried one thing, some another, among the multitude: and when he could not know the certainty for the tumult, he commanded him to be carried into the castle.[35] And when he came on the stairs, so it was, that he was borne of the soldiers for the violence of the people.[36] For the multitude of the people followed after, crying, Away with him.[37] And as Paul was to be led into the castle, he said to the chief captain, May I speak to you? Who said, Can you speak Greek?[38] Are not you that Egyptian, which before these days made an uproar, and led out into the wilderness four thousand men that were murderers?[39] But Paul said, I am a man which am a Jew of Tarsus, a city in Cilicia, a citizen of no mean city: and, I beseech you, suffer me to speak to the people.[40] And when he had given him license, Paul stood on the stairs, and beckoned with the hand to the people. And when there was made a great silence, he spoke to them in the Hebrew tongue, saying,

[1] Men, brothers, and fathers, hear you my defense which I make now to you.

[2] (And when they heard that he spoke in the Hebrew tongue to them, they kept the more silence: and he says,)[3] I am truly a man which am a Jew, born in Tarsus, a city in Cilicia, yet brought up in this city at the feet of Gamaliel, and taught according to the perfect manner of the law of the fathers, and was zealous toward God, as you all are this day.[4] And I persecuted this way to the death, binding and delivering into prisons both men and women.[5] As also the high priest does bear me witness, and all the estate of the elders: from whom also I received letters to the brothers, and went to Damascus, to bring them which were there bound to Jerusalem, for to be punished.[6] And it came to pass, that, as I made my journey, and was come near to Damascus about noon, suddenly there shone from heaven a great light round about me.[7] And I fell to the ground, and heard a voice saying to me, Saul, Saul, why persecute you me?[8] And I answered, Who are you, Lord? And he said to me, I am Jesus of Nazareth, whom you persecute.[9] And they that were with me saw indeed the light, and were afraid; but they heard not the voice of him that spoke to me.[10] And I said, What shall I do, LORD? And the Lord said to me, Arise, and go into Damascus; and there it shall be told you of all things which are appointed for you to do.[11] And when I could not see for the glory of that light, being led by the hand of them that were with me, I came into Damascus.[12] And one Ananias, a devout man according to the law, having a good report of all the Jews which dwelled there,[13] Came to me, and stood, and said to me, Brother Saul, receive your sight. And the same hour I looked up on him.[14] And he said, The God of our fathers has chosen you, that you should know his will, and see that Just One, and should hear the voice of his mouth.[15] For you shall be his witness to all men of what you have seen and heard.[16] And now why tarry you? arise, and be baptized, and wash away your sins, calling on the name of the Lord.[17] And it came to pass, that, when I was come again to Jerusalem, even while I prayed in the temple, I was in a trance;[18] And saw him saying to me, Make haste, and get you quickly out of Jerusalem: for they will not receive your testimony concerning me.[19] And I said, Lord, they know that I imprisoned and beat in every synagogue them that believed on you:[20] And when the blood of your martyr Stephen was shed, I also was standing by, and consenting to his death, and kept the raiment of them that slew him.[21] And he said to me, Depart: for I will send you far hence to the Gentiles.[22] And they gave him audience to this word, and then lifted up their voices, and said, Away with such a fellow from the earth: for it is not fit that he should live.[23] And as they cried out, and cast off their clothes, and threw dust into the air,[24] The chief captain commanded him to be brought into the castle, and bade that he should be examined by scourging; that he might know why they cried so against him.[25] And as they bound him with thongs, Paul said to the centurion that stood by, Is it lawful for you to whip a man that is a Roman, and uncondemned?[26] When the centurion heard that, he went and told the chief captain, saying, Take heed what you do: for this man is a Roman.[27] Then the chief captain came, and said to him, Tell me, are you a Roman? He said, Yes.[28] And the chief captain answered, With a great sum obtained I this freedom. And Paul said, But I was free born.[29] Then straightway they departed from him which should have examined him: and the chief captain also was afraid, after he knew that he was a Roman, and because he had bound him.[30] On the morrow, because he would have known the certainty why he was accused of the Jews, he loosed him from his bands, and commanded the chief priests and all their council to appear, and brought Paul down, and set him before them.

[1] And Paul, earnestly beholding the council, said, Men and brothers, I have lived in all good conscience before God until this day.

[2] And the high priest Ananias commanded them that stood by him to smite him on the mouth.[3] Then said Paul to him, God shall smite you, you white washed wall: for sit you to judge me after the law, and command me to be smitten contrary to the law?[4] And they that stood by said, Revile you God's high priest?[5] Then said Paul, I knew not, brothers, that he was the high priest: for it is written, You shall not speak evil of the ruler of your people.[6] But when Paul perceived that the one part were Sadducees, and the other Pharisees, he cried out in the council, Men and brothers, I am a Pharisee, the son of a Pharisee: of the hope and resurrection of the dead I am called in question.[7] And when he had so said, there arose a dissension between the Pharisees and the Sadducees: and the multitude was divided.[8] For the Sadducees say that there is no resurrection, neither angel, nor spirit: but the Pharisees confess both.[9] And there arose a great cry: and the scribes that were of the Pharisees' part arose, and strove, saying, We find no evil in this man: but if a spirit or an angel has spoken to him, let us not fight against God.[10] And when there arose a great dissension, the chief captain, fearing lest Paul should have been pulled in pieces of them, commanded the soldiers to go down, and to take him by force from among them, and to bring him into the castle.[11] And the night following the Lord stood by him, and said, Be of good cheer, Paul: for as you have testified of me in Jerusalem, so must you bear witness also at Rome.[12] And when it was day, certain of the Jews banded together, and bound themselves under a curse, saying that they would neither eat nor drink till they had killed Paul.[13] And they were more than forty which had made this conspiracy.[14] And they came to the chief priests and elders, and said, We have bound ourselves under a great curse, that we will eat nothing until we have slain Paul.[15] Now therefore you with the council signify to the chief captain that he bring him down to you to morrow, as though you would inquire something more perfectly concerning him: and we, or ever he come near, are ready to kill him.[16] And when Paul's sister's son heard of their lying in wait, he went and entered into the castle, and told Paul.[17] Then Paul called one of the centurions to him, and said, Bring this young man to the chief captain: for he has a certain thing to tell him.[18] So he took him, and brought him to the chief captain, and said, Paul the prisoner called me to him, and prayed me to bring this young man to you, who has something to say to you.[19] Then the chief captain took him by the hand, and went with him aside privately, and asked him, What is that you have to tell me?[20] And he said, The Jews have agreed to desire you that you would bring down Paul to morrow into the council, as though they would inquire somewhat of him more perfectly.[21] But do not you yield to them: for there lie in wait for him of them more than forty men, which have bound themselves with an oath, that they will neither eat nor drink till they have killed him: and now are they ready, looking for a promise from you.[22] So the chief captain then let the young man depart, and charged him, See you tell no man that you have showed these things to me.[23] And he called to him two centurions, saying, Make ready two hundred soldiers to go to Caesarea, and horsemen three score and ten, and spearmen two hundred, at the third hour of the night;[24] And provide them beasts, that they may set Paul on, and bring him safe to Felix the governor.[25] And he wrote a letter after this manner:[26] Claudius Lysias to the most excellent governor Felix sends greeting.[27] This man was taken of the Jews, and should have been killed of them: then came I with an army, and rescued him, having understood that he was a Roman.[28] And when I would have known the cause why they accused him, I brought him forth into their council:[29] Whom I perceived to be accused of questions of their law, but to have nothing laid to his charge worthy of death or of bonds.[30] And when it was told me how that the Jews laid wait for the man, I sent straightway to you, and gave commandment to his accusers also to say before you what they had against him. Farewell.[31] Then the soldiers, as it was commanded them, took Paul, and brought him by night to Antipatris.[32] On the morrow they left the horsemen to go with him, and returned to the castle:[33] Who, when they came to Caesarea and delivered the letter to the governor, presented Paul also before him.[34] And when the governor had read the letter, he asked of what province he was. And when he understood that he was of Cilicia;[35] I will hear you, said he, when your accusers are also come. And he commanded him to be kept in Herod's judgment hall.

[1] And after five days Ananias the high priest descended with the elders, and with a certain orator named Tertullus, who informed the governor against Paul.

[2] And when he was called forth, Tertullus began to accuse him, saying, Seeing that by you we enjoy great quietness, and that very worthy deeds are done to this nation by your providence,[3] We accept it always, and in all places, most noble Felix, with all thankfulness.[4] Notwithstanding, that I be not further tedious to you, I pray you that you would hear us of your clemency a few words.[5] For we have found this man a pestilent fellow, and a mover of sedition among all the Jews throughout the world, and a ringleader of the sect of the Nazarenes:[6] Who also has gone about to profane the temple: whom we took, and would have judged according to our law.[7] But the chief captain Lysias came on us, and with great violence took him away out of our hands,[8] Commanding his accusers to come to you: by examining of whom yourself may take knowledge of all these things, whereof we accuse him.[9] And the Jews also assented, saying that these things were so.[10] Then Paul, after that the governor had beckoned to him to speak, answered, For as much as I know that you have been of many years a judge to this nation, I do the more cheerfully answer for myself:[11] Because that you may understand, that there are yet but twelve days since I went up to Jerusalem for to worship.[12] And they neither found me in the temple disputing with any man, neither raising up the people, neither in the synagogues, nor in the city:[13] Neither can they prove the things whereof they now accuse me.[14] But this I confess to you, that after the way which they call heresy, so worship I the God of my fathers, believing all things which are written in the law and in the prophets:[15] And have hope toward God, which they themselves also allow, that there shall be a resurrection of the dead, both of the just and unjust.[16] And herein do I exercise myself, to have always a conscience void to offense toward God, and toward men.[17] Now after many years I came to bring alms to my nation, and offerings.[18] Whereupon certain Jews from Asia found me purified in the temple, neither with multitude, nor with tumult.[19] Who ought to have been here before you, and object, if they had something against me.[20] Or else let these same here say, if they have found any evil doing in me, while I stood before the council,[21] Except it be for this one voice, that I cried standing among them, Touching the resurrection of the dead I am called in question by you this day.[22] And when Felix heard these things, having more perfect knowledge of that way, he deferred them, and said, When Lysias the chief captain shall come down, I will know the uttermost of your matter.[23] And he commanded a centurion to keep Paul, and to let him have liberty, and that he should forbid none of his acquaintance to minister or come to him.[24] And after certain days, when Felix came with his wife Drusilla, which was a Jewess, he sent for Paul, and heard him concerning the faith in Christ.[25] And as he reasoned of righteousness, temperance, and judgment to come, Felix trembled, and answered, Go your way for this time; when I have a convenient season, I will call for you.[26] He hoped also that money should have been given him of Paul, that he might loose him: why he sent for him the oftener, and communed with him.[27] But after two years Porcius Festus came into Felix' room: and Felix, willing to show the Jews a pleasure, left Paul bound.

[1] Now when Festus was come into the province, after three days he ascended from Caesarea to Jerusalem.

[2] Then the high priest and the chief of the Jews informed him against Paul, and sought him,[3] And desired favor against him, that he would send for him to Jerusalem, laying wait in the way to kill him.[4] But Festus answered, that Paul should be kept at Caesarea, and that he himself would depart shortly thither.[5] Let them therefore, said he, which among you are able, go down with me, and accuse this man, if there be any wickedness in him.[6] And when he had tarried among them more than ten days, he went down to Caesarea; and the next day sitting on the judgment seat commanded Paul to be brought.[7] And when he was come, the Jews which came down from Jerusalem stood round about, and laid many and grievous complaints against Paul, which they could not prove.[8] While he answered for himself, Neither against the law of the Jews, neither against the temple, nor yet against Caesar, have I offended any thing at all.[9] But Festus, willing to do the Jews a pleasure, answered Paul, and said, Will you go up to Jerusalem, and there be judged of these things before me?[10] Then said Paul, I stand at Caesar's judgment seat, where I ought to be judged: to the Jews have I done no wrong, as you very well know.[11] For if I be an offender, or have committed any thing worthy of death, I refuse not to die: but if there be none of these things whereof these accuse me, no man may deliver me to them. I appeal to Caesar.[12] Then Festus, when he had conferred with the council, answered, Have you appealed to Caesar? to Caesar shall you go.[13] And after certain days king Agrippa and Bernice came to Caesarea to salute Festus.[14] And when they had been there many days, Festus declared Paul's cause to the king, saying, There is a certain man left in bonds by Felix:[15] About whom, when I was at Jerusalem, the chief priests and the elders of the Jews informed me, desiring to have judgment against him.[16] To whom I answered, It is not the manner of the Romans to deliver any man to die, before that he which is accused have the accusers face to face, and have license to answer for himself concerning the crime laid against him.[17] Therefore, when they were come here, without any delay on the morrow I sat on the judgment seat, and commanded the man to be brought forth.[18] Against whom when the accusers stood up, they brought none accusation of such things as I supposed:[19] But had certain questions against him of their own superstition, and of one Jesus, which was dead, whom Paul affirmed to be alive.[20] And because I doubted of such manner of questions, I asked him whether he would go to Jerusalem, and there be judged of these matters.[21] But when Paul had appealed to be reserved to the hearing of Augustus, I commanded him to be kept till I might send him to Caesar.[22] Then Agrippa said to Festus, I would also hear the man myself. To morrow, said he, you shall hear him.[23] And on the morrow, when Agrippa was come, and Bernice, with great pomp, and was entered into the place of hearing, with the chief captains, and principal men of the city, at Festus' commandment Paul was brought forth.[24] And Festus said, King Agrippa, and all men which are here present with us, you see this man, about whom all the multitude of the Jews have dealt with me, both at Jerusalem, and also here, crying that he ought not to live any longer.[25] But when I found that he had committed nothing worthy of death, and that he himself has appealed to Augustus, I have determined to send him.[26] Of whom I have no certain thing to write to my lord. Why I have brought him forth before you, and specially before you, O king Agrippa, that, after examination had, I might have somewhat to write.[27] For it seems to me unreasonable to send a prisoner, and not with to signify the crimes laid against him.

[1] Then Agrippa said to Paul, You are permitted to speak for yourself. Then Paul stretched forth the hand, and answered for himself:

[2] I think myself happy, king Agrippa, because I shall answer for myself this day before you touching all the things whereof I am accused of the Jews:[3] Especially because I know you to be expert in all customs and questions which are among the Jews: why I beseech you to hear me patiently.[4] My manner of life from my youth, which was at the first among my own nation at Jerusalem, know all the Jews;[5] Which knew me from the beginning, if they would testify, that after the most strait sect of our religion I lived a Pharisee.[6] And now I stand and am judged for the hope of the promise made of God, to our fathers:[7] To which promise our twelve tribes, instantly serving God day and night, hope to come. For which hope's sake, king Agrippa, I am accused of the Jews.[8] Why should it be thought a thing incredible with you, that God should raise the dead?[9] I truly thought with myself, that I ought to do many things contrary to the name of Jesus of Nazareth.[10] Which thing I also did in Jerusalem: and many of the saints did I shut up in prison, having received authority from the chief priests; and when they were put to death, I gave my voice against them.[11] And I punished them oft in every synagogue, and compelled them to blaspheme; and being exceedingly mad against them, I persecuted them even to strange cities.[12] Whereupon as I went to Damascus with authority and commission from the chief priests,[13] At midday, O king, I saw in the way a light from heaven, above the brightness of the sun, shining round about me and them which journeyed with me.[14] And when we were all fallen to the earth, I heard a voice speaking to me, and saying in the Hebrew tongue, Saul, Saul, why persecute you me? it is hard for you to kick against the pricks.[15] And I said, Who are you, Lord? And he said, I am Jesus whom you persecute.[16] But rise, and stand on your feet: for I have appeared to you for this purpose, to make you a minister and a witness both of these things which you have seen, and of those things in the which I will appear to you;[17] Delivering you from the people, and from the Gentiles, to whom now I send you,[18] To open their eyes, and to turn them from darkness to light, and from the power of Satan to God, that they may receive forgiveness of sins, and inheritance among them which are sanctified by faith that is in me.[19] Whereupon, O king Agrippa, I was not disobedient to the heavenly vision:[20] But showed first to them of Damascus, and at Jerusalem, and throughout all the coasts of Judaea, and then to the Gentiles, that they should repent and turn to God, and do works meet for repentance.[21] For these causes the Jews caught me in the temple, and went about to kill me.[22] Having therefore obtained help of God, I continue to this day, witnessing both to small and great, saying none other things than those which the prophets and Moses did say should come:[23] That Christ should suffer, and that he should be the first that should rise from the dead, and should show light to the people, and to the Gentiles.[24] And as he thus spoke for himself, Festus said with a loud voice, Paul, you are beside yourself; much learning does make you mad.[25] But he said, I am not mad, most noble Festus; but speak forth the words of truth and soberness.[26] For the king knows of these things, before whom also I speak freely: for I am persuaded that none of these things are hidden from him; for this thing was not done in a corner.[27] King Agrippa, believe you the prophets? I know that you believe.[28] Then Agrippa said to Paul, Almost you persuade me to be a Christian.[29] And Paul said, I would to God, that not only you, but also all that hear me this day, were both almost, and altogether such as I am, except these bonds.[30] And when he had thus spoken, the king rose up, and the governor, and Bernice, and they that sat with them:[31] And when they were gone aside, they talked between themselves, saying, This man does nothing worthy of death or of bonds.[32] Then said Agrippa to Festus, This man might have been set at liberty, if he had not appealed to Caesar.

[1] And when it was determined that we should sail into Italy, they delivered Paul and certain other prisoners to one named Julius, a centurion of Augustus' band.

[2] And entering into a ship of Adramyttium, we launched, meaning to sail by the coasts of Asia; one Aristarchus, a Macedonian of Thessalonica, being with us.[3] And the next day we touched at Sidon. And Julius courteously entreated Paul, and gave him liberty to go to his friends to refresh himself.[4] And when we had launched from there, we sailed under Cyprus, because the winds were contrary.[5] And when we had sailed over the sea of Cilicia and Pamphylia, we came to Myra, a city of Lycia.[6] And there the centurion found a ship of Alexandria sailing into Italy; and he put us therein.[7] And when we had sailed slowly many days, and scarce were come over against Cnidus, the wind not suffering us, we sailed under Crete, over against Salmone;[8] And, hardly passing it, came to a place which is called The fair havens; near to where was the city of Lasea.[9] Now when much time was spent, and when sailing was now dangerous, because the fast was now already past, Paul admonished them,[10] And said to them, Sirs, I perceive that this voyage will be with hurt and much damage, not only of the lading and ship, but also of our lives.[11] Nevertheless the centurion believed the master and the owner of the ship, more than those things which were spoken by Paul.[12] And because the haven was not commodious to winter in, the more part advised to depart there also, if by any means they might attain to Phenice, and there to winter; which is an haven of Crete, and lies toward the south west and north west.[13] And when the south wind blew softly, supposing that they had obtained their purpose, loosing there, they sailed close by Crete.[14] But not long after there arose against it a tempestuous wind, called Euroclydon.[15] And when the ship was caught, and could not bear up into the wind, we let her drive.[16] And running under a certain island which is called Clauda, we had much work to come by the boat:[17] Which when they had taken up, they used helps, under girding the ship; and, fearing lest they should fall into the quicksands, struck sail, and so were driven.[18] And we being exceedingly tossed with a tempest, the next day they lightened the ship;[19] And the third day we cast out with our own hands the tackling of the ship.[20] And when neither sun nor stars in many days appeared, and no small tempest lay on us, all hope that we should be saved was then taken away.[21] But after long abstinence Paul stood forth in the middle of them, and said, Sirs, you should have listened to me, and not have loosed from Crete, and to have gained this harm and loss.[22] And now I exhort you to be of good cheer: for there shall be no loss of any man's life among you, but of the ship.[23] For there stood by me this night the angel of God, whose I am, and whom I serve,[24] Saying, Fear not, Paul; you must be brought before Caesar: and, see, God has given you all them that sail with you.[25] Why, sirs, be of good cheer: for I believe God, that it shall be even as it was told me.[26] However, we must be cast on a certain island.[27] But when the fourteenth night was come, as we were driven up and down in Adria, about midnight the shipmen deemed that they drew near to some country;[28] And sounded, and found it twenty fathoms: and when they had gone a little further, they sounded again, and found it fifteen fathoms.[29] Then fearing lest we should have fallen on rocks, they cast four anchors out of the stern, and wished for the day.[30] And as the shipmen were about to flee out of the ship, when they had let down the boat into the sea, under color as though they would have cast anchors out of the bow,[31] Paul said to the centurion and to the soldiers, Except these abide in the ship, you cannot be saved.[32] Then the soldiers cut off the ropes of the boat, and let her fall off.[33] And while the day was coming on, Paul sought them all to take meat, saying, This day is the fourteenth day that you have tarried and continued fasting, having taken nothing.[34] Why I pray you to take some meat: for this is for your health: for there shall not an hair fall from the head of any of you.[35] And when he had thus spoken, he took bread, and gave thanks to God in presence of them all: and when he had broken it, he began to eat.[36] Then were they all of good cheer, and they also took some meat.[37] And we were in all in the ship two hundred three score and sixteen souls.[38] And when they had eaten enough, they lightened the ship, and cast out the wheat into the sea.[39] And when it was day, they knew not the land: but they discovered a certain creek with a shore, into the which they were minded, if it were possible, to thrust in the ship.[40] And when they had taken up the anchors, they committed themselves to the sea, and loosed the rudder bands, and hoisted up the mainsail to the wind, and made toward shore.[41] And falling into a place where two seas met, they ran the ship aground; and the forepart stuck fast, and remained unmovable, but the hinder part was broken with the violence of the waves.[42] And the soldiers' counsel was to kill the prisoners, lest any of them should swim out, and escape.[43] But the centurion, willing to save Paul, kept them from their purpose; and commanded that they which could swim should cast themselves first into the sea, and get to land:[44] And the rest, some on boards, and some on broken pieces of the ship. And so it came to pass, that they escaped all safe to land.

[1] And when they were escaped, then they knew that the island was called Melita.

[2] And the barbarous people showed us no little kindness: for they kindled a fire, and received us every one, because of the present rain, and because of the cold.[3] And when Paul had gathered a bundle of sticks, and laid them on the fire, there came a viper out of the heat, and fastened on his hand.[4] And when the barbarians saw the venomous beast hang on his hand, they said among themselves, No doubt this man is a murderer, whom, though he has escaped the sea, yet vengeance suffers not to live.[5] And he shook off the beast into the fire, and felt no harm.[6] However, they looked when he should have swollen, or fallen down dead suddenly: but after they had looked a great while, and saw no harm come to him, they changed their minds, and said that he was a god.[7] In the same quarters were possessions of the chief man of the island, whose name was Publius; who received us, and lodged us three days courteously.[8] And it came to pass, that the father of Publius lay sick of a fever and of a bloody flux: to whom Paul entered in, and prayed, and laid his hands on him, and healed him.[9] So when this was done, others also, which had diseases in the island, came, and were healed:[10] Who also honored us with many honors; and when we departed, they laded us with such things as were necessary.[11] And after three months we departed in a ship of Alexandria, which had wintered in the isle, whose sign was Castor and Pollux.[12] And landing at Syracuse, we tarried there three days.[13] And from there we fetched a compass, and came to Rhegium: and after one day the south wind blew, and we came the next day to Puteoli:[14] Where we found brothers, and were desired to tarry with them seven days: and so we went toward Rome.[15] And from there, when the brothers heard of us, they came to meet us as far as Appii forum, and The three taverns: whom when Paul saw, he thanked God, and took courage.[16] And when we came to Rome, the centurion delivered the prisoners to the captain of the guard: but Paul was suffered to dwell by himself with a soldier that kept him.[17] And it came to pass, that after three days Paul called the chief of the Jews together: and when they were come together, he said to them, Men and brothers, though I have committed nothing against the people, or customs of our fathers, yet was I delivered prisoner from Jerusalem into the hands of the Romans.[18] Who, when they had examined me, would have let me go, because there was no cause of death in me.[19] But when the Jews spoke against it, I was constrained to appeal to Caesar; not that I had something to accuse my nation of.[20] For this cause therefore have I called for you, to see you, and to speak with you: because that for the hope of Israel I am bound with this chain.[21] And they said to him, We neither received letters out of Judaea concerning you, neither any of the brothers that came showed or spoke any harm of you.[22] But we desire to hear of you what you think: for as concerning this sect, we know that every where it is spoken against.[23] And when they had appointed him a day, there came many to him into his lodging; to whom he expounded and testified the kingdom of God, persuading them concerning Jesus, both out of the law of Moses, and out of the prophets, from morning till evening.[24] And some believed the things which were spoken, and some believed not.[25] And when they agreed not among themselves, they departed, after that Paul had spoken one word, Well spoke the Holy Ghost by Isaiah the prophet to our fathers,[26] Saying, Go to this people, and say, Hearing you shall hear, and shall not understand; and seeing you shall see, and not perceive:[27] For the heart of this people is waxed gross, and their ears are dull of hearing, and their eyes have they closed; lest they should see with their eyes, and hear with their ears, and understand with their heart, and should be converted, and I should heal them.[28] Be it known therefore to you, that the salvation of God is sent to the Gentiles, and that they will hear it.[29] And when he had said these words, the Jews departed, and had great reasoning among themselves.[30] And Paul dwelled two whole years in his own hired house, and received all that came in to him,[31] Preaching the kingdom of God, and teaching those things which concern the Lord Jesus Christ, with all confidence, no man forbidding him.

An Introduction to the Book of Romans

This epistle was probably written at Corinth. Phoebe (Rom. 16:1) of Cenchrea conveyed it to Rome, and Gaius of Corinth entertained the apostle at the time of his writing it (16:23; 1 Cor. 1:14), and Erastus was chamberlain of the city, i.e., of Corinth (2 Tim. 4:20).

The precise time at which it was written is not mentioned in the epistle, but it was obviously written when the apostle was about to "go unto Jerusalem to minister unto the saints", i.e., at the close of his second visit to Greece, during the winter preceding his last visit to that city (Rom. 15:25; comp. Acts 19:21; 20:2, 3, 16; 1 Cor. 16:1-4), early in A.D. 58.

It is highly probable that Christianity was planted in Rome by some of those who had been at Jerusalem on the day of Pentecost (Acts 2:10). At this time the Jews were very numerous in Rome, and their synagogues were probably resorted to by Romans also, who in this way became acquainted with the great facts regarding Jesus as these were reported among the Jews. Thus a church composed of both Jews and Gentiles was formed at Rome. Many of the brethren went out to meet Paul on his approach to Rome. There are evidences that Christians were then in Rome in considerable numbers, and had probably more than one place of meeting (Rom. 16:14, 15).

The object of the apostle in writing to this church was to explain to them the great doctrines of the gospel. His epistle was a "word in season." Himself deeply impressed with a sense of the value of the doctrines of salvation, he opens up in a clear and connected form the whole system of the gospel in its relation both to Jew and Gentile. This epistle is peculiar in this, that it is a systematic exposition of the gospel of universal application. The subject is here treated argumentatively, and is a plea for Gentiles addressed to Jews. In the Epistle to the Galatians, the same subject is discussed, but there the apostle pleads his own authority, because the church in Galatia had been founded by him.

After the introduction (1:1-15), the apostle presents in it divers aspects and relations the doctrine of justification by faith (1:16-11:36) on the ground of the imputed righteousness of Christ. He shows that salvation is all of grace, and only of grace. This main section of his letter is followed by various practical exhortations (12:1-15:13), which are followed by a conclusion containing personal explanations and salutations, which contain the names of twenty-four Christians at Rome, a benediction, and a doxology (Rom. 15:14-ch. 16).

[1] Paul, a servant of Jesus Christ, called to be an apostle, separated to the gospel of God,

[2] (Which he had promised before by his prophets in the holy scriptures,)[3] Concerning his Son Jesus Christ our Lord, which was made of the seed of David according to the flesh;[4] And declared to be the Son of God with power, according to the spirit of holiness, by the resurrection from the dead:[5] By whom we have received grace and apostleship, for obedience to the faith among all nations, for his name:[6] Among whom are you also the called of Jesus Christ:[7] To all that be in Rome, beloved of God, called to be saints: Grace to you and peace from God our Father, and the Lord Jesus Christ.[8] First, I thank my God through Jesus Christ for you all, that your faith is spoken of throughout the whole world.[9] For God is my witness, whom I serve with my spirit in the gospel of his Son, that without ceasing I make mention of you always in my prayers;[10] Making request, if by any means now at length I might have a prosperous journey by the will of God to come to you.[11] For I long to see you, that I may impart to you some spiritual gift, to the end you may be established;[12] That is, that I may be comforted together with you by the mutual faith both of you and me.[13] Now I would not have you ignorant, brothers, that oftentimes I purposed to come to you, (but was let till now,) that I might have some fruit among you also, even as among other Gentiles.[14] I am debtor both to the Greeks, and to the Barbarians; both to the wise, and to the unwise.[15] So, as much as in me is, I am ready to preach the gospel to you that are at Rome also.[16] For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God to salvation to every one that believes; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek.[17] For therein is the righteousness of God revealed from faith to faith: as it is written, The just shall live by faith.[18] For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men, who hold the truth in unrighteousness;[19] Because that which may be known of God is manifest in them; for God has showed it to them.[20] For the invisible things of him from the creation of the world are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made, even his eternal power and Godhead; so that they are without excuse:[21] Because that, when they knew God, they glorified him not as God, neither were thankful; but became vain in their imaginations, and their foolish heart was darkened.[22] Professing themselves to be wise, they became fools,[23] And changed the glory of the incorruptible God into an image made like to corruptible man, and to birds, and four footed beasts, and creeping things.[24] Why God also gave them up to uncleanness through the lusts of their own hearts, to dishonor their own bodies between themselves:[25] Who changed the truth of God into a lie, and worshipped and served the creature more than the Creator, who is blessed for ever. Amen.[26] For this cause God gave them up to vile affections: for even their women did change the natural use into that which is against nature:[27] And likewise also the men, leaving the natural use of the woman, burned in their lust one toward another; men with men working that which is unseemly, and receiving in themselves that recompense of their error which was meet.[28] And even as they did not like to retain God in their knowledge, God gave them over to a reprobate mind, to do those things which are not convenient;[29] Being filled with all unrighteousness, fornication, wickedness, covetousness, maliciousness; full of envy, murder, debate, deceit, malignity; whisperers,[30] Backbiters, haters of God, despiteful, proud, boasters, inventors of evil things, disobedient to parents,[31] Without understanding, covenant breakers, without natural affection, implacable, unmerciful:[32] Who knowing the judgment of God, that they which commit such things are worthy of death, not only do the same, but have pleasure in them that do them.

[1] Therefore you are inexcusable, O man, whoever you are that judge: for wherein you judge another, you condemn yourself; for you that judge do the same things.

[2] But we are sure that the judgment of God is according to truth against them which commit such things.[3] And think you this, O man, that judge them which do such things, and do the same, that you shall escape the judgment of God?[4] Or despise you the riches of his goodness and forbearance and long-suffering; not knowing that the goodness of God leads you to repentance?[5] But after your hardness and impenitent heart treasure up to yourself wrath against the day of wrath and revelation of the righteous judgment of God;[6] Who will render to every man according to his deeds:[7] To them who by patient continuance in well doing seek for glory and honor and immortality, eternal life:[8] But to them that are contentious, and do not obey the truth, but obey unrighteousness, indignation and wrath,[9] Tribulation and anguish, on every soul of man that does evil, of the Jew first, and also of the Gentile;[10] But glory, honor, and peace, to every man that works good, to the Jew first, and also to the Gentile:[11] For there is no respect of persons with God.[12] For as many as have sinned without law shall also perish without law: and as many as have sinned in the law shall be judged by the law;[13] (For not the hearers of the law are just before God, but the doers of the law shall be justified.[14] For when the Gentiles, which have not the law, do by nature the things contained in the law, these, having not the law, are a law to themselves:[15] Which show the work of the law written in their hearts, their conscience also bearing witness, and their thoughts the mean while accusing or else excusing one another;)[16] In the day when God shall judge the secrets of men by Jesus Christ according to my gospel.[17] Behold, you are called a Jew, and rest in the law, and make your boast of God,[18] And know his will, and approve the things that are more excellent, being instructed out of the law;[19] And are confident that you yourself are a guide of the blind, a light of them which are in darkness,[20] An instructor of the foolish, a teacher of babes, which have the form of knowledge and of the truth in the law.[21] You therefore which teach another, teach you not yourself? you that preach a man should not steal, do you steal?[22] You that say a man should not commit adultery, do you commit adultery? you that abhor idols, do you commit sacrilege?[23] You that make your boast of the law, through breaking the law dishonor you God?[24] For the name of God is blasphemed among the Gentiles through you, as it is written.[25] For circumcision truly profits, if you keep the law: but if you be a breaker of the law, your circumcision is made uncircumcision.[26] Therefore if the uncircumcision keep the righteousness of the law, shall not his uncircumcision be counted for circumcision?[27] And shall not uncircumcision which is by nature, if it fulfill the law, judge you, who by the letter and circumcision do transgress the law?[28] For he is not a Jew, which is one outwardly; neither is that circumcision, which is outward in the flesh:[29] But he is a Jew, which is one inwardly; and circumcision is that of the heart, in the spirit, and not in the letter; whose praise is not of men, but of God.

[1] What advantage then has the Jew? or what profit is there of circumcision?

[2] Much every way: chiefly, because that to them were committed the oracles of God.[3] For what if some did not believe? shall their unbelief make the faith of God without effect?[4] God forbid: yes, let God be true, but every man a liar; as it is written, That you might be justified in your sayings, and might overcome when you are judged.[5] But if our unrighteousness commend the righteousness of God, what shall we say? Is God unrighteous who takes vengeance? (I speak as a man)[6] God forbid: for then how shall God judge the world?[7] For if the truth of God has more abounded through my lie to his glory; why yet am I also judged as a sinner?[8] And not rather, (as we be slanderously reported, and as some affirm that we say,) Let us do evil, that good may come? whose damnation is just.[9] What then? are we better than they? No, in no wise: for we have before proved both Jews and Gentiles, that they are all under sin;[10] As it is written, There is none righteous, no, not one:[11] There is none that understands, there is none that seeks after God.[12] They are all gone out of the way, they are together become unprofitable; there is none that does good, no, not one.[13] Their throat is an open sepulcher; with their tongues they have used deceit; the poison of asps is under their lips:[14] Whose mouth is full of cursing and bitterness:[15] Their feet are swift to shed blood:[16]

Destruction and misery are in their ways:[17] And the way of peace have they not known:[18] There is no fear of God before their eyes.[19] Now we know that what things soever the law said, it says to them who are under the law: that every mouth may be stopped, and all the world may become guilty before God.[20] Therefore by the deeds of the law there shall no flesh be justified in his sight: for by the law is the knowledge of sin.[21] But now the righteousness of God without the law is manifested, being witnessed by the law and the prophets;[22] Even the righteousness of God which is by faith of Jesus Christ to all and on all them that believe: for there is no difference:[23] For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God;[24] Being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus:[25] Whom God has set forth to be a propitiation through faith in his blood, to declare his righteousness for the remission of sins that are past, through the forbearance of God;[26] To declare, I say, at this time his righteousness: that he might be just, and the justifier of him which believes in Jesus.[27] Where is boasting then? It is excluded. By what law? of works? No: but by the law of faith.[28] Therefore we conclude that a man is justified by faith without the deeds of the law.[29] Is he the God of the Jews only? is he not also of the Gentiles? Yes, of the Gentiles also:[30] Seeing it is one God, which shall justify the circumcision by faith, and uncircumcision through faith.[31] Do we then make void the law through faith? God forbid: yes, we establish the law.

[1] What shall we say then that Abraham our father, as pertaining to the flesh, has found?

[2] For if Abraham were justified by works, he has whereof to glory; but not before God.[3] For what says the scripture? Abraham believed God, and it was counted to him for righteousness.[4] Now to him that works is the reward not reckoned of grace, but of debt.[5] But to him that works not, but believes on him that justifies the ungodly, his faith is counted for righteousness.[6] Even as David also describes the blessedness of the man, to whom God imputes righteousness without works,[7] Saying, Blessed are they whose iniquities are forgiven, and whose sins are covered.[8] Blessed is the man to whom the Lord will not impute sin.[9] Comes this blessedness then on the circumcision only, or on the uncircumcision also? for we say that faith was reckoned to Abraham for righteousness.[10] How was it then reckoned? when he was in circumcision, or in uncircumcision? Not in circumcision, but in uncircumcision.[11] And he received the sign of circumcision, a seal of the righteousness of the faith which he had yet being uncircumcised: that he might be the father of all them that believe, though they be not circumcised; that righteousness might be imputed to them also:[12] And the father of circumcision to them who are not of the circumcision only, but who also walk in the steps of that faith of our father Abraham, which he had being yet uncircumcised.[13] For the promise, that he should be the heir of the world, was not to Abraham, or to his seed, through the law, but through the righteousness of faith.[14] For if they which are of the law be heirs, faith is made void, and the promise made of none effect:[15] Because the law works wrath: for where no law is, there is no transgression.[16] Therefore it is of faith, that it might be by grace; to the end the promise might be sure to all the seed; not to that only which is of the law, but to that also which is of the faith of Abraham; who is the father of us all,[17] (As it is written, I have made you a father of many nations,) before him whom he believed, even God, who vivifies the dead, and calls those things which be not as though they were.[18] Who against hope believed in hope, that he might become the father of many nations, according to that which was spoken, So shall your seed be.[19] And being not weak in faith, he considered not his own body now dead, when he was about an hundred years old, neither yet the deadness of Sarah's womb:[20] He staggered not at the promise of God through unbelief; but was strong in faith, giving glory to God;[21] And being fully persuaded that, what he had promised, he was able also to perform.[22] And therefore it was imputed to him for righteousness.[23] Now it was not written for his sake alone, that it was imputed to him;[24] But for us also, to whom it shall be imputed, if we believe on him that raised up Jesus our Lord from the dead;[25] Who was delivered for our offenses, and was raised again for our justification.

[1] Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ:

[2] By whom also we have access by faith into this grace wherein we stand, and rejoice in hope of the glory of God.[3] And not only so, but we glory in tribulations also: knowing that tribulation works patience;[4] And patience, experience; and experience, hope:[5] And hope makes not ashamed; because the love of God is shed abroad in our hearts by the Holy Ghost which is given to us.[6] For when we were yet without strength, in due time Christ died for the ungodly.[7] For scarcely for a righteous man will one die: yet peradventure for a good man some would even dare to die.[8] But God commends his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us.[9] Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him.[10] For if, when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son, much more, being reconciled, we shall be saved by his life.[11] And not only so, but we also joy in God through our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom we have now received the atonement.[12] Why, as by one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin; and so death passed on all men, for that all have sinned:[13] (For until the law sin was in the world: but sin is not imputed when there is no law.[14] Nevertheless death reigned from Adam to Moses, even over them that had not sinned after the similitude of Adam's transgression, who is the figure of him that was to come.[15] But not as the offense, so also is the free gift. For if through the offense of one many be dead, much more the grace of God, and the gift by grace, which is by one man, Jesus Christ, has abounded to many.[16] And not as it was by one that sinned, so is the gift: for the judgment was by one to condemnation, but the free gift is of many offenses to justification.[17] For if by one man's offense death reigned by one; much more they which receive abundance of grace and of the gift of righteousness shall reign in life by one, Jesus Christ.)[18] Therefore as by the offense of one judgment came on all men to condemnation; even so by the righteousness of one the free gift came on all men to justification of life.[19] For as by one man's disobedience many were made sinners, so by the obedience of one shall many be made righteous.[20] Moreover the law entered, that the offense might abound. But where sin abounded, grace did much more abound:[21] That as sin has reigned to death, even so might grace reign through righteousness to eternal life by Jesus Christ our Lord.

[2] God forbid. How shall we, that are dead to sin, live any longer therein?[3] Know you not, that so many of us as were baptized into Jesus Christ were baptized into his death?[4] Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death: that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life.[5] For if we have been planted together in the likeness of his death, we shall be also in the likeness of his resurrection:[6] Knowing this, that our old man is crucified with him, that the body of sin might be destroyed, that from now on we should not serve sin.[7] For he that is dead is freed from sin.[8] Now if we be dead with Christ, we believe that we shall also live with him:[9] Knowing that Christ being raised from the dead dies no more; death has no more dominion over him.[10] For in that he died, he died to sin once: but in that he lives, he lives to God.[11] Likewise reckon you also yourselves to be dead indeed to sin, but alive to God through Jesus Christ our Lord.[12] Let not sin therefore reign in your mortal body, that you should obey it in the lusts thereof.[13] Neither yield you your members as instruments of unrighteousness to sin: but yield yourselves to God, as those that are alive from the dead, and your members as instruments of righteousness to God.[14] For sin shall not have dominion over you: for you are not under the law, but under grace.[15] What then? shall we sin, because we are not under the law, but under grace? God forbid.[16] Know you not, that to whom you yield yourselves servants to obey, his servants you are to whom you obey; whether of sin to death, or of obedience to righteousness?[17] But God be thanked, that you were the servants of sin, but you have obeyed from the heart that form of doctrine which was delivered you.[18] Being then made free from sin, you became the servants of righteousness.[19] I speak after the manner of men because of the infirmity of your flesh: for as you have yielded your members servants to uncleanness and to iniquity to iniquity; even so now yield your members servants to righteousness to holiness.[20] For when you were the servants of sin, you were free from righteousness.[21] What fruit had you then in those things whereof you are now ashamed? for the end of those things is death.[22] But now being made free from sin, and become servants to God, you have your fruit to holiness, and the end everlasting life.[23] For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord.

[1] Know you not, brothers, (for I speak to them that know the law,) how that the law has dominion over a man as long as he lives?

[2] For the woman which has an husband is bound by the law to her husband so long as he lives; but if the husband be dead, she is loosed from the law of her husband.[3] So then if, while her husband lives, she be married to another man, she shall be called an adulteress: but if her husband be dead, she is free from that law; so that she is no adulteress, though she be married to another man.[4] Why, my brothers, you also are become dead to the law by the body of Christ; that you should be married to another, even to him who is raised from the dead, that we should bring forth fruit to God.[5] For when we were in the flesh, the motions of sins, which were by the law, did work in our members to bring forth fruit to death.[6] But now we are delivered from the law, that being dead wherein we were held; that we should serve in newness of spirit, and not in the oldness of the letter.[7] What shall we say then? Is the law sin? God forbid. No, I had not known sin, but by the law: for I had not known lust, except the law had said, You shall not covet.[8] But sin, taking occasion by the commandment, worked in me all manner of concupiscence. For without the law sin was dead.[9] For I was alive without the law once: but when the commandment came, sin revived, and I died.[10] And the commandment, which was ordained to life, I found to be to death.[11] For sin, taking occasion by the commandment, deceived me, and by it slew me.[12] Why the law is holy, and the commandment holy, and just, and good.[13] Was then that which is good made death to me? God forbid. But sin, that it might appear sin, working death in me by that which is good; that sin by the commandment might become exceeding sinful.[14] For we know that the law is spiritual: but I am carnal, sold under sin.[15] For that which I do I allow not: for what I would, that do I not; but what I hate, that do I.[16] If then I do that which I would not, I consent to the law that it is good.[17] Now then it is no more I that do it, but sin that dwells in me.[18] For I know that in me (that is, in my flesh,) dwells no good thing: for to will is present with me; but how to perform that which is good I find not.[19] For the good that I would I do not: but the evil which I would not, that I do.[20] Now if I do that I would not, it is no more I that do it, but sin that dwells in me.[21] I find then a law, that, when I would do good, evil is present with me.[22] For I delight in the law of God after the inward man:[23] But I see another law in my members, warring against the law of my mind, and bringing me into captivity to the law of sin which is in my members.[24] O wretched man that I am! who shall deliver me from the body of this death?[25] I thank God through Jesus Christ our Lord. So then with the mind I myself serve the law of God; but with the flesh the law of sin.

[1] There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit.

[2] For the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus has made me free from the law of sin and death.[3] For what the law could not do, in that it was weak through the flesh, God sending his own Son in the likeness of sinful flesh, and for sin, condemned sin in the flesh:[4] That the righteousness of the law might be fulfilled in us, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit.[5] For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit.[6] For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace.[7] Because the carnal mind is enmity against God: for it is not subject to the law of God, neither indeed can be.[8] So then they that are in the flesh cannot please God.[9] But you are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you. Now if any man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his.[10] And if Christ be in you, the body is dead because of sin; but the Spirit is life because of righteousness.[11] But if the Spirit of him that raised up Jesus from the dead dwell in you, he that raised up Christ from the dead shall also quicken your mortal bodies by his Spirit that dwells in you.[12] Therefore, brothers, we are debtors, not to the flesh, to live after the flesh.[13] For if you live after the flesh, you shall die: but if you through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, you shall live.[14] For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God.[15] For you have not received the spirit of bondage again to fear; but you have received the Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father.[16] The Spirit itself bears witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God:[17] And if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together.[18] For I reckon that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us.[19] For the earnest expectation of the creature waits for the manifestation of the sons of God.[20] For the creature was made subject to vanity, not willingly, but by reason of him who has subjected the same in hope,[21] Because the creature itself also shall be delivered from the bondage of corruption into the glorious liberty of the children of God.[22] For we know that the whole creation groans and travails in pain together until now.[23] And not only they, but ourselves also, which have the first fruits of the Spirit, even we ourselves groan within ourselves, waiting for the adoption, to wit, the redemption of our body.[24] For we are saved by hope: but hope that is seen is not hope: for what a man sees, why does he yet hope for?[25] But if we hope for that we see not, then do we with patience wait for it.[26] Likewise the Spirit also helps our infirmities: for we know not what we should pray for as we should: but the Spirit itself makes intercession for us with groanings which cannot be uttered.[27] And he that searches the hearts knows what is the mind of the Spirit, because he makes intercession for the saints according to the will of God.[28] And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his purpose.[29] For whom he did foreknow, he also did predestinate to be conformed to the image of his Son, that he might be the firstborn among many brothers.[30] Moreover whom he did predestinate, them he also called: and whom he called, them he also justified: and whom he justified, them he also glorified.[31] What shall we then say to these things? If God be for us, who can be against us?[32] He that spared not his own Son, but delivered him up for us all, how shall he not with him also freely give us all things?[33] Who shall lay any thing to the charge of God's elect? It is God that justifies.[34] Who is he that condemns? It is Christ that died, yes rather, that is risen again, who is even at the right hand of God, who also makes intercession for us.[35] Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? shall tribulation, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril, or sword?[36] As it is written, For your sake we are killed all the day long; we are accounted as sheep for the slaughter.[37] No, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him that loved us.[38] For I am persuaded, that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come,[39] Nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord.

[2] That I have great heaviness and continual sorrow in my heart.[3] For I could wish that myself were accursed from Christ for my brothers, my kinsmen according to the flesh:[4] Who are Israelites; to whom pertains the adoption, and the glory, and the covenants, and the giving of the law, and the service of God, and the promises;[5] Whose are the fathers, and of whom as concerning the flesh Christ came, who is over all, God blessed for ever. Amen.[6] Not as though the word of God has taken none effect. For they are not all Israel, which are of Israel:[7] Neither, because they are the seed of Abraham, are they all children: but, In Isaac shall your seed be called.[8] That is, They which are the children of the flesh, these are not the children of God: but the children of the promise are counted for the seed.[9] For this is the word of promise, At this time will I come, and Sarah shall have a son.[10] And not only this; but when Rebecca also had conceived by one, even by our father Isaac;[11] (For the children being not yet born, neither having done any good or evil, that the purpose of God according to election might stand, not of works, but of him that calls;)[12] It was said to her, The elder shall serve the younger.[13] As it is written, Jacob have I loved, but Esau have I hated.[14] What shall we say then? Is there unrighteousness with God? God forbid.[15] For he says to Moses, I will have mercy on whom I will have mercy, and I will have compassion on whom I will have compassion.[16] So then it is not of him that wills, nor of him that runs, but of God that shows mercy.[17] For the scripture says to Pharaoh, Even for this same purpose have I raised you up, that I might show my power in you, and that my name might be declared throughout all the earth.[18] Therefore has he mercy on whom he will have mercy, and whom he will he hardens.[19] You will say then to me, Why does he yet find fault? For who has resisted his will?[20] No but, O man, who are you that reply against God? Shall the thing formed say to him that formed it, Why have you made me thus?[21] Has not the potter power over the clay, of the same lump to make one vessel to honor, and another to dishonor?[22] What if God, willing to show his wrath, and to make his power known, endured with much long-suffering the vessels of wrath fitted to destruction:[23] And that he might make known the riches of his glory on the vessels of mercy, which he had before prepared to glory,[24] Even us, whom he has called, not of the Jews only, but also of the Gentiles?[25] As he says also in Hosea, I will call them my people, which were not my people; and her beloved, which was not beloved.[26] And it shall come to pass, that in the place where it was said to them, You are not my people; there shall they be called the children of the living God.[27] Isaiah also cries concerning Israel, Though the number of the children of Israel be as the sand of the sea, a remnant shall be saved:[28] For he will finish the work, and cut it short in righteousness: because a short work will the Lord make on the earth.[29] And as Isaiah said before, Except the Lord of Sabaoth had left us a seed, we had been as Sodoma, and been made like to Gomorrha.[30] What shall we say then? That the Gentiles, which followed not after righteousness, have attained to righteousness, even the righteousness which is of faith.[31] But Israel, which followed after the law of righteousness, has not attained to the law of righteousness.[32] Why? Because they sought it not by faith, but as it were by the works of the law. For they stumbled at that stumbling stone;[33] As it is written, Behold, I lay in Sion a stumbling stone and rock of offense: and whoever believes on him shall not be ashamed.

[1] Brothers, my heart's desire and prayer to God for Israel is, that they might be saved.

[2] For I bear them record that they have a zeal of God, but not according to knowledge.[3] For they being ignorant of God's righteousness, and going about to establish their own righteousness, have not submitted themselves to the righteousness of God.[4] For Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to every one that believes.[5] For Moses describes the righteousness which is of the law, That the man which does those things shall live by them.[6] But the righteousness which is of faith speaks on this wise, Say not in your heart, Who shall ascend into heaven? (that is, to bring Christ down from above:)[7] Or, Who shall descend into the deep? (that is, to bring up Christ again from the dead.)[8] But what says it? The word is near you, even in your mouth, and in your heart: that is, the word of faith, which we preach;[9] That if you shall confess with your mouth the Lord Jesus, and shall believe in your heart that God has raised him from the dead, you shall be saved.[10] For with the heart man believes to righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made to salvation.[11] For the scripture says, Whoever believes on him shall not be ashamed.[12] For there is no difference between the Jew and the Greek: for the same Lord over all is rich to all that call on him.[13] For whoever shall call on the name of the Lord shall be saved.[14] How then shall they call on him in whom they have not believed? and how shall they believe in him of whom they have not heard? and how shall they hear without a preacher?[15] And how shall they preach, except they be sent? as it is written, How beautiful are the feet of them that preach the gospel of peace, and bring glad tidings of good things![16] But they have not all obeyed the gospel. For Isaiah says, Lord, who has believed our report?[17] So then faith comes by hearing, and hearing by the word of God.[18] But I say, Have they not heard? Yes truly, their sound went into all the earth, and their words to the ends of the world.[19] But I say, Did not Israel know? First Moses says, I will provoke you to jealousy by them that are no people, and by a foolish nation I will anger you.[20] But Isaiah is very bold, and said, I was found of them that sought me not; I was made manifest to them that asked not after me.[21] But to Israel he says, All day long I have stretched forth my hands to a disobedient and gainsaying people.

[1] I say then, Has God cast away his people? God forbid. For I also am an Israelite, of the seed of Abraham, of the tribe of Benjamin.

[2] God has not cast away his people which he foreknew. Know you not what the scripture says of Elijah? how he makes intercession to God against Israel saying,[3] Lord, they have killed your prophets, and dig down your altars; and I am left alone, and they seek my life.[4] But what says the answer of God to him? I have reserved to myself seven thousand men, who have not bowed the knee to the image of Baal.[5] Even so then at this present time also there is a remnant according to the election of grace.[6] And if by grace, then is it no more of works: otherwise grace is no more grace. But if it be of works, then it is no more grace: otherwise work is no more work.[7] What then? Israel has not obtained that which he seeks for; but the election has obtained it, and the rest were blinded.[8] (According as it is written, God has given them the spirit of slumber, eyes that they should not see, and ears that they should not hear;) to this day.[9] And David says, Let their table be made a snare, and a trap, and a stumbling block, and a recompense to them:[10] Let their eyes be darkened, that they may not see, and bow down their back always.[11] I say then, Have they stumbled that they should fall? God forbid: but rather through their fall salvation is come to the Gentiles, for to provoke them to jealousy.[12] Now if the fall of them be the riches of the world, and the diminishing of them the riches of the Gentiles; how much more their fullness?[13] For I speak to you Gentiles, inasmuch as I am the apostle of the Gentiles, I magnify my office:[14] If by any means I may provoke to emulation them which are my flesh, and might save some of them.[15] For if the casting away of them be the reconciling of the world, what shall the receiving of them be, but life from the dead?[16] For if the first fruit be holy, the lump is also holy: and if the root be holy, so are the branches.[17] And if some of the branches be broken off, and you, being a wild olive tree, were grafted in among them, and with them partake of the root and fatness of the olive tree;[18] Boast not against the branches. But if you boast, you bore not the root, but the root you.[19] You will say then, The branches were broken off, that I might be grafted in.[20] Well; because of unbelief they were broken off, and you stand by faith. Be not high minded, but fear:[21] For if God spared not the natural branches, take heed lest he also spare not you.[22] Behold therefore the goodness and severity of God: on them which fell, severity; but toward you, goodness, if you continue in his goodness: otherwise you also shall be cut off.[23] And they also, if they abide not still in unbelief, shall be grafted in: for God is able to graft them in again.[24] For if you were cut out of the olive tree which is wild by nature, and were grafted contrary to nature into a good olive tree: how much more shall these, which be the natural branches, be grafted into their own olive tree?[25] For I would not, brothers, that you should be ignorant of this mystery, lest you should be wise in your own conceits; that blindness in part is happened to Israel, until the fullness of the Gentiles be come in.[26] And so all Israel shall be saved: as it is written, There shall come out of Sion the Deliverer, and shall turn away ungodliness from Jacob:[27] For this is my covenant to them, when I shall take away their sins.[28] As concerning the gospel, they are enemies for your sakes: but as touching the election, they are beloved for the father's sakes.[29] For the gifts and calling of God are without repentance.[30] For as you in times past have not believed God, yet have now obtained mercy through their unbelief:[31] Even so have these also now not believed, that through your mercy they also may obtain mercy.[32] For God has concluded them all in unbelief, that he might have mercy on all.[33] O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out![34] For who has known the mind of the Lord? or who has been his counselor?[35] Or who has first given to him, and it shall be recompensed to him again?[36] For of him, and through him, and to him, are all things: to whom be glory for ever. Amen.

[1] I beseech you therefore, brothers, by the mercies of God, that you present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable to God, which is your reasonable service.

[2] And be not conformed to this world: but be you transformed by the renewing of your mind, that you may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God.[3] For I say, through the grace given to me, to every man that is among you, not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think; but to think soberly, according as God has dealt to every man the measure of faith.[4] For as we have many members in one body, and all members have not the same office:[5] So we, being many, are one body in Christ, and every one members one of another.[6] Having then gifts differing according to the grace that is given to us, whether prophecy, let us prophesy according to the proportion of faith;[7] Or ministry, let us wait on our ministering: or he that teaches, on teaching;[8] Or he that exhorts, on exhortation: he that gives, let him do it with simplicity; he that rules, with diligence; he that shows mercy, with cheerfulness.[9] Let love be without dissimulation. Abhor that which is evil; hold to that which is good.[10] Be kindly affectionate one to another with brotherly love; in honor preferring one another;[11] Not slothful in business; fervent in spirit; serving the Lord;[12] Rejoicing in hope; patient in tribulation; continuing instant in prayer;[13] Distributing to the necessity of saints; given to hospitality.[14] Bless them which persecute you: bless, and curse not.[15] Rejoice with them that do rejoice, and weep with them that weep.[16] Be of the same mind one toward another. Mind not high things, but condescend to men of low estate. Be not wise in your own conceits.[17] Recompense to no man evil for evil. Provide things honest in the sight of all men.[18] If it be possible, as much as lies in you, live peaceably with all men.[19] Dearly beloved, avenge not yourselves, but rather give place to wrath: for it is written, Vengeance is mine; I will repay, says the Lord.[20] Therefore if your enemy hunger, feed him; if he thirst, give him drink: for in so doing you shall heap coals of fire on his head.[21] Be not overcome of evil, but overcome evil with good.

[1] Let every soul be subject to the higher powers. For there is no power but of God: the powers that be are ordained of God.

[2] Whoever therefore resists the power, resists the ordinance of God: and they that resist shall receive to themselves damnation.[3] For rulers are not a terror to good works, but to the evil. Will you then not be afraid of the power? do that which is good, and you shall have praise of the same:[4] For he is the minister of God to you for good. But if you do that which is evil, be afraid; for he bears not the sword in vain: for he is the minister of God, a revenger to execute wrath on him that does evil.[5] Why you must needs be subject, not only for wrath, but also for conscience sake.[6] For for this cause pay you tribute also: for they are God's ministers, attending continually on this very thing.[7] Render therefore to all their dues: tribute to whom tribute is due; custom to whom custom; fear to whom fear; honor to whom honor.[8] Owe no man any thing, but to love one another: for he that loves another has fulfilled the law.[9] For this,

You shall not commit adultery, You shall not kill, You shall not steal, You shall not bear false witness, You shall not covet; and if there be any other commandment, it is briefly comprehended in this saying, namely, You shall love your neighbor as yourself.[10] Love works no ill to his neighbor: therefore love is the fulfilling of the law.[11] And that, knowing the time, that now it is high time to awake out of sleep: for now is our salvation nearer than when we believed.[12] The night is far spent, the day is at hand: let us therefore cast off the works of darkness, and let us put on the armor of light.[13] Let us walk honestly, as in the day; not in rioting and drunkenness, not in chambering and wantonness, not in strife and envying.[14] But put you on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make not provision for the flesh, to fulfill the lusts thereof.

[1] Him that is weak in the faith receive you, but not to doubtful disputations.

[2] For one believes that he may eat all things: another, who is weak, eats herbs.[3] Let not him that eats despise him that eats not; and let not him which eats not judge him that eats: for God has received him.[4] Who are you that judge another man's servant? to his own master he stands or falls. Yes, he shall be held up: for God is able to make him stand.[5] One man esteems one day above another: another esteems every day alike. Let every man be fully persuaded in his own mind.[6] He that regards the day, regards it to the Lord; and he that regards not the day, to the Lord he does not regard it. He that eats, eats to the Lord, for he gives God thanks; and he that eats not, to the Lord he eats not, and gives God thanks.[7] For none of us lives to himself, and no man dies to himself.[8] For whether we live, we live to the Lord; and whether we die, we die to the Lord: whether we live therefore, or die, we are the Lord's.[9] For to this end Christ both died, and rose, and revived, that he might be Lord both of the dead and living.[10] But why do you judge your brother? or why do you set at nothing your brother? for we shall all stand before the judgment seat of Christ.[11] For it is written, As I live, says the Lord, every knee shall bow to me, and every tongue shall confess to God.[12] So then every one of us shall give account of himself to God.[13] Let us not therefore judge one another any more: but judge this rather, that no man put a stumbling block or an occasion to fall in his brother's way.[14] I know, and am persuaded by the Lord Jesus, that there is nothing unclean of itself: but to him that esteems any thing to be unclean, to him it is unclean.[15] But if your brother be grieved with your meat, now walk you not charitably. Destroy not him with your meat, for whom Christ died.[16] Let not then your good be evil spoken of:[17] For the kingdom of God is not meat and drink; but righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost.[18] For he that in these things serves Christ is acceptable to God, and approved of men.[19] Let us therefore follow after the things which make for peace, and things with which one may edify another.[20] For meat destroy not the work of God. All things indeed are pure; but it is evil for that man who eats with offense.[21] It is good neither to eat flesh, nor to drink wine, nor any thing whereby your brother stumbles, or is offended, or is made weak.[22] Have you faith? have it to yourself before God. Happy is he that condemns not himself in that thing which he allows.[23] And he that doubts is damned if he eat, because he eats not of faith: for whatever is not of faith is sin.

[1] We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves.

[2] Let every one of us please his neighbor for his good to edification.[3] For even Christ pleased not himself; but, as it is written, The reproaches of them that reproached you fell on me.[4] For whatever things were written aforetime were written for our learning, that we through patience and comfort of the scriptures might have hope.[5] Now the God of patience and consolation grant you to be like minded one toward another according to Christ Jesus:[6] That you may with one mind and one mouth glorify God, even the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ.[7] Why receive you one another, as Christ also received us to the glory of God.[8] Now I say that Jesus Christ was a minister of the circumcision for the truth of God, to confirm the promises made to the fathers:[9] And that the Gentiles might glorify God for his mercy; as it is written, For this cause I will confess to you among the Gentiles, and sing to your name.[10] And again he says, Rejoice, you Gentiles, with his people.[11] And again, Praise the Lord, all you Gentiles; and laud him, all you people.[12] And again, Isaiah says, There shall be a root of Jesse, and he that shall rise to reign over the Gentiles; in him shall the Gentiles trust.[13] Now the God of hope fill you with all joy and peace in believing, that you may abound in hope, through the power of the Holy Ghost.[14] And I myself also am persuaded of you, my brothers, that you also are full of goodness, filled with all knowledge, able also to admonish one another.[15] Nevertheless, brothers, I have written the more boldly to you in some sort, as putting you in mind, because of the grace that is given to me of God,[16] That I should be the minister of Jesus Christ to the Gentiles, ministering the gospel of God, that the offering up of the Gentiles might be acceptable, being sanctified by the Holy Ghost.[17] I have therefore whereof I may glory through Jesus Christ in those things which pertain to God.[18] For I will not dare to speak of any of those things which Christ has not worked by me, to make the Gentiles obedient, by word and deed,[19] Through mighty signs and wonders, by the power of the Spirit of God; so that from Jerusalem, and round about to Illyricum, I have fully preached the gospel of Christ.[20] Yes, so have I strived to preach the gospel, not where Christ was named, lest I should build on another man's foundation:[21] But as it is written, To whom he was not spoken of, they shall see: and they that have not heard shall understand.[22] For which cause also I have been much hindered from coming to you.[23] But now having no more place in these parts, and having a great desire these many years to come to you;[24] Whenever I take my journey into Spain, I will come to you: for I trust to see you in my journey, and to be brought on my way thitherward by you, if first I be somewhat filled with your company.[25] But now I go to Jerusalem to minister to the saints.[26] For it has pleased them of Macedonia and Achaia to make a certain contribution for the poor saints which are at Jerusalem.[27] It has pleased them truly; and their debtors they are. For if the Gentiles have been made partakers of their spiritual things, their duty is also to minister to them in carnal things.[28] When therefore I have performed this, and have sealed to them this fruit, I will come by you into Spain.[29] And I am sure that, when I come to you, I shall come in the fullness of the blessing of the gospel of Christ.[30] Now I beseech you, brothers, for the Lord Jesus Christ's sake, and for the love of the Spirit, that you strive together with me in your prayers to God for me;[31] That I may be delivered from them that do not believe in Judaea; and that my service which I have for Jerusalem may be accepted of the saints;[32] That I may come to you with joy by the will of God, and may with you be refreshed.[33] Now the God of peace be with you all. Amen.

[1] I commend to you Phebe our sister, which is a servant of the church which is at Cenchrea:

[2] That you receive her in the Lord, as becomes saints, and that you assist her in whatever business she has need of you: for she has been a succorer of many, and of myself also.[3] Greet Priscilla and Aquila my helpers in Christ Jesus:[4] Who have for my life laid down their own necks: to whom not only I give thanks, but also all the churches of the Gentiles.[5] Likewise greet the church that is in their house. Salute my well-beloved Epaenetus, who is the first fruits of Achaia to Christ.[6] Greet Mary, who bestowed much labor on us.[7] Salute Andronicus and Junia, my kinsmen, and my fellow-prisoners, who are of note among the apostles, who also were in Christ before me.[8] Greet Amplias my beloved in the Lord.[9] Salute Urbane, our helper in Christ, and Stachys my beloved.[10] Salute Apelles approved in Christ. Salute them which are of Aristobulus' household.[11] Salute Herodion my kinsman. Greet them that be of the household of Narcissus, which are in the Lord.[12] Salute Tryphena and Tryphosa, who labor in the Lord. Salute the beloved Persis, which labored much in the Lord.[13] Salute Rufus chosen in the Lord, and his mother and mine.[14] Salute Asyncritus, Phlegon, Hermas, Patrobas, Hermes, and the brothers which are with them.[15] Salute Philologus, and Julia, Nereus, and his sister, and Olympas, and all the saints which are with them.[16]

Salute one another with an holy kiss. The churches of Christ salute you.[17] Now I beseech you, brothers, mark them which cause divisions and offenses contrary to the doctrine which you have learned; and avoid them.[18] For they that are such serve not our Lord Jesus Christ, but their own belly; and by good words and fair speeches deceive the hearts of the simple.[19] For your obedience is come abroad to all men. I am glad therefore on your behalf: but yet I would have you wise to that which is good, and simple concerning evil.[20] And the God of peace shall bruise Satan under your feet shortly. The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you. Amen.[21] Timotheus my workfellow, and Lucius, and Jason, and Sosipater, my kinsmen, salute you.[22] I Tertius, who wrote this letter, salute you in the Lord.[23] Gaius my host, and of the whole church, salutes you. Erastus the chamberlain of the city salutes you, and Quartus a brother.[24] The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all. Amen.[25] Now to him that is of power to establish you according to my gospel, and the preaching of Jesus Christ, according to the revelation of the mystery, which was kept secret since the world began,[26] But now is made manifest, and by the scriptures of the prophets, according to the commandment of the everlasting God, made known to all nations for the obedience of faith:[27] To God only wise, be glory through Jesus Christ for ever. Amen.

An Introduction to the Book of 1 Corinthians

Was written from Ephesus (1 Cor. 16:8) about the time of the Passover in the third year of the apostle's sojourn there (Acts 19:10; 20:31), and when he had formed the purpose to visit Macedonia, and then return to Corinth (probably A.D. 57).

The news which had reached him, however, from Corinth frustrated his plan. He had heard of the abuses and contentions that had arisen among them, first from Apollos (Acts 19:1), and then from a letter they had written him on the subject, and also from some of the "household of Chloe," and from Stephanas and his two friends who had visited him (1 Cor. 1:11; 16:17). Paul thereupon wrote this letter, for the purpose of checking the factious spirit and correcting the erroneous opinions that had sprung up among them, and remedying the many abuses and disorderly practices that prevailed. Titus and a brother whose name is not given were probably the bearers of the letter (2 Cor. 2:13; 8:6, 16-18).

The epistle may be divided into four parts:

(1.) The apostle deals with the subject of the lamentable divisions and party strifes that had arisen among them (1 Cor. 1-4).

(2.) He next treats of certain cases of immorality that had become notorious among them. They had apparently set at nought the very first principles of morality (5; 6).

(3.) In the third part he discusses various questions of doctrine and of Christian ethics in reply to certain communications they had made to him. He especially rectifies certain flagrant abuses regarding the celebration of the Lord's supper (7-14).

(4.) The concluding part (15; 16) contains an elaborate defense of the doctrine of the resurrection of the dead, which had been called in question by some among them, followed by some general instructions, intimations, and greetings.

This epistle "shows the powerful self-control of the apostle in spite of his physical weakness, his distressed circumstances, his incessant troubles, and his emotional nature. It was written, he tells us, in bitter anguish, 'out of much affliction and pressure of heart...and with streaming eyes' (2 Cor. 2:4); yet he restrained the expression of his feelings, and wrote with a dignity and holy calm which he thought most calculated to win back his erring children. It gives a vivid picture of the early church...It entirely dissipates the dream that the apostolic church was in an exceptional condition of holiness of life or purity of doctrine." The apostle in this epistle unfolds and applies great principles fitted to guide the church of all ages in dealing with the same and kindred evils in whatever form they may appear.

This is one of the epistles the authenticity of which has never been called in question by critics of any school, so many and so conclusive are the evidences of its Pauline origin.

The subscription to this epistle states erroneously in the Authorized Version that it was written at Philippi. This error arose from a mistranslation of 1 Cor. 16:5, "For I do pass through Macedonia," which was interpreted as meaning, "I am passing through Macedonia." In 16:8 he declares his intention of remaining some time longer in Ephesus. After that, his purpose is to "pass through Macedonia."

[1] Paul called to be an apostle of Jesus Christ through the will of God, and Sosthenes our brother,

[2] To the church of God which is at Corinth, to them that are sanctified in Christ Jesus, called to be saints, with all that in every place call on the name of Jesus Christ our Lord, both theirs and ours:[3] Grace be to you, and peace, from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.[4] I thank my God always on your behalf, for the grace of God which is given you by Jesus Christ;[5] That in every thing you are enriched by him, in all utterance, and in all knowledge;[6] Even as the testimony of Christ was confirmed in you:[7] So that you come behind in no gift; waiting for the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ:[8] Who shall also confirm you to the end, that you may be blameless in the day of our Lord Jesus Christ.[9] God is faithful, by whom you were called to the fellowship of his Son Jesus Christ our Lord.[10] Now I beseech you, brothers, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that you all speak the same thing, and that there be no divisions among you; but that you be perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgment.[11] For it has been declared to me of you, my brothers, by them which are of the house of Chloe, that there are contentions among you.[12] Now this I say, that every one of you says, I am of Paul; and I of Apollos; and I of Cephas; and I of Christ.[13] Is Christ divided? was Paul crucified for you? or were you baptized in the name of Paul?[14] I thank God that I baptized none of you, but Crispus and Gaius;[15] Lest any should say that I had baptized in my own name.[16] And I baptized also the household of Stephanas: besides, I know not whether I baptized any other.[17] For Christ sent me not to baptize, but to preach the gospel: not with wisdom of words, lest the cross of Christ should be made of none effect.[18] For the preaching of the cross is to them that perish foolishness; but to us which are saved it is the power of God.[19] For it is written, I will destroy the wisdom of the wise, and will bring to nothing the understanding of the prudent.[20] Where is the wise? where is the scribe? where is the disputer of this world? has not God made foolish the wisdom of this world?[21] For after that in the wisdom of God the world by wisdom knew not God, it pleased God by the foolishness of preaching to save them that believe.[22] For the Jews require a sign, and the Greeks seek after wisdom:[23] But we preach Christ crucified, to the Jews a stumbling block, and to the Greeks foolishness;[24] But to them which are called, both Jews and Greeks, Christ the power of God, and the wisdom of God.[25] Because the foolishness of God is wiser than men; and the weakness of God is stronger than men.[26] For you see your calling, brothers, how that not many wise men after the flesh, not many mighty, not many noble, are called:[27] But God has chosen the foolish things of the world to confound the wise; and God has chosen the weak things of the world to confound the things which are mighty;[28] And base things of the world, and things which are despised, has God chosen, yes, and things which are not, to bring to nothing things that are:[29] That no flesh should glory in his presence.[30] But of him are you in Christ Jesus, who of God is made to us wisdom, and righteousness, and sanctification, and redemption:[31] That, according as it is written, He that glories, let him glory in the Lord.

[1] And I, brothers, when I came to you, came not with excellency of speech or of wisdom, declaring to you the testimony of God.

[2] For I determined not to know any thing among you, save Jesus Christ, and him crucified.[3] And I was with you in weakness, and in fear, and in much trembling.[4] And my speech and my preaching was not with enticing words of man's wisdom, but in demonstration of the Spirit and of power:[5] That your faith should not stand in the wisdom of men, but in the power of God.[6] However, we speak wisdom among them that are perfect: yet not the wisdom of this world, nor of the princes of this world, that come to nothing:[7] But we speak the wisdom of God in a mystery, even the hidden wisdom, which God ordained before the world to our glory:[8] Which none of the princes of this world knew: for had they known it, they would not have crucified the Lord of glory.[9] But as it is written, Eye has not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God has prepared for them that love him.[10] But God has revealed them to us by his Spirit: for the Spirit searches all things, yes, the deep things of God.[11] For what man knows the things of a man, save the spirit of man which is in him? even so the things of God knows no man, but the Spirit of God.[12] Now we have received, not the spirit of the world, but the spirit which is of God; that we might know the things that are freely given to us of God.[13] Which things also we speak, not in the words which man's wisdom teaches, but which the Holy Ghost teaches; comparing spiritual things with spiritual.[14] But the natural man receives not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishness to him: neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned.[15] But he that is spiritual judges all things, yet he himself is judged of no man.[16] For who has known the mind of the Lord, that he may instruct him? But we have the mind of Christ.

[1] And I, brothers, could not speak to you as to spiritual, but as to carnal, even as to babes in Christ.

[2] I have fed you with milk, and not with meat: for till now you were not able to bear it, neither yet now are you able.[3] For you are yet carnal: for whereas there is among you envying, and strife, and divisions, are you not carnal, and walk as men?[4] For while one says, I am of Paul; and another, I am of Apollos; are you not carnal?[5] Who then is Paul, and who is Apollos, but ministers by whom you believed, even as the Lord gave to every man?[6] I have planted, Apollos watered; but God gave the increase.[7] So then neither is he that plants any thing, neither he that waters; but God that gives the increase.[8] Now he that plants and he that waters are one: and every man shall receive his own reward according to his own labor.[9] For we are laborers together with God: you are God's husbandry, you are God's building.[10] According to the grace of God which is given to me, as a wise master builder, I have laid the foundation, and another builds thereon. But let every man take heed how he builds thereupon.[11] For other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ.[12] Now if any man build on this foundation gold, silver, precious stones, wood, hay, stubble;[13] Every man's work shall be made manifest: for the day shall declare it, because it shall be revealed by fire; and the fire shall try every man's work of what sort it is.[14] If any man's work abide which he has built thereupon, he shall receive a reward.[15] If any man's work shall be burned, he shall suffer loss: but he himself shall be saved; yet so as by fire.[16] Know you not that you are the temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwells in you?[17] If any man defile the temple of God, him shall God destroy; for the temple of God is holy, which temple you are.[18] Let no man deceive himself. If any man among you seems to be wise in this world, let him become a fool, that he may be wise.[19] For the wisdom of this world is foolishness with God. For it is written, He takes the wise in their own craftiness.[20] And again, The Lord knows the thoughts of the wise, that they are vain.[21] Therefore let no man glory in men. For all things are yours;[22] Whether Paul, or Apollos, or Cephas, or the world, or life, or death, or things present, or things to come; all are yours;[23] And you are Christ's; and Christ is God's.

[1] Let a man so account of us, as of the ministers of Christ, and stewards of the mysteries of God.

[2] Moreover it is required in stewards, that a man be found faithful.[3] But with me it is a very small thing that I should be judged of you, or of man's judgment: yes, I judge not my own self.[4] For I know nothing by myself; yet am I not hereby justified: but he that judges me is the Lord.[5] Therefore judge nothing before the time, until the Lord come, who both will bring to light the hidden things of darkness, and will make manifest the counsels of the hearts: and then shall every man have praise of God.[6] And these things, brothers, I have in a figure transferred to myself and to Apollos for your sakes; that you might learn in us not to think of men above that which is written, that no one of you be puffed up for one against another.[7] For who makes you to differ from another? and what have you that you did not receive? now if you did receive it, why do you glory, as if you had not received it?[8] Now you are full, now you are rich, you have reigned as kings without us: and I would to God you did reign, that we also might reign with you.[9] For I think that God has set forth us the apostles last, as it were appointed to death: for we are made a spectacle to the world, and to angels, and to men.[10] We are fools for Christ's sake, but you are wise in Christ; we are weak, but you are strong; you are honorable, but we are despised.[11] Even to this present hour we both hunger, and thirst, and are naked, and are buffeted, and have no certain dwelling place;[12] And labor, working with our own hands: being reviled, we bless; being persecuted, we suffer it:[13] Being defamed, we entreat: we are made as the filth of the world, and are the offscouring of all things to this day.[14] I write not these things to shame you, but as my beloved sons I warn you.[15] For though you have ten thousand instructors in Christ, yet have you not many fathers: for in Christ Jesus I have begotten you through the gospel.[16] Why I beseech you, be you followers of me.[17] For this cause have I sent to you Timotheus, who is my beloved son, and faithful in the Lord, who shall bring you into remembrance of my ways which be in Christ, as I teach every where in every church.[18] Now some are puffed up, as though I would not come to you.[19] But I will come to you shortly, if the Lord will, and will know, not the speech of them which are puffed up, but the power.[20] For the kingdom of God is not in word, but in power.[21] What will you? shall I come to you with a rod, or in love, and in the spirit of meekness?

[1] It is reported commonly that there is fornication among you, and such fornication as is not so much as named among the Gentiles, that one should have his father's wife.

[2] And you are puffed up, and have not rather mourned, that he that has done this deed might be taken away from among you.[3] For I truly, as absent in body, but present in spirit, have judged already, as though I were present, concerning him that has so done this deed,[4] In the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, when you are gathered together, and my spirit, with the power of our Lord Jesus Christ,[5] To deliver such an one to Satan for the destruction of the flesh, that the spirit may be saved in the day of the Lord Jesus.[6] Your glorying is not good. Know you not that a little leaven leavens the whole lump?[7] Purge out therefore the old leaven, that you may be a new lump, as you are unleavened. For even Christ our passover is sacrificed for us:[8] Therefore let us keep the feast, not with old leaven, neither with the leaven of malice and wickedness; but with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth.[9] I wrote to you in an letter not to company with fornicators:[10] Yet not altogether with the fornicators of this world, or with the covetous, or extortionists, or with idolaters; for then must you needs go out of the world.[11] But now I have written to you not to keep company, if any man that is called a brother be a fornicator, or covetous, or an idolater, or a reviler, or a drunkard, or an extortionist; with such an one no not to eat.[12] For what have I to do to judge them also that are without? do not you judge them that are within?[13] But them that are without God judges. Therefore put away from among yourselves that wicked person.

[1] Dare any of you, having a matter against another, go to law before the unjust, and not before the saints?

[2] Do you not know that the saints shall judge the world? and if the world shall be judged by you, are you unworthy to judge the smallest matters?[3] Know you not that we shall judge angels? how much more things that pertain to this life?[4] If then you have judgments of things pertaining to this life, set them to judge who are least esteemed in the church.[5] I speak to your shame. Is it so, that there is not a wise man among you? no, not one that shall be able to judge between his brothers?[6] But brother goes to law with brother, and that before the unbelievers.[7] Now therefore there is utterly a fault among you, because you go to law one with another. Why do you not rather take wrong? why do you not rather suffer yourselves to be defrauded?[8] No, you do wrong, and defraud, and that your brothers.[9] Know you not that the unrighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of God? Be not deceived: neither fornicators, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor effeminate, nor abusers of themselves with mankind,[10] Nor thieves, nor covetous, nor drunkards, nor revilers, nor extortionists, shall inherit the kingdom of God.[11] And such were some of you: but you are washed, but you are sanctified, but you are justified in the name of the Lord Jesus, and by the Spirit of our God.[12] All things are lawful to me, but all things are not expedient: all things are lawful for me, but I will not be brought under the power of any.[13] Meats for the belly, and the belly for meats: but God shall destroy both it and them. Now the body is not for fornication, but for the Lord; and the Lord for the body.[14] And God has both raised up the Lord, and will also raise up us by his own power.[15] Know you not that your bodies are the members of Christ? shall I then take the members of Christ, and make them the members of an harlot? God forbid.[16] What? know you not that he which is joined to an harlot is one body? for two, says he, shall be one flesh.[17] But he that is joined to the Lord is one spirit.[18] Flee fornication. Every sin that a man does is without the body; but he that commits fornication sins against his own body.[19] What? know you not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which you have of God, and you are not your own?[20] For you are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God's.

[2] Nevertheless, to avoid fornication, let every man have his own wife, and let every woman have her own husband.[3] Let the husband render to the wife due benevolence: and likewise also the wife to the husband.[4] The wife has not power of her own body, but the husband: and likewise also the husband has not power of his own body, but the wife.[5] Defraud you not one the other, except it be with consent for a time, that you may give yourselves to fasting and prayer; and come together again, that Satan tempt you not for your incontinency.[6] But I speak this by permission, and not of commandment.[7] For I would that all men were even as I myself. But every man has his proper gift of God, one after this manner, and another after that.[8] I say therefore to the unmarried and widows, It is good for them if they abide even as I.[9] But if they cannot contain, let them marry: for it is better to marry than to burn.[10] And to the married I command, yet not I, but the Lord, Let not the wife depart from her husband:[11] But and if she depart, let her remain unmarried or be reconciled to her husband: and let not the husband put away his wife.[12] But to the rest speak I, not the Lord: If any brother has a wife that believes not, and she be pleased to dwell with him, let him not put her away.[13] And the woman which has an husband that believes not, and if he be pleased to dwell with her, let her not leave him.[14] For the unbelieving husband is sanctified by the wife, and the unbelieving wife is sanctified by the husband: else were your children unclean; but now are they holy.[15] But if the unbelieving depart, let him depart. A brother or a sister is not under bondage in such cases: but God has called us to peace.[16] For what know you, O wife, whether you shall save your husband? or how know you, O man, whether you shall save your wife?[17] But as God has distributed to every man, as the Lord has called every one, so let him walk. And so ordain I in all churches.[18] Is any man called being circumcised? let him not become uncircumcised. Is any called in uncircumcision? let him not be circumcised.[19] Circumcision is nothing, and uncircumcision is nothing, but the keeping of the commandments of God.[20] Let every man abide in the same calling wherein he was called.[21] Are you called being a servant? care not for it: but if you may be made free, use it rather.[22] For he that is called in the Lord, being a servant, is the Lord's freeman: likewise also he that is called, being free, is Christ's servant.[23] You are bought with a price; be not you the servants of men.[24] Brothers, let every man, wherein he is called, therein abide with God.[25] Now concerning virgins I have no commandment of the Lord: yet I give my judgment, as one that has obtained mercy of the Lord to be faithful.[26] I suppose therefore that this is good for the present distress, I say, that it is good for a man so to be.[27] Are you bound to a wife? seek not to be loosed. Are you loosed from a wife? seek not a wife.[28] But and if you marry, you have not sinned; and if a virgin marry, she has not sinned. Nevertheless such shall have trouble in the flesh: but I spare you.[29] But this I say, brothers, the time is short: it remains, that both they that have wives be as though they had none;[30] And they that weep, as though they wept not; and they that rejoice, as though they rejoiced not; and they that buy, as though they possessed not;[31] And they that use this world, as not abusing it: for the fashion of this world passes away.[32] But I would have you without carefulness. He that is unmarried cares for the things that belong to the Lord, how he may please the Lord:[33] But he that is married cares for the things that are of the world, how he may please his wife.[34] There is difference also between a wife and a virgin. The unmarried woman cares for the things of the Lord, that she may be holy both in body and in spirit: but she that is married cares for the things of the world, how she may please her husband.[35] And this I speak for your own profit; not that I may cast a snare on you, but for that which is comely, and that you may attend on the Lord without distraction.[36] But if any man think that he behaves himself uncomely toward his virgin, if she pass the flower of her age, and need so require, let him do what he will, he sins not: let them marry.[37] Nevertheless he that stands steadfast in his heart, having no necessity, but has power over his own will, and has so decreed in his heart that he will keep his virgin, does well.[38] So then he that gives her in marriage does well; but he that gives her not in marriage does better.[39] The wife is bound by the law as long as her husband lives; but if her husband be dead, she is at liberty to be married to whom she will; only in the Lord.[40] But she is happier if she so abide, after my judgment: and I think also that I have the Spirit of God.

[1] Now as touching things offered to idols, we know that we all have knowledge. Knowledge puffs up, but charity edifies.

[2] And if any man think that he knows any thing, he knows nothing yet as he ought to know.[3] But if any man love God, the same is known of him.[4] As concerning therefore the eating of those things that are offered in sacrifice to idols, we know that an idol is nothing in the world, and that there is none other God but one.[5] For though there be that are called gods, whether in heaven or in earth, (as there be gods many, and lords many,)[6] But to us there is but one God, the Father, of whom are all things, and we in him; and one Lord Jesus Christ, by whom are all things, and we by him.[7] However, there is not in every man that knowledge: for some with conscience of the idol to this hour eat it as a thing offered to an idol; and their conscience being weak is defiled.[8] But meat commends us not to God: for neither, if we eat, are we the better; neither, if we eat not, are we the worse.[9] But take heed lest by any means this liberty of yours become a stumbling block to them that are weak.[10] For if any man see you which have knowledge sit at meat in the idol's temple, shall not the conscience of him which is weak be emboldened to eat those things which are offered to idols;[11] And through your knowledge shall the weak brother perish, for whom Christ died?[12] But when you sin so against the brothers, and wound their weak conscience, you sin against Christ.[13] Why, if meat make my brother to offend, I will eat no flesh while the world stands, lest I make my brother to offend.

[1] Am I not an apostle? am I not free? have I not seen Jesus Christ our Lord? are not you my work in the Lord?

[2] If I be not an apostle to others, yet doubtless I am to you: for the seal of my apostleship are you in the Lord.[3] My answer to them that do examine me is this,[4] Have we not power to eat and to drink?[5] Have we not power to lead about a sister, a wife, as well as other apostles, and as the brothers of the Lord, and Cephas?[6] Or I only and Barnabas, have not we power to forbear working?[7] Who goes a warfare any time at his own charges? who plants a vineyard, and eats not of the fruit thereof? or who feeds a flock, and eats not of the milk of the flock?[8] Say I these things as a man? or says not the law the same also?[9] For it is written in the law of Moses, You shall not muzzle the mouth of the ox that treads out the corn. Does God take care for oxen?[10] Or says he it altogether for our sakes? For our sakes, no doubt, this is written: that he that plows should plow in hope; and that he that threshes in hope should be partaker of his hope.[11] If we have sown to you spiritual things, is it a great thing if we shall reap your carnal things?[12] If others be partakers of this power over you, are not we rather? Nevertheless we have not used this power; but suffer all things, lest we should hinder the gospel of Christ.[13] Do you not know that they which minister about holy things live of the things of the temple? and they which wait at the altar are partakers with the altar?[14] Even so has the Lord ordained that they which preach the gospel should live of the gospel.[15] But I have used none of these things: neither have I written these things, that it should be so done to me: for it were better for me to die, than that any man should make my glorying void.[16] For though I preach the gospel, I have nothing to glory of: for necessity is laid on me; yes, woe is to me, if I preach not the gospel![17] For if I do this thing willingly, I have a reward: but if against my will, a dispensation of the gospel is committed to me.[18] What is my reward then? Truly that, when I preach the gospel, I may make the gospel of Christ without charge, that I abuse not my power in the gospel.[19] For though I be free from all men, yet have I made myself servant to all, that I might gain the more.[20] And to the Jews I became as a Jew, that I might gain the Jews; to them that are under the law, as under the law, that I might gain them that are under the law;[21] To them that are without law, as without law, (being not without law to God, but under the law to Christ,) that I might gain them that are without law.[22] To the weak became I as weak, that I might gain the weak: I am made all things to all men, that I might by all means save some.[23] And this I do for the gospel's sake, that I might be partaker thereof with you.[24] Know you not that they which run in a race run all, but one receives the prize? So run, that you may obtain.[25] And every man that strives for the mastery is temperate in all things. Now they do it to obtain a corruptible crown; but we an incorruptible.[26] I therefore so run, not as uncertainly; so fight I, not as one that beats the air:[27] But I keep under my body, and bring it into subjection: lest that by any means, when I have preached to others, I myself should be a castaway.

[1] Moreover, brothers, I would not that you should be ignorant, how that all our fathers were under the cloud, and all passed through the sea;

[2] And were all baptized to Moses in the cloud and in the sea;[3] And did all eat the same spiritual meat;[4] And did all drink the same spiritual drink: for they drank of that spiritual Rock that followed them: and that Rock was Christ.[5] But with many of them God was not well pleased: for they were overthrown in the wilderness.[6] Now these things were our examples, to the intent we should not lust after evil things, as they also lusted.[7] Neither be you idolaters, as were some of them; as it is written, The people sat down to eat and drink, and rose up to play.[8] Neither let us commit fornication, as some of them committed, and fell in one day three and twenty thousand.[9] Neither let us tempt Christ, as some of them also tempted, and were destroyed of serpents.[10] Neither murmur you, as some of them also murmured, and were destroyed of the destroyer.[11] Now all these things happened to them for ensamples: and they are written for our admonition, on whom the ends of the world are come.[12] Why let him that thinks he stands take heed lest he fall.[13] There has no temptation taken you but such as is common to man: but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that you are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that you may be able to bear it.[14] Why, my dearly beloved, flee from idolatry.[15] I speak as to wise men; judge you what I say.[16] The cup of blessing which we bless, is it not the communion of the blood of Christ? The bread which we break, is it not the communion of the body of Christ?[17] For we being many are one bread, and one body: for we are all partakers of that one bread.[18] Behold Israel after the flesh: are not they which eat of the sacrifices partakers of the altar?[19] What say I then? that the idol is any thing, or that which is offered in sacrifice to idols is any thing?[20] But I say, that the things which the Gentiles sacrifice, they sacrifice to devils, and not to God: and I would not that you should have fellowship with devils.[21] You cannot drink the cup of the Lord, and the cup of devils: you cannot be partakers of the Lord's table, and of the table of devils.[22] Do we provoke the Lord to jealousy? are we stronger than he?[23] All things are lawful for me, but all things are not expedient: all things are lawful for me, but all things edify not.[24] Let no man seek his own, but every man another's wealth.[25] Whatever is sold in the shambles, that eat, asking no question for conscience sake:[26] For the earth is the Lord's, and the fullness thereof.[27] If any of them that believe not bid you to a feast, and you be disposed to go; whatever is set before you, eat, asking no question for conscience sake.[28] But if any man say to you, This is offered in sacrifice to idols, eat not for his sake that showed it, and for conscience sake: for the earth is the Lord's, and the fullness thereof:[29] Conscience, I say, not your own, but of the other: for why is my liberty judged of another man's conscience?[30] For if I by grace be a partaker, why am I evil spoken of for that for which I give thanks?[31] Whether therefore you eat, or drink, or whatever you do, do all to the glory of God.[32] Give none offense, neither to the Jews, nor to the Gentiles, nor to the church of God:[33] Even as I please all men in all things, not seeking my own profit, but the profit of many, that they may be saved.

[1] Be you followers of me, even as I also am of Christ.

[2] Now I praise you, brothers, that you remember me in all things, and keep the ordinances, as I delivered them to you.[3] But I would have you know, that the head of every man is Christ; and the head of the woman is the man; and the head of Christ is God.[4] Every man praying or prophesying, having his head covered, dishonors his head.[5] But every woman that prays or prophesies with her head uncovered dishonors her head: for that is even all one as if she were shaven.[6] For if the woman be not covered, let her also be shorn: but if it be a shame for a woman to be shorn or shaven, let her be covered.[7] For a man indeed ought not to cover his head, for as much as he is the image and glory of God: but the woman is the glory of the man.[8] For the man is not of the woman: but the woman of the man.[9] Neither was the man created for the woman; but the woman for the man.[10] For this cause ought the woman to have power on her head because of the angels.[11] Nevertheless neither is the man without the woman, neither the woman without the man, in the Lord.[12] For as the woman is of the man, even so is the man also by the woman; but all things of God.[13] Judge in yourselves: is it comely that a woman pray to God uncovered?[14] Does not even nature itself teach you, that, if a man have long hair, it is a shame to him?[15] But if a woman have long hair, it is a glory to her: for her hair is given her for a covering.[16] But if any man seem to be contentious, we have no such custom, neither the churches of God.[17] Now in this that I declare to you I praise you not, that you come together not for the better, but for the worse.[18] For first of all, when you come together in the church, I hear that there be divisions among you; and I partly believe it.[19] For there must be also heresies among you, that they which are approved may be made manifest among you.[20] When you come together therefore into one place, this is not to eat the Lord's supper.[21] For in eating every one takes before other his own supper: and one is hungry, and another is drunken.[22] What? have you not houses to eat and to drink in? or despise you the church of God, and shame them that have not? What shall I say to you? shall I praise you in this? I praise you not.[23] For I have received of the Lord that which also I delivered to you, That the Lord Jesus the same night in which he was betrayed took bread:[24] And when he had given thanks, he broke it, and said, Take, eat: this is my body, which is broken for you: this do in remembrance of me.[25] After the same manner also he took the cup, when he had supped, saying, This cup is the new testament in my blood: this do you, as oft as you drink it, in remembrance of me.[26] For as often as you eat this bread, and drink this cup, you do show the Lord's death till he come.[27] Why whoever shall eat this bread, and drink this cup of the Lord, unworthily, shall be guilty of the body and blood of the Lord.[28] But let a man examine himself, and so let him eat of that bread, and drink of that cup.[29] For he that eats and drinks unworthily, eats and drinks damnation to himself, not discerning the Lord's body.[30] For this cause many are weak and sickly among you, and many sleep.[31] For if we would judge ourselves, we should not be judged.[32] But when we are judged, we are chastened of the Lord, that we should not be condemned with the world.[33] Why, my brothers, when you come together to eat, tarry one for another.[34] And if any man hunger, let him eat at home; that you come not together to condemnation. And the rest will I set in order when I come.

[1] Now concerning spiritual gifts, brothers, I would not have you ignorant.

[2] You know that you were Gentiles, carried away to these dumb idols, even as you were led.[3] Why I give you to understand, that no man speaking by the Spirit of God calls Jesus accursed: and that no man can say that Jesus is the Lord, but by the Holy Ghost.[4] Now there are diversities of gifts, but the same Spirit.[5] And there are differences of administrations, but the same Lord.[6] And there are diversities of operations, but it is the same God which works all in all.[7] But the manifestation of the Spirit is given to every man to profit with.[8] For to one is given by the Spirit the word of wisdom; to another the word of knowledge by the same Spirit;[9] To another faith by the same Spirit; to another the gifts of healing by the same Spirit;[10] To another the working of miracles; to another prophecy; to another discerning of spirits; to another divers kinds of tongues; to another the interpretation of tongues:[11] But all these works that one and the selfsame Spirit, dividing to every man severally as he will.[12] For as the body is one, and has many members, and all the members of that one body, being many, are one body: so also is Christ.[13] For by one Spirit are we all baptized into one body, whether we be Jews or Gentiles, whether we be bond or free; and have been all made to drink into one Spirit.[14] For the body is not one member, but many.[15] If the foot shall say, Because I am not the hand, I am not of the body; is it therefore not of the body?[16] And if the ear shall say, Because I am not the eye, I am not of the body; is it therefore not of the body?[17] If the whole body were an eye, where were the hearing? If the whole were hearing, where were the smelling?[18] But now has God set the members every one of them in the body, as it has pleased him.[19] And if they were all one member, where were the body?[20] But now are they many members, yet but one body.[21] And the eye cannot say to the hand, I have no need of you: nor again the head to the feet, I have no need of you.[22] No, much more those members of the body, which seem to be more feeble, are necessary:[23] And those members of the body, which we think to be less honorable, on these we bestow more abundant honor; and our uncomely parts have more abundant comeliness.[24] For our comely parts have no need: but God has tempered the body together, having given more abundant honor to that part which lacked.[25] That there should be no schism in the body; but that the members should have the same care one for another.[26] And whether one member suffer, all the members suffer with it; or one member be honored, all the members rejoice with it.[27] Now you are the body of Christ, and members in particular.[28] And God has set some in the church, first apostles, secondarily prophets, thirdly teachers, after that miracles, then gifts of healings, helps, governments, diversities of tongues.[29] Are all apostles? are all prophets? are all teachers? are all workers of miracles?[30] Have all the gifts of healing? do all speak with tongues? do all interpret?[31] But covet earnestly the best gifts: and yet show I to you a more excellent way.

[1] Though I speak with the tongues of men and of angels, and have not charity, I am become as sounding brass, or a tinkling cymbal.

[2] And though I have the gift of prophecy, and understand all mysteries, and all knowledge; and though I have all faith, so that I could remove mountains, and have not charity, I am nothing.[3] And though I bestow all my goods to feed the poor, and though I give my body to be burned, and have not charity, it profits me nothing.[4] Charity suffers long, and is kind; charity envies not; charity brags not itself, is not puffed up,[5] Does not behave itself unseemly, seeks not her own, is not easily provoked, thinks no evil;[6] Rejoices not in iniquity, but rejoices in the truth;[7] Bears all things, believes all things, hopes all things, endures all things.[8] Charity never fails: but whether there be prophecies, they shall fail; whether there be tongues, they shall cease; whether there be knowledge, it shall vanish away.[9] For we know in part, and we prophesy in part.[10] But when that which is perfect is come, then that which is in part shall be done away.[11] When I was a child, I spoke as a child, I understood as a child, I thought as a child: but when I became a man, I put away childish things.[12] For now we see through a glass, darkly; but then face to face: now I know in part; but then shall I know even as also I am known.[13] And now stays faith, hope, charity, these three; but the greatest of these is charity.

[1] Follow after charity, and desire spiritual gifts, but rather that you may prophesy.

[2] For he that speaks in an unknown tongue speaks not to men, but to God: for no man understands him; however, in the spirit he speaks mysteries.[3] But he that prophesies speaks to men to edification, and exhortation, and comfort.[4] He that speaks in an unknown tongue edifies himself; but he that prophesies edifies the church.[5] I would that you all spoke with tongues but rather that you prophesied: for greater is he that prophesies than he that speaks with tongues, except he interpret, that the church may receive edifying.[6] Now, brothers, if I come to you speaking with tongues, what shall I profit you, except I shall speak to you either by revelation, or by knowledge, or by prophesying, or by doctrine?[7] And even things without life giving sound, whether pipe or harp, except they give a distinction in the sounds, how shall it be known what is piped or harped?[8] For if the trumpet give an uncertain sound, who shall prepare himself to the battle?[9] So likewise you, except you utter by the tongue words easy to be understood, how shall it be known what is spoken? for you shall speak into the air.[10] There are, it may be, so many kinds of voices in the world, and none of them is without signification.[11] Therefore if I know not the meaning of the voice, I shall be to him that speaks a barbarian, and he that speaks shall be a barbarian to me.[12] Even so you, for as much as you are zealous of spiritual gifts, seek that you may excel to the edifying of the church.[13] Why let him that speaks in an unknown tongue pray that he may interpret.[14] For if I pray in an unknown tongue, my spirit prays, but my understanding is unfruitful.[15] What is it then? I will pray with the spirit, and I will pray with the understanding also: I will sing with the spirit, and I will sing with the understanding also.[16] Else when you shall bless with the spirit, how shall he that occupies the room of the unlearned say Amen at your giving of thanks, seeing he understands not what you say?[17] For you truly give thanks well, but the other is not edified.[18] I thank my God, I speak with tongues more than you all:[19] Yet in the church I had rather speak five words with my understanding, that by my voice I might teach others also, than ten thousand words in an unknown tongue.[20] Brothers, be not children in understanding: however, in malice be you children, but in understanding be men.[21] In the law it is written, With men of other tongues and other lips will I speak to this people; and yet for all that will they not hear me, says the LORD.[22] Why tongues are for a sign, not to them that believe, but to them that believe not: but prophesying serves not for them that believe not, but for them which believe.[23] If therefore the whole church be come together into one place, and all speak with tongues, and there come in those that are unlearned, or unbelievers, will they not say that you are mad?[24] But if all prophesy, and there come in one that believes not, or one unlearned, he is convinced of all, he is judged of all:[25] And thus are the secrets of his heart made manifest; and so falling down on his face he will worship God, and report that God is in you of a truth.[26] How is it then, brothers? when you come together, every one of you has a psalm, has a doctrine, has a tongue, has a revelation, has an interpretation. Let all things be done to edifying.[27] If any man speak in an unknown tongue, let it be by two, or at the most by three, and that by course; and let one interpret.[28] But if there be no interpreter, let him keep silence in the church; and let him speak to himself, and to God.[29] Let the prophets speak two or three, and let the other judge.[30] If any thing be revealed to another that sits by, let the first hold his peace.[31] For you may all prophesy one by one, that all may learn, and all may be comforted.[32] And the spirits of the prophets are subject to the prophets.[33] For God is not the author of confusion, but of peace, as in all churches of the saints.[34] Let your women keep silence in the churches: for it is not permitted to them to speak; but they are commanded to be under obedience as also says the law.[35] And if they will learn any thing, let them ask their husbands at home: for it is a shame for women to speak in the church.[36] What? came the word of God out from you? or came it to you only?[37] If any man think himself to be a prophet, or spiritual, let him acknowledge that the things that I write to you are the commandments of the Lord.[38] But if any man be ignorant, let him be ignorant.[39] Why, brothers, covet to prophesy, and forbid not to speak with tongues.[40] Let all things be done decently and in order.

[1] Moreover, brothers, I declare to you the gospel which I preached to you, which also you have received, and wherein you stand;

[2] By which also you are saved, if you keep in memory what I preached to you, unless you have believed in vain.[3] For I delivered to you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures;[4] And that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day according to the scriptures:[5] And that he was seen of Cephas, then of the twelve:[6] After that, he was seen of above five hundred brothers at once; of whom the greater part remain to this present, but some are fallen asleep.[7] After that, he was seen of James; then of all the apostles.[8] And last of all he was seen of me also, as of one born out of due time.[9] For I am the least of the apostles, that am not meet to be called an apostle, because I persecuted the church of God.[10] But by the grace of God I am what I am: and his grace which was bestowed on me was not in vain; but I labored more abundantly than they all: yet not I, but the grace of God which was with me.[11] Therefore whether it were I or they, so we preach, and so you believed.[12] Now if Christ be preached that he rose from the dead, how say some among you that there is no resurrection of the dead?[13] But if there be no resurrection of the dead, then is Christ not risen:[14] And if Christ be not risen, then is our preaching vain, and your faith is also vain.[15] Yes, and we are found false witnesses of God; because we have testified of God that he raised up Christ: whom he raised not up, if so be that the dead rise not.[16] For if the dead rise not, then is not Christ raised:[17] And if Christ be not raised, your faith is vain; you are yet in your sins.[18] Then they also which are fallen asleep in Christ are perished.[19] If in this life only we have hope in Christ, we are of all men most miserable.[20] But now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the first fruits of them that slept.[21] For since by man came death, by man came also the resurrection of the dead.[22] For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive.[23] But every man in his own order: Christ the first fruits; afterward they that are Christ's at his coming.[24] Then comes the end, when he shall have delivered up the kingdom to God, even the Father; when he shall have put down all rule and all authority and power.[25] For he must reign, till he has put all enemies under his feet.[26] The last enemy that shall be destroyed is death.[27] For he has put all things under his feet. But when he says all things are put under him, it is manifest that he is excepted, which did put all things under him.[28] And when all things shall be subdued to him, then shall the Son also himself be subject to him that put all things under him, that God may be all in all.[29] Else what shall they do which are baptized for the dead, if the dead rise not at all? why are they then baptized for the dead?[30] And why stand we in jeopardy every hour?[31] I protest by your rejoicing which I have in Christ Jesus our LORD, I die daily.[32] If after the manner of men I have fought with beasts at Ephesus, what advantages it me, if the dead rise not? let us eat and drink; for to morrow we die.[33] Be not deceived: evil communications corrupt good manners.[34] Awake to righteousness, and sin not; for some have not the knowledge of God: I speak this to your shame.[35] But some man will say, How are the dead raised up? and with what body do they come?[36] You fool, that which you sow is not quickened, except it die:[37] And that which you sow, you sow not that body that shall be, but bore grain, it may chance of wheat, or of some other grain:[38] But God gives it a body as it has pleased him, and to every seed his own body.[39] All flesh is not the same flesh: but there is one kind of flesh of men, another flesh of beasts, another of fishes, and another of birds.[40] There are also celestial bodies, and bodies terrestrial: but the glory of the celestial is one, and the glory of the terrestrial is another.[41] There is one glory of the sun, and another glory of the moon, and another glory of the stars: for one star differs from another star in glory.[42] So also is the resurrection of the dead. It is sown in corruption; it is raised in incorruption:[43] It is sown in dishonor; it is raised in glory: it is sown in weakness; it is raised in power:[44] It is sown a natural body; it is raised a spiritual body. There is a natural body, and there is a spiritual body.[45] And so it is written, The first man Adam was made a living soul; the last Adam was made a quickening spirit.[46] However, that was not first which is spiritual, but that which is natural; and afterward that which is spiritual.[47] The first man is of the earth, earthy; the second man is the Lord from heaven.[48] As is the earthy, such are they also that are earthy: and as is the heavenly, such are they also that are heavenly.[49] And as we have borne the image of the earthy, we shall also bear the image of the heavenly.[50] Now this I say, brothers, that flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God; neither does corruption inherit incorruption.[51] Behold, I show you a mystery; We shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed,[52] In a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trump: for the trumpet shall sound, and the dead shall be raised incorruptible, and we shall be changed.[53] For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality.[54] So when this corruptible shall have put on incorruption, and this mortal shall have put on immortality, then shall be brought to pass the saying that is written, Death is swallowed up in victory.[55] O death, where is your sting? O grave, where is your victory?[56] The sting of death is sin; and the strength of sin is the law.[57] But thanks be to God, which gives us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.[58] Therefore, my beloved brothers, be you steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, for as much as you know that your labor is not in vain in the Lord.

[1] Now concerning the collection for the saints, as I have given order to the churches of Galatia, even so do you.

[2] On the first day of the week let every one of you lay by him in store, as God has prospered him, that there be no gatherings when I come.[3] And when I come, whomsoever you shall approve by your letters, them will I send to bring your liberality to Jerusalem.[4] And if it be meet that I go also, they shall go with me.[5] Now I will come to you, when I shall pass through Macedonia: for I do pass through Macedonia.[6] And it may be that I will abide, yes, and winter with you, that you may bring me on my journey wherever I go.[7] For I will not see you now by the way; but I trust to tarry a while with you, if the Lord permit.[8] But I will tarry at Ephesus until Pentecost.[9] For a great door and effectual is opened to me, and there are many adversaries.[10] Now if Timotheus come, see that he may be with you without fear: for he works the work of the Lord, as I also do.[11] Let no man therefore despise him: but conduct him forth in peace, that he may come to me: for I look for him with the brothers.[12] As touching our brother Apollos, I greatly desired him to come to you with the brothers: but his will was not at all to come at this time; but he will come when he shall have convenient time.[13] Watch you, stand fast in the faith, quit you like men, be strong.[14] Let all your things be done with charity.[15] I beseech you, brothers, (you know the house of Stephanas, that it is the first fruits of Achaia, and that they have addicted themselves to the ministry of the saints,)[16] That you submit yourselves to such, and to every one that helps with us, and labors.[17] I am glad of the coming of Stephanas and Fortunatus and Achaicus: for that which was lacking on your part they have supplied.[18] For they have refreshed my spirit and yours: therefore acknowledge you them that are such.[19] The churches of Asia salute you. Aquila and Priscilla salute you much in the Lord, with the church that is in their house.[20] All the brothers greet you. Greet you one another with an holy kiss.[21] The salutation of me Paul with my own hand.[22] If any man love not the Lord Jesus Christ, let him be Anathema Maranatha.[23] The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you.[24] My love be with you all in Christ Jesus. Amen.

2 Corinthians

An Introduction to the Book of 2 Corinthians

Shortly after writing his first letter to the Corinthians, Paul left Ephesus, where intense excitement had been aroused against him, the evidence of his great success, and proceeded to Macedonia. Pursuing the usual route, he reached Troas, the port of departure for Europe. Here he expected to meet with Titus, whom he had sent from Ephesus to Corinth, with tidings of the effects produced on the church there by the first epistle; but was disappointed (1 Cor. 16:9; 2 Cor. 1:8; 2:12, 13). He then left Troas and proceeded to Macedonia; and at Philippi, where he tarried, he was soon joined by Titus (2 Cor. 7:6, 7), who brought him good news from Corinth, and also by Timothy. Under the influence of the feelings awakened in his mind by the favourable report which Titus brought back from Corinth, this second epistle was written. It was probably written at Philippi, or, as some think, Thessalonica, early in the year A.D. 58, and was sent to Corinth by Titus. This letter he addresses not only to the church in Corinth, but also to the saints in all Achaia, i.e., in Athens, Cenchrea, and other cities in Greece.

The contents of this epistle may be thus arranged:

(1.) Paul speaks of his spiritual labours and course of life, and expresses his warm affection toward the Corinthians (2 Cor. 1-7).

(2.) He gives specific directions regarding the collection that was to be made for their poor brethren in Judea (8; 9).

(3.) He defends his own apostolic claim (10-13), and justifies himself from the charges and insinuations of the false teacher and his adherents.

This epistle, it has been well said, shows the individuallity of the apostle more than any other. “Human weakness, spiritual strength, the deepest tenderness of affection, wounded feeling, sternness, irony, rebuke, impassioned self-vindication, humility, a just self-respect, zeal for the welfare of the weak and suffering, as well as for the progress of the church of Christ and for the spiritual advancement of its members, are all displayed in turn in the course of his appeal.”—Lias, Second Corinthians.

Of the effects produced on the Corinthian church by this epistle we have no definite information. We know that Paul visited Corinth after he had written it (Acts 20:2, 3), and that on that occasion he tarried there for three months. In his letter to Rome, written at this time, he sent salutations from some of the principal members of the church to the Romans.

[1] Paul, an apostle of Jesus Christ by the will of God, and Timothy our brother, to the church of God which is at Corinth, with all the saints which are in all Achaia:

[2] Grace be to you and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.[3] Blessed be God, even the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of mercies, and the God of all comfort;[4] Who comforts us in all our tribulation, that we may be able to comfort them which are in any trouble, by the comfort with which we ourselves are comforted of God.[5] For as the sufferings of Christ abound in us, so our consolation also abounds by Christ.[6] And whether we be afflicted, it is for your consolation and salvation, which is effectual in the enduring of the same sufferings which we also suffer: or whether we be comforted, it is for your consolation and salvation.[7] And our hope of you is steadfast, knowing, that as you are partakers of the sufferings, so shall you be also of the consolation.[8] For we would not, brothers, have you ignorant of our trouble which came to us in Asia, that we were pressed out of measure, above strength, so that we despaired even of life:[9] But we had the sentence of death in ourselves, that we should not trust in ourselves, but in God which raises the dead:[10] Who delivered us from so great a death, and does deliver: in whom we trust that he will yet deliver us;[11] You also helping together by prayer for us, that for the gift bestowed on us by the means of many persons thanks may be given by many on our behalf.[12] For our rejoicing is this, the testimony of our conscience, that in simplicity and godly sincerity, not with fleshly wisdom, but by the grace of God, we have had our conversation in the world, and more abundantly to you-ward.[13] For we write none other things to you, than what you read or acknowledge; and I trust you shall acknowledge even to the end;[14] As also you have acknowledged us in part, that we are your rejoicing, even as you also are ours in the day of the Lord Jesus.[15] And in this confidence I was minded to come to you before, that you might have a second benefit;[16] And to pass by you into Macedonia, and to come again out of Macedonia to you, and of you to be brought on my way toward Judaea.[17] When I therefore was thus minded, did I use lightness? or the things that I purpose, do I purpose according to the flesh, that with me there should be yes yes, and no no?[18] But as God is true, our word toward you was not yes and no.[19] For the Son of God, Jesus Christ, who was preached among you by us, even by me and Silvanus and Timotheus, was not yes and no, but in him was yes.[20] For all the promises of God in him are yes, and in him Amen, to the glory of God by us.[21] Now he which establishes us with you in Christ, and has anointed us, is God;[22] Who has also sealed us, and given the earnest of the Spirit in our hearts.[23] Moreover I call God for a record on my soul, that to spare you I came not as yet to Corinth.[24] Not for that we have dominion over your faith, but are helpers of your joy: for by faith you stand.

[1] But I determined this with myself, that I would not come again to you in heaviness.

[2] For if I make you sorry, who is he then that makes me glad, but the same which is made sorry by me?[3] And I wrote this same to you, lest, when I came, I should have sorrow from them of whom I ought to rejoice; having confidence in you all, that my joy is the joy of you all.[4] For out of much affliction and anguish of heart I wrote to you with many tears; not that you should be grieved, but that you might know the love which I have more abundantly to you.[5] But if any have caused grief, he has not grieved me, but in part: that I may not overcharge you all.[6] Sufficient to such a man is this punishment, which was inflicted of many.[7] So that contrariwise you ought rather to forgive him, and comfort him, lest perhaps such a one should be swallowed up with overmuch sorrow.[8] Why I beseech you that you would confirm your love toward him.[9] For to this end also did I write, that I might know the proof of you, whether you be obedient in all things.[10] To whom you forgive any thing, I forgive also: for if I forgave any thing, to whom I forgave it, for your sakes forgave I it in the person of Christ;[11] Lest Satan should get an advantage of us: for we are not ignorant of his devices.[12] Furthermore, when I came to Troas to preach Christ's gospel, and a door was opened to me of the Lord,[13] I had no rest in my spirit, because I found not Titus my brother: but taking my leave of them, I went from there into Macedonia.[14] Now thanks be to God, which always causes us to triumph in Christ, and makes manifest the aroma of his knowledge by us in every place.[15] For we are to God a sweet smell of Christ, in them that are saved, and in them that perish:[16] To the one we are the smell of death to death; and to the other the smell of life to life. And who is sufficient for these things?[17] For we are not as many, which corrupt the word of God: but as of sincerity, but as of God, in the sight of God speak we in Christ.

[1] Do we begin again to commend ourselves? or need we, as some others, letters of commendation to you, or letters of commendation from you?

[2] You are our letter written in our hearts, known and read of all men:[3] For as much as you are manifestly declared to be the letter of Christ ministered by us, written not with ink, but with the Spirit of the living God; not in tables of stone, but in fleshy tables of the heart.[4] And such trust have we through Christ to God-ward:[5] Not that we are sufficient of ourselves to think any thing as of ourselves; but our sufficiency is of God;[6] Who also has made us able ministers of the new testament; not of the letter, but of the spirit: for the letter kills, but the spirit gives life.[7] But if the ministration of death, written and engraved in stones, was glorious, so that the children of Israel could not steadfastly behold the face of Moses for the glory of his countenance; which glory was to be done away:[8] How shall not the ministration of the spirit be rather glorious?[9] For if the ministration of condemnation be glory, much more does the ministration of righteousness exceed in glory.[10] For even that which was made glorious had no glory in this respect, by reason of the glory that excels.[11] For if that which is done away was glorious, much more that which remains is glorious.[12] Seeing then that we have such hope, we use great plainness of speech:[13] And not as Moses, which put a veil over his face, that the children of Israel could not steadfastly look to the end of that which is abolished:[14] But their minds were blinded: for until this day remains the same veil not taken away in the reading of the old testament; which veil is done away in Christ.[15] But even to this day, when Moses is read, the veil is on their heart.[16] Nevertheless when it shall turn to the Lord, the veil shall be taken away.[17] Now the Lord is that Spirit: and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty.[18] But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the LORD.

[1] Therefore seeing we have this ministry, as we have received mercy, we faint not;

[2] But have renounced the hidden things of dishonesty, not walking in craftiness, nor handling the word of God deceitfully; but by manifestation of the truth commending ourselves to every man's conscience in the sight of God.[3] But if our gospel be hid, it is hid to them that are lost:[4] In whom the god of this world has blinded the minds of them which believe not, lest the light of the glorious gospel of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine to them.[5] For we preach not ourselves, but Christ Jesus the Lord; and ourselves your servants for Jesus' sake.[6] For God, who commanded the light to shine out of darkness, has shined in our hearts, to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ.[7] But we have this treasure in earthen vessels, that the excellency of the power may be of God, and not of us.[8] We are troubled on every side, yet not distressed; we are perplexed, but not in despair;[9] Persecuted, but not forsaken; cast down, but not destroyed;[10] Always bearing about in the body the dying of the Lord Jesus, that the life also of Jesus might be made manifest in our body.[11] For we which live are always delivered to death for Jesus' sake, that the life also of Jesus might be made manifest in our mortal flesh.[12] So then death works in us, but life in you.[13] We having the same spirit of faith, according as it is written, I believed, and therefore have I spoken; we also believe, and therefore speak;[14] Knowing that he which raised up the Lord Jesus shall raise up us also by Jesus, and shall present us with you.[15] For all things are for your sakes, that the abundant grace might through the thanksgiving of many redound to the glory of God.[16] For which cause we faint not; but though our outward man perish, yet the inward man is renewed day by day.[17] For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, works for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory;[18] While we look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen: for the things which are seen are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal.

[1] For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens.

[2] For in this we groan, earnestly desiring to be clothed on with our house which is from heaven:[3] If so be that being clothed we shall not be found naked.[4] For we that are in this tabernacle do groan, being burdened: not for that we would be unclothed, but clothed on, that mortality might be swallowed up of life.[5] Now he that has worked us for the selfsame thing is God, who also has given to us the earnest of the Spirit.[6] Therefore we are always confident, knowing that, whilst we are at home in the body, we are absent from the Lord:[7] (For we walk by faith, not by sight:)[8] We are confident, I say, and willing rather to be absent from the body, and to be present with the Lord.[9] Why we labor, that, whether present or absent, we may be accepted of him.[10] For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ; that every one may receive the things done in his body, according to that he has done, whether it be good or bad.[11] Knowing therefore the terror of the Lord, we persuade men; but we are made manifest to God; and I trust also are made manifest in your consciences.[12] For we commend not ourselves again to you, but give you occasion to glory on our behalf, that you may have somewhat to answer them which glory in appearance, and not in heart.[13] For whether we be beside ourselves, it is to God: or whether we be sober, it is for your cause.[14] For the love of Christ constrains us; because we thus judge, that if one died for all, then were all dead:[15] And that he died for all, that they which live should not from now on live to themselves, but to him which died for them, and rose again.[16] Why from now on know we no man after the flesh: yes, though we have known Christ after the flesh, yet now from now on know we him no more.[17] Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new.[18] And all things are of God, who has reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ, and has given to us the ministry of reconciliation;[19] To wit, that God was in Christ, reconciling the world to himself, not imputing their trespasses to them; and has committed to us the word of reconciliation.[20] Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ's stead, be you reconciled to God.[21] For he has made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him.

[1] We then, as workers together with him, beseech you also that you receive not the grace of God in vain.

[2] (For he says, I have heard you in a time accepted, and in the day of salvation have I succored you: behold, now is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation.)[3] Giving no offense in any thing, that the ministry be not blamed:[4] But in all things approving ourselves as the ministers of God, in much patience, in afflictions, in necessities, in distresses,[5] In stripes, in imprisonments, in tumults, in labors, in watchings, in fastings;[6] By pureness, by knowledge, by long-suffering, by kindness, by the Holy Ghost, by love unfeigned,[7] By the word of truth, by the power of God, by the armor of righteousness on the right hand and on the left,[8] By honor and dishonor, by evil report and good report: as deceivers, and yet true;[9] As unknown, and yet well known; as dying, and, behold, we live; as chastened, and not killed;[10] As sorrowful, yet always rejoicing; as poor, yet making many rich; as having nothing, and yet possessing all things.[11] O you Corinthians, our mouth is open to you, our heart is enlarged.[12] You are not straitened in us, but you are straitened in your own bowels.[13] Now for a recompense in the same, (I speak as to my children,) be you also enlarged.[14] Be you not unequally yoked together with unbelievers: for what fellowship has righteousness with unrighteousness? and what communion has light with darkness?[15] And what concord has Christ with Belial? or what part has he that believes with an infidel?[16] And what agreement has the temple of God with idols? for you are the temple of the living God; as God has said, I will dwell in them, and walk in them; and I will be their God, and they shall be my people.[17] Why come out from among them, and be you separate, says the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you.[18] And will be a Father to you, and you shall be my sons and daughters, says the Lord Almighty.

[1] Having therefore these promises, dearly beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God.

[2] Receive us; we have wronged no man, we have corrupted no man, we have defrauded no man.[3] I speak not this to condemn you: for I have said before, that you are in our hearts to die and live with you.[4] Great is my boldness of speech toward you, great is my glorying of you: I am filled with comfort, I am exceeding joyful in all our tribulation.[5] For, when we were come into Macedonia, our flesh had no rest, but we were troubled on every side; without were fights, within were fears.[6] Nevertheless God, that comforts those that are cast down, comforted us by the coming of Titus;[7] And not by his coming only, but by the consolation with which he was comforted in you, when he told us your earnest desire, your mourning, your fervent mind toward me; so that I rejoiced the more.[8] For though I made you sorry with a letter, I do not repent, though I did repent: for I perceive that the same letter has made you sorry, though it were but for a season.[9] Now I rejoice, not that you were made sorry, but that you sorrowed to repentance: for you were made sorry after a godly manner, that you might receive damage by us in nothing.[10] For godly sorrow works repentance to salvation not to be repented of: but the sorrow of the world works death.[11] For behold this selfsame thing, that you sorrowed after a godly sort, what carefulness it worked in you, yes, what clearing of yourselves, yes, what indignation, yes, what fear, yes, what vehement desire, yes, what zeal, yes, what revenge! In all things you have approved yourselves to be clear in this matter.[12] Why, though I wrote to you, I did it not for his cause that had done the wrong, nor for his cause that suffered wrong, but that our care for you in the sight of God might appear to you.[13] Therefore we were comforted in your comfort: yes, and exceedingly the more joyed we for the joy of Titus, because his spirit was refreshed by you all.[14] For if I have boasted any thing to him of you, I am not ashamed; but as we spoke all things to you in truth, even so our boasting, which I made before Titus, is found a truth.[15] And his inward affection is more abundant toward you, whilst he remembers the obedience of you all, how with fear and trembling you received him.[16] I rejoice therefore that I have confidence in you in all things.

[2] How that in a great trial of affliction the abundance of their joy and their deep poverty abounded to the riches of their liberality.[3] For to their power, I bear record, yes, and beyond their power they were willing of themselves;[4] Praying us with much entreaty that we would receive the gift, and take on us the fellowship of the ministering to the saints.[5] And this they did, not as we hoped, but first gave their own selves to the Lord, and to us by the will of God.[6] So that we desired Titus, that as he had begun, so he would also finish in you the same grace also.[7] Therefore, as you abound in every thing, in faith, and utterance, and knowledge, and in all diligence, and in your love to us, see that you abound in this grace also.[8] I speak not by commandment, but by occasion of the forwardness of others, and to prove the sincerity of your love.[9] For you know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that, though he was rich, yet for your sakes he became poor, that you through his poverty might be rich.[10] And herein I give my advice: for this is expedient for you, who have begun before, not only to do, but also to be forward a year ago.[11] Now therefore perform the doing of it; that as there was a readiness to will, so there may be a performance also out of that which you have.[12] For if there be first a willing mind, it is accepted according to that a man has, and not according to that he has not.[13] For I mean not that other men be eased, and you burdened:[14] But by an equality, that now at this time your abundance may be a supply for their want, that their abundance also may be a supply for your want: that there may be equality:[15] As it is written, He that had gathered much had nothing over; and he that had gathered little had no lack.[16] But thanks be to God, which put the same earnest care into the heart of Titus for you.[17] For indeed he accepted the exhortation; but being more forward, of his own accord he went to you.[18] And we have sent with him the brother, whose praise is in the gospel throughout all the churches;[19] And not that only, but who was also chosen of the churches to travel with us with this grace, which is administered by us to the glory of the same Lord, and declaration of your ready mind:[20] Avoiding this, that no man should blame us in this abundance which is administered by us:[21] Providing for honest things, not only in the sight of the Lord, but also in the sight of men.[22] And we have sent with them our brother, whom we have oftentimes proved diligent in many things, but now much more diligent, on the great confidence which I have in you.[23] Whether any do inquire of Titus, he is my partner and fellow helper concerning you: or our brothers be inquired of, they are the messengers of the churches, and the glory of Christ.[24] Why show you to them, and before the churches, the proof of your love, and of our boasting on your behalf.

[2] For I know the forwardness of your mind, for which I boast of you to them of Macedonia, that Achaia was ready a year ago; and your zeal has provoked very many.[3] Yet have I sent the brothers, lest our boasting of you should be in vain in this behalf; that, as I said, you may be ready:[4] Lest haply if they of Macedonia come with me, and find you unprepared, we (that we say not, you) should be ashamed in this same confident boasting.[5] Therefore I thought it necessary to exhort the brothers, that they would go before to you, and make up beforehand your bounty, whereof you had notice before, that the same might be ready, as a matter of bounty, and not as of covetousness.[6] But this I say, He which sows sparingly shall reap also sparingly; and he which sows bountifully shall reap also bountifully.[7] Every man according as he purposes in his heart, so let him give; not grudgingly, or of necessity: for God loves a cheerful giver.[8] And God is able to make all grace abound toward you; that you, always having all sufficiency in all things, may abound to every good work:[9] (As it is written, He has dispersed abroad; he has given to the poor: his righteousness remains for ever.[10] Now he that ministers seed to the sower both minister bread for your food, and multiply your seed sown, and increase the fruits of your righteousness;)[11] Being enriched in every thing to all bountifulness, which causes through us thanksgiving to God.[12] For the administration of this service not only supplies the want of the saints, but is abundant also by many thanksgivings to God;[13] Whiles by the experiment of this ministration they glorify God for your professed subjection to the gospel of Christ, and for your liberal distribution to them, and to all men;[14] And by their prayer for you, which long after you for the exceeding grace of God in you.[15] Thanks be to God for his unspeakable gift.

[1] Now I Paul myself beseech you by the meekness and gentleness of Christ, who in presence am base among you, but being absent am bold toward you:

[2] But I beseech you, that I may not be bold when I am present with that confidence, with which I think to be bold against some, which think of us as if we walked according to the flesh.[3] For though we walk in the flesh, we do not war after the flesh:[4] (For the weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but mighty through God to the pulling down of strong holds;)[5] Casting down imaginations, and every high thing that exalts itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ;[6] And having in a readiness to revenge all disobedience, when your obedience is fulfilled.[7] Do you look on things after the outward appearance? If any man trust to himself that he is Christ's, let him of himself think this again, that, as he is Christ's, even so are we Christ's.[8] For though I should boast somewhat more of our authority, which the Lord has given us for edification, and not for your destruction, I should not be ashamed:[9] That I may not seem as if I would terrify you by letters.[10] For his letters, say they, are weighty and powerful; but his bodily presence is weak, and his speech contemptible.[11] Let such an one think this, that, such as we are in word by letters when we are absent, such will we be also in deed when we are present.[12] For we dare not make ourselves of the number, or compare ourselves with some that commend themselves: but they measuring themselves by themselves, and comparing themselves among themselves, are not wise.[13] But we will not boast of things without our measure, but according to the measure of the rule which God has distributed to us, a measure to reach even to you.[14] For we stretch not ourselves beyond our measure, as though we reached not to you: for we are come as far as to you also in preaching the gospel of Christ:[15] Not boasting of things without our measure, that is, of other men's labors; but having hope, when your faith is increased, that we shall be enlarged by you according to our rule abundantly,[16] To preach the gospel in the regions beyond you, and not to boast in another man's line of things made ready to our hand.[17] But he that glories, let him glory in the Lord.[18] For not he that commends himself is approved, but whom the Lord commends.

[1] Would to God you could bear with me a little in my folly: and indeed bear with me.

[2] For I am jealous over you with godly jealousy: for I have espoused you to one husband, that I may present you as a chaste virgin to Christ.[3] But I fear, lest by any means, as the serpent beguiled Eve through his subtlety, so your minds should be corrupted from the simplicity that is in Christ.[4] For if he that comes preaches another Jesus, whom we have not preached, or if you receive another spirit, which you have not received, or another gospel, which you have not accepted, you might well bear with him.[5] For I suppose I was not a whit behind the very most chief apostles.[6] But though I be rude in speech, yet not in knowledge; but we have been thoroughly made manifest among you in all things.[7] Have I committed an offense in abasing myself that you might be exalted, because I have preached to you the gospel of God freely?[8] I robbed other churches, taking wages of them, to do you service.[9] And when I was present with you, and wanted, I was chargeable to no man: for that which was lacking to me the brothers which came from Macedonia supplied: and in all things I have kept myself from being burdensome to you, and so will I keep myself.[10] As the truth of Christ is in me, no man shall stop me of this boasting in the regions of Achaia.[11] Why? because I love you not? God knows.[12] But what I do, that I will do, that I may cut off occasion from them which desire occasion; that wherein they glory, they may be found even as we.[13] For such are false apostles, deceitful workers, transforming themselves into the apostles of Christ.[14] And no marvel; for Satan himself is transformed into an angel of light.[15] Therefore it is no great thing if his ministers also be transformed as the ministers of righteousness; whose end shall be according to their works.[16] I say again, Let no man think me a fool; if otherwise, yet as a fool receive me, that I may boast myself a little.[17] That which I speak, I speak it not after the Lord, but as it were foolishly, in this confidence of boasting.[18] Seeing that many glory after the flesh, I will glory also.[19] For you suffer fools gladly, seeing you yourselves are wise.[20] For you suffer, if a man bring you into bondage, if a man devour you, if a man take of you, if a man exalt himself, if a man smite you on the face.[21] I speak as concerning reproach, as though we had been weak. However, when ever any is bold, (I speak foolishly,) I am bold also.[22] Are they Hebrews? so am I. Are they Israelites? so am I. Are they the seed of Abraham? so am I.[23] Are they ministers of Christ? (I speak as a fool) I am more; in labors more abundant, in stripes above measure, in prisons more frequent, in deaths oft.[24] Of the Jews five times received I forty stripes save one.[25] Thrice was I beaten with rods, once was I stoned, thrice I suffered shipwreck, a night and a day I have been in the deep;[26] In journeys often, in perils of waters, in perils of robbers, in perils by my own countrymen, in perils by the heathen, in perils in the city, in perils in the wilderness, in perils in the sea, in perils among false brothers;[27] In weariness and painfulness, in watchings often, in hunger and thirst, in fastings often, in cold and nakedness.[28] Beside those things that are without, that which comes on me daily, the care of all the churches.[29] Who is weak, and I am not weak? who is offended, and I burn not?[30] If I must needs glory, I will glory of the things which concern my infirmities.[31] The God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which is blessed for ever more, knows that I lie not.[32] In Damascus the governor under Aretas the king kept the city of the Damascenes with a garrison, desirous to apprehend me:[33] And through a window in a basket was I let down by the wall, and escaped his hands.

[1] It is not expedient for me doubtless to glory. I will come to visions and revelations of the Lord.

[2] I knew a man in Christ above fourteen years ago, (whether in the body, I cannot tell; or whether out of the body, I cannot tell: God knows;) such an one caught up to the third heaven.[3] And I knew such a man, (whether in the body, or out of the body, I cannot tell: God knows;)[4] How that he was caught up into paradise, and heard unspeakable words, which it is not lawful for a man to utter.[5] Of such an one will I glory: yet of myself I will not glory, but in my infirmities.[6] For though I would desire to glory, I shall not be a fool; for I will say the truth: but now I forbear, lest any man should think of me above that which he sees me to be, or that he hears of me.[7] And lest I should be exalted above measure through the abundance of the revelations, there was given to me a thorn in the flesh, the messenger of Satan to buffet me, lest I should be exalted above measure.[8] For this thing I sought the Lord thrice, that it might depart from me.[9] And he said to me, My grace is sufficient for you: for my strength is made perfect in weakness. Most gladly therefore will I rather glory in my infirmities, that the power of Christ may rest on me.[10] Therefore I take pleasure in infirmities, in reproaches, in necessities, in persecutions, in distresses for Christ's sake: for when I am weak, then am I strong.[11] I am become a fool in glorying; you have compelled me: for I ought to have been commended of you: for in nothing am I behind the very most chief apostles, though I be nothing.[12] Truly the signs of an apostle were worked among you in all patience, in signs, and wonders, and mighty deeds.[13] For what is it wherein you were inferior to other churches, except it be that I myself was not burdensome to you? forgive me this wrong.[14] Behold, the third time I am ready to come to you; and I will not be burdensome to you: for I seek not yours but you: for the children ought not to lay up for the parents, but the parents for the children.[15] And I will very gladly spend and be spent for you; though the more abundantly I love you, the less I be loved.[16] But be it so, I did not burden you: nevertheless, being crafty, I caught you with guile.[17] Did I make a gain of you by any of them whom I sent to you?[18] I desired Titus, and with him I sent a brother. Did Titus make a gain of you? walked we not in the same spirit? walked we not in the same steps?[19] Again, think you that we excuse ourselves to you? we speak before God in Christ: but we do all things, dearly beloved, for your edifying.[20] For I fear, lest, when I come, I shall not find you such as I would, and that I shall be found to you such as you would not: lest there be debates, contentions, wraths, strifes, backbitings, whisperings, arrogance, tumults:[21] And lest, when I come again, my God will humble me among you, and that I shall mourn many which have sinned already, and have not repented of the uncleanness and fornication and lasciviousness which they have committed.

[2] I told you before, and foretell you, as if I were present, the second time; and being absent now I write to them which heretofore have sinned, and to all other, that, if I come again, I will not spare:[3] Since you seek a proof of Christ speaking in me, which to you-ward is not weak, but is mighty in you.[4] For though he was crucified through weakness, yet he lives by the power of God. For we also are weak in him, but we shall live with him by the power of God toward you.[5] Examine yourselves, whether you be in the faith; prove your own selves. Know you not your own selves, how that Jesus Christ is in you, except you be reprobates?[6] But I trust that you shall know that we are not reprobates.[7] Now I pray to God that you do no evil; not that we should appear approved, but that you should do that which is honest, though we be as reprobates.[8] For we can do nothing against the truth, but for the truth.[9] For we are glad, when we are weak, and you are strong: and this also we wish, even your perfection.[10] Therefore I write these things being absent, lest being present I should use sharpness, according to the power which the Lord has given me to edification, and not to destruction.[11] Finally, brothers, farewell. Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you.[12] Greet one another with an holy kiss.[13] All the saints salute you.[14] The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the communion of the Holy Ghost, be with you all. Amen.

Galatians

An Introduction to the Book of Galatians

The genuineness of this epistle is not called in question. Its Pauline origin is universally acknowledged.

Occasion of. The churches of Galatia were founded by Paul himself (Acts 16:6; Gal. 1:8; 4:13, 19). They seem to have been composed mainly of converts from heathenism (4:8), but partly also of Jewish converts, who probably, under the influence of Judaizing teachers, sought to incorporate the rites of Judaism with Christianity, and by their active zeal had succeeded in inducing the majority of the churches to adopt their views (1:6; 3:1). This epistle was written for the purpose of counteracting this Judaizing tendency, and of recalling the Galatians to the simplicity of the gospel, and at the same time also of vindicating Paul's claim to be a divinely-commissioned apostle.

Time and place of writing. The epistle was probably written very soon after Paul's second visit to Galatia (Acts 18:23). The references of the epistle appear to agree with this conclusion. The visit to Jerusalem, mentioned in Gal. 2:1-10, was identical with that of Acts 15, and it is spoken of as a thing of the past, and consequently the epistle was written subsequently to the council of Jerusalem. The similarity between this epistle and that to the Romans has led to the conclusion that they were both written at the same time, namely, in the winter of A.D. 57-8, during Paul's stay in Corinth (Acts 20:2, 3). This to the Galatians is written on the urgency of the occasion, tidings having reached him of the state of matters; and that to the Romans in a more deliberate and systematic way, in exposition of the same great doctrines of the gospel.

Contents of. The great question discussed is, Was the Jewish law binding on Christians? The epistle is designed to prove against the Jews that men are justified by faith without the works of the law of Moses. After an introductory address (Gal. 1:1-10) the apostle discusses the subjects which had occasioned the epistle. (1) He defends his apostolic authority (1:11-19; 2:1-14); (2) shows the evil influence of the Judaizers in destroying the very essence of the gospel (3 and 4); (3) exhorts the Galatian believers to stand fast in the faith as it is in Jesus, and to abound in the fruits of the Spirit, and in a right use of their Christian freedom (5-6:1-10); (4) and then concludes with a summary of the topics discussed, and with the benediction.

The Epistle to the Galatians and that to the Romans taken together "form a complete proof that justification is not to be obtained meritoriously either by works of morality or by rites and ceremonies, though of divine appointment; but that it is a free gift, proceeding entirely from the mercy of God, to those who receive it by faith in Jesus our Lord."

In the conclusion of the epistle (6:11) Paul says, "Ye see how large a letter I have written with mine own hand." It is implied that this was different from his ordinary usage, which was simply to write the concluding salutation with his own hand, indicating that the rest of the epistle was written by another hand. Regarding this conclusion, Lightfoot, in his Commentary on the epistle, says: "At this point the apostle takes the pen from his amanuensis, and the concluding paragraph is written with his own hand. From the time when letters began to be forged in his name (2 Thess. 2:2; 3:17) it seems to have been his practice to close with a few words in his own handwriting, as a precaution against such forgeries...In the present case he writes a whole paragraph, summing up the main lessons of the epistle in terse, eager, disjointed sentences. He writes it, too, in large, bold characters (Gr. pelikois grammasin), that his hand-writing may reflect the energy and determination of his soul." (See JUSTIFICATION.)

Galatians

[1] Paul, an apostle, (not of men, neither by man, but by Jesus Christ, and God the Father, who raised him from the dead;)

[2] And all the brothers which are with me, to the churches of Galatia:[3] Grace be to you and peace from God the Father, and from our Lord Jesus Christ,[4] Who gave himself for our sins, that he might deliver us from this present evil world, according to the will of God and our Father:[5] To whom be glory for ever and ever. Amen.[6] I marvel that you are so soon removed from him that called you into the grace of Christ to another gospel:[7] Which is not another; but there be some that trouble you, and would pervert the gospel of Christ.[8] But though we, or an angel from heaven, preach any other gospel to you than that which we have preached to you, let him be accursed.[9] As we said before, so say I now again, if any man preach any other gospel to you than that you have received, let him be accursed.[10] For do I now persuade men, or God? or do I seek to please men? for if I yet pleased men, I should not be the servant of Christ.[11] But I certify you, brothers, that the gospel which was preached of me is not after man.[12] For I neither received it of man, neither was I taught it, but by the revelation of Jesus Christ.[13] For you have heard of my conversation in time past in the Jews' religion, how that beyond measure I persecuted the church of God, and wasted it:[14] And profited in the Jews' religion above many my equals in my own nation, being more exceedingly zealous of the traditions of my fathers.[15] But when it pleased God, who separated me from my mother's womb, and called me by his grace,[16] To reveal his Son in me, that I might preach him among the heathen; immediately I conferred not with flesh and blood:[17] Neither went I up to Jerusalem to them which were apostles before me; but I went into Arabia, and returned again to Damascus.[18] Then after three years I went up to Jerusalem to see Peter, and stayed with him fifteen days.[19] But other of the apostles saw I none, save James the Lord's brother.[20] Now the things which I write to you, behold, before God, I lie not.[21] Afterwards I came into the regions of Syria and Cilicia;[22] And was unknown by face to the churches of Judaea which were in Christ:[23] But they had heard only, That he which persecuted us in times past now preaches the faith which once he destroyed.[24] And they glorified God in me.

[1] Then fourteen years after I went up again to Jerusalem with Barnabas, and took Titus with me also.

[2] And I went up by revelation, and communicated to them that gospel which I preach among the Gentiles, but privately to them which were of reputation, lest by any means I should run, or had run, in vain.[3] But neither Titus, who was with me, being a Greek, was compelled to be circumcised:[4] And that because of false brothers unawares brought in, who came in privately to spy out our liberty which we have in Christ Jesus, that they might bring us into bondage:[5] To whom we gave place by subjection, no, not for an hour; that the truth of the gospel might continue with you.[6] But of these who seemed to be somewhat, (whatever they were, it makes no matter to me: God accepts no man's person:) for they who seemed to be somewhat in conference added nothing to me:[7] But contrariwise, when they saw that the gospel of the uncircumcision was committed to me, as the gospel of the circumcision was to Peter;[8] (For he that worked effectually in Peter to the apostleship of the circumcision, the same was mighty in me toward the Gentiles:)[9] And when James, Cephas, and John, who seemed to be pillars, perceived the grace that was given to me, they gave to me and Barnabas the right hands of fellowship; that we should go to the heathen, and they to the circumcision.[10] Only they would that we should remember the poor; the same which I also was forward to do.[11] But when Peter was come to Antioch, I withstood him to the face, because he was to be blamed.[12] For before that certain came from James, he did eat with the Gentiles: but when they were come, he withdrew and separated himself, fearing them which were of the circumcision.[13] And the other Jews dissembled likewise with him; so that Barnabas also was carried away with their dissimulation.[14] But when I saw that they walked not uprightly according to the truth of the gospel, I said to Peter before them all, If you, being a Jew, live after the manner of Gentiles, and not as do the Jews, why compel you the Gentiles to live as do the Jews?[15] We who are Jews by nature, and not sinners of the Gentiles,[16] Knowing that a man is not justified by the works of the law, but by the faith of Jesus Christ, even we have believed in Jesus Christ, that we might be justified by the faith of Christ, and not by the works of the law: for by the works of the law shall no flesh be justified.[17] But if, while we seek to be justified by Christ, we ourselves also are found sinners, is therefore Christ the minister of sin? God forbid.[18] For if I build again the things which I destroyed, I make myself a transgressor.[19] For I through the law am dead to the law, that I might live to God.[20] I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ lives in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me.[21] I do not frustrate the grace of God: for if righteousness come by the law, then Christ is dead in vain.

[1] O foolish Galatians, who has bewitched you, that you should not obey the truth, before whose eyes Jesus Christ has been evidently set forth, crucified among you?

[2] This only would I learn of you, Received you the Spirit by the works of the law, or by the hearing of faith?[3] Are you so foolish? having begun in the Spirit, are you now made perfect by the flesh?[4] Have you suffered so many things in vain? if it be yet in vain.[5] He therefore that ministers to you the Spirit, and works miracles among you, does he it by the works of the law, or by the hearing of faith?[6] Even as Abraham believed God, and it was accounted to him for righteousness.[7] Know you therefore that they which are of faith, the same are the children of Abraham.[8] And the scripture, foreseeing that God would justify the heathen through faith, preached before the gospel to Abraham, saying, In you shall all nations be blessed.[9] So then they which be of faith are blessed with faithful Abraham.[10] For as many as are of the works of the law are under the curse: for it is written, Cursed is every one that continues not in all things which are written in the book of the law to do them.[11] But that no man is justified by the law in the sight of God, it is evident: for, The just shall live by faith.[12] And the law is not of faith: but, The man that does them shall live in them.[13] Christ has redeemed us from the curse of the law, being made a curse for us: for it is written, Cursed is every one that hangs on a tree:[14] That the blessing of Abraham might come on the Gentiles through Jesus Christ; that we might receive the promise of the Spirit through faith.[15] Brothers, I speak after the manner of men; Though it be but a man's covenant, yet if it be confirmed, no man cancels, or adds thereto.[16] Now to Abraham and his seed were the promises made. He says not, And to seeds, as of many; but as of one, And to your seed, which is Christ.[17] And this I say, that the covenant, that was confirmed before of God in Christ, the law, which was four hundred and thirty years after, cannot cancel, that it should make the promise of none effect.[18] For if the inheritance be of the law, it is no more of promise: but God gave it to Abraham by promise.[19] Why then serves the law? It was added because of transgressions, till the seed should come to whom the promise was made; and it was ordained by angels in the hand of a mediator.[20] Now a mediator is not a mediator of one, but God is one.[21] Is the law then against the promises of God? God forbid: for if there had been a law given which could have given life, truly righteousness should have been by the law.[22] But the scripture has concluded all under sin, that the promise by faith of Jesus Christ might be given to them that believe.[23] But before faith came, we were kept under the law, shut up to the faith which should afterwards be revealed.[24] Why the law was our schoolmaster to bring us to Christ, that we might be justified by faith.[25] But after that faith is come, we are no longer under a schoolmaster.[26] For you are all the children of God by faith in Christ Jesus.[27] For as many of you as have been baptized into Christ have put on Christ.[28] There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: for you are all one in Christ Jesus.[29] And if you be Christ's, then are you Abraham's seed, and heirs according to the promise.

[1] Now I say, That the heir, as long as he is a child, differs nothing from a servant, though he be lord of all;

[2] But is under tutors and governors until the time appointed of the father.[3] Even so we, when we were children, were in bondage under the elements of the world:[4] But when the fullness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law,[5] To redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons.[6] And because you are sons, God has sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father.[7] Why you are no more a servant, but a son; and if a son, then an heir of God through Christ.[8] However, then, when you knew not God, you did service to them which by nature are no gods.[9] But now, after that you have known God, or rather are known of God, how turn you again to the weak and beggarly elements, to which you desire again to be in bondage?[10] You observe days, and months, and times, and years.[11] I am afraid of you, lest I have bestowed on you labor in vain.[12] Brothers, I beseech you, be as I am; for I am as you are: you have not injured me at all.[13] You know how through infirmity of the flesh I preached the gospel to you at the first.[14] And my temptation which was in my flesh you despised not, nor rejected; but received me as an angel of God, even as Christ Jesus.[15] Where is then the blessedness you spoke of? for I bear you record, that, if it had been possible, you would have plucked out your own eyes, and have given them to me.[16] Am I therefore become your enemy, because I tell you the truth?[17] They zealously affect you, but not well; yes, they would exclude you, that you might affect them.[18] But it is good to be zealously affected always in a good thing, and not only when I am present with you.[19] My little children, of whom I travail in birth again until Christ be formed in you,[20] I desire to be present with you now, and to change my voice; for I stand in doubt of you.[21] Tell me, you that desire to be under the law, do you not hear the law?[22] For it is written, that Abraham had two sons, the one by a female slave, the other by a free woman.[23] But he who was of the female slave was born after the flesh; but he of the free woman was by promise.[24] Which things are an allegory: for these are the two covenants; the one from the mount Sinai, which engenders to bondage, which is Agar.[25] For this Agar is mount Sinai in Arabia, and answers to Jerusalem which now is, and is in bondage with her children.[26] But Jerusalem which is above is free, which is the mother of us all.[27] For it is written, Rejoice, you barren that bore not; break forth and cry, you that travail not: for the desolate has many more children than she which has an husband.[28] Now we, brothers, as Isaac was, are the children of promise.[29] But as then he that was born after the flesh persecuted him that was born after the Spirit, even so it is now.[30] Nevertheless what says the scripture? Cast out the female slave and her son: for the son of the female slave shall not be heir with the son of the free woman.[31] So then, brothers, we are not children of the female slave, but of the free.

[1] Stand fast therefore in the liberty with which Christ has made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage.

[2] Behold, I Paul say to you, that if you be circumcised, Christ shall profit you nothing.[3] For I testify again to every man that is circumcised, that he is a debtor to do the whole law.[4] Christ is become of no effect to you, whoever of you are justified by the law; you are fallen from grace.[5] For we through the Spirit wait for the hope of righteousness by faith.[6] For in Jesus Christ neither circumcision avails any thing, nor uncircumcision; but faith which works by love.[7] You did run well; who did hinder you that you should not obey the truth?[8] This persuasion comes not of him that calls you.[9] A little leaven leavens the whole lump.[10] I have confidence in you through the Lord, that you will be none otherwise minded: but he that troubles you shall bear his judgment, whoever he be.[11] And I, brothers, if I yet preach circumcision, why do I yet suffer persecution? then is the offense of the cross ceased.[12] I would they were even cut off which trouble you.[13] For, brothers, you have been called to liberty; only use not liberty for an occasion to the flesh, but by love serve one another.[14] For all the law is fulfilled in one word, even in this; You shall love your neighbor as yourself.[15] But if you bite and devour one another, take heed that you be not consumed one of another.[16] This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and you shall not fulfill the lust of the flesh.[17] For the flesh lusts against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh: and these are contrary the one to the other: so that you cannot do the things that you would.[18] But if you be led of the Spirit, you are not under the law.[19] Now the works of the flesh are manifest, which are these; Adultery, fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness,[20] Idolatry, witchcraft, hatred, variance, jealousies, wrath, strife, seditions, heresies,[21] Contentions, murders, drunkenness, revelings, and such like: of the which I tell you before, as I have also told you in time past, that they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God.[22] But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith,[23] Meekness, temperance: against such there is no law.[24] And they that are Christ's have crucified the flesh with the affections and lusts.[25] If we live in the Spirit, let us also walk in the Spirit.[26] Let us not be desirous of vain glory, provoking one another, envying one another.

[1] Brothers, if a man be overtaken in a fault, you which are spiritual, restore such an one in the spirit of meekness; considering yourself, lest you also be tempted.

[2] Bear you one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ.[3] For if a man think himself to be something, when he is nothing, he deceives himself.[4] But let every man prove his own work, and then shall he have rejoicing in himself alone, and not in another.[5] For every man shall bear his own burden.[6] Let him that is taught in the word communicate to him that teaches in all good things.[7] Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatever a man sows, that shall he also reap.[8] For he that sows to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that sows to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting.[9] And let us not be weary in well doing: for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not.[10] As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good to all men, especially to them who are of the household of faith.[11] You see how large a letter I have written to you with my own hand.[12] As many as desire to make a fair show in the flesh, they constrain you to be circumcised; only lest they should suffer persecution for the cross of Christ.[13] For neither they themselves who are circumcised keep the law; but desire to have you circumcised, that they may glory in your flesh.[14] But God forbid that I should glory, save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom the world is crucified to me, and I to the world.[15] For in Christ Jesus neither circumcision avails any thing, nor uncircumcision, but a new creature.[16] And as many as walk according to this rule, peace be on them, and mercy, and on the Israel of God.[17] From now on let no man trouble me: for I bear in my body the marks of the Lord Jesus.[18] Brothers, the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit. Amen.

Ephesians

An Introduction to the Book of Ephesians

Was written by Paul at Rome about the same time as that to the Colossians, which in many points it resembles.

Contents of. The Epistle to the Colossians is mainly polemical, designed to refute certain theosophic errors that had crept into the church there. That to the Ephesians does not seem to have originated in any special circumstances, but is simply a letter springing from Paul's love to the church there, and indicative of his earnest desire that they should be fully instructed in the profound doctrines of the gospel. It contains (1) the salutation (1:1, 2); (2) a general description of the blessings the gospel reveals, as to their source, means by which they are attained, purpose for which they are bestowed, and their final result, with a fervent prayer for the further spiritual enrichment of the Ephesians (1:3-2:10); (3) "a record of that marked change in spiritual position which the Gentile believers now possessed, ending with an account of the writer's selection to and qualification for the apostolate of heathendom, a fact so considered as to keep them from being dispirited, and to lead him to pray for enlarged spiritual benefactions on his absent sympathizers" (2:12-3:21); (4) a chapter on unity as undisturbed by diversity of gifts (4:1-16); (5) special injunctions bearing on ordinary life (4:17-6:10); (6) the imagery of a spiritual warfare, mission of Tychicus, and valedictory blessing (6:11-24).

Planting of the church at Ephesus. Paul's first and hurried visit for the space of three months to Ephesus is recorded in Acts 18:19-21. The work he began on this occasion was carried forward by Apollos (24-26) and Aquila and Priscilla. On his second visit, early in the following year, he remained at Ephesus "three years," for he found it was the key to the western provinces of Asia Minor. Here "a great door and effectual" was opened to him (1 Cor. 16:9), and the church was established and strengthened by his assiduous labours there (Acts 20:20, 31). From Ephesus as a centre the gospel spread abroad "almost throughout all Asia" (19:26). The word "mightily grew and prevailed" despite all the opposition and persecution he encountered.

On his last journey to Jerusalem the apostle landed at Miletus, and summoning together the elders of the church from Ephesus, delivered to them his remarkable farewell charge (Acts 20:18-35), expecting to see them no more.

The following parallels between this epistle and the Milesian charge may be traced:

(1.) Acts 20:19 = Eph. 4:2. The phrase "lowliness of mind" occurs nowhere else.

(2.) Acts 20:27 = Eph. 1:11. The word "counsel," as denoting the divine plan, occurs only here and Heb. 6:17.

(3.) Acts 20:32 = Eph. 3:20. The divine ability.

(4.) Acts 20:32 = Eph. 2:20. The building upon the foundation.

(5.) Acts 20:32 = Eph. 1:14, 18. "The inheritance of the saints."

Place and date of the writing of the letter. It was evidently written from Rome during Paul's first imprisonment (3:1; 4:1; 6:20), and probably soon after his arrival there, about the year 62, four years after he had parted with the Ephesian elders at Miletus. The subscription of this epistle is correct.

There seems to have been no special occasion for the writing of this letter, as already noted. Paul's object was plainly not polemical. No errors had sprung up in the church which he sought to point out and refute. The object of the apostle is "to set forth the ground, the cause, and the aim and end of the church of the faithful in Christ. He speaks to the Ephesians as a type or sample of the church universal." The church's foundations, its course, and its end, are his theme. "Everywhere the foundation of the church is the will of the Father; the course of the church is by the satisfaction of the Son; the end of the church is the life in the Holy Spirit." In the Epistle to the Romans, Paul writes from the point of view of justification by the imputed righteousness of Christ; here he writes from the point of view specially of union to the Redeemer, and hence of the oneness of the true church of Christ. "This is perhaps the profoundest book in existence." It is a book "which sounds the lowest depths of Christian doctrine, and scales the loftiest heights of Christian experience;" and the fact that the apostle evidently expected the Ephesians to understand it is an evidence of the "proficiency which Paul's converts had attained under his preaching at Ephesus."

Relation between this epistle and that to the Colossians (q.v.). "The letters of the apostle are the fervent outburst of pastoral zeal and attachment, written without reserve and in unaffected simplicity; sentiments come warm from the heart, without the shaping out, pruning, and punctilious arrangement of a formal discourse. There is such a fresh and familiar transcription of feeling, so frequent an introduction of coloquial idiom, and so much of conversational frankness and vivacity, that the reader associates the image of the writer with every paragraph, and the ear seems to catch and recognize the very tones of living address." "Is it then any matter of amazement that one letter should resemble another, or that two written about the same time should have so much in common and so much that is peculiar? The close relation as to style and subject between the epistles to Colosse and Ephesus must strike every reader. Their precise relation to each other has given rise to much discussion. The great probability is that the epistle to Colosse was first written; the parallel passages in Ephesians, which amount to about forty-two in number, having the appearance of being expansions from the epistle to Colosse. Compare:

Eph 1:7; Col 1:14 Eph 1:10; Col 1:20 Eph 3:2; Col 1:25 Eph 5:19; Col 3:16 Eph 6:22; Col 4:8 Eph 1:19-2:5; Col 2:12, 13 Eph 4:2-4; Col 3:12-15 Eph 4:16; Col 2:19 Eph 4:32; Col 3:13 Eph 4:22-24; Col 3:9, 10 Eph 5:6-8; Col 3:6-8 Eph 5:15, 16; Col 4:5 Eph 6:19, 20; Col 4:3, 4 Eph 5:22-6:9; Col 3:18-4:1

"The style of this epistle is exceedingly animated, and corresponds with the state of the apostle's mind at the time of writing. Overjoyed with the account which their messenger had brought him of their faith and holiness (Eph. 1:15), and transported with the consideration of the unsearchable wisdom of God displayed in the work of man's redemption, and of his astonishing love towards the Gentiles in making them partakers through faith of all the benefits of Christ's death, he soars high in his sentiments on those grand subjects, and gives his thoughts utterance in sublime and copious expression."

Ephesians

[1] Paul, an apostle of Jesus Christ by the will of God, to the saints which are at Ephesus, and to the faithful in Christ Jesus:

[2] Grace be to you, and peace, from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.[3] Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who has blessed us with all spiritual blessings in heavenly places in Christ:[4] According as he has chosen us in him before the foundation of the world, that we should be holy and without blame before him in love:[5] Having predestinated us to the adoption of children by Jesus Christ to himself, according to the good pleasure of his will,[6] To the praise of the glory of his grace, wherein he has made us accepted in the beloved.[7] In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace;[8] Wherein he has abounded toward us in all wisdom and prudence;[9] Having made known to us the mystery of his will, according to his good pleasure which he has purposed in himself:[10] That in the dispensation of the fullness of times he might gather together in one all things in Christ, both which are in heaven, and which are on earth; even in him:[11] In whom also we have obtained an inheritance, being predestinated according to the purpose of him who works all things after the counsel of his own will:[12] That we should be to the praise of his glory, who first trusted in Christ.[13] In whom you also trusted, after that you heard the word of truth, the gospel of your salvation: in whom also after that you believed, you were sealed with that holy Spirit of promise,[14] Which is the earnest of our inheritance until the redemption of the purchased possession, to the praise of his glory.[15] Why I also, after I heard of your faith in the Lord Jesus, and love to all the saints,[16] Cease not to give thanks for you, making mention of you in my prayers;[17] That the God of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of glory, may give to you the spirit of wisdom and revelation in the knowledge of him:[18] The eyes of your understanding being enlightened; that you may know what is the hope of his calling, and what the riches of the glory of his inheritance in the saints,[19] And what is the exceeding greatness of his power to us-ward who believe, according to the working of his mighty power,[20] Which he worked in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his own right hand in the heavenly places,[21] Far above all principality, and power, and might, and dominion, and every name that is named, not only in this world, but also in that which is to come:[22] And has put all things under his feet, and gave him to be the head over all things to the church,[23] Which is his body, the fullness of him that fills all in all.

[1] And you has he quickened, who were dead in trespasses and sins;

[2] Wherein in time past you walked according to the course of this world, according to the prince of the power of the air, the spirit that now works in the children of disobedience:[3] Among whom also we all had our conversation in times past in the lusts of our flesh, fulfilling the desires of the flesh and of the mind; and were by nature the children of wrath, even as others.[4] But God, who is rich in mercy, for his great love with which he loved us,[5] Even when we were dead in sins, has quickened us together with Christ, (by grace you are saved;)[6] And has raised us up together, and made us sit together in heavenly places in Christ Jesus:[7] That in the ages to come he might show the exceeding riches of his grace in his kindness toward us through Christ Jesus.[8] For by grace are you saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God:[9] Not of works, lest any man should boast.[10] For we are his workmanship, created in Christ Jesus to good works, which God has before ordained that we should walk in them.[11] Why remember, that you being in time past Gentiles in the flesh, who are called Uncircumcision by that which is called the Circumcision in the flesh made by hands;[12] That at that time you were without Christ, being aliens from the commonwealth of Israel, and strangers from the covenants of promise, having no hope, and without God in the world:[13] But now in Christ Jesus you who sometimes were far off are made near by the blood of Christ.[14] For he is our peace, who has made both one, and has broken down the middle wall of partition between us;[15] Having abolished in his flesh the enmity, even the law of commandments contained in ordinances; for to make in himself of two one new man, so making peace;[16] And that he might reconcile both to God in one body by the cross, having slain the enmity thereby:[17] And came and preached peace to you which were afar off, and to them that were near.[18] For through him we both have access by one Spirit to the Father.[19] Now therefore you are no more strangers and foreigners, but fellow citizens with the saints, and of the household of God;[20] And are built on the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ himself being the chief corner stone;[21] In whom all the building fitly framed together grows to an holy temple in the Lord:[22] In whom you also are built together for an habitation of God through the Spirit.

[1] For this cause I Paul, the prisoner of Jesus Christ for you Gentiles,

[2] If you have heard of the dispensation of the grace of God which is given me to you-ward:[3] How that by revelation he made known to me the mystery; (as I wrote before in few words,[4] Whereby, when you read, you may understand my knowledge in the mystery of Christ)[5] Which in other ages was not made known to the sons of men, as it is now revealed to his holy apostles and prophets by the Spirit;[6] That the Gentiles should be fellow heirs, and of the same body, and partakers of his promise in Christ by the gospel:[7] Whereof I was made a minister, according to the gift of the grace of God given to me by the effectual working of his power.[8] To me, who am less than the least of all saints, is this grace given, that I should preach among the Gentiles the unsearchable riches of Christ;[9] And to make all men see what is the fellowship of the mystery, which from the beginning of the world has been hid in God, who created all things by Jesus Christ:[10] To the intent that now to the principalities and powers in heavenly places might be known by the church the manifold wisdom of God,[11] According to the eternal purpose which he purposed in Christ Jesus our Lord:[12] In whom we have boldness and access with confidence by the faith of him.[13] Why I desire that you faint not at my tribulations for you, which is your glory.[14] For this cause I bow my knees to the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ,[15] Of whom the whole family in heaven and earth is named,[16] That he would grant you, according to the riches of his glory, to be strengthened with might by his Spirit in the inner man;[17] That Christ may dwell in your hearts by faith; that you, being rooted and grounded in love,[18] May be able to comprehend with all saints what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and height;[19] And to know the love of Christ, which passes knowledge, that you might be filled with all the fullness of God.[20] Now to him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that works in us,[21] To him be glory in the church by Christ Jesus throughout all ages, world without end. Amen.

[1] I therefore, the prisoner of the Lord, beseech you that you walk worthy of the vocation with which you are called,

[2] With all lowliness and meekness, with long-suffering, forbearing one another in love;[3] Endeavoring to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace.[4] There is one body, and one Spirit, even as you are called in one hope of your calling;[5] One Lord, one faith, one baptism,[6] One God and Father of all, who is above all, and through all, and in you all.[7] But to every one of us is given grace according to the measure of the gift of Christ.[8] Why he says, When he ascended up on high, he led captivity captive, and gave gifts to men.[9] (Now that he ascended, what is it but that he also descended first into the lower parts of the earth?[10] He that descended is the same also that ascended up far above all heavens, that he might fill all things.)[11] And he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers;[12] For the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ:[13] Till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, to a perfect man, to the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ:[14]

That we from now on be no more children, tossed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive;[15] But speaking the truth in love, may grow up into him in all things, which is the head, even Christ:[16] From whom the whole body fitly joined together and compacted by that which every joint supplies, according to the effectual working in the measure of every part, makes increase of the body to the edifying of itself in love.[17] This I say therefore, and testify in the Lord, that you from now on walk not as other Gentiles walk, in the vanity of their mind,[18] Having the understanding darkened, being alienated from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the blindness of their heart:[19] Who being past feeling have given themselves over to lasciviousness, to work all uncleanness with greediness.[20] But you have not so learned Christ;[21] If so be that you have heard him, and have been taught by him, as the truth is in Jesus:[22] That you put off concerning the former conversation the old man, which is corrupt according to the deceitful lusts;[23] And be renewed in the spirit of your mind;[24] And that you put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness.[25] Why putting away lying, speak every man truth with his neighbor: for we are members one of another.[26] Be you angry, and sin not: let not the sun go down on your wrath:[27] Neither give place to the devil.[28] Let him that stole steal no more: but rather let him labor, working with his hands the thing which is good, that he may have to give to him that needs.[29] Let no corrupt communication proceed out of your mouth, but that which is good to the use of edifying, that it may minister grace to the hearers.[30] And grieve not the holy Spirit of God, whereby you are sealed to the day of redemption.[31] Let all bitterness, and wrath, and anger, and clamor, and evil speaking, be put away from you, with all malice:[32] And be you kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake has forgiven you.

[1] Be you therefore followers of God, as dear children;

[2] And walk in love, as Christ also has loved us, and has given himself for us an offering and a sacrifice to God for a sweet smelling smell.[3] But fornication, and all uncleanness, or covetousness, let it not be once named among you, as becomes saints;[4] Neither filthiness, nor foolish talking, nor jesting, which are not convenient: but rather giving of thanks.[5] For this you know, that no fornicator, nor unclean person, nor covetous man, who is an idolater, has any inheritance in the kingdom of Christ and of God.[6] Let no man deceive you with vain words: for because of these things comes the wrath of God on the children of disobedience.[7] Be not you therefore partakers with them.[8] For you were sometimes darkness, but now are you light in the Lord: walk as children of light:[9] (For the fruit of the Spirit is in all goodness and righteousness and truth;)[10] Proving what is acceptable to the Lord.[11] And have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them.[12] For it is a shame even to speak of those things which are done of them in secret.[13] But all things that are reproved are made manifest by the light: for whatever does make manifest is light.[14] Why he says, Awake you that sleep, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give you light.[15] See then that you walk circumspectly, not as fools, but as wise,[16] Redeeming the time, because the days are evil.[17] Why be you not unwise, but understanding what the will of the Lord is.[18] And be not drunk with wine, wherein is excess; but be filled with the Spirit;[19] Speaking to yourselves in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing and making melody in your heart to the Lord;[20] Giving thanks always for all things to God and the Father in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ;[21] Submitting yourselves one to another in the fear of God.[22] Wives, submit yourselves to your own husbands, as to the Lord.[23] For the husband is the head of the wife, even as Christ is the head of the church: and he is the savior of the body.[24] Therefore as the church is subject to Christ, so let the wives be to their own husbands in every thing.[25] Husbands, love your wives, even as Christ also loved the church, and gave himself for it;[26] That he might sanctify and cleanse it with the washing of water by the word,[27] That he might present it to himself a glorious church, not having spot, or wrinkle, or any such thing; but that it should be holy and without blemish.[28] So ought men to love their wives as their own bodies. He that loves his wife loves himself.[29] For no man ever yet hated his own flesh; but nourishes and cherishes it, even as the Lord the church:[30] For we are members of his body, of his flesh, and of his bones.[31] For this cause shall a man leave his father and mother, and shall be joined to his wife, and they two shall be one flesh.[32] This is a great mystery: but I speak concerning Christ and the church.[33] Nevertheless let every one of you in particular so love his wife even as himself; and the wife see that she reverence her husband.

[1] Children, obey your parents in the Lord: for this is right.
[2] Honor your father and mother; which is the first commandment with promise;[3] That it may be well with you, and you may live long on the earth.[4] And, you fathers, provoke not your children to wrath: but bring them up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord.[5] Servants, be obedient to them that are your masters according to the flesh, with fear and trembling, in singleness of your heart, as to Christ;[6] Not with eye-service, as men pleasers; but as the servants of Christ, doing the will of God from the heart;[7] With good will doing service, as to the Lord, and not to men:[8] Knowing that whatever good thing any man does, the same shall he receive of the Lord, whether he be bond or free.[9] And, you masters, do the same things to them, forbearing threatening: knowing that your Master also is in heaven; neither is there respect of persons with him.[10] Finally, my brothers, be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might.[11] Put on the whole armor of God, that you may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil.[12] For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places.[13] Why take to you the whole armor of God, that you may be able to withstand in the evil day, and having done all, to stand.[14] Stand therefore, having your loins girt about with truth, and having on the breastplate of righteousness;[15] And your feet shod with the preparation of the gospel of peace;[16] Above all, taking the shield of faith, with which you shall be able to quench all the fiery darts of the wicked.[17] And take the helmet of salvation, and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God:[18] Praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit, and watching thereunto with all perseverance and supplication for all saints;[19] And for me, that utterance may be given to me, that I may open my mouth boldly, to make known the mystery of the gospel,[20] For which I am an ambassador in bonds: that therein I may speak boldly, as I ought to speak.[21] But that you also may know my affairs, and how I do, Tychicus, a beloved brother and faithful minister in the Lord, shall make known to you all things:[22] Whom I have sent to you for the same purpose, that you might know our affairs, and that he might comfort your hearts.[23] Peace be to the brothers, and love with faith, from God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.[24] Grace be with all them that love our Lord Jesus Christ in sincerity. Amen.

Philippians

An Introduction to the Book of Philippians

Was written by Paul during the two years when he was “in bonds” in Rome (Phil. 1:7-13), probably early in the year A.D. 62 or in the end of 61.

The Philippians had sent Epaphroditus, their messenger, with contributions to meet the necessities of the apostle; and on his return Paul sent back with him this letter. With this precious communication Epaphroditus sets out on his homeward journey. “The joy caused by his return, and the effect of this wonderful letter when first read in the church of Philippi, are hidden from us. And we may almost say that with this letter the church itself passes from our view. To-day, in silent meadows, quiet cattle browse among the ruins which mark the site of what was once the flourishing Roman colony of Philippi, the home of the most attractive church of the apostolic age. But the name and fame and spiritual influence of that church will never pass. To myriads of men and women in every age and nation the letter written in a dungeon at Rome, and carried along the Egnatian Way by an obscure Christian messenger, has been a light divine and a cheerful guide along the most rugged paths of life” (Professor Beet).

The church at Philippi was the first-fruits of European Christianity. Their attachment to the apostle was very fervent, and so also was his affection for them. They alone of all the churches helped him by their contributions, which he gratefully acknowledges (Acts 20:33-35; 2 Cor. 11:7-12; 2 Thess. 3:8). The pecuniary liberality of the Philippians comes out very conspicuously (Phil. 4:15). “This was a characteristic of the Macedonian missions, as 2 Cor. 8 and 9 amply and beautifully prove. It is remarkable that the Macedonian converts were, as a class, very poor (2 Cor. 8:2); and the parallel facts, their poverty and their open-handed support of the great missionary and his work, are deeply harmonious. At the present day the missionary liberality of poor Christians is, in proportion, really greater than that of the rich” (Moule’s Philippians, Introd.).

The contents of this epistle give an interesting insight into the condition of the church at Rome at the time it was written. Paul’s imprisonment, we are informed, was no hindrance to his preaching the gospel, but rather “turned out to the furtherance of the gospel.” The gospel spread very extensively among the Roman soldiers, with whom he was in constant contact, and the Christians grew into a “vast multitude.” It is plain that Christianity was at this time making rapid advancement in Rome.

The doctrinal statements of this epistle bear a close relation to those of the Epistle to the Romans. Compare also Phil. 3:20 with Eph. 2:12, 19, where the church is presented under the idea of a city or commonwealth for the first time in Paul’s writings. The personal glory of Christ is also set forth in almost parallel forms of expression in Phil. 2:5-11, compared with Eph. 1:17-23; 2:8; and Col. 1:15-20. “This exposition of the grace and wonder of His personal majesty, personal self-abasement, and personal exaltation after it,” found in these epistles, “is, in a great measure, a new development in the revelations given through St. Paul” (Moule). Other minuter analogies in forms of expression and of thought are also found in these epistles of the Captivity.

[1] Paul and Timotheus, the servants of Jesus Christ, to all the saints in Christ Jesus which are at Philippi, with the bishops and deacons:

[2] Grace be to you, and peace, from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.[3] I thank my God on every remembrance of you,[4] Always in every prayer of my for you all making request with joy,[5] For your fellowship in the gospel from the first day until now;[6] Being confident of this very thing, that he which has begun a good work in you will perform it until the day of Jesus Christ:[7] Even as it is meet for me to think this of you all, because I have you in my heart; inasmuch as both in my bonds, and in the defense and confirmation of the gospel, you all are partakers of my grace.[8] For God is my record, how greatly I long after you all in the bowels of Jesus Christ.[9] And this I pray, that your love may abound yet more and more in knowledge and in all judgment;[10] That you may approve things that are excellent; that you may be sincere and without offense till the day of Christ.[11] Being filled with the fruits of righteousness, which are by Jesus Christ, to the glory and praise of God.[12] But I would you should understand, brothers, that the things which happened to me have fallen out rather to the furtherance of the gospel;[13] So that my bonds in Christ are manifest in all the palace, and in all other places;[14] And many of the brothers in the Lord, waxing confident by my bonds, are much more bold to speak the word without fear.[15] Some indeed preach Christ even of envy and strife; and some also of good will:[16] The one preach Christ of contention, not sincerely, supposing to add affliction to my bonds:[17] But the other of love, knowing that I am set for the defense of the gospel.[18] What then? notwithstanding, every way, whether in pretense, or in truth, Christ is preached; and I therein do rejoice, yes, and will rejoice.[19] For I know that this shall turn to my salvation through your prayer, and the supply of the Spirit of Jesus Christ,[20] According to my earnest expectation and my hope, that in nothing I shall be ashamed, but that with all boldness, as always, so now also Christ shall be magnified in my body, whether it be by life, or by death.[21] For to me to live is Christ, and to die is gain.[22] But if I live in the flesh, this is the fruit of my labor: yet what I shall choose I know not.[23] For I am in a strait between two, having a desire to depart, and to be with Christ; which is far better:[24] Nevertheless to abide in the flesh is more needful for you.[25] And having this confidence, I know that I shall abide and continue with you all for your furtherance and joy of faith;[26] That your rejoicing may be more abundant in Jesus Christ for me by my coming to you again.[27] Only let your conversation be as it becomes the gospel of Christ: that whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your affairs, that you stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel;[28] And in nothing terrified by your adversaries: which is to them an evident token of perdition, but to you of salvation, and that of God.[29] For to you it is given in the behalf of Christ, not only to believe on him, but also to suffer for his sake;[30] Having the same conflict which you saw in me, and now hear to be in me.

[1] If there be therefore any consolation in Christ, if any comfort of love, if any fellowship of the Spirit, if any bowels and mercies,

[2] Fulfill you my joy, that you be like minded, having the same love, being of one accord, of one mind.[3] Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves.[4] Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others.[5] Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus:[6] Who, being in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God:[7] But made himself of no reputation, and took on him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men:[8] And being found in fashion as a man, he humbled himself, and became obedient to death, even the death of the cross.[9] Why God also has highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name:[10] That at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth;[11] And that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father.[12] Why, my beloved, as you have always obeyed, not as in my presence only, but now much more in my absence, work out your own salvation with fear and trembling.[13] For it is God which works in you both to will and to do of his good pleasure.[14] Do all things without murmurings and disputings:[15] That you may be blameless and harmless, the sons of God, without rebuke, in the middle of a crooked and perverse nation, among whom you shine as lights in the world;[16] Holding forth the word of life; that I may rejoice in the day of Christ, that I have not run in vain, neither labored in vain.[17] Yes, and if I be offered on the sacrifice and service of your faith, I joy, and rejoice with you all.[18] For the same cause also do you joy, and rejoice with me.[19] But I trust in the Lord Jesus to send Timotheus shortly to you, that I also may be of good comfort, when I know your state.[20] For I have no man like minded, who will naturally care for your state.[21] For all seek their own, not the things which are Jesus Christ's.[22] But you know the proof of him, that, as a son with the father, he has served with me in the gospel.[23] Him therefore I hope to send presently, so soon as I shall see how it will go with me.[24] But I trust in the Lord that I also myself shall come shortly.[25] Yet I supposed it necessary to send to you Epaphroditus, my brother, and companion in labor, and fellow soldier, but your messenger, and he that ministered to my wants.[26] For he longed after you all, and was full of heaviness, because that you had heard that he had been sick.[27] For indeed he was sick near to death: but God had mercy on him; and not on him only, but on me also, lest I should have sorrow on sorrow.[28] I sent him therefore the more carefully, that, when you see him again, you may rejoice, and that I may be the less sorrowful.[29] Receive him therefore in the Lord with all gladness; and hold such in reputation:[30] Because for the work of Christ he was near to death, not regarding his life, to supply your lack of service toward me.

[1] Finally, my brothers, rejoice in the Lord. To write the same things to you, to me indeed is not grievous, but for you it is safe.

[2] Beware of dogs, beware of evil workers, beware of the concision.[3] For we are the circumcision, which worship God in the spirit, and rejoice in Christ Jesus, and have no confidence in the flesh.[4] Though I might also have confidence in the flesh. If any other man thinks that he has whereof he might trust in the flesh, I more:[5] Circumcised the eighth day, of the stock of Israel, of the tribe of Benjamin, an Hebrew of the Hebrews; as touching the law, a Pharisee;[6] Concerning zeal, persecuting the church; touching the righteousness which is in the law, blameless.[7] But what things were gain to me, those I counted loss for Christ.[8] Yes doubtless, and I count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord: for whom I have suffered the loss of all things, and do count them but dung, that I may win Christ,[9] And be found in him, not having my own righteousness, which is of the law, but that which is through the faith of Christ, the righteousness which is of God by faith:[10] That I may know him, and the power of his resurrection, and the fellowship of his sufferings, being made conformable to his death;[11] If by any means I might attain to the resurrection of the dead.[12] Not as though I had already attained, either were already perfect: but I follow after, if that I may apprehend that for which also I am apprehended of Christ Jesus.[13] Brothers, I count not myself to have apprehended: but this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth to those things which are before,[14] I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus.[15] Let us therefore, as many as be perfect, be thus minded: and if in any thing you be otherwise minded, God shall reveal even this to you.[16] Nevertheless, whereto we have already attained, let us walk by the same rule, let us mind the same thing.[17] Brothers, be followers together of me, and mark them which walk so as you have us for an ensample.[18] (For many walk, of whom I have told you often, and now tell you even weeping, that they are the enemies of the cross of Christ:[19] Whose end is destruction, whose God is their belly, and whose glory is in their shame, who mind earthly things.)[20] For our conversation is in heaven; from where also we look for the Savior, the Lord Jesus Christ:[21] Who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like to his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things to himself.

[1] Therefore, my brothers dearly beloved and longed for, my joy and crown, so stand fast in the Lord, my dearly beloved.

[2] I beseech Euodias, and beseech Syntyche, that they be of the same mind in the Lord.[3] And I entreat you also, true yoke fellow, help those women which labored with me in the gospel, with Clement also, and with other my fellow laborers, whose names are in the book of life.[4] Rejoice in the Lord always: and again I say, Rejoice.[5] Let your moderation be known to all men. The Lord is at hand.[6] Be careful for nothing; but in every thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known to God.[7] And the peace of God, which passes all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus.[8] Finally, brothers, whatever things are true, whatever things are honest, whatever things are just, whatever things are pure, whatever things are lovely, whatever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things.[9] Those things, which you have both learned, and received, and heard, and seen in me, do: and the God of peace shall be with you.[10] But I rejoiced in the Lord greatly, that now at the last your care of me has flourished again; wherein you were also careful, but you lacked opportunity.[11] Not that I speak in respect of want: for I have learned, in whatever state I am, therewith to be content.[12] I know both how to be abased, and I know how to abound: every where and in all things I am instructed both to be full and to be hungry, both to abound and to suffer need.[13] I can do all things through Christ which strengthens me.[14] Notwithstanding you have well done, that you did communicate with my affliction.[15] Now you Philippians know also, that in the beginning of the gospel, when I departed from Macedonia, no church communicated with me as concerning giving and receiving, but you only.[16] For even in Thessalonica you sent once and again to my necessity.[17] Not because I desire a gift: but I desire fruit that may abound to your account.[18] But I have all, and abound: I am full, having received of Epaphroditus the things which were sent from you, an odor of a sweet smell, a sacrifice acceptable, well pleasing to God.[19] But my God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus.[20] Now to God and our Father be glory for ever and ever. Amen.[21] Salute every saint in Christ Jesus. The brothers which are with me greet you.[22] All the saints salute you, chiefly they that are of Caesar's household.[23] The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all. Amen.

Colossians

An Introduction to the Book of Colossians

Was written by Paul at Rome during his first imprisonment there (Acts 28:16, 30), probably in the spring of A.D. 57, or, as some think, 62, and soon after he had written his Epistle to the Ephesians. Like some of his other epistles (e.g., those to Corinth), this seems to have been written in consequence of information which had somehow been conveyed to him of the internal state of the church there (Col. 1:4-8). Its object was to counteract false teaching. A large part of it is directed against certain speculatists who attempted to combine the doctrines of Oriental mysticism and asceticism with Christianity, thereby promising the disciples the enjoyment of a higher spiritual life and a deeper insight into the world of spirits. Paul argues against such teaching, showing that in Christ Jesus they had all things. He sets forth the majesty of his redemption. The mention of the “new moon” and “sabbath days” (2:16) shows also that there were here Judaizing teachers who sought to draw away the disciples from the simplicity of the gospel.

Like most of Paul’s epistles, this consists of two parts, a doctrinal and a practical.

(1.) The doctrinal part comprises the first two chapters. His main theme is developed in chapter 2. He warns them against being drawn away from Him in whom dwelt all the fulness of the Godhead, and who was the head of all spiritual powers. Christ was the head of the body of which they were members; and if they were truly united to him, what needed they more?

(2.) The practical part of the epistle (3-4) enforces various duties naturally flowing from the doctrines expounded. They are exhorted to mind things that are above (3:1-4), to mortify every evil principle of their nature, and to put on the new man (3:5-14). Many special duties of the Christian life are also insisted upon as the fitting evidence of the Christian character. Tychicus was the bearer of the letter, as he was also of that to the Ephesians and to Philemon, and he would tell them of the state of the apostle (4:7-9). After friendly greetings (10-14), he bids them interchange this letter with that he had sent to the neighbouring church of Laodicea. He then closes this brief but striking epistle with his usual autograph salutation. There is a remarkable resemblance between this epistle and that to the Ephesians (q.v.). The genuineness of this epistle has not been called in question.

[1] Paul, an apostle of Jesus Christ by the will of God, and Timotheus our brother,

[2] To the saints and faithful brothers in Christ which are at Colosse: Grace be to you, and peace, from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.[3] We give thanks to God and the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, praying always for you,[4] Since we heard of your faith in Christ Jesus, and of the love which you have to all the saints,[5] For the hope which is laid up for you in heaven, whereof you heard before in the word of the truth of the gospel;[6] Which is come to you, as it is in all the world; and brings forth fruit, as it does also in you, since the day you heard of it, and knew the grace of God in truth:[7] As you also learned of Epaphras our dear fellow servant, who is for you a faithful minister of Christ;[8] Who also declared to us your love in the Spirit.[9] For this cause we also, since the day we heard it, do not cease to pray for you, and to desire that you might be filled with the knowledge of his will in all wisdom and spiritual understanding;[10] That you might walk worthy of the Lord to all pleasing, being fruitful in every good work, and increasing in the knowledge of God;[11] Strengthened with all might, according to his glorious power, to all patience and long-suffering with joyfulness;[12] Giving thanks to the Father, which has made us meet to be partakers of the inheritance of the saints in light:[13] Who has delivered us from the power of darkness, and has translated us into the kingdom of his dear Son:[14] In whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins:[15] Who is the image of the invisible God, the firstborn of every creature:[16] For by him were all things created, that are in heaven, and that are in earth, visible and invisible, whether they be thrones, or dominions, or principalities, or powers: all things were created by him, and for him:[17] And he is before all things, and by him all things consist.[18] And he is the head of the body, the church: who is the beginning, the firstborn from the dead; that in all things he might have the preeminence.[19] For it pleased the Father that in him should all fullness dwell;[20] And, having made peace through the blood of his cross, by him to reconcile all things to himself; by him, I say, whether they be things in earth, or things in heaven.[21] And you, that were sometime alienated and enemies in your mind by wicked works, yet now has he reconciled[22] In the body of his flesh through death, to present you holy and blameless and unreproveable in his sight:[23] If you continue in the faith grounded and settled, and be not moved away from the hope of the gospel, which you have heard, and which was preached to every creature which is under heaven; whereof I Paul am made a minister;[24] Who now rejoice in my sufferings for you, and fill up that which is behind of the afflictions of Christ in my flesh for his body's sake, which is the church:[25] Whereof I am made a minister, according to the dispensation of God which is given to me for you, to fulfill the word of God;[26] Even the mystery which has been hid from ages and from generations, but now is made manifest to his saints:[27] To whom God would make known what is the riches of the glory of this mystery among the Gentiles; which is Christ in you, the hope of glory:[28] Whom we preach, warning every man, and teaching every man in all wisdom; that we may present every man perfect in Christ Jesus:[29] Whereunto I also labor, striving according to his working, which works in me mightily.

[1] For I would that you knew what great conflict I have for you, and for them at Laodicea, and for as many as have not seen my face in the flesh;

[2] That their hearts might be comforted, being knit together in love, and to all riches of the full assurance of understanding, to the acknowledgment of the mystery of God, and of the Father, and of Christ;[3] In whom are hid all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge.[4] And this I say, lest any man should beguile you with enticing words.[5] For though I be absent in the flesh, yet am I with you in the spirit, rejoicing and beholding your order, and the steadfastness of your faith in Christ.[6] As you have therefore received Christ Jesus the Lord, so walk you in him:[7] Rooted and built up in him, and established in the faith, as you have been taught, abounding therein with thanksgiving.[8] Beware lest any man spoil you through philosophy and vain deceit, after the tradition of men, after the rudiments of the world, and not after Christ.[9] For in him dwells all the fullness of the Godhead bodily.[10] And you are complete in him, which is the head of all principality and power:[11] In whom also you are circumcised with the circumcision made without hands, in putting off the body of the sins of the flesh by the circumcision of Christ:[12] Buried with him in baptism, wherein also you are risen with him through the faith of the operation of God, who has raised him from the dead.[13] And you, being dead in your sins and the uncircumcision of your flesh, has he quickened together with him, having forgiven you all trespasses;[14] Blotting out the handwriting of ordinances that was against us, which was contrary to us, and took it out of the way, nailing it to his cross;[15] And having spoiled principalities and powers, he made a show of them openly, triumphing over them in it.[16] Let no man therefore judge you in meat, or in drink, or in respect of an holy day, or of the new moon, or of the sabbath days:[17] Which are a shadow of things to come; but the body is of Christ.[18] Let no man beguile you of your reward in a voluntary humility and worshipping of angels, intruding into those things which he has not seen, vainly puffed up by his fleshly mind,[19] And not holding the Head, from which all the body by joints and bands having nourishment ministered, and knit together, increases with the increase of God.[20] Why if you be dead with Christ from the rudiments of the world, why, as though living in the world, are you subject to ordinances,[21] (Touch not; taste not; handle not;[22] Which all are to perish with the using;) after the commandments and doctrines of men?[23] Which things have indeed a show of wisdom in will worship, and humility, and neglecting of the body: not in any honor to the satisfying of the flesh.

[1] If you then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ sits on the right hand of God.

[2] Set your affection on things above, not on things on the earth.[3] For you are dead, and your life is hid with Christ in God.[4] When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall you also appear with him in glory.[5] Mortify therefore your members which are on the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry:[6] For which things' sake the wrath of God comes on the children of disobedience:[7] In the which you also walked some time, when you lived in them.[8] But now you also put off all these; anger, wrath, malice, blasphemy, filthy communication out of your mouth.[9] Lie not one to another, seeing that you have put off the old man with his deeds;[10] And have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him:[11] Where there is neither Greek nor Jew, circumcision nor uncircumcision, Barbarian, Scythian, bond nor free: but Christ is all, and in all.[12] Put on therefore, as the elect of God, holy and beloved, bowels of mercies, kindness, humbleness of mind, meekness, long-suffering;[13] Forbearing one another, and forgiving one another, if any man have a quarrel against any: even as Christ forgave you, so also do you.[14] And above all these things put on charity, which is the bond of perfection.[15] And let the peace of God rule in your hearts, to the which also you are called in one body; and be you thankful.[16] Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom; teaching and admonishing one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing with grace in your hearts to the Lord.[17] And whatever you do in word or deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God and the Father by him.[18] Wives, submit yourselves to your own husbands, as it is fit in the Lord.[19] Husbands, love your wives, and be not bitter against them.[20] Children, obey your parents in all things: for this is well pleasing to the Lord.[21] Fathers, provoke not your children to anger, lest they be discouraged.[22] Servants, obey in all things your masters according to the flesh; not with eye-service, as men pleasers; but in singleness of heart, fearing God;[23] And whatever you do, do it heartily, as to the Lord, and not to men;[24] Knowing that of the Lord you shall receive the reward of the inheritance: for you serve the Lord Christ.[25] But he that does wrong shall receive for the wrong which he has done: and there is no respect of persons.

[1] Masters, give to your servants that which is just and equal; knowing that you also have a Master in heaven.

[2] Continue in prayer, and watch in the same with thanksgiving;[3] With praying also for us, that God would open to us a door of utterance, to speak the mystery of Christ, for which I am also in bonds:[4] That I may make it manifest, as I ought to speak.[5] Walk in wisdom toward them that are without, redeeming the time.[6] Let your speech be always with grace, seasoned with salt, that you may know how you ought to answer every man.[7] All my state shall Tychicus declare to you, who is a beloved brother, and a faithful minister and fellow servant in the Lord:[8] Whom I have sent to you for the same purpose, that he might know your estate, and comfort your hearts;[9] With Onesimus, a faithful and beloved brother, who is one of you. They shall make known to you all things which are done here.[10] Aristarchus my fellow prisoner salutes you, and Marcus, sister's son to Barnabas, (touching whom you received commandments: if he come to you, receive him;)[11] And Jesus, which is called Justus, who are of the circumcision. These only are my fellow workers to the kingdom of God, which have been a comfort to me.[12] Epaphras, who is one of you, a servant of Christ, salutes you, always laboring fervently for you in prayers, that you may stand perfect and complete in all the will of God.[13] For I bear him record, that he has a great zeal for you, and them that are in Laodicea, and them in Hierapolis.[14] Luke, the beloved physician, and Demas, greet you.[15] Salute the brothers which are in Laodicea, and Nymphas, and the church which is in his house.[16] And when this letter is read among you, cause that it be read also in the church of the Laodiceans; and that you likewise read the letter from Laodicea.[17] And say to Archippus, Take heed to the ministry which you have received in the Lord, that you fulfill it.[18] The salutation by the hand of me Paul. Remember my bonds. Grace be with you. Amen.

1 Thessalonians

An Introduction to the Book of 1 Thessalonians

The first epistle to the Thessalonians was the first of all Paul's epistles. It was in all probability written from Corinth, where he abode a "long time" (Acts 18:11, 18), early in the period of his residence there, about the end of A.D. 52.

The occasion of its being written was the return of Timotheus from Macedonia, bearing tidings from Thessalonica regarding the state of the church there (Acts 18:1-5; 1 Thess. 3:6). While, on the whole, the report of Timothy was encouraging, it also showed that divers errors and misunderstandings regarding the tenor of Paul's teaching had crept in amongst them. He addresses them in this letter with the view of correcting these errors, and especially for the purpose of exhorting them to purity of life, reminding them that their sanctification was the great end desired by God regarding them.

The subscription erroneously states that this epistle was written from Athens.

The second epistle to the Thessalonians was probably also written from Corinth, and not many months after the first.

The occasion of the writing of this epistle was the arrival of tidings that the tenor of the first epistle had been misunderstood, especially with reference to the second advent of Christ. The Thessalonians had embraced the idea that Paul had taught that "the day of Christ was at hand", that Christ's coming was just about to happen. This error is corrected (2:1-12), and the apostle prophetically announces what first must take place. "The apostasy" was first to arise. Various explanations of this expression have been given, but that which is most satisfactory refers it to the Church of Rome.

[1] Paul, and Silvanus, and Timotheus, to the church of the Thessalonians which is in God the Father and in the Lord Jesus Christ: Grace be to you, and peace, from God our Father, and the Lord Jesus Christ.

[2] We give thanks to God always for you all, making mention of you in our prayers;[3] Remembering without ceasing your work of faith, and labor of love, and patience of hope in our Lord Jesus Christ, in the sight of God and our Father;[4] Knowing, brothers beloved, your election of God.[5] For our gospel came not to you in word only, but also in power, and in the Holy Ghost, and in much assurance; as you know what manner of men we were among you for your sake.[6] And you became followers of us, and of the Lord, having received the word in much affliction, with joy of the Holy Ghost.[7] So that you were ensamples to all that believe in Macedonia and Achaia.[8] For from you sounded out the word of the Lord not only in Macedonia and Achaia, but also in every place your faith to God-ward is spread abroad; so that we need not to speak any thing.[9] For they themselves show of us what manner of entering in we had to you, and how you turned to God from idols to serve the living and true God;[10] And to wait for his Son from heaven, whom he raised from the dead, even Jesus, which delivered us from the wrath to come.

[1] For yourselves, brothers, know our entrance in to you, that it was not in vain:

[2] But even after that we had suffered before, and were shamefully entreated, as you know, at Philippi, we were bold in our God to speak to you the gospel of God with much contention.[3] For our exhortation was not of deceit, nor of uncleanness, nor in guile:[4] But as we were allowed of God to be put in trust with the gospel, even so we speak; not as pleasing men, but God, which tries our hearts.[5] For neither at any time used we flattering words, as you know, nor a cloak of covetousness; God is witness:[6] Nor of men sought we glory, neither of you, nor yet of others, when we might have been burdensome, as the apostles of Christ.[7] But we were gentle among you, even as a nurse cherishes her children:[8] So being affectionately desirous of you, we were willing to have imparted to you, not the gospel of God only, but also our own souls, because you were dear to us.[9] For you remember, brothers, our labor and travail: for laboring night and day, because we would not be chargeable to any of you, we preached to you the gospel of God.[10] You are witnesses, and God also, how piously and justly and blamelessly we behaved ourselves among you that believe:[11] As you know how we exhorted and comforted and charged every one of you, as a father does his children,[12] That you would walk worthy of God, who has called you to his kingdom and glory.[13] For this cause also thank we God without ceasing, because, when you received the word of God which you heard of us, you received it not as the word of men, but as it is in truth, the word of God, which effectually works also in you that believe.[14] For you, brothers, became followers of the churches of God which in Judaea are in Christ Jesus: for you also have suffered like things of your own countrymen, even as they have of the Jews:[15] Who both killed the Lord Jesus, and their own prophets, and have persecuted us; and they please not God, and are contrary to all men:[16] Forbidding us to speak to the Gentiles that they might be saved, to fill up their sins always: for the wrath is come on them to the uttermost.[17] But we, brothers, being taken from you for a short time in presence, not in heart, endeavored the more abundantly to see your face with great desire.[18] Why we would have come to you, even I Paul, once and again; but Satan hindered us.[19] For what is our hope, or joy, or crown of rejoicing? Are not even you in the presence of our Lord Jesus Christ at his coming?[20] For you are our glory and joy.

[1] Why when we could no longer forbear, we thought it good to be left at Athens alone;

[2] And sent Timotheus, our brother, and minister of God, and our fellow laborer in the gospel of Christ, to establish you, and to comfort you concerning your faith:[3] That no man should be moved by these afflictions: for yourselves know that we are appointed thereunto.[4] For truly, when we were with you, we told you before that we should suffer tribulation; even as it came to pass, and you know.[5] For this cause, when I could no longer forbear, I sent to know your faith, lest by some means the tempter have tempted you, and our labor be in vain.[6] But now when Timotheus came from you to us, and brought us good tidings of your faith and charity, and that you have good remembrance of us always, desiring greatly to see us, as we also to see you:[7] Therefore, brothers, we were comforted over you in all our affliction and distress by your faith:[8] For now we live, if you stand fast in the Lord.[9] For what thanks can we render to God again for you, for all the joy with which we joy for your sakes before our God;[10] Night and day praying exceedingly that we might see your face, and might perfect that which is lacking in your faith?[11] Now God himself and our Father, and our Lord Jesus Christ, direct our way to you.[12] And the Lord make you to increase and abound in love one toward another, and toward all men, even as we do toward you:[13] To the end he may establish your hearts blameless in holiness before God, even our Father, at the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ with all his saints.

[1] Furthermore then we beseech you, brothers, and exhort you by the Lord Jesus, that as you have received of us how you ought to walk and to please God, so you would abound more and more.

[2] For you know what commandments we gave you by the Lord Jesus.[3] For this is the will of God, even your sanctification, that you should abstain from fornication:[4] That every one of you should know how to possess his vessel in sanctification and honor;[5] Not in the lust of concupiscence, even as the Gentiles which know not God:[6] That no man go beyond and defraud his brother in any matter: because that the Lord is the avenger of all such, as we also have forewarned you and testified.[7] For God has not called us to uncleanness, but to holiness.[8] He therefore that despises, despises not man, but God, who has also given to us his holy Spirit.[9] But as touching brotherly love you need not that I write to you: for you yourselves are taught of God to love one another.[10] And indeed you do it toward all the brothers which are in all Macedonia: but we beseech you, brothers, that you increase more and more;[11] And that you study to be quiet, and to do your own business, and to work with your own hands, as we commanded you;[12] That you may walk honestly toward them that are without, and that you may have lack of nothing.[13] But I would not have you to be ignorant, brothers, concerning them which are asleep, that you sorrow not, even as others which have no hope.[14] For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so them also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with him.[15] For this we say to you by the word of the Lord, that we which are alive and remain to the coming of the Lord shall not prevent them which are asleep.[16] For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first:[17] Then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord.[18] Why comfort one another with these words.

[1] But of the times and the seasons, brothers, you have no need that I write to you.

[2] For yourselves know perfectly that the day of the Lord so comes as a thief in the night.[3] For when they shall say, Peace and safety; then sudden destruction comes on them, as travail on a woman with child; and they shall not escape.[4] But you, brothers, are not in darkness, that that day should overtake you as a thief.[5] You are all the children of light, and the children of the day: we are not of the night, nor of darkness.[6] Therefore let us not sleep, as do others; but let us watch and be sober.[7] For they that sleep sleep in the night; and they that be drunken are drunken in the night.[8] But let us, who are of the day, be sober, putting on the breastplate of faith and love; and for an helmet, the hope of salvation.[9] For God has not appointed us to wrath, but to obtain salvation by our Lord Jesus Christ,[10] Who died for us, that, whether we wake or sleep, we should live together with him.[11] Why comfort yourselves together, and edify one another, even as also you do.[12] And we beseech you, brothers, to know them which labor among you, and are over you in the Lord, and admonish you;[13] And to esteem them very highly in love for their work's sake. And be at peace among yourselves.[14] Now we exhort you, brothers, warn them that are unruly, comfort the feebleminded, support the weak, be patient toward all men.[15] See that none render evil for evil to any man; but ever follow that which is good, both among yourselves, and to all men.[16] Rejoice ever more.[17] Pray without ceasing.[18] In every thing give thanks: for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning you.[19] Quench not the Spirit.[20] Despise not prophesyings.[21] Prove all things; hold fast that which is good.[22] Abstain from all appearance of evil.[23] And the very God of peace sanctify you wholly; and I pray God your whole spirit and soul and body be preserved blameless to the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ.[24] Faithful is he that calls you, who also will do it.[25] Brothers, pray for us.[26] Greet all the brothers with an holy kiss.[27] I charge you by the Lord that this letter be read to all the holy brothers.[28] The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you. Amen.

[1] Paul, and Silvanus, and Timotheus, to the church of the Thessalonians in God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ:

[2] Grace to you, and peace, from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.[3] We are bound to thank God always for you, brothers, as it is meet, because that your faith grows exceedingly, and the charity of every one of you all toward each other abounds;[4] So that we ourselves glory in you in the churches of God for your patience and faith in all your persecutions and tribulations that you endure:[5] Which is a manifest token of the righteous judgment of God, that you may be counted worthy of the kingdom of God, for which you also suffer:[6] Seeing it is a righteous thing with God to recompense tribulation to them that trouble you;[7] And to you who are troubled rest with us, when the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven with his mighty angels,[8] In flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not God, and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ:[9] Who shall be punished with everlasting destruction from the presence of the Lord, and from the glory of his power;[10] When he shall come to be glorified in his saints, and to be admired in all them that believe (because our testimony among you was believed) in that day.[11] Why also we pray always for you, that our God would count you worthy of this calling, and fulfill all the good pleasure of his goodness, and the work of faith with power:[12] That the name of our Lord Jesus Christ may be glorified in you, and you in him, according to the grace of our God and the Lord Jesus Christ.

[1] Now we beseech you, brothers, by the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, and by our gathering together to him,

[2] That you be not soon shaken in mind, or be troubled, neither by spirit, nor by word, nor by letter as from us, as that the day of Christ is at hand.[3] Let no man deceive you by any means: for that day shall not come, except there come a falling away first, and that man of sin be revealed, the son of perdition;[4] Who opposes and exalts himself above all that is called God, or that is worshipped; so that he as God sits in the temple of God, showing himself that he is God.[5] Remember you not, that, when I was yet with you, I told you these things?[6] And now you know what withholds that he might be revealed in his time.[7] For the mystery of iniquity does already work: only he who now lets will let, until he be taken out of the way.[8] And then shall that Wicked be revealed, whom the Lord shall consume with the spirit of his mouth, and shall destroy with the brightness of his coming:[9] Even him, whose coming is after the working of Satan with all power and signs and lying wonders,[10] And with all delusion of unrighteousness in them that perish; because they received not the love of the truth, that they might be saved.[11] And for this cause God shall send them strong delusion, that they should believe a lie:[12] That they all might be damned who believed not the truth, but had pleasure in unrighteousness.[13] But we are bound to give thanks always to God for you, brothers beloved of the Lord, because God has from the beginning chosen you to salvation through sanctification of the Spirit and belief of the truth:[14] Whereunto he called you by our gospel, to the obtaining of the glory of our Lord Jesus Christ.[15] Therefore, brothers, stand fast, and hold the traditions which you have been taught, whether by word, or our letter.[16] Now our Lord Jesus Christ himself, and God, even our Father, which has loved us, and has given us everlasting consolation and good hope through grace,[17] Comfort your hearts, and establish you in every good word and work.

[1] Finally, brothers, pray for us, that the word of the Lord may have free course, and be glorified, even as it is with you:

[2] And that we may be delivered from unreasonable and wicked men: for all men have not faith.[3] But the Lord is faithful, who shall establish you, and keep you from evil.[4] And we have confidence in the Lord touching you, that you both do and will do the things which we command you.[5] And the Lord direct your hearts into the love of God, and into the patient waiting for Christ.[6] Now we command you, brothers, in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that you withdraw yourselves from every brother that walks disorderly, and not after the tradition which he received of us.[7] For yourselves know how you ought to follow us: for we behaved not ourselves disorderly among you;[8] Neither did we eat any man's bread for nothing; but worked with labor and travail night and day, that we might not be chargeable to any of you:[9] Not because we have not power, but to make ourselves an ensample to you to follow us.[10] For even when we were with you, this we commanded you, that if any would not work, neither should he eat.[11] For we hear that there are some which walk among you disorderly, working not at all, but are busybodies.[12] Now them that are such we command and exhort by our Lord Jesus Christ, that with quietness they work, and eat their own bread.[13] But you, brothers, be not weary in well doing.[14] And if any man obey not our word by this letter, note that man, and have no company with him, that he may be ashamed.[15] Yet count him not as an enemy, but admonish him as a brother.[16] Now the Lord of peace himself give you peace always by all means. The Lord be with you all.[17] The salutation of Paul with my own hand, which is the token in every letter: so I write.[18] The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all. Amen.

1 Timothy

An Introduction to the Book of 1 Timothy

Paul in this epistle speaks of himself as having left Ephesus for Macedonia (1:3), and hence not Laodicea, as mentioned in the subscription; but probably Philippi, or some other city in that region, was the place where this epistle was written. During the interval between his first and second imprisonments he probably visited the scenes of his former labours in Greece and Asia, and then found his way into Macedonia, whence he wrote this letter to Timothy, whom he had left behind in Ephesus.

It was probably written about A.D. 66 or 67.

The epistle consists mainly, (1) of counsels to Timothy regarding the worship and organization of the Church, and the responsibilities resting on its several members; and (2) of exhortation to faithfulness in maintaining the truth amid surrounding errors.

[1] Paul, an apostle of Jesus Christ by the commandment of God our Savior, and Lord Jesus Christ, which is our hope;

[2] To Timothy, my own son in the faith: Grace, mercy, and peace, from God our Father and Jesus Christ our Lord.[3] As I sought you to abide still at Ephesus, when I went into Macedonia, that you might charge some that they teach no other doctrine,[4] Neither give heed to fables and endless genealogies, which minister questions, rather than godly edifying which is in faith: so do.[5] Now the end of the commandment is charity out of a pure heart, and of a good conscience, and of faith unfeigned:[6] From which some having swerved have turned aside to vain jangling;[7] Desiring to be teachers of the law; understanding neither what they say, nor whereof they affirm.[8] But we know that the law is good, if a man use it lawfully;[9] Knowing this, that the law is not made for a righteous man, but for the lawless and disobedient, for the ungodly and for sinners, for unholy and profane, for murderers of fathers and murderers of mothers, for murderers,[10] For fornicators, for them that defile themselves with mankind, for enslavers, for liars, for perjured persons, and if there be any other thing that is contrary to sound doctrine;[11] According to the glorious gospel of the blessed God, which was committed to my trust.[12] And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who has enabled me, for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry;[13] Who was before a blasphemer, and a persecutor, and injurious: but I obtained mercy, because I did it ignorantly in unbelief.[14] And the grace of our Lord was exceeding abundant with faith and love which is in Christ Jesus.[15] This is a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptation, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners; of whom I am chief.[16] However, for this cause I obtained mercy, that in me first Jesus Christ might show forth all long-suffering, for a pattern to them which should hereafter believe on him to life everlasting.[17] Now to the King eternal, immortal, invisible, the only wise God, be honor and glory for ever and ever. Amen.[18] This charge I commit to you, son Timothy, according to the prophecies which went before on you, that you by them might war a good warfare;[19] Holding faith, and a good conscience; which some having put away concerning faith have made shipwreck:[20] Of whom is Hymenaeus and Alexander; whom I have delivered to Satan, that they may learn not to blaspheme.

[1] I exhort therefore, that, first of all, supplications, prayers, intercessions, and giving of thanks, be made for all men;

[2] For kings, and for all that are in authority; that we may lead a quiet and peaceable life in all godliness and honesty.[3] For this is good and acceptable in the sight of God our Savior;[4] Who will have all men to be saved, and to come to the knowledge of the truth.[5] For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus;[6] Who gave himself a ransom for all, to be testified in due time.[7] Whereunto I am ordained a preacher, and an apostle, (I speak the truth in Christ, and lie not;) a teacher of the Gentiles in faith and verity.[8] I will therefore that men pray every where, lifting up holy hands, without wrath and doubting.[9] In like manner also, that women adorn themselves in modest apparel, with modesty and sobriety; not with braided hair, or gold, or pearls, or costly array;[10] But (which becomes women professing godliness) with good works.[11] Let the woman learn in silence with all subjection.[12] But I suffer not a woman to teach, nor to usurp authority over the man, but to be in silence.[13] For Adam was first formed, then Eve.[14] And Adam was not deceived, but the woman being deceived was in the transgression.[15] Notwithstanding she shall be saved in childbearing, if they continue in faith and charity and holiness with sobriety.

[1] This is a true saying, If a man desire the office of a bishop, he desires a good work.

[2] A bishop then must be blameless, the husband of one wife, vigilant, sober, of good behavior, given to hospitality, apt to teach;[3] Not given to wine, no striker, not greedy of filthy lucre; but patient, not a brawler, not covetous;[4] One that rules well his own house, having his children in subjection with all gravity;[5] (For if a man know not how to rule his own house, how shall he take care of the church of God?)[6] Not a novice, lest being lifted up with pride he fall into the condemnation of the devil.[7] Moreover he must have a good report of them which are without; lest he fall into reproach and the snare of the devil.[8] Likewise must the deacons be grave, not double-tongued, not given to much wine, not greedy of filthy lucre;[9] Holding the mystery of the faith in a pure conscience.[10] And let these also first be proved; then let them use the office of a deacon, being found blameless.[11] Even so must their wives be grave, not slanderers, sober, faithful in all things.[12] Let the deacons be the husbands of one wife, ruling their children and their own houses well.[13] For they that have used the office of a deacon well purchase to themselves a good degree, and great boldness in the faith which is in Christ Jesus.[14] These things write I to you, hoping to come to you shortly:[15] But if I tarry long, that you may know how you ought to behave yourself in the house of God, which is the church of the living God, the pillar and ground of the truth.[16] And without controversy great is the mystery of godliness: God was manifest in the flesh, justified in the Spirit, seen of angels, preached to the Gentiles, believed on in the world, received up into glory.

[1] Now the Spirit speaks expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils;

[2] Speaking lies in hypocrisy; having their conscience seared with a hot iron;[3] Forbidding to marry, and commanding to abstain from meats, which God has created to be received with thanksgiving of them which believe and know the truth.[4] For every creature of God is good, and nothing to be refused, if it be received with thanksgiving:[5] For it is sanctified by the word of God and prayer.[6] If you put the brothers in remembrance of these things, you shall be a good minister of Jesus Christ, nourished up in the words of faith and of good doctrine, to which you have attained.[7] But refuse profane and old wives' fables, and exercise yourself rather to godliness.[8] For bodily exercise profits little: but godliness is profitable to all things, having promise of the life that now is, and of that which is to come.[9] This is a faithful saying and worthy of all acceptation.[10] For therefore we both labor and suffer reproach, because we trust in the living God, who is the Savior of all men, specially of those that believe.[11] These things command and teach.[12] Let no man despise your youth; but be you an example of the believers, in word, in conversation, in charity, in spirit, in faith, in purity.[13] Till I come, give attendance to reading, to exhortation, to doctrine.[14] Neglect not the gift that is in you, which was given you by prophecy, with the laying on of the hands of the presbytery.[15] Meditate on these things; give yourself wholly to them; that your profiting may appear to all.[16] Take heed to yourself, and to the doctrine; continue in them: for in doing this you shall both save yourself, and them that hear you.

[1] Rebuke not an elder, but entreat him as a father; and the younger men as brothers;

[2] The elder women as mothers; the younger as sisters, with all purity.[3] Honor widows that are widows indeed.[4] But if any widow have children or nephews, let them learn first to show piety at home, and to requite their parents: for that is good and acceptable before God.[5] Now she that is a widow indeed, and desolate, trusts in God, and continues in supplications and prayers night and day.[6] But she that lives in pleasure is dead while she lives.[7] And these things give in charge, that they may be blameless.[8] But if any provide not for his own, and specially for those of his own house, he has denied the faith, and is worse than an infidel.[9] Let not a widow be taken into the number under three score years old, having been the wife of one man.[10] Well reported of for good works; if she have brought up children, if she have lodged strangers, if she have washed the saints' feet, if she have relieved the afflicted, if she have diligently followed every good work.[11] But the younger widows refuse: for when they have begun to wax wanton against Christ, they will marry;[12] Having damnation, because they have cast off their first faith.[13] And with they learn to be idle, wandering about from house to house; and not only idle, but tattlers also and busybodies, speaking things which they should not.[14] I will therefore that the younger women marry, bear children, guide the house, give none occasion to the adversary to speak reproachfully.[15] For some are already turned aside after Satan.[16] If any man or woman that believes have widows, let them relieve them, and let not the church be charged; that it may relieve them that are widows indeed.[17] Let the elders that rule well be counted worthy of double honor, especially they who labor in the word and doctrine.[18] For the scripture says, You shall not muzzle the ox that treads out the corn. And, The laborer is worthy of his reward.[19] Against an elder receive not an accusation, but before two or three witnesses.[20] Them that sin rebuke before all, that others also may fear.[21] I charge you before God, and the Lord Jesus Christ, and the elect angels, that you observe these things without preferring one before another, doing nothing by partiality.[22] Lay hands suddenly on no man, neither be partaker of other men's sins: keep yourself pure.[23] Drink no longer water, but use a little wine for your stomach's sake and your often infirmities.[24] Some men's sins are open beforehand, going before to judgment; and some men they follow after.[25] Likewise also the good works of some are manifest beforehand; and they that are otherwise cannot be hid.

[1] Let as many servants as are under the yoke count their own masters worthy of all honor, that the name of God and his doctrine be not blasphemed.

[2] And they that have believing masters, let them not despise them, because they are brothers; but rather do them service, because they are faithful and beloved, partakers of the benefit. These things teach and exhort.[3] If any man teach otherwise, and consent not to wholesome words, even the words of our Lord Jesus Christ, and to the doctrine which is according to godliness;[4] He is proud, knowing nothing, but doting about questions and strifes of words, whereof comes envy, strife, railings, evil surmisings,[5] Perverse disputings of men of corrupt minds, and destitute of the truth, supposing that gain is godliness: from such withdraw yourself.[6] But godliness with contentment is great gain.[7] For we brought nothing into this world, and it is certain we can carry nothing out.[8] And having food and raiment let us be therewith content.[9] But they that will be rich fall into temptation and a snare, and into many foolish and hurtful lusts, which drown men in destruction and perdition.[10] For the love of money is the root of all evil: which while some coveted after, they have erred from the faith, and pierced themselves through with many sorrows.[11] But you, O man of God, flee these things; and follow after righteousness, godliness, faith, love, patience, meekness.[12] Fight the good fight of faith, lay hold on eternal life, to which you are also called, and have professed a good profession before many witnesses.[13] I give you charge in the sight of God, who vivifies all things, and before Christ Jesus, who before Pontius Pilate witnessed a good confession;[14] That you keep this commandment without spot, unrebukable, until the appearing of our Lord Jesus Christ:[15] Which in his times he shall show, who is the blessed and only Potentate, the King of kings, and Lord of lords;[16] Who only has immortality, dwelling in the light which no man can approach to; whom no man has seen, nor can see: to whom be honor and power everlasting. Amen.[17] Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not high minded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who gives us richly all things to enjoy;[18] That they do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to distribute, willing to communicate;[19] Laying up in store for themselves a good foundation against the time to come, that they may lay hold on eternal life.[20] O Timothy, keep that which is committed to your trust, avoiding profane and vain babblings, and oppositions of science falsely so called:[21] Which some professing have erred concerning the faith. Grace be with you. Amen.

2 Timothy

An Introduction to the Book of 2 Timothy

Was probably written a year or so after the first, and from Rome, where Paul was for a second time a prisoner, and was sent to Timothy by the hands of Tychicus. In it he entreats Timothy to come to him before winter, and to bring Mark with him (comp. Phil. 2:22). He was anticipating that “the time of his departure was at hand” (2 Tim. 4:6), and he exhorts his “son Timothy” to all diligence and steadfastness, and to patience under persecution (1:6-15), and to a faithful discharge of all the duties of his office (4:1-5), with all the solemnity of one who was about to appear before the Judge of quick and dead.

[1] Paul, an apostle of Jesus Christ by the will of God, according to the promise of life which is in Christ Jesus,

[2] To Timothy, my dearly beloved son: Grace, mercy, and peace, from God the Father and Christ Jesus our Lord.[3] I thank God, whom I serve from my forefathers with pure conscience, that without ceasing I have remembrance of you in my prayers night and day;[4] Greatly desiring to see you, being mindful of your tears, that I may be filled with joy;[5] When I call to remembrance the unfeigned faith that is in you, which dwelled first in your grandmother Lois, and your mother Eunice; and I am persuaded that in you also.[6] Why I put you in remembrance that you stir up the gift of God, which is in you by the putting on of my hands.[7] For God has not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind.[8] Be not you therefore ashamed of the testimony of our Lord, nor of me his prisoner: but be you partaker of the afflictions of the gospel according to the power of God;[9] Who has saved us, and called us with an holy calling, not according to our works, but according to his own purpose and grace, which was given us in Christ Jesus before the world began,[10] But is now made manifest by the appearing of our Savior Jesus Christ, who has abolished death, and has brought life and immortality to light through the gospel:[11] Whereunto I am appointed a preacher, and an apostle, and a teacher of the Gentiles.[12] For the which cause I also suffer these things: nevertheless I am not ashamed: for I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed to him against that day.[13] Hold fast the form of sound words, which you have heard of me, in faith and love which is in Christ Jesus.[14] That good thing which was committed to you keep by the Holy Ghost which dwells in us.[15] This you know, that all they which are in Asia be turned away from me; of whom are Phygellus and Hermogenes.[16] The Lord give mercy to the house of Onesiphorus; for he oft refreshed me, and was not ashamed of my chain:[17] But, when he was in Rome, he sought me out very diligently, and found me.[18] The Lord grant to him that he may find mercy of the Lord in that day: and in how many things he ministered to me at Ephesus, you know very well.

[1] You therefore, my son, be strong in the grace that is in Christ Jesus.

[2] And the things that you have heard of me among many witnesses, the same commit you to faithful men, who shall be able to teach others also.[3] You therefore endure hardness, as a good soldier of Jesus Christ.[4] No man that wars entangles himself with the affairs of this life; that he may please him who has chosen him to be a soldier.[5] And if a man also strive for masteries, yet is he not crowned, except he strive lawfully.[6] The farmer that labors must be first partaker of the fruits.[7] Consider what I say; and the Lord give you understanding in all things.[8] Remember that Jesus Christ of the seed of David was raised from the dead according to my gospel:[9] Wherein I suffer trouble, as an evil doer, even to bonds; but the word of God is not bound.[10] Therefore I endure all things for the elect's sakes, that they may also obtain the salvation which is in Christ Jesus with eternal glory.[11] It is a faithful saying: For if we be dead with him, we shall also live with him:[12] If we suffer, we shall also reign with him: if we deny him, he also will deny us:[13] If we believe not, yet he stays faithful: he cannot deny himself.[14] Of these things put them in remembrance, charging them before the Lord that they strive not about words to no profit, but to the subverting of the hearers.[15] Study to show yourself approved to God, a workman that needs not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth.[16] But shun profane and vain babblings: for they will increase to more ungodliness.[17] And their word will eat as does a canker: of whom is Hymenaeus and Philetus;[18] Who concerning the truth have erred, saying that the resurrection is past already; and overthrow the faith of some.[19] Nevertheless the foundation of God stands sure, having this seal, The Lord knows them that are his. And, Let every one that names the name of Christ depart from iniquity.[20] But in a great house there are not only vessels of gold and of silver, but also of wood and of earth; and some to honor, and some to dishonor.[21] If a man therefore purge himself from these, he shall be a vessel to honor, sanctified, and meet for the master's use, and prepared to every good work.[22] Flee also youthful lusts: but follow righteousness, faith, charity, peace, with them that call on the Lord out of a pure heart.[23] But foolish and unlearned questions avoid, knowing that they do engender strifes.[24] And the servant of the Lord must not strive; but be gentle to all men, apt to teach, patient,[25] In meekness instructing those that oppose themselves; if God peradventure will give them repentance to the acknowledging of the truth;[26] And that they may recover themselves out of the snare of the devil, who are taken captive by him at his will.

[1] This know also, that in the last days perilous times shall come.

[2] For men shall be lovers of their own selves, covetous, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy,[3] Without natural affection, truce breakers, false accusers, incontinent, fierce, despisers of those that are good,[4] Traitors, heady, high minded, lovers of pleasures more than lovers of God;[5] Having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof: from such turn away.[6] For of this sort are they which creep into houses, and lead captive silly women laden with sins, led away with divers lusts,[7] Ever learning, and never able to come to the knowledge of the truth.[8] Now as Jannes and Jambres withstood Moses, so do these also resist the truth: men of corrupt minds, reprobate concerning the faith.[9] But they shall proceed no further: for their folly shall be manifest to all men, as theirs also was.[10] But you have fully known my doctrine, manner of life, purpose, faith, long-suffering, charity, patience,[11] Persecutions, afflictions, which came to me at Antioch, at Iconium, at Lystra; what persecutions I endured: but out of them all the Lord delivered me.[12] Yes, and all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution.[13] But evil men and seducers shall wax worse and worse, deceiving, and being deceived.[14] But continue you in the things which you have learned and have been assured of, knowing of whom you have learned them;[15] And that from a child you have known the holy scriptures, which are able to make you wise to salvation through faith which is in Christ Jesus.[16] All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness:[17] That the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished to all good works.

[1] I charge you therefore before God, and the Lord Jesus Christ, who shall judge the quick and the dead at his appearing and his kingdom;

[2] Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all long-suffering and doctrine.[3] For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine; but after their own lusts shall they heap to themselves teachers, having itching ears;[4] And they shall turn away their ears from the truth, and shall be turned to fables.[5] But watch you in all things, endure afflictions, do the work of an evangelist, make full proof of your ministry.[6] For I am now ready to be offered, and the time of my departure is at hand.[7] I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith:[8] From now on there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give me at that day: and not to me only, but to all them also that love his appearing.[9] Do your diligence to come shortly to me:[10] For Demas has forsaken me, having loved this present world, and is departed to Thessalonica; Crescens to Galatia, Titus to Dalmatia.[11] Only Luke is with me. Take Mark, and bring him with you: for he is profitable to me for the ministry.[12] And Tychicus have I sent to Ephesus.[13] The cloak that I left at Troas with Carpus, when you come, bring with you, and the books, but especially the parchments.[14] Alexander the coppersmith did me much evil: the Lord reward him according to his works:[15] Of whom be you ware also; for he has greatly withstood our words.[16] At my first answer no man stood with me, but all men forsook me: I pray God that it may not be laid to their charge.[17] Notwithstanding the Lord stood with me, and strengthened me; that by me the preaching might be fully known, and that all the Gentiles might hear: and I was delivered out of the mouth of the lion.[18] And the Lord shall deliver me from every evil work, and will preserve me to his heavenly kingdom: to whom be glory for ever and ever. Amen.[19] Salute Prisca and Aquila, and the household of Onesiphorus.[20] Erastus stayed at Corinth: but Trophimus have I left at Miletum sick.[21] Do your diligence to come before winter. Eubulus greets you, and Pudens, and Linus, and Claudia, and all the brothers.[22] The Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit. Grace be with you. Amen.

Titus

An Introduction to the Book of Titus

Was probably written about the same time as the first epistle to Timothy, with which it has many affinities. “Both letters were addressed to persons left by the writer to preside in their respective churches during his absence. Both letters are principally occupied in describing the qualifications to be sought for in those whom they should appoint to offices in the church; and the ingredients of this description are in both letters nearly the same. Timothy and Titus are likewise cautioned against the same prevailing corruptions, and in particular against the same misdirection of their cares and studies. This affinity obtains not only in the subject of the letters, which from the similarity of situation in the persons to whom they were addressed might be expected to be somewhat alike, but extends in a great variety of instances to the phrases and expressions. The writer accosts his two friends with the same salutation, and passes on to the business of his letter by the same transition (comp. 1 Tim. 1:2, 3 with Titus 1:4, 5; 1 Tim. 1:4 with Titus 1:13, 14; 3:9; 1 Tim. 4:12 with Titus 2:7, 15).”, Paley’s Horae Paulinae.

The date of its composition may be concluded from the circumstance that it was written after Paul’s visit to Crete (Titus 1:5). That visit could not be the one referred to in Acts 27:7, when Paul was on his voyage to Rome as a prisoner, and where he continued a prisoner for two years. We may warrantably suppose that after his release Paul sailed from Rome into Asia and took Crete by the way, and that there he left Titus “to set in order the things that were wanting.” Thence he went to Ephesus, where he left Timothy, and from Ephesus to Macedonia, where he wrote First Timothy, and thence to Nicopolis in Epirus, from which place he wrote to Titus, about A.D. 66 or 67.

In the subscription to the epistle it is said to have been written from “Nicopolis of Macedonia,” but no such place is known. The subscriptions to the epistles are of no authority, as they are not authentic.

[1] Paul, a servant of God, and an apostle of Jesus Christ, according to the faith of God's elect, and the acknowledging of the truth which is after godliness;

[2] In hope of eternal life, which God, that cannot lie, promised before the world began;[3] But has in due times manifested his word through preaching, which is committed to me according to the commandment of God our Savior;[4] To Titus, my own son after the common faith: Grace, mercy, and peace, from God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ our Savior.[5] For this cause left I you in Crete, that you should set in order the things that are wanting, and ordain elders in every city, as I had appointed you:[6] If any be blameless, the husband of one wife, having faithful children not accused of riot or unruly.[7] For a bishop must be blameless, as the steward of God; not self-willed, not soon angry, not given to wine, no striker, not given to filthy lucre;[8] But a lover of hospitality, a lover of good men, sober, just, holy, temperate;[9] Holding fast the faithful word as he has been taught, that he may be able by sound doctrine both to exhort and to convince the disputers.[10] For there are many unruly and vain talkers and deceivers, specially they of the circumcision:[11] Whose mouths must be stopped, who subvert whole houses, teaching things which they should not, for filthy lucre's sake.[12] One of themselves, even a prophet of their own, said, The Cretians are always liars, evil beasts, slow bellies.[13] This witness is true. Why rebuke them sharply, that they may be sound in the faith;[14] Not giving heed to Jewish fables, and commandments of men, that turn from the truth.[15] To the pure all things are pure: but to them that are defiled and unbelieving is nothing pure; but even their mind and conscience is defiled.[16] They profess that they know God; but in works they deny him, being abominable, and disobedient, and to every good work reprobate.

[1] But speak you the things which become sound doctrine:

[2] That the aged men be sober, grave, temperate, sound in faith, in charity, in patience.[3] The aged women likewise, that they be in behavior as becomes holiness, not false accusers, not given to much wine, teachers of good things;[4] That they may teach the young women to be sober, to love their husbands, to love their children,[5] To be discreet, chaste, keepers at home, good, obedient to their own husbands, that the word of God be not blasphemed.[6] Young men likewise exhort to be sober minded.[7] In all things showing yourself a pattern of good works: in doctrine showing soundness, gravity, sincerity,[8] Sound speech, that cannot be condemned; that he that is of the contrary part may be ashamed, having no evil thing to say of you.[9] Exhort servants to be obedient to their own masters, and to please them well in all things; not answering again;[10] Not purloining, but showing all good fidelity; that they may adorn the doctrine of God our Savior in all things.[11] For the grace of God that brings salvation has appeared to all men,[12] Teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world;[13] Looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Savior Jesus Christ;[14] Who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify to himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works.[15] These things speak, and exhort, and rebuke with all authority. Let no man despise you.

[1] Put them in mind to be subject to principalities and powers, to obey magistrates, to be ready to every good work,

[2] To speak evil of no man, to be no brawlers, but gentle, showing all meekness to all men.[3] For we ourselves also were sometimes foolish, disobedient, deceived, serving divers lusts and pleasures, living in malice and envy, hateful, and hating one another.[4] But after that the kindness and love of God our Savior toward man appeared,[5] Not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost;[6] Which he shed on us abundantly through Jesus Christ our Savior;[7] That being justified by his grace, we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life.[8] This is a faithful saying, and these things I will that you affirm constantly, that they which have believed in God might be careful to maintain good works. These things are good and profitable to men.[9] But avoid foolish questions, and genealogies, and contentions, and strivings about the law; for they are unprofitable and vain.[10] A man that is an heretic after the first and second admonition reject;[11] Knowing that he that is such is subverted, and sins, being condemned of himself.[12] When I shall send Artemas to you, or Tychicus, be diligent to come to me to Nicopolis: for I have determined there to winter.[13] Bring Zenas the lawyer and Apollos on their journey diligently, that nothing be wanting to them.[14] And let ours also learn to maintain good works for necessary uses, that they be not unfruitful.[15] All that are with me salute you. Greet them that love us in the faith. Grace be with you all. Amen.

Philemon

An Introduction to the Book of Philemon

Was written from Rome at the same time as the epistles to the Colossians and Ephesians, and was sent also by Onesimus. It was addressed to Philemon and the members of his family.

It was written for the purpose of interceding for Onesimus (q.v.), who had deserted his master Philemon and been “unprofitable” to him. Paul had found Onesimus at Rome, and had there been instrumental in his conversion, and now he sends him back to his master with this letter.

This epistle has the character of a strictly private letter, and is the only one of such epistles preserved to us. “It exhibits the apostle in a new light. He throws off as far as possible his apostolic dignity and his fatherly authority over his converts. He speaks simply as Christian to Christian. He speaks, therefore, with that peculiar grace of humility and courtesy which has, under the reign of Christianity, developed the spirit of chivalry and what is called ‘the character of a gentleman,’ certainly very little known in the old Greek and Roman civilization” (Dr. Barry). (See SLAVE.)

Philemon

[1] Paul, a prisoner of Jesus Christ, and Timothy our brother, to Philemon our dearly beloved, and fellow laborer,

[2] And to our beloved Apphia, and Archippus our fellow soldier, and to the church in your house:[3] Grace to you, and peace, from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.[4] I thank my God, making mention of you always in my prayers,[5] Hearing of your love and faith, which you have toward the Lord Jesus, and toward all saints;[6] That the communication of your faith may become effectual by the acknowledging of every good thing which is in you in Christ Jesus.[7] For we have great joy and consolation in your love, because the bowels of the saints are refreshed by you, brother.[8] Why, though I might be much bold in Christ to enjoin you that which is convenient,[9] Yet for love's sake I rather beseech you, being such an one as Paul the aged, and now also a prisoner of Jesus Christ.[10] I beseech you for my son Onesimus, whom I have begotten in my bonds:[11] Which in time past was to you unprofitable, but now profitable to you and to me:[12] Whom I have sent again: you therefore receive him, that is, my own bowels:[13] Whom I would have retained with me, that in your stead he might have ministered to me in the bonds of the gospel:[14] But without your mind would I do nothing; that your benefit should not be as it were of necessity, but willingly.[15] For perhaps he therefore departed for a season, that you should receive him for ever;[16] Not now as a servant, but above a servant, a brother beloved, specially to me, but how much more to you, both in the flesh, and in the Lord?[17] If you count me therefore a partner, receive him as myself.[18] If he has wronged you, or owes you something, put that on my account;[19] I Paul have written it with my own hand, I will repay it: albeit I do not say to you how you owe to me even your own self besides.[20] Yes, brother, let me have joy of you in the Lord: refresh my bowels in the Lord.[21] Having confidence in your obedience I wrote to you, knowing that you will also do more than I say.[22] But with prepare me also a lodging: for I trust that through your prayers I shall be given to you.[23] There salute you Epaphras, my fellow prisoner in Christ Jesus;[24] Marcus, Aristarchus, Demas, Lucas, my fellow laborers.[25] The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit. Amen.

Hebrews

An Introduction to the Book of Hebrews

(1.) Its canonicity. All the results of critical and historical research to which this epistle has been specially subjected abundantly vindicate its right to a place in the New Testament canon among the other inspired books.

(2.) Its authorship. A considerable variety of opinions on this subject has at different times been advanced. Some have maintained that its author was Silas, Paul's companion. Others have attributed it to Clement of Rome, or Luke, or Barnabas, or some unknown Alexandrian Christian, or Apollos; but the conclusion which we think is best supported, both from internal and external evidence, is that Paul was its author. There are, no doubt, many difficulties in the way of accepting it as Paul's; but we may at least argue with Calvin that there can be no difficulty in the way of "embracing it without controversy as one of the apostolical epistles."

(3.) Date and place of writing. It was in all probability written at Rome, near the close of Paul's two years' imprisonment (Heb. 13:19, 24). It was certainly written before the destruction of Jerusalem (13:10).

(4.) To whom addressed. Plainly it was intended for Jewish converts to the faith of the gospel, probably for the church at Jerusalem. The subscription of this epistle is, of course, without authority. In this case it is incorrect, for obviously Timothy could not be the bearer of it (13:23).

(5.) Its design was to show the true end and meaning of the Mosaic system, and its symbolical and transient character. It proves that the Levitical priesthood was a "shadow" of that of Christ, and that the legal sacrifices prefigured the great and all-perfect sacrifice he offered for us. It explains that the gospel was designed, not to modify the law of Moses, but to supersede and abolish it. Its teaching was fitted, as it was designed, to check that tendency to apostatize from Christianity and to return to Judaism which now showed itself among certain Jewish Christians. The supreme authority and the transcendent glory of the gospel are clearly set forth, and in such a way as to strengthen and confirm their allegiance to Christ.

(6.) It consists of two parts: (a) doctrinal (1-10:18), (b) and practical (10:19-ch. 13). There are found in it many references to portions of the Old Testament. It may be regarded as a treatise supplementary to the Epistles to the Romans and Galatians, and as an inspired commentary on the book of Leviticus.

Hebrews

[1] God, who at sundry times and in divers manners spoke in time past to the fathers by the prophets,

[2] Has in these last days spoken to us by his Son, whom he has appointed heir of all things, by whom also he made the worlds;[3] Who being the brightness of his glory, and the express image of his person, and upholding all things by the word of his power, when he had by himself purged our sins, sat down on the right hand of the Majesty on high:[4] Being made so much better than the angels, as he has by inheritance obtained a more excellent name than they.[5] For to which of the angels said he at any time, You are my Son, this day have I begotten you? And again, I will be to him a Father, and he shall be to me a Son?[6] And again, when he brings in the first-begotten into the world, he says, And let all the angels of God worship him.[7] And of the angels he says, Who makes his angels spirits, and his ministers a flame of fire.[8] But to the Son he says, Your throne, O God, is for ever and ever: a scepter of righteousness is the scepter of your kingdom.[9] You have loved righteousness, and hated iniquity; therefore God, even your God, has anointed you with the oil of gladness above your fellows.[10] And, You, Lord, in the beginning have laid the foundation of the earth; and the heavens are the works of your hands:[11] They shall perish; but you remain; and they all shall wax old as does a garment;[12] And as a clothing shall you fold them up, and they shall be changed: but you are the same, and your years shall not fail.[13] But to which of the angels said he at any time, Sit on my right hand, until I make your enemies your footstool?[14] Are they not all ministering spirits, sent forth to minister for them who shall be heirs of salvation?

[1] Therefore we ought to give the more earnest heed to the things which we have heard, lest at any time we should let them slip.

[2] For if the word spoken by angels was steadfast, and every transgression and disobedience received a just recompense of reward;[3] How shall we escape, if we neglect so great salvation; which at the first began to be spoken by the Lord, and was confirmed to us by them that heard him;[4] God also bearing them witness, both with signs and wonders, and with divers miracles, and gifts of the Holy Ghost, according to his own will?[5] For to the angels has he not put in subjection the world to come, whereof we speak.[6] But one in a certain place testified, saying, What is man, that you are mindful of him? or the son of man that you visit him?[7] You made him a little lower than the angels; you crowned him with glory and honor, and did set him over the works of your hands:[8] You have put all things in subjection under his feet. For in that he put all in subjection under him, he left nothing that is not put under him. But now we see not yet all things put under him.[9] But we see Jesus, who was made a little lower than the angels for the suffering of death, crowned with glory and honor; that he by the grace of God should taste death for every man.[10] For it became him, for whom are all things, and by whom are all things, in bringing many sons to glory, to make the captain of their salvation perfect through sufferings.[11] For both he that sanctifies and they who are sanctified are all of one: for which cause he is not ashamed to call them brothers,[12] Saying, I will declare your name to my brothers, in the middle of the church will I sing praise to you.[13] And again, I will put my trust in him. And again, Behold I and the children which God has given me.[14] For as much then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise took part of the same; that through death he might destroy him that had the power of death, that is, the devil;[15] And deliver them who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage.[16] For truly he took not on him the nature of angels; but he took on him the seed of Abraham.[17] Why in all things it behooved him to be made like to his brothers, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people.[18] For in that he himself has suffered being tempted, he is able to succor them that are tempted.

[1] Why, holy brothers, partakers of the heavenly calling, consider the Apostle and High Priest of our profession, Christ Jesus;

[2] Who was faithful to him that appointed him, as also Moses was faithful in all his house.[3] For this man was counted worthy of more glory than Moses, inasmuch as he who has built the house has more honor than the house.[4] For every house is built by some man; but he that built all things is God.[5] And Moses truly was faithful in all his house, as a servant, for a testimony of those things which were to be spoken after;[6] But Christ as a son over his own house; whose house are we, if we hold fast the confidence and the rejoicing of the hope firm to the end.[7] Why (as the Holy Ghost says, To day if you will hear his voice,[8] Harden not your hearts, as in the provocation, in the day of temptation in the wilderness:[9] When your fathers tempted me, proved me, and saw my works forty years.[10] Why I was grieved with that generation, and said, They do always err in their heart; and they have not known my ways.[11] So I swore in my wrath, They shall not enter into my rest.)[12] Take heed, brothers, lest there be in any of you an evil heart of unbelief, in departing from the living God.[13] But exhort one another daily, while it is called To day; lest any of you be hardened through the deceitfulness of sin.[14] For we are made partakers of Christ, if we hold the beginning of our confidence steadfast to the end;[15] While it is said, To day if you will hear his voice, harden not your hearts, as in the provocation.[16] For some, when they had heard, did provoke: however, not all that came out of Egypt by Moses.[17] But with whom was he grieved forty years? was it not with them that had sinned, whose carcasses fell in the wilderness?[18] And to whom swore he that they should not enter into his rest, but to them that believed not?[19] So we see that they could not enter in because of unbelief.

[1] Let us therefore fear, lest, a promise being left us of entering into his rest, any of you should seem to come short of it.

[2] For to us was the gospel preached, as well as to them: but the word preached did not profit them, not being mixed with faith in them that heard it.[3] For we which have believed do enter into rest, as he said, As I have sworn in my wrath, if they shall enter into my rest: although the works were finished from the foundation of the world.[4] For he spoke in a certain place of the seventh day on this wise, And God did rest the seventh day from all his works.[5] And in this place again, If they shall enter into my rest.[6] Seeing therefore it remains that some must enter therein, and they to whom it was first preached entered not in because of unbelief:[7] Again, he limits a certain day, saying in David, To day, after so long a time; as it is said, To day if you will hear his voice, harden not your hearts.[8] For if Jesus had given them rest, then would he not afterward have spoken of another day.[9] There remains therefore a rest to the people of God.[10] For he that is entered into his rest, he also has ceased from his own works, as God did from his.[11] Let us labor therefore to enter into that rest, lest any man fall after the same example of unbelief.[12] For the word of God is quick, and powerful, and sharper than any two edged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit, and of the joints and marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart.[13] Neither is there any creature that is not manifest in his sight: but all things are naked and opened to the eyes of him with whom we have to do.[14] Seeing then that we have a great high priest, that is passed into the heavens, Jesus the Son of God, let us hold fast our profession.[15] For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin.[16] Let us therefore come boldly to the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need.

[1] For every high priest taken from among men is ordained for men in things pertaining to God, that he may offer both gifts and sacrifices for sins:

[2] Who can have compassion on the ignorant, and on them that are out of the way; for that he himself also is compassed with infirmity.[3] And by reason hereof he ought, as for the people, so also for himself, to offer for sins.[4] And no man takes this honor to himself, but he that is called of God, as was Aaron.[5] So also Christ glorified not himself to be made an high priest; but he that said to him, You are my Son, to day have I begotten you.[6] As he says also in another place, You are a priest for ever after the order of Melchisedec.[7] Who in the days of his flesh, when he had offered up prayers and supplications with strong crying and tears to him that was able to save him from death, and was heard in that he feared;[8] Though he were a Son, yet learned he obedience by the things which he suffered;[9] And being made perfect, he became the author of eternal salvation to all them that obey him;[10] Called of God an high priest after the order of Melchisedec.[11] Of whom we have many things to say, and hard to be uttered, seeing you are dull of hearing.[12] For when for the time you ought to be teachers, you have need that one teach you again which be the first principles of the oracles of God; and are become such as have need of milk, and not of strong meat.[13] For every one that uses milk is unskillful in the word of righteousness: for he is a babe.[14] But strong meat belongs to them that are of full age, even those who by reason of use have their senses exercised to discern both good and evil.

[1] Therefore leaving the principles of the doctrine of Christ, let us go on to perfection; not laying again the foundation of repentance from dead works, and of faith toward God,

[2] Of the doctrine of baptisms, and of laying on of hands, and of resurrection of the dead, and of eternal judgment.[3] And this will we do, if God permit.[4] For it is impossible for those who were once enlightened, and have tasted of the heavenly gift, and were made partakers of the Holy Ghost,[5] And have tasted the good word of God, and the powers of the world to come,[6] If they shall fall away, to renew them again to repentance; seeing they crucify to themselves the Son of God afresh, and put him to an open shame.[7] For the earth which drinks in the rain that comes oft on it, and brings forth herbs meet for them by whom it is dressed, receives blessing from God:[8] But that which bears thorns and briers is rejected, and is near to cursing; whose end is to be burned.[9] But, beloved, we are persuaded better things of you, and things that accompany salvation, though we thus speak.[10] For God is not unrighteous to forget your work and labor of love, which you have showed toward his name, in that you have ministered to the saints, and do minister.[11] And we desire that every one of you do show the same diligence to the full assurance of hope to the end:[12] That you be not slothful, but followers of them who through faith and patience inherit the promises.[13] For when God made promise to Abraham, because he could swear by no greater, he swore by himself,[14] Saying, Surely blessing I will bless you, and multiplying I will multiply you.[15] And so, after he had patiently endured, he obtained the promise.[16] For men truly swear by the greater: and an oath for confirmation is to them an end of all strife.[17] Wherein God, willing more abundantly to show to the heirs of promise the immutability of his counsel, confirmed it by an oath:[18] That by two immutable things, in which it was impossible for God to lie, we might have a strong consolation, who have fled for refuge to lay hold on the hope set before us:[19] Which hope we have as an anchor of the soul, both sure and steadfast, and which enters into that within the veil;[20] Where the forerunner is for us entered, even Jesus, made an high priest for ever after the order of Melchisedec.

[1] For this Melchisedec, king of Salem, priest of the most high God, who met Abraham returning from the slaughter of the kings, and blessed him;

[2] To whom also Abraham gave a tenth part of all; first being by interpretation King of righteousness, and after that also King of Salem, which is, King of peace;[3] Without father, without mother, without descent, having neither beginning of days, nor end of life; but made like to the Son of God; stays a priest continually.[4] Now consider how great this man was, to whom even the patriarch Abraham gave the tenth of the spoils.[5] And truly they that are of the sons of Levi, who receive the office of the priesthood, have a commandment to take tithes of the people according to the law, that is, of their brothers, though they come out of the loins of Abraham:[6] But he whose descent is not counted from them received tithes of Abraham, and blessed him that had the promises.[7] And without all contradiction the less is blessed of the better.[8] And here men that die receive tithes; but there he receives them, of whom it is witnessed that he lives.[9] And as I may so say, Levi also, who receives tithes, paid tithes in Abraham.[10] For he was yet in the loins of his father, when Melchisedec met him.[11] If therefore perfection were by the Levitical priesthood, (for under it the people received the law,) what further need was there that another priest should rise after the order of Melchisedec, and not be called after the order of Aaron?[12] For the priesthood being changed, there is made of necessity a change also of the law.[13] For he of whom these things are spoken pertains to another tribe, of which no man gave attendance at the altar.[14] For it is evident that our Lord sprang out of Juda; of which tribe Moses spoke nothing concerning priesthood.[15] And it is yet far more evident: for that after the similitude of Melchisedec there rises another priest,[16] Who is made, not after the law of a carnal commandment, but after the power of an endless life.[17] For he testifies, You are a priest for ever after the order of Melchisedec.[18] For there is truly a cancellation of the commandment going before for the weakness and unprofitableness thereof.[19] For the law made nothing perfect, but the bringing in of a better hope did; by the which we draw near to God.[20] And inasmuch as not without an oath he was made priest:[21] (For those priests were made without an oath; but this with an oath by him that said to him, The Lord swore and will not repent, You are a priest for ever after the order of Melchisedec:)[22] By so much was Jesus made a surety of a better testament.[23] And they truly were many priests, because they were not suffered to continue by reason of death:[24] But this man, because he continues ever, has an unchangeable priesthood.[25] Why he is able also to save them to the uttermost that come to God by him, seeing he ever lives to make intercession for them.[26] For such an high priest became us, who is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher than the heavens;[27] Who needs not daily, as those high priests, to offer up sacrifice, first for his own sins, and then for the people's: for this he did once, when he offered up himself.[28] For the law makes men high priests which have infirmity; but the word of the oath, which was since the law, makes the Son, who is consecrated for ever more.

[1] Now of the things which we have spoken this is the sum: We have such an high priest, who is set on the right hand of the throne of the Majesty in the heavens;

[2] A minister of the sanctuary, and of the true tabernacle, which the Lord pitched, and not man.[3] For every high priest is ordained to offer gifts and sacrifices: why it is of necessity that this man have somewhat also to offer.[4] For if he were on earth, he should not be a priest, seeing that there are priests that offer gifts according to the law:[5] Who serve to the example and shadow of heavenly things, as Moses was admonished of God when he was about to make the tabernacle: for, See, says he, that you make all things according to the pattern showed to you in the mount.[6] But now has he obtained a more excellent ministry, by how much also he is the mediator of a better covenant, which was established on better promises.[7] For if that first covenant had been faultless, then should no place have been sought for the second.[8] For finding fault with them, he says, Behold, the days come, says the Lord, when I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel and with the house of Judah:[9] Not according to the covenant that I made with their fathers in the day when I took them by the hand to lead them out of the land of Egypt; because they continued not in my covenant, and I regarded them not, says the Lord.[10] For this is the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel after those days, says the Lord; I will put my laws into their mind, and write them in their hearts: and I will be to them a God, and they shall be to me a people:[11] And they shall not teach every man his neighbor, and every man his brother, saying, Know the Lord: for all shall know me, from the least to the greatest.[12] For I will be merciful to their unrighteousness, and their sins and their iniquities will I remember no more.[13] In that he says, A new covenant, he has made the first old. Now that which decays and waxes old is ready to vanish away.

[1] Then truly the first covenant had also ordinances of divine service, and a worldly sanctuary.

[2] For there was a tabernacle made; the first, wherein was the candlestick, and the table, and the show bread; which is called the sanctuary.[3] And after the second veil, the tabernacle which is called the Holiest of all;[4] Which had the golden censer, and the ark of the covenant overlaid round about with gold, wherein was the golden pot that had manna, and Aaron's rod that budded, and the tables of the covenant;[5] And over it the cherubim of glory shadowing the mercy seat; of which we cannot now speak particularly.[6] Now when these things were thus ordained, the priests went always into the first tabernacle, accomplishing the service of God.[7] But into the second went the high priest alone once every year, not without blood, which he offered for himself, and for the errors of the people:[8] The Holy Ghost this signifying, that the way into the holiest of all was not yet made manifest, while as the first tabernacle was yet standing:[9] Which was a figure for the time then present, in which were offered both gifts and sacrifices, that could not make him that did the service perfect, as pertaining to the conscience;[10] Which stood only in meats and drinks, and divers washings, and carnal ordinances, imposed on them until the time of reformation.[11] But Christ being come an high priest of good things to come, by a greater and more perfect tabernacle, not made with hands, that is to say, not of this building;[12] Neither by the blood of goats and calves, but by his own blood he entered in once into the holy place, having obtained eternal redemption for us.[13] For if the blood of bulls and of goats, and the ashes of an heifer sprinkling the unclean, sanctifies to the purifying of the flesh:[14] How much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?[15] And for this cause he is the mediator of the new testament, that by means of death, for the redemption of the transgressions that were under the first testament, they which are called might receive the promise of eternal inheritance.[16] For where a testament is, there must also of necessity be the death of the testator.[17] For a testament is of force after men are dead: otherwise it is of no strength at all while the testator lives.[18] Whereupon neither the first testament was dedicated without blood.[19] For when Moses had spoken every precept to all the people according to the law, he took the blood of calves and of goats, with water, and scarlet wool, and hyssop, and sprinkled both the book, and all the people,[20] Saying, This is the blood of the testament which God has enjoined to you.[21] Moreover he sprinkled with blood both the tabernacle, and all the vessels of the ministry.[22] And almost all things are by the law purged with blood; and without shedding of blood is no remission.[23] It was therefore necessary that the patterns of things in the heavens should be purified with these; but the heavenly things themselves with better sacrifices than these.[24] For Christ is not entered into the holy places made with hands, which are the figures of the true; but into heaven itself, now to appear in the presence of God for us:[25] Nor yet that he should offer himself often, as the high priest enters into the holy place every year with blood of others;[26] For then must he often have suffered since the foundation of the world: but now once in the end of the world has he appeared to put away sin by the sacrifice of himself.[27] And as it is appointed to men once to die, but after this the judgment:[28] So Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many; and to them that look for him shall he appear the second time without sin to salvation.

[1] For the law having a shadow of good things to come, and not the very image of the things, can never with those sacrifices which they offered year by year continually make the comers thereunto perfect.

[2] For then would they not have ceased to be offered? because that the worshippers once purged should have had no more conscience of sins.[3] But in those sacrifices there is a remembrance again made of sins every year.[4] For it is not possible that the blood of bulls and of goats should take away sins.[5] Why when he comes into the world, he says, Sacrifice and offering you would not, but a body have you prepared me:[6] In burnt offerings and sacrifices for sin you have had no pleasure.[7] Then said I, See, I come (in the volume of the book it is written of me,) to do your will, O God.[8] Above when he said, Sacrifice and offering and burnt offerings and offering for sin you would not, neither had pleasure therein; which are offered by the law;[9] Then said he, See, I come to do your will, O God. He takes away the first, that he may establish the second.[10] By the which will we are sanctified through the offering of the body of Jesus Christ once for all.[11] And every priest stands daily ministering and offering oftentimes the same sacrifices, which can never take away sins:[12] But this man, after he had offered one sacrifice for sins for ever, sat down on the right hand of God;[13] From now on expecting till his enemies be made his footstool.[14] For by one offering he has perfected for ever them that are sanctified.[15] Whereof the Holy Ghost also is a witness to us: for after that he had said before,[16] This is the covenant that I will make with them after those days, says the Lord, I will put my laws into their hearts, and in their minds will I write them;[17] And their sins and iniquities will I remember no more.[18] Now where remission of these is, there is no more offering for sin.[19] Having therefore, brothers, boldness to enter into the holiest by the blood of Jesus,[20] By a new and living way, which he has consecrated for us, through the veil, that is to say, his flesh;[21] And having an high priest over the house of God;[22] Let us draw near with a true heart in full assurance of faith, having our hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience, and our bodies washed with pure water.[23] Let us hold fast the profession of our faith without wavering; (for he is faithful that promised;)[24] And let us consider one another to provoke to love and to good works:[25] Not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some is; but exhorting one another: and so much the more, as you see the day approaching.[26] For if we sin willfully after that we have received the knowledge of the truth, there remains no more sacrifice for sins,[27] But a certain fearful looking for of judgment and fiery indignation, which shall devour the adversaries.[28] He that despised Moses' law died without mercy under two or three witnesses:[29] Of how much sorer punishment, suppose you, shall he be thought worthy, who has trodden under foot the Son of God, and has counted the blood of the covenant, with which he was sanctified, an unholy thing, and has done despite to the Spirit of grace?[30] For we know him that has says, Vengeance belongs to me, I will recompense, said the Lord. And again, The Lord shall judge his people.[31] It is a fearful thing to fall into the hands of the living God.[32] But call to remembrance the former days, in which, after you were illuminated, you endured a great fight of afflictions;[33] Partly, whilst you were made a spectacle both by reproaches and afflictions; and partly, whilst you became companions of them that were so used.[34] For you had compassion of me in my bonds, and took joyfully the spoiling of your goods, knowing in yourselves that you have in heaven a better and an enduring substance.[35] Cast not away therefore your confidence, which has great recompense of reward.[36] For you have need of patience, that, after you have done the will of God, you might receive the promise.[37] For yet a little while, and he that shall come will come, and will not tarry.[38] Now the just shall live by faith: but if any man draw back, my soul shall have no pleasure in him.[39] But we are not of them who draw back to perdition; but of them that believe to the saving of the soul.

[1] Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen.

[2] For by it the elders obtained a good report.[3] Through faith we understand that the worlds were framed by the word of God, so that things which are seen were not made of things which do appear.[4] By faith Abel offered to God a more excellent sacrifice than Cain, by which he obtained witness that he was righteous, God testifying of his gifts: and by it he being dead yet speaks.[5] By faith Enoch was translated that he should not see death; and was not found, because God had translated him: for before his translation he had this testimony, that he pleased God.[6] But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that comes to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him.[7] By faith Noah, being warned of God of things not seen as yet, moved with fear, prepared an ark to the saving of his house; by the which he condemned the world, and became heir of the righteousness which is by faith.[8] By faith Abraham, when he was called to go out into a place which he should after receive for an inheritance, obeyed; and he went out, not knowing where he went.[9] By faith he sojourned in the land of promise, as in a strange country, dwelling in tabernacles with Isaac and Jacob, the heirs with him of the same promise:[10] For he looked for a city which has foundations, whose builder and maker is God.[11] Through faith also Sara herself received strength to conceive seed, and was delivered of a child when she was past age, because she judged him faithful who had promised.[12] Therefore sprang there even of one, and him as good as dead, so many as the stars of the sky in multitude, and as the sand which is by the sea shore innumerable.[13] These all died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them afar off, and were persuaded of them, and embraced them, and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth.[14] For they that say such things declare plainly that they seek a country.[15] And truly, if they had been mindful of that country from where they came out, they might have had opportunity to have returned.[16] But now they desire a better country, that is, an heavenly: why God is not ashamed to be called their God: for he has prepared for them a city.[17] By faith Abraham, when he was tried, offered up Isaac: and he that had received the promises offered up his only begotten son,[18] Of whom it was said, That in Isaac shall your seed be called:[19] Accounting that God was able to raise him up, even from the dead; from where also he received him in a figure.[20] By faith Isaac blessed Jacob and Esau concerning things to come.[21] By faith Jacob, when he was a dying, blessed both the sons of Joseph; and worshipped, leaning on the top of his staff.[22] By faith Joseph, when he died, made mention of the departing of the children of Israel; and gave commandment concerning his bones.[23] By faith Moses, when he was born, was hid three months of his parents, because they saw he was a proper child; and they were not afraid of the king's commandment.[24] By faith Moses, when he was come to years, refused to be called the son of Pharaoh's daughter;[25] Choosing rather to suffer affliction with the people of God, than to enjoy the pleasures of sin for a season;[26] Esteeming the reproach of Christ greater riches than the treasures in Egypt: for he had respect to the recompense of the reward.[27] By faith he forsook Egypt, not fearing the wrath of the king: for he endured, as seeing him who is invisible.[28] Through faith he kept the passover, and the sprinkling of blood, lest he that destroyed the firstborn should touch them.[29] By faith they passed through the Red sea as by dry land: which the Egyptians assaying to do were drowned.[30] By faith the walls of Jericho fell down, after they were compassed about seven days.[31] By faith the harlot Rahab perished not with them that believed not, when she had received the spies with peace.[32] And what shall I more say? for the time would fail me to tell of Gedeon, and of Barak, and of Samson, and of Jephthae; of David also, and Samuel, and of the prophets:[33] Who through faith subdued kingdoms, worked righteousness, obtained promises, stopped the mouths of lions.[34] Quenched the violence of fire, escaped the edge of the sword, out of weakness were made strong, waxed valiant in fight, turned to flight the armies of the aliens.[35] Women received their dead raised to life again: and others were tortured, not accepting deliverance; that they might obtain a better resurrection:[36] And others had trial of cruel mockings and scourgings, yes, moreover of bonds and imprisonment:[37] They were stoned, they were sawn asunder, were tempted, were slain with the sword: they wandered about in sheepskins and goatskins; being destitute, afflicted, tormented;[38] (Of whom the world was not worthy:) they wandered in deserts, and in mountains, and in dens and caves of the earth.[39] And these all, having obtained a good report through faith, received not the promise:[40] God having provided some better thing for us, that they without us should not be made perfect.

[1] Why seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which does so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us,

[2] Looking to Jesus the author and finisher of our faith; who for the joy that was set before him endured the cross, despising the shame, and is set down at the right hand of the throne of God.[3] For consider him that endured such contradiction of sinners against himself, lest you be wearied and faint in your minds.[4] You have not yet resisted to blood, striving against sin.[5] And you have forgotten the exhortation which speaks to you as to children, My son, despise not you the chastening of the Lord, nor faint when you are rebuked of him:[6] For whom the Lord loves he chastens, and whips every son whom he receives.[7] If you endure chastening, God deals with you as with sons; for what son is he whom the father chastens not?[8] But if you be without chastisement, whereof all are partakers, then are you bastards, and not sons.[9] Furthermore we have had fathers of our flesh which corrected us, and we gave them reverence: shall we not much rather be in subjection to the Father of spirits, and live?[10] For they truly for a few days chastened us after their own pleasure; but he for our profit, that we might be partakers of his holiness.[11] Now no chastening for the present seems to be joyous, but grievous: nevertheless afterward it yields the peaceable fruit of righteousness to them which are exercised thereby.[12] Why lift up the hands which hang down, and the feeble knees;[13] And make straight paths for your feet, lest that which is lame be turned out of the way; but let it rather be healed.[14] Follow peace with all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord:[15] Looking diligently lest any man fail of the grace of God; lest any root of bitterness springing up trouble you, and thereby many be defiled;[16] Lest there be any fornicator, or profane person, as Esau, who for one morsel of meat sold his birthright.[17] For you know how that afterward, when he would have inherited the blessing, he was rejected: for he found no place of repentance, though he sought it carefully with tears.[18] For you are not come to the mount that might be touched, and that burned with fire, nor to blackness, and darkness, and tempest,[19] And the sound of a trumpet, and the voice of words; which voice they that heard entreated that the word should not be spoken to them any more:[20] (For they could not endure that which was commanded, And if so much as a beast touch the mountain, it shall be stoned, or thrust through with a dart:[21] And so terrible was the sight, that Moses said, I exceedingly fear and quake:)[22] But you are come to mount Sion, and to the city of the living God, the heavenly Jerusalem, and to an innumerable company of angels,[23] To the general assembly and church of the firstborn, which are written in heaven, and to God the Judge of all, and to the spirits of just men made perfect,[24] And to Jesus the mediator of the new covenant, and to the blood of sprinkling, that speaks better things than that of Abel.[25] See that you refuse not him that speaks. For if they escaped not who refused him that spoke on earth, much more shall not we escape, if we turn away from him that speaks from heaven:[26] Whose voice then shook the earth: but now he has promised, saying, Yet once more I shake not the earth only, but also heaven.[27] And this word, Yet once more, signifies the removing of those things that are shaken, as of things that are made, that those things which cannot be shaken may remain.[28] Why we receiving a kingdom which cannot be moved, let us have grace, whereby we may serve God acceptably with reverence and godly fear:[29] For our God is a consuming fire.

[1] Let brotherly love continue.

[2] Be not forgetful to entertain strangers: for thereby some have entertained angels unawares.[3] Remember them that are in bonds, as bound with them; and them which suffer adversity, as being yourselves also in the body.[4] Marriage is honorable in all, and the bed undefiled: but fornicators and adulterers God will judge.[5] Let your conversation be without covetousness; and be content with such things as you have: for he has said, I will never leave you, nor forsake you.[6] So that we may boldly say, The Lord is my helper, and I will not fear what man shall do to me.[7] Remember them which have the rule over you, who have spoken to you the word of God: whose faith follow, considering the end of their conversation.[8] Jesus Christ the same yesterday, and to day, and for ever.[9] Be not carried about with divers and strange doctrines. For it is a good thing that the heart be established with grace; not with meats, which have not profited them that have been occupied therein.[10] We have an altar, whereof they have no right to eat which serve the tabernacle.[11] For the bodies of those beasts, whose blood is brought into the sanctuary by the high priest for sin, are burned without the camp.[12] Why Jesus also, that he might sanctify the people with his own blood, suffered without the gate.[13] Let us go forth therefore to him without the camp, bearing his reproach.[14] For here have we no continuing city, but we seek one to come.[15] By him therefore let us offer the sacrifice of praise to God continually, that is, the fruit of our lips giving thanks to his name.[16] But to do good and to communicate forget not: for with such sacrifices God is well pleased.[17] Obey them that have the rule over you, and submit yourselves: for they watch for your souls, as they that must give account, that they may do it with joy, and not with grief: for that is unprofitable for you.[18] Pray for us: for we trust we have a good conscience, in all things willing to live honestly.[19] But I beseech you the rather to do this, that I may be restored to you the sooner.[20] Now the God of peace, that brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus, that great shepherd of the sheep, through the blood of the everlasting covenant,[21] Make you perfect in every good work to do his will, working in you that which is well pleasing in his sight, through Jesus Christ; to whom be glory for ever and ever. Amen.[22] And I beseech you, brothers, suffer the word of exhortation: for I have written a letter to you in few words.[23] Know you that our brother Timothy is set at liberty; with whom, if he come shortly, I will see you.[24] Salute all them that have the rule over you, and all the saints. They of Italy salute you.[25] Grace be with you all. Amen.

James

An Introduction to the Book of James

(1.) Author of, was James the Less, the Lord's brother, one of the twelve apostles. He was one of the three pillars of the Church (Gal. 2:9).

(2.) It was addressed to the Jews of the dispersion, "the twelve tribes scattered abroad."

(3.) The place and time of the writing of the epistle were Jerusalem, where James was residing, and, from internal evidence, the period between Paul's two imprisonments at Rome, probably about A.D. 62.

(4.) The object of the writer was to enforce the practical duties of the Christian life. "The Jewish vices against which he warns them are, formalism, which made the service of God consist in washings and outward ceremonies, whereas he reminds them (1:27) that it consists rather in active love and purity; fanaticism, which, under the cloak of religious zeal, was tearing Jerusalem in pieces (1:20); fatalism, which threw its sins on God (1:13); meanness, which crouched before the rich (2:2); falsehood, which had made words and oaths play-things (3:2-12); partisanship (3:14); evil speaking (4:11); boasting (4:16); oppression (5:4). The great lesson which he teaches them as Christians is patience, patience in trial (1:2), patience in good works (1:22-25), patience under provocation (3:17), patience under oppression (5:7), patience under persecution (5:10); and the ground of their patience is that the coming of the Lord draweth nigh, which is to right all wrong (5:8)."

"Justification by works," which James contends for, is justification before man, the justification of our profession of faith by a consistent life. Paul contends for the doctrine of "justification by faith;" but that is justification before God, a being regarded and accepted as just by virtue of the righteousness of Christ, which is received by faith.

[1] James, a servant of God and of the Lord Jesus Christ, to the twelve tribes which are scattered abroad, greeting.

[2] My brothers, count it all joy when you fall into divers temptations;[3] Knowing this, that the trying of your faith works patience.[4] But let patience have her perfect work, that you may be perfect and entire, wanting nothing.[5] If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that gives to all men liberally, and upbraids not; and it shall be given him.[6] But let him ask in faith, nothing wavering. For he that wavers is like a wave of the sea driven with the wind and tossed.[7] For let not that man think that he shall receive any thing of the Lord.[8] A double minded man is unstable in all his ways.[9] Let the brother of low degree rejoice in that he is exalted:[10] But the rich, in that he is made low: because as the flower of the grass he shall pass away.[11] For the sun is no sooner risen with a burning heat, but it wither the grass, and the flower thereof falls, and the grace of the fashion of it perishes: so also shall the rich man fade away in his ways.[12] Blessed is the man that endures temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord has promised to them that love him.[13] Let no man say when he is tempted, I am tempted of God: for God cannot be tempted with evil, neither tempts he any man:[14] But every man is tempted, when he is drawn away of his own lust, and enticed.[15] Then when lust has conceived, it brings forth sin: and sin, when it is finished, brings forth death.[16] Do not err, my beloved brothers.[17] Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and comes down from the Father of lights, with whom is no ficklenss, neither shadow of turning.[18] Of his own will fathered he us with the word of truth, that we should be a kind of first fruits of his creatures.[19] Why, my beloved brothers, let every man be swift to hear, slow to speak, slow to wrath:[20] For the wrath of man works not the righteousness of God.[21] Why lay apart all filthiness and superfluity of naughtiness, and receive with meekness the engrafted word, which is able to save your souls.[22] But be you doers of the word, and not hearers only, deceiving your own selves.[23] For if any be a hearer of the word, and not a doer, he is like to a man beholding his natural face in a glass:[24] For he beholds himself, and goes his way, and straightway forgets what manner of man he was.[25] But whoever looks into the perfect law of liberty, and continues therein, he being not a forgetful hearer, but a doer of the work, this man shall be blessed in his deed.[26] If any man among you seem to be religious, and bridles not his tongue, but deceives his own heart, this man's religion is vain.[27] Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world.

[1] My brothers, have not the faith of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Lord of glory, with respect of persons.

[2] For if there come to your assembly a man with a gold ring, in goodly apparel, and there come in also a poor man in vile raiment;[3] And you have respect to him that wears the gay clothing, and say to him, Sit you here in a good place; and say to the poor, Stand you there, or sit here under my footstool:[4] Are you not then partial in yourselves, and are become judges of evil thoughts?[5] Listen, my beloved brothers, Has not God chosen the poor of this world rich in faith, and heirs of the kingdom which he has promised to them that love him?[6] But you have despised the poor. Do not rich men oppress you, and draw you before the judgment seats?[7] Do not they blaspheme that worthy name by the which you are called?[8] If you fulfill the royal law according to the scripture, You shall love your neighbor as yourself, you do well:[9] But if you have respect to persons, you commit sin, and are convinced of the law as transgressors.[10] For whoever shall keep the whole law, and yet offend in one point, he is guilty of all.[11] For he that said, Do not commit adultery, said also, Do not kill. Now if you commit no adultery, yet if you kill, you are become a transgressor of the law.[12] So speak you, and so do, as they that shall be judged by the law of liberty.[13] For he shall have judgment without mercy, that has showed no mercy; and mercy rejoices against judgment.[14] What does it profit, my brothers, though a man say he has faith, and have not works? can faith save him?[15] If a brother or sister be naked, and destitute of daily food,[16] And one of you say to them, Depart in peace, be you warmed and filled; notwithstanding you give them not those things which are needful to the body; what does it profit?[17] Even so faith, if it has not works, is dead, being alone.[18] Yes, a man may say, You have faith, and I have works: show me your faith without your works, and I will show you my faith by my works.[19] You believe that there is one God; you do well: the devils also believe, and tremble.[20] But will you know, O vain man, that faith without works is dead?[21] Was not Abraham our father justified by works, when he had offered Isaac his son on the altar?[22] See you how faith worked with his works, and by works was faith made perfect?[23] And the scripture was fulfilled which says, Abraham believed God, and it was imputed to him for righteousness: and he was called the Friend of God.[24] You see then how that by works a man is justified, and not by faith only.[25] Likewise also was not Rahab the harlot justified by works, when she had received the messengers, and had sent them out another way?[26] For as the body without the spirit is dead, so faith without works is dead also.

[1] My brothers, be not many masters, knowing that we shall receive the greater condemnation.

[2] For in many things we offend all. If any man offend not in word, the same is a perfect man, and able also to bridle the whole body.[3] Behold, we put bits in the horses' mouths, that they may obey us; and we turn about their whole body.[4] Behold also the ships, which though they be so great, and are driven of fierce winds, yet are they turned about with a very small helm, wherever the governor wants.[5] Even so the tongue is a little member, and boasts great things. Behold, how great a matter a little fire kindles![6] And the tongue is a fire, a world of iniquity: so is the tongue among our members, that it defiles the whole body, and sets on fire the course of nature; and it is set on fire of hell.[7] For every kind of beasts, and of birds, and of serpents, and of things in the sea, is tamed, and has been tamed of mankind:[8] But the tongue can no man tame; it is an unruly evil, full of deadly poison.[9] Therewith bless we God, even the Father; and therewith curse we men, which are made after the similitude of God.[10] Out of the same mouth proceeds blessing and cursing. My brothers, these things ought not so to be.[11] Does a fountain send forth at the same place sweet water and bitter?[12] Can the fig tree, my brothers, bear olive berries? either a vine, figs? so can no fountain both yield salt water and fresh.[13] Who is a wise man and endued with knowledge among you? let him show out of a good conversation his works with meekness of wisdom.[14] But if you have bitter envying and strife in your hearts, glory not, and lie not against the truth.[15] This wisdom descends not from above, but is earthly, sensual, devilish.[16] For where envying and strife is, there is confusion and every evil work.[17] But the wisdom that is from above is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, and easy to be entreated, full of mercy and good fruits, without partiality, and without hypocrisy.[18] And the fruit of righteousness is sown in peace of them that make peace.

[1] From where come wars and fights among you? come they not hence, even of your lusts that war in your members?

[2] You lust, and have not: you kill, and desire to have, and cannot obtain: you fight and war, yet you have not, because you ask not.[3] You ask, and receive not, because you ask amiss, that you may consume it on your lusts.[4] You adulterers and adulteresses, know you not that the friendship of the world is enmity with God? whoever therefore will be a friend of the world is the enemy of God.[5] Do you think that the scripture says in vain, The spirit that dwells in us lusts to envy?[6] But he gives more grace. Why he says, God resists the proud, but gives grace to the humble.[7] Submit yourselves therefore to God. Resist the devil, and he will flee from you.[8] Draw near to God, and he will draw near to you. Cleanse your hands, you sinners; and purify your hearts, you double minded.[9] Be afflicted, and mourn, and weep:

let your laughter be turned to mourning, and your joy to heaviness.[10] Humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord, and he shall lift you up.[11] Speak not evil one of another, brothers. He that speaks evil of his brother, and judges his brother, speaks evil of the law, and judges the law: but if you judge the law, you are not a doer of the law, but a judge.[12] There is one lawgiver, who is able to save and to destroy: who are you that judge another?[13] Go to now, you that say, To day or to morrow we will go into such a city, and continue there a year, and buy and sell, and get gain:[14] Whereas you know not what shall be on the morrow. For what is your life? It is even a vapor, that appears for a little time, and then vanishes away.[15] For that you ought to say, If the Lord will, we shall live, and do this, or that.[16] But now you rejoice in your boastings: all such rejoicing is evil.[17] Therefore to him that knows to do good, and does it not, to him it is sin.

[1] Go to now, you rich men, weep and howl for your miseries that shall come on you.

[2] Your riches are corrupted, and your garments are moth-eaten.[3] Your gold and silver is corroded; and the rust of them shall be a witness against you, and shall eat your flesh as it were fire. You have heaped treasure together for the last days.[4] Behold, the hire of the laborers who have reaped down your fields, which is of you kept back by fraud, cries: and the cries of them which have reaped are entered into the ears of the Lord of sabaoth.[5] You have lived in pleasure on the earth, and been wanton; you have nourished your hearts, as in a day of slaughter.[6] You have condemned and killed the just; and he does not resist you.[7] Be patient therefore, brothers, to the coming of the Lord. Behold, the farmer waits for the precious fruit of the earth, and has long patience for it, until he receive the early and latter rain.[8] Be you also patient; establish your hearts: for the coming of the Lord draws near.[9] Grudge not one against another, brothers, lest you be condemned: behold, the judge stands before the door.[10] Take, my brothers, the prophets, who have spoken in the name of the Lord, for an example of suffering affliction, and of patience.[11] Behold, we count them happy which endure. You have heard of the patience of Job, and have seen the end of the Lord; that the Lord is very pitiful, and of tender mercy.[12] But above all things, my brothers, swear not, neither by heaven, neither by the earth, neither by any other oath: but let your yes be yes; and your no, no; lest you fall into condemnation.[13] Is any among you afflicted? let him pray. Is any merry? let him sing psalms.[14] Is any sick among you? let him call for the elders of the church; and let them pray over him, anointing him with oil in the name of the Lord:[15] And the prayer of faith shall save the sick, and the Lord shall raise him up; and if he have committed sins, they shall be forgiven him.[16] Confess your faults one to another, and pray one for another, that you may be healed. The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man avails much.[17] Elias was a man subject to like passions as we are, and he prayed earnestly that it might not rain: and it rained not on the earth by the space of three years and six months.[18] And he prayed again, and the heaven gave rain, and the earth brought forth her fruit.[19] Brothers, if any of you do err from the truth, and one convert him;[20] Let him know, that he which converts the sinner from the error of his way shall save a soul from death, and shall hide a multitude of sins.

1 Peter

An Introduction to the Book of 1 Peter

This epistle is addressed to “the strangers scattered abroad”, i.e., to the Jews of the Dispersion (the Diaspora).

Its object is to confirm its readers in the doctrines they had been already taught. Peter has been called “the apostle of hope,” because this epistle abounds with words of comfort and encouragement fitted to sustain a “lively hope.” It contains about thirty-five references to the Old Testament.

It was written from Babylon, on the Euphrates, which was at this time one of the chief seats of Jewish learning, and a fitting centre for labour among the Jews. It has been noticed that in the beginning of his epistle Peter names the provinces of Asia Minor in the order in which they would naturally occur to one writing from Babylon. He counsels (1) to steadfastness and perseverance under persecution (1-2:10); (2) to the practical duties of a holy life (2:11-3:13); (3) he adduces the example of Christ and other motives to patience and holiness (3:14-4:19); and (4) concludes with counsels to pastors and people (ch. 5).

[1] Peter, an apostle of Jesus Christ, to the strangers scattered throughout Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia, and Bithynia,

[2] Elect according to the foreknowledge of God the Father, through sanctification of the Spirit, to obedience and sprinkling of the blood of Jesus Christ: Grace to you, and peace, be multiplied.[3] Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy has begotten us again to a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead,[4] To an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fades not away, reserved in heaven for you,[5] Who are kept by the power of God through faith to salvation ready to be revealed in the last time.[6] Wherein you greatly rejoice, though now for a season, if need be, you are in heaviness through manifold temptations:[7] That the trial of your faith, being much more precious than of gold that perishes, though it be tried with fire, might be found to praise and honor and glory at the appearing of Jesus Christ:[8] Whom having not seen, you love; in whom, though now you see him not, yet believing, you rejoice with joy unspeakable and full of glory:[9] Receiving the end of your faith, even the salvation of your souls.[10] Of which salvation the prophets have inquired and searched diligently, who prophesied of the grace that should come to you:[11] Searching what, or what manner of time the Spirit of Christ which was in them did signify, when it testified beforehand the sufferings of Christ, and the glory that should follow.[12] To whom it was revealed, that not to themselves, but to us they did minister the things, which are now reported to you by them that have preached the gospel to you with the Holy Ghost sent down from heaven; which things the angels desire to look into.[13] Why gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope to the end for the grace that is to be brought to you at the revelation of Jesus Christ;[14] As obedient children, not fashioning yourselves according to the former lusts in your ignorance:[15] But as he which has called you is holy, so be you holy in all manner of conversation;[16] Because it is written, Be you holy; for I am holy.[17] And if you call on the Father, who without respect of persons judges according to every man's work, pass the time of your sojourning here in fear:[18] For as much as you know that you were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers;[19] But with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot:[20] Who truly was foreordained before the foundation of the world, but was manifest in these last times for you,[21] Who by him do believe in God, that raised him up from the dead, and gave him glory; that your faith and hope might be in God.[22] Seeing you have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit to unfeigned love of the brothers, see that you love one another with a pure heart fervently:[23] Being born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the word of God, which lives and stays for ever.[24] For all flesh is as grass, and all the glory of man as the flower of grass. The grass wither, and the flower thereof falls away:[25] But the word of the Lord endures for ever. And this is the word which by the gospel is preached to you.

[1] Why laying aside all malice, and all guile, and hypocrisies, and envies, all evil speakings,

[2] As newborn babes, desire the sincere milk of the word, that you may grow thereby:[3] If so be you have tasted that the Lord is gracious.[4] To whom coming, as to a living stone, disallowed indeed of men, but chosen of God, and precious,[5] You also, as lively stones, are built up a spiritual house, an holy priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifices, acceptable to God by Jesus Christ.[6] Why also it is contained in the scripture, Behold, I lay in Sion a chief corner stone, elect, precious: and he that believes on him shall not be confounded.[7] To you therefore which believe he is precious: but to them which be disobedient, the stone which the builders disallowed, the same is made the head of the corner,[8] And a stone of stumbling, and a rock of offense, even to them which stumble at the word, being disobedient: to which also they were appointed.[9] But you are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, an holy nation, a peculiar people; that you should show forth the praises of him who has called you out of darkness into his marvelous light;[10] Which in time past were not a people, but are now the people of God: which had not obtained mercy, but now have obtained mercy.[11] Dearly beloved, I beseech you as strangers and pilgrims, abstain from fleshly lusts, which war against the soul;[12] Having your conversation honest among the Gentiles: that, whereas they speak against you as evildoers, they may by your good works, which they shall behold, glorify God in the day of visitation.[13] Submit yourselves to every ordinance of man for the Lord's sake: whether it be to the king, as supreme;[14] Or to governors, as to them that are sent by him for the punishment of evildoers, and for the praise of them that do well.[15] For so is the will of God, that with well doing you may put to silence the ignorance of foolish men:[16] As free, and not using your liberty for a cloak of maliciousness, but as the servants of God.[17] Honor all men. Love the brotherhood. Fear God. Honor the king.[18] Servants, be subject to your masters with all fear; not only to the good and gentle, but also to the fraudulent.[19] For this is thank worthy, if a man for conscience toward God endure grief, suffering wrongfully.[20] For what glory is it, if, when you be buffeted for your faults, you shall take it patiently? but if, when you do well, and suffer for it, you take it patiently, this is acceptable with God.[21] For even hereunto were you called: because Christ also suffered for us, leaving us an example, that you should follow his steps:[22] Who did no sin, neither was guile found in his mouth:[23] Who, when he was reviled, reviled not again; when he suffered, he threatened not; but committed himself to him that judges righteously:[24] Who his own self bore our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live to righteousness: by whose stripes you were healed.[25] For you were as sheep going astray; but are now returned to the Shepherd and Bishop of your souls.

[1] Likewise, you wives, be in subjection to your own husbands; that, if any obey not the word, they also may without the word be won by the conversation of the wives;

[2] While they behold your chaste conversation coupled with fear.[3] Whose adorning let it not be that outward adorning of plaiting the hair, and of wearing of gold, or of putting on of apparel;[4] But let it be the hidden man of the heart, in that which is not corruptible, even the ornament of a meek and quiet spirit, which is in the sight of God of great price.[5] For after this manner in the old time the holy women also, who trusted in God, adorned themselves, being in subjection to their own husbands:[6] Even as Sara obeyed Abraham, calling him lord: whose daughters you are, as long as you do well, and are not afraid with any amazement.[7] Likewise, you husbands, dwell with them according to knowledge, giving honor to the wife, as to the weaker vessel, and as being heirs together of the grace of life; that your prayers be not hindered.[8] Finally, be you all of one mind, having compassion one of another, love as brothers, be pitiful, be courteous:[9] Not rendering evil for evil, or railing for railing: but contrariwise blessing; knowing that you are thereunto called, that you should inherit a blessing.[10] For he that will love life, and see good days, let him refrain his tongue from evil, and his lips that they speak no guile:[11] Let him eschew evil, and do good; let him seek peace, and ensue it.[12] For the eyes of the Lord are over the righteous, and his ears are open to their prayers: but the face of the Lord is against them that do evil.[13] And who is he that will harm you, if you be followers of that which is good?[14] But and if you suffer for righteousness' sake, happy are you: and be not afraid of their terror, neither be troubled;[15] But sanctify the Lord God in your hearts: and be ready always to give an answer to every man that asks you a reason of the hope that is in you with meekness and fear:[16] Having a good conscience; that, whereas they speak evil of you, as of evildoers, they may be ashamed that falsely accuse your good conversation in Christ.[17] For it is better, if the will of God be so, that you suffer for well doing, than for evil doing.[18] For Christ also has once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit:[19] By which also he went and preached to the spirits in prison;[20] Which sometime were disobedient, when once the long-suffering of God waited in the days of Noah, while the ark was a preparing, wherein few, that is, eight souls were saved by water.[21] The like figure to which even baptism does also now save us (not the putting away of the filth of the flesh, but the answer of a good conscience toward God,) by the resurrection of Jesus Christ:[22] Who is gone into heaven, and is on the right hand of God; angels and authorities and powers being made subject to him.

[1] For as much then as Christ has suffered for us in the flesh, arm yourselves likewise with the same mind: for he that has suffered in the flesh has ceased from sin;

[2] That he no longer should live the rest of his time in the flesh to the lusts of men, but to the will of God.[3] For the time past of our life may suffice us to have worked the will of the Gentiles, when we walked in lasciviousness, lusts, excess of wine, revelings, parties, and abominable idolatries:[4] Wherein they think it strange that you run not with them to the same excess of riot, speaking evil of you:[5] Who shall give account to him that is ready to judge the quick and the dead.[6] For for this cause was the gospel preached also to them that are dead, that they might be judged according to men in the flesh, but live according to God in the spirit.[7] But the end of all things is at hand: be you therefore sober, and watch to prayer.[8] And above all things have fervent charity among yourselves: for charity shall cover the multitude of sins.[9] Use hospitality one to another without grudging.[10] As every man has received the gift, even so minister the same one to another, as good stewards of the manifold grace of God.[11] If any man speak, let him speak as the oracles of God; if any man minister, let him do it as of the ability which God gives: that God in all things may be glorified through Jesus Christ, to whom be praise and dominion for ever and ever. Amen.[12] Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened to you:[13] But rejoice, inasmuch as you are partakers of Christ's sufferings; that, when his glory shall be revealed, you may be glad also with exceeding joy.[14] If you be reproached for the name of Christ, happy are you; for the spirit of glory and of God rests on you: on their part he is evil spoken of, but on your part he is glorified.[15] But let none of you suffer as a murderer, or as a thief, or as an evildoer, or as a busybody in other men's matters.[16] Yet if any man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed; but let him glorify God on this behalf.[17] For the time is come that judgment must begin at the house of God: and if it first begin at us, what shall the end be of them that obey not the gospel of God?[18] And if the righteous scarcely be saved, where shall the ungodly and the sinner appear?[19] Why let them that suffer according to the will of God commit the keeping of their souls to him in well doing, as to a faithful Creator.

[1] The elders which are among you I exhort, who am also an elder, and a witness of the sufferings of Christ, and also a partaker of the glory that shall be revealed:

[2] Feed the flock of God which is among you, taking the oversight thereof, not by constraint, but willingly; not for filthy lucre, but of a ready mind;[3] Neither as being lords over God's heritage, but being ensamples to the flock.[4] And when the chief Shepherd shall appear, you shall receive a crown of glory that fades not away.[5] Likewise, you younger, submit yourselves to the elder. Yes, all of you be subject one to another, and be clothed with humility: for God resists the proud, and gives grace to the humble.[6] Humble yourselves therefore under the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time:[7] Casting all your care on him; for he cares for you.[8] Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walks about, seeking whom he may devour:[9] Whom resist steadfast in the faith, knowing that the same afflictions are accomplished in your brothers that are in the world.[10] But the God of all grace, who has called us to his eternal glory by Christ Jesus, after that you have suffered a while, make you perfect, establish, strengthen, settle you.[11] To him be glory and dominion for ever and ever. Amen.[12] By Silvanus, a faithful brother to you, as I suppose, I have written briefly, exhorting, and testifying that this is the true grace of God wherein you stand.[13] The church that is at Babylon, elected together with you, salutes you; and so does Marcus my son.[14] Greet you one another with a kiss of charity. Peace be with you all that are in Christ Jesus. Amen.

2 Peter

An Introduction to the Book of 2 Peter

The question of the authenticity of this epistle has been much discussed, but the weight of evidence is wholly in favour of its claim to be the production of the apostle whose name it bears. It appears to have been written shortly before the apostle's death (1:14). This epistle contains eleven references to the Old Testament. It also contains (3:15, 16) a remarkable reference to Paul's epistles. Some think this reference is to 1 Thess. 4:13-5:11. A few years ago, among other documents, a parchment fragment, called the "Gospel of Peter," was discovered in a Christian tomb at Akhmim in Upper Egypt. Origen (obiit A.D. 254), Eusebius (obiit 340), and Jerome (obiit 420) refer to such a work, and hence it has been concluded that it was probably written about the middle of the second century. It professes to give a history of our Lord's resurrection and ascension. While differing in not a few particulars from the canonical Gospels, the writer shows plainly that he was acquinted both with the synoptics and with the Gospel of John. Though apocryphal, it is of considerable value as showing that the main facts of the history of our Lord were then widely known.

[1] Simon Peter, a servant and an apostle of Jesus Christ, to them that have obtained like precious faith with us through the righteousness of God and our Savior Jesus Christ:

[2] Grace and peace be multiplied to you through the knowledge of God, and of Jesus our Lord,[3] According as his divine power has given to us all things that pertain to life and godliness, through the knowledge of him that has called us to glory and virtue:[4] Whereby are given to us exceeding great and precious promises: that by these you might be partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust.[5] And beside this, giving all diligence, add to your faith virtue; and to virtue knowledge;[6] And to knowledge temperance; and to temperance patience; and to patience godliness;[7] And to godliness brotherly kindness; and to brotherly kindness charity.[8] For if these things be in you, and abound, they make you that you shall neither be barren nor unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ.[9] But he that lacks these things is blind, and cannot see afar off, and has forgotten that he was purged from his old sins.[10] Why the rather, brothers, give diligence to make your calling and election sure: for if you do these things, you shall never fall:[11] For so an entrance shall be ministered to you abundantly into the everlasting kingdom of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.[12] Why I will not be negligent to put you always in remembrance of these things, though you know them, and be established in the present truth.[13] Yes, I think it meet, as long as I am in this tabernacle, to stir you up by putting you in remembrance;[14] Knowing that shortly I must put off this my tabernacle, even as our Lord Jesus Christ has showed me.[15] Moreover I will endeavor that you may be able after my decease to have these things always in remembrance.[16] For we have not followed cunningly devised fables, when we made known to you the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, but were eyewitnesses of his majesty.[17] For he received from God the Father honor and glory, when there came such a voice to him from the excellent glory, This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased.[18] And this voice which came from heaven we heard, when we were with him in the holy mount.[19] We have also a more sure word of prophecy; to which you do well that you take heed, as to a light that shines in a dark place, until the day dawn, and the day star arise in your hearts:[20] Knowing this first, that no prophecy of the scripture is of any private interpretation.[21] For the prophecy came not in old time by the will of man: but holy men of God spoke as they were moved by the Holy Ghost.

[1] But there were false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be false teachers among you, who privately shall bring in damnable heresies, even denying the Lord that bought them, and bring on themselves swift destruction.

[2] And many shall follow their pernicious ways; by reason of whom the way of truth shall be evil spoken of.[3] And through covetousness shall they with feigned words make merchandise of you: whose judgment now of a long time lingers not, and their damnation slumbers not.[4] For if God spared not the angels that sinned, but cast them down to hell, and delivered them into chains of darkness, to be reserved to judgment;[5] And spared not the old world, but saved Noah the eighth person, a preacher of righteousness, bringing in the flood on the world of the ungodly;[6] And turning the cities of Sodom and Gomorrha into ashes condemned them with an overthrow, making them an ensample to those that after should live ungodly;[7] And delivered just Lot, vexed with the filthy conversation of the wicked:[8] (For that righteous man dwelling among them, in seeing and hearing, vexed his righteous soul from day to day with their unlawful deeds;)[9] The Lord knows how to deliver the godly out of temptations, and to reserve the unjust to the day of judgment to be punished:[10] But chiefly them that walk after the flesh in the lust of uncleanness, and despise government. Presumptuous are they, self-willed, they are not afraid to speak evil of dignities.[11] Whereas angels, which are greater in power and might, bring not railing accusation against them before the Lord.[12] But these, as natural brute beasts, made to be taken and destroyed, speak evil of the things that they understand not; and shall utterly perish in their own corruption;[13] And shall receive the reward of unrighteousness, as they that count it pleasure to riot in the day time. Spots they are and blemishes, sporting themselves with their own deceivings while they feast with you;[14] Having eyes full of adultery, and that cannot cease from sin; beguiling unstable souls: an heart they have exercised with covetous practices; cursed children:[15] Which have forsaken the right way, and are gone astray, following the way of Balaam the son of Bosor, who loved the wages of unrighteousness;[16] But was rebuked for his iniquity: the dumb ass speaking with man's voice forbade the madness of the prophet.[17] These are wells without water, clouds that are carried with a tempest; to whom the mist of darkness is reserved for ever.[18] For when they speak great swelling words of vanity, they allure through the lusts of the flesh, through much wantonness, those that were clean escaped from them who live in error.[19] While they promise them liberty, they themselves are the servants of corruption: for of whom a man is overcome, of the same is he brought in bondage.[20] For if after they have escaped the pollutions of the world through the knowledge of the Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, they are again entangled therein, and overcome, the latter end is worse with them than the beginning.[21] For it had been better for them not to have known the way of righteousness, than, after they have known it, to turn from the holy commandment delivered to them.[22] But it is happened to them according to the true proverb, The dog is turned to his own vomit again; and the sow that was washed to her wallowing in the mire.

[1] This second letter, beloved, I now write to you; in both which I stir up your pure minds by way of remembrance:

[2] That you may be mindful of the words which were spoken before by the holy prophets, and of the commandment of us the apostles of the Lord and Savior:[3] Knowing this first, that there shall come in the last days scoffers, walking after their own lusts,[4] And saying, Where is the promise of his coming? for since the fathers fell asleep, all things continue as they were from the beginning of the creation.[5] For this they willingly are ignorant of, that by the word of God the heavens were of old, and the earth standing out of the water and in the water:[6] Whereby the world that then was, being overflowed with water, perished:[7] But the heavens and the earth, which are now, by the same word are kept in store, reserved to fire against the day of judgment and perdition of ungodly men.[8] But, beloved, be not ignorant of this one thing, that one day is with the Lord as a thousand years, and a thousand years as one day.[9] The Lord is not slack concerning his promise, as some men count slackness; but is long-suffering to us-ward, not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance.[10] But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up.[11] Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought you to be in all holy conversation and godliness,[12] Looking for and hastening to the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat?[13] Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwells righteousness.[14] Why, beloved, seeing that you look for such things, be diligent that you may be found of him in peace, without spot, and blameless.[15] And account that the long-suffering of our Lord is salvation; even as our beloved brother Paul also according to the wisdom given to him has written to you;[16] As also in all his letters, speaking in them of these things; in which are some things hard to be understood, which they that are unlearned and unstable wrest, as they do also the other scriptures, to their own destruction.[17] You therefore, beloved, seeing you know these things before, beware lest you also, being led away with the error of the wicked, fall from your own steadfastness.[18] But grow in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. To him be glory both now and for ever. Amen.

1 John

An Introduction to the Book of 1 John

The fourth of the catholic or “general” epistles. It was evidently written by John the evangelist, and probably also at Ephesus, and when the writer was in advanced age. The purpose of the apostle (1:1-4) is to declare the Word of Life to those to whom he writes, in order that they might be united in fellowship with the Father and his Son Jesus Christ. He shows that the means of union with God are, (1) on the part of Christ, his atoning work (1:7; 2:2; 3:5; 4:10, 14; 5:11, 12) and his advocacy (2:1); and (2), on the part of man, holiness (1:6), obedience (2:3), purity (3:3), faith (3:23; 4:3; 5:5), and love (2:7, 8; 3:14; 4:7; 5:1).

[1] That which was from the beginning, which we have heard, which we have seen with our eyes, which we have looked on, and our hands have handled, of the Word of life;

[2] (For the life was manifested, and we have seen it, and bear witness, and show to you that eternal life, which was with the Father, and was manifested to us;)[3] That which we have seen and heard declare we to you, that you also may have fellowship with us: and truly our fellowship is with the Father, and with his Son Jesus Christ.[4] And these things write we to you, that your joy may be full.[5] This then is the message which we have heard of him, and declare to you, that God is light, and in him is no darkness at all.[6] If we say that we have fellowship with him, and walk in darkness, we lie, and do not the truth:[7] But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleans us from all sin.[8] If we say that we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us.[9] If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness.[10] If we say that we have not sinned, we make him a liar, and his word is not in us.

[1] My little children, these things write I to you, that you sin not. And if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous:

[2] And he is the propitiation for our sins: and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world.[3] And hereby we do know that we know him, if we keep his commandments.[4] He that says, I know him, and keeps not his commandments, is a liar, and the truth is not in him.[5] But whoever keeps his word, in him truly is the love of God perfected: hereby know we that we are in him.[6] He that says he stays in him ought himself also so to walk, even as he walked.[7] Brothers, I write no new commandment to you, but an old commandment which you had from the beginning. The old commandment is the word which you have heard from the beginning.[8] Again, a new commandment I write to you, which thing is true in him and in you: because the darkness is past, and the true light now shines.[9] He that says he is in the light, and hates his brother, is in darkness even until now.[10] He that loves his brother stays in the light, and there is none occasion of stumbling in him.[11] But he that hates his brother is in darkness, and walks in darkness, and knows not where he goes, because that darkness has blinded his eyes.[12] I write to you, little children, because your sins are forgiven you for his name's sake.[13] I write to you, fathers, because you have known him that is from the beginning. I write to you, young men, because you have overcome the wicked one. I write to you, little children, because you have known the Father.[14] I have written to you, fathers, because you have known him that is from the beginning. I have written to you, young men, because you are strong, and the word of God stays in you, and you have overcome the wicked one.[15] Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him.[16] For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world.[17] And the world passes away, and the lust thereof: but he that does the will of God stays for ever.[18] Little children, it is the last time: and as you have heard that antichrist shall come, even now are there many antichrists; whereby we know that it is the last time.[19] They went out from us, but they were not of us; for if they had been of us, they would no doubt have continued with us: but they went out, that they might be made manifest that they were not all of us.[20] But you have an unction from the Holy One, and you know all things.[21] I have not written to you because you know not the truth, but because you know it, and that no lie is of the truth.[22] Who is a liar but he that denies that Jesus is the Christ? He is antichrist, that denies the Father and the Son.[23] Whoever denies the Son, the same has not the Father: he that acknowledges the Son has the Father also.[24] Let that therefore abide in you, which you have heard from the beginning. If that which you have heard from the beginning shall remain in you, you also shall continue in the Son, and in the Father.[25] And this is the promise that he has promised us, even eternal life.[26] These things have I written to you concerning them that seduce you.[27] But the anointing which you have received of him stays in you, and you need not that any man teach you: but as the same anointing teaches you of all things, and is truth, and is no lie, and even as it has taught you, you shall abide in him.[28] And now, little children, abide in him; that, when he shall appear, we may have confidence, and not be ashamed before him at his coming.[29] If you know that he is righteous, you know that every one that does righteousness is born of him.

[1] Behold, what manner of love the Father has bestowed on us, that we should be called the sons of God: therefore the world knows us not, because it knew him not.

[2] Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it does not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is.[3] And every man that has this hope in him purifies himself, even as he is pure.[4] Whoever commits sin transgresses also the law: for sin is the transgression of the law.[5] And you know that he was manifested to take away our sins; and in him is no sin.[6] Whoever stays in him sins not: whoever sins has not seen him, neither known him.[7] Little children, let no man deceive you: he that does righteousness is righteous, even as he is righteous.[8] He that commits sin is of the devil; for the devil sins from the beginning. For this purpose the Son of God was manifested, that he might destroy the works of the devil.[9] Whoever is born of God does not commit sin; for his seed remains in him: and he cannot sin, because he is born of God.[10] In this the children of God are manifest, and the children of the devil: whoever does not righteousness is not of God, neither he that loves not his brother.[11] For this is the message that you heard from the beginning, that we should love one another.[12] Not as Cain, who was of that wicked one, and slew his brother. And why slew he him? Because his own works were evil, and his brother's righteous.[13] Marvel not, my brothers, if the world hate you.[14] We know that we have passed from death to life, because we love the brothers. He that loves not his brother stays in death.[15] Whoever hates his brother is a murderer: and you know that no murderer has eternal life abiding in him.[16] Hereby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us: and we ought to lay down our lives for the brothers.[17] But whoever has this world's good, and sees his brother have need, and shuts up his bowels of compassion from him, how dwells the love of God in him?[18] My little children, let us not love in word, neither in tongue; but in deed and in truth.[19] And hereby we know that we are of the truth, and shall assure our hearts before him.[20] For if our heart condemn us, God is greater than our heart, and knows all things.[21] Beloved, if our heart condemn us not, then have we confidence toward God.[22] And whatever we ask, we receive of him, because we keep his commandments, and do those things that are pleasing in his sight.[23] And this is his commandment, That we should believe on the name of his Son Jesus Christ, and love one another, as he gave us commandment.[24] And he that keeps his commandments dwells in him, and he in him. And hereby we know that he stays in us, by the Spirit which he has given us.

[1] Beloved, believe not every spirit, but try the spirits whether they are of God: because many false prophets are gone out into the world.

[2] Hereby know you the Spirit of God: Every spirit that confesses that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh is of God:[3] And every spirit that confesses not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh is not of God: and this is that spirit of antichrist, whereof you have heard that it should come; and even now already is it in the world.[4] You are of God, little children, and have overcome them: because greater is he that is in you, than he that is in the world.[5] They are of the world: therefore speak they of the world, and the world hears them.[6] We are of God: he that knows God hears us; he that is not of God hears not us. Hereby know we the spirit of truth, and the spirit of error.[7] Beloved, let us love one another: for love is of God; and every one that loves is born of God, and knows God.[8] He that loves not knows not God; for God is love.[9] In this was manifested the love of God toward us, because that God sent his only begotten Son into the world, that we might live through him.[10] Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that he loved us, and sent his Son to be the propitiation for our sins.[11] Beloved, if God so loved us, we ought also to love one another.[12] No man has seen God at any time. If we love one another, God dwells in us, and his love is perfected in us.[13] Hereby know we that we dwell in him, and he in us, because he has given us of his Spirit.[14] And we have seen and do testify that the Father sent the Son to be the Savior of the world.[15] Whoever shall confess that Jesus is the Son of God, God dwells in him, and he in God.[16] And we have known and believed the love that God has to us. God is love; and he that dwells in love dwells in God, and God in him.[17] Herein is our love made perfect, that we may have boldness in the day of judgment: because as he is, so are we in this world.[18] There is no fear in love; but perfect love casts out fear: because fear has torment. He that fears is not made perfect in love.[19] We love him, because he first loved us.[20] If a man say, I love God, and hates his brother, he is a liar: for he that loves not his brother whom he has seen, how can he love God whom he has not seen?[21] And this commandment have we from him, That he who loves God love his brother also.

[1] Whoever believes that Jesus is the Christ is born of God: and every one that loves him that fathered loves him also that is begotten of him.

[2] By this we know that we love the children of God, when we love God, and keep his commandments.[3] For this is the love of God, that we keep his commandments: and his commandments are not grievous.[4] For whatever is born of God overcomes the world: and this is the victory that overcomes the world, even our faith.[5] Who is he that overcomes the world, but he that believes that Jesus is the Son of God?[6] This is he that came by water and blood, even Jesus Christ; not by water only, but by water and blood. And it is the Spirit that bears witness, because the Spirit is truth.[7] For there are three that bear record in heaven, the Father, the Word, and the Holy Ghost: and these three are one.[8] And there are three that bear witness in earth, the Spirit, and the water, and the blood: and these three agree in one.[9] If we receive the witness of men, the witness of God is greater: for this is the witness of God which he has testified of his Son.[10] He that believes on the Son of God has the witness in himself: he that believes not God has made him a liar; because he believes not the record that God gave of his Son.[11] And this is the record, that God has given to us eternal life, and this life is in his Son.[12] He that has the Son has life; and he that has not the Son of God has not life.[13] These things have I written to you that believe on the name of the Son of God; that you may know that you have eternal life, and that you may believe on the name of the Son of God.[14] And this is the confidence that we have in him, that, if we ask any thing according to his will, he hears us:[15] And if we know that he hear us, whatever we ask, we know that we have the petitions that we desired of him.[16] If any man see his brother sin a sin which is not to death, he shall ask, and he shall give him life for them that sin not to death. There is a sin to death: I do not say that he shall pray for it.[17] All unrighteousness is sin: and there is a sin not to death.[18] We know that whoever is born of God sins not; but he that is begotten of God keeps himself, and that wicked one touches him not.[19] And we know that we are of God, and the whole world lies in wickedness.[20] And we know that the Son of God is come, and has given us an understanding, that we may know him that is true, and we are in him that is true, even in his Son Jesus Christ. This is the true God, and eternal life.[21] Little children, keep yourselves from idols. Amen.

2 John

An Introduction to the Book of 2 John

Is addressed to “the elect lady,” and closes with the words, “The children of thy elect sister greet thee;” but some would read instead of “lady” the proper name Kyria. Of the thirteen verses composing this epistle seven are in the First Epistle. The person addressed is commended for her piety, and is warned against false teachers.

[1] The elder to the elect lady and her children, whom I love in the truth; and not I only, but also all they that have known the truth;

[2] For the truth's sake, which dwells in us, and shall be with us for ever.[3] Grace be with you, mercy, and peace, from God the Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ, the Son of the Father, in truth and love.[4] I rejoiced greatly that I found of your children walking in truth, as we have received a commandment from the Father.[5] And now I beseech you, lady, not as though I wrote a new commandment to you, but that which we had from the beginning, that we love one another.[6] And this is love, that we walk after his commandments. This is the commandment, That, as you have heard from the beginning, you should walk in it.[7] For many deceivers are entered into the world, who confess not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh. This is a deceiver and an antichrist.[8] Look to yourselves, that we lose not those things which we have worked, but that we receive a full reward.[9] Whoever transgresses, and stays not in the doctrine of Christ, has not God. He that stays in the doctrine of Christ, he has both the Father and the Son.[10] If there come any to you, and bring not this doctrine, receive him not into your house, neither bid him God speed:[11] For he that bids him God speed is partaker of his evil deeds.[12] Having many things to write to you, I would not write with paper and ink: but I trust to come to you, and speak face to face, that our joy may be full.[13] The children of your elect sister greet you. Amen.

3 John

An Introduction to the Book of 3 John

Is addressed to Caius, or Gaius, but whether to the Christian of that name in Macedonia (Acts 19: 29) or in Corinth (Rom. 16:23) or in Derbe (Acts 20:4) is uncertain. It was written for the purpose of commending to Gaius some Christians who were strangers in the place where he lived, and who had gone thither for the purpose of preaching the gospel (ver. 7).

The Second and Third Epistles were probably written soon after the First, and from Ephesus.

[1] The elder to the well beloved Gaius, whom I love in the truth.

[2] Beloved, I wish above all things that you may prosper and be in health, even as your soul prospers.[3] For I rejoiced greatly, when the brothers came and testified of the truth that is in you, even as you walk in the truth.[4] I have no greater joy than to hear that my children walk in truth.[5] Beloved, you do faithfully whatever you do to the brothers, and to strangers;[6] Which have borne witness of your charity before the church: whom if you bring forward on their journey after a godly sort, you shall do well:[7] Because that for his name's sake they went forth, taking nothing of the Gentiles.[8] We therefore ought to receive such, that we might be fellow helpers to the truth.[9] I wrote to the church: but Diotrephes, who loves to have the preeminence among them, receives us not.[10] Why, if I come, I will remember his deeds which he does, prating against us with malicious words: and not content therewith, neither does he himself receive the brothers, and forbids them that would, and casts them out of the church.[11] Beloved, follow not that which is evil, but that which is good. He that does good is of God: but he that does evil has not seen God.[12] Demetrius has good report of all men, and of the truth itself: yes, and we also bear record; and you know that our record is true.[13] I had many things to write, but I will not with ink and pen write to you:[14] But I trust I shall shortly see you, and we shall speak face to face. Peace be to you. Our friends salute you. Greet the friends by name.

Jude

An Introduction to the Book of Jude

The author was “Judas, the brother of James” the Less (Jude 1:1), called also Lebbaeus (Matt. 10:3) and Thaddaeus (Mark 3:18). The genuineness of this epistle was early questioned, and doubts regarding it were revived at the time of the Reformation; but the evidences in support of its claims are complete. It has all the marks of having proceeded from the writer whose name it bears.

There is nothing very definite to determine the time and place at which it was written. It was apparently written in the later period of the apostolic age, for when it was written there were persons still alive who had heard the apostles preach (ver. 17). It may thus have been written about A.D. 66 or 70, and apparently in Palestine.

The epistle is addressed to Christians in general (ver. 1), and its design is to put them on their guard against the misleading efforts of a certain class of errorists to which they were exposed. The style of the epistle is that of an “impassioned invective, in the impetuous whirlwind of which the writer is hurried along, collecting example after example of divine vengeance on the ungodly; heaping epithet upon epithet, and piling image upon image, and, as it were, labouring for words and images strong enough to depict the polluted character of the licentious apostates against whom he is warning the Church; returning again and again to the subject, as though all language was insufficient to give an adequate idea of their profligacy, and to express his burning hatred of their perversion of the doctrines of the gospel.”

The striking resemblance this epistle bears to 2 Peter suggests the idea that the author of the one had seen the epistle of the other.

The doxology with which the epistle concludes is regarded as the finest in the New Testament.

[1] Jude, the servant of Jesus Christ, and brother of James, to them that are sanctified by God the Father, and preserved in Jesus Christ, and called:

[2] Mercy to you, and peace, and love, be multiplied.[3] Beloved, when I gave all diligence to write to you of the common salvation, it was needful for me to write to you, and exhort you that you should earnestly contend for the faith which was once delivered to the saints.[4] For there are certain men crept in unawares, who were before of old ordained to this condemnation, ungodly men, turning the grace of our God into lasciviousness, and denying the only Lord God, and our Lord Jesus Christ.[5] I will therefore put you in remembrance, though you once knew this, how that the Lord, having saved the people out of the land of Egypt, afterward destroyed them that believed not.[6] And the angels which kept not their first estate, but left their own habitation, he has reserved in everlasting chains under darkness to the judgment of the great day.[7] Even as Sodom and Gomorrha, and the cities about them in like manner, giving themselves over to fornication, and going after strange flesh, are set forth for an example, suffering the vengeance of eternal fire.[8] Likewise also these filthy dreamers defile the flesh, despise dominion, and speak evil of dignities.[9] Yet Michael the archangel, when contending with the devil he disputed about the body of Moses, dared not bring against him a railing accusation, but said, The Lord rebuke you.[10] But these speak evil of those things which they know not: but what they know naturally, as brute beasts, in those things they corrupt themselves.[11] Woe to them! for they have gone in the way of Cain, and ran greedily after the error of Balaam for reward, and perished in the gainsaying of Core.[12] These are spots in your feasts of charity, when they feast with you, feeding themselves without fear: clouds they are without water, carried about of winds; trees whose fruit wither, without fruit, twice dead, plucked up by the roots;[13] Raging waves of the sea, foaming out their own shame; wandering stars, to whom is reserved the blackness of darkness for ever.[14] And Enoch also, the seventh from Adam, prophesied of these, saying, Behold, the Lord comes with ten thousands of his saints,[15] To execute judgment on all, and to convince all that are ungodly among them of all their ungodly deeds which they have ungodly committed, and of all their hard speeches which ungodly sinners have spoken against him.[16] These are murmurers, complainers, walking after their own lusts; and their mouth speaks great swelling words, having men's persons in admiration because of advantage.[17] But, beloved, remember you the words which were spoken before of the apostles of our Lord Jesus Christ;[18] How that they told you there should be mockers in the last time, who should walk after their own ungodly lusts.[19] These be they who separate themselves, sensual, having not the Spirit.[20] But you, beloved, building up yourselves on your most holy faith, praying in the Holy Ghost,[21] Keep yourselves in the love of God, looking for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ to eternal life.[22] And of some have compassion, making a difference:[23] And others save with fear, pulling them out of the fire; hating even the garment spotted by the flesh.[24] Now to him that is able to keep you from falling, and to present you faultless before the presence of his glory with exceeding joy,[25] To the only wise God our Savior, be glory and majesty, dominion and power, both now and ever. Amen.

Revelation

An Introduction to the Book of Revelation

=The Apocalypse, the closing book and the only prophetical book of the New Testament canon. The author of this book was undoubtedly John the apostle. His name occurs four times in the book itself (1:1, 4, 9; 22:8), and there is every reason to conclude that the “John” here mentioned was the apostle. In a manuscript of about the twelfth century he is called “John the divine,” but no reason can be assigned for this appellation.

The date of the writing of this book has generally been fixed at A.D. 96, in the reign of Domitian. There are some, however, who contend for an earlier date, A.D. 68 or 69, in the reign of Nero. Those who are in favour of the later date appeal to the testimony of the Christian father Irenaeus, who received information relative to this book from those who had seen John face to face. He says that the Apocalypse “was seen no long time ago.”

As to the relation between this book and the Gospel of John, it has been well observed that “the leading ideas of both are the same. The one gives us in a magnificent vision, the other in a great historic drama, the supreme conflict between good and evil and its issue. In both Jesus Christ is the central figure, whose victory through defeat is the issue of the conflict. In both the Jewish dispensation is the preparation for the gospel, and the warfare and triumph of the Christ is described in language saturated with the Old Testament. The difference of date will go a long way toward explaining the difference of style.” Plummer’s Gospel of St. John, Introd.

Revelation

[1] The Revelation of Jesus Christ, which God gave to him, to show to his servants things which must shortly come to pass; and he sent and signified it by his angel to his servant John:

[2] Who bore record of the word of God, and of the testimony of Jesus Christ, and of all things that he saw.[3] Blessed is he that reads, and they that hear the words of this prophecy, and keep those things which are written therein: for the time is at hand.[4] John to the seven churches which are in Asia: Grace be to you, and peace, from him which is, and which was, and which is to come; and from the seven Spirits which are before his throne;[5] And from Jesus Christ, who is the faithful witness, and the first begotten of the dead, and the prince of the kings of the earth. To him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood,[6] And has made us kings and priests to God and his Father; to him be glory and dominion for ever and ever. Amen.[7] Behold, he comes with clouds; and every eye shall see him, and they also which pierced him: and all kindreds of the earth shall wail because of him. Even so, Amen.[8] I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the ending, says the Lord, which is, and which was, and which is to come, the Almighty.[9] I John, who also am your brother, and companion in tribulation, and in the kingdom and patience of Jesus Christ, was in the isle that is called Patmos, for the word of God, and for the testimony of Jesus Christ.[10] I was in the Spirit on the Lord's day, and heard behind me a great voice, as of a trumpet,[11] Saying, I am Alpha and Omega, the first and the last: and, What you see, write in a book, and send it to the seven churches which are in Asia; to Ephesus, and to Smyrna, and to Pergamos, and to Thyatira, and to Sardis, and to Philadelphia, and to Laodicea.[12] And I turned to see the voice that spoke with me. And being turned, I saw seven golden candlesticks;[13] And in the middle of the seven candlesticks one like to the Son of man, clothed with a garment down to the foot, and girt about the breasts with a golden girdle.[14] His head and his hairs were white like wool, as white as snow; and his eyes were as a flame of fire;[15] And his feet like to fine brass, as if they burned in a furnace; and his voice as the sound of many waters.[16] And he had in his right hand seven stars: and out of his mouth went a sharp two edged sword: and his countenance was as the sun shines in his strength.[17] And when I saw him, I fell at his feet as dead. And he laid his right hand on me, saying to me, Fear not; I am the first and the last:[18] I am he that lives, and was dead; and, behold, I am alive for ever more, Amen; and have the keys of hell and of death.[19] Write the things which you have seen, and the things which are, and the things which shall be hereafter;[20] The mystery of the seven stars which you saw in my right hand, and the seven golden candlesticks. The seven stars are the angels of the seven churches: and the seven candlesticks which you saw are the seven churches.

[1] To the angel of the church of Ephesus write; These things says he that holds the seven stars in his right hand, who walks in the middle of the seven golden candlesticks;

[2] I know your works, and your labor, and your patience, and how you can not bear them which are evil: and you have tried them which say they are apostles, and are not, and have found them liars:[3] And have borne, and have patience, and for my name's sake have labored, and have not fainted.[4] Nevertheless I have somewhat against you, because you have left your first love.[5] Remember therefore from where you are fallen, and repent, and do the first works; or else I will come to you quickly, and will remove your candlestick out of his place, except you repent.[6] But this you have, that you hate the deeds of the Nicolaitanes, which I also hate.[7] He that has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the churches; To him that overcomes will I give to eat of the tree of life, which is in the middle of the paradise of God.[8] And to the angel of the church in Smyrna write; These things says the first and the last, which was dead, and is alive;[9] I know your works, and tribulation, and poverty, (but you are rich) and I know the blasphemy of them which say they are Jews, and are not, but are the synagogue of Satan.[10] Fear none of those things which you shall suffer: behold, the devil shall cast some of you into prison, that you may be tried; and you shall have tribulation ten days: be you faithful to death, and I will give you a crown of life.[11] He that has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the churches; He that overcomes shall not be hurt of the second death.[12] And to the angel of the church in Pergamos write; These things says he which has the sharp sword with two edges;[13] I know your works, and where you dwell, even where Satan's seat is: and you hold fast my name, and have not denied my faith, even in those days wherein Antipas was my faithful martyr, who was slain among you, where Satan dwells.[14] But I have a few things against you, because you have there them that hold the doctrine of Balaam, who taught Balac to cast a stumbling block before the children of Israel, to eat things sacrificed to idols, and to commit fornication.[15] So have you also them that hold the doctrine of the Nicolaitanes, which thing I hate.[16] Repent; or else I will come to you quickly, and will fight against them with the sword of my mouth.[17] He that has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the churches; To him that overcomes will I give to eat of the hidden manna, and will give him a white stone, and in the stone a new name written, which no man knows saving he that receives it.[18] And to the angel of the church in Thyatira write; These things says the Son of God, who has his eyes like to a flame of fire, and his feet are like fine brass;[19] I know your works, and charity, and service, and faith, and your patience, and your works; and the last to be more than the first.[20] Notwithstanding I have a few things against you, because you suffer that woman Jezebel, which calls herself a prophetess, to teach and to seduce my servants to commit fornication, and to eat things sacrificed to idols.[21] And I gave her space to repent of her fornication; and she repented not.[22] Behold, I will cast her into a bed, and them that commit adultery with her into great tribulation, except they repent of their deeds.[23] And I will kill her children with death; and all the churches shall know that I am he which searches the reins and hearts: and I will give to every one of you according to your works.[24] But to you I say, and to the rest in Thyatira, as many as have not this doctrine, and which have not known the depths of Satan, as they speak; I will put on you none other burden.[25] But that which you have already hold fast till I come.[26] And he that overcomes, and keeps my works to the end, to him will I give power over the nations:[27] And he shall rule them with a rod of iron; as the vessels of a potter shall they be broken to shivers: even as I received of my Father.[28] And I will give him the morning star.[29] He that has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the churches.

[1] And to the angel of the church in Sardis write; These things says he that has the seven Spirits of God, and the seven stars; I know your works, that you have a name that you live, and are dead.

[2] Be watchful, and strengthen the things which remain, that are ready to die: for I have not found your works perfect before God.[3] Remember therefore how you have received and heard, and hold fast, and repent. If therefore you shall not watch, I will come on you as a thief, and you shall not know what hour I will come on you.[4] You have a few names even in Sardis which have not defiled their garments; and they shall walk with me in white: for they are worthy.[5] He that overcomes, the same shall be clothed in white raiment; and I will not blot out his name out of the book of life, but I will confess his name before my Father, and before his angels.[6] He that has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the churches.[7] And to the angel of the church in Philadelphia write; These things says he that is holy, he that is true, he that has the key of David, he that opens, and no man shuts; and shuts, and no man opens;[8] I know your works: behold, I have set before you an open door, and no man can shut it: for you have a little strength, and have kept my word, and have not denied my name.[9] Behold, I will make them of the synagogue of Satan, which say they are Jews, and are not, but do lie; behold, I will make them to come and worship before your feet, and to know that I have loved you.[10] Because you have kept the word of my patience, I also will keep you from the hour of temptation, which shall come on all the world, to try them that dwell on the earth.[11] Behold, I come quickly: hold that fast which you have, that no man take your crown.[12] Him that overcomes will I make a pillar in the temple of my God, and he shall go no more out: and I will write on him the name of my God, and the name of the city of my God, which is new Jerusalem, which comes down out of heaven from my God: and I will write on him my new name.[13] He that has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the churches.[14] And to the angel of the church of the Laodiceans write; These things says the Amen, the faithful and true witness, the beginning of the creation of God;[15] I know your works, that you are neither cold nor hot: I would you were cold or hot.[16] So then because you are lukewarm, and neither cold nor hot, I will spew you out of my mouth.[17] Because you say, I am rich, and increased with goods, and have need of nothing; and know not that you are wretched, and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked:[18] I counsel you to buy of me gold tried in the fire, that you may be rich; and white raiment, that you may be clothed, and that the shame of your nakedness do not appear; and anoint your eyes with eye salve, that you may see.[19] As many as I love, I rebuke and chasten: be zealous therefore, and repent.[20] Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me.[21] To him that overcomes will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with my Father in his throne.[22] He that has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the churches.

[1] After this I looked, and, behold, a door was opened in heaven: and the first voice which I heard was as it were of a trumpet talking with me; which said, Come up here, and I will show you things which must be hereafter.

[2] And immediately I was in the spirit: and, behold, a throne was set in heaven, and one sat on the throne.[3] And he that sat was to look on like a jasper and a sardine stone: and there was a rainbow round about the throne, in sight like to an emerald.[4] And round about the throne were four and twenty seats: and on the seats I saw four and twenty elders sitting, clothed in white raiment; and they had on their heads crowns of gold.[5] And out of the throne proceeded lightning and thunder and voices: and there were seven lamps of fire burning before the throne, which are the seven Spirits of God.[6] And before the throne there was a sea of glass like to crystal: and in the middle of the throne, and round about the throne, were four beasts full of eyes before and behind.[7] And the first beast was like a lion, and the second beast like a calf, and the third beast had a face as a man, and the fourth beast was like a flying eagle.[8] And the four beasts had each of them six wings about him; and they were full of eyes within: and they rest not day and night, saying, Holy, holy, holy, LORD God Almighty, which was, and is, and is to come.[9] And when those beasts give glory and honor and thanks to him that sat on the throne, who lives for ever and ever,[10] The four and twenty elders fall down before him that sat on the throne, and worship him that lives for ever and ever, and cast their crowns before the throne, saying,[11] You are worthy, O Lord, to receive glory and honor and power: for you have created all things, and for your pleasure they are and were created.

[1] And I saw in the right hand of him that sat on the throne a book written within and on the backside, sealed with seven seals.

[2] And I saw a strong angel proclaiming with a loud voice, Who is worthy to open the book, and to loose the seals thereof?[3] And no man in heaven, nor in earth, neither under the earth, was able to open the book, neither to look thereon.[4] And I wept much, because no man was found worthy to open and to read the book, neither to look thereon.[5] And one of the elders says to me, Weep not: behold, the Lion of the tribe of Juda, the Root of David, has prevailed to open the book, and to loose the seven seals thereof.[6] And I beheld, and, see, in the middle of the throne and of the four beasts, and in the middle of the elders, stood a Lamb as it had been slain, having seven horns and seven eyes, which are the seven Spirits of God sent forth into all the earth.[7] And he came and took the book out of the right hand of him that sat on the throne.[8] And when he had taken the book, the four beasts and four and twenty elders fell down before the Lamb, having every one of them harps, and golden vials full of odors, which are the prayers of saints.[9] And they sung a new song, saying, You are worthy to take the book, and to open the seals thereof: for you were slain, and have redeemed us to God by your blood out of every kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation;[10] And have made us to our God kings and priests: and we shall reign on the earth.[11] And I beheld, and I heard the voice of many angels round about the throne and the beasts and the elders: and the number of them was ten thousand times ten thousand, and thousands of thousands;[12] Saying with a loud voice, Worthy is the Lamb that was slain to receive power, and riches, and wisdom, and strength, and honor, and glory, and blessing.[13] And every creature which is in heaven, and on the earth, and under the earth, and such as are in the sea, and all that are in them, heard I saying, Blessing, and honor, and glory, and power, be to him that sits on the throne, and to the Lamb for ever and ever.[14] And the four beasts said, Amen. And the four and twenty elders fell down and worshipped him that lives for ever and ever.

[1] And I saw when the Lamb opened one of the seals, and I heard, as it were the noise of thunder, one of the four beasts saying, Come and see.

[2] And I saw, and behold a white horse: and he that sat on him had a bow; and a crown was given to him: and he went forth conquering, and to conquer.[3] And when he had opened the second seal, I heard the second beast say, Come and see.[4] And there went out another horse that was red: and power was given to him that sat thereon to take peace from the earth, and that they should kill one another: and there was given to him a great sword.[5] And when he had opened the third seal, I heard the third beast say, Come and see. And I beheld, and see a black horse; and he that sat on him had a pair of balances in his hand.[6] And I heard a voice in the middle of the four beasts say, A measure of wheat for a penny, and three measures of barley for a penny; and see you hurt not the oil and the wine.[7] And when he had opened the fourth seal, I heard the voice of the fourth beast say, Come and see.[8] And I looked, and behold a pale horse: and his name that sat on him was Death, and Hell followed with him. And power was given to them over the fourth part of the earth, to kill with sword, and with hunger, and with death, and with the beasts of the earth.[9] And when he had opened the fifth seal, I saw under the altar the souls of them that were slain for the word of God, and for the testimony which they held:[10] And they cried with a loud voice, saying, How long, O Lord, holy and true, do you not judge and avenge our blood on them that dwell on the earth?[11] And white robes were given to every one of them; and it was said to them, that they should rest yet for a little season, until their fellow servants also and their brothers, that should be killed as they were, should be fulfilled.[12] And I beheld when he had opened the sixth seal, and, see, there was a great earthquake; and the sun became black as sackcloth of hair, and the moon became as blood;[13] And the stars of heaven fell to the earth, even as a fig tree casts her untimely figs, when she is shaken of a mighty wind.[14] And the heaven departed as a scroll when it is rolled together; and every mountain and island were moved out of their places.[15] And the kings of the earth, and the great men, and the rich men, and the chief captains, and the mighty men, and every slave, and every free man, hid themselves in the dens and in the rocks of the mountains;[16] And said to the mountains and rocks, Fall on us, and hide us from the face of him that sits on the throne, and from the wrath of the Lamb:[17] For the great day of his wrath is come; and who shall be able to stand?

[1] And after these things I saw four angels standing on the four corners of the earth, holding the four winds of the earth, that the wind should not blow on the earth, nor on the sea, nor on any tree.

[2] And I saw another angel ascending from the east, having the seal of the living God: and he cried with a loud voice to the four angels, to whom it was given to hurt the earth and the sea,[3] Saying, Hurt not the earth, neither the sea, nor the trees, till we have sealed the servants of our God in their foreheads.[4] And I heard the number of them which were sealed: and there were sealed an hundred and forty and four thousand of all the tribes of the children of Israel.[5] Of the tribe of Juda were sealed twelve thousand. Of the tribe of Reuben were sealed twelve thousand. Of the tribe of Gad were sealed twelve thousand.[6] Of the tribe of Aser were sealed twelve thousand. Of the tribe of Nephthalim were sealed twelve thousand. Of the tribe of Manasses were sealed twelve thousand.[7] Of the tribe of Simeon were sealed twelve thousand. Of the tribe of Levi were sealed twelve thousand. Of the tribe of Issachar were sealed twelve thousand.[8] Of the tribe of Zabulon were sealed twelve thousand. Of the tribe of Joseph were sealed twelve thousand. Of the tribe of Benjamin were sealed twelve thousand.[9] After this I beheld, and, see, a great multitude, which no man could number, of all nations, and kindreds, and people, and tongues, stood before the throne, and before the Lamb, clothed with white robes, and palms in their hands;[10] And cried with a loud voice, saying, Salvation to our God which sits on the throne, and to the Lamb.[11] And all the angels stood round about the throne, and about the elders and the four beasts, and fell before the throne on their faces, and worshipped God,[12] Saying, Amen: Blessing, and glory, and wisdom, and thanksgiving, and honor, and power, and might, be to our God for ever and ever. Amen.[13] And one of the elders answered, saying to me, What are these which are arrayed in white robes? and from where came they?[14] And I said to him, Sir, you know. And he said to me, These are they which came out of great tribulation, and have washed their robes, and made them white in the blood of the Lamb.[15] Therefore are they before the throne of God, and serve him day and night in his temple: and he that sits on the throne shall dwell among them.[16] They shall hunger no more, neither thirst any more; neither shall the sun light on them, nor any heat.[17] For the Lamb which is in the middle of the throne shall feed them, and shall lead them to living fountains of waters: and God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes.

[1] And when he had opened the seventh seal, there was silence in heaven about the space of half an hour.

[2] And I saw the seven angels which stood before God; and to them were given seven trumpets.[3] And another angel came and stood at the altar, having a golden censer; and there was given to him much incense, that he should offer it with the prayers of all saints on the golden altar which was before the throne.[4] And the smoke of the incense, which came with the prayers of the saints, ascended up before God out of the angel's hand.[5] And the angel took the censer, and filled it with fire of the altar, and cast it into the earth: and there were voices, and thunder, and lightning, and an earthquake.[6] And the seven angels which had the seven trumpets prepared themselves to sound.[7] The first angel sounded, and there followed hail and fire mingled with blood, and they were cast on the earth: and the third part of trees was burnt up, and all green grass was burnt up.[8] And the second angel sounded, and as it were a great mountain burning with fire was cast into the sea: and the third part of the sea became blood;[9] And the third part of the creatures which were in the sea, and had life, died; and the third part of the ships were destroyed.[10] And the third angel sounded, and there fell a great star from heaven, burning as it were a lamp, and it fell on the third part of the rivers, and on the fountains of waters;[11] And the name of the star is called Wormwood: and the third part of the waters became wormwood; and many men died of the waters, because they were made bitter.[12] And the fourth angel sounded, and the third part of the sun was smitten, and the third part of the moon, and the third part of the stars; so as the third part of them was darkened, and the day shone not for a third part of it, and the night likewise.[13] And I beheld, and heard an angel flying through the middle of heaven, saying with a loud voice, Woe, woe, woe, to the inhabitants of the earth by reason of the other voices of the trumpet of the three angels, which are yet to sound!

1 And the fifth angel sounded, and I saw a star fall from heaven to the earth: and to him was given the key of the bottomless pit.

2 And he opened the bottomless pit; and there arose a smoke out of the pit, as the smoke of a great furnace; and the sun and the air were darkened by reason of the smoke of the pit.3 And there came out of the smoke locusts on the earth: and to them was given power, as the scorpions of the earth have power.4 And it was commanded them that they should not hurt the grass of the earth, neither any green thing, neither any tree; but only those men which have not the seal of God in their foreheads.5 And to them it was given that they should not kill them, but that they should be tormented five months: and their torment was as the torment of a scorpion, when he strikes a man.6 And in those days shall men seek death, and shall not find it; and shall desire to die, and death shall flee from them.7 And the shapes of the locusts were like to horses prepared to battle; and on their heads were as it were crowns like gold, and their faces were as the faces of men.8 And they had hair as the hair of women, and their teeth were as the teeth of lions.9 And they had breastplates, as it were breastplates of iron; and the sound of their wings was as the sound of chariots of many horses running to battle.10 And they had tails like to scorpions, and there were stings in their tails: and their power was to hurt men five months.11 And they had a king over them, which is the angel of the bottomless pit, whose name in the Hebrew tongue is Abaddon, but in the Greek tongue has his name Apollyon.12 One woe is past; and, behold, there come two woes more hereafter.13 And the sixth angel sounded, and I heard a voice from the four horns of the golden altar which is before God,14 Saying to the sixth angel which had the trumpet, Loose the four angels which are bound in the great river Euphrates.15 And the four angels were loosed, which were prepared for an hour, and a day, and a month, and a year, for to slay the third part of men.16 And the number of the army of the horsemen were two hundred thousand thousand: and I heard the number of them.17 And thus I saw the horses in the vision, and them that sat on them, having breastplates of fire, and of jacinth, and brimstone: and the heads of the horses were as the heads of lions; and out of their mouths issued fire and smoke and brimstone.18 By these three was the third part of men killed, by the fire, and by the smoke, and by the brimstone, which issued out of their mouths.19 For their power is in their mouth, and in their tails: for their tails were like to serpents, and had heads, and with them they do hurt.20 And the rest of the men which were not killed by these plagues yet repented not of the works of their hands, that they should not worship devils, and idols of gold, and silver, and brass, and stone, and of wood: which neither can see, nor hear, nor walk:21 Neither repented they of their murders, nor of their sorceries, nor of their fornication, nor of their thefts.

1 And I saw another mighty angel come down from heaven, clothed with a cloud: and a rainbow was on his head, and his face was as it were the sun, and his feet as pillars of fire:

2 And he had in his hand a little book open: and he set his right foot on the sea, and his left foot on the earth,3 And cried with a loud voice, as when a lion roars: and when he had cried, seven thunders uttered their voices.4 And when the seven thunders had uttered their voices, I was about to write: and I heard a voice from heaven saying to me, Seal up those things which the seven thunders uttered, and write them not.5 And the angel which I saw stand on the sea and on the earth lifted up his hand to heaven,6 And swore by him that lives for ever and ever, who created heaven, and the things that therein are, and the earth, and the things that therein are, and the sea, and the things which are therein, that there should be time no longer:7 But in the days of the voice of the seventh angel, when he shall begin to sound, the mystery of God should be finished, as he has declared to his servants the prophets.8 And the voice which I heard from heaven spoke to me again, and said, Go and take the little book which is open in the hand of the angel which stands on the sea and on the earth.9 And I went to the angel, and said to him, Give me the little book. And he said to me, Take it, and eat it up; and it shall make your belly bitter, but it shall be in your mouth sweet as honey.[10] And I took the little book out of the angel's hand, and ate it up; and it was in my mouth sweet as honey: and as soon as I had eaten it, my belly was bitter.[11] And he said to me, You must prophesy again before many peoples, and nations, and tongues, and kings.

[1] And there was given me a reed like to a rod: and the angel stood, saying, Rise, and measure the temple of God, and the altar, and them that worship therein.

[2] But the court which is without the temple leave out, and measure it not; for it is given to the Gentiles: and the holy city shall they tread under foot forty and two months.[3] And I will give power to my two witnesses, and they shall prophesy a thousand two hundred and three score days, clothed in sackcloth.[4] These are the two olive trees, and the two candlesticks standing before the God of the earth.[5] And if any man will hurt them, fire proceeds out of their mouth, and devours their enemies: and if any man will hurt them, he must in this manner be killed.[6] These have power to shut heaven, that it rain not in the days of their prophecy: and have power over waters to turn them to blood, and to smite the earth with all plagues, as often as they will.[7] And when they shall have finished their testimony, the beast that ascends out of the bottomless pit shall make war against them, and shall overcome them, and kill them.[8] And their dead bodies shall lie in the street of the great city, which spiritually is called Sodom and Egypt, where also our Lord was crucified.[9] And they of the people and kindreds and tongues and nations shall see their dead bodies three days and an half, and shall not suffer their dead bodies to be put in graves.[10] And they that dwell on the earth shall rejoice over them, and make merry, and shall send gifts one to another; because these two prophets tormented them that dwelled on the earth.[11] And after three days and an half the spirit of life from God entered into them, and they stood on their feet; and great fear fell on them which saw them.[12] And they heard a great voice from heaven saying to them, Come up here. And they ascended up to heaven in a cloud; and their enemies beheld them.[13] And the same hour was there a great earthquake, and the tenth part of the city fell, and in the earthquake were slain of men seven thousand: and the remnant were affrighted, and gave glory to the God of heaven.[14] The second woe is past; and, behold, the third woe comes quickly.[15] And the seventh angel sounded; and there were great voices in heaven, saying, The kingdoms of this world are become the kingdoms of our Lord, and of his Christ; and he shall reign for ever and ever.[16] And the four and twenty elders, which sat before God on their seats, fell on their faces, and worshipped God,[17] Saying, We give you thanks, O LORD God Almighty, which are, and were, and are to come; because you have taken to you your great power, and have reigned.[18] And the nations were angry, and your wrath is come, and the time of the dead, that they should be judged, and that you should give reward to your servants the prophets, and to the saints, and them that fear your name, small and great; and should destroy them which destroy the earth.[19] And the temple of God was opened in heaven, and there was seen in his temple the ark of his testament: and there were lightning, and voices, and thunder, and an earthquake, and great hail.

[1] And there appeared a great wonder in heaven; a woman clothed with the sun, and the moon under her feet, and on her head a crown of twelve stars:

[2] And she being with child cried, travailing in birth, and pained to be delivered.[3] And there appeared another wonder in heaven; and behold a great red dragon, having seven heads and ten horns, and seven crowns on his heads.[4] And his tail drew the third part of the stars of heaven, and did cast them to the earth: and the dragon stood before the woman which was ready to be delivered, for to devour her child as soon as it was born.[5] And she brought forth a man child, who was to rule all nations with a rod of iron: and her child was caught up to God, and to his throne.[6] And the woman fled into the wilderness, where she has a place prepared of God, that they should feed her there a thousand two hundred and three score days.[7] And there was war in heaven: Michael and his angels fought against the dragon; and the dragon fought and his angels,[8] And prevailed not; neither was their place found any more in heaven.[9] And the great dragon was cast out, that old serpent, called the Devil, and Satan, which deceives the whole world: he was cast out into the earth, and his angels were cast out with him.[10] And I heard a loud voice saying in heaven, Now is come salvation, and strength, and the kingdom of our God, and the power of his Christ: for the accuser of our brothers is cast down, which accused them before our God day and night.[11] And they overcame him by the blood of the Lamb, and by the word of their testimony; and they loved not their lives to the death.[12] Therefore rejoice, you heavens, and you that dwell in them. Woe to the inhabitants of the earth and of the sea! for the devil is come down to you, having great wrath, because he knows that he has but a short time.[13] And when the dragon saw that he was cast to the earth, he persecuted the woman which brought forth the man child.[14] And to the woman were given two wings of a great eagle, that she might fly into the wilderness, into her place, where she is nourished for a time, and times, and half a time, from the face of the serpent.[15] And the serpent cast out of his mouth water as a flood after the woman, that he might cause her to be carried away of the flood.[16] And the earth helped the woman, and the earth opened her mouth, and swallowed up the flood which the dragon cast out of his mouth.[17] And the dragon was wroth with the woman, and went to make war with the remnant of her seed, which keep the commandments of God, and have the testimony of Jesus Christ.

[1] And I stood on the sand of the sea, and saw a beast rise up out of the sea, having seven heads and ten horns, and on his horns ten crowns, and on his heads the name of blasphemy.

[2] And the beast which I saw was like to a leopard, and his feet were as the feet of a bear, and his mouth as the mouth of a lion: and the dragon gave him his power, and his seat, and great authority.[3] And I saw one of his heads as it were wounded to death; and his deadly wound was healed: and all the world wondered after the beast.[4] And they worshipped the dragon which gave power to the beast: and they worshipped the beast, saying, Who is like to the beast? who is able to make war with him?[5] And there was given to him a mouth speaking great things and blasphemies; and power was given to him to continue forty and two months.[6] And he opened his mouth in blasphemy against God, to blaspheme his name, and his tabernacle, and them that dwell in heaven.[7] And it was given to him to make war with the saints, and to overcome them: and power was given him over all kindreds, and tongues, and nations.[8] And all that dwell on the earth shall worship him, whose names are not written in the book of life of the Lamb slain from the foundation of the world.[9] If any man have an ear, let him hear.[10] He that leads into captivity shall go into captivity: he that kills with the sword must be killed with the sword. Here is the patience and the faith of the saints.[11] And I beheld another beast coming up out of the earth; and he had two horns like a lamb, and he spoke as a dragon.[12] And he exercises all the power of the first beast before him, and causes the earth and them which dwell therein to worship the first beast, whose deadly wound was healed.[13] And he does great wonders, so that he makes fire come down from heaven on the earth in the sight of men,[14] And deceives them that dwell on the earth by the means of those miracles which he had power to do in the sight of the beast; saying to them that dwell on the earth, that they should make an image to the beast, which had the wound by a sword, and did live.[15] And he had power to give life to the image of the beast, that the image of the beast should both speak, and cause that as many as would not worship the image of the beast should be killed.[16] And he causes all, both small and great, rich and poor, free and bond, to receive a mark in their right hand, or in their foreheads:[17] And that no man might buy or sell, save he that had the mark, or the name of the beast, or the number of his name.[18] Here is wisdom. Let him that has understanding count the number of the beast: for it is the number of a man; and his number is Six hundred three score and six.

[1] And I looked, and, see, a Lamb stood on the mount Sion, and with him an hundred forty and four thousand, having his Father's name written in their foreheads.

[2] And I heard a voice from heaven, as the voice of many waters, and as the voice of a great thunder: and I heard the voice of harpers harping with their harps:[3] And they sung as it were a new song before the throne, and before the four beasts, and the elders: and no man could learn that song but the hundred and forty and four thousand, which were redeemed from the earth.[4] These are they which were not defiled with women; for they are virgins. These are they which follow the Lamb wherever he goes. These were redeemed from among men, being the first fruits to God and to the Lamb.[5] And in their mouth was found no guile: for they are without fault before the throne of God.[6] And I saw another angel fly in the middle of heaven, having the everlasting gospel to preach to them that dwell on the earth, and to every nation, and kindred, and tongue, and people,[7] Saying with a loud voice, Fear God, and give glory to him; for the hour of his judgment is come: and worship him that made heaven, and earth, and the sea, and the fountains of waters.[8] And there followed another angel, saying, Babylon is fallen, is fallen, that great city, because she made all nations drink of the wine of the wrath of her fornication.[9] And the third angel followed them, saying with a loud voice, If any man worship the beast and his image, and receive his mark in his forehead, or in his hand,[10] The same shall drink of the wine of the wrath of God, which is poured out without mixture into the cup of his indignation; and he shall be tormented with fire and brimstone in the presence of the holy angels, and in the presence of the Lamb:[11] And the smoke of their torment ascends up for ever and ever: and they have no rest day nor night, who worship the beast and his image, and whoever receives the mark of his name.[12] Here is the patience of the saints: here are they that keep the commandments of God, and the faith of Jesus.[13] And I heard a voice from heaven saying to me, Write, Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from now on: Yes, says the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors; and their works do follow them.[14] And I looked, and behold a white cloud, and on the cloud one sat like to the Son of man, having on his head a golden crown, and in his hand a sharp sickle.[15] And another angel came out of the temple, crying with a loud voice to him that sat on the cloud, Thrust in your sickle, and reap: for the time is come for you to reap; for the harvest of the earth is ripe.[16] And he that sat on the cloud thrust in his sickle on the earth; and the earth was reaped.[17] And another angel came out of the temple which is in heaven, he also having a sharp sickle.[18] And another angel came out from the altar, which had power over fire; and cried with a loud cry to him that had the sharp sickle, saying, Thrust in your sharp sickle, and gather the clusters of the vine of the earth; for her grapes are fully ripe.[19] And the angel thrust in his sickle into the earth, and gathered the vine of the earth, and cast it into the great wine press of the wrath of God.[20] And the wine press was trodden without the city, and blood came out of the wine press, even to the horse bridles, by the space of a thousand and six hundred furlongs.

[1] And I saw another sign in heaven, great and marvelous, seven angels having the seven last plagues; for in them is filled up the wrath of God.

[2] And I saw as it were a sea of glass mingled with fire: and them that had gotten the victory over the beast, and over his image, and over his mark, and over the number of his name, stand on the sea of glass, having the harps of God.[3] And they sing the song of Moses the servant of God, and the song of the Lamb, saying, Great and marvelous are your works, Lord God Almighty; just and true are your ways, you King of saints.[4] Who shall not fear you, O Lord, and glorify your name? for you only are holy: for all nations shall come and worship before you; for your judgments are made manifest.[5] And after that I looked, and, behold, the temple of the tabernacle of the testimony in heaven was opened:[6] And the seven angels came out of the temple, having the seven plagues, clothed in pure and white linen, and having their breasts girded with golden girdles.[7] And one of the four beasts gave to the seven angels seven golden vials full of the wrath of God, who lives for ever and ever.[8] And the temple was filled with smoke from the glory of God, and from his power; and no man was able to enter into the temple, till the seven plagues of the seven angels were fulfilled.

[1] And I heard a great voice out of the temple saying to the seven angels, Go your ways, and pour out the vials of the wrath of God on the earth.

[2] And the first went, and poured out his vial on the earth; and there fell a noisome and grievous sore on the men which had the mark of the beast, and on them which worshipped his image.[3] And the second angel poured out his vial on the sea; and it became as the blood of a dead man: and every living soul died in the sea.[4] And the third angel poured out his vial on the rivers and fountains of waters; and they became blood.[5] And I heard the angel of the waters say, You are righteous, O Lord, which are, and were, and shall be, because you have judged thus.[6] For they have shed the blood of saints and prophets, and you have given them blood to drink; for they are worthy.[7] And I heard another out of the altar say, Even so, Lord God Almighty, true and righteous are your judgments.[8] And the fourth angel poured out his vial on the sun; and power was given to him to scorch men with fire.[9] And men were scorched with great heat, and blasphemed the name of God, which has power over these plagues: and they repented not to give him glory.[10] And the fifth angel poured out his vial on the seat of the beast; and his kingdom was full of darkness; and they gnawed their tongues for pain,[11] And blasphemed the God of heaven because of their pains and their sores, and repented not of their deeds.[12] And the sixth angel poured out his vial on the great river Euphrates; and the water thereof was dried up, that the way of the kings of the east might be prepared.[13] And I saw three unclean spirits like frogs come out of the mouth of the dragon, and out of the mouth of the beast, and out of the mouth of the false prophet.[14] For they are the spirits of devils, working miracles, which go forth to the kings of the earth and of the whole world, to gather them to the battle of that great day of God Almighty.[15] Behold, I come as a thief. Blessed is he that watches, and keeps his garments, lest he walk naked, and they see his shame.[16] And he gathered them together into a place called in the Hebrew tongue Armageddon.[17] And the seventh angel poured out his vial into the air; and there came a great voice out of the temple of heaven, from the throne, saying, It is done.[18] And there were voices, and thunders, and lightning; and there was a great earthquake, such as was not since men were on the earth, so mighty an earthquake, and so great.[19] And the great city was divided into three parts, and the cities of the nations fell: and great Babylon came in remembrance before God, to give to her the cup of the wine of the fierceness of his wrath.[20] And every island fled away, and the mountains were not found.[21] And there fell on men a great hail out of heaven, every stone about the weight of a talent: and men blasphemed God because of the plague of the hail; for the plague thereof was exceeding great.

[1] And there came one of the seven angels which had the seven vials, and talked with me, saying to me, Come here; I will show to you the judgment of the great whore that sits on many waters:

[2] With whom the kings of the earth have committed fornication, and the inhabitants of the earth have been made drunk with the wine of her fornication.[3] So he carried me away in the spirit into the wilderness: and I saw a woman sit on a scarlet colored beast, full of names of blasphemy, having seven heads and ten horns.[4] And the woman was arrayed in purple and scarlet color, and decked with gold and precious stones and pearls, having a golden cup in her hand full of abominations and filthiness of her fornication:[5] And on her forehead was a name written, MYSTERY, BABYLON THE GREAT, THE MOTHER OF HARLOTS AND ABOMINATIONS OF THE EARTH.[6] And I saw the woman drunken with the blood of the saints, and with the blood of the martyrs of Jesus: and when I saw her, I wondered with great admiration.[7] And the angel said to me, Why did you marvel? I will tell you the mystery of the woman, and of the beast that carries her, which has the seven heads and ten horns.[8] The beast that you saw was, and is not; and shall ascend out of the bottomless pit, and go into perdition: and they that dwell on the earth shall wonder, whose names were not written in the book of life from the foundation of the world, when they behold the beast that was, and is not, and yet is.[9] And here is the mind which has wisdom. The seven heads are seven mountains, on which the woman sits.[10] And there are seven kings: five are fallen, and one is, and the other is not yet come; and when he comes, he must continue a short space.[11] And the beast that was, and is not, even he is the eighth, and is of the seven, and goes into perdition.[12] And the ten horns which you saw are ten kings, which have received no kingdom as yet; but receive power as kings one hour with the beast.[13] These have one mind, and shall give their power and strength to the beast.[14] These shall make war with the Lamb, and the Lamb shall overcome them: for he is Lord of lords, and King of kings: and they that are with him are called, and chosen, and faithful.[15] And he says to me, The waters which you saw, where the whore sits, are peoples, and multitudes, and nations, and tongues.[16] And the ten horns which you saw on the beast, these shall hate the whore, and shall make her desolate and naked, and shall eat her flesh, and burn her with fire.[17] For God has put in their hearts to fulfill his will, and to agree, and give their kingdom to the beast, until the words of God shall be fulfilled.[18] And the woman which you saw is that great city, which reigns over the kings of the earth.

[1] And after these things I saw another angel come down from heaven, having great power; and the earth was lightened with his glory.

[2] And he cried mightily with a strong voice, saying, Babylon the great is fallen, is fallen, and is become the habitation of devils, and the hold of every foul spirit, and a cage of every unclean and hateful bird.[3] For all nations have drunk of the wine of the wrath of her fornication, and the kings of the earth have committed fornication with her, and the merchants of the earth are waxed rich through the abundance of her delicacies.[4] And I heard another voice from heaven, saying, Come out of her, my people, that you be not partakers of her sins, and that you receive not of her plagues.[5] For her sins have reached to heaven, and God has remembered her iniquities.[6] Reward her even as she rewarded you, and double to her double according to her works: in the cup which she has filled fill to her double.[7] How much she has glorified herself, and lived deliciously, so much torment and sorrow give her: for she says in her heart, I sit a queen, and am no widow, and shall see no sorrow.[8] Therefore shall her plagues come in one day, death, and mourning, and famine; and she shall be utterly burned with fire: for strong is the Lord God who judges her.[9] And the kings of the earth, who have committed fornication and lived deliciously with her, shall mourn her, and lament for her, when they shall see the smoke of her burning,[10] Standing afar off for the fear of her torment, saying, Alas, alas that great city Babylon, that mighty city! for in one hour is your judgment come.[11] And the merchants of the earth shall weep and mourn over her; for no man buys their merchandise any more:[12] The merchandise of gold, and silver, and precious stones, and of pearls, and fine linen, and purple, and silk, and scarlet, and all thyine wood, and all manner vessels of ivory, and all manner vessels of most precious wood, and of brass, and iron, and marble,[13] And cinnamon, and odors, and ointments, and frankincense, and wine, and oil, and fine flour, and wheat, and beasts, and sheep, and horses, and chariots, and slaves, and souls of men.[14] And the fruits that your soul lusted after are departed from you, and all things which were dainty and goodly are departed from you, and you shall find them no more at all.[15] The merchants of these things, which were made rich by her, shall stand afar off for the fear of her torment, weeping and wailing,[16] And saying, Alas, alas that great city, that was clothed in fine linen, and purple, and scarlet, and decked with gold, and precious stones, and pearls![17] For in one hour so great riches is come to nothing. And every shipmaster, and all the company in ships, and sailors, and as many as trade by sea, stood afar off,[18] And cried when they saw the smoke of her burning, saying, What city is like to this great city![19] And they cast dust on their heads, and cried, weeping and wailing, saying, Alas, alas that great city, wherein were made rich all that had ships in the sea by reason of her costliness! for in one hour is she made desolate.[20] Rejoice over her, you heaven, and you holy apostles and prophets; for God has avenged you on her.[21] And a mighty angel took up a stone like a great millstone, and cast it into the sea, saying, Thus with violence shall that great city Babylon be thrown down, and shall be found no more at all.[22] And the voice of harpers, and musicians, and of pipers, and trumpeters, shall be heard no more at all in you; and no craftsman, of whatever craft he be, shall be found any more in you; and the sound of a millstone shall be heard no more at all in you;[23] And the light of a candle shall shine no more at all in you; and the voice of the bridegroom and of the bride shall be heard no more at all in you: for your merchants were the great men of the earth; for by your sorceries were all nations deceived.[24] And in her was found the blood of prophets, and of saints, and of all that were slain on the earth.

[1] And after these things I heard a great voice of much people in heaven, saying, Alleluia; Salvation, and glory, and honor, and power, to the Lord our God:

[2] For true and righteous are his judgments: for he has judged the great whore, which did corrupt the earth with her fornication, and has avenged the blood of his servants at her hand.[3] And again they said, Alleluia. And her smoke rose up for ever and ever.[4] And the four and twenty elders and the four beasts fell down and worshipped God that sat on the throne, saying, Amen; Alleluia.[5] And a voice came out of the throne, saying, Praise our God, all you his servants, and you that fear him, both small and great.[6] And I heard as it were the voice of a great multitude, and as the voice of many waters, and as the voice of mighty thunder, saying, Alleluia: for the Lord God omnipotent reigns.[7] Let us be glad and rejoice, and give honor to him: for the marriage of the Lamb is come, and his wife has made herself ready.[8] And to her was granted that she should be arrayed in fine linen, clean and white: for the fine linen is the righteousness of saints.[9] And he says to me, Write, Blessed are they which are called to the marriage supper of the Lamb. And he says to me, These are the true sayings of God.[10] And I fell at his feet to worship him. And he said to me, See you do it not: I am your fellow servant, and of your brothers that have the testimony of Jesus: worship God: for the testimony of Jesus is the spirit of prophecy.[11] And I saw heaven opened, and behold a white horse; and he that sat on him was called Faithful and True, and in righteousness he does judge and make war.[12] His eyes were as a flame of fire, and on his head were many crowns; and he had a name written, that no man knew, but he himself.[13] And he was clothed with a clothing dipped in blood: and his name is called The Word of God.[14] And the armies which were in heaven followed him on white horses, clothed in fine linen, white and clean.[15] And out of his mouth goes a sharp sword, that with it he should smite the nations: and he shall rule them with a rod of iron: and he treads the wine press of the fierceness and wrath of Almighty God.[16] And he has on his clothing and on his thigh a name written, KING OF KINGS, AND LORD OF LORDS.[17] And I saw an angel standing in the sun; and he cried with a loud voice, saying to all the fowls that fly in the middle of heaven, Come and gather yourselves together to the supper of the great God;[18] That you may eat the flesh of kings, and the flesh of captains, and the flesh of mighty men, and the flesh of horses, and of them that sit on them, and the flesh of all men, both free and bond, both small and great.[19] And I saw the beast, and the kings of the earth, and their armies, gathered together to make war against him that sat on the horse, and against his army.[20] And the beast was taken, and with him the false prophet that worked miracles before him, with which he deceived them that had received the mark of the beast, and them that worshipped his image. These both were cast alive into a lake of fire burning with brimstone.[21] And the remnant were slain with the sword of him that sat on the horse, which sword proceeded out of his mouth: and all the fowls were filled with their flesh.

[1] And I saw an angel come down from heaven, having the key of the bottomless pit and a great chain in his hand.

[2] And he laid hold on the dragon, that old serpent, which is the Devil, and Satan, and bound him a thousand years,[3] And cast him into the bottomless pit, and shut him up, and set a seal on him, that he should deceive the nations no more, till the thousand years should be fulfilled: and after that he must be loosed a little season.[4] And I saw thrones, and they sat on them, and judgment was given to them: and I saw the souls of them that were beheaded for the witness of Jesus, and for the word of God, and which had not worshipped the beast, neither his image, neither had received his mark on their foreheads, or in their hands; and they lived and reigned with Christ a thousand years.[5] But the rest of the dead lived not again until the thousand years were finished. This is the first resurrection.[6] Blessed and holy is he that has part in the first resurrection: on such the second death has no power, but they shall be priests of God and of Christ, and shall reign with him a thousand years.[7] And when the thousand years are expired, Satan shall be loosed out of his prison,[8] And shall go out to deceive the nations which are in the four quarters of the earth, Gog, and Magog, to gather them together to battle: the number of whom is as the sand of the sea.[9] And they went up on the breadth of the earth, and compassed the camp of the saints about, and the beloved city: and fire came down from God out of heaven, and devoured them.[10] And the devil that deceived them was cast into the lake of fire and brimstone, where the beast and the false prophet are, and shall be tormented day and night for ever and ever.[11] And I saw a great white throne, and him that sat on it, from whose face the earth and the heaven fled away; and there was found no place for them.[12] And I saw the dead, small and great, stand before God; and the books were opened: and another book was opened, which is the book of life: and the dead were judged out of those things which were written in the books, according to their works.[13] And the sea gave up the dead which were in it; and death and hell delivered up the dead which were in them: and they were judged every man according to their works.[14] And death and hell were cast into the lake of fire. This is the second death.[15] And whoever was not found written in the book of life was cast into the lake of fire.

[1] And I saw a new heaven and a new earth: for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away; and there was no more sea.

[2] And I John saw the holy city, new Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband.[3] And I heard a great voice out of heaven saying, Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them, and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be with them, and be their God.[4] And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away.[5] And he that sat on the throne said, Behold, I make all things new. And he said to me, Write: for these words are true and faithful.[6] And he said to me, It is done. I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end. I will give to him that is thirsty of the fountain of the water of life freely.[7] He that overcomes shall inherit all things; and I will be his God, and he shall be my son.[8] But the fearful, and unbelieving, and the abominable, and murderers, and fornicators, and sorcerers, and idolaters, and all liars, shall have their part in the lake which burns with fire and brimstone: which is the second death.[9] And there came to me one of the seven angels which had the seven vials full of the seven last plagues, and talked with me, saying, Come here, I will show you the bride, the Lamb's wife.[10] And he carried me away in the spirit to a great and high mountain, and showed me that great city, the holy Jerusalem, descending out of heaven from God,[11] Having the glory of God: and her light was like to a stone most precious, even like a jasper stone, clear as crystal;[12] And had a wall great and high, and had twelve gates, and at the gates twelve angels, and names written thereon, which are the names of the twelve tribes of the children of Israel:[13] On the east three gates; on the north three gates; on the south three gates; and on the west three gates.[14] And the wall of the city had twelve foundations, and in them the names of the twelve apostles of the Lamb.[15] And he that talked with me had a golden reed to measure the city, and the gates thereof, and the wall thereof.[16] And the city lies foursquare, and the length is as large as the breadth: and he measured the city with the reed, twelve thousand furlongs. The length and the breadth and the height of it are equal.[17] And he measured the wall thereof, an hundred and forty and four cubits, according to the measure of a man, that is, of the angel.[18] And the building of the wall of it was of jasper: and the city was pure gold, like to clear glass.[19] And the foundations of the wall of the city were garnished with all manner of precious stones. The first foundation was jasper; the second, sapphire; the third, a chalcedony; the fourth, an emerald;[20] The fifth, sardonyx; the sixth, sardius; the seventh, chrysolyte; the eighth, beryl; the ninth, a topaz; the tenth, a chrysoprasus; the eleventh, a jacinth; the twelfth, an amethyst.[21] And the twelve gates were twelve pearls: every several gate was of one pearl: and the street of the city was pure gold, as it were transparent glass.[22] And I saw no temple therein: for the Lord God Almighty and the Lamb are the temple of it.[23] And the city had no need of the sun, neither of the moon, to shine in it: for the glory of God did lighten it, and the Lamb is the light thereof.[24] And the nations of them which are saved shall walk in the light of it: and the kings of the earth do bring their glory and honor into it.[25] And the gates of it shall not be shut at all by day: for there shall be no night there.[26] And they shall bring the glory and honor of the nations into it.[27] And there shall in no wise enter into it any thing that defiles, neither whatever works abomination, or makes a lie: but they which are written in the Lamb's book of life.

[1] And he showed me a pure river of water of life, clear as crystal, proceeding out of the throne of God and of the Lamb.

[2] In the middle of the street of it, and on either side of the river, was there the tree of life, which bore twelve manner of fruits, and yielded her fruit every month: and the leaves of the tree were for the healing of the nations.[3] And there shall be no more curse: but the throne of God and of the Lamb shall be in it; and his servants shall serve him:[4] And they shall see his face; and his name shall be in their foreheads.[5] And there shall be no night there; and they need no candle, neither light of the sun; for the Lord God gives them light: and they shall reign for ever and ever.[6] And he said to me, These sayings are faithful and true: and the Lord God of the holy prophets sent his angel to show to his servants the things which must shortly be done.[7] Behold, I come quickly: blessed is he that keeps the sayings of the prophecy of this book.[8] And I John saw these things, and heard them. And when I had heard and seen, I fell down to worship before the feet of the angel which showed me these things.[9] Then says he to me, See you do it not: for I am your fellow servant, and of your brothers the prophets, and of them which keep the sayings of this book: worship God.[10] And he says to me, Seal not the sayings of the prophecy of this book: for the time is at hand.[11] He that is unjust, let him be unjust still: and he which is filthy, let him be filthy still: and he that is righteous, let him be righteous still: and he that is holy, let him be holy still.[12] And, behold, I come quickly; and my reward is with me, to give every man according as his work shall be.[13] I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, the first and the last.[14] Blessed are they that do his commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city.[15] For without are dogs, and sorcerers, and fornicators, and murderers, and idolaters, and whoever loves and makes a lie.[16] I Jesus have sent my angel to testify to you these things in the churches. I am the root and the offspring of David, and the bright and morning star.[17] And the Spirit and the bride say, Come. And let him that hears say, Come. And let him that is thirsty come. And whoever will, let him take the water of life freely.[18] For I testify to every man that hears the words of the prophecy of this book, If any man shall add to these things, God shall add to him the plagues that are written in this book:[19] And if any man shall take away from the words of the book of this prophecy, God shall take away his part out of the book of life, and out of the holy city, and from the things which are written in this book.[20] He which testifies these things says, Surely I come quickly. Amen. Even so, come, Lord Jesus.[21] The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all. Amen.
